THE ROYAL STANDARD LODGE (No. 1298).—The standard of this lodge does not float over one of the houses of entertainment popularly supposed (and there is much more supposition than fact about the idea) to be open for the benefit of "man and beast;" but it holds its happy meetings under Bro. Brooks at the Wellington Club, in the Upper-street of that northern part of London which used to rejoice in the nomenclature of "Merrie Islington." On Tuesday night the installation meeting was held, and a goodly attendance of the brethren of the lodge and of visitors witnessed the last night's work of the most efficient Master of the last year, Bro. J. F. Wilson, who handed over the duties to the new Master amid general acknowledgments of the good work he had done during his year. Before the ceremony of installation was commenced the old Master performed the ceremony of passing for the benefit of Bro. De Metz, and then initiated a namesake, Mr. Alexander Wilson, as well as two other gentlemen, Mr. Walter Holcome and Mr. Ernest Edward Street. The W.M. then proceeded to install his successor, Bro. Wright, the first child of the lodge who has reached that position. The ceremony was performed with all the accustomed rites, and the brethren greeted the new W.M. when, the Board of Installed Masters being closed, he was proclaimed according to ancient custom. The W.M. appointed as his officers Bros. P. Dickenson, S.W.; W. H. Cohen, J.W.; J. F. Wilson, I.P.M., as Treas.; G. S. Rigley, as Sec.; Gladwell, as S.D.; D. L. Buddrus, as J.D.; A. J. P. Stevens, as I.G.; Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G.C., as Chaplain; I. P. Watford, as Organist. After the Master had risen for the first time, the Junior Warden, in well chosen terms, spoke of the excellent manner in which the outgoing W.M. had discharged his duties to the lodge, and said Bro. Wilson had placed all the members of the lodge in his debt by his performance of the ceremony of installation, and the speaker moved that a vote of thanks be recorded on the minutes of the lodge to Bro. Wilson. Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson seconded the motion, and said he had never seen the ceremony worked with greater effect, and it was with pleasure that he saw the young lodge having officers so efficient; and he said that so great an example set before future Masters by a Master would be of the greatest advantage to the lodge. The motion was carried nem. con. with acclamation, and in conveying it to Brother Wilson the Worshipful Master decorated his I.P.M. with the jewel of the lodge. This bore the inscription "Presented by the Royal Standard Lodge, No. 1298, to Bro. John Figgess Wilson, P.M., to mark their appreciation of his excellent working, urbanity of manner, and great zeal evinced for the prosperity of the Lodge." The lodge, after voting £10 10s. to the Boys' School, to go on Bro. Jaffra's list, closed in due form, and at a somewhat late hour—late from the heavy work in the lodge—sat down to an excellent banquet, provided under the superintendence of Bro. Brooks, one of the proprietors of the club. Among the visitors were Bro. Linton R. Rogers, P.M. 902 (Burg-yn); Bros. Manver and Wells, both P.M.s of 1314; Bros. J. While, I.P.M. of United Strength, No. 228 ("Freemason"); H. B. D. Dunn, Finsbury Park Lodge; Wo. dward, of 476; Tabernacle, of Finsbury Park; and others. There was an absence of P.M.'s of the lodge, with the exception of Bro. Woodman, for the reasons that the lodge has not many, that one is abroad, and that another is ill. After the banquet the W.M. gave the usual loyal toasts—"The Queen and the Craft," and spoke of that day's ceremony—in her Majesty's visit to the East to open a new wing of the London Hospital—as showing that the Head of the State is animated with the same kindly feelings for which her Masonic father was celebrated. In proposing "The Health of H.R.H. the Grand Master, the W.M. made reference to the Grand Master's journey to the East, and said the Freemasons of England would give his Royal Highness a joyous welcome home. In response to the toast of "The Grand Officers," Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, as P.G.C., spoke with his usual eloquence, and repeated what he had said in lodge with regard to the "work" of the lodge, declaring that Grand Lodge would be highly gratified could the members see how efficiently all the duties of the Craft were carried out. He said, too, that he was proud of being a Royal Standard officer, and though he had been a truant Chaplain for a long time he would endeavour to give them more of his attendance. The W.M. then proposed "The Initiates," and Bro. A. Wilson, and his conferees acknowledged the toast in fitting terms. The visitors were toasted, and Bro. Linton Rogers responded thanking the lodge for the opportunity it afforded the visitors of seeing the excellent work of the Royal Standard. Bro. J. F. Wilson then proposed "The Health of the W.M.," and said that it was with the utmost gratification the members saw one of the children of the lodge take the position of its Master. The lodge was now in a most flourishing position, it had a balance in hand, it had contributed to the charities liberally, and it had good members. The W.M. who now took the head of the lodge under these favourable circumstances was one who had worked steadily from the first, though the offices of the lodge, and had done his duty to the lodge and its Masters in past years in a manner which had been well followed by his brother officers. The W.M. acknowledged the toast in fitting terms, and thanked the brethren warmly for assisting him in attaining the "summit of his profession." The brethren then, at a late hour—merging on midnight—seemed to be about entering on the enjoyment of the "evening;" but the recorder of events, with others who had to cross the valley of the Thames, departed, leaving the brethren in the north somewhat diminished in numbers, but fully inclined to enjoy themselves with the harmony from which the speeches had debarrd them.

KENNINGTON LODGE (No. 1381).—Bro. G. Everett, the Immediate Past Master of the Domestic Lodge, No. 177, and Worshipful Master of the Kennington Lodge, No. 1381, presided at the regular meeting of the latter lodge on the 7th inst., at the Surrey Club House, Kennington Oval, when there was a large attendance of brethren, members of the lodge, and a strong muster of visitors. Among these last were Bros. Greenwood, Prov. G. Sec. of Surrey; W. Palmer, J.W. 177; G. L. Everett, 177; Allcot, from China; Day, 1139; H. M. Levy, P.M. 188; and H. Massey, P.M. 619 ("Freemason"). The officers present were Bros. H. Higgins, S.W.; H. C. Reeves, J.W.; Walls, S.D.; Kohler, J.D.; Speedy, I.G.; Robinson, D.C.; Marston, W.S.; E. I. Page, P.M., P.G.S., Treas.; W. Stuart, P.M., Sec.; and Past Masters W. Mann, Koch, Gardner, and Drysdale. The work done was initiating Messrs. John King and J. Wardley, and raising Bro. Grimwade, and this occupied the brethren a considerable time, as the ceremonies were carefully gone through and impressively rendered. An excellent banquet was afterwards provided by Bro. Frederick Trotman, who personally superintended its serving. At the conclusion of the banquet, which gave general satisfaction, grace was rendered, and the W.M. proceeded rapidly to deliver the toasts, as the hour was late. After that of "The Queen and the Craft," which was followed by singing the "National Anthem," the W.M., in giving the toast of "The Grand Master," said that from the time H.R.H. first entered the Craft till that glorious day in April last when in the presence of 8000 or 9000 of the Craft he was installed as Grand Master he had never ceased to display his interest in the Craft. His progress through India had been one of great success, and in every town he had visited where Freemasons had come forward to show him their loyalty he had treated them with the greatest condescension. He was a generous-hearted man, and a thorough Freemason, and if he made as good a King as he did a member of the Craft a happy and glorious reign might be predicted for him. (Hear, hear.) "The Earl of Carnarvon, &c." was the next toast, and the W.M. said, in proposing it, with reference to Lord Skelmersdale, that since the Kennington Lodge last met his lordship had taken the chair at the festival of the Benevolent Institution, when over £9000 was announced; he had installed Prince Leopold as Grand Master of Oxfordshire; and not a week ago had presided at the Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge. He was a man made of the right stuff, and while such men were assistants of the Prince of Wales nothing would be wanting in Freemasonry with respect to its working. Bro. Page, P.M., proposed "The W.M.," and referred to the admirable way in which he had performed the duties of the chair. He congratulated the Kennington Lodge on having secured such a Master. While it had such a ruler it would be sure to be successful; it was successful now, and he trusted that the happy era which had now commenced would continue. There were in the lodge many young and aspiring members, and he had no doubt they would emulate the example of Bro. Everett, and carefully work up to the proud position to which he had attained. The W.M., in responding, after thanking the brethren for the kind way in which they had drunk his health, said it was very pleasing indeed to receive praises, especially when one felt that he had tried to deserve that praise. He felt very proud, as he had the right to do, to think that having just vacated the chair of one lodge he was placed in that of another; and he begged to assure the brethren that he should do in the future, as he had done in the past, everything he possibly could to promote the good of Freemasonry in general, and of the Kennington Lodge in particular. In order to obtain this object he had to solicit the assistance of his brother officers, and the brethren generally, and from what he had seen during the short time of his Mastership he felt assured he would not plead in vain. His year had been begun very happily and auspiciously, and if it continued as it had commenced he might predict that there was a very great future in store for the lodge. At all events nothing should be wanting on his part to bring about such a happy end, and he had no doubt of the result. The W.M. proposed "The Visitor," and said that of the many pleasing things that happened in Freemasonry one of the most pleasing was that of visiting lodges. It was a good and wholesome custom that ought to be encouraged; it served to cement the feelings that ought to exist among Masons. Bro. Greenwood, Prov. G. Secretary of Surrey, was the first to reply, but said he should much prefer to hear the brethren from the far East tell them something of the position of Freemasonry in that quarter of the globe. Returning thanks for such of the brethren as chose to place themselves under his banner, Bro. Greenwood said, the lodge ceremonies had given him great satisfaction, and their working redounded greatly to the credit of the lodge. The brethren were fortunate in having a Master who could do his work so well, and in having officers so well able to assist him. He was pleased to see on his right Bro. Drysdale, who many years ago initiated him in Freemasonry. To his left he saw the newly-initiated Bro. King, whom he had known 30 years, and who, he was sure, would bring credit to the Craft. He fully endorsed the W.M.'s remarks about visiting lodges; it was the greatest charm in Freemasonry, for thereby you made new and cemented old friendships; it also enabled brethren, though they might find diversity in working, to pick up hints which were very useful in the working of a lodge.

Bro. Allcot, from Hong Kong, also replied. He was, he might say, a stranger in the vast metropolis of London, having arrived here only a few months ago, after an absence of 18 years. He went first to Hong Kong, where there were four lodges. He was then removed to Ningpo, where he made it his business once a month to go to the Lodge Tuscan. There were four lodges there under British sway, one American, one German, and one French lodge. He had been much pleased at the way in which the Kensington Lodge was worked, and he might truly say it was sublime. He trusted that it might long continue to prosper, and might be the means of disseminating light and truth to the world, while it brought many true and good men under the banner of Freemasonry. He trusted all present would be spared to do their duty in this world, and after that be admitted as good and faithful Craftsmen to the Grand Lodge above, and be granted seats in the presence of the Great Architect. The W.M. then proposed "The Initiates." While Masonry was progressing so much it behoved the brethren to keep a watchful eye on those who were desirous of being admitted to the Order. As to those who had been initiated that evening, he knew, or at least he believed, that they would become a valuable acquisition to the Order. He did not know anything more gratifying to a Master of a lodge than to have the privilege of imparting to others those beautiful tenets with which he was himself so well acquainted. Some 18 or 19 years ago he saw the light of Masonry, and it made so deep an impression on him that he felt it now as if it had been but yesterday. From what he had seen of the initiates that day it had made the same impression on them. He congratulated them on having become members of the brotherhood, whose principles were brotherly love, relief, and truth, and whose watchwords were loyalty and charity. Bros. King and Wardley replied, and the W.M. having given the P.M.'s, Bro. Gardner made an excellent reply, in which he promised the W.M. all the assistance in his power. The toast of "The Treasurer and Secretary" was responded to by Bros. Page and Stuart. The W.M., in proposing "The Masonic Press," paid a high compliment to the "Freemason," the accuracy of whose reports, both of lodge meetings and all the Grand proceedings in Masonry, he could speak to from his own personal experience. Bro. H. Massey replied for this journal. The officers each responded for themselves, and Bro. Longstaff having given the Tyler's toast, the brethren separated after spending a very pleasant evening.

LANGTHORNE LODGE (No. 1421).—The first regular meeting of this lodge, under the presidency of the newly-installed W.M., Bro. R. G. Owen, was held at the Swan Hotel, Stratford, E., on Thursday, the 24th ult., the following officers being present, viz.: Bros. R. G. Owen, W.M.; B. Cundick, S.W.; H. Carter, J.W.; C. W. Ashdown, P.M. and Sec.; C. Lacey, P.M. and P.G.; J. D. Herts; T. S. Taylor, S.D.; H. N. Fowler, J.D.; G. F. Dix, I.G.; W. J. Rivett, D.C.; S. Morris, W.S.; M. Sherwin, Org.; and W. Steedman, Tyler; together with a number of brethren, and several visitors. The lodge having been duly opened, and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed, Bro. Claridge, of this lodge, and Bro. G. F. Crane, of the Lodge Rose of Denmark, No. 975, were severally passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. The lodge was closed down to the First Degree, and the ballot taken for Mr. J. Young, a candidate for initiation, which proving unanimous in his favour, and that gentleman being in attendance, he was admitted, and duly initiated into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. The ceremonies throughout were very creditably performed by the W.M., assisted by his newly-invested officers, most of whom being young, though energetic, Masons, will no doubt, ere long, endeavour to render the working of this lodge equal to that of any lodge presided over by older and more expert brethren. The report of the Audit Committee was, after some discussion, unanimously received and adopted, and the nomination of Bro. C. W. Ashdown, P.M. and Sec., to represent the lodge as Steward at the forthcoming annual festival of the Girls' School, brought the business of the evening to a conclusion. The lodge was then closed and the brethren adjourned for refreshment, separating in perfect peace and harmony, after spending a most pleasant and enjoyable evening; the Organist, Bro. Sherwin, and several other brethren contributing some excellent songs, &c. The visitors present were Bros. E. W. Clarke, W.M. 975; F. Y. Latticelle, P.M. 1056; A. Grimwade, 1381; J. Boulton, 1056; R. Lethwaite, 282; and J. Alcock, P.M. 1228.

THE GREAT CITY LODGE (No. 1426).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held on Saturday evening, March 11th, at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon-street, and it was very numerously attended by both members and visitors, and amongst the latter were the following brethren:—Nochmer, P.M. 186; Poynter, P.M. 903; G. Alcock, 325; Zetland, Hong Kong; Brockman, Madras; H. John, 749; G. Biset, 405; Scotch Constitution; L. Corne, 49; Partridge, 1445; Botterill, 49; Codner, 23; D. Green, 179; W. H. Green, 403; Monckwood, 192; Morgan, 1335; Herold, 1056; T. S. Carter, P.M. 493; and others. The lodge was opened at the early hour of two o'clock, when Bro. Moody, P.M. and Sec., took the chair, and the usual preliminaries having been gone through, the lodge was opened in the Second and Third Degrees, and Bros. Wyler, Royd, Roberts, Boote, Sampson, White, and De Letive were respectively raised to the Degree of M.M. This duty was kindly entrusted to Bro. Moody by the W.M. on account of one of the candidates for the Sublime Degree being a personal friend of the worthy Secretary, and he wished to be allowed to perform that ceremony. It is needless to say that in Bro. Moody's hands the work was well done, and left nothing to be desired. The W.M. then assumed the chair, and Mr. William Styles, a candidate for Freemasonry, being in attendance, he was most ably instructed into its mysteries by the W.M. The next business was the election of W.M. for the ensuing year, and a ballot unanimously resulted in the choice of Bro. Seck, the S.W., to fill that office, who returned thanks for the honour conferred upon him, promising to do his utmost to secure their approbation, and expressing a hope that at the end of his year of office he should leave the chair with the same kind feelings as he had been elected to it that night. The next business was the election of Treasurer for the year, but before the nomination took place Bro. Freeman, who has hitherto filled that office from the commencement of the lodge, expressed his wish to retire, but hoped his place would be filled by one of the Past Masters, and Bro. Headon, the Immediate Past Master, was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy. As Bro. Headon is such a thorough favourite with every member of the lodge the announcement of the result was received with loud cheering. Bro. Headon, I.P.M., returned thanks to the brethren for this mark of their confidence, and hoped that the amount would be large that they should place in his hands, and he assured them that he would take good care of it. Bro. Headon then said he had a pleasing duty, to propose that a Past Treasurer's jewel should be presented to Bro. Freeman, as an acknowledgment on the part of the lodge of his services. Bro. H. Thompson, P.M. ("Freemason"), said if he was in order he should like to make an addition to this notice of motion, and to supplement to by the words, "And that Bro. Freeman should become an honorary member of the lodge." He was quite sure that when they remembered the courtesy, kindness, and goodwill Bro. Freeman had invariably displayed towards every brother, they would admit with him that this was a compliment that would be well deserved. Bro. Moody said that Bro. Freeman had just telegraphed to him that he should not like to accept it. (Laughter.) Bro. Thompson said if that was Bro. Freeman's desire he would not press the motion, however much he might consider he deserved that honour to be conferred upon him. Bro. Freeman thanked Bro. Thompson for his kind intentions, but said he had no wish to be tied hand and foot as an honorary member, but wished to be at liberty to take part in their proceedings. The other notice will be considered at the next meeting of the lodge. Bro. Steedman, P.M. was unanimously re-elected as Tyler, and there being no further business the lodge was closed in due form. The brethren then adjourned to the large hall, where the banquet was served, the W.M. presiding. At the conclusion grace was said by the Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G. Chaplain, and Chaplain of the lodge, followed by "The Health of the Queen" and the National Anthem. The W.M. said the next toast he had to submit to the brethren for their consideration was that of "The Health of the Most Worshipful the Grand Master, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales." They all knew from the papers how he had enjoyed himself in India, and he trusted that his visit would not only have afforded enjoyment to his Royal Highness, but would cement feelings of kindness and goodwill between this country and India. He had no doubt it would be attended with beneficial results in India, and he was sure that all Masons would be prepared to give him a hearty reception on his return. He (the W.M.) had the privilege and pleasure of attending at his installation at the Albert Hall, and he was much struck with the energy and ability with which His Royal Highness conducted the proceedings, and he was sure that all would drink his health with heartiness and cordiality—a request that was enthusiastically responded to. The W.M. said the next toast he had to offer to their notice was that of "The Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon, [the Deputy Grand Master, the Earl Skelmersdale], and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present." They had two Grand Officers members of the lodge, and one of them, Bro. Simpson, Past Grand Chaplain, was then present. He was a man who was well known in Masonry, and a man, he might say, whom they all esteemed. The toast was well received. Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson said he thanked the W.M., the officers, and brethren for the honour they had done the officers, past and present, of the Grand Lodge. The names of Lord Carnarvon and Lord Skelmersdale were names that were sufficiently answerable for the performance of their public and private duties, and they were also names always received with every feeling of respect in a Freemason's Lodge. Freemasonry had a great mission always before it, for it had the happiness to possess in itself the elements of right, and whether engaged in business or pleasure a religious principle was inculcated, and it went far to give permanence to the welfare and happiness of mankind. It was a happy thing that Freemasonry should come to the point, for as a number of grains tended to form the lump of stone, so did the different individual members of Freemasonry help to improve the whole body of society to which they belonged. After some other observations, he said that, feeling his attachment to the lodge, as he must feel as their Chaplain, he did not wish any longer to be an honorary member, and he trusted the lodge would allow him to be its real member for the future, for he felt he should like to be attached as an active and not as an honorary member. He was responding for the Grand Lodge, but whether it was for a small lodge, The Great City Lodge, or the Small City Lodge, they were all banded together for the same object, in diffusing that that was good, and extending the happiness and welfare of their fellow creatures. (Cheers.) Bro. Headon, I.P.M., said it was now his duty to propose the next toast, which was that of "The Health of the W. Master." He had asked him as a particular favour not to propose it, and perhaps he would tell them why, but he could not consent in his position as Past Master to forego the pleasure he had in proposing his health. He could say more, that the W. Master had done his utmost to overcome the difference in their ritual, and he wished that there was but one ritual, so that they might have perfect working amongst them. The W. Master, in reply, said his reason for wishing Bro. Headon not to propose the toast of his health was because the evening was somewhat advanced. He thought they had heard enough of him for the last twelve months; but as Bro. Headon had thought proper to propose that toast nothing remained for him but to thank the brethren for the very cordial manner in which they had responded to the toast. Bro. Headon had alluded to the difference of their ritual, but he had done his best to give them what he had done. He was much indebted to all the brethren for their kindness during his year of office, and he thanked them for this renewed mark of their courtesy to him as W.M., as that was the last time he should address them in that capacity. Bro. Headon returned thanks for the "Past Masters," and Bro. Styles, for his health as the Initiate. The next toast was that of "The Visitors," for which the greater part of them returned thanks. Bro. Brockman, from Madras, said: After a very protracted stay in the East he was very proud to be amongst them that evening, and he found them what Masons were all over the world. He had thoroughly enjoyed himself, for which he cordially thanked them, and he felt himself as much at home as if he had known them all for years. Bro. Alcock, from Hong Kong, said he had been a few months in England, and during that time he had visited several lodges, but he had never met with more able working than he had seen in that lodge, and he should take back with him to the far East many pleasant recollections of that evening. He trusted the lodge might continue to prosper, and by uniting members under their banner show to the world at large that there is something in Freemasonry, and whether they hailed from one lodge or another he trusted that they might all become members of that Grand Lodge where the Great Architect of the Universe lives and reigns for evermore. (Cheers.) The Tyler's toast was then given, and the proceedings were brought to a close at an early hour.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT LODGE (No. 1558).—This lodge held its fifth regular meeting at the Surrey Masonic Hall, on Thursday, the 9th inst. Bro. W. Snowden, W.M., being unavoidably absent on important business, Bros. J. Dunn, P.M. and Sec., officiated as W.M.; W. S. Cackett, S.W.; T. Sleep, J.W.; W. Mitchell, S.D.; A. Runacres, J.D.; E. W. Boyton, D.C., as I.G.; W. Chalk, W.S. Also members of the lodge Bros. R. Scott, J. R. Smith, C. E. Power, J. Kemp, J. Dixon, J. E. Pentreath, W. Grayson, J. H. Swan, C. Sims. Also visitors Bros. J. Stanford, 72; E. G. Webster, 72; G. Alcock, 525; J. Sutcliffe, 1309; C. E. Towell, 1056; H. T. Ross, 87; M. S. Larham, W.M. 1539; J. Ruff, 95; J. Hernaman, 1326; J. W. Brooke, 1381; E. W. Devereux, 1423. The minutes of the last lodge meeting were read and confirmed. Messrs. W. Fish, J. W. Smith, and W. G. Bott were initiated. Bros. W. Bower, J. Dixon, and W. Grayson were duly passed to the degree of Fellow Craft, and Bros. R. Scott and J. R. Smith were raised. The W.M., Bro. W. Snowden, arrived and took the chair. Notice of motion was given by Bro. T. Sleep, J.W., that at the next regular meeting of the lodge "The propriety of altering Bye-law No. 1, so as to reduce the number of meetings from nine to six in every twelve months, and that the meetings take place every alternate month" be taken into consideration, as more conducive to the interests of the lodge. Also to consider the question of raising the visitors' fee for refreshment. The lodge was adjourned till Thursday, the 13th April. The brethren then partook of refreshments in the banquet-room of the hall. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and heartily responded to. In reply to the toast of "The Visitors" several neat speeches were made, congratulating the lodge on its harmony, good working, and prosperity. Bro. Alcock (525) said that when in China he had heard that the Masonic ceremonies were conducted in a very slovenly manner in England. Since he had been in this country he had visited many lodges, and on his return to China he should be able to acquaint his brethren there that Freemasonry in England is conducted with the utmost regularity and decorum—in short, that Freemasonry in every part of the globe he had visited is one universal science.

BATH.—Royal Cumberland Lodge (No. 41).—The first meeting under Bro. Brown, the new W.M., was held at the Masonic Hall, on Thursday, March 2nd, when he was supported by Bros. Cooper, acting as I.P.M.; Carey, P.M., as S.W.; Falkner, J.W.; Ashley, P.M. and Treas.; C. Wilkinson, Sec.; Braham, [S.D.]; Denham, J.D.; Gummer, I.G.; Wilton, P.M. and Dir. of Cer.; Hunt and Radway, Stewards; Past Masters Rubie, Mann, Mitchell, and Dr. Hopkins; several members, Bro. Styles presiding at the harmonium; 25 visitors, Bros. Collins, 379; Sparrow, P.M. 906; Pinkett, 906; and Bigwood, Tyler. The minutes having been read and confirmed, a ballot was taken for Bro. T. Trevor, W.M. 944, S.C., Bombay, as a joining member, which being unanimous in his favour, he was duly received into the lodge. Messrs. Mercer and Meatyard, previously balloted for, were admitted, and initiated by the W.M. The charge was admirably delivered by Bro. Cooper, and the J.W. was equally successful in the explanation of the working tools. In the course of the evening the brethren were carried off for refreshment, generously provided by the W.M., whose kindness was acknowledged by a vote, which was carried by acclamation. Bros. Hunt and Gummer presented the report of the committee appointed to see to the renovation of the furniture, for which an expense of £27 had been incurred, which was ordered to be paid, and after some discussion as to missing articles, a cordial vote of thanks was awarded to them for their efficient services. On the proposition of the J.W., a committee was appointed to confer with deputations from the other Masonic bodies in Bath as to the purchase of a new organ. The W.M. feelingly announced the severe domestic bereavement which had befallen Bro. General Doherty, W.M. of 906, and the Secretary was directed to forward to this highly esteemed brother a letter of condolence on behalf of the brethren of

No. 41. Bro. Cooke, formerly a member of this lodge, was proposed to rejoin it. Bro. Dr. Hopkins suggested the desirability of the purchase of an engraving of the installation of the Prince of Wales as M.W.G.M., but owing to the lateness of the hour the consideration of it was postponed. The lodge was closed at 10.45.

WOODBIDGE.—Doric Lodge (No. 96).—The usual monthly meeting of this old lodge was held at the Masonic Rooms, Woodbridge, on Wednesday, the 1st March, when there were present Bros. B. Gall, W.M., Whistock; Barnes, S.W.; B. D. Gall, J.W.; Brown, J.D.; E. Fitzgerald, P. Prov. G.S.B., Sec.; Wilmshurst, P.M., P. Prov. G.S.B., acting I.P.M.; visitor, Bro. Emma Holmes, P. Prov. G.R., and P.G.D.C. of the British Union Lodge. The lodge was opened in due form, the minutes of last lodge read and confirmed, and Bro. Dr. George Edwards Keer having been examined and entrusted, the lodge was duly opened in the Second Degree, and the candidate was passed to the degree of F.C., the ceremony being very efficiently performed by the W.M., who was ably assisted by his officers. The charge (which is too seldom given in lodges) was impressively given by Bro. Fitzgerald. The current business of the evening having been disposed of, the lodge was closed in due form, and the brethren retired from the neat and elegant little lodge-room to the Bull Hotel, where a plain and substantial repast was served, and the usual Masonic and loyal toasts were given by the W.M. in quick succession, and duly responded to by the brethren. The worthy Secretary, Bro. Fitzgerald, with the permission of the Chairman, assumed the gavel, and proposed "The W.M.," passing a hearty encomium on the way in which he had done the work that evening. The W.M. modestly responded, and said that had he known for what purpose Bro. Fitzgerald asked for the use of the gavel he should certainly have refused it. The Secretary said that whilst he was still in possession he would propose another toast. The brethren had amongst them that evening as a visitor a brother with whose name they had long been familiar, and they were very glad to see him. He had so many titles, and held so many degrees, that he was unable to give them—but he begged to propose his health. The toast was very cordially drunk, and Bro. Emma Holmes, in responding, begged to thank the W.M. and brethren for the kind way in which they had received him that evening, and Bro. Fitzgerald for the flattering way in which he was pleased to speak of him. He assured the brethren that it gave him very great pleasure to bear his testimony to the excellent working he had seen that night. He thanked them very heartily for their cordial reception. He, as they probably well knew, had made Masonry his hobby, and for the last 15 years had done his utmost, in a very humble manner it was true, to endeavour to advance its true interests in every way. He liked to visit various lodges, and was delighted often to see how ably country lodges were worked, as in the case of this, the Doric Lodge, and which would astonish their metropolitan brethren. It was often not easy for a stranger Mason to get into these lodges, as he had found from experience. Bro. Holmes then related how strictly he was examined in a certain west country lodge some time ago, and how by a courteous and experienced Past Master he was severely catechised in the three degrees, and passed his examination very well until the P.M. demanded a proof that he really was a P.M., as the W.M. was to be installed that night, which, the speaker said, regularly "floored" him, as he had so seldom seen the Installed Masters' Degree worked, and had quite forgotten it. They were then in a regular dilemma as to whether he should be admitted, and the difficulty was only solved by the entrance of another old P.M., well known in the west. This brother, on hearing his name, said: "Well, I will vouch for Bro. Emma Holmes. I have never seen him before, but I have read his lectures and papers in the 'Freemason' and 'Masonic Magazine' for years past, and will guarantee it is all right." So he was admitted, and very cordially treated when they found out who he was, and he afterwards supped with the brethren, and enjoyed a remarkably pleasant evening. On another occasion, the speaker said, he visited a certain Royal Arch Chapter, and he knew no one there. His cousin, who was a medical man in the place, and S.W. of the lodge, but not a R.A.M. himself, brought him up to the lodge-room. The F.P., who was a Major-General, by the way, accosted him, and asked if he was a R.A.M.? Bro. Holmes said he was. "Who introduces you?" said the General rather roughly. "I don't know any one! but my cousin, Bro. —, brought me here." "Your cousin is not a R.A.M." "I know that, but he is a gentleman," said Bro. Holmes, and he would not have allowed me to come had he not known I was a R.A.M." He then produced his certificate, and proved himself, and was admitted. After the meeting was over he was asked to stay and have some refreshment with the companions, but he declined, and went home, feeling that though it was well to be strict with strangers it might be carried to extremes sometimes. He merely mentioned this to the brethren so that they might be prepared when they visited strange lodges, and he ought perhaps to explain by telling them what he imagined very few of them knew, that there was a good deal of spurious Masonry practised, and many spurious Masons about, and no doubt all this excessive care was necessary in some places. Again thanking them, he resumed his seat. Bro. John Bull sang a very good song about a jilted sailor. Bro. Holmes gave H. J. Byron's clever comic song, "Betsy Knubbles, the Maid of all work," and the Tyler's toast, which, by the way, was given from the chair, brought a very pleasant and harmonious evening to a close.

GREAT YARMOUTH.—Lodge of Friendship (No. 100).—On Thursday, and inst., the members of this lodge met at the Town Hall, for the purpose of installing a W.M. for the year ensuing. Bro. E. J. Bonafellow had been unanimously elected, and he was installed by Bro. O. Diver. The W.M. appointed his officers as follows: Bros. J. Bond, I.P.M.; R. Martins, S.W.; R.

W. Hubbard, J.W.; J. W. French, S.D.; E. J. Bostwick, J.D.; L. Spence, I.G.; C. M. Kirkham and J. A. Wade, Stewards; D. R. Fowler, Sec.; and J. Holt, Tyler. Bro. the Rev. J. J. Gursey, Incumbent of St. James, was appointed Chaplain, and Bro. F. Welham, Organist. Among the visiting brethren were Bros. A. M. F. Morgan, D.P.G.M.; Rev. Dr. Maughan, J. C. Smith, P.M.; T. Lord, W.M. 1500; J. S. Offord, W.M. 213; G. Brittain, P.G.O.; and Smart, P.M. of East Derham. After the installation ceremony, which was most impressively performed, the brethren adjourned to the Crown and Anchor Hotel, where 60 brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet, provided in first class style by Bro. Franklin.

LANCASTER.—Fortitude Lodge (No. 181).—On Wednesday, 8th inst., the members of this lodge assembled in monthly meeting at the Masonic Room, Athenaeum. Bro. T. Atkinson, the W.M., presided, Bro. J. D. Moore, P.G.S.B. England, occupying the chair of I.P.M. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. Aldous was raised to the Sublime Degree of a Master Mason, the working being ably performed by the W.M., and who also presented the newly-obligated brother with the working tools of a Master Mason. Heartly good wishes were given by the visiting brethren, and acknowledged by the W.M. A candidate was proposed for initiation, and the lodge was then closed with the peculiarities of the Craft.

MANCHESTER.—Lodge of Affability (No. 317).—This lodge held its monthly meeting at the Freemasons' Hall, on Thursday, the 2nd inst., at which a large number of members and visitors attended. The lodge was opened by Bro. J. H. Clark, W.M., who afterwards initiated Mr. J. Walker into the ancient mysteries of the Order, and passed Bro. E. C. Potter to the degree of F.C. The W.M. then, on behalf of the members of the lodge, presented to Bro. J. Smethurst, I.P.M., a handsome gold Past Master's jewel, and in doing so expatiated at some length on the deserving merits of the recipient, who during his term of office as W.M. had gained the good esteem of all the brethren, and successfully conducted the business of the lodge. During the speech of the W.M. the brethren frequently testified their concurrence by their applause. Bro. Smethurst, in a few well chosen remarks, feelingly expressed his gratitude for the honour which had been so conspicuously conferred upon him, and said that he should ever treasure the jewel as a token of the esteem of his brethren, and of their good will which had during his occupation of the chair been so unanimously and generously shown towards him. Bro. J. H. Sillice, P.M., gave notice of the following motion, viz.: "That the sum of £20 be granted from the funds of the lodge to the new East Lancashire Systematic Benevolent and Educational Society," and from the cordial reception given to the notice there is no doubt that the motion will at the next meeting be carried into effect, as this old-established lodge has always been in the foremost ranks in all matters connected with charity. After the close of the lodge the brethren adjourned to refreshment, under the presidency of Bro. Clark, W.M., and a most enjoyable evening was spent. The loyal, Masonic, and other customary toasts were heartily and enthusiastically received. The speeches were interspersed with songs and recitations, the musical arrangements being, as usual, under the able direction of Bro. J. R. Lever.

FOLKESTONE.—Temple Lodge (No. 558).—This lodge was held at the Town Hall on Tuesday, the 7th inst. Present: W.M. Bro. R. B. Jenner; Bros. S. S. Stalwood, S.W.; C. Woollett, J.W.; J. B. Gill, C. Dickenson, D. Jones; Past Masters J. Sherwood, S. Penfold, J. Kennett, P.G.O.; W. Earnshaw, P.P.G.S.D.; H. Poole, P.P.G.S.W.; H. Stock, Sec., P.P.G.S.W.; W. B. Tolpott, P.P.G.O. Visitors: Bros. G. Alamsun, P.M. 199, 1208, P.P.G.D.C.; Furr, P.M. 199, P.P.G.D.C.; J. Wilson, P.M. 199, P.P.G.; S. Pupkis, P.M. 1208; J. Ferson, W.M. 199; Downing, P.M. 184; G. Adamson, jun., 1208; S. R. Elms, 199; Gorton, 199; Smith, 199; Cook, 1436; C. Gosby, P.M. 1436; R. H. Pledge, J.W. 1436, and the V.W.D.P.G.M. of Kent, J. S. Eastes. The lodge was opened at 3 p.m. by Bro. P.M. J. Kennett, in consequence of the indisposition of the W.M., Bro. R. B. Jenner, assisted by Bros. S. S. Stalwood, S.W.; R. H. Pledge, 1436, acting J.W. The first business was the election of a Bro. to serve on the Charity Committee for the province of Kent. Bro. P.M. Penfold was unanimously elected to fill that office. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, the Secretary then read a statement of accounts, showing a balance in hand of upwards of £15. Mr. S. Joseph was initiated, which ceremony was performed by Bro. P.M. Kennett. Bro. G. Alamsun then took the chair, and assisted by Bro. Earnshaw, and J. Kennett, as Wardens, proceeded to install the W.M. elect, Bro. S. S. Stalwood, in the chair of K., which ceremony was performed in Bro. Adamson's usual fluent style. Previous to the installation the brethren rose to salute the V.W.D.P.G.M., who kindly honoured the lodge with his presence on this occasion. The W.M. then invested his officers for the ensuing year, viz., C. Woollett, S.W.; C. Fagg, J.W.; Dr. J. B. Gill, S.D.; D. Jones, J.D.; G. Taylor, I.G.; H. Stowe, P.M., Sec.; J. Kennett, P.M., Treas. Bro. Kennett then offered to the acceptance of the lodge a very handsome Master's chair, designed by himself. The present was acknowledged by the W.M. in a few appropriate remarks. The chair was much admired by everyone present. The brethren then adjourned to the West Cliff Hotel, where a very recherché banquet was prepared by Mr. C. W. Wedderburn. The brethren expressed much satisfaction at the manner in which the repast was served. The gavel was wielded by the W.M. in such an able style that the usual Masonic toasts were quickly and effectually disposed of, until that of the V.W.D.P.G.M., Bro. S. Eastes, was given, and very enthusiastically received. Bro. Eastes, in response, spoke of the great rise and progress of Freemasonry during the past few years, and of the many influences at work to cause it. One of the great duties of a Freemason was charity, and the charities of the instition had risen in proportion. The brethren must not allow it to be used merely as an axiom, but it must become the duty of every brother to support and encourage these charitable institutions as far as lies in his power. "The P.G. Officers" was then given, and responded to by Bro. W. F. Gosling, P.P.G.P. The Installing Master, Bro. G. Adamson, P.P.G.D.C., whose health was cordially drunk, rose and said that it always afforded him the liveliest pleasure to come over and assist the Temple Lodge in any way. He must apologise for the brevity of his remarks, as he was obliged to leave on account of the early departure of the trains for Dover. "The Mayor, Bro. Past Master Sherwood," was then given by Bro. H. Poole, P.P.G.S.W., who dwelt upon the popularity and esteem in which he was held by all classes. The Mayor, in responding, made many trite and appropriate remarks upon Freemasonry, and mentioned that it was the twelfth or thirteenth time that a gentleman who was also a Freemason had occupied the civic chair. After "The Visitors," "The Secretary and Treasurer" and "The Junior Officers," the Tyler's toast brought the evening's proceedings to a close. Several songs by the brethren added to the harmony, and thus closed one of the most successful meetings of the Temple Lodge for some years.

PLUMSTEAD.—Pattison Lodge (No. 913).—The usual monthly meeting of this lodge took place on Thursday, the 9th inst., at the Lord Raglan, Plumstead, the W.M., Bro. A. Penfold, in the chair. The other officers present were Bros. C. Coupand, P.M., and P.G.S. for Kent; W. Tongue, P.M., and P.P.G.J.W. Kent; T. Smith, P.M. 829, and P.P.G.P. Kent; C. A. Ellis, P.M.; W. T. Vincent, S.W.; H. W. Butter, J.W.; A. Jessup, Treas.; E. Denton, P.M. 706, Sec.; T. D. Hayes, S.D.; W. B. Lloyd, J.D.; J. Chapman, I.G.; B. Lester, Tyler; and R. J. Cook, D.C. The work before the lodge consisted of the balloting for the following brethren as joining members:—3r.s. H. Barrett, of Lodge 1076; Hastings, S.W. of 829; and E. Long, of 1107; all of whom were duly affiliated to the lodge. Messrs. Upperton and J. C. Mitchell were then approved of by ballot, and initiated into the mysteries of the Craft. Bros. T. J. Anderson, T. Read, and S. Long were passed to the Second Degree, and Bro. A. Wallis raised to the Sublime Degree, the W.M., supported most ably by his officers, performing the ceremonies in excellent style. Among the visitors were Bros. T. Ward, W.M. 700; F. G. Pownall, W.M. 1536, and S.W. 13; C. W. Hobson, P.M. 700; H. G. Picken, S.D. 1536; C. Cooke, Org. 700, and of 13; E. Nugent, 706; J. T. Donnelly, 706; W. Tapp, 879 and 700; W. Jolly, 1107; E. Huwett, 13; C. Beard, 700; R. Blight, 147; H. S. Fisher, Org. 871; E. W. Fisher, 700; R. S. Garrett, 290; T. C. Hassell, 13; W. Wren, 687; and G. Elliott, 1076. At the conclusion of the business of the lodge the brethren supped together, and refreshed in true Masonic fashion.

NELSON (New Zealand).—Southern Star Lodge (No. 735).—The brethren of this lodge of Free and Accepted Masons celebrated the festival of St. John the Evangelist on Monday, the 17th Dec., at high noon, when the Worshipful Installing Officer, Bro. W. B. Sealy, installed Bro. J. C. Moutray into the chair of the lodge as W.M. for the ensuing year. The ritual and ceremony were very effective, and the admission, the charges, and address of the Installing Officer were very impressive. The Master then invested his officers, and the lodge adjourned until Wednesday evening, the 29th, when the Craft in general assembled to a banquet excellently provided at the Masonic Hall. The usual loyal, patriotic, and Masonic toasts were drunk; as also "The Health of the Retiring W.M.," the W.M. elect; the Sister Lodges of the district; certain highly esteemed brethren, &c., and the evening's entertainment was heightened by good music. We are assured that the position of the lodge at this time is highly favourable, and a prosperous and harmonious year is confidently looked forward to by the brethren. The Wardens for the year are Bros. Dr. L. G. Boor and W. Holmes.

SOUTHEAST.—Priory Lodge (No. 1000).—The regular March meeting of this lodge was held at the Middleton Hotel, on Thursday, the 9th inst. Bro. E. F. Phillips, P.M. 379, W.M., presided, and among other brethren who were present were Bros. A. Lucking, P.M. 160, Prov. A.G.D.C. Essex, I.P.M.; Rev. S. R. Wigram, P.M., and P.Z. 214, Grand Chaplain, S.W.; F. V. Jillings, J.W. 160, acting J.W.; J. A. Wardell, P.M. 160 and 1000, P. Prov. G.D., Sec.; J. R. Hemmann, P.M., Prov. J.G.D. Org.; W. Chaplain, S.D.; W. Chignell, I.G.; G. R. Dawson and A. F. Godward, Stewards; Rev. H. J. Hatch, S.W. 160, Prov. G. Chaplain Essex; F. Canton, W. All-n, jun., S.D. 160; G. F. Jones, W. D. Merritt, G. Berry, W. Wallis, and H. Hicks. Bro. F. Wood, P.M., P. Prov. S.G.W., the worthy Treasurer of the lodge, being absent through domestic affliction. Visitors: Bros. A. Winnill, 160; H. D. Brown, 160; and Captain De L'Andeson. After the usual lodge business, Bros. Rev. Hayes, H. Briggs, and W. H. Locket were passed to the Second Degree; Bro. B. Mackie was raised to the Sublime Degree of a Master Mason, and Mr. P. Benton, jun., was initiated into the mysteries of the Order, the ceremonies being performed by the W.M. in a highly creditable manner. The brethren afterwards partook of refreshment, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, and the Tyler's toast brought the proceedings to a close.

LANCASTER.—Rowley Lodge (1051).—The usual monthly meeting of this lodge was held on the 6th inst., at the Masonic Room, Athenaeum, Bro. H. Longman, W.M., presiding. The business was of a routine character, and this having been transacted, the brethren moved into a Lodge of Instruction in the Third Degree, Bro. J. D. Moore, P.G.S.B. Eng., acting as Master of the Ceremonies. On its conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Bro. Moore for his services, and duly acknowledged.

GREENWICH.—Star Lodge (No. 1275).—On Friday, 4th inst., at the Ship Hotel, the regular meeting of this well-established lodge was held. Bro. J. J. Limebeer in an admirable manner raised Bro. C. Marr, and then initiated Messrs. J. S. Leaper, J. W. Neale, and T. Gilloch into Masonry. Bro. J. Smith, P.G.P., P.M., Treasurer, was unanimously elected as the Steward to represent the lodge at the forthcoming festival of the Girls' School. All the officers were present, and Bros. Waugh, P.G.P.; H. Keeble, C. J. Hogg, P.G.S.; F. Walters, P.G.P. Middlesex, P.M., were in attendance. Visitors: Thomas, 134; Jewell, 1559; Lover, J.W. 1178; Hubhuck, P.G.S., P.M. 58; Moss, P.P.G.R. Middlesex, P.M.; T. Reynolds, 58; Stainer, 172; and others. Banquet and dessert followed.

HAMPTON COURT.—Burdett Lodge (No. 1293).—An emergency meeting of this lodge took place at the Mire Tavern, on Saturday, the 26th February. The lodge being opened, and the summons calling the meeting having been read, Bro. Frederick Kelly, the I.P.M., Provincial Grand Steward, and S.W. designate Musgrave Lodge, by special permission of Bro. Pearce, the W.M., took the chair, and conferred the Third Degree on Bro. Brookfield, that brother having been initiated and passed by Bro. Kelly during his year of office as W.M. The ceremony was performed by Bro. Kelly in such a manner as to convince all present that the Craft has in him a thoroughly efficient working Mason. The W. Master, Bro. David W. Pearce, then resumed the chair, and the ballot having been declared unanimous in favour of the admission of the candidate for initiation, Mr. Thomas W. P. Forrester was introduced, and initiated into the Order in that perfect manner for which the W.M. (as an old P.M. of the Craft) is so eminently celebrated. The brethren then retired to a plain dinner, provided by Bro. Sadler. There were present amongst others the R.W. Provincial Grand Master, Col. Burdett; Bros. Pearce, W.M.; Berrie, S.W.; Southwell, J.W.; Bus, Prov. G. Treas., Sec.; Rev. D. Shaboe, P.G.C., S.D.; Tindall, J.D.; Gordon, I.G.; H. Phythian, P.M., Prov. G. Sec.; Sanders, and others. Visitor: Bro. H. M. Carter, S.W. 173.

SOUTHALL.—Acacia Lodge (No. 1309).—A regular meeting of this lodge was held on Tuesday, 22nd ult., at the Prince Alfred Hotel, Southall. Present: Bros. C. Horsley, P.M. and acting W.M.; Rushworth, S.W.; George, J.W.; F. Walters, P.M.; Treas.; T. W. Cave, Sec.; Staler, P.M., S.D.; Nebb, I.G.; Staler, P.M.; Walters, P.M. The visitors were Bros. Hill, Royal Brunswick Lodge, Brighton, and Wall, Prosperity, 65. Minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. The ballot was taken and proved favourable for the Rev. J. S. Rothergill, Clerk in Holy Orders. Mr. H. R. Brown, Barrister was initiated; Bro. Rodger was passed; Bros. Morgan and Sutcliffe were raised. Bro. Walters, Treasurer, gave notice of his intention to propose at next lodge meeting, that a Past Master's jewel be presented to Bro. Horsley on expiration of his year of office as Master of this lodge.

MANCHESTER.—Lodge of Truth (No. 1458).—This lodge met on Saturday, March 4th, at the rooms, Newton Heath. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The ballot for Mr. Samuel Cooper proving favourable, he was initiated into ancient Freemasonry by Bro. Kent, W.M. The address being given, and the working tools presented by Bro. Turner, P.M., Bro. Wm. Smith was passed to the Second Degree by Bro. Caldwell, P.M. Bros. Hebdon, Lorking, and Swain were severally passed by Bro. Kent, W.M. The lodge, now meeting on private premises, necessitated the appointment of a purveyor. At the request of the W.M., Bro. Turner, P.M., accepted the office, much to the satisfaction of the brethren. There was a large attendance of members, and after an excellent tea had been served Bro. Hiff and others enlivened the evening with some appropriate vocal music.

HALLIFORD.—Thames Valley Lodge (No. 1460).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held on the 4th inst., at the Ship, Halliford. In consequence of the recent death of Mrs. Brette, the Rev. Dr. Brette, W.M., was not present, and in his absence the chair was taken by Lieut. Col. Peters, P.W., the first Master of the lodge. Bro. W. T. Howe installed Bro. J. Llewellyn Jones as W.M., who appointed the following brethren as his officers:—Bros. W. T. Howe, S.W.; T. B. Yroman, J.W.; W. Paas, P.M., Treas.; J. G. Marsh, P.M., Sec.; W. Sweetland, S.D.; J. E. Kershaw, J.D.; J. H. R. Gowan, I.G.; W. Alcock, D.C.; and T. Woodstock, Tyler. A unanimous vote of condolence was passed to Dr. Brette, on his sad bereavement, and in the moving and recording of the vote the brethren expressed their sincere sympathy with the rev. brother on such a melancholy and unexpected event. The following were balloted for as joining members, and declared elected:—Bros. Walter D. Jones, P.G.S. Camb., (Lodge 859), Captain H. R. Heathcote, (Lodge 228); Edward Lidbury, (Lodge 656); and Geo. Harry Gillam, (Lodge 192). A banquet, in the usual admirable style of Bro. Stone, followed the lodge work, and Bro. J. Llewellyn Jones, W.M., presided. Afterwards the customary toasts were proposed and honoured. There were present, besides the brethren named above, Colonel Burdett, Prov. G.M. Middlesex; E. C. Hislop, Geo. Towns, J. S. Tyler, Major the Hon. O. G. Lambart, Punnett 1100, and visitors, Bros. W. Winn, P.M. 657; W. Maple, P.M. 657; C. Potter, 657; W. W. Morgan, and A. G. S. Cave, 47 (I.C.).

NORTH WOOLWICH.—Henley Lodge (No. 1472).—The installation of Bro. J. Ives W.M. elect of the above lodge, took place on Tuesday, the 7th inst., at Bro. West's, the Three Crowns, North Woolwich.

The lodge was opened at two o'clock by Bro. B. B. Brayshaw, W.M., supported by his officers, Bro. West acting as I.P.M. After the reading and confirmation of the minutes of the last meeting, Bro. J. Henderson, P.M. 13 was elected an honorary member, and Mr. E. W. Ives was approved of as a candidate for Masonry. Bro. Brayshaw then proceeded to install his successor, which ceremony was most impressively rendered by him. The W.M. proceeded to invest his officers as follows:—Bros. W. Steele, S.W.; J. Silver, J.W.; A. J. Manning, S.D.; W. T. Turner, J.D.; T. Geller, Treas.; J. Henderson, Sec.; W. Stansfield, I.G.; N. Steadman, Tyler; J. Plume D.C.; F. A. Elder, W.S. The new officers being seated, the W.M. then had the pleasure of initiating his son into the mysteries and privileges of the Order; and the lodge being closed, the brethren adjourned to refreshment. Among the visitors were Bros. W. Graham, P.M. 700; T. Day, W.M. 1076; J. Carnaby, W.M. 1382; H. B. Holliday, P.M. 1076; T. W. Butt, S.W. 700; J. Waters, J.W. 700; C. Burnham, S.W. 754; J. Fisher, 272 (Scotch C.); H. Knight, 700; J. White 1076. H. Taplev, 1079; J. W. Mitchell, 1076; J. Jacobs, 1327; W. Brooks, 522; J. Dalton, 1076; and C. Jolly, 913. The banquet was a superb effort of the cuisine, and reflected great credit upon Bro. West's taste and ability, and having been thoroughly appreciated by the brethren, the W.M. gave, as usual, "The Queen and the Craft," "His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales." In giving the latter toast, he, as he felt sure all Masons did, wished our Royal brother a safe and speedy return to his native land. The toast of "The Deputy and Pro Grand Masters" was most loyally responded to. Bro. Brayshaw then proposed "The Health of the W.M." in glowing terms, and bore his testimony to the zeal and efficiency of Bro. Ives, and augured a successful year for the lodge under his guidance. Bro. Ives, in reply, expressed himself unable to find words sufficient to thank them for their kindness to him through the past, and above all for their placing him in the proud position of W.M. of the Henley Lodge. He then adverted to the charities of the Order, and warmly advocated their cause. They had just established a benevolent fund in connection with the lodge, and he asked them to aid him in making it a permanent and successful power in the lodge. He thanked them again from his heart for the trust reposed in him, and would do all in his power during his term of office to strengthen the Craft in general, and above all the continued prosperity of the Henley Lodge. "The Health of the Initiate" followed, and Bro. Ives, jun., responded in a brief and modest speech. The W.M. then rose to propose the toast of "The Past Masters" of and belonging to the lodge, and in so doing coupled it with the name of Bro. Brayshaw, who, he said, had by his courteous and affable demeanour made himself universally respected and admired. He (the W.M.) had that night a very pleasing duty to perform in connection with the toast, and that was to present Bro. Brayshaw with a valuable jewel, marking his position as Past Master of the lodge. He felt sure that Bro. Brayshaw wanted no incentive beyond the love he had for it to aid the cause of Freemasonry, but he believed in recognising services such as Bro. Brayshaw had done to both the Craft in general, and to this lodge more especially. He then fastened the jewel upon Bro. Brayshaw's breast, besides that of the Capper, Royal Arch, and Royal Installation jewels, which already adorned our brother, and in conclusion, said he trusted Bro. Brayshaw's life would long be spared to be in the future, as he had been in the past, an honour and a credit to the Craft. Bro. Brayshaw, who felt deeply the warmth of his reception, briefly thanked them for their valuable presentation, but above all for their good feeling and brotherly love towards him. He assured them of the pleasure he had experienced in presiding over so excellent a lodge, and of the valuable assistance he had always received from the officers during his term of office. He felt every confidence in the prosperity of the new lodge under their new Master, and after again thanking them resumed his seat amid great cheering. "The Visitors" was responded to by Bros. Day, Butt, and others, and Bro. Steele did so for the officers; and after a warm eulogy had been paid by the W.M. to the Masonic Press, for which Bro. Jolly responded, the Tyler's toast concluded a most enjoyable day.

BOOTLE.—Bootle Lodge (No. 1473).—On Thursday, the 2nd inst., this lodge met at the Town Hall, Bootle, at 3 p.m., Bro. H. Wyatt, W.M., in the chair, supported by a large number of brethren. Three candidates were initiated by Bro. Wyatt. The chair was then taken by Bro. J. W. Baker, P.M. 241, who proceeded to install the W.M. elect, Bro. J. W. Turley, P.P.G.J.D., which ceremony Bro. Baker performed in his usual capital manner, for which he received the hearty thanks of the brethren present. The W.M. then proceeded to invest his officers, viz., Bros. H. Wyatt, I.P.M.; S. E. Ibb, P.P.G.S.B., Treas.; Cleamthur, P.M., D.C.; Robt. S.W.; Duncan, J.W.; Clemmey, Sec.; Paterson, S.D.; H. Hugh, J.D.; Mortleman, I.G.; LeComber, S.S.; and Stott, J.S. Bro. Blake was unanimously re-elected Tyler. After the installation the brethren adjourned to the Derby Arms Hotel, where a capital entertainment, provided by Bro. Dowling, was done ample justice to. A selection of music was performed very satisfactorily by Bros. T. Foulkes, W. Forrester, and C. E. Bryan, under the superintendence of Bro. J. P. Bryan. We ought not to omit to state that during the evening a handsome Past Master's jewel was presented to Bro. Wyatt, the Immediate Past Master. Many visiting brethren were present, among whom were Bros. Dr. Spratley, P.M.; Dr. C. Swaby Smith, W.M. 1380; Bolton, W.M. 1289; Newell, W.M. 1035; G. Morgan, P.M. 1035; Morris, n. 241; and others.

CHAUCER LODGE (No. 1540).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held on Wednesday, 23rd ult., at the Bridge House Hotel. Present: T. J. Sabine, P.P.G.S.B. Middlesex, P.M. 73, W.M.; J. C. Mason, S.W.; E. S. Stidolph, J.W.; Rev. H. J. Hatch, Chaplain; W. Hudson, P.M. 315, P.P.G.S.D. Sussex, Treas.; F. Walters, P.M. 73, P.P.G.P. Middlesex, Sec.; W. J. Kemp, S.D.; C. W. Hudson, J.D.; H. Fajja, I.G.; W. Y. Luing, P.M. 45; Tyler; P.M. Bro. J. J. H. Wilkins acted as I.P.M. The visitors were Bros. R. Griggs, W.M. 228; H. Keeble, P.M. 1275; J. B. Langley, W.M. 1423; R. Kemp, 89; and others. On the opening of the lodge the minutes were duly read and confirmed. A balloting took place resulting unanimously in favour of admission of the following gentlemen:—Messrs. E. Hooper, A. F. Duick, R. C. Harrison, H. Blackwell, and R. Levy, who underwent the ceremony of initiation, which was, as well as the remainder of the work, very creditably performed.

INSTRUCTION.

METROPOLITAN LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 1507).—A meeting of this lodge was held at the Metropolitan Club, 269, Pentonville Road, King's Cross, on Friday, the 25th February. Present: Bros. Jas. Willing, W.M.; H. B. Fowler, S.W.; C. J. Scales, J.W.; Berrie, S.D.; Fenner, J.D.; Side, I.G.; T. Adams, P.G.P., Preceptor, W.M.; Stiles, Hon. Sec.; J. J. Michael, Jordan, H. Stiles, H. Scales, Carr, Morgan, Read, Child, Little, and Solomon. Visitors: Bros. W. H. Lee, P.M. 1524; Blease, and Webster. Lodge opened, and minutes confirmed. The ceremony of installation was rehearsed, Bro. Solomon acting as candidate. Bro. Michael, having assented to the usual charges and regulations, was installed to K.S. chair by Bro. James Willing, P.M., in a very able manner. The Second Section of First Lecture was then worked by the brethren under the Preceptor's superintendence. Bros. Morgan and Carr were elected members of this Lodge of Instruction.

MANCHESTER.—St. David's Lodge of Instruction (No. 117).—The members of this lodge held their usual monthly meeting on Tuesday, 17th ult., at the Masonic Hall, Cooper-street. There was a very fair attendance, and the following brethren were chosen to fill the various offices:—Bros. Ishmael Davies, acting as W.M.; Fred Cooper, acting S.W.; J. Holmes Poulton, Friendship, 44, J.W.; T. R. Peel, acting P.M.; John Taylor, acting J.D.; J. P. Howarth, acting S.D.; J. Singer, I.G. The opening and closing in the three degrees, together with the ceremony of initiation, formed the work of the evening. The admirable working bore testimony of a careful study of the different portions of the ritual by all concerned.

EAST SURREY LODGE OF CONCORD (No. 463).—At the regular weekly meeting of this Lodge of Instruction, held at the Fox and Hounds, London Road, Croydon, on Tuesday evening, the 20th ult., the ceremony of installation was very impressively rendered by Bro. C. H. Woodward, P.M. and Hon. Sec. of the mother lodge, assisted by Bros. H. W. Hunt, H.R.B. Pommere, P.M.'s of 463, A. C. Ebbutt, W.M. 463, visiting Bro.; the W.M. of the Addiscombe Lodge, Bro. Turquand; Bro. Sheard, P.M. of 272, and about twenty members of the mother lodge, who evinced their gratification by a very flattering and unanimous vote of thanks to the installing Master. This Lodge of Instruction, or rather Lodge of Improvement, meets every Tuesday evening as above, at 7.30.

LIVERPOOL.—Lodge of Emulation (No. 1505).—The usual monthly meeting of this lodge was held on Friday, the 3rd inst., at the Masonic Hall. Bro. J. T. Callow, W.M., presided, and the various officers present were Bros. H. Morris, S.W.; W. Quayle, J.W.; J. Hockan, P.M., Treas.; W. H. Corbin, Sec.; J. Capel, I.G.; I. Skeaf, P.G.O., Org.; and Williamson, Tyler. The list of visitors included Bros. H. G. Vernon, P.Prov.G.C.; W. Vaughan, W.M. 724; P. B. Gee, W.M. 1264; W. T. May, P.M. 673; J. P. Newman, P.M. 786; T. Ashmore, W.M. 1325; J. E. Jackson, W.M. 667; J. K. Digges, W.M. 673; and T. Evans, P.M. 1393. Three candidates were initiated, and five brethren passed by the W.M. in a remarkably effective manner. A very pleasant evening was subsequently passed at the social board, several songs, glees, &c., being given by Bros. Queen, Quayle, Child, Hobart, and others.

Scotland.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. Mungo (No. 27).—The regular meeting of this the oldest lodge in the province was held in St. Mark's Hall, 213, Buchanan-street, on Thursday evening, 2nd inst. Bro. G. Sinclair, I.P.M., and P.G.I. of Benevolent Fund, occupied the chair; A. Bain, P.M. 103, acting S.W., and G. McComb, J.W. Present: Bros. A. McTaggart, D.M. and A.G. Sec.; D. Dick, S.M.; A. P. Wilson, Chaplain; W. Neilson, W. Albin, D. of Music; J. Thomson, A. Nimmo, J. C. McEwan, J. Kidd, P. Brownlie, J.W. 34; J. Montgomery, T. P. Fleming, 525; Zetland, Hong Kong, China, E.C.; W. Ferguson, P.M. ("Freemason"); and others. On the lodge being opened, Bro. G. Sinclair stated that their respected R.W.M., Bro. D. Butler, would not be present with them that night, on account of having to attend another meeting of considerable importance. There being no work before the meeting (a very unusual circumstance), the lodge was transferred from labour to refreshment. The Chairman proposed the first toast, "The Queen and the Craft," which was responded to enthusiastically; also "The Three Grand Lodges." Bro. Sinclair then proposed "The P.G.I. of Glasgow," and in doing so paid a high compliment to the energetic manner in which the office-bearers of the P.G.I. have discharged their respective duties this number of years back, and he had much pleasure in coupling the name of Bro. McTaggart, P.G. Sec., with the toast. Bro. McTaggart replied, and gave an outline of the business transacted by the P.G.I. for the last seven years in particular, and said it was now second to none in Scotland; that all the lodges in the province were in splendid working order. The Chairman then proposed "The Health of Bro. Wilson, Chaplain," and was proud to see him once again among them after his severe and dangerous illness. Bro. Wilson feelingly replied. "The Visiting Brethren" was proposed, and replied to by Bro. Montgomery and T. P. Fleming, of Lodge Zetland, Hong Kong, China, No. 525, E.C. "The Press" was replied to by Bro. Ferguson ("Freemason"). Bros. McCall, McEwan, Neilson, and Montgomery contributed to the evening's enjoyment by singing some excellent songs. The Tyler's toast was then given. Happy to meet, sorry to part, and happy to meet again.

The 147th anniversary of this lodge was celebrated by a festival held in the Crown Hall, on Tuesday, the 7th inst. About 140 in all, ladies and gentlemen, assembled, and about 8.30 p.m. dancing commenced to the strains of the excellent quadrille band of Mr. W. C. Bennie, teacher of dancing, Bro. F. Brodie being Master of Ceremonies. At 11 o'clock an adjournment was made to the large hall above, where supper was served. The chair was occupied by the respected R.W.M. of the lodge, Bro. D. Butler, who was supported by Bros. G. Sinclair, P.M.; J. Scott, P.M.; and J. Wilson. Bros. Dr. McInnes, S.W., and McComb, J.W., officiated as Croupiers. The company was also honoured by a deputation from Lodge St. John, No. 33, consisting of Bros. D. M. Nelson, W.M.; J. McMillan, P.M.; J. Fletcher, P.M.; Wm. Bell, P.M.; P. Brownlie, J.W.; D. Horn, P.J.W.; and others, Bro. D. M. Nelson being called to the dais. Supper having been partaken of, the usual toasts were given. Bro. Dr. McInnes, Croupier, then proposed "The P.G. Lodge of Glasgow," coupled with the name of Bro. G. Sinclair, Treasurer P.G. Benevolent Fund, who acknowledged the compliment, and thereafter in most eloquent terms commended the toast of the evening, that of "Lodge St. Mungo, No. 27," and in doing so reminded them that this was the 147th anniversary of the foundation of the lodge, and it gave him great pleasure to be able to say that at the present time it was in as prosperous a condition as it ever had been from its foundation. Bro. D. Butler, W.M., in reply, said: Having been honoured for the third time to preside as W.M. of the lodge, there are two things at least which it behoves me to say. 1st. That I feel greatly indebted for so gratifying a distinction. 2nd. That I shall do all in my power to further the Lodge of St. Mungo and Freemasonry in general, and to merit your approval. This lodge for several years, by the brotherly assistance of its office-bearers, has greatly flourished, and I earnestly desire that the prospects, character, and influence of the St. Mungo, 27, will be maintained, which I have no doubt, with such a body of members as the lodge is composed of, it cannot help but do so. As regards the character of Masonry, it has been subjected to the ban of the Vatican; but it has lost none of its virtues by the impotent edict. Our noble Order can face such a trial with indifference, and come off more than conqueror. In fact, when I look at the brilliant assembly by which I have the honour this evening to be surrounded, including so many friends distinguished for practical, professional, and commercial ability, as well as for their religious and moral worth, I cannot entertain any serious doubt as to the final triumph of Freemasonry. Cardinal Manning has echoed the sentiments of his Holiness, but it has passed away like a tale that has been told without foundation, and so I may surely prognosticate, not for ourselves only, but for all the lodges all over the world, a happy future. It Popes and Cardinals permit themselves to go on in this fashion, excommunicating Freemasons, they might as well end by excommunicating faith, hope, and charity, for these are the foundation and principles of our most ancient Christian brotherhood: faith in the revealed word of God; hope in a blessed resurrection and a glorious immortality; and charity above all things, not only to the brotherhood, but to all mankind. These are our principles, which, like Jacob's ladder, are a means of communication for us between earth and Heaven, on which we shall yet come and go for the benefit of mankind. With such principles to sustain and guide us we need have no fear of any excommunication from man, for our hope is in God. I conclude by congratulating you all on this, the 147th anniversary of the lodge, and I trust that it will be memorable to you chiefly for its lasting friendships, its pleasant intercourse, and its joyous recollections. On the conclusion of the toast list, which between the intervals was enlivened by some most excellent songs from Bro. J. G. Sharpe, popular Scottish tenor; J. Sawyers, Scotch comic vocalist; Bro. Gall, and others, the company broke up, and dancing was resumed for an hour or so longer, all enjoying a most pleasant evening.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Union and Crown (No. 103).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held in Kilwinning Masonic Hall, 170, Buchanan-street, on Monday evening, 28th ult., Bro. D. Murray, W.M., in the chair; Bros. W. Thomas, S.W.; and W. Forsyth, J.W. Present: Bros. A. M. Wright, I.P.M.; R. Munro, D.M.; J. McFarlane, S.M.; N. Cameron, Treas.; J. Gillies, P.M., Sec.; J. S. Pollock, S.D.; A. Gray, J.D.; P. Cullen, Chap.; A. Bain, P.M.; G. Muir, J. Bannerman, D.M. 73; G. W. Wheeler, 73; and W. Ferguson, 543 ("Freemason"). The meeting was well attended over seventy brethren having signed the attendance book. The lodge being opened, and the minutes of last meeting read and approved of, eight applications were read from the following gentlemen for admission into the Order, viz.: Messrs. D. Livingstone, J. J. McKay, W. McDougall, J. Ross, T. Arthur, J. Brown, J. Logan, and T. Hinchelwood, and the same, being favourably balloted for, were initiated into the E.A. Degree by Bro. J. Gillies, P.M. The lodge was then resumed in the Second Degree, when two brethren were passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by Bro. A. M. Wright, I.P.M., after which two brethren were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason by Bro. J. Gillies, P.M. The lodge was then reduced to the E.A. Degree, when Bro. A. Bain, P.M., made a motion that the lodge present Bro. W. Cameron, Treas., with a M.M. jewel, and also that a committee be appointed to make arrangements to present Bro. Cameron and his good lady with something in the shape of jewellery for the long and valuable services he has rendered to the lodge for the last fifteen or sixteen years. The motion was seconded by Bro. G. Muir, and carried by acclamation.

RUTHERGLEN.—Lodge St. John's Operative (No. 347).—The annual festival of this lodge was held in their hall, Rutherglen, on Friday evening, 25th ult., Bro. Ex-Bailie Caldwell, S.P.G.M., R.E., in the chair; Bro. D. Smart, W.M.; W. Gardner, P.M., Treas.; and the Rev. Mr. Brownlie; Bros. J. Cunningham, I.P.M.; Rev. J. C. Stewart, St. Bernard's; and Wallace, banker, Rutherglen. About 270 brethren, their wives and friends, were present. The hall was beautifully decorated with flags and emblems, the most conspicuous being the banner of the lodge immediately behind the chairman. The meeting was constituted by prayer by Bro. Stewart, and after partaking of a comfortable tea, the Chairman rose, amid applause, and said: Ladies and gentlemen, it affords me much pleasure to occupy the chair on the present occasion, when so many brethren of the mystic tie have assembled with their wives and friends for an evening's social enjoyment. I am also glad to be able to congratulate you on your appearance to-night, and do not doubt but that the proceedings will be conducted in a manner worthy of the occasion, and that the recollection of them will give profit and pleasure to all. Gatherings of this description are useful in many respects. They foster friendship by bringing together those who might never otherwise have met, and, it may be, more especially among the younger portion of the audience, that a look given, or a word spoken, on such an occasion may influence their whole after life. Perhaps too, when many years have passed with their joys and sorrows, their lights and shades, some of those now around this board may be sitting in other lands, and amid other and very different scenes, and, bridging over seas and time, their memory may call up from the "land of long ago" pleasant recollections of friendships formed at such a meeting that will fringe with gold or bring radiant light to bear on the dark clouds or dim mist of declining life. Nobody knows better than the brethren around me that there is no friendship more pure or unselfish than that which springs from Freemasonry. Masonry knows no distinction in class or colour. The heir to the throne in its eyes is no greater than the humblest subject, and under its protecting wings he whose colour is, alas! too often the badge of slavery, stands erect and untrammelled, and feels that he meets on an equality with the brethren under whatever sky they may have been born. Masonry, with its principles and ceremonies, has come down to us from time to time far back in the world's history, when the East was the seat of learning, and its architectural structures were unsurpassed for beauty and grandeur, down through generation after generation, through peace and war, through ages of darkness and times of enlightenment, preserved amidst the overthrow of dynasties and fall of nations. Nor is Masonry limited by geographical lines. It stretches from the farthest east to the farthest west, and from farthest north to farthest south uniting in one grand brotherhood nations widely different in their religious, political, and social life, and whether on the "dark blue ocean," in the heart of the crowded city, in the deep solitude of the primeval forest, on the rugged mountain side, in the frozen region, or on the burning sands, is ever ready to respond to a look, a touch, or a word like that greatest of modern discoveries—the electric telegraph. Yes, even on the very battle field, amidst the shock of contending armies, it may assert its influence, and recall to life the better feelings of the human heart, which for a time had become extinct in the general carnage. Of late years Masonry has been greatly on the increase in this and other countries, and it is gratifying to find that the Rutherglen St. John's Operative Lodge is in this respect no exception to the general rule. It can be gathered from history that 700 years ago the operative Masons employed in building the grand old Cathedral of Glasgow resided in the ancient Burgh of Rutherglen, which, indeed, at that time embraced within its boundaries Glasgow itself. These operatives would doubtless have their lodge or brotherhood in Rutherglen, to which yours is not an unworthy successor. The first minute of your meetings extant is dated 27th December, 1755, but likely enough the lodge existed before that date. It then held of Mother Kilwinning, and admitted as members only operative Masons with their kindred tradesmen, wrights and smiths; but Masons alone could hold office. The minutes of meetings were regularly kept till February, 1828, when the lodge became dormant, and it continued so till the present charter was granted by the Grand Lodge of Scotland on 26th November, 1846. There were then twenty members on the roll, and each year, with the exception of 1861 and 1863, added to the number. The first seven years brought thirty additional members, but I cannot refrain from giving in detail the additions during the last seven:—In 1869 there were admitted 18 members; in 1870, 22; in 1871, 48; in 1872, 59; in 1873, 72; in 1874, 67; and in 1875, 70; and in the short period that has run of the present year 10 have been admitted. There have been 450 members added to the roll since the lodge was resuscitated, or an average of 15 a year, which shows a very satisfactory progress, but it is still more satisfactory, and indicates that there must be a great amount of vital energy in the lodge, when it is known that during the last six years there have been admitted no fewer than 336 members, being an average of 56 for each year, or more than one per week. I question if many lodges within the district can point to such a rapid increase. The result could not have been brought about without unity of action, and the members pulling unanimously together. To crown all you have within the last two years erected these fine buildings, with the spacious hall in which we are met, and other conveniences to be used in connection with the lodge, which will stand for years to come a monument of your energy and perseverance. There is a respectable sum at credit of the benevolent fund, and altogether I feel certain I am uttering the sentiments of the brethren everywhere in now expressing the hope, that your career in the future may be as prosperous as it has been in the past. It would be presumptuous in me to offer you counsel. Your experience will guide you, but if I may be allowed I would impress on you the duty of cultivating a brotherly feeling, not only among members of your own lodge, or the brethren generally, but outside your own circles, striving not to overpower or rule by might, but to establish by persuasive means the reign of peace and goodwill, knowing that thus you will be acting in accordance with your solemn promises, and, in the words of our national bard,

May freedom, harmony, and love,
Unite you in the grand design,
Beneath the Omnipotent eye above,
The glorious Architect Divine.

I cannot close these few remarks without a word to the fair sex who this evening have favoured us with their company. To you, ladies, much of Freemasonry, with its hallowed rites and ceremonies, must ever remain a secret. It is not for me to attempt to tell why this should be. For my purpose it is sufficient to know that it is, and has always been so, but I betray no secret when I tell you, that Freemasonry is founded on the great principles of faith, hope, and charity, and that although among us as in every numerous society, there may be some who, unfortunately, do not act up to their principles, be assured that a true Mason will never turn a deaf ear to the cry of distress, or be a neglectful husband or an unkind father. In the course of the evening Bro. D. Smart, W.M., gave an excellent address, and concluded by saying: Our worthy chairman has told you how the lodge had prospered; if it continues to prosper in the future, and I trust it may, as it has done in the past, I feel confident that before many years go by this building in which we are now met, will be the exclusive property of the St. John's Operative Lodge, No. 347. The Rev. Bro. J. C. Stewart afterwards gave a very instructive address. The W.M. proposed a vote of thanks to the chairman, which was heartily responded to. The concert was well sustained by Miss Marysey Bro. G. Stobbs, Mr. J. Wilson, and a quartet party, (who rendered "Willie Brewed a Peck o' Maut" in fine style), viz., Bro. McDonald and Messrs. Gillespie, Alexander, and Lambart. The company then sang "Auld Lang Syne." An assembly followed, Bro. Graham, Master of Ceremonies, and dancing was kept up till an early hour in the morning to the strains of Bro. Lockheart's Quadrille Band.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Caledonian Railway (No. 354).—A meeting of this lodge was held on Wednesday evening, the 1st inst., in the Commercial Hall, 30, Hope-street, Bros. A. B. Ferguson, W.M., in the chair; J. Harley, S.W.; C. McKenzie, J.W.; D. T. Colquhoun, Treas.; R. A. McLean, Sec.; D. Leitch, S.D.; and J. Harley, J.D. The meeting was well attended by the members and an exceptionally large number of visiting brethren, among whom we noticed Bros. J. Munro, W.M. 160; J. W. Burns, I.P.M. 87; J. Scott, W.M. 419; D. Reid, I.P.M. 465; W. Phillips, W.M. 556; W. J. E. Du son, W.M. 571; W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); E. Arthur, O.; J. Fife, O.; and others. On the lodge being opened, and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed, Messrs. A. Cruickshanks and J. McMillan were initiated into the First Degree by Bro. A. B. Ferguson, W.M., in a manner creditable to himself, considering the short time he has occupied the chair. Two brethren were passed to the Second Degree by Bro. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Dramatic (No. 571).—At the regular meeting of this lodge, which was held in St. Mark's Hall, 213, Buchanan-street, on Wednesday, the 1st inst., at three o'clock p.m., the meeting was not so well attended as on some former occasions, and it may be here stated that this lodge was constituted about twenty months ago, and was intended to meet a great want long felt by professional gentlemen coming to Glasgow. The hour of meeting being three p.m., was fixed to suit the convenience of those wishing to attend the meetings and become members of the lodge. Bro. W. J. E. Dobson, W.M., presided, H. W. Jackman, S.W.; W. Sivewright, J.W.; W. Barbour, Treas.; D. Campbell, Sec.; L. Mitchell, J.D.; F. Hay, I.G.; and J. B. Hardie, Tyler. The Secretary read minutes of last meeting, which were confirmed. The W.M. stated that no definite word was received from the P.G. Master when the lodge would be consecrated, but the members would all receive due notice when the date would be finally fixed. Bros. W. Woolf and J. Robertson were then raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason by Bro. W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543. Amongst the visiting brethren present were Bros. W. Phillips, W.M. 556; J. Dunbar, 30; W. Allan, 97; H. Montague, 254; R. Fraser, 413; and W. Ferguson ("Freemason").

THE GENERAL RECIPE AND FAMILY PHYSIC for dilapidated constitutions, disordered Liver, Biliaryness, and Indigestion. The wonderful efficacy of Holloway's salutary medicine, and the good effects produced on patients suffering from the above complaints would appear incredible if not confirmed by daily proof of the cures effected by them, and the permanent benefit derived from their use. These invaluable Pills soothe and strengthen the nervous system, purify the blood, regulate the secretions, and invigorate the constitution. Disease flies before them. They are composed of vegetable extracts, combined with a grain of any mineral or noxious substance. They may therefore be taken with the utmost confidence, and with perfect safety, to delicate females and young children. They cannot do harm.—ADVT.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/-

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, New Zealand, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS

are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

NOTICE.—It is very necessary for our friends to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to

GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

NOTICE.

A supplement of four pages will be issued with the "Freemason," of Saturday next, March 25th.

Will A. B. write privately to the Editor, 198, Fleet-street.

Bro. Harriott's letter about the S.B. Institution in our next.

A communication from "Masonic Student" about "Old Constitutions" in our next.

The following communications stand over:—"Proposed Scottish Masonic Benevolent Institution," by Bro. G. E. R. Harriott; "The United Orders of the Temple and Hospital," by Bro. E. Holmes; Reports of Lodges:—Francis Burdett, 1503; Faith, 141; Albion, 9; Thornliebank, Thornton, 512; Albert Edward, 1560; Union Waterloo, 13; Israel, Birmingham, 1474; Churchill, Oxford, 478; Morecambe, 1561; Chapter Elias Ashmole, 148; Conclave Aubrey, 134; Provincial Grand Lodge of Norfolk; Scotland:—Consecration of St. Bride's Lodge, 579; Caledonian Railway, 354; Mary's Lodge, Wishaw, Coltness, 31; Thistle, 81; Partick Chapter, 112; Paisley Chapter, 113; 1328, Granite.

Reviews stand over owing to pressure of matter.

BOOKS RECEIVED.

"Proceedings of a Convention of Delegates for Organizing a Supreme Grand Council of the United States of America."—A Knight of the Red Cross of Constantine, New York, 1875. "New York Dispatch." "Masonic Journal."

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d. for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

TAYLOR.—On the 14th inst., at Ladbroke-terrace, W., the wife of J. H. Taylor, Esq., of a daughter.

FRILDEN.—6th, at Scarborough, the wife of W. L. Feilden, Esq., of a son.

MILLER.—On Dec. 28th, 1875, at Kangaroo Point, Brisbane, Queensland, Mrs. R. Miller, of a son.

CHURCHILL.—On the 13th inst., at Castlenau, Barnes, the wife of J. B. Churchill, Esq., of a son.

MARRIAGES.

PRESTON.—HILHOUSE.—At Brixton, Harry W., son of Mr. John Preston, of Brixton Road, to Harriette K., daughter of Mr. Richard Hilhouse, jun., of Loughborough Park, Aug. 14th, 1875.

HUDDLESTON.—ATKINSON.—At Plungar, Arthur W., son of Mr. R. B. Huddleston, Aban Court, Cheltenham, to Emma, daughter of the late Mr. T. W. Atkinson, Feb. 20th.

DEATHS.

CALLENDER, Percy W.M., infant son of Mr. John M., at Victoria Park, Manchester, March 3rd.

NEWTON, Mr. William, Member of the Metropolitan Board of Works, at Stepney Green, aged 54, March 9th.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, MAR. 18, 1876.

THE ROYAL VISIT TO INDIA.

The Prince of Wales arrived at Bombay March 11, in the morning. His Royal Highness was received at the station by the Governor of Bombay, Sir P. E. Wodehouse, and Staff, by the Chief Justice, Sir M. R. Westropp, and by Lieut.-General C. W. Staveley and other officers of the Presidency. The Prince drove directly to the dockyard, the road being lined with troops. Having received a farewell address from the Municipality, His Royal Highness proceeded immediately on board the Serapis. This is the last state appearance of the Prince in India. Her Majesty the Queen, in order to commemorate the visit of the Prince of Wales to India, has appointed His Royal Highness Honorary Colonel of eight Native Regiments, four of which are in future to be designated "Queen's Own," and the other four "Prince of Wales' Own." He was to leave Bombay at once.

OUR ROYAL GRAND MASTER'S RETURN FROM INDIA.

Our Royal Grand Master was to leave India, on his return to the hospitable shores of old England, on the 10th March, and by a happy coincidence on the anniversary of his happier marriage. He left actually, we believe, on the 11th or 12th. He will soon be amongst us again, in all good health, and having gained golden opinions from all with whom he has come in contact. Indeed it is quite clear, that the effect on the native mind has been even beyond our expectations. As the "Times" of Friday last well put it: "He has done so much in so short a time, and has been followed so eagerly and so closely by the attention of every British subject who can understand a narrative or a picture, that it must be a surprise to most people to be reminded that the Prince left England on the 11th of October, and has consequently been away only five months altogether. Fifty years ago this was about the shortest time in which even a Governor-General could expect to reach Calcutta." But now, thanks to steam, a few days only separates us from our great Indian Empire, and the daily telegram with marvellous accuracy has given us news of him almost within every twenty-four hours during his Indian journey. And, therefore, it is now a question of not very many days before we shall again hail his welcome presence amongst us. There will be but one feeling amongst our entire Order, namely, that of thankfulness and rejoicing that he has been so shielded from accidents and malady in that sultry and often trying clime, and amid the hazards to which he has been inevitably exposed in his venturous quest after the greater game. We shall all be grateful when we remember to-day that a good Providence has been with him in his "goings out and his comings in," and has preserved for his family, and above all for our English people, for all the citizens of one great and common fatherland, a life so precious and so important. Did we say, for our own land—may we not add for the peace and progress, and good order and conservation of all we hold best and dearest, alike in social life as in the body politic, for the expanded families and the great brotherhood of the human race? And then there comes in another question—How best can we receive him and welcome him as an Order when he does return from his Indian tour, safe and sound, healthy and happy, kind, and considerate, and genial as ever? Well, we have our annual festival; but what can that do to meet the warm feelings and zealous loyalty of our great brotherhood? At the most 600 brethren can sit down in Freemasons' Hall, and what is that amount of fortunate brethren to the vast majority of the forgotten? Remembering the many disappointed brethren at his installation, and knowing the feeling that exists in our Order, we venture to suggest to-day, for the consideration of our rulers, and of those who take a leading part in our Masonic councils, that a special reception should be arranged for our G.M. either at the Crystal or the Alexandra Palaces, or at some convenient spot, in which all of our Order who wish to be present may be enabled to be present. We are aware that this is a novel step, and a previously unheard of proposal, and will encounter fifty objections immediately, but we venture to remind our hearers that we are all, so to say, moving on, and that what was sufficient even at the beginning of this century no longer satisfies the exigencies of the hour, or the feelings of our brethren. Surely some form of welcome may be authoritatively arranged which will harmonize with the genuine and heartfelt sympathies of the Masonic body, and will enable us as Freemasons, maligned and excommunicated as we have been, to show to all that there never has existed, and cannot be found anywhere to-day, a more loyal Order than our good and steady old Craft. We throw out these hints, currente calamo, for the consideration of those whose opinions we all pay deference to, and whose authority we all respect. May some great gathering be a witness before the whole world that we welcome our Grand Master back from his Royal and successful progress as rejoicing patriots and devoted brethren, that we have re-elected him in his absence as our Grand Master, because we confide in him, as we know he feels for us, and that we are anxious to offer to him the unbought homage of English loyalty and fraternal affection, proud of the fact that he is at our head, that "Teucro duce et auspice Teucro," we are marching on, a mighty host, strong in our own principles, our own unity, and our "good cause," laughing at our puny assailants, heeding no anathema, and dreading no foe.

THE GRAND ORIENT OF FRANCE.

We said in our last number that we should recur to this subject, and we do so gladly to-day. For the last "Bulletin du Grand Orient de France" shows us clearly what a very difficult position is that of the rulers of the Order in France, amid the present state of effervescence in which our French brethren appear to be from various causes of one kind or another. We do not now allude to those two grave questions, the dissidents at Bordeaux and Frere Hermitte, or the separatists of the "Freres Unis Inseparables" under Frere Fabien, because we don't feel ourselves competent to express an opinion on the subject, though we deeply regret in the interests of French Masonry that such controversies have arisen. In the abstract, moreover, we are inclined to think, we feel bound to say, that something may be alleged reasonably and fairly for the "gravamina," alike of the "Ateliers Supérieurs" of Bordeaux and for the complaints of Frere Fabien, De Villaret, Brimont, and others. But then that is our insular view of things, and it is not, we know, the view of the Grand Orient, and therefore we pass to the "previous question." Indeed, our words are meant to be simply words of eulogy and sympathy for Bro. St. Jean and the Conseil de L'Ordre. It seems that the Lodge Orion, Orient de Gaillac, addressed Frere St. Jean, through its Secretary, Bro. "Poujade," December 8th, 1875, informing the Conseil de L'Ordre that a candidate who had been refused by a lodge at Toulouse had applied for initiation in the Lodge Orion, and that, as the lodge had heard that personal enmity and clerical influence had prevented his reception at Toulouse, they intended to admit him. The President of the Conseil, our Bro. St. Jean, replied to this letter on the 11th December, informing the lodge that such an initiation would be illegal, as by Article 120 it was clearly declared, "Every profane refused for initiation cannot be presented anew except after the delay of one year." In the reply of December 17th, 1875, the Secretary announces that despite Article 120, and the warning of the President of the "Conseil," the lodge meant to initiate the brother, principally because apparently he had "beaucoup souffert pour la Republique et pour la libre pensee," but without any reference whatever to the binding regulations of their own Order. On the 20th of December the President invited the lodge to pause, and to conform itself to the General Statutes, and to the particular law, Article 120, calling the attention of the lodge to the responsibility it incurred by such a "flagrant delit" in respect of the constitutional regulations of French Freemasonry. The lodge, not heeding either warning or advice, proceeded to initiate the profane, in direct disobedience of the precise terms of Masonic prescription, and the very words of the Code Maçonnique, and therefore on the 8th January, 1876, the Conseil de L'Ordre provisionally suspended the Lodge Orient de Gaillac, and fixed February 12th, 1876, for it to appear before the "Conseil" and defend its conduct. What that result has been, if any, we shall know next month. We think that all our readers will entirely approve of the firmness and justice displayed by Frere St. Jean and the Conseil de L'Ordre, and will also agree that a more contumacious act never was carried through by any lodge. We are quite aware that just now, as we before said, the position of the Consul de L'Ordre is no bed of roses, that French Freemasonry is in a very excited and unsettled state, and all to whom the rule of the Order is confided have a very difficult course to steer in order to preserve the just authority of the Grand Orient, and to uphold the constitutional regime of the Order. That the Grand Orient in very difficult times, and through very regrettable scenes, under the able presidency of Frere St. Jean, has acted with great prudence and true Masonic principles we think none can question, and we should be very happy to see the Order in France emerge from its many troubles, and, rising above opposing schools of thought and action, take up its old and independent position. We may recur to the subject before long, as we wish sincerely well to our brethren in France, but in the meantime we beg to congratulate Frere St. Jean and the Conseil de L'Ordre for their loyal adherence, even in the face of much misplaced sentimentality, to the "Lex Scripta" of the Grand Orient of France.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

MASTER MASONS' JEWELS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

The Masonic mind at large seems greatly exercised on the question of "Jewels, Master Masons' Jewels, &c." I am not going here to enter into technicalities as to what may be allowed and what disallowed. I wish to consider the question in its true Masonic spirit.

The badge of a Mason is his apron, which in the three degrees "distinctly marks the status" of its wearer. What more can be wanted?

Jewels are simply emblems of office, and when the wearer thereof ceases to hold office the jewel and collar descend to his successor (vide Lecture on Tracing Board, First Degree).

Thus for all practical purposes the apron is the badge of a Mason. No jewel distinctive of any degree is authorised by the Constitutions. It is true that some may argue that as certain jewels are not disallowed by the Constitutions therefore they may be worn. That is not the point I am seeking to enforce; what I do wish to say is that no jewel is necessary, that by the ancient landmarks of the Order the "badge of a Mason is his apron," and "the jewel the emblem of office." Above all let us remember "simplicity" is a characteristic of every true Mason. So far as to ordinary members of the three degrees I would even go further, and ask why there should be a P.M. jewel?—the levels on the P.M.'s apron distinctly mark his status.

Then again, when the brother has gained purple, the purple itself denotes his pre-eminence, while the distinctive marks on his apron rigidly define his actual status therein.

Why, then, any jewel at all save for actual office-bearers?

I wish to show how unworthy it is for a true Mason to think of personal "adornment;" how unworthy it is for those that aver that they are "poor and friendless" to seek their own glory at the expense of the true feeling of the Craft. There is an old adage applicable to all good Masons, "By their works ye shall know them."

Masonry is Masonry, and stands on two firm a basis to be upset by the question of "personal adornment;" Masonry requires no meretricious advantages to recommend itself; Masonry speaks to the heart not by outward show, but by inward rectitude of purpose. So far then as to these degrees, there now remains the question of centenary and charity jewels. The centenary jewels may be dismissed at once—there can be no reason for them; but as to "charity jewels" I do feel a difficulty. I hold, however, that as all jewels are contrary to the true spirit of Masonry, therefore that even these should be disallowed. Those noble brethren who have done so much for "charity" (that great characteristic of Masonry), who alone may be considered entitled to wear charity jewels, require no external marks to distinguish them; their names are well-known, their good deeds speak for themselves.

I do not write this letter for the worthy and well-informed brethren, who know more of the subject than I do, but simply for the instruction of the newly-initiated, and those that know little of the Craft.

A true Mason is essentially a modest man, who feels his own personal incapability (seeing that in this world perfection is impossible), and endeavours to the utmost of his power to fulfil what is laid down as his duty.

A true Mason seeks not his own personal aggrandisement, but in his good works to advantage the Order and his fellows.

Meretricious display is contrary to the feelings of a true Mason; therefore I maintain that all jewels save those of actual office-bearers should be forbidden, as contrary to the landmarks of the Order.

I am, Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,

G. E. R. HARRIOTT,
P.G.M. Wigtown and Kirkcudbright.

OUR ROYAL GRAND MASTER'S INDIAN PRESENTS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I have read with much pleasure your timely remarks on the charities of our Craft, and having personally, through the kindness and noble heartedness of our worthy and esteemed Bro. R. J. Spiers, had my unfortunate case favourably considered by our Lodge of Benevolence, I trust you will allow me to make a suggestion to the great supporters of our Craft, which if carried out would add I may say thousands to our charities.

If our Royal Prince the Grand Master of England were solicited to allow the numerous presents given to His Royal Highness on his Indian Tour to be exhibited at some convenient place in London, at a small charge for admission, thousands would go to see them, and the result for the benefit of our charities would be, I doubt not, fabulous. I would also suggest a similar exhibition at all our large towns.

I am Sir, your fraternally,

A PAST MASTER,
Alfred Lodge, Oxford.

7th March, 1876.

MASONIC TOKENS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I have lately had placed in my hands a few of the copper tokens issued in 1794 to commemorate the election of the Prince of Wales as Grand Master in 1790. These tokens were fully described in your publication some few months ago, and are exceedingly curious and rare. It perhaps may not be out of place to give a brief description of them. Obverse, arms of the "Moderns" Grand Lodge, inscription, "Prince of Wales elected G.M., 24th Nov., 1790." Reverse, a triangle enclosing a number of Masonic emblems and a figure of Cupid holding a level and pointing to the All-seeing Eye, the triangle being encompassed by the words "Wisdom, Strength, and Beauty;" also "Sit Lux et Lux fuit." On the rim of the token the inscription "Masonic Token, T. Schechley, 1794."

Having had these tokens placed in my hands for disposal for the benefit of a Masonic charity, I shall be glad to forward one to any brother on receipt of stamps for three shillings, addressed to "J. N., Box 34, Post Office, Bolton."

Yours fraternally,

J. N.

Bolton, 7th March, 1876.

A QUERY.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Through the medium of your paper, would you kindly give the meaning of the word "Brannans," a word I saw on a tombstone in Henworth Churchyard, near Darlington, in an epitaph relating to the implements used among Masons.

I am, Sir, yours fraternally,

T. MARSHALL BENNETT.

MASONIC JURISPRUDENCE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I am a Scotch Mason, never affiliated to an English lodge, but just settled down in a town of the Midland counties. We are thinking of establishing a new lodge here, and I wish to know if I have any right to sign a petition to Grand Lodge to obtain a warrant; would my signature stand for anything, I being a S.C.M., and not an English Mason? What is the rule on this point? Would it be better to become a joining member of the old lodge first?

Yours fraternally,

A SCOTCH MASTER MASON.

[In our opinion, the "registered Masons," at page 128, Book of Constitutions, are Masons registered in the Grand Secretary's Office, and a Scotch Master Mason should, we are of opinion, join an English Lodge first of all, and be registered in the Books of the Grand Lodge of England.—Ed.]

THE LONDON MASONIC CLUB.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Through your columns of the 11th inst., I notice that the Worshipful Master of the Phoenix Lodge (No. 904) was good enough to direct the attention of the brethren present at their last meeting to a circular and prospectus he had received from me as Secretary of the London Masonic Club.

On that occasion Bro. Marsh expressed doubt as to the pecuniary responsibility resting on those who formed the Club.

For his information and that of brethren generally, I beg to state that "members of the club incur no liability whatever beyond their subscription."

The Club is strictly proprietary, being the property of the shareholders of the "London Masonic Club Company, Limited," who are solely responsible for all receipts and expenditure.

The formation of the club by means of a "limited liability company" was, (after mature consideration), thought to be the most feasible and practicable mode of carrying it to a successful issue, and the result has proved the correctness of that idea, for already over 500 applications for membership have been received, and are daily being augmented. Great difficulty has been experienced in procuring a suitable site, the premises now taken (No. 101, Queen Victoria-street), are both eligible and capable of extension if required. It is hoped the club will be ready for the use of members between the middle of April, and the 1st of May.

I may, in conclusion, state, the next election will take place on the 30th inst., up to which date the time for admitting members at the original rate of subscriptions, and without an entrance fee has been extended.

I am, dear Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,

JNO. A. LATHBURY, Secretary.

Temporary offices, 37, Queen Victoria Street, E.C., 15th March, 1876.

A CORRECTION.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In the report of the Consecration of the Upper Norwood Lodge I am made to be the deputy of the Grand Master for Surrey. Now in the first place Major-General Brownrigg would not, I think, allow another to do a duty he is so capable of himself, and always takes a pleasure in doing; and in the next place Upper Norwood is not in the Province of Surrey, but in the metropolitan district. I consequently represented the Pro Grand Master on the occasion.

Remaining very fraternally yours,

H. E. FRANCES, P.M.,

P.G.J.D. Surrey.

Mulum in Barbo; or Masonic Notes and Queries.

ANCIENT MS. MASONIC CONSTITUTIONS.

I have been asked to furnish a few particulars as to some of the missing MSS. alluded to in my last communication in the "Freemason."

Wren's MS.—The endorsement on the transcript of Browne's MS. (in my possession) is to the effect that the latter was copied from an ancient document found amongst the papers of the late Sir Christopher Wren. It is the only reference I have been able to discover, and hence my so naming the missing MS.

Chester MS.—The endorsement aforesaid states that the MS. (termed Chester MS. by me) was a copy made A.D. 1600 from Wren's MS., and was written on a "parchment roll." Browne's MS.—(Copy of the Chester MS., once the property of Bro. S. Browne, of Chester, now in my possession).

Dermott's MS.—Grand Secretary Dermott exhibited to the members of the Grand Lodge of the Ancients, on 6th December, 1752, "a very old Masonic MS. written or copied by one Bramhall, of Canterbury, in the reign of Henry VII." This is now missing.

Morgan's MS.—At the assembly of the seceders mentioned, Bro. Dermott asked if any other MS. had been discovered, additional to those produced to him on the 2nd of February, 1852. A large roll was then talked about, supposed to have been taken by the late Grand Secretary abroad. This Grand Secretary's name was Morgan, and so to preserve this reference to the document we call it Morgan's MS., and cherish the hope that it will yet be identified. B. o. Morgan was the first Grand Secretary of the Ancients, and held the office before any Grand Master was elected. He was succeeded by Bro. Dermott, who soon obtained a Grand Master, and everything else that was wanted to ensure prosperity for the seceders.

Dodd's MS.—My friend and Bro. Carson, of Cincinnati, who was the purchaser of the Ware pamphlet, published by Mrs. Dodd, A.D., 1738, at Bro. Spencer's sale, has placed it in the hands of the veteran Mason, Bro. Cornelius Moore, for publication in the "Masonic Review." The first portion appeared in that excellent Masonic magazine (the oldest periodical of the kind we believe in the world) for February, and the Craft universal will not fail to appreciate the boon thus conferred upon Masonic students.

I shall be pleased to afford any information in my power respecting the missing MSS.

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN.

Can any American brother send me the "Masonic Review," edited by our able Bro. Cornelius Moore, for February, containing a portion of the Dodd MS.

Address care of Editor of the "Freemason," 198, Fleet-street, London, E.C.

A MASONIC STUDENT.

ROSE CROIX BALL TO BRO. H.R.H. THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT AT GIBRALTAR.

We take the following from the "Gibraltar Chronicle" of March 1st:—

Although the week had been only too full of amusements, yet the Masonic ball was looked forward to with great expectation, arising a great deal from the fact that it was the first ball given here exclusively by the members of the Rose Croix.

It is no less difficult to describe the steps necessary to carry into effect the preparation of the theatre than it is to carry out the preparation itself, and more so after its occupation for a series of the usual nightly Carnival balls. Thanks to the experience of former years there were not wanting brethren who were equal to the task. Bros. J. B. Imossi and N. Clavarezzo, although not members of the chapter, threw themselves into the work con amore, and rendered the greatest assistance to Bro. J. Henry, who had charge of the decorative department, and those who were present at the ball can testify to the successful labours of those brethren, nor was the assistance rendered by Bros. Millett, Bridgman, and Preston less valuable in other respects.

The dingy and dilapidated ceiling of the theatre wa shut out from view by two huge canopies formed of flags of varied colours, those forming the canopy immediately over the boxes being so arranged as to provide for the necessary ventilation combined with effect. From the centre hung the huge chandelier, and under the other canopy two small chandeliers. At the far end of the ball-room was arranged a blaze of 70 lights in the form of an altar, and at the back a transparency. On each side a pedestal and tracing boards with hieroglyphics, unintelligible to the outer world, thereon. Three stalls on each side formed the boundaries, and flowers, natural and artificial, were strewn about in profusion, the whole being closed off from the uninitiated by a silken cord. The fronts of the boxes were scarcely recognizable, so great had been the transformation; festoons of ivy, pepper plant, &c., and roses in hundreds entwined were hung in graceful curves. The spaces were filled in with Masonic emblems and devices, and over all hung the various banners of the chapter and of other degrees, kindly lent for the occasion. The chandelier, a beautiful shield with the emblems of the Order, the work of Bro. Glassford, hung from the front of the Governor's box; Chinese lanterns, curtains, and mantas all helped to give the whole a finished and a pleasing effect.

The passages and stairs were neatly carpeted, and arranged with a choice collection of plants, making the scene such as to tempt many happy couples to linger there. Shortly after nine o'clock H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, attended by his suite, arrived, and was conducted by the M.W.S., Captain G. Gilbard, and Bro. W. J. Henry, Director of Ceremonies, to prepare to take part in the procession.

Punctually at half-past nine Major-General Somerset, the acting Governor, accompanied by Mrs. Somerset and family, arrived, and were accompanied to the Governor's box by the D.C. and other brethren, the band playing the "National Anthem."

The procession having in the meantime been arranged, the inspiring strains of the Masonic March were next heard, and the brethren appeared walking two and two at the entrance to the ball-room, and entered in the following order:—Guests of the Blue Degrees, Mark, Royal Arch, Rome and Constantine, Knights Templars, and last the members of the Europa Chapter, hosts and guests all being in full regalia, the last being H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught and the M.W.S. After proceeding round the ball-room, the procession was formed into two lines, the brethren facing inwards, and Major-General Somerset, accompanied by Sir J. Hay, was conducted through the ranks, passing under the Arch of Steel, and received at the upper end by H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught and the M.W.S. After a few brief words of welcome from the M.W.S., addressed to General Somerset in the name of the chapter, the procession broke up, and dancing was begun and kept up with great spirit until half-past three a.m.

To describe the kaleidoscopic effect of the ladies' dresses, combined with the dazzling brilliancy of the jewellery and regalia worn by the brethren, would require a letter of itself, so it must be imagined and not described. At half-past twelve the supper room was thrown open, suitable arrangements being made to prevent overcrowding for the comfort of the guests.

The menu provided by Bro. Anderson was all that could be desired, and, judging from the general expression of opinion, the only fault we heard found was, that Masonic balls do not take place oftener, and the one of Friday last has certainly not tended to diminish the desire.

The members of the Europa Chapter may be congratulated on the success of the ball, which fitly wound up a long series of entertainments during the Carnival.

MASONIC BALL AT BURNLEY.

The second annual grand Masonic ball, in aid of the Masonic charities, took place on Thursday, 18th ult., in the Assembly Rooms, Mechanics' Institute, under the auspices of the Silent Temple Lodge, No. 126, Burnley. Amongst the distinguished patrons were Bros. the Earl of Carnarvon, Prov. G.M.; Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M.; and Major Starkie, P.G.M., of Hunsford. The ball was the most imposing and successful that has been held for some time in Burnley, no expense having been spared in the provision of the accessories; and it was all the more interesting from the fact that it was in aid of a good object. The room was decorated by Messrs. Tyrer, of Manchester, in their best style. The walls were hung with crimson cloth, and the windows were beautifully draped. A very effective item in the decorations was the adornment of the room with the various emblems of the Masonic Order. At one end of the room was an excellent painting of the Prince of Wales, robed in the Masonic habiliments worn at his installation as Grand Master of the Order in the Albert Hall, which was kindly lent by Bro. W. M. Grant. The floor was laid with splendid holland. The platform space was made into a deep recess, which was filled with beautiful plants obtained from the Edge End Nursery, and on each side of the recess were card rooms. The ladies' retiring room resembled a splendid boudoir, and was fitted up with every convenience. When the ball opened the room presented a most imposing and attractive appearance.

The Masters of the Ceremonies were Bros. Ralph Landless, P.M., P.P.G.S.B., W.L.; John Rawcliffe, P.M.; Hobson Wadsworth, P.M., P.P.G.S.B. E.L.; Tom Bradshaw, P.M.; and Alexander Bell; and the Stewards Bros. J. W. Allen, W.M.; S. Alexander, P.M.; John Bollard, Sec.; William Walmsley, William Smith, William Marsden, I.G.; John Leedham, R. W. Waterson, S.W.; Richard Parker, P.M.; Edwin Griffiths, Hargreaves Bell, T. T. Bland, O.G.; Thomas Holland, E. Diggle, J.W.; John Allen, William Leigh, S.D.; G. W. Ashworth, Robt. Hartley, and Josiah Pollard. The brethren appeared in full dress Masonic costume, with the jewels and insignia of their rank and office, and after eleven o'clock they assumed the clothing of the Degrees of Mark, Royal Arch, Knights Templar, and Rose Croix. An efficient quadrille band, under the direction of Mr. John Ford, played the dance music, which included the best sets. The music gave the utmost satisfaction, Mr. Ford conducting with great ability. The refreshments were provided by Bro. James Sutcliffe, Bull Hotel, and they were of the most excellent description. Great praise is due to Bros. R. W. Waterson and John Bollard, Hon. Secretaries, for the complete arrangements made and the general arrangement of the ball.

MASONIC BALL IN LIVERPOOL.

This interesting and much looked for assembly, principally got up by brethren of the Alliance Lodge, No. 667, took place on Thursday evening, the 24th ult., at the Assembly Rooms, Liverpool. Nothing could have exceeded the éclat which has at all times accompanied these balls, and success is always certain when supported in this, as in past years, by most of the influential brethren and their friends connected with the Alliance Lodge. Bro. J. E. Jackson, W.M. 667, made a most excellent chairman, and was ably assisted by Bro. A. Bucknall, 667, who made an equally efficient Secretary. We may state that this is the fourth time this brother has been voted to the arduous post of Hon. Secretary, and from the courteous and skilful manner in which he, along with the committee, carried out all arrangements was due in great measure the success of the ball this season. Bro. A. Morrison, J.W. 1570, acted as Master of the Ceremonies, and discharged his duties most efficiently, keeping up the dancing until a late hour. The following brethren comprised the committee:—Bros. J. E. Jackson, W.M. 667; W. Doyle, P.M., P.G.J.D. 667; J. H. Gregory, S.D. 667; H. Firth, Hon. Sec. 667; R. Douglas, S.S. 667; H. Eve, 667; E. Carter, 667; T. B. Myers, W.M. 1112; A. Morrison, J.W. 1570; A. Bucknall, P.O., Hon. Sec. 667. The refreshments were most ably served by Bro. Eve, 667, who from the high class nature of the viands supplied received, as he deserved, the greatest praise from all present. Several distinguished visitors patronised the ball, amongst whom were Bros. R. Brown, W.M. 241, and Hon. Sec. W.L. Institution; H. Nelson, P.M. 673 and 1505; J. Skeaf, P.G. Org.; H. Pearson, P.M. 249; R. Martin, jun., S.W. 1182, and others, all of whom were unanimous in their expressions of hearty good wishes to this influential committee of ours, who spare no pains to carry out a regularly organised system of balls, picnics, dinners, and pleasant parties, cementing in true Masonic form the bond of friendship and true brotherly love.

CONSECRATION OF THE MUSGRAVE LODGE, No. 1597.

On Saturday last this new lodge was consecrated at the Angel and Crown, Staines, thus adding another to the list of lodges in this now flourishing province. The house selected for the meetings of the new lodge is in every respect well adapted for that object, in having all conveniences for the brethren, and separate rooms for the lodge and the banquet. It is very quiet, and its appointments are of the best description. It has also a numerous staff, and an admirable management. The brethren arrived at Staines by three o'clock in the afternoon, accompanied by Col. Burdett, Prov. Grand Master of Middlesex, who was appointed by the Grand Master to consecrate the lodge. Shortly afterwards the ceremony commenced, when Col. Burdett opened lodge, having Bro. R. Wentworth Little, Prov. G.S.W. Midx., as G. Chaplain; Bros. H. G. Buss, Prov. G. Treas., S.W.; Dr. Woodman, G.S.B., as J.W.; A. A. Pendlebury, as I.G.; H. Phythian, Prov. G. Sec., as Sec.; and T. H. Edmonds, P.G.S., as D.C. Among the other brethren present were Bros. Lieut.-General Brownrigg, Prov. G.M. Surrey; Col. James Peters, P.M. 1460; Edmund Collett, 1293; D. W. Pearce, W.M. 1293; J. Wilsn, P.M. and Tras. 209; H. M. Stolberg, 209; H. Massey ("Freemason"), J. F. Knight Smith, Org. 1441; C. B. Payne, G.T.; C. Atkins, P.M. 27; John George Dunn, John Musgrave Levick, Fred Keily, Edward Amplett, H. F. Jykolm, 1309; Geo. Phythian, 22; J. Shirley Hodson, 25; Evelyn Fairlie, 214; E. Collins, 25; Thos. Woollard, and Gilbert, as Tyler.

The usual well-known ceremony was gone through, and Bro. Little delivered his admirable oration on the principles of Freemasonry. During the ceremony the musical portions were rendered by Bro. Knight Smith, who was assisted by the Masonic Musical Quartet. The dedication to Freemasonry having been made, Bro. Little pronounced the patriarchal benediction, and then, by Col. Burdett's desire, assumed the chair for the purpose of installing Bro. John Musgrave Levick as Worshipful Master. Bro. Levick was presented to Bro. Little by Bro. T. H. Edmonds, whose duties as Director of Ceremonies were most ably performed throughout. Bro. Little then installed Bro. John Musgrave Levick as W.M. in the presence of a strong Board of Installed Masters. When the usual salutes and proclamations had been given and made, the W.M. appointed Bros. F. Keily, S.W.; E. Amplett, J.W.; H. Phythian, Prov. G.S. Middlesex, P.M. Burdett Lodge, Sec.; H. Edmonds, P.G.S., P.M. 8, S.D.; T. Woollard, J.D.; J. G. Dunn, I.G.; and J. Gilbert, Tyler. Bro. Little afterwards completed the ceremony, and delivered the addresses; and propositions for initiation and joining were given in. The W.M. proposed, and Bro. Edmonds seconded, the conferring of the rank of honorary members on Col. Burdett, Lieut.-General Brownrigg, and Bro. Little, which was put and carried unanimously.

Col. Burdett, in acknowledging the compliment, which he highly esteemed, said that it would give him great pleasure whenever he could attend the lodge to do so, and to see its prosperity. He felt confident that under the present W.M. it would prosper in every possible way, and that under other Masters it would be a prosperous and flourishing lodge for many years to come.

Lieut.-General Brownrigg said that he felt very great pleasure in signing his name as a petitioner for the warrant for this lodge. He had always thought there ought to be a lodge in Staines, and when he saw how the lodge was about to be constituted he had no hesitation whatever in being one of the signatories to the petition. He was now very glad he did sign.

Bro. Little also replied, considering it a very great honour indeed to be enrolled as a member of the lodge with such distinguished brethren as Col. Burdett and Lieut.-General Brownrigg. He wished the lodge every prosperity.

The W.M. informed the brethren that he had taken upon himself to represent this lodge at the next festival of the Girls' School, and he hoped they would support him on that occasion. He also said that with certain alterations this lodge would adopt the bye-laws of the Burdett Lodge, which had prospered so well that he thought they could do better than follow it. He then closed the lodge and the whole party adjourned to an excellent banquet, laid out with great taste in another room, and at its conclusion the toasts were rapidly proposed and responded to, owing to the long distance the brethren had to go, and the last train leaving shortly after ten o'clock. The music, however, took up a great deal of time, there being no less than eleven songs on the list, besides the grace. "The Queen and Cra't" having been honoured, and the National Anthem sang, the W.M. next proposed "The Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M." In so doing he said that we all wished H.R.H. might return from India without any ill effects from his journey, and that he might have a glorious time of it, which no doubt he had had, and that his experience would have taught him to appreciate how very important the Indian possessions were to this country. "The Pro G.M., the D.G.M., &c.," was next proposed; and Lieut.-General Brownrigg, in reply, said it was now twenty years since he had the honour of being G.S.W. of the Grand Lodge of England. The duties of the officers of Grand Lodge, excepting those who were actually in office, were not very arduous. Still it was their duty to rally round the throne, and to protect the great landmarks of the Order, and support the M.W.G.M. The rules were so well laid down that matters went on smoothly enough in Grand Lodge and the task which fell to Grand Officers was consequently rendered comparatively light. But he was old enough to remember the troublous times of Grand Lodge. They were now over, and he hoped would never return. The higher the social position of the Grand Master the less likely were those troubles ever to occur. He thought it most fortunate for Masonry, especially considering the circumstances under which their late G.M. retired from his position, that he was replaced by the future King of England. His Royal brethren, too, had taken up Masonry, and he believed there was only one member of the Royal brothers who was not now a member of the Craft. The very fact of the Royal Family of England having taken the part they had in Masonry must be a proof to the outer world that there was nothing treasonable or disloyal in Masonry. As he had been given the opportunity of speaking, he could not sit down without expressing his great satisfaction at having been among the brethren that evening. During the many Masonic meetings they had had Middlesex and Surrey had gone shoulder to shoulder in many of the formal processions, and he had found himself alongside Col. Burdett. He accepted that as a good omen, and as an augury that as they were geographically united the two provinces would always go together, that if one could give a helping hand to the other it would always be offered, and he was quite certain it would always be returned. (Hear hear.)

The W.M. next proposed "The R.W. Prov. G.M." The Middlesex brethren might feel, perhaps, that this was a toast particularly belonging to themselves; but he was sure that all the brethren from other counties who knew the Prov. G.M. of Middlesex would only be too glad to join them. In the different counties where he (the W.M.) had had the pleasure of going with him they were always glad to respond to the toast; in Middlesex they were always enthusiastic about it, and certainly there was no county where they had more reason for it than in Middlesex. It had been their good lot to meet their Prov. G.M. frequently, and it had always been with pride that they did so. For himself, he (the W.M.) had always felt it an honour to be in his company. He (the W.M.) was only a small Mason, although the brethren had elevated him very much in Masonry; but he was sure all of them, particularly those of them who were Middlesex Masons, had always felt it was their proudest day when they had their Prov. G.M. with them. (Applause.)

Col. Burdett, in reply, said he should feel very deficient in duty if he did not endeavour to return his most sincere thanks for the very kind manner in which the W.M. had proposed this toast, and for the hearty response given to his sentiments by the assembled brethren. He had always been most kindly received by the brethren of this province, and especially in the private lodges whenever he had had the opportunity and honour of visiting them. He should not feel he could hold the position he did if he was not received so warmly, and felt he did not reign in their hearts. If he was not received in the way he was, or if he were looked upon coldly, he should think it his duty to retire from his position, and he should certainly do so. He was very much gratified with the progress the province had made during the time he had been Prov. G.M. He remembered the time when the province numbered only two or three lodges; now they had twenty-three or twenty-four. Such a province he must therefore naturally feel very proud of presiding over. But it was not only on account of the large number of lodges under his control that made him proud; it was also the quality of the brethren of whom they were composed. He did not care about the number so much; Masonry wanted for more men of high position, and in the Province of Middlesex they had brethren they were proud to boast of, and in that respect no other province could exceed them. He was glad to see this lodge started under such favourable auspices. They had in it brethren who were present then that very few other lodges could boast of, and he must again say he was proud of being there to meet them. He was gratified not only at being appointed to consecrate such a lodge, with the able assistance of Bro. Little, but also that they had with them the Prov. G.M. of a neighbouring county. This strengthened their position very much indeed to have a neighbouring Prov. G.M. like Gen. Brownrigg aiding them, joining them, and ready to support them in every way he could. He hoped they would be ready to support him in return. By this means, by joining together in friendship, they would be able to carry on the principles of Freemasonry in such a manner as they ought. (Hear, hear.)

Bro. Little, who was called on to reply for "The Prov. G. Officers, Past and Present," said he was sorry Sir George Elliot was not present. He (Bro. Little) was the first Grand Secretary of the province, and he had much pleasure in standing by Col. Burdett, whom he had felt it a great honour to serve under. Col. Burdett had brought the province to great perfection. Every officer, he was happy to say, was working in the same direction, and was striving to promote the success of the province and extend good fellowship among the brethren.

The W.M. proposed "The Consecrating Officers," and included among them Bro. Buss, who, in reply, said he had not expected that any duties would be required of him when he came that afternoon to visit the lodge. He could, however, say it gave him great satisfaction to be of any service in the province, particularly as he was the Grand Treasurer, and he hoped he would long have the opportunity of forwarding the interests of the province, in which he would always be willing to bear a part. (Cheers.)

Col. Burdett proposed "The W.M.," a duty which he said he performed with the greatest pleasure and satisfaction, especially on such an occasion as the consecration of a lodge. He did not believe there was any brother more worthy to hold the position of W.M. than Bro. Levick. He had known him for a long time, and he had always considered him a most worthy Mason, and one who had done his duty with credit to the Order. They might be quite sure that the brethren of this lodge would not have recommended him for his present high position unless they had considered him worthy of it. This added to the pleasure he felt in coming forward to consecrate the lodge. (Hear, hear.)

The W.M. said he would do his best in his position. If he failed, it would not be from want of will but from incapacity. He was unfortunately called upon to go abroad for some months, so that for a little time he should be absent from among the brethren; but he hoped by the next meeting of the lodge in July he would be back. He was going a long way off—to the Cape—but that was thought no more of nowadays than going to France was formerly.

"The Visitors" was the next toast, to which Dr. Woodman replied. The sign of the "Angel and Crown" brought back to his recollection a pleasant time when Bro. Little, and himself, with several other brethren came down there to see to what house they could remove the Bard of Avon Lodge. They then tested the capabilities of the house, which they found came up to the mark. They had an excellent dinner, and in consequence of their report the Bard of Avon Lodge was removed there. To a certain extent he was sorry it had since been taken away. It was a very nice lodge, and he was pleased to belong to it at the present time. This was recalled to him by the pleasant meeting of that day. They were planting another lodge in Middlesex which promised to be an honour to the Order and second to none in the province. He was not a Middlesex man; but belonging to more than one lodge and chapter in the province, and having the Stewardship and so forth, he was reminded that he was one of the brethren of the province, and he was very proud of the honour conferred upon him of assisting at this consecration. With regard to the hospitality of the lodge, he must say that the brethren of Middlesex had excelled themselves. They had given such a hearty welcome to the visitors as had made them forget for the moment that they were visitors, and he thought he could not pay the lodge a higher compliment than this. "The Officers" was the next toast, and the S.W., Bro. Keily, in reply, said that the officers would be very much pleased at all times to do all they could to promote the interests of this lodge. The officers would rally round the W.M., and they would consider any duty required of them a pleasure. He hoped their meetings would be pleasant, and that they would have the pleasure of receiving many initiates and joining members. The Tyler's toast concluded the proceedings, which were very successful throughout.

Royal Arch.

NEWPORT.—St. Woolos Chapter (No. 683).—This chapter was held at Newport, Monmouthshire, on Wednesday, 8th March, when the following were installed as Principals for the ensuing year:—Dr. Cheese, as M.E.Z.; W. H. W. Homfray, as H.; Wm. Watkins, as J. The ceremony was ably performed by Comp. S. Geo. Homfray, G.S.B. of Grand Chapter, and P.G.H. of Monmouthshire. The officers were duly appointed, and several brethren proposed for exaltation. Royal Arch Masonry is certainly on the increase in this province. The chapter was closed in harmony. The chapter was attended by Capt. A. T. Perkins, H. of Avalon Chapter, Wells, who is also an energetic member of this province, and other companions.

HUDDERSFIELD.—Chapter of Prosperity

(No. 290).—This chapter held its regular meeting on Wednesday, February 23rd, at South Parade. The chapter was opened punctually at seven o'clock when Bro. L. B. Brierley was balloted for and exalted. The next business was the election of officers. The following were elected to the several positions mentioned: Comp. W. Schofield re-elected Z. Comp. Hanop, H. and Comp. Turner, J., Comp. Hutchinson re-elected Treas.; E. Comp. Murphy, N.; and Comp. Wall, P.S. Afterwards the companions sat down to refreshment, and spent a couple of hours in paying honour to the toasts. Besides the companions mentioned above there were present Comps. W. Smith, P.Z.; Aston, P.Z.; Tyers, P.Z.; Haigh, N.; Ruddock, P.Z.; and several others.

Mark Masonry.

PANMURE LODGE OF MARK MASTER MASONS (No. 139).—This lodge met at the Balham Hotel, Balham, on Monday, the 6th inst., and was opened by the W.M., Bro. Charles Pulman, who was supported by Bros. W. Platt, as S.W.; Mark S. Latham, J.W.; Thos. Poore, P. Prov. G.D.C., I.P.M.; W. Bro. James Stevens, P.G.J.O., P.M.; George Lilley, P.M.; W. Poore, M.O.; T. J. Austin, as S.O.; B. Richardson, I.C., as J.O.; J. J. Joseph, R.M.; C. P. McKay, Sec.; J. T. Gibson, S.D.; W. Ackland, J.D.; W. McMurray, I.G.; J. Rogers, Tyler; W. Steedman, and other brethren. Bros. Roger Hannaford, of The Great City Lodge, 1426, and Walter Arnold, of the Burgoyne Lodge, 902, were advanced to the honourable degree with perfect ceremonial. The lodge was draped in mourning, and Masonic mourning was worn by the brethren, in token of esteem and respect for the late Deputy Grand Mark Master, Bro. W. Romaine Cillender. The approved by-laws of the lodge were ordered to be printed. Propositions for advancement at next meeting were made, and the lodge was closed in perfect harmony. Refreshment followed labour, and a brief hour or two were spent in pleasant social intercourse, the usual toasts being duly honoured, and the evening enlivened by the excellent singing of several members. This lodge appears to be making excellent progress, and is apparently much appreciated by the brethren residing in the immediate locality, as well as by others connected with metropolitan lodges.

SOUTH MOLTON.—Fortescue Lodge (No. 9).—A regular meeting of this lodge was held on Monday the 11th inst., Bro. J. T. Shapland, W.M. The lodge appeared in mourning for the late much respected P.G.M. Master. Present: Bros. Cole and Worell, in the Wardens' chair; Bros. Galliford and Widgery, M.M.M., and S. Overseers, and several other officers and brethren. Bro. Marks, of Lodge 251, was balloted for, and unanimously approved of as a fit and proper brother for advancement, other business was transacted, and the lodge was closed at 9 o'clock.

LEICESTER.—Fowke Lodge (No. 19).—A lodge of emergency was held at Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on Tuesday, the 7th inst. The chair was occupied by the W.M., Bro. G. Toller, jun., and amongst those present were Bros. W. Kelly, Prov. Master; Rev. W. Langley, D.P.G.M.; J. McAllister, I.P.M.; S. S. Partridge and A. M. Duff, P.M.; Clement Stretton, J.W., and W.M. elect, with most of the officers and several members. The object of the meeting was to advance Bros. W. Barfoot, 1560 (Mayor of Leicester); C. E. Stretton, 1560; A. H. Burgess, solicitor (clerk to the School Board); R. S. Toller, 1560 (solicitor to the Corporation); and Dr. Buck, I.G. 1560, who, having been severally approved on the ballot, and being in attendance, were advanced to the Degree of Mark Mason, and subsequently to that of Mark Master. A candidate having been proposed for advancement, the lodge was closed until 23rd March, when the installation of the W.M. elect, Bro. C. Stretton, takes place, and the annual communication of the Prov. G. Mark Lodge will also be held.

Ancient and Accepted Rite.

LANCASTER.—Philips Chapter Rose Croix. —The installation meeting of this chapter was held on Wednesday, the 23rd Feb. The M.W.S., Bro. W. Wearing, presided, and after the usual formal business had been transacted Ill. Bro. Dr. Moore, 31°, G.J.J.C., took the chair, and duly installed the M.W.S. elect, Bro. E. Airey, as the head of the chapter, and gave the usual addresses on the occasion. The M.W.S. then appointed his officers as follows:—Bros. W. Wearing, P.S.; Dr. Moore, H.P.; W. J. First Gen. H. Longman, Second Gen. and R.; Capt. C. H. Garnett, G. Marsh.; W. Hall, Raphael; A. L. Dodson, Capt. of Lines; R. Taylor, Equerry. The alms were collected, and the chapter closed in due form.

Red Cross of Constantine.

KEYNSHAM.—William de Irwin Conclave (No. 17).—This conclave was opened in due form on February 18th by the M.P. Sov., E. and P. Sir Knight W. Hodges, at 6.5 p.m. On the muster roll being called, the following Sir Knights answered to their names:—E. and P. Sir Knts. W. Hodges, M.P. Sov.; J. F. Hallam, V.E.; W. Munro, S.G.; J. M. Hunt, J.G.; G. Tonkin, H.P.; B. Gay, Recorder; W. Benham, 1st Lieut. Sir Knts. A. G. Williams, H. Amor, H. W. Lane, E. Weare, J. M. Shorland, E. E. Henry, late 17. The minutes of the last meeting of the conclave were read and confirmed. A ballot was then taken for Bro. P. S. King, W.M. Lodge 610, as a candidate for installation, which proving favourable, and Bro. King being in attendance, he was duly installed and proclaimed a Knight of the Red Cross of Rome and Constantine. It was then announced that the Intendant-General of Bristol, Em. and Illustrious Sir Knt. P. G. Irwin, accompanied by Sir Knt. J. F. Tuckey, was desirous of visiting the conclave, when the M.P. Sov. directed the Sir knights present to form an Arch of Steel, and to receive the illustrious visitors with the honour due to their rank. A ballot was then taken for Sir Knt. E. E. Henry as a joining member, who was declared duly elected. The Intendant-General announced that he had been asked to take a conclave to visit the Grand Conclave to be held in London on March 8th, and expressed a wish that the William de Irwin Conclave should be selected. Several of the Sir Knights expressed their readiness to attend on the occasion, accompanying the Intendant-General E. and P. Sir Knt. F. J. Irwin on his visit to the Grand Conclave, London, to be held on March 8th:—E. and P. Sir Knts. G. F. Tuckey, D.I.G. Bristol; W. Hodges, I.M.P.S.; J. T. Hallam, M.P.S.; W. Munro, V.E.; B. Gay, J.G. Sir Knts. E. G. Honey, Recorder; H. W. Lane, Prefect; A. J. Williams, Herald; H. Amor, 1st Lieut.; E. Weare, and Lieut.; T. Brook; also E. and P. Sir Knt. W. A. Scott, J.M.P.S. of the Munster Lodge, 101. The M.P. Sov. elect, E. and P. Sir Knt. J. F. Hallam, was then enthroned M.P. Sov. for the ensuing year, the ceremony being performed by E. and P. Sir Knt. Hodges in his usual impressive manner. The M.P. Sov. elect was presented by E. and P. Sir Knt. W. A. Scott, P.M.P.S. Munster Conclave, No. 101. The M.P. Sov. then proceeded to appoint and invest his officers as follows:—V.K., E. and P. Sir Knight W. Munro; S.G., J. M. Hunt; J.G., Benj. Gay; H.P., W. Benham; Treas., J. F. Tuckey, D.J.G. Bristol; Prefect, Sir Knt. H. W. Lane; Standard Bearer, E. and P. Sir Knt. M. Ansaldo; Recorder, Sir Knt. E. E. Honey; Herald, A. G. Williams; 1st Lieut., H. Amor; 2nd Lieut., E. Weare. Sir Knt. Tuckey, P.M.P.S., proposed Sir Knt. Shorland as Steward for the ensuing year; this was seconded by Sir Knt. Hodges, P.M.P.S., and carried unanimously. Sir Knt. R. S. King was proposed as 2nd Steward, which was carried unanimously. The Intendant-General proposed that the Immediate P.M.P.S., Sir Knt. Hodges, be elected to represent the Conclave in Grand Conclave for the ensuing year, seconded by the Intendant-General, and carried unanimously. There being no further business before the conclave for the consideration of the Sir Knights, it was closed in perfect harmony by the M.P. Sov. at 7.45 p.m. The Sir Knights then retired to the refectory, where the annual banquet was spread, to which about 20 Sir Knights sat down, when the usual toasts were given and responded to.

Obituary.

BRO. BENJAMIN THORPE.

The Province of Kent, and especially the Invicta Lodge, 709, at Ashford, are mourning the loss of Bro. Benjamin Thorpe, who died "like a shock of corn in his season" at the residence of his son, Bro. Benjamin Kelly Thorpe, of Charing, on Friday night, February 18th ult., after a few days' illness, at the advanced age of 82, one of the oldest members of the Craft; certainly the oldest in the province. Born in June 1793, he was initiated in 1814, 62 years ago, in the Wellington Lodge (then numbered 651, since 426, now 341), at Rye, Sussex, which lodge was founded that year, the fourth lodge after the Union. He was raised December 17th, 1814. The next year he resided at Hythe, where, July 24th, 1816, he joined the Prince Edwin Lodge (then 205, since 147, now 125), of which he became W.M. In 1831 he removed to Ashford, where he resided till the last two years; for upwards of 50 years taking a leading part in all the business of the town. In 1823, July 27th, he was exalted in the Chapter of Harmony—now extinct—attached to the Lodge of Harmony, Faversham (then 215, since 155, now 133). In 1857 he was one of the founders of the Invicta Lodge, (then 1011, now 709), at Ashford, being the first S.W. under the late distinguished Bro. Thomas Hallows, P.M. 147, 125, and Past D.P.G.M. of the Province. He became W.M. the next year. He was a most constant attendant at his lodge, being father, brother, friend to every member and visitor, who looked up to him with reverence and love; and here was presented very often the rare appearance and gratification of three generations being present at once, when he and his son, both P.M.'s of the lodge, were accompanied by his son's son, now P.M. of 1184. In 1850 he was appointed Grand Registrar by the late P.G.M., C. P. Cooper, Esq., Q.C. In 1863 he was elected Treasurer of the province, in which duties he has latterly been assisted by his son, Bro. B. K. Thorpe, P.P.G. Registrar. In 1867 he founded and was first W.M. of Abbey Lodge, 1184, at Battle, Sussex. Lord Pelham, P.G.M. of that province, was present on this occasion, and afterwards conferred him the office of P.G.S.W. of Sussex, which however he declined on account of his age. A slight accident to his leg, which was not thought much of at the time, prevented his attending lodge in February. Inflammation and erysipelas set in, and he sank rapidly. His death, like his life, was peace. Just and upright in all his dealings—meek, humble, resigned—faithful to his God, his country, and his laws—rising to eminence by merit, he lived respected, and died regretted. On Thursday, February 24th, his mortal remains were taken from Charing into the parish church at Ashford, the funeral cortege being joined by the members of the Invicta Lodge, headed by Bro. J. S. Eastes (one of the founders of the lodge, and D.P.G.M. of the province), and Bro. Lieut. C. G. Robinson, R.N., the W.M., and from thence conveyed, after service in church, to the old burial ground, and deposited in the family vault. The Vicar of Ashford performed the service very impressively, and at the close the brethren threw sprigs of myrtle and acacia into the grave no other Masonic ceremonial taking place, as the funeral was, by the request of the family, a private one.

Masonic and General Tidings.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.—We understand that the subject of extending the accommodation of the Girls' School will be again brought up for discussion at the meeting of the General Committee on Thursday, the 30th inst., at 4 p.m.

THE WEBB TESTIMONIAL FUND.—Messrs. J. G. Chambers and H. G. Chinnery, who undertook to receive subscriptions on behalf of Bro. Captain Webb, beg to state that the list is now closed. The amount acknowledged by them in the columns of "Land and Water" amounted to £2434 4s. 11d.; of this sum £1873 has, at the request of several subscribers, been invested by Messrs. Chambers and Chinnery on Bro. Webb's behalf, and brings him in an annual income of £89. The remainder and other large sums collected in Shropshire, Liverpool, &c., have been handed to Captain Webb, a large portion of which he has generously placed at the disposal of his father, who is and has been for a long time in ill-health.

Mr. George Moore and Mr. Sampson Copestake have given a handsome donation to each person connected with their various establishment in town and country who have been in their employ any length of time, the total amount thus presented being between £35,000 and £45,000.

MODEL OF THE VIADUCT.—A letter was read at the Court of Common Council from Bro. Major C. J. Burgess, Honorary Secretary of the Brussels International Exhibition and Congress, 1876, requesting the loan of the model of the Holborn Viaduct for exhibition at Brussels. On the motion of Mr. Bontems, seconded by Mr. Hanson, the request was complied with, under the direction of the Library Committee.

A meeting of the council of the Central Chamber was held at the Salisbury Hotel, on Tuesday; Bro. W. W. B. Beach, M.P., Provincial Grand Master Hants and Isle of Wight took the chair.

The health of the Duchess of Abercorn is, we are happy to learn, improving.

Bro. Adams, the energetic manager of the Royal Music Hall, took his annual benefit on Thursday, 9th inst., when an attractive programme was satisfactorily gone through.

A telegram announces the arrival of Prince Leopold at Cannes. His Royal Highness, who is staying at the Hôtel Beau Site, was present on Thursday at a garden party given by the Earl of Portarlington.

The Court of the Clothworkers' Company have voted one hundred guineas to the funds of the Royal Society for the Assistance of Discharged Prisoners.

SIR CORDY BURROWS, PROV. GRAND MASTER SUSSEX.—The "Brighton Guardian" states that the illness of Sir Cordy Burrows has assumed a serious import, and eminent London physicians have met his local medical attendants in consultation. Excessive prostration cannot be removed, and on Tuesday night Sir Cordy was, if anything, weaker than at any previous phase of his attack.

A bill has been passed by the United States Senate reducing the salary of the President.

The annual meeting of the P.G. Mark Lodge of Leicestershire takes place at Leicester on Thursday, the 23rd inst.

The Fifteen Sections will be worked at the Fidelity Lodge of Instruction, No. 3, at the Yorkshire Grey, London-street, Fitzroy-square, on Thursday, April 6th, when Bro. P. M. Adams will preside. Lodge will be opened at 7 o'clock.

NORTHUMBERLAND AVENUE.—This day (Saturday) has been fixed for the opening of the new street on the site of Northumberland House, Charing-cross. The proceedings, which will take place at one o'clock, will be of an informal character, and will consist of the chairman and members of the Board inspecting the subway and street, which will then, after a few remarks by the chairman of the Board, be declared open to the public.

Major-General J. Studholme Brownrigg, C.B., Provincial Grand Master for Surrey, has been gazetted a Lieutenant-General in Her Majesty's forces.

THE TOWER OF LONDON.—The Tower of London was opened free on Mondays and Saturdays to the public upon Easter Monday, 1875. Since that date 211,000 people have been admitted without payment. It has been found necessary to close the armouries once a year, for a fortnight, so that the valuable collection of ancient armour may be thoroughly cleansed. The Tower will, therefore, be closed from the evening of the 18th March until the morning of the 3rd April next. Though so large a number of people have visited the Tower, no single article of collection has been damaged or lost.

The ceremonies of consecration and installation will be worked by Bro. James Terry, P.G.S.B. for Middlesex, in the Burdett Lodge of Instruction, meeting at the Approach Tavern, Approach-road, Victoria Park, on Friday evening, 31st inst. Lodge will be opened at 7 p.m. punctually.

A supplement of four pages will be issued with the "Freemason" of Saturday next, March 25th.

The consecration of the Royal Commemoration Lodge, No. 1585, will take place at the Star and Garter Hotel, Putney, on Monday, the 20th inst., Bro. J. Wright, W.M. Designate.

HEALTH, comfort, and economy promoted. Gas superseded in day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms by adopting Chappuls' Patent Daylight Reflector. Manufactory, 60, Fleet-street, London.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS

For the Week ending Friday, March 24, 1876.

SATURDAY, MARCH 18

- Lodge 715, Panmure, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
- " 1329, Sphynx, Bridge House Hot., London Bridge.
- " 1364, Earl of Zetland, Old Town Hall, Hackney.
- Red Cross Con., Villiers, Northumberland Arms, Isleworth.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
- Percy, 113, Southgate-rd., N.
- Manchester, 179, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
- Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross Road.
- Sinai Chapter, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.

MONDAY, MARCH 20.

- Lodge 1, Grand Master's, F.M. Tav.
- " 8, British, F.M.H.
- " 21, Emulation, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
- " 58, Felicity, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
- " 185, Tranquillity, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
- " 720, Panmure, Balham Hot., Balham.
- " 862, Whittington, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
- " 901, City of London, Guiney's Hot., Little Britain.
- " 1159, Marquis of Dalhousie, F.M.H.
- " 1301, Eclectic, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
- Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
- Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
- Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
- Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
- St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
- Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
- West Kent, St. Saviour's College, Forest-hill.
- Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
- Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, MARCH 21.

- Board of General Purpose, at 3.
- Lodge 30, United Mariner's, Guildhall Tav.
- " 73, Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hot.
- " 95, Eastern Star, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
- " 162, Cadogan, F.M.H.
- " 194, St. Paul's, City Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
- " 435, Salisbury, F.M.H.
- " 704, Camden, Bull and Gate, Kentish Town.
- " 857, St. Mark's, Surrey Masonic Hall.
- " 1441, Ivy, Windsor Castle, Southwark Bridge-rd.
- Chap. 46, Old Union, Albion, Aldersgate-st.
- " 933, Doric, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Varborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
- Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
- Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
- Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
- Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
- Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
- St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
- Constitutional, Wheatheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
- Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
- Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
- Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone, at 8.
- Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
- Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22.

- Lodge of Benevolence, at 6.
- " 2, Antiquity, F.M.H.
- " 212, Euphrates, M.H., Basinghall-st.
- " 507, United Pilgrims, Surrey Masonic Hall.
- " 753, Prince Frederick William, Knts. of St. John Hot.
- " 754, High Cross, Seven Sisters, Tottenham.
- " 1056, Victoria, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
- Chap. 907, Royal Albert, White Hart, Abchurch-lane.
- Red Cross Con., 15, St. Andrews, M.H., 68, Regent-st., W.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav. Southwark-bdg-rd.
- Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
- New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
- Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
- Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
- Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
- Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
- Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters-rd.
- Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
- Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
- United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
- Mount Edgumbe, 19, Jermy-st., St. James's.
- Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.

THURSDAY, MARCH 23.

- House Com. Girls' School, at 4.
- Lodge 34, Mount Moriah, F.M.H.
- " 60, Peace & Harmony, London Tav., Bishopsgate.
- " 65, Prosperity, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
- " 66, Grenadiers, F.M.H.
- " 99, Shakespeare, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
- " 766, William Preston, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
- " 1421, Langthorne, Swan Hot., Stratford.
- Chap. 5, St. George's, F.M.H.
- " 177, Domestic, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
- Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
- Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
- Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
- Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
- Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
- Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
- The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
- High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
- Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
- Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albion-rd., Dalston.
- Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.

FRIDAY, MARCH 24.

- House Com. Boys' School, at 4.

- Lodge 197, Jerusalem, F.M.H.
- " 569, Fitz-Roy, Hd.-qtrs. Hon. Art. Co., City-rd.
- " 710, Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge.
- " 861, Finsbury, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
- St. George's, Globe Tav., Royal-hill, Greenwich.
- Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
- Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
- Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
- Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
- Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
- Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
- Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
- Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
- Metropolitan, Pentonville-road.
- United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
- St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
- Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
- Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
- Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
- St. Luke's, Commercial Tav., King's-road, Chelsea.
- Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
- Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
- Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
- Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
- Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday March 25, 1876.

MONDAY, MARCH 20.

- Lodge 721, Independence, M.R., Eastgate-row, Chester.
- " 1502, Israel, M.H., Liverpool.
- Chap. 1051, Rowley, M.R., Athenaeum, Lancaster.
- Everton L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, MARCH 21.

- Lodge 667, Alliance, M.H., Liverpool.
- " 1225, Hindpool, Hartington Ho., Barrow-in-Furness.
- " 1276, Warren, Seacombe Hot., Seacombe.
- Chap. 605, De Tabley, Seacombe Hot.
- Merchants' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22.

- Lodge 42, St. George's, Adelphi Hot., Liverpool.
- " 220, Harmony, Garston Hot., Liverpool.
- " 724, Derby, M.H., Liverpool.
- Chap. 1052, Callender, P.H., Rusholme.
- Neptune L. of I., M.H., Southport.

THURSDAY, MARCH 23.

- Lodge 594, Downshire, M.H., Liverpool.
- " 1313, Fermor, M.H., Southport.
- Chap. 292, Liverpool, M.H., Liverpool.
- " 1086, Walton, St. Lawrence's Schools, Kirkdale.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, March 25, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, MARCH 20.

- Lodge 129, St. Mirren's, St. Mirren's H., Moss-st., Paisley.
- " 332, Union, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
- " 581, Plantation, Craigiehall-st., Plantation, Glasgw.
- Encampment St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Buchanan-st.

TUESDAY, MARCH 21.

- Lodge 34, St. John, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
- " 73, Thistle and Rose, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
- " 87, Thistle, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
- " 437, Govandale, Portland Buildings, Govan.
- " 556, Clydesdale, M.H., Rose-st., S.S., Glasgow.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22.

- Lodge 505, Burns St. Mary, Commercial Inn, Hurlford.
- " 510, Maryhill, 167, Main-st., Maryhill.
- Con. Red Cross, R.C., 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

THURSDAY, MARCH 23.

- Lodge 290, Dalry Blair, White Hart H., Dalry.
- " 570, Kenmuir, M.H., Springburn.

FRIDAY, MARCH 24.

- Lodge 153, Royal Arch, Masonic Hall, Pollokshaws.
- " 187, St. John, Black Bull Inn, Carluke.
- " 399, Royal Blues, Commercial Hot., Kilbirnie.

SATURDAY, MARCH 25.

- Lodge 28, St. John, Black Bull Inn, Kirkintilloch.
- " 305, St. John, Woodhall, M.H., Holytown.
- Chap. 143, Robert Burns, Masonic Hall, Holytown.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, March 25, 1876.

MONDAY, MARCH 20.

- Lodge 44, St. Luke, Freemasons' H., George-st.
- " 36, St. David, Ship Hot., East Register-st.
- " 405, Rifle, F.M.H., George-st.
- Lodge 112, St. John, Royal Hot., Musselburgh.
- " 323, Caledonian, F.M.H., George-st.

TUESDAY, MARCH 21.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 22.

THURSDAY, MARCH 23.

BRO. W. T. PALMER,
FINE ART PUBLISHER
PICTURE FRAME MAKER AND GILDER.
Passe-partouts Cut and Pictures Mounted.
Handsome Gold Frames with Masonic Emblems for Lodges, and Certificates made to order at Moderate Prices.
THE TRADE SUPPLIED.
3A, CORPORATION BUILDINGS, FARRINGTON-ROAD,
LONDON, E.C.

A BROTHER who is in Business wishes to Borrow £300 upon a Life Policy and good Personal Security. Address, E.R., Post Office, 172, Caledonian-road.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—	Page
Craft Masonry.....	135
Royal Arch.....	138
Knights Templar.....	138
Ancient and Accepted Rite.....	139
Red Cross of Constantine.....	139
Scotland.....	142
Lodge of Benevolence.....	139
Reviews.....	139
Masonic and General Tidings.....	139
Our Royal Grand Master's Return.....	140
Anti-Masonic Impertinence.....	140
Masonic Old Women.....	140
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Proposed Scottish Masonic Benevolent Institution.....	140
United Orders of the Temple and Hospital.....	141
Balloting for Candidates.....	141
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.....	141
Accusations Against Freemasonry.....	141
Masonic Notes and Queries.....	141
Consecration of a Lodge at Putney.....	142
Masonic Meetings for Next Week.....	144
Advertisements.....	i. ii. iii. iv. v. vi

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

ALBION LODGE (No. 9).—This lodge held its monthly meeting on Wednesday, the 8th inst., at the Regent Masonic Hall, Air-street, Regent-street. Bro. Kimber, W.M.; E. T. Scott, S.W.; W. R. Lake, J.W.; T. Moring, P.M., Treas.; J. A. Abbott, M. Sec.; S. McCarthy, S.D.; S. Coste, P.M., D.C.; J. Forbes, Org.; G. Roby, I.G.; P.M.'s J. S. Catr, H. S. Friend, E. Storr, S. Vallentine, E. Coste, and W. R. Marsh, I.P.M.; Visitors: Bros. P. Edmger, W.M. 95; E. N. Levey, P.M. 507; B. Mott, P.M. 185; R. Brown, 1421; S. R. Foulger, P.M. 177; and several other brethren. At the last meeting of this lodge it was proposed and unanimously carried, "That the thanks of this lodge be and are hereby accorded to the Immediate Past Master, Bro. W. R. Marsh, for the zeal, energy, courtesy, and dignity with which he conducted its affairs during his year of office as W.M., and that a copy of this resolution appropriately framed be presented to him." This resolution was beautifully illuminated on vellum and handsomely framed by Bro. Thomas Moring, of Holborn. The W.M., Bro. E. Kimber, in a very feeling and appropriate speech, then presented the testimonial to I.P.M. Bro. W. R. Marsh, who expressed his deep thanks to the brethren for the handsome testimonial they had presented to him, and that it was a source of gratification to him to know that during his year of office he had given satisfaction to the brethren of the lodge. The lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to banquet.

FAITH LODGE (No. 141).—The usual monthly meeting of this lodge was held at Anderton's Hotel on the 29th ult. There were present Bros. Waygood, W.M.; Davis, S.W.; Mallett, J.W.; Davey, acting S.D.; Walls, acting J.D.; Bye, I.G.; Rumbold, W.S.; Stuart, P.M., Sec.; Carter, P.M., Treas.; P.M.'s Bros. Peavor, Hopwood, Green, Themens. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the W.M. raised Bros. Goldsmith, Titley, Colin, Robinson, passed Bro. Goulden, and initiated Messrs. Rolensburg, Manley, Smith, and Kendall. Several communications having been made by the Secretary, the lodge was closed and the brethren adjourned to the banquet, which was well served by Messrs. Clemow under the superintendence of Bro. Smith. Upon the removal of the cloth, the W.M. proposed the usual toasts. In proposing "The Health of the Initiates," the W.M. said he was glad to think that their ranks that evening had been recruited by four gentlemen who would, he was sure, eventually become great acquisitions to the lodge. This toast having been duly honoured, Bros. Rolensburg, Manley, Smith and Kendall briefly replied. In giving "The Health of the W.M.," Bro. Peavor, who is the oldest P.M. of the lodge, spoke very highly of the manner in which the ceremonies and general business of the lodge that day had been conducted by Bro. Waygood. The W.M. having briefly acknowledged the toast, immediately proposed "The Health of the Visitors," which was responded to in a very neat speech by Bro. Sparks, 1540, on behalf of himself and Bros. Stevens, 179; Timpon, 188; Edward, 619; Moorcroft, 780; Simmonds, 1107; Wray, 1257; Webb, New Concord; Raalte, Cosmopolitan. In the intervals of the toasts Bros. Robinson, Smith, Walls, and others instrumentally and vocally amused the brethren. The toast of "The Past Masters, the Treasurer, Secretary, and rest of the Officers of the Lodge" followed, and having been severally responded to, the Tyler's toast brought the proceedings to a close, and the brethren adjourned until the last Tuesday in the present month.

LODGE OF UNITED STRENGTH (No. 228). A full night's work greeted the new Master on the first meeting after his installation, this being held on the 14th inst. at the home of the lodge in the antique gate of St. John of Jerusalem, St. John's-lane, Smithfield. Bro. Robert Griggs, the W.M., had all his officers present (a late D.C. excepted), and opened the lodge precisely to time with Bro. James Hill, S.W.; Snare, J.W.; P. M. Winsland, Treas.; P. M. Davis, Assistant Secretary; B. Halford, S.D.; Percy, J.D.; Todd, I.G.; Patmore, A.D.C.; Hickman, A. Steward; J. White, I.P.M. ("Freemason"), and Hillhouse, P.M. The lodge minutes having been confirmed, Bros. the Rev. W. Dawson, T. Griggs, Harley Paine, W. J. Randall, Frank Arnold, and W. Trotter were candidates to be passed to the Second Degree, and the ancient ceremony was repeated in their favour, so that now they are midway in their career as Masons. There were three brethren to be raised, Bros. Adams, Hanchett, and Coles; but as the latter was not present to time the work was proceeded with in favour of the others, and the ceremony was performed in a manner worthy the reputation of this old lodge. The lodge was then reduced to the First Degree, and Mr. Edwin C. Booth, the author of "New England," and of "Australia," was initiated in ancient form, and appeared to be highly delighted with the charges. The after business included dealing with the cause of charity, which was dealt with in a practical manner, and then the brethren discussed whether the lodge should officially sign in support of two proposed new lodges, one to be held in the old gate, and the other in the neighbourhood. As the proposals appeared to be conflicting, the consideration of them was adjourned until next meeting. The brethren then elected Bro. Hart as an honorary member, he occupying the position of Organist, and one and all thanked the brother for the excellent addition he had made to the ceremonies. The lodge then adjourned to the banquetting-hall, where supper was served in Bro. Gay's best style. The W.M. in proposing the loyal toasts, said that loyalty and patriotism were watchwords of the Order; and in giving "The Health of the M.W. the Grand Master," the Sovereign of our Order, the W.M. said that His Royal Highness was esteemed for the work he had done in the Craft, and the brethren over whom he reigned would give him a welcome home which would far exceed in splendour and magnificence, if it were possible, the ceremony last April in Albert Hall. The toasts were drunk with all honours, and Bro. P. M. Marsh (of the Lion and Lamb, &c.), chanted the National Anthem. The W.M. then proposed "The Pro Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers," and in doing so spoke of the great honour bestowed upon the Craft in illustrious statesmen not only holding the places of honour in the ranks, but carrying out arduous duties. The toast having been honoured, Bro. While proposed "The Health of the W.M.," who had, the speaker said, filled in a worthy manner all the offices of the lodge from its most junior position, and the manner in which he had discharged the duties could be judged of by the perfect character of the work in the three degrees that night, the rendering of them being such as to necessitate no I.P.M. in the character of prompter. The W.M., in acknowledging the toast, said he was able to fill the chair to the satisfaction of the brethren and with credit to himself through the cordial co-operation of those who held the position before him, and he then proceeded to propose the toast of "The Initiate." Bro. Booth in responding, said he came prepared to be surprised, but he was delighted as well. He thanked the brethren for accepting him as a member of the noble Order, and said in the course of his life and travels he had met with mysteries before, and he asked their leave to describe to them a mystery which had puzzled him from long bygone times. The brethren were, as may be guessed, all attention, when the newly-made brother began the relation of a most curious story, hailing from Columbia, which mystery proving of a most comical character, the recital was greeted with roars of laughter. The W.M. then proposed the toast of "The Visitors," giving those who had stayed a hearty welcome, and expressing his regret that visitors who were in the lodge had not staid to sup. Among those present were Bros. Marsh, P.G.P. of Middlesex; Wiles, W.M. 173; Whitby, 151; Blackwell, E.A., Chaucer; Staines, 51; Parsons, 250; Adams, 761; Fife, 879; and Pennefather, P.M. 879. Bro. Marsh said he had to thank his Bro. Heathcote for a Masonic treat that evening, in seeing how well the work of the Craft was carried out in that old lodge, for the W.M. was perfect in his work, and he was ably supported by officers who thoroughly knew their duty, and, all in all, there were few lodges who could excel the United Strength in good working, and in truly Masonic feeling. The other visitors spoke to the same effect, and then the W.M. proposed the toast of "The Past Masters," which was acknowledged by Bro. While, who expressed his gratification at having achieved the honour of being enrolled in the ranks which held such worthy brethren as Bros. J. Terry, Davies, Winsland, Crump (the latter the quarter of century Secretary), and he spoke of the warm sympathy which all felt for their Bro. Davies, who had lately lost the partner of his home. The toast of "The Officers," followed, and the high merits of those who filled the various positions were cordially acknowledged. The Tyler's toast ended the festivities in good time.

UNITED PILGRIMS' LODGE (No. 507).—The meeting of the brethren of this lodge for the installation of Worshipful Master was held on Wednesday evening, at the Surrey Masonic Hall. Bro. North Ritherdon, W.M., presided, and after the formal business of the lodge had been transacted, he installed Bro. J. S. Terry, W.M. elect, as Master of the lodge for the ensuing year. The brethren appointed as officers were Bros. Hicklin, S.W.; Barclay, J.W.; J. W. Watts, S.D.; Parsons, S.D.; Marr, I.G.; Lee, P.M., Treas.; Jonas Duckett, P.M., Sec.; Ritherdon, I.P.M.; and Tongue, Tyler. The W.M. immediately proceeded with the work, and initiated Mr. William Henry Beckley and Mr. William Nichols into Freemasonry. His working of the ceremony was perfect, and delivered with fluency which was highly creditable to so young a Mason, it having only been four years since the W.M. was himself initiated. The following brethren were present besides those brethren already named:—Bros. Samuel Haddock, E. N. Levy, P.M.; J. Bradley, George Reeve, S. G. Carr, J. Lenanton, Henry Levy, R. G. Cooper, 1329; E. T. Edgington, I.G. 1321; M. S. Larham, W.M. 1539; E. A. Francis, 4, U.S.A.; A. Murray, 860; B. Moss, 218; H. Massey, P.M. 619 ("Freemason"); W. R. Marsh, P.M. 9; G. Simpson, 15; T. W. Clarke, 1348; James Ashton, 1571; and H. A. Woodwell, 193. The work mentioned above was all that was before the lodge, and when it had been executed the brethren closed down and adjourned to a choice little banquet in the dining hall, where their comforts were admirably looked after by the officers of the lodge, and more especially by Bro. Watts, who undertook for the occasion the whole of the duties of Wine Steward. The banquet having been disposed of, the W.M. proceeded to propose the toasts, and after honouring those of "The Queen and the Craft," "H.R.H. the M.W.G.M.," "The Pro Grand Master and the rest of the Grand Officers," Bro. Ritherdon proposed "The Health of the W.M.," and in doing so, said that he need not sing to his praises, because all the brethren knew what a worthy member of the lodge the W.M. had proved. Ever since he had been in office the W.M. had been a most regular attendant at lodge, and had worked himself up to the position he now held. With what success he had done so the brethren had witnessed that evening, as they had seen him go through the duties of the office he now held with ability, fluency and energy. For the first time he had occupied the chair of W.M. he had performed the ceremony of initiation, which was a feat not frequently attempted; but he had done it, and done it well, and the brethren were proud of him for it. (Cheers). The W.M. in responding said he could not help feeling the toast had been ably proposed, but he felt quite inadequate to respond to it as he ought, it being his first night in the proud position of W.M. He had certainly worked very hard for that distinction, as he wished to qualify himself to do honour to the office. When the brethren next met he hoped he would be able to acquit himself even more to the satisfaction of the lodge than he had that evening, and he trusted that the brethren would support him in his endeavours to conduct the lodge business properly. The W.M., in giving the toast of "The Initiates," said that all the brethren must agree with him that the initiates knew the least of what had taken place that evening, and as initiates usually felt in a very confused state on such an occasion, there was no reason to suspect that Bros. Beckley and Nichols were different to other brethren in the same position. The brethren would consequently make every allowance for them. Addressing the initiates, he said that if they would only look at the ceremony as symbolical they would find that it was only by leading such a life as Masons were bound to lead, that they would become such good and true men as to be fit for admission to any Masonic lodge. Bro. Beckley said he appreciated the ceremony he had gone through, and was much pleased that he had joined the Order. Any shortcomings he must ask the brethren to overlook, but he hoped to be worthy of the lodge's election. Bro. Nichols also replied, but would not venture out of his depth, for it must be remembered that in Masonry he was then only as a child, who could but just crawl or creep along. As far as he had gone the ceremony had made his heart beat; for what had he seen? At present he knew nothing. He knew one or two brethren, but they had told him nothing; and yet he had been received among them to learn by experience the friendship which he conceived made the brethren rally round the W.M. It gave him great pleasure to come among the brethren, and he should feel only too happy to do something more than he had that evening, to learn still further what Masonry was, and to see, he trusted, its beauties. He hoped as long as they were all Freemasons they would be men and act as men to one another. (Hear, hear.) The W.M., in proposing "The Health of the Visitors," said the brethren of the lodge, as well as himself, were always glad to see visitors, and when the visitors came the brethren endeavoured to make them as comfortable as they possibly could be anywhere. By entertaining visitors they exhibited one of the leading principles of Freemasonry. Bro. R. W. Marsh replied. For the last ten years he had from time to time visited the Lodge of United Pilgrims. Ten years ago it presented, as far as members were concerned, a very different appearance to what it did now. He remembered too an honoured name, that of Bro. Thomas, who had done so much in his time for the lodge, and whose name was a household word in Freemasonry. He knew of no man who had worked more in his day for Freemasonry than that brother, and it pleased him exceedingly, although the United Pilgrims had removed to the beautiful Surrey Masonic Hall to find that Bro. Thomas's portrait was hung up in the room. The lodge was not so numerous now as it was in Bro. Thomas's days, but he was happy to find that there were brethren in it who would take the mantle which had fallen from his shoulders, and make the lodge what it had long been—illustrious among the Craft. As to the W.M. saying he felt awkward in his new position, he thought this was not quite correct, for, from what they had seen, they were also to say he had conducted the lodge business not only with energy and spirit, but had brought to bear in his task a knowledge of Masonic working which was an excellent example to all brethren who witnessed it. He had seldom seen a W.M. or a body of officers perform their duties so well on the first night, and this was true of them not only in lodge, but also at the banquet table. In the lodge they were well up to their work, and at the banquet table the S.D. especially had been most energetic. Bro. Marsh then addressed himself to the subject of Freemasonry, which he said tended to make men better brothers, husbands, fathers, friends and in every relation of life better men. He exhorted the initiates to pay attention to the principles it taught, and directed their notice to the great principle of charity which it practically exemplified by having three grand institutions for the support of which he begged the United Pilgrims' Lodge to lend a hand. The W.M. next gave the toast of "The P.M.'s," without whose help the lodge would fall to the ground. They were, in fact, the Attorney-General and legal advisers of the W.M., who was always ready to avail himself of their assistance. Bro. Ritherdon, replying, said he was now among the Conscript Fathers of the lodge. During his year he had not had much to do, but he knew the cause of the brethren keeping their candidates back was that they might escape tavern influence. The Surrey Masonic Hall, which was a beautiful building, adapted and furnished in every respect for Freemasonry, being now their home, the brethren would introduce their friends to the United Pilgrims' Lodge, and the first impressions of Freemasonry they would receive, which were always the most important, would be favourable. Properly conducted, in a proper building, the ceremonies impressed candidates with the dignity and importance of Freemasonry, and they felt their own responsibility in taking upon themselves its principles. Bros. E. N. Levy, Jonas Duckett, Lee, and Haddock also replied, as did also Bros. Hicklin, Duckett, and Watts for "The Officers," after which the brethren separated, a delightful evening having been spent.

MARQUIS OF DALHOUSIE LODGE (No. 1159).—The ordinary meeting of this lodge was held at Freemasons' Hall on Monday, when Bro. Chpenson was raised and Bro. Wintle passed. The accounts of the lodge for the past year were audited. Bro. P. L. Simmonds, P.M. 141 and 554, was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year. Bro. H. T. Wood was elected Treasurer in the place of Bro. Besant, resigned, and a Past Master's jewel voted to Bro. Wood, the retiring Master, for his efficient services to the lodge during his year of office.

GRANITE LODGE (No. 1328).—The members of this lodge assembled at the Freemasons' Hall on Saturday, the 12th inst., at five o'clock, when, in consequence of the absence of Bro. W. H. Muggeridge, W.M., from illness, Bro. Jno. Oliver, I.P.M., assumed the responsibilities of the chair. The officers present were Bros. F. West, jun., S.W.; R. C. Mount, J.W.; Geo. Hackford, Treas.; James Lewis Thomas, Sec.; R. Payne, S.D.; Frederick Kirk, D.C.; and J. Oswald Gardner, Steward. There were also present about forty of the brethren, and six visitors only. The business consisted of raising to the Sublime Degree of M.M. Bro. A. C. Shelley, which ceremony was performed by the I.P.M. in most solemn and eloquent terms, and with an impressiveness which apparently riveted the close attention of one and all present. After performing the most solemn obligation of his office, Bro. Oliver's eloquence was again called into requisition in passing Bros. E. Jenkin Jones, J. B. Lee, Egerton J. Pain, and George Henry Chapman, and here again this ceremony was of a piece with the former in its solemnity. But it might as well be mentioned at once that Bro. Oliver performs other offices besides that of P.W.M. He is a perfect masculine Ceres, if such a term can be innocently applied to him, for he is constantly sowing the seeds of Masonic poverty, which fructify in a marvellously short time, and in return for his labours, a rich golden harvest rewards his benevolent efforts. By his exertions already the coffers of the Boys' and Girls' School have been augmented, and on Saturday it was announced, amidst applause, that Bro. Oliver would represent the lodge as Steward for the Boys' School at the festival in June; whereupon, the lodge, with true Masonic spontaneity voted the sum of twenty guineas to be placed on his list. It was likewise announced that the W.M., Bro. Muggeridge, would represent the lodge at the approaching festival of the Girls' School, and notice was given that the lodge would be asked to vote a similar amount for his list. The names of the visitors were Bros. M. S. Larham, W.M. Surrey Masonic Hall Lodge; Albert Martin, Surrey Masonic Hall Lodge; J. Middlemas, Leigh Lodge; F. Binckes, Grand Stewards' Lodge; F. J. Harvey, Royal Jubilee Lodge, and W. Mann, Industry Lodge. There being no further business, the lodge was closed in peace and harmony, and the brethren adjourned to the Freemasons' Tavern, where a quasi-banquet awaited the coming of the hungry ones, after doing justice to which a most pleasing evening, spent with usual Masonic conviviality, closed the proceedings.

METROPOLITAN LODGE (No. 1507).—This lodge met on the 16th inst., at its usual quarters, 259, Pentonville Road. As usual the lodge was very fully attended, there being altogether present eleven officers, eleven visitors, and forty-six lay members. Bro. J. J. Michael, W.M., presided, supported by Bros. J. Willing, I.P.M.; Williams, S.W.; Kingham, J.W.; Rose, Treas.; Tims, P.M. Sec.; Douglas S.D.; Scales, J.D.; Side, I.G.; and Stiles, Assist. Sec. The ceremonies, which were most impressively rendered, were raising Bros. Baddeley, Owens, Morgan, Raney, G. Clark, and Greenshade; and passing Bros. Hewison, E. Van Camp, Brooker, Iriuth, and Bosshart. For the first time in the history of the lodge there was no initiation this evening, and the brethren immediately proceeded to the election of a W.M. for the ensuing year. Bro. T. Williams, S.W., was unanimously chosen; Bro. Rose was unanimously re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. Daly, Tyler. The W.M., Officers and Bros. Saintsbury, Child and Cheek were appointed Auditors. The lodge agreed to have a summer festival, ladies to be invited. Windsor or some other equally pleasant river-side place was suggested, but left to a committee of officers, with Bros. Cheek, Clarke, Rapkin, &c., to select place and make arrangements. A jewel of the value of £10 10s. was voted to the W.M., Bro. Michael, for zeal and ability displayed during his year of office. The lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to banquet. The usual loyal toasts having been duly given and cordially received, Bro. Willing, I.P.M., said a pleasing duty devolved upon him for the last time (the next regular meeting being the installation) of proposing "The Health of the W.M." He congratulated the brethren upon the prosperity and good working of the lodge as developed by the retiring W.M., who had spared no pains to make himself thoroughly master of the working and ceremony of the lodge. He had ever been constant in attendance, refuse in liberality, kind and courteous to his officers and brethren, and second to none in endeavouring to promote the happiness of the brethren and welfare of the lodge. He was now about to pass from them as Master, but would ever be remembered by every brother with affection and esteem, and no Mason leaving the chair as Bro. Michael was now about to do, he having endeared himself to all, could help feeling what a glorious institution Freemasonry was, how the kindly feelings of human nature were aroused, and what a proud position it was to be W.M. of such a happy lodge. The toast was enthusiastically received, and the W.M., in a short but most effective reply, said the brethren paid him more honour than he felt he deserved (no, no), but his best services were always at their disposal, as well as any information that he might possess. He certainly had had a laborious year of office, having had so many new members enter the lodge, but the knowledge that what he was doing was making them better citizens, and promulgating glorious principles, rendered his labour sweet. He could not leave the chair without expressing his gratitude to the I.P.M., Bro. Willing, for his able assistance; to his officers for the hearty support he had received from them; and to the brethren generally for their attendance, attention, and interest taken in the lodge. He left them in love and peace with every brother, and a hope to meet them many, many years to come under as happy auspices. The toasts of "The I.P.M.," Bro. Willing, "W.M. elect, Bro. Williams," "The Visitors," "Officers," and "Tyler" were respectively given before the brethren separated. The following visitors were present:—Bros. W. Carnock, 1216; J. Millis, P.M. 157; H. Lewis, 1425; W. Yeats, 907; T. Walton, S.W. 157; E. Warrington, W.M. 890; L. Vamburger, 1366; W. Snelling, 180; A. W. Fenner, 1227; J. Wharton, Sec. 1366; and H. Levy, 188.

NEW CROSS LODGE (No. 1559).—On Thursday, March 16th, this recently consecrated lodge held its first emergency meeting at the New Cross Hall, Lewisham High Road. There was a full muster of the brethren. At request of the W.M., Bro. H. Keeble, P.M. 1275, Sec., opened the lodge, and passed Bros. Solomon Jewell, Hiram Henton, William Smurthwaite, James Moss, and Samuel Husbands Beckles to the Second Degree, and it is needless to say the work was done in a most efficient manner. The W.M., Bro. W. B. Woodman, then assumed the chair, and Mr. Ernest Edward Smith, a candidate for Freemasonry (proposed by Bro. Keeble, P.M., Sec., and seconded by Bro. F. Walters, P.P.G.P. Middlesex, Treas.), being in attendance, was initiated into the mysteries of the Craft by the W.M. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to refreshment. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to with Masonic honours, the W.M. replying at some length. The toast of "The Initiate," given by the W.M., was duly replied to by Bro. Ernest Smith; the toast of "The Officers of the Lodge" being responded to individually. The visitor, Bro. McDonald, S.W. 1158, made a capital reply, which was well received, the Tyler's toast closing the proceedings. Several songs by the brethren added considerably to the enjoyment of the meeting.

ST. DUNSTON'S LODGE (No. 1589).—This new lodge held its first regular meeting at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, on the 17th inst. Present: Bros. Dwarber, W.M.; Wellsman, S.W.; Dalwrod, J.W.; Tisley, Sec.; J. H. Dodson, S.D.; H. Turner, J.D.; Woodbridge, I.G.; Williams, and H. Green; Bros. G. H. Mason, of 65; H. Turner, of 55; and H. W. Foster, of 11, were unanimously elected joining members. Messrs. G. Manners, J. J. Bull, G. M. Low, H. J. Shurgood and W. H. Clewmore were initiated into the Order. After the conclusion of business, the brethren adjourned to the banquet hall, where an excellent repast was provided. The following brethren honoured the lodge by visiting it:—Bros. S. Poynter, P.M. 902 and 1491; G. J. Palmer, P.M., I.G. 11; A. F. Littell, P.M. 160; Johnson, 1423; F. H. Fowler, 207; Owen Low, 257; Dr. Dunn, 34; H. F. Cox, 1319; E. Swanborough, 1319; A. Swanborough, 1319; and C. H. Woolwich, 1319.

WOOLWICH.—Union Waterloo Lodge (No. 13).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held on Wednesday, the 8th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Woolwich, the W.M., Bro. T. J. Carwelly, in the chair, supported by the following officers:—Bros. G. B. Davies, P.M.; B. Picking, P.M.; F. G. Pownall, S.W.; G. W. Reed, J.W.; J. Henderson, P.M. and Treas.; H. S. Syer, Sec.; J. P. Moore, S.D.; T. Hutton, J.D.; N. Brown, I.G.; B. Norman, Tyler. Among the visitors were Dr. J. Baxter Langley, W.M. 1423; C. Beard, 700; H. Shaw, 700; C. Sweeny, 700; T. McKnight, 700 and 1536; H. J. Weston, 1536; and T. Cavey, 1472. The minutes and accounts having been duly read and passed, Messrs. H. Wells, D. T. Morley, W. Macdaniel, and G. H. Baker were unanimously elected. All being present, were duly initiated, and Bro. H. Robus, of the Upton Lodge, No. 1227, was passed to the Second Degree; and Bro. W. W. Prophet was raised to the Third Degree, the whole of the ceremonies being most efficiently worked by the W.M. The lodge was closed, and the brethren and visitors (excepting Dr. J. Baxter Langley, W.M. 1423, who had to leave for London) adjourned for refreshment. The W.M. proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, and the brethren responded most heartily. His own health, proposed by P.M. Davies, was drunk most enthusiastically. On that of "The Visitors" being proposed, Bros. McKnight, of the Nelson and United Military, and C. Beard, of the Nelson, with whose names the toast was coupled, thanked the W.M. and brethren for the kind reception the visitors received upon all occasions, and the manner the degrees had been worked by the W.M. and the officers generally made the visit a real pleasure: "The Initiates" were next toasted, and Bro. Macdaniel made a very pleasing reply. The Past Masters' toast was very suitably replied to by Bro. G. B. Davies. The next toast was that of "The Officers of the Lodge," and was very ably replied to by Bro. F. G. Pownall, S.W., and the Tyler's toast concluded the pleasures of the evening.

NORWICH.—Union Lodge (No. 52).—The Provincial Grand Lodge of Norfolk, with the Right Worshipful the Grand Master, Col. the Hon. J. Walpole, M.P.,

attended the monthly meeting of the oldest lodge in the province—the Union—on Tuesday evening, the 7th inst. There was a very numerous attendance, the lodge-room (Norfolk Hotel) being filled. The W.M., Bro. G. B. Kennett, presided, with Bros. Major Penrice, S.W. (acting for Bro. W. A. Tyssen-Amherst), and E. M. B. Lacon, J.W. The W.M. initiated C. R. Gilman, Esq., and T. Watson, Esq., and also passed Bro. F. A. R. Pemberton. Lodge having been opened in the Third Degree, Major Penrice then took the chair, and raised Bros. Kingston Stracey, Wm. Shacklady, and Dawson Paul to the Sublime Degree of Master Masons, performing this important duty in the most impressive manner. The W.M. then resumed the chair, and the lodge was closed down to the First Degree, when the Worshipful Prov. G. Master feelingly alluded to the loss the province has sustained by the death of the Prov. Grand Treasurer, Bro. J. Barwell, who for very many years had occupied that position, and throughout a long and honourable life had evinced the warmest interest in the welfare and prosperity of the Craft. He concluded by proposing, in suitable terms, the following resolution of condolence:—"That this lodge desires to express to Mrs. Barwell its heartfelt sympathy with her and her family on the death of Bro. the late Very Worshipful the Provincial Grand Treasurer, who was initiated 25th January, 1820; was Worshipful Master of this lodge in 1829 and 1834; took the degree of Royal Arch, June, 1820; Knight Templar, September, 1820; Mark Mason, 1821; was Provincial Grand Secretary for several years; and was elected Provincial Grand Treasurer in 1856, and held that office until his death; and to record its deep sense of the valuable services rendered to the Craft by that worthy brother, whose whole life was devoted to objects of benevolence and promoting the welfare of his fellow creatures." This was appropriately seconded by the D.P.G.M., Bro. A. M. F. Morgan, and duly carried. On the closing of the lodge the brethren adjourned for refreshment, and two or three most enjoyable hours were passed. There were, of course, the customary Masonic toasts. In proposing "The Prov. Grand Master," the W.M. congratulated Bro. Walpole on having received his appointment from Royal hands, and said that the choice of H.R.H. the Grand Master of All England was extremely gratifying to the Masons of Norfolk. Bro. Walpole had been a most zealous Mason, and had used his utmost exertions to promote the success of the Craft in the province, and Lodge 52 felt it to be a very great honour to be favoured with the first visit of the newly-appointed Grand Master and his officers. The visits of the Grand Master and the Grand Lodge were at all times beneficial to Freemasonry, as it kept them well up to their work. As a proof of the popularity which had attended the accession of Bro. Walpole to the Prov. Grand Chair, he need only refer to the work they had done that evening, and the cry was, "Still they come." But as the lodge was now full a line would have to be drawn. The toast having been drunk with honours, the Prov. Grand Master responded in one of his characteristic speeches. Having congratulated the W.M. on the working of the lodge, he referred to the statement that the lodge was now full, and jocosely remarked that what was wanted in Freemasonry was quality, and not quantity, and this the lodge had. He next made some suitable observations on the present condition of the Craft in the province, and assured the brethren that his efforts would always be directed to the promotion of its welfare, which he had so greatly at heart. He valued everything that tended to that end, and, therefore, congratulated the lodge on the proposed re-opening of the Royal George Chapter, at which he intended to be present. In the course of the evening the W.M. proposed "The Initiates," remarking that they were always pleased to see a new stone laid in the fabric of Freemasonry, and it was an additional pleasure to him to initiate Bro. Gilman because he would henceforth be not only a brother-in-law, but a brother in Masonry. Bro. Tom Watson was also the son of an old and worthy citizen, and it was such men particularly they were glad to see come amongst them to strengthen their ranks. Bro. Gilman briefly responded.

LIVERPOOL.—Ancient Union Lodge (No. 203).—This venerable lodge, which numbers amongst its P.M.'s many worthy names, had another brother placed in its chair for the ensuing year who is likely to add lustre to the roll. The members met on Thursday evening, the 16th inst., for the purpose of assisting at the installation of Bro. J. Winsor, the W.M. elect. The gathering was perhaps the largest seen at any private lodge for many a day, there being about 150 present, and in this large muster there was an evidence of the popularity of the lodge and of its retiring and incoming Masters. The lodge was opened by Bro. E. Johnston, W.M. The minutes having been read and confirmed, Bro. Dr. T. W. Sargeant, P.M., took the chair, and installed Bro. J. Winsor as W.M. in a masterly style. The W.M. subsequently invested the following as his officers:—Bros. E. Johnston, I.P.M.; Julius Frank, S.W.; J. Alston, J.W.; C. Bromley, P.M., Treas. (re-elected); J. Thomas, Sec.; J. Hilton, S.D.; C. Birch, J.D.; J. R. Japha, I.G.; T. W. Sargeant, D.C.; J. P. Bryan, Org.; T. Hatton, S.S.; E. Catrall, J.S.; and P. Ball, Tyler. During the pleasant after-dinner proceedings a handsome Past Master's jewel was presented to Bro. E. Johnston, I.P.M., as a mark of esteem of the brethren of the lodge. The usual toasts were given during the evening, and the manner of their proposal by the W.M. and others was of the most satisfactory kind. A beautifully executed "photo" of the W.M. adorned the menu and toast list, the portrait being the work of Bro. R. Brown, and the card itself the work of Bro. S. Jacobs, 1502. No finer specimen of the combined results of photography and lithography has been seen for a long time. The proceedings were greatly enhanced by the musical efforts of Bros. Queen, Jones, Child, Hobart, Bryan, R. Brown, and others.

WINDSOR.—Etonian Lodge of St. John (No. 209).—The usual monthly meeting was held at the Masonic Hall, Windsor, on Tuesday, the 7th inst. Present: Bros. Deane, W.M.; Canvin, S.W.; Hume, J.W.; Carter, I.P.M., Sec.; Wilson, P.M.; Roberts, S.D.; W. S. Nicholes, I.G.; Pears, S.; Strange, P.M.; P.P.G.D., D.C.; Dixon, P.M., P.G.D.C.; Reid, P.M.; Pullin, P.M.; McIlwham, P.M.; Bryett, P.M.; Stedwell, P.M.; Webster, Hiscock, Legg, Stollery, Cousins, Woods, Blizard, Day, Waterson, Bladen, Terry, Lovegrove, and others. Visitors: Bros. Berry, P.M. 865, Munday, 25; Hopwood, P.M. 141; Tolley, P.M. 771; Terry, 65; Smith, 1221; Lee, 570; Whittaker, 73 (I.C.); Hammond, P.M. 201, 1326 and 1512; Wilkins, 1181; Sharples, 348; Johnson, 771; and others. The chief business of the evening was conferring the benefit of the Third Degree upon Bros. Day, Waterson, and Blizard. The Auditors' report and balance sheet were submitted, which showed that the financial position of the lodge is in a prosperous condition. Bro. H. Briggs, P.M. 865, P.P.G. Reg. Middlesex, was unanimously elected as a joining member. Two candidates for initiation were proposed.

SHEFFIELD.—Royal Brunswick Lodge (No. 296).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held at the Freemasons' Hall, Sheffield, on the evening of Monday, the 13th inst. Bro. Henry Ecroyd, W.M., occupied the chair, and passed Bros. Howell, Tasker, and Bingham to the Fellow Craft Degree. Two propositions were on the circular, and both were duly discussed and carried. The first was in the hands of Bro. Walter Nicholson, J.W., who was ably seconded by Bro. John F. Moss, P.M. It was to the effect that the Royal Brunswick Lodge should take up twenty-five additional shares in the Sheffield Masonic Hall Company, Limited, and thus make up the number of shares held by the lodge to fifty. The second proposition was moved by Bro. P.M. Amison, and seconded by Bro. S. B. Ellis. It was, "That the Royal Brunswick Lodge do subscribe the sum of five guineas towards the formation of a Masonic library for Sheffield." After this amount had been unanimously voted, Bro. Ellis rose and thanked his brethren for their donation. He congratulated them upon the unanimity with which the Library Committee had been supported on all sides, and he read several communications received from distinguished brethren connected with the town and province, who have promised rare and valuable books, as well as pecuniary assistance. Amongst others, he read letters from the R.W. Prov. Grand Master of West Yorks., Bro. Sir Henry Edwards, Bart.; the W. Deputy Prov. Grand Master, Bro. Tew; and from the M.E. Provincial Grand Superintendent of Royal Arch Masons of West Yorks, Bro. Bentley Shaw. The Sheffield Masonic Library has for its President Bro. Past Master Henry Seebohm (30°), F.Z.S., whilst its Hon. Sec. is Bro. Samuel Bramhall Ellis, whose zeal in the cause of the Craft, and of his Sheffield brethren in particular, is well known and appreciated. The more general establishment of Masonic libraries in connection with Masonic lodges and clubs is a thing much to be desired. Sheffield in this matter is setting an example to other Masonic communities which is worthy of especial commendation. Brethren in London and in other parts of the kingdom who possess duplicates of rare editions of books suitable for a Masonic library will, we are sure, gladly forward presentation copies to the Sheffield Committee (addressed to the care of Bro. S. B. Ellis, Brocco Bank, Sheffield), who will take care that the names of the generous donors are duly inscribed in the books so presented. Nothing further offering for the good of Freemasonry in general, or of the Royal Brunswick Lodge of Sheffield in particular, it was closed in due form by Bro. Ecroyd. On this occasion the brethren separated without partaking of the usual supper, owing to the want of suitable accommodation, pending the reconstruction of the Masonic Hall on a greatly extended scale. The work of demolition is now in full progress, and it is hoped that before winter sets in the brethren of Sheffield will be in possession of commodious and well ventilated premises, suited to the wants of the rapidly increasing Masonic community who dwell in that busy hive of industry.

OXFORD.—Churchill Lodge (No. 478).—A meeting of this lodge was held on Monday, 6th inst., for the purpose of electing a Worshipful Master and Treasurer for the ensuing year, and for other business. The present Master, Bro. H. R. Cooper Smith, B.A., of Magdalen College, and Provincial Junior Grand Warden of Oxfordshire, presided, and amongst the brethren present were the Deputy Provincial Grand Master (Bro. R. Bird, M.A., Magdalen College), the P.D. Prov. G. Master (Bro. R. J. Spiers), the Junior Grand Warden of England (Bro. F. P. Morrell, M.A.), the Worshipful Master of the Alfred Lodge (Bro. Jules Buc, M.A.), and Past Masters W. Harrison, M.A., W. Thompson, and Captain Ferrier, R.E. Bro. H. Offley Wakeman, B.A., Fellow of All Souls' College, and Junior Warden of the lodge, was unanimously elected as Worshipful Master, and Bro. F. P. Morrell as Treasurer for the ensuing year. It was agreed that the installation of the new Master and annual festival should take place on the 1st of May. At the close of the proceedings in lodge the brethren supped together.

LEICESTER.—John of Gaunt (No. 523).—This lodge held its regular meeting on Thursday, the 16th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, the W.M., J. T. Thorpe, presiding, supported by S. S. Partridge, I.P.M.; W. T. Rowlett, S.W.; T. A. Wykes, J.W.; R. Taylor, Sec.; W. C. Shout, S.D.; E. Odell, J.D.; J. Young, I.G.; and a number of the lodge members. Amongst the visiting brethren were Bros. T. Worthington, W.M. 50; J. Smith, I.P.M. 279; J. M. McAllister, W.M. 279; R. B. Smith, P.M. 1007 and 1560; R. A. Barber, W.M. 1391; Luke Riley, W.M. 1130; and others. The lodge having been duly opened, and minutes of preceding meeting confirmed, Bro. Henry Eagle was examined and subsequently passed to the Degree of Fellow Craft. Upon resuming in the 1°, Bro. Partridge, I.P.M., rose, and said it afforded him great pleasure to take this opportunity of presenting to the Hall Library, through the John of Gaunt Lodge, six volumes (bound) of the "Freemason," being the complete series of that very useful record of Masonic events, with the exception of vol. 1, which he had no doubt, some other brother would be able to supply. The W.M. moved that the hearty thanks of the lodge be accorded to Bro. Partridge, for his very generous and most useful gift, which was ably seconded by Bro. Rowlett, S.W., and carried unanimously. In acknowledging the same, Bro. Partridge intimated his intention of presenting a volume of the journal in question annually. Letters of apology for absence having been received from R.W. Bro. Kelly, P.P.G.M.; Bro. Toller, P.M.; and Bro. W. B. Smith, P.M. and Treasurer; and after hearty good wishes from the visiting brethren, the lodge was closed.

RUNCORN.—Ellesmere Lodge (No. 758).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held in the Freemasons' Hall, on Wednesday, March 8th, 1876. It was opened at 6.30 by Bro. E. Aston, W.M., and the following officers and brethren were present:—Bros. J. Warburton, S.W.; W. Wass, J.W.; C. Gerrard, S.D.; J. Coxshill, J.D.; W. Lyon, Treas.; Geo. Moss, Sec.; T. Gregson, Org.; W. Mellor, I.G.; G. Purver, Tyler; R. Rigby, I.P.M.; C. C. Simson, P.M.; J. Fothergill, P.M.; R. Roberts, J. Price, J. L. Jones. Visitors: Bros. J. R. Diggs, W.M. of St. John's, 673. Bros. T. Kingston and Alex. Day having been proposed at a previous meeting as joining members, were balloted for and duly elected. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The lodge being raised to the Second Degree, Bro. James Collier was passed to the Fellow Craft Degree. Mr. John Waterworth being a candidate, was balloted for and unanimously elected. The lodge was lowered, and Mr. J. Waterworth was initiated in the First Degree. The efficient working of the two degrees reflected the highest credit upon the officers. Bro. E. Aston, W.M., proposed, and J. Warburton seconded, that Bro. Jonathan Wilson be received as a joining member. Other important business being done, the lodge closed in harmony, and adjourned to Bro. Wilson's to an excellent banquet, prepared in Bro. Wilson's usual style. A very pleasant evening was spent.

DERBY.—Hartington Lodge (No. 1085).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, on Wednesday evening, March 1st. The lodge was opened at 7.30 p.m. Present: Bros. S. Pipes, W.M.; H. T. Bobart, I.P.M.; F. Iliffe, P.M.; W. Heathcote, S.W.; T. Gadsby, J.W.; M. H. Bobart, P.M., Treas.; Geo. Pipes, Sec.; T. Hills, S.D.; J. Heathcote, J.D.; E. Taylor, as I.G.; G. F. Edwards, Org.; T. Sliar, Tyler. Bros. Manton, Rippon, Mills, Whales, Parkins, Hepworth. Visitors: Bros. J. Smith, P.P.J.G.W., P.M. 731; Whittaker, 731; Strafford, 731; Burton, 731; T. Cox, P.G. Treas., P.M. 253 Butel. The minutes of the last lodge were read and confirmed. The ballot was taken for Mr. Geo. Hill, who was duly elected. Mr. J. Parkinson was initiated into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry in solemn form by the W.M. Mr. Geo. Johnson was proposed as a candidate for initiation, which concluded the business of the evening. After the lodge was closed the brethren adjourned to the banqueting room, where a substantial supper was provided, after which the usual toasts were given. Bro. G. F. Edwards very ably presided at the pianoforte. Several songs were sung, and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

WEST DERBY.—Pembroke Lodge (No. 1299).—The annual installation meeting of this lodge was held on Thursday, the 16th inst., at Rawlinson's Hotel, West Derby, and the popularity of the W.M. elect (Bro. Richard Bennett) was clearly shown by a larger attendance of influential brethren than at any previous meeting of the "Pembroke." Not only was it the most weighty in Masonic influence, but it was also more numerously attended than we ever remember. Business commenced with the opening of the lodge about three o'clock by Bro. William Jones, W.M., who was supported by Bro. P. Macmurdrow, P.G.S., P.M.; W. Vines, P.M.; J. Sellar, P.M.; R. Bennett, S.W.; G. Aspinall, J.W.; H. Liversage, Treas.; A. E. Kirkpatrick, Sec.; J. Capell, S.D.; W. B. Bennett, J.D.; J. Holme, I.G.; W. Hiles, S.; T. B. Bramhan, S.; and Robinson, Tyler. The attendance numbered altogether between seventy and eighty, and amongst the prominent visitors were Bros. H. S. Alpass, P.G. Sec.; J. Lunt, P.G.D.C.; J. Skeaf, P.G.O.; C. Copeman, 786; G. Welsby, 786; T. Fozzard, P.M. 1035; W. G. Veale, Org. 1356, &c.; E. O. C. Rothwell, P.M. 1356; W. J. Lunt, P.M. 823; S. Milikin, 823; W. Thomason, J.D. 1182; R. Jones, P.M. 220; J. Hayes, P.M. 249; R. C. Yelland, W.M. 1094; G. Fowler, 216; J. Bushfield, 216; Parker, Sec. 1547; and others. After the transaction of some routine business, Bro. R. Bennett was installed as W.M. by Bro. W. Jones, his immediate predecessor in the chair; and the following brethren were invested as the officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. W. Jones, I.P.M. and Treas.; W. Vines, P.M., D.C.; G. Aspinall, S.W.; J. Capell, J.W.; J. H. Townley, Sec.; A. S. Howarth, S.D.; J. Holmes, J.D.; F. Bramham, I.G.; T. B. Griffin, S.S.; Fisher, J.S. (hy proxy); and J. Robinson, Tyler. At the conclusion of the ceremony, which was admirably performed by Bro. Jones, "hearty good wishes" for the new Master's success were expressed by the representatives of more than a dozen lodges. Several applications for relief were responded to by grants from the funds of the lodge, which, according to the balance sheet, are at present in a healthy condition. The brethren subsequently banqueted at the hotel, under the presidency of Bro. R. Bennett, W.M., and during the evening Bro. Wm. Jones, I.P.M., was presented with a very handsome timepiece, bearing the following inscription:—"Presented to Bro. Wm. Jones, P.M., by the Pembroke Lodge, 1299, as a token of esteem. March 16th, 1876."

ECCLES.—Victoria Lodge (No. 1345).—The first regular meeting of this lodge under the presidency of the newly-installed W.M., Bro. Rudman, was held at the Cross Keys Hotel, Eccles, W.L., on Wednesday, the 15th inst., the following officers and brethren being present:—Bros. Rudman, W.M.; Wright, I.P.M.; Lowndes, S.W.; Harper, J.W.; Buxton, P.M., Treas.; Barker, P.M., Sec.; Steel, S.D.; Ainsworth, J.D.; Pearson, I.G.; Gillmar, P.M., P.G.S.D.W.; Macher, Goering, Metcalf, Wilson, Overend, Pendlebury. Visitors: Bros. Menzies, W.M. 792; Diggle, 1134. The lodge having been duly opened, and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed, the lodge was opened in the Second and Third Degrees by the W.M. Bro. Ashton was raised to the degree of M.M. by Bro. Wright, I.P.M., in a manner that called forth praise from every one present. The W.M. then assumed the chair, and the lodge was closed down in regular form, and the brethren spent a pleasant and enjoyable evening.

BIRMINGHAM.—Lodge of Israel (No. 1474).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held on Monday, at the Masonic Hall, Birmingham (Old Synagogue). There was a very large attendance of brethren, including the Very W.D.P.G.M. of Warwickshire, Lieut. Colonel Machin, and most of the P.G. Officers, and a long list of P.M.'s. Bro. Pursall, P.P.G.S.W., who 16 years ago initiated Bro. Lyon, S.W., in the same lodge-room, now installed him in his usual splendid manner. The following brethren were appointed to office:—Bros. J. Silverston, S.W.; B. Lazarus (President of the Benevolent Fund), J.W.; J. Myers, Treas.; J. G. Emanuel, B.A., Chaplain; D. Lavenstein, Sec.; W. Harris, S.D.; P. Roberts, J.D.; Wood, I.G.; G. Baker, sen. P.M., D.C.; E. Marks, A.D.C.; A. Vigers, Organist; A. Silverston and D. Lawrence, Stewards. The W.M. then rose, and addressing Bro. P. M. Davis, said: "Having been placed in the position of Master of this lodge it falls to my lot to have to discharge a very pleasant duty, and I feel proud to discharge that duty in the presence of so many distinguished Masons and your fellow townsmen. The duty I allude to is that in the name of the lodge of presenting you with a P.M. jewel, in token of the regard, esteem, and admiration in which you are held by every member of the lodge. Our worthy Treasurer, who ever has a care for the funds of the lodge, has asked for a very modest sum, but many of the brethren, in order to show their gratitude to a Master who has so faithfully served this lodge for two years, have privately subscribed in order to render this jewel worthy of your acceptance. The jewel, which was set with diamonds value 50 guineas, bears the following inscription:—"A mark of esteem and regard to Bro. Davis from the brethren of the Israel Lodge, No. 1474, on retiring from the chair which was worthily occupied by him for the first two years of the lodge's existence. March 13th, 1876." In placing this jewel on your breast I have every confidence in knowing you will feel as much pride in wearing it as I have in the name of the lodge in presenting it to you, and hope it will be treasured in your family as an heirloom, not for its intrinsic value, but when you have gone to that Grand Lodge above your children will look at it with feelings of satisfaction and pride that they had a father who was held in such high estimation amongst the Masonic brethren with whom it was his lot to associate. The W.M. then shook him by the hand, placed the jewel on his breast, and said: "I congratulate you, and may the Great Architect of the Universe give you a long and happy life to wear this jewel. Bro. P. M. Davis, who was much affected, very feelingly thanked the W.M. for the flattering manner he had spoken of him for what he had felt a pleasure in doing for the lodge; he also thanked the brethren for their very handsome present, assuring them that the jewel would be highly prized by him as long as he lived. The W.M. then received the many congratulations from the Masters of the other lodges present, and closed the lodge, but not before many propositions of new members to commemorate his installation. The W.M. also presented the lodge with three handsome silver inlaid mallets, having on a former occasion given a very magnificent bible. The brethren then adjourned to the newly-decorated banquet-room, where a grand banquet was served. The W.M. gave the usual loyal and Masonic toasts in a very efficient manner. Bro. I. G. Emanuel, B.A., proposed "The Visitors," Bro. J. Silverston, S.W., proposed "The W.M.," who, in a very suitable and feeling manner, responded. Bro. B. Lazarus, in his usual humorous and witty way, proposed "The I.P.M.," who responded, and proposed "Success to the Benevolent Fund."

TWICKENHAM.—Francis Burdett Lodge (No. 1503).—This lodge held its last regular meeting on the 8th inst., at the Albany Hotel. Present: Bros. W. Wigginton, P.M., P.P.G.D.C. of Worcestershire, P.G.S. of Middlesex, W.M.; Saunders, S.W.; Tomlinson, P.M., P.P.G.S.D. of Norfolk, J. W.; C. Horsley, P.M., P.P.G.R. of Middlesex, acting I.P.M.; Knaggs, Treas., S.D.; N. Court, senior, Secretary; Taylor, J.D.; Court, jun., acting I.G.; Rogers, S.; Palmer, W.S.; Sugg, A.O. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed the W.M. proceeded to initiate Mr. Benjamin Alfred Corber. The W.M. then gave the First Lecture on the Tracing Board with excellent effect, and at its conclusion, upon the motion of Bro. Horsley, P.M., the lodge unanimously passed a vote of thanks to the W.M., which was ordered to be entered on the minutes. The S.W. then proposed, which was seconded by the Treasurer, "That from the 10th of May, 1876, alteration be made in bye-law 14, substituting £2 2s. for £1 1s. (annual subscription)." This proposition called forth considerable discussion. The motion was carried. Two other propositions followed, viz., "That from the aforesaid date alteration be made in Bye-law 10, substituting £7 7s. for £5 5s. (initiation fee); and alteration be made in Bye-law 12, substituting £5 5s for £2 2s. (joining fee)." These resolutions were passed. It was decided that the W.M. should represent the lodge as Steward for the Girls'

School this year, and that the sum of £10 10s. from the lodge, in compliance with the bye-law 22, should head his list. The brethren adjourned to an excellent collation. Amongst the visitors were Bros. Stebbing, 26; Corben, 172; Wix, 735; Edwards, St. Mark's; Maskell 1236. Upon the removal of the cloth, the W.M. stated that as the hour was so far advanced, he was necessarily compelled to be very brief in introducing the various toasts, but he felt sure that, notwithstanding this brevity, they would be received by the brethren with none the less enthusiasm. He then gave "The Queen and Craft, and the M.W.G.M. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales." These toasts were duly honoured, and Bros. Wall and Saunders contributed verses of the "National Anthem," and "God Bless the Prince of Wales." "The Health of the Pro G.M., and the D.G.M. and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present" followed, and was heartily drunk. In proposing "The Health of R.W. the P.G.M. of Middlesex" the W.M. mentioned the great interest which Bro. Colonel Burdett manifested in the welfare of every lodge within his jurisdiction, and he felt sure that there was not a more zealous, popular, and energetic Provincial Grand Master in England than their worthy and esteemed R.W. This toast was most enthusiastically drunk. "The Health of the other Officers of the Province" was proposed and acknowledged by Bro. Horsley, P.M., P.P.G.R., who immediately gave the toast of "The W.M." in well set terms, in which he paid a great compliment to the ability and attention of Bro. Wigginton, which had been manifested, he said, to a remarkable degree throughout the whole career of the Francis Burdett Lodge, and concluded by stating that the more the brethren saw of him the better they liked him. It is needless to say that this toast was most warmly received. The W.M. having briefly replied to this compliment, proposed "The Health of the Initiate, Bro. Corben," which was duly honoured, and previously to its being acknowledged by the newly made brother, P.M. Horsley contributed the E.A.'s song. In giving "The Health of the Visitors," the W.M. expressed the pleasure he experienced that evening at being in a position to entertain, amongst others, two brethren from New Zealand, namely, Bros. Vix and Maskell, and he was sorry that time prevented him from doing more justice to the toast, but he hoped that this first visit of these brethren in particular to the Francis Burdett Lodge had been in every way agreeable to them. This toast having been duly honoured, was responded to by Bros. Vix and Maskell, in which they expressed how gratified they felt at the kind manner in which they had been received, and how impressed they were with the excellent working of the W.M. and his officers, and that they should carry back with them to New Zealand a very pleasant recollection of their first visit to the Francis Burdett Lodge. The W.M. then proposed "The Health of the Officers of the Lodge," coupled with the names of Bros. Saunders, Tomlinson, and Knaggs. In his speech he particularly mentioned the names and services of the first mentioned brother, who, he said, notwithstanding he had been resident in France some time, never missed an opportunity of being present at their meetings. Bros. Saunders, Tomlinson and Knaggs briefly replied, and the former said that although crossing the Channel at this time of year was not particularly pleasant, yet as long as he occupied any position in Masonry he should consider he was only discharging his duty by making every personal sacrifice in order to be in his place. Between the toasts Bros. Saunders, Knaggs, Sugg, Wix and Walls vocally and instrumentally amused the brethren.

LEICESTER.—Albert Edward Lodge (No. 1560).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge took place at Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on Tuesday, the 14th inst., when there were present, amongst others, R.W. Bros. W. Kelly, P. Prov. G.M.; G. Toller, jun., I.P.M.; as W.M.; Clement Stretton, P.M., as I.P.M.; S. S. Partridge, P.M., as S.W.; Dr. Hunt, J.W.; C. Stretton, as S.D.; Capt. Goodchild, as J.D.; Dr. Buck, I.G.; J. M. M'Allister, W.M. 279; E. Mason, S.W. 1391; and several others. Bro. the Rev. C. H. Wood was passed to the Degree of F.C. by the acting W.M., and the Lecture on the Tracing Board was given by Bro. Partridge. After the discussion of some matters of business, the lodge was closed in harmony.

MORECAMBE.—Morecambe Lodge (No. 1561).—This lodge, which has hitherto met in a temporary lodge-room at the North Western Hotel, has now secured permanent accommodation in the board-room belonging to the Morecambe Board of Health, and where in future its meetings will be held. The first meeting in the new lodge-room took place on the 4th inst, the chair of K.S. being occupied by Bro. J. D. Moore, P.G.S.B. England, the W.M., Bro. H. Longman (W.M. 1051), occupying the I.P.M.'s chair. There were several of the brethren present from Lancaster, including Bros. J. L. Bradshaw (P.M. 1051), W. Warbrick, J. J. Crossbell, R. Stanton, and J. Atkinson (281), F. Dale (J.W.), R. Wolfenden (Sec.), R. Hartley and D. Greenwood (1353), and Capt. Chenoweth. The lodge was opened with solemn prayer in the First Degree, and afterwards raised to the Second and Third, when Bros. Poole and Bingham, having given proficiency as Fellow Craftsmen, were raised to the Sublime Degree of M.M., the working in the degree being efficiently performed by the W.M. and Bro. H. Longman. The lodge was then closed down to the First Degree, when Mr. William Stephenson was initiated into the mysteries of Masonry. Four candidates were proposed for initiation, and hearty good wishes having been tendered by the visitors, and acknowledged from the chair, the lodge was closed in solemn form. The brethren and visitors then adjourned to the house of Bro. T. Longmire, the West View Hotel, and sat down to an excellent supper, Bro. J. D. Moore (P.G.S.B. England) presiding, supported by Bro. N. Duff (S.W.). On the conclusion of the repast a few toasts were given and responded to, the Chairman in the course of his remarks congratulating the brethren on the evident progress which the lodge was making in point of numbers, and urged upon the officers the desirability of attending lodges of instruction, with a view to their attaining proficiency in their duties and in the working of the lodge. A very pleasant evening was spent, the brethren separating at a reasonable hour.

Royal Arch.

NORWICH.—Royal George Chapter (No. 52).—After having been in abeyance for a quarter of a century the Royal George Chapter, connected with Union Lodge, No. 52, which was established at the beginning of this century, was re-opened on Friday 10th inst., the Grand Chapter having given its sanction to the proceeding. The chairs were filled by Comps. Col. L'Estrange, Z.; J. Dunford, H.; and A. M. F. Morgan, Dep. Prov. G.M., J.; H. Mason, was P.S.; J. Hotblack, E.; and Shepherd Smith, N. Among those present were Comps. Lieut.-Col. Daff, E. Baldwin, P.Z. 40; Dudley Stacey, Drinkwater, J. Stanley, J. Stanley, jun., J. Marshall, and others. The following candidates were exalted to the Supreme Degree of the Holy Royal Arch of Israel:—Bros. H. Barwell, Prov. G. Sec.; G. B. Kennett, W.M.; Col. Bignold, E. M. B. Lacon, Rev. Walde Cholmeley, R. Kerrison, G. Buxton, E. P. Youell, 100; J. B. Aldis, and A. H. Santy. On the close of the chapter the companions sat down to refreshment, when the toasts were given. The Dep. Prov. G.M. in the course of the evening congratulated the members of the Union Lodge present on the re-opening of the chapter. During the time that he was the Master of the lodge he made a strong effort to bring this about, and subsequently several times urged it upon the late Prov. G.M., but without success. It had, however, fallen to the lot of Comp. Kennett to see this accomplished, and he trusted that in future the chapter would periodically be held.

WARRINGTON.—Chapter of Elias Ashmole (No. 148).—The annual convocation of this chapter took place at the chapter-rooms on Monday, 13th inst., at four o'clock in the afternoon. The chapter was opened by the Principals, M.E. Comps. W. S. Hawkins, Z.; W. Sharp, H.; P. G. Edelman, J., assisted by E. Comps. J. Bowes, P.Z., &c.; D. W. Finney, P.Z., &c.; and W. Mossop, P.Z., &c.; when the rest of the companions were admitted, amongst whom were Comps. C. Crosier, E.; Auckland, N.; Brierly, P.S.; J. W. Thorp, Sec; Wilson, W. Woods, Thos. Tunstall, J. R. Young, W. Galloway, Jas. Jackson, Rose, Chas. Sutton, T. Pierpoint, and a visitor from South Australia. The minutes were read and confirmed, and the Auditor's report presented and passed. The M.E.Z. announced that the next business was the installation of the Principals elect for the ensuing year, and he had pleasure in calling upon their senior member, as well as Senior P.Z., E. Comp. John Bowes, P.Z., P. Prov. G.S.B., to perform the ceremony. The companions below the rank of Installed First Principals then withdrew, and a conclave was opened, and the newly-elected Principals duly installed and invested in their respective offices. The conclave being closed, the companions were re-admitted, and the new Principals were greeted and proclaimed. The other officers were then invested, and after a cordial vote of thanks to the Installing Principal and a proposition, the chapter was closed, and the companions adjourned to refreshment, under the presidency of the M.E.Z., Comp. W. Sharp, and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

BARNSTAPLE.—Chapter of Loyalty and Virtue (No. 251).—A quarterly meeting of this chapter was held at the Masonic Hall, Barnstaple, on Wednesday, 15th inst. The Principals were J. Hancock, Z.; W. Britton, H.; and J. T. Shapland, J. A goodly number of companions attended, and Bro. Robert Paul Morrison, of Lodge 251, was exalted. The Treasurer presented his last year's accounts, which showed that this old chapter was in a very flourishing state, and it was closed at nine o'clock.

BEDFORD.—Stuart Chapter (No. 540).—The first meeting (since the consecration) of the above chapter was held on Tuesday, the 14th inst., when there were present, (with the exception of Captain F. C. Polhill Turner, M.P., absent on his parliamentary duties) all the officers of the chapter—Comps. Col. Stuart, M.E.Z.; J. R. Bull, H.; and Cookson, J.; Rev. Wm. Tebbis, Chaplain; Captain Colburn, E.; Trapp, Treasurer; Cuthbert, P.Z.; Captain Green, and Fisher, A.S.; and many companions. Visiting companions were Barfield, P.Z., and Read, P.Z., of Mount Sinai, and Campion, of Northampton. A great deal of work was done, including the exaltation of five companions—Nash, Capt. G. P. Nash, Billson, Richardson, and Reynolds (Janitor). Sir John Montague Burgoyne, Bart., of Sutton Park, was balloted for, but not exalted, because of illness. The working elicited expressions of admiration from those companions who, having been present at the consecration, and coming from town to assist (if necessary) the officers of the young chapter, found to their astonishment that so great had been the diligence displayed during their brief term of office, that their services were well-nigh unneeded. It is, however, hardly necessary to say that their intention of helping if need had been was as gratefully accepted as gracefully tendered. After refreshment the M.E.Z., having given the usual toasts, proposed "The Health of the Newly Exalted Companions," remarking that it had never before happened in his experience, that father and son (Comps. Nash and G. P. Nash) should have been exalted at the same time. "The Health of the Visitors" was then heartily drunk, and feelingly responded to. The brethren then separated delighted with their evening's work, no less than with the promise made that the chapter will be as well worked and rapidly become as important as the Stuart Lodge, to which it is attached.

MANCHESTER.—Derby Chapter (No. 1055).—This chapter held its installation meeting at the Knowsley Hotel, Cheetham, on Tuesday, the 14th inst., about thirty members and visitors were present. The chapter was opened by Comp. J. West, Z., who, after the minutes had been passed, exalted Bro. J. Brown to the Supreme Degree of a Royal Arch Mason. Comp. James Hall, P.Z., P.G.P.S., then proceeded to instal Comp. Ernest Link, as Z.; Comp. T. H. Glendinning was installed as H. by Comp. J. H. Sillitoe, P.Z. 317, and Comp. E. Ratcliffe, as J., by Comp. Hall. The following officers were duly invested by Comp. Sillitoe:—Comps. Caulder, S.E.; Pollitt, S.N.; E. Pike, P.S.; Romer, 1st A.S.; Steffor, and A.S.; Turner, Treas.; and J. Sly, Janitor. Comp. Hopkins, P.Z., P.G.D.C., acted as Director of Ceremonies throughout the evening. Before closing the chapter the balance sheet was read and passed, and a vote of thanks was proposed, and heartily accorded to Comps. Hall, Sillitoe and Hopkins for their services during the evening. After the chapter was closed, the companions sat down to a very substantial repast, and the evening was most agreeably spent. The loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, and the toast of the evening, "The Newly Installed Principals" was most enthusiastically drunk, and was ably responded to by Comps. Link, Glendinning and Ratcliffe. The toast of "The Visitors" was as usual most heartily received, and was responded to by Comp. Sillitoe. The last toast was given at 10 o'clock.

Knights Templar.

BOMBAY.—Mount Zion Preceptory.—This preceptory was held on January 7th, at which there were present Em. Sir Knts. W. C. Rowe, E.P.; P. Belleli, C.; A. McKenzie, M.; T. Burdett, A.S.M.; Mitchell, Treas.; H. W. Barrow, Reg.; Barrett, C. of G.; Bro. Seager, G.; Em. Sir Knt. Irvine, hon. member. Members: Sir Knts. B. Robinson, Stead, and others. Visitors: Very Em. Sir Knt. G. S. Judge, P.P., with his P.G. Officers, were admitted under the Arch of Steel. The muster roll having been called, the summons convening the meeting was read. The minutes of the preceptory meeting held on the 5th of November, 1875, were read and confirmed. The minutes of the meeting of the Permanent Committee, held this day, were read and adopted. The Treasurer's accounts up to the 31st December, 1875, had been audited and found correct. The patent of Em. Sir Knt. Judge's appointment as a Knight Commander of the Order of the Temple was read by the Registrar. Em. Sir Knt. Rowe then addressed the preceptory as follows:—Sir Knights, before I deliver over the charge of this preceptory to my worthy and esteemed successor, Sir Knt. Alexander McKenzie, E.P. elect, I think it is nothing but my duty to give an account of my stewardship during the two years I have held the offices of E.P. of Mount Zion Preceptory Knights Templar, and E.P. of Mount Moriah Priory of the Knights of Malta. During the time I have had the honour to rule over this preceptory there have been thirteen meetings of the preceptory and eight worthy companions installed as Knights Templar, viz., Sir Knt. Edward Hewett, manager of the Land and Mortgage Bank, Bombay; Alfred King, chief storekeeper G.I.P. Railway; H. W. Barrow, secretary Town Council, and clerk to the Corporation of the City of Bombay; A. W. Seabrook, Esq., H.M. Bombay Marine; B. Robinson, officer in the Locomotive Department G.I.P. Railway; H. Stead, official liquidator London and Mediterranean Bank; Dr. De Tactiam, surgeon H.M. Indian Army; and F. Turner, government cotton inspector. We have also had five meetings of the Priory, and all these worthy Knights have been installed Knights of Malta, and I am pleased to say all have signed and received their diplomas for both degrees. I have also during my term of office made the necessary alteration to the jewels, clothing, and property of the preceptory, in accordance with new statutes, and paid off all debts and fees that were due or owing from this preceptory when I took over the charge. Although, Sir Knights, our progress has not been rapid, I must certainly congratulate the preceptory on those members who have been added to their number during my term of office, as they are all good staunch members, and will prove worthy of our good old Order. I must, before I proceed to install your E.P. elect, thank those officers who have served under me during the two years I have had the pleasure to rule over this preceptory for the very punctual way they have attended to their duties and the excellent way they have gone through their work when we have been installing members into the degrees, both in the preceptory and priory, which I have had the pleasure to rule for the last two years. With this short account of my stewardship, Sir Knights, I shall now proceed to install your E.P. elect. The Very Em. the Prov. Prior said he must be allowed to state, in justice to the very admirable way in which the preceptory had been conducted during the past two years, that he never saw any preceptory better worked than Mount Zion had been by Em. Sir Knt. Rowe. Not only had he ruled the preceptory within, but he had by his good management relieved it of a load of debt with which it had been oppressed when he took charge of its affairs. He (Very Em. Sir Knt. Judge) begged to propose a vote of thanks to Em. Sir Knt. Rowe for his valuable services to Mount Zion Preceptory. Em. Sir Knt. Mitchell seconded the motion, which was carried. E. Sir Knight Rowe, in acknowledging the compliment, said he had only endeavoured to do his duty while ruling over the preceptory. He certainly felt regret in having to give over charge, but he knew that the worthy Sir Knight who was about to succeed to the command would do at least as well as he Sir Knight Rowe had done. E. Sir Knight Mitchell then presented the E. Preceptor elect, Sir Knight A. McKenzie, for installation. The ceremony of installation was then proceeded with, the Installing Officer being (E. Sir Knight Rowe). Sir Knight A. McKenzie was then duly installed as Preceptor for the ensuing year, and in conclusion Sir Knight McKenzie proposed that a sword be presented to E. Sir Knight Rowe for his past services, which was seconded and carried by acclamation. E. Sir Knight Rowe then expressed his thanks for the great honour which the Preceptory had resolved to confer on him, and assured the members that the sword would be valued by him more highly than anything else he possessed connected with the Order. He hoped he might be spared to wear it for many years to come, and whenever his services could be of any use he would be always found ready, and at his post, and endeavouring to do his best. E. Sir Knight McKenzie then invested his officers as follows:—Sir Knights H. W. Barrow, C.; B. Robinson, M.; P. Belleli, P.; H. Stead, S.M.; Ems. W. C. Rowe, Reg.; Frater Seager, G. The following Sir Knights were elected to serve on the committee:—Sir Knts. Belleli, R. G. Wakon, and H. Stead. The ballot was then taken for Comp. J. Luhe, residing at Byculla, engineer, G.I.P.R.C., of Chap. Keystone, No. 757, E.C., as a candidate for installation, and the ballot proved clear. A letter was read from the Vice Chancellor of the Order referring to the mode of depositing the arms; also a letter and circular regarding the new statutes. It was then resolved that the terms of the petition already sent home in support of the changes which have been made in the statutes be adhered to, which was approved. Read a letter from Sir Knight Seabrook, requesting to be placed on the absent list, which was recorded. The Registrar reported that R.T. and K.M. certificates had been delivered to the following Sir Knights:—viz., Barrow, Robinson, Turner, Stead, and Dr. De Tatham. The Registrar applied for instructions as to what should be done with nineteen unclaimed certificates, and it was ordered that the certificates in question be placed before the committee, with a request that those of which the owners cannot be found be returned to the V.C. of the Order with an explanation. Those Sir Knights who are residents are to be written to and requested to claim their certificates. The Very E. Pro Prior requested that he might be favoured with a complete list of the members of the preceptory at an early date. The Priory of the Knights of Malta was then opened, and the new E.P. was installed by the retiring E.P., Sir Knight Rowe, and the officers of the priory were invested for the ensuing year. The Sir Knights sat down to a banquet, and a very pleasant evening was spent, many good songs being sung.

Ancient and Accepted Rite.

SHEFFIELD.—Talbot Chapter of Rose Croix.—The Talbot Chapter (No. 15 on the roll of the Ancient and Accepted Rite for England, Wales and the Colonies) held its quarterly chapter in Sheffield on Friday, the 17th inst., under the presidency of the Most Wise Sovereign, Ill. Bro. Henry Seeborn (30°), who was very ably assisted by the Immediate Past M.W.S., Ill. Bro. Collinson, and supported by Ill. Bros. William Henry Brittain, (31°), William Roddewig (30°), Robert Arnison (30°), and Henry John Garnett, all Past Most Wise Sovereigns of the Talbot Chapter. There were also present Ill. Bros. Alexander Hay, First General; Samuel Kelley, 30°; G. W. Hawksley, S. B. Ellis, John Nixon, Geo. Edward Bennett, Henry Ecroyd, Francis Griffith, M.D., Simeon Hayes, William Jervis, T. B. Edwards, John Francis Moss, Walter Charles Smith, W. R. Thomas, M.D., and others. The ballot was taken for Bros. Captain Edward Mills, Adjutant of volunteers, and Hugh Nevill, of Her Majesty's Civil Service, Ceylon, who were accepted as candidates and afterwards perfected according to the peculiarly impressive rites of this most beautiful degree. Apologies for unavoidable absence were received from Ill. Bros. Rev. F. Vernon Russell, Prelate; Henri Emil Voigt (30°), John Denton, Clement Hamill Perrott, and others. A letter was read by the M.W.S. from Ill. Bro. Bentley Shaw (Past M.W.S. of the Talbot Chapter), thanking those of the brethren who went over from Sheffield on Thursday, the 9th inst., to assist at the consecration of the new Rose Croix Chapter in Huddersfield (the Prince of Wales). This being the time to elect a M.W.S. for the ensuing year, Bro. Alexander Hay, First General, was duly proposed, seconded, and balloted for—the ballot being unanimous. Bro. Hay returned thanks for the honour conferred on him, after which the chapter was duly closed. Owing to the alterations going forward at the Masonic Hall, the usual banquet was dispensed with. A cold collation was, however, provided, which was presided over by the M.W.S. It was announced that the Charity Steward, Bro. Arnison, had received a cheque from Ill. Bro. Seeborn for thirty guineas as a donation from the Most Wise Sovereign of the Talbot Chapter to the funds of the Masonic School for Girls. The toast of "The M.P.S.G.G., the Earl of Carnarvon, and the Members of the 33rd, 32nd, and 31st Degrees" was proposed from the chair, and responded to by Ill. Bro. Wm. Henry Brittain, 31°. "The Health of the Most Wise Sovereign of the Talbot Chapter" was proposed by Ill. Bro. Collinson, and responded by Ill. Bro. Seeborn in his usual original and instructive manner.

Red Cross of Constantine.

WEYMOUTH.—Aubrey Conclave (No. 134).—The inauguration of this conclave took place on Monday, the 13th inst., at the Queen's Hotel, Weymouth. The following brethren were duly installed as knights companions of the Order:—Henry Cook, Edward Harding, Charles Palmer Jee, William Butt, Charles Williams, Samuel Gerrard, William Holloway, Thomas Searle Warren, Richard Cole, Archibald Robert Millar. The ceremony was ably and impressively performed by the M.P.S. Captain Barnes, assisted by E.V.E. John Penny. Afterwards the ceremony of consecration was duly and solemnly performed by M.P.S. Captain Barnes, assisted by E.V.E. John Penny; when the following Sir Knights were appointed to various offices:—Harding, S.G.; Gee, J.G.; Cook, R. and Treas.; Butt, H.P.; Williams, P.; Gerard, O.; Holloway, Std. Bearer; Warren, Ill.; Cole, S. The conclave having been closed in imperial form, the knights adjourned to an excellent banquet provided by Sir Kt. Cook.

Reviews.

"MASONIC MUSIC, &c." By Bro. F. C. ATKINSON, P.P. G.O. West Yorkshire. Weekes & Co., London.

We have received this volume with much pleasure. We have long been of opinion that more use may be made of music in our lodge ceremonies than has been hitherto the case. We therefore gladly welcome all such efforts on the part of our musical brethren to supply us with the "de quoi." Bro. Atkinson seems to have entirely succeeded in his laudable effort, and we heartily commend his musical contribution to the notice of the brethren and the lodges.

"DEBRETT'S PEERAGE, BARONETAGE, AND KNIGHTAGE FOR 1876." Dean & Son.

Very useful and very well arranged is this annual work of reference and information. These are subjects which, if a "fellar" can't understand, he ought to, and we are of opinion that in our body politic such easily understood facts are both needful and important. Nothing is so unfortunate in itself as ignorance of others, who they are, and what they have done, and nothing often so embarrassing us in conversation, and leads to many a regrettable contretemps, as this inexcusable ignorance of the "upper ten thousand." It is needless almost to praise this work, as it is admirably illustrated and printed, and is so indispensably necessary to all who have much correspondence, that we can most cordially commend it to the notice of all our readers.

"DEBRETT'S HOUSE OF COMMONS," and the "JUDICIAL BENCH" for 1876.

Equally important for us is the knowledge of those who form our great "Wittenamogot," or "Talking House," and of those who administer laws often peculiar in their construction and difficult to understand. All Englishmen are proud of their Judicial Bench, as we all still properly believe in the "unsullied purity of the ermine." Despite some most mistaken and unjustifiable attacks recently on a very eminent judge, and his patient conferees, both judges of high repute, attacks which every patriotic Englishman must deplore and resent, the judges of England merit, as they possess, the confidence of all classes, and we all feel equally that to the impartial administration of just laws this country owes no little of its happiness and prosperity, and all of its peace and privilege. Deo et Lege is an axiom full of meaning and power for us all still.

BRO. H.R.H. THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT AND THE ROSE CROIX.

It may be as well to remind our readers that our Bro. H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught was installed a member of the Rose Croix Degree at a special convocation of the Europa Chapter, held at the Masonic Hall a few days ago. All the members were present on the occasion except two, who were unavoidably prevented from attending by illness. The ceremony was impressively performed by the M.W.S., Captain Gildard, 31°, ably aided by the officers of the chapter, Bros. Morgan, Haynes, Elmes, Preston, Patterson, Hepper, Trenerry, and Henry.

LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

The monthly meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence was held on Wednesday evening at Freemasons' Hall. Bro. James Brett, P.G.P., was in the President's chair, Bro. Joseph Smith, P.G.P., in the Senior Vice-President's, and Bro. J. Wright, G.P., in the Junior Vice-President's. The following brethren were also present:—Bros. John Hervey, G.S.; H. G. Buss and A. A. Pendlebury; also Bros. S. Rawson, P.D.G.M. China; Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B.; James Mason, P.G.S.B.; J. Symonds, P.A.G.D.C.; John Boyd, P.G.P.; C. A. Cottebruge, P.G.P.; Thos. Cubitt, P.G.P.; W. Clifton Crick, W. H. Myers, H. Barlett, S. Poynter, Herbert Dicketts, P.G. Steward; W. Milton, W. Wigginton, W. Mann, M. Suffield, E. Harris, J. Cox, T. Cobu, J. Deboe, Wm. Stephens, J. T. Berry, J. A. Barnard, C. F. Hogard, P. Wagner, S. Mills, Griffiths Smith, E. Budden, M. Chubb, B. Clegg, C. Burmeister, E. H. Stansfield, M. Higgs, J. Carnaby, R. Griggs, E. H. Hongman, E. King, J. J. Barnes, J. Ward, J. Green, C. W. Kent, C. Martin, A. Vanderlyn, E. Palmer, G. Lambert, T. Burt, J. Watts, W. T. Howe, E. P. Albert, A.G.P., W. Levy, and H. Masey ("Freemason").

There were 34 new cases, to which a total grant of £536 was made, after grants of £235 made at former lodge had been confirmed; and after a long sitting the lodge was closed and adjourned.

Notice is given from the Lord Chamberlain's office that her Majesty's birthday will be kept on Saturday, the 27th of May.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Chest Preservatives.—At all seasons of the year the rate of mortality from diseases of the lungs is very great. Holloway's Ointment, well rubbed upon the chest, aided by the Pills, arrests all mischief. These cleansing medicaments exercise the most salutary and restorative influence over the entire contents of the pectoral cavity. Air tubes, nerves, blood vessels, and all other tissues feel their wholesomely potent power, more particularly in their thorough purifying both venous and arterial blood, by promoting the free circulation of air. Neither Ointment and Pills contain any noxious ingredient whatever, but their balsamic nature nourishes rather than irritates the system, and kindly subdues all untoward symptoms till all is well once more.—ADVT.

Masonic and General Tidings.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.—We understand that the subject of extending the accommodation of the Girls' School will be again brought up for discussion at the meeting of the General Committee on Thursday, the 30th inst., at 4 p.m.

Bro. Sir John Bennett presided at a Spelling Bee on Tuesday, at the South Norwood Congregational Church, and on Friday evening week at the Camden Road Athenæum.

We regret to hear that Mr. Clifford, of the firm of Messrs. Ritter and Clifford, met with a slight carriage accident a few days since, but which might, however, have been attended with serious consequences. His horse stumbled on the asphalt in King-street, and he was thrown from the carriage. Mr. Clifford has been confined to his house for several days.—"City Press."

BAPTIST TRANSLATORS AND THE PRINCE OF WALES.—During the late visit of the Prince of Wales to Calcutta a presentation of specimens of the Scriptures translated by the Baptist Missionaries, under the auspices of the Bible Translation Society, was made to His Royal Highness. The translations occupied eight volumes, handsomely bound in morocco. The rule having been laid down that the Prince could receive no addresses or deputations in person, except the addresses of municipalities of capital towns, the books were sent through Sir Bartle Frere, who, by command of the Prince, sent a reply, in which he said:—"I am commanded to tell you that they are much appreciated by His Royal Highness, who has desired me to convey to you his very best wishes for the success of the admirable work in which your society has already made so great a progress."

Since her visit to East London the Queen has heard with pleasure that no accident resulting from the crowd was carried to the hospital, that the patients had not suffered from the excitement, and that the little girl to whom Her Majesty spoke was progressing favourably. On Tuesday the boys from Christ's Hospital exhibited their drawings and charts to Her Majesty. The Queen was accompanied by the Princess of Wales, Princess Beatrice, and the young Princes and Princesses of Wales, and the drawings were laid before Her Majesty by each boy separately. The Queen leaves for Germany on the 27th inst.

Bro. Alderman Hadley will preside at the 5th annual festival of the Railway Officers' and Servants' Association, to be held at the City Terminus Hotel on Thursday, the 30th inst.

Bro. Frederick Kent, C.C., has been unanimously elected solicitor to the Municipal Bank.

The Skelmersdale Lodge, 1599, will be consecrated at Masons' Hall Tavern on April 7th. Bros. John Bingemann, W.M. designate; Wm. Henry Marston, S.W. designate; Laker, J.W. designate.

The Ivy Lodge, No. 1441, has, under the sanction of Grand Lodge, been removed to the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New Road. The installation meeting will, we understand, be held on Tuesday next, on which occasion Bro. Chas. Smith, P.M. and founder, will act as Installing Officer.

The fifth report of the Royal Commission on Historical Manuscripts has just been published. It is a bulky folio of 656 pages. The work of inspection during the past year has been carried on by Mr. Alfred Horwood, Mr. H. J. Riley, and Mr. J. C. Jeaffreson for England, by Dr. Stuart and Mr. Fraser for Scotland, and by Mr. Gilbert for Ireland. In addition to these, Professor Brewer has continued his examination of the Cecil documents in possession of the Marquis of Salisbury, and Canon Robertson has furnished a report on the MSS. in Canterbury Cathedral. During the year 70 additional collections have been examined, and 60 reports prepared, and since the issue of the Royal warrant in 1869 more than 420 collections of MSS. have been examined. Some of the collections are very rich in historical interest. Among the most so is the Duke of Sutherland's, which he has sent from Trentham to London in order to be examined, and which deals largely with the civil war. The Duke of Marlborough's is said to be of priceless value, but has yet to be reported on. The Marquis of Lansdowne's MSS. are made large use of by his brother, Lord Edmund Fitzmaurice, in his "Life of Lord Shelburne." Mr. Pine Cotton's, at Portledge, North Devon, contain much information about the Duke of Monmouth's rebellion and the bloody assize. The Marquis of Bute's deal with Scotch affairs, early in the 18th century. Some of the small old towns like Dartmouth, Hartland, High Wycombe, New Romney, Kye, and Sandwich possess some interesting documents, so also do some of the colleges. The report is signed by Sir George Jessel, the Marquis of Salisbury, the Earl of Airlie, Lord Edmund Fitzmaurice, the Bishop of Limerick, Lords Talbot de Malahide, Houghton, and Acton, Sir W. S. Maxwell, Sir T. D. Hardy, Lord C. Russell, and Dr. Dasent.

ISLINGTON LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.—The ceremony of consecration and installation will be worked by Bro. James Terry, P.G.D.C. Herts, Secretary to the Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons, in this lodge on Wednesday, the 12th April, at 6.30. Brethren to appear in Craft Masonic costume. This young but useful Lodge of Instruction meets every Wednesday evening, (commencing at seven, and closing at nine), at the Crown and Cushion Hotel, corner of Winchester-street, London Wall, where the ceremonies are worked only, affording an excellent opportunity to those brethren seeking offices in their lodges.

A letter from the Prince of Wales to Lord Northbrook has been officially published at Calcutta, expressing in cordial terms the sincere pleasure which His Royal Highness has derived from his visit to India.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/-

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS

are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

NOTICE.—It is very necessary for our friends to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to

GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

NOW READY.

Reading Covers, to take 52 numbers of the "Freemason," price 2/6, may be had at the office, 198, Fleet-street.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

ERRATUM.—In the report of the Grand Conclave Red Cross on the 11th inst., for "Capt. Bartlett" read "Capt. Barnes."

NOTICE.—We do not find it necessary to issue a supplement this week.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d. for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

WATSON.—On the 20th inst., at Holland-road, W., the wife of Gerald T. Watson, of a son.

ANGUS, Mrs. Joseph, at Eton-villas, Haverstock-hill, March 21st, of a son.

HEATHCOTE, the wife of Lieut.-Col. C. T., Bombay Staff Corps, at Belvedere-road, Upper Norwood, March 20th, of daughter.

MARRIAGE.

VAN DER BYL—MYBURGH.—On the 17th ult., by special licence, at Stellenbosch, Cape of Good Hope, by the Rev. Dr. Faure, assisted by his son, the Rev. Philip Faure, of Claas William, P.G. Van der-Byl, Esq., of 102, Harley-street, London, to Johanna, youngest daughter of the late Ryk Myburgh, Esq., of Elsenuburgh, Cape of Good Hope.

DEATHS.

COBB.—On the 19th inst., Stanley Rhodes, son of R. Cobb, Esq., of Surbiton Lodge, Kingston-on-Thames, aged 10.

DURANT, Lucinda, relict of Mr. George, of Tong Castle, Shropshire, at St. Romans, St. Leonard's-on-Sea, aged 67, March 15th.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, MAR. 25, 1876.

OUR ROYAL GRAND MASTER'S RETURN.

The "Times" informs us that the Serapis arrived at Aden, March 20th, with the Raleigh in company. All are well. Will leave after coaling. The Osborne was sent ahead on the 17th at noon to have all in readiness for her consort. From Bombay it has been very fine weather. The thermometer was 80 deg. in the shade, and the sea quite smooth. The menagerie is quite comfortable. It contains 80 animals of all sorts. The elephants walk about the deck; the deer are very tame, and the tigers are domesticated, though they exhibit tendencies to relapse. Thursday the calm continued, and the temperature was the same. The sea was as smooth as glass; no ships, nor fish, nor birds were to be seen. Friday the sea and temperature remained the same as before. The squadron has been averaging 272 miles in 24 hours. The Osborne ran under the quarter of the Serapis to exhibit her two elephants, which saluted the Prince as she passed ahead. We shall be next hearing of the Prince at Suez and at Malta.

MASONIC OLD WOMEN.

Some people do not like to be called old, and a great many persons we know do not relish being termed "old women." But yet the clearness of truth compels us to say, that old women do exist and are many, and that we meet with them and confront them in various scenes and in different walks of life. To suppose that we can be always young is alas a great fallacy; to believe that youth, with its halcyon smiles, and living hopes, and active hours, is ever to wait upon us here, is but the baseless fabric of a deceiving dream. No, youth has to give way to middle age, and middle age to old age, day-by-day, and the weakness and perversity and querulousness of old age, often seem to tinge with dulness and gloominess, the early promise and the maturer excellence. Old age is then inevitable, and old men and old women have to share with youth the pageant of the hour. But we are talking of old women. They sometimes unpolitely say, that old women, as the young Frenchman once gravely observed, are "de trop," though we protest against any attack on real good old women. But we confess, as we say this, that we have a dreadful souvenir of some Masonic old women who have been a heavy drawback on our lodges, a great stumbling block in the way of Freemasonry, and mournful obstacles to all improvement and progress. As a general rule the Masonic old woman is a brother who has not done a great deal for Freemasonry really and truly, though he thinks he has, and always tells young Masons that "things were better managed in his days." He is very fond of hearing himself talk, and what he says is generally what a reporting brother and friend of ours once ventured to term "didactic twaddle." But where he most distinguishes himself is in his opposition to any movement for improvement, for progress, for light. Is it a library?—"Books are expensive," "Masons have no time for reading," "For his part he does not approve of publication," "Money had better be spent in charity," are the stereotype objections, the stock phrases of fogginess, which fall from the lips of that respectable old woman. Is it a soiree?—"Well, he prefers a lodge meeting, and his pipe and glass of toddy afterwards." "He does not see why brethren are to come in evening dress." "All this chopping and changing don't suit him." "He never remembers such a proposal before," and so he damps the enthusiasm of the ardent, the zeal of the cultured, does this mischievous old woman. Is it the admission of ladies? He is "aghast at the idea. What would Bro. P.M. Popkins have said, or old 'Dont,' or Bro. Jenks, or Bro. somebody else? And the lodge, accustomed to dictation, and Conservative in its respect for years and authority, goes with the old woman, and floors the young man. Now, we have cited no imaginary cases, we have drawn no ideal individual, though without any personal reflection; but all lodges, we fancy, in a greater or lesser degree, are suffering from the infiction and presence of Masonic old women at the present time. Can nothing be done for remonstrant and despondent Masonic youth? Is there no possibility of inducing these worthy and otherwise amiable old women to take a kinder view of things and persons? Alas! we fear not! Such as they are, such they will be to the end of the story, and though the moralist may deprecate, and the cynic may scoff, and the young Mason may cry out, the genus Masonic old woman is very flourishing amongst us, and is not, we fear, for a very long time indeed likely to leave that lodge life of ours, which its presence enfeebles and its perversity mars.

ANTI-MASONIC IMPERTINENCES.

We have been much struck with the tendency of our opponents just now to assail our peaceful and useful Order with a plethora of mingled impertinence and falsehood. Indeed, nothing is too hard or too bad to say of Freemasons, without a shadow of justification, without even the pretence of truth. It is simply, as fast young men say to-day, "calm lying," nothing more and nothing less. These are serious words, and we are bound to prove them. In the "Weekly Examiner and Ulster Observer," sent to us by a kind Hibernian brother, and which is, we may observe, a Roman Catholic paper, of date March 11th, 1876, published at Belfast, two letters are to be read, unsigned, and apparently editorial, judging by their place and type, which constitute in themselves some very impertinent and untruthful charges against Freemasonry and Freemasons in that district. We might, indeed, say to all our brethren there, "Risum teneatis fratres;" we might bid them laugh with Archdeacon Denison, "asbestos geloti," at such a mixture of balderdash and vulgarity. The weak and foolish person who penned these letters—we have grave doubts of his sanity—makes Freemasonry responsible, in his Ultramontane perspicuity, for recent commercial embarrassments in Belfast, in "flax spinning," principally, as it seems, because the "brethren monopolize one half of the alphabet in mere initial indication of the cacophonous Craft honours." Now this, we beg to observe, is meant for wit and also sarcasm—Ultramontane wit and Ultramontane sarcasm. Well, to say the truth, amid laughter-loving Paddies we never met with a "duller dog" than the writer of these childish invectives, and as for the sarcasm—"Heaven save the mark." If this is all the Ultramontanes can do, they must be in a very bad case, and the Freemasons in Belfast and the district will simply treat such an attack as we do, as another beautiful specimen of Ultramontane ignorance, impertinence, and mendacity. It is sad to have to use such words, but they are both, in our opinion, necessary and just, and, remembering that the Roman Catholic mot d'Ordre just now seems to be everywhere, at home and abroad, as regards Freemasonry without rhyme or reason, "Delendam esse Carthaginem," we see no use in being mealy-mouthed, the more so as we are simply upholding the interests and honour of our cruelly maligned Order. Our able contemporary, the "Masonic Advocate," published at Indianapolis, Indiana, United States, tells us as follows:—"We have before us the prospectus for an anti-Masonic newspaper, to be published at Cincinnati, O., by one J. H. H. Woodward, accompanied by a circular letter, which says, 'We want you for a good, permanent, cash-paying subscriber, and solicit your money, your aid, and your influence.' It is safe to presume that this was not intended for us, and as safe to wager that we will give nothing of this sort. We think a great deal of Masonry. We love it for the good it has already done, and we want to perpetuate it for the good it will do in the future. The greatest fears we have ever had for the institution were in its popularity and too rapid growth. We want no more recruiting agents in the shape of anti-Masonic papers and crusaders against Masonry, for they are sure to create a more favourable opinion of the Order, and greatly increase the number of those seeking admission. When renegades unite with rejected applicants in defaming the institution of Freemasonry, which is upheld by the reputation of more than half a million of the best citizens of this country, they soon succeed in convincing intelligent, honest people that they themselves are liars and slanderers of the worst character. The documents before us establish the fact that the author of them is no exception to the rule. We give a short extract from them, that those who know anything of Masonry may be able to judge for themselves:—'Masonry is aggressive, and interferes with every one. The fearfully depressing times we now experience is her handywork, the result of her counsels, machinations, and plots. The confidence of man in man can never be restored so long as Masonic principles prevail. Every Mason imbued with the principles of his Order feels that every other Mason is a rascal, and that the entire race of man is an institution of perverse wickedness, and carries his idea into the daily walks of his life, and thus Masonry, from the number of her votaries, acting upon this principle, has sown the seeds of universal distrust broadcast over the whole land. Good times can never again prevail in this country until the heresies of Masonry are destroyed, and a general and neighbourly confidence is restored among the people. Masonry forbids neighbourly' kindness, equal rights, and just principles among men, and thus disintegrates society, destroys confidence, and paralyzes every branch of business, and reduces a nation of people to beggary and want.' These are only a few of the false statements published in this prospectus by one who says, 'We speak by the card, we have been there; but they are sufficient to show that if he has ever been there, he did not get out any too soon for the reputation of the Order. Masonry teaches that "truth is a divine attribute and the foundation of every virtue," a lesson that never made an impression upon this modern Ananias. He does not offer any evidence to prove the truth of his statements, nor can he in a single instance present any that will substantiate it. Until this is done, nothing more than a mere denial is necessary.' When people will thus libel Freemasonry and insult Freemasons, we can only allude to the fact in self defence. As for taking any further notice of such rubbish, it would be utterly beneath the dignity of our good old Order. We can, like our contemporary, and fully agreeing with his sensible remarks, afford to laugh at what he amusingly calls "Anti Masonic Thunder." Freemasonry is best known by its fruits, and if there were a scintilla of truth in any one of the allegations of this vituperative assailant, Freemasons could certainly no longer defend its utility, or believe in its mission. But until, instead of all this unseemly virulence, and this unveracious witness, we have facts tending to prove these deliberate libels and slanders—as we hold them to be without even the slightest foundation,—we shall prefer to believe that the Craft will outlive in its greatness, its truth, its beneficence, and its good, all such puny assailants, and can afford to disregard utterly all such contemptible impertinences.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

THE PROPOSED SCOTTISH MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Many thanks to you for publishing, and to the worthy lady who has so feelingly written in your columns. Let me assure her that I feel deeply grateful for her kind and general sympathy, and am certain that her letter will do much good; if the wives, sisters, and daughters of Masons in Scotland can be entered on our side we may hope for a promising future. I know "that women can really accomplish wonders," may it be granted to us that the warm and true hearted letter of your correspondent may evoke similar feelings in the hearts of other Masons wives and sisters, and cause them to urge their husbands and brothers to act as true Masons.

Even if this movement should do no other good, it will show at least to our "sisters" that Masonry has a high and noble aim—"Charity," and they will never grudge their husbands' attendance at lodge.

Appropos of this question, I would add that at all social and convivial meetings of the Craft in Scotland one "new toast" should be given from the chair, viz., "Charity," with this addition, when our institution is fully started, "Charity and our Benevolent Institution."

While again using your valuable space I would sincerely urge our Scottish lodges to appoint some one of their members as Stewards for the Benevolent Institution, names of such Stewards to be sent either direct to myself or to Bro. J. Laurie, Grand Secretary Scotland, 98, George-street, Edinburgh, Bros. W. H. Bickerton, 9, West Howard-street, Glasgow; Dr. Cowan, M.D., Victoria Building, Tay-street, Perth; Alexander Henry, 140, Murrugate Dundee; A. O. Grandtelt, 26, Marshall-street, Aberdeen; D. Murray Lyon, Ayr; or any of the accredited agents of the proposed Institution.

I would also add, for the instruction of my Scottish brethren who may feel inclined to support the institution, that they will in no way pledge themselves to carry out my scheme in toto, unless it seems good to the majority to do so, they are asked only to agree that a "Masonic Benevolent Institution for Scotland shall be established." The first meeting of promoters will take into consideration the ways and means, and no doubt many useful ideas will be forthcoming, and many valuable additions made.

I have it is true drawn up a full scheme, as I know from experience, that an abstract idea and resolution, without any further basis to go upon, would at once fall to the ground. I have simply given a foundation based upon existing institutions of a similar nature, on which I trust a superstructure may be raised honourable to its builders.

I would ask them one and all to come forward with their support and advice; if any one has anything better to propose, by all means let him do so. I do not say this now for the first time; I have all along urged this. Why then, my Scottish brethren, should you hold back? Rather come forward and endeavour to form as good a scheme as human brains can supply.

I hail with delight that "our sisters" have taken up the task, and trust that they may influence their husbands and brothers.

There is an old motto much affected by Scotchmen, "Nulli Secundus," let that be ours.

I am, Sir, yours fraternally,

G. E. R. HARRIOTT,

P.G.M. Wigtown and Kirkcudbright.
No. 4, Howard Place, St. Andrew's,
March 10th, 1876.

UNITED ORDERS OF THE TEMPLE AND HOSPITAL. To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I venture to suggest to my brother Knights Templar through the medium of your valuable columns that the Order of which he is Grand Master, and to which it is well-known he is very much attached, should give the Prince of Wales a cordial welcome on his return from India. I think that a special Convent General should be held, say at the Middle Temple Hall, that the Knights should go in procession to the Temple Church to offer up thanks to Almighty God for his safe return, and that afterwards a banquet should be held, either in the Middle or Inner Temple, to celebrate the auspicious occasion. I have no doubt the authorities would gladly lend their noble halls for such an event, and we should be as Templars on historic ground. The Prince is, I believe, a Bencher of the Middle Temple.

Commending this suggestion to the notice of Lord Limerick, the Great Prior, and the powers that be,

I am, fraternally yours,

A PAST GRAND OFFICER OF GRAND CONCLAVE.

BALLOT FOR CANDIDATES.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I shall be glad to know what is the usual custom in lodges in balloting for candidates whose names have been received too late for proposition in open lodge.

In the lodge of which I am Secretary we require that the proposer and seconder shall address a letter to the W.M., asking for an emergency (to be held on the next regular lodge night) to ballot for a candidate who has not been regularly proposed in the lodge, and the name, &c., of the candidate is inserted in the next regular summons, under the heading of "emergency."

At the next lodge night the lodge is declared to be a lodge of emergency for the purpose of taking the ballot for such a candidate, and if favourable he is at once initiated.

We are, however, informed by brethren that all this is not necessary, and that names of candidates can be received up to the time of printing the summonses without inserting the emergency, or declaring it in the lodge.

This, however, does not accord with the Book of Constitutions (see article on Proposing Members), and I shall be glad if my question elicits from some well-informed brother what is the correct practice.

I am, dear Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,

A SECRETARY.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Will you allow me to call the attention of the brethren to the case of the boy, James Edgar Tanare, as advertised in your columns. Bro. Tanare (the father) is an inmate of Colney Hatch Lunatic Asylum, and certified by Dr. Shepherd to be incurable. As this is really a most deserving case, I ask the subscribers very earnestly for their votes for the ensuing election.

Yours fraternally,

JOHN EMMENS, P.G. Purst.

ACCUSATIONS AGAINST FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of The Freemason

Dear Sir and Brother,—

A series of accusations against Masonry have recently appeared in the leading papers, the truth or falsehood of which I wish, for my own satisfaction to ascertain.

Will you, therefore, in your "answers to correspondent" give me as much information as possible as regards the following points.

1st—Where may I obtain an authoritative declaration of principles, (like our own constitutions), of the Orient of France, the Orient of Belgium, and the Supreme Italian Authority, also a list of lodges of these respective countries, with names of chief officials like our own Cosmopolitan Calendar.

2nd—Louis Blanc and Felix Pyatt are asserted to be Masons? Are they, if so, what are their characters? Are they not avowed Atheists?

3rd—Did the Grand Orient of Belgium issue a project de loi to suppress all religious education? If so, where can it be procured?

4th—Where can I obtain the Dutch Freemasons' Almanack for 1872, and the price? Is there a translation?

5th—Was an International Congress of Freemasons held at Lugano, in 1872? If so, where are the records of it to be obtained, and price? Is there a translation?

6th—Why did Prince Murat resign the Grand Mastership of France?

7th—What part did the Masons take in the affairs of the commune? Where can I obtain official account of their appearance on the walls of Paris at that time. A Bro. Thirifocq is said to have written on this matter an "Appeal to Freemasons of every Rite." Is he a Mason? If so, is any thing known of his character? Where can his book be obtained, and price?

8th—Prince Frederick of Orange is said to have resigned the Grand Mastership of the Netherlands because he was a Christian. What was the real reason of such resignation, and where may I obtain evidence of it?

You will see how highly necessary it is that every Mason should be as fully as possible informed on these matters so that he may be enabled to meet them if false, and to exercise that great virtue "silence" if true.

If you would kindly answer these queries in Saturday's paper, especially as to the constitutions and list of lodges of foreign Masonry, and questions seven and eight, you will greatly oblige yours truly and fraternally,

A.B.

Multum in Parbo; or Masonic Notes and Queries.

THE MS. CONSTITUTIONS.

The readers of the "Freemason" who take an interest in archaeological studies and all that appertains to the evidences of the Craft will rejoice to think how much progress has been made in this latest development of Masonic research. A few years ago when, for instance, with others I began the then somewhat arduous work of collating and verifying our Masonic MS. Constitutions, very little was comparatively known of them, even of their actual number. Old discussions had in the "Freemasons' Magazine and Masonic Mirror" elicited the fact, that in the British Museum there were five copies of the Constitutions, as well as the additional MS. Constitutions edited by Bro. Matthew Cooke, as well as the Masonic poem edited by W. O. Halliwell, now W. O. Phillips, in 1840. It would not be fair here to forget that Bro. Matthew Cooke published a list of the MS. Constitutions in the British Museum about 1860 in the "Freemasons Magazine;" neither should we overlook the debt that English archaeological Masonic students owe to the Rev. J. Dallaway, a non-Mason. Bro. Mathew Cooke's publication of the additional MS., which now is generally called Cook's MS., was, no doubt, also a great step in Masonic archaeology in England. But it is not, I think, too much to say, that to the publication by another non-Mason, Mr. W. O. Halliwell, of that curious old poetic Constitution we owe the impetus happily given to a more critical study of our evidences and our constitutions, which has led, alike in Germany and England, to almost a new school of Masonic students. To Bro. W. J. Hughan must be fairly conceded in England (though we must not overlook the earlier publications of Laurie) nor forget Bro. D. M. Lyon's contributions in Scotland—to Bro. W. J. Hughan, I repeat, must be fairly conceded in England, if not the first collation, at any rate the first publication of our Masonic Constitutions. He paved the way for future students by the opportune republication in 1869 of Cole's copperplate edition of a MS. Constitution published in 1728 or 1729.

In 1871 Bro. Richard Spencer published a most interesting volume, and to whom the warm thanks of all Masonic students are due. And in 1872 Bro. W. J. Hughan issued his most valuable collection of the Constitutions, an era in English archaeology.

But since that time many new ones have turned up. Bro. Hughan has lighted upon the Chester MS. and the Aberdeen MS., and a copy of a MS. said to have been in the possession of Sir Christopher Wren. Bro. Norton has found the Scarborough MS., Bro. D. M. Lyon has carefully republished and collated the Kilwinning MS. and the Aitcheson Haven. The Wilson MS. is on the eve of publication, and I have no doubt but that many new MSS. may yet be traced out.

Bro. Hughan calls attention to Dermott's MS. and Morgan's MS., discoveries peculiarly his own, and I am not yet without hopes of tracing the MS. Constitution, which Dr. Plot saw, and Ashmole used.

We want, however, many others, such as the original of Dowland's MS., the original of Rawlinson's MS., and others alluded to by Bro. W. J. Hughan; and I feel sure that a careful search in all old lodge boxes and chests, often stowed away in garrets, would result in the discovery of other rolls and other MSS.

Sometimes the lodge papers get into the hands of a Secretary, who mixes them with his private papers, and at his death they are sold with his effects.

I would then earnestly ask all W.M.'s and Secretaries of lodges, and I am sure Bro. W. J. Hughan will join in my prayer, to have at once a correct list made of all MSS., or books belonging to the lodge. In my opinion we are only yet at the beginning of our discoveries. So apathetic and careless have we all been, so overlaid by the dust of years are our lodge archives which may exist, so little store have our forefathers set by what would be invaluable evidence to a MASONIC STUDENT.

MASONIC TOKENS, AND BRO. J. N.

I am very pleased to see that Bro. J.N., of Box 34, Post Office, Bolton, Lanc., has a few of the Masonic Tokens of 1794, commemorative of the installation of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, in 1799, for sale. (Vide "Freemason," 18th inst.)

A few have turned up of late, consequent upon the Grand Installation of April last leading to so much discussion, &c. Prior to this event, I failed to meet with any, and doubtless in a few months we shall revert to an old experience, for there cannot be many left now, after the hunt that has been made. Full particulars of these tokens are given by several writers in the "Freemason," for June 12th, 1875, and a list of those then known in the same paper for September 25th. The number for August 7th is especially worth consulting on the subject.

Bro. J. N.'s motive is a good one, and brethren will do well to avail themselves of his fraternal offer.

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN.

CONSECRATION OF THE ROYAL COMMEMORATION LODGE, No. 1585.

Amid the bleakest winds of this bleak March, and during a beating snowstorm on last Tuesday, a large muster of brethren gathered at the Star and Garter Hotel, Lower Richmond-road, Putney, to witness the start in life of the lodge founded under this name in commemoration of the Royal Installation in April last. The "Lower Richmond-road" is the south bank of the Thames, and the hotel is the river-side house where boating men hold their congresses in habits as if they belonged to the Craft of those who "go down to the sea in ships." The lodge is "aloft," a distinction and a difference from "a loft," though the ascent to the apartments where the mysteries of the Craft may now be carried on is very remindful of the approach to the upper floor of stables. The apartments themselves have, we believe, hitherto been dedicated to the use of the London Rowing Club, and the house is one where the luxurious athletes of the oar take their ease in their inn. The lodge-room fronts Father Thames, and gives a good view of ancient Fulham. The brethren who assembled last Tuesday were recalled from the out-look on the snow-covered Thames, and the first appearance of the light blue, and dark blue, to form the procession to the lodge-room, which had been neatly laid out. As Bro. James Terry, the Prov. G.D.C. of Herts., headed the procession, Bro. G. Stacy, Organist of 1348, played the march on an excellent organ provided. Bro. Terry, who had been appointed Installing Master, then took the chair, and appointed Bro. Ough, P.G.P., as S.W.; Bro. W. Watson, P.G.S., as J.W.; and Bro. P.M. Meredith, as I.G.

Bro. Terry then proceeded with the work which he, if not the hero of a hundred fights, at least the worker of a hundred consecrations, knows so well, and having addressed the assemblage upon the nature of the meeting, and received the address from the Secretary pro tem., he ranged the brethren in order—Bros. Joseph Wright, as W.M. designate; J. W. Robinson, as S.W.; C. Jackson, as J.W.; and A. Watkins, P.M.; Henry Smith (Royal Arthur), W. Morphew, F. Holland, A. Boehr, Collings. Approval having been signified to the officers, Bro. Terry, in the absence of a Chaplain, gave the oration on the nature and principles of the institution, and this was followed by the psalm—

"How vast must their advantage be,
How great their pleasure prove,
Who live like brethren, and consent
For offices of love."

The lodge was then dedicated according to form amid the rapt attention of the brethren, who joined in the beautiful hymns of the ceremony, given with excellent effect by Bro. Stacy. The lodge was then constituted, and this part of the ceremony closed with the hymn—

"Glory be to God on high,
Let Heaven and earth reply,
Praise ye His name;
Masons His love adore,
Tiled in their mystic lore,
And cry evermore,
Glory to God."

Bro. Terry then became the Installing Master, and proceeded to install Bro. Joseph Smith, an old P.M., according to the rites and ceremonies as worked by the Lodge of Emulation. This was very perfectly rendered in the presence of a large assemblage of past and present holders of the chair, among them being Bros. Daurini, P.M. 1044; Meredith, P.M. 1257; Puleford, P.M. 1158; Gallant, W.M. 813; A. W. Wright, P.M. 1158; C. W. Wise, W.M. 1158; Ough, P.G.P.; Pendlebury, P.M. 1056; While, P.M. 228 ("Freemason"); Burrell, I.P.M. 1446; Howick, P.M. 1044; Payne, P.M. 27; Sorrell, W.M. 176; H. Potter, P.M. 11; Bethell, P.M. 30; Whiteman, P.M. 256; Whitney, P.M. 946, P. Prov. A.D.C. Middx. When the brethren under the degree of Installed Masters were admitted, the proclamations were made in the accustomed form, and the W.M. then appointed as his officers, amid the acclamations of the brethren, J. W. Robinson, S.W.; C. Jackson, J.W.; G. A. Watkins, Treas.; P.M. Henry Smith, Sec.; W. Morphew, S.D.; F. Holland, J.D.; A. Boehr, I.G.; Collings, D.C.; and Bro. J. Smith, as Assist. Secretary.

The closing addresses to the W.M., the Wardens, and to the lodge were given by Bro. Terry with his usual point, clearness, and completeness, and the W.M., after taking the names of joining members and the proposals for initiation, read a letter from the G. Sec., whose absence was caused by official circumstances, but he wished the lodge a prosperous career. The W.M. then spoke warmly of the services which Bro. Terry had rendered the lodge, and said he hoped that Bro. Terry would be elected the first honorary member of the lodge.

A proposal to this effect was made by P.M. H. Smith, the Secretary, and was seconded by the S.W. It was carried unanimously.

Bro. Terry, in acknowledging the honour thus paid to him, thanked the brethren, and said it gave him great pleasure to consecrate a lodge whose name was one which would ever carry the mind back to the grand ceremony at Albert Hall in April last. He trusted that the lodge which was thus consecrated would have a good growth, and would honour its name by the good quality of the members it introduced to the Craft.

Thanks were then voted to Bro. Stacy for his services as Organist, to Bro. Hill, of the Highgate Lodge, for acting during the ceremony as D.C., and to Bros. Ough and Watson for their services in the Warden's chair. The votes were acknowledged, and the lodge was then in due form closed.

The banquet was held in a room beneath the lodge-room, and the W.M., whose experience as a P.M. was of the utmost value in guiding the newly launched vessel, both in lodge and at the banquet table, gave with great force (the greater because brief) the toasts of "The Queen and the Craft," "The M.W. Grand Master," "The Pro Grand Master," "The Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present," coupling with the latter the name of Bro. Ough, who responded, and warmly praised the merits of those who ruled over the Craft, pointing out the essential necessity, for the good of the brotherhood, that its rulers should be chosen from those who were the rulers in the nation by training and by birth.

Bro. Terry said the duty fell upon him, in the absence of any Past Master, to propose the toast of "The First W.M. of the Royal Commemoration Lodge." The name of the lodge was a happy one, and doubtless it was the happy choice of the name which obtained for the lodge its warrant. It was a very good choice the brethren had made in Bro. Wright for the First Worshipful Master, and it was almost essential that the W.M. who occupied the chair of a new lodge should be one who had had experience in that position, as he would be the better able, by his knowledge of the work to weld the new parts of a lodge into a harmonious whole. They all knew how zealous and energetic Bro. Wright was in all things, a fact seen in the example he set as Steward to the festival of the institution, for he said he would not go unless he had three figures on his list, and three figures he had—(cheers)—and the brethren would toast him as one whose work and actions they would all attempt to emulate.

Bro. Wall, S.D. of the Kennington Lodge, gave the company the benefit of a charming song.

The W.M. then responded to the toast of his health, and said he had accepted the helm of this lodge with the intention of making it a good lodge. If had pleased the Earl of Carnarvon, the Pro Grand Master, to approve of the name of the lodge and to grant the warrant, and it behoved the members of it to take care that no action or proposal of theirs should ever sully it. Fortunately, the speaker said, he could say he had done his best to launch the lodge in a worthy manner, and he thanked the officers for the assistance they had given him in purchasing (of another lodge) the necessary furniture for its use. He felt as captain of this new ship that he was supported by good officers, and he trusted it would sail on in strength and happiness. After some singing by brethren, the W.M. went on to propose the toast of "The Consecrating Officer, Bro. Terry," of whose kindness and talents the speaker warmly spoke, adding that of all consecrations the worthy Secretary of the Masonic Institution had performed he had never performed one with greater spirit than the one that day. (Cheers.)

One of the brethren sang a parody on the "Village Blacksmith," giving a fancy sketch of the life of a London policeman—a performance which caused roars of laughter.

Bro. Terry, as the Consecrating Officer, in return, said that he was very amply repaid for his exertions by the satisfaction expressed and by the attention which the brethren had given to him. He trusted that he should see the Master install his successor, and that the lodge would show that it was prepared to maintain the high principles and tenets of the Order by having its name enrolled on behalf of the Masonic charities.

To the toast of "The Visitors" Bro. Sorrell responded, and the Treasurer's health being warmly toasted—with the hope that he would take good care of the lodge argent, when he got any—that brother responded, asking the brethren to give him the chance.

Bro. Henry Smith responded for the Secretaries.

The Senior Warden in response to the toast of the officers made a neat speech, in which he accepted the simile of the Master in likening the lodge to a ship, and said that he trusted the Captain would find the crew a good working one.

The Junior Warden thanked the Master and brethren for selecting him to be the third officer in the ship, and said he should endeavour to prove that their confidence was not misplaced.

Scotland.

CONSECRATION OF THE ST. BRYDE LODGE, No. 579, UDDINGSTON.

Thursday, the 9th inst., witnessed the inauguration of a new Masonic Lodge, bearing the name of St. Bryde, No. 579, in the rising village of Uddingston. The ceremonies of constitution and consecration were performed by Bro. Provost J. C. Forrest, of Hamilton, D.P.G. Master of Lanarkshire (Mid. Ward), assisted by the following P.G. Officers:—Bros. Rev. A. O. Brown, Chaplain 203; C. Spalding, P.G.S.W.; A. Ramsay, P.G.J.W.; A. King, P.G. Treas.; J. Nisbet, P.G. Sec.; C. Gilchrist, P.G.S.D.; W. Morrison, P.G.J.D.; W. Forrest, P.G.B.B.; C. Nelson, P.G.D.C.; W. McMurdo, P.G. Marshal; and W. Sibbald, P.G.I.G.

Amongst those present we noticed Bros. T. Duncan, D.M. Mother Kiwinning; Wylie, Bernard, Miller, Proudfoot, and Gardner, of 33 St. John's, Glasgow; R. Kelso, W.M. 31; G. McDonald, W.M., and J. Bannerman, D.M. of 73, Thistle and Rose, Glasgow; J. Glen, W.M. 114; T. Halket, P.M. 102, St. Mark's; W. Malcolm, W.M. 88; W. Fleming, P.M. 88; R. McIntyre, W.M. 203; G. Arthur, P.M. 203; Davidson, S.W. 203; Cochran, J.W. 203; J. King, W.M. 406; Forsyth, S.W. 406; W. J. Hay, 187; Gardner, W.M. 233; D. Wright, W.M. 551, Paterson, J.W. 551; Ferguson ("Freemason"), and others. In all there would be about 120 brethren present, completely filling the hall, which is fitted up to suit Masonic purposes.

On the lodge being opened by the P.G. Lodge, the P.G. Master proceeded to the work of consecration, and during the ceremony the P.G. Chaplain, Bro. the Rev. Brown, delivered an impressive oration on the "Nature and Objects of Masonry," which was listened to with great attention, and repeatedly applauded. Subsequently Bro. W. J. Easton, W.M. elect, received the ceremony of the installation degree, and also Bros. Malcolm, W.M. 88; Fleming, P.M. 88; and McIntyre, W.M. 203, at the hands of Bro. McMurdo, P.M. 305, P.G. Marshall. The office-bearers were then installed by the P.G. Master, viz., Bros. W. J. Easton, W.M.; Scott, D.M.; W. Walker, S.M.; T. Halket, S.W.; J. Baird, junr., J.W.; T. Shott, Treas.; W. Crawford, Sec.; J. Walker, S.D.; G. Robertson, J.D.; D. Bryden, S.S.; W. Watson, J.S.; G. W. Ruddock, I.G.; and R. Rae, Tyler.

We should state that Bro. J. Annan, Organist 7, St. John's, Hamilton, presided at the harmonium.

Labour being ended, the lodge was transferred to refreshment, Bro. Easton in the chair, when the usual loyal, Masonic, and patriotic toasts were given and duly honoured. "The Provincial Grand Lodge of Lanarkshire, Middle Ward," was proposed by the W.M., and replied to by the P.G.M. "The W.M." was given by the P.G.M., and enthusiastically responded to by all present. The W.M. replied in suitable terms.

KIRKINTILLOCH.—Lodge St. John Kilwinning (No. 28).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in the Black Bull Inn, on Saturday, 11th inst., Bro. D. Cameron, W.M., in the chair, supported by his Wardens and other office-bearers. Messrs. T. Docherty and W. McLean were initiated by Bro. J. S. Allan, D.M. Two brethren were then passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by the W.M., and afterwards three were raised to the degree of Master Mason, the W.M. again performing the ceremony.

WISHAW.—St. Mary's Lodge Coltness (No. 31).—The annual assembly of this lodge was held on Friday, the 3rd inst., in the Crown Assembly Rooms, which was tastefully and elegantly decorated for the occasion. A large and brilliant assemblage of ladies and brethren were present, and the dancing, which commenced shortly after ten o'clock by the R.W.M., Bro. Kelso, and his lady leading off the Grand March, was continued with great spirit till an early hour in the morning, everyone present appearing to have enjoyed themselves thoroughly. The appearance of the assembly rooms when thronged with the ladies in their bright and captivating costumes, and the brethren in their many coloured aprons. Sashes and emblems of office was more like a scene in fairyland, than a gathering of the members of the mystic land. The following deputations from sister lodges were present:—St. Mary's Partick, No. 117; St. John's Motherwell, No. 406; St. Clare, Cambusnethan, No. 427; and the Provincial Grand Lodge, Middle Ward, Lanarkshire. Bro. A. Brownlie, S.W., was all that could be desired as Master of Ceremonies, and the music, which was first class, was supplied by the quadrille band of Mr. McGhee, assisted by Professor Bain of Bothwell on the piano. The affair throughout was an entire success and reflects the greatest credit on Bro. W. Forrest, Convenor, and the rest of the committee for their faultless arrangements.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Thistle (No. 87).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, 30, Hope-street, on Tuesday evening, 7th inst. The meeting was well attended, the hall being nearly full. Bro. Booth, W.M., in the chair, J. Fraser, P.M.; J. Miller, P.M.; W. Stuart, S.W.; R. Barr, J.W.; J. G. Ritchie, S.M.; W. Wilson, Sec.; T. Paton, Treas.; J. McLachlan, S.D.; J. Cossar, J.D.; T. Best, E. Arthur, J. Annand, B. McCoo, Coultis, 36; D. Hood, 124; J. Preston, 219; J. Lawrence, 219; J. M. Oliver, S.W. 360; G. Adam, 360; W. Barr, 543; L. R. Mitchell, J.D. 574. The lodge having been opened, and the minutes of last meeting read and approved of, the Treasurer read the quarterly report, which showed about £120 to the credit of the lodge. A committee was appointed to make arrangements with the Railway Company for the lease of a tenement in Cathedral-street, to be converted into a Masonic Hall. Bro. Miller then tabled a motion to be brought up at a future meeting, which will be looked forward to with interest by the members of the lodge. Messrs. F. Butcher and A. Christie were admitted into the First Degree by Bro. J. Booth, W.M., the latter gentleman for Lodge Commercial, No. 360. The lodge was then assumed on the Third Degree, when Bros. A. E. Knowles, J. Ritchie, and A. McLachlan were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason by the W.M., in a very solemn and creditable manner.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Union and Crown (No. 103).—About sixty members of this lodge, including their wives and friends, met in Summers Hall, 93, Candleriggs, on Friday, the 3rd inst., to celebrate their 109th anniversary. Bro. D. Murray, R.W.M. of the lodge, occupied the chair; Croupiers, W. Forsyth, J.W., and J. Gilles, Sec., P.M. and P.G.T. After partaking of the good things which were laid before them, and a blessing sang, the Chairman said:—Croupiers, ladies, brethren, and gentlemen.—We have met here on this occasion to celebrate the 109th anniversary of our lodge, for it is now 109 years since this our lodge had its birth. It gives me great pleasure as Master of this lodge to have with me on this occasion such a happy company, and so many ladies present. I sincerely hope that each and all of you will enjoy yourselves, and I can assure you nothing on my part shall be wanting to enable you to do so. Respecting the lodge and its history, my connection with it has not been many years, but I have looked over the documents that now remain, and cannot trace anything further back than fifty years for want of lost records, which, I am sorry to say, seems to be the complaint of many other lodges, even of Mother Kilwinning, but what I can trace it is clear to me that very little was done in actual work any earlier than twenty years back. The lodge has been in adversity and prosperity, and I am sure can safely say that the last four years the lodge has continued to prosper, and at the present time stands second to none. This year the work has commenced well, and I am sure, with the present office-bearers working as they are harmoniously together, that it must end well. I will, therefore, conclude, wishing you all may enjoy yourselves, and I am delighted, ladies, to see so many of your happy faces amongst us, and hope we may live to meet on many similar occasions. The following toasts then followed:—"The Queen and the Royal Family," "Three Grand Lodges, England, Ireland, and Scotland," and "His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, Patron of Scottish Freemasonry," all of which were most enthusiastically received and drank. The toast of "The Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow" was proposed by Bro. McFarlane, and responded to by Bro. J. Gillies, P.G.T. Other toasts followed, enlivened with some most excellent songs. After the last toast the company adjourned for a short time, when an assembly followed, and dancing was kept up with great spirit for a few hours.

PARTICK.—St. Mary's Lodge (No. 117).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held in their own hall, Partick, on Wednesday evening, 15th inst. Over 160 signed the signature book. The W.M., Bro. W. Wylie, in the chair, with the following office-bearers present:—Bros. Brunton, I.P.M.; Bain, D.M.; Donaldson, S.M.; Peacock, S.W.; Agnew, J.W.; Wylie, Treas.; Lawrence, Sec.; McSwan, S.D.; Wallace, J.D. The minutes were read and confirmed, and a motion brought forward, and unanimously carried, raising the initiation fees to a level with other lodges in the province. Messrs. G. Barker, D. Stewart, and J. Laing were initiated by Bro. Bain, D.M.; Bros. A. McDonald and A. McLean were passed by Bro. Boreland; and Bros. T. Alexander and T. Barclay were raised by Bro. Bain, D.M.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Shamrock and Thistle (No. 275).—This lodge held their 59th annual soiree and concert in the Masonic Hall, Struthers-street, on Friday evening, 3rd inst. In the unavoidable absence, through indisposition, of Bro. D. Ronald, W.M., Bro. J. Paterson, D.M., occupied the chair, supported on the platform by Bros. G. C. H. McNaught, P.M.; W. Phillips, P.M. and W.M. 556; Rev. R. Thomson, W. Findlay, S.W.; T. Neilson, J.W.; H. Matheson, S.M.; J. Horn, Sec.; Hutchison, Treas.; J. Singleton, W.M. 178; J. Campbell, I.P.M. 128; and others. The hall was tastefully decorated with banners and other emblems, the most prominent being the "Shamrock and Thistle," immediately behind the chairman. About 220 brethren with their wives, partners, and friends sat down to tea, and after partaking thereof the Chairman rose, and said: Ladies, gentlemen, and brethren—We have now arrived at that part of our programme called the Chairman's address. It is with sincere and heartfelt regret that I have to announce to you the unavoidable absence of our worthy and respected Master through severe indisposition. We fondly hoped that he would be sufficiently recovered to occupy his place of honour at this our 59th festival. From the short notice I received of having to occupy the position of chairman to night, I am encouraged to ask and expect your kind forbearance in my attempt to discharge the duties of the chair on this auspicious occasion. Since our last annual festival we, as a lodge, have made considerable accession to our numbers, and I am proud to say, of a class of gentlemen who will reflect credit, not only on the lodge in which they have been initiated, but on the Order in general. It gives me great pleasure, and it must be a source of gratification to all, that the past year has been as prosperous as any of its predecessors, and I think I am safe in saying that the Lodge Shamrock and Thistle was never in a more healthy, prosperous, and harmonious condition. As you all know, the great work of Freemasonry is benevolence, and I am proud to tell you that this work goes on amongst us, and I trust as years go on it will increase. I do not intend to make a long speech. I will therefore conclude by saying I am delighted to see the ladies amongst us to-night, and I can assure them that no class of men are more delighted to see the ladies amongst them than Freemasons. I therefore wish you may all enjoy a pleasant evening. Bro. the Rev. R. Thomson in the course of the evening gave a most instructive address, and called upon the Scottish Freemasons to establish Benevolent Institutions similar to those in England for the benefit of old Masons, their widows and orphans. During the evening a concert was well sustained by the excellent singing of Misses Stanley and McLean, Bros. Houston and Gray, and Messrs. Thomson and Campbell. After a vote of thanks to the chairman, for the able manner in which he discharged the duties of the chair, by Bro. J. Horn, Sec., and suitably acknowledged by Bro. Paterson, the company sang "Auld Lang Syne." An assembly immediately followed. The music was supplied by Bro. T. Brown, and Bro. R. Hardie was Master of Ceremonies.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Caledonian Railway (No. 354).—The members of this lodge celebrated their annual festival in Bro. Thornton's, Caledonian Cafe, 251, Argyle-street, on Wednesday, 8th inst., Bro. A. B. Ferguson, W.M., in the chair; Bros. J. Harley, S.W., and C. McKenzie, J.W., acted as Croupiers. About 60 brethren sat down to supper. Amongst those present were Bro. E. Buchanan, D.M.; R. S. McLean, Sec.; D. T. Colquhoun, Treas.; Harley, J.D.; J. Reid, Jeweller; Douglas, B.B.; Coutts, D.C.; Dunn, P.S.; Speirs, S.S.; J. Gillies, P.M. 103, P.G.T.; W. Harper, W.M. 408; Rankin, 34; Reid, 34; J. A. Mann, 27; G. S. Hendry, 27; T. Sinclair, 46; R. Manse, D.M. 103; J. Martin, D.M. 219; Howie, 275; J. Baird, P.M. 306; Stewart, 360; Adams, 360; Fyfe, 465; T. Burrett, 553; J. Waggett, 553; and Ferguson ("Freemason"). After supper the brethren adjourned to the Commercial Masonic Hall, 30, Hope-street, and the lodge opened by the W.M., and transferred to refreshment. The Chairman gave the following toasts in succession:—"The Queen and the Craft"; "The Prince of Wales, and the other Members of the Royal Family"; and "The Three Grand Lodges." "The Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow" was proposed by Bro. McKenzie, J.W., in a neat Masonic speech, coupled with the name of Bro. Gillies, P.G. Treas., who, in reply, said it gave him great pleasure to occupy the position by replying to the toast of the Prov. G.L. of Glasgow, which is in a most satisfactory position. The office-bearers paid strict attention to their duties, which is no small amount, considering that no less than twenty-nine lodges are now in the province. "The Army, Navy, and Volunteers" was proposed by Bro. W. Lean, Sec., and replied to by Bro. Speirs. Bro. Gillies then rose, and said he had much pleasure in proposing the toast of the evening, "The Prosperity of Lodge Caledonian Railway, No. 354." She is the only lodge in Scotland who has a floating charter granted by the Grand Lodge, and is entitled to work in any part of Scotland where the Caledonian Railway Company has running powers. I am glad to find she is in a very healthy position, and under the able guidance of Bro. Ferguson, W.M., she is bound to prosper. Bro. Ferguson, W.M., replied. "The Visiting Brethren" was proposed by Bro. Harley, S.W., and replied to by Bro. Mann, 27; "The Press," by Bro. Speirs. Bros. Stewart and Ferguson ("Freemason") replied. Other toasts followed.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Glasgow (No. 441).—The annual soiree of this lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, Struthers-street, on Friday evening, the 17th inst., Bro. J. Wood, W.M., in the chair, supported on the platform by Bros. Tulloch, I.P.M.; Jackson, P.M.; Swan, S.M.; A. Bain, P.M. 103, P.G.B.B.; J. Morgan, W.M. 219; Martin, Treas.; and the other office-bearers. About 150 sat down to tea, and after singing the 100th Psalm the Chairman rose and said: Ladies and brethren, it is with the greatest feelings of pleasure that I now rise to welcome you to our annual festival. It is with gratitude that I am enabled to announce that during the past year Masonry has flourished more in the United Kingdom than it ever did in any one year in the recollection of the oldest Freemason. It makes me look forward to the day when the Freemasons of Scotland will unite like our brethren in England, and follow their example. Indeed, so great has been our progress lately, that I sincerely hope that the brother who will address you as Chairman at our next festival will be able to tell you that the Freemasons of Scotland have begun with a determination to make Freemasonry more than a name. Ladies and brethren, I will not inflict a long address upon you to-night, but conclude by simply saying that nothing speaks better of our progress as a lodge than to see such a large meeting here to-night, and I welcome you all, and particularly the ladies, and I trust you will enjoy a happy evening. During the evening Bros. Tulloch, I.P.M., and A. Bain, P.G.B.B., addressed the meeting. A concert was ably sustained by the excellent singing of Bros. Lawson, Waggett, Barrett, and Bain. At the close, Bro. J. Morgan, W.M. 219, proposed a vote of thanks to Bro. Wood for the able manner he filled the duties of the chair, and after singing "Auld Lang Syne" the company broke up. An assembly followed to the strains of an efficient quadrille band, led by Bro. Wilson. Bro. Goldie, M. of C.

THORNIEBANK.—Thorniebank Lodge (No. 512).—The annual dinner of the Thorniebank was held in their lodge-room, Thorniebank, on Friday evening, 10th March, Bro. R. Scobie, W.M., presiding, Bros. A. Nicholson and A. G. Horne fulfilling the duties of Croupiers. Supporting the W.M. were Bros. Rev. G. Campbell, Chaplain of the lodge; W.M. Z. H. Heys, 307; P.M. J. Millar, 87; P.M. J. Horner, 512; D.M. L. McKellan, 512. The dinner was well attended both by members of the lodge and by visiting brethren, upwards of sixty gentlemen sitting down. Amongst the brethren present from other lodges were Bros. Burns Thompson, 153; W. Patterson, 153; J. Anderson, 507; J. McGregor, 117; J. Smith, 38; J. Shand, 33; J. M. Neilson, 105; W. T. Smellie, 307; and others. The lodge having been opened by Bro. Scobie, W.M., with Bro. Fletcher, as S.W., and Bro. McEwan, as J.W., and a blessing having been asked by the Chaplain, the brethren partook of an excellent repast, provided by Bro. McKellan, D.M., which was heartily enjoyed by the brethren. After disposing of the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, Bro. R. Scobie, W.M., gave "The Prosperity of the Thorniebank," and in doing so presented P.M. John Horner, founder of the Thorniebank, with a Past Master's jewel, as a mark of the respect felt for him by the members of 512, to which Bro. Horner, in a few chosen sentences, replied. The Rev. G. Campbell, Chaplain of 512, in a short, eloquent reply to the toast of his health, spoke of the great advance Masonry has made within these last few years, and on the Christian and charitable feelings that bind the brethren one to another. A number of other toasts were given during the evening by Bro. Nicholson and Bro. Horne, altogether a very happy evening was spent under the shadow of the Thorniebank till the time came to close the lodge.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Dramatic (No. 571).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in St. Mark's Hall, 213, Buchanan-street, Glasgow, on Wednesday, March 15th, at three o'clock p.m., the W.M., Bro. W. J. E. Dobson, in the chair of K.S., who was supported by Bros. J. Winton, P.M. 333; J. Balfour, P.M.; Campbell, P.M.; G. W. Wheeler, Chaplain 73; Wilson, P. Chaplain 27; Bro. Jackman, S.W., being unwell, the S.W. chair was ably filled by Bro. J. McInnes, S.M. of 408; Barbour, Treas.; G. Weir, acting Sec.; W. Siwewright, J.W.; R. S. Smith, S.D.; L. R. Mitchell, J.D.; and the other office-bearers in their respective places. There was a very large number of visiting brethren, amongst whom we noticed, Bros. J. M. Oliver, S.W. 360; Brownlie, J.W. 34; and B. Fraser, 27. The brethren being assembled, the W.M. proceeded to open the lodge in the E.A. Degree. Minutes of previous meeting were read and duly confirmed. Messrs. Gill and Muir were initiated.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Plantation (No. 581).—The inauguration of this lodge took place on Monday evening, 13th inst., under very favourable circumstances, in the New Masonic Hall, Craigiehall-street. The hall is the lesser of three, just newly erected at the corner of McLean and Craigiehall streets, by Bro. Stobo, the extensive builder in that locality, who is the R.W.M. elect of the lodge. As already reported in our columns, the charter was granted by the Grand Lodge of Scotland on 7th Feb. last, and the brethren met on Monday evening, as above stated, to constitute the lodge, install the W.M. and the other office-bearers. At seven p.m., Bro. A. McTaggart, P.G. Sec., formally handed over the charter to Bro. Stobo, the Master elect, at whose request Bro. McTaggart occupied the chair, and proceeded to the business of the evening; Bro. D. M. Nelson, W.M. 34, acting S.W.; and Bro. J. Monro, W.M. 360, acting J.W. Bro. McTaggart called upon Bro. W. Ferguson to read the charter, which was accordingly done, and other business of minor importance proceeded with. The hall comfortably holds about 120, but over that number were present on this occasion. Amongst those present we noticed Bros. W. Bell, I.P.M. 34; J. S. Allen, D.M. 28; J. W. Burns, I.P.M. 87; R. Mitchell, P.M. 332; D. Smart, W.M. 347; J. Cunningham, I.P.M. 347; J. Harley, S.W. 354; J. Gray, 362; W. Galbraith, S.D. 362; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); W. Phillips, W.M. 556; J. McKechie, Treas. 556. Deputations were also present from lodges Nos. 9, Mother Kilwinning, 34, 28, 69, 87, 103, 117, 173, 175, 347, 354, 360, 362, 413, 419, 543, and 556. The installation of office-bearers was then proceeded with, Bro. McTaggart performing the ceremony in his usual able and impressive manner. The following are the office-bearers:—Bros. T. Stobo, W.M.; W. Ferguson, D.M.; Alex. Gow, S.M.; D. Peacock, S.W.; J. Henry, J.W.; W. Taylor, Treas.; R. Allan, Sec.; A. Imrie, S.D.; J. Halley, J.D.; W. McIntosh, Chaplain; J. Campbell, S.S.; J. Dowell, J.S.; M. McLean, I.G.; and J. Cumming, Tyler. Bro. McTaggart at some length then addressed the brethren, and congratulated them upon the happy auspices under which their lodge had been inaugurated. He trusted that they would in their conduct of business show an example to other lodges in the province, and demonstrate that though they were the youngest lodge their aspirations were high, and that their resolution was to maintain unsullied the principles of the Craft. He concluded by calling for three cheers for the success of "Lodge Plantation," No. 581, which were given with a will. The W.M. then proposed a hearty vote of thanks to Bro. McTaggart, for his service on that and other occasions, which was seconded by Bro. Gow, S.W., and carried with universal acclamation. The lodge then proceeded to the business of initiation, the following being the "first laid stones" of Lodge 581:—Messrs. J. Nish, R. H. White, Neil Thomson, and E. S. Garraway, who received the first degree at the hands of Bro. W. Bell, I.P.M. 34, in that brother's well known able style. Bros. A. McTaggart, P.G.S.; D. M. Nelson, R.W.M. 34; W. Bell, I.P.M. 34; W. Bell, I.P.M. 34; R. Mitchell, P.M. 332; and J. Monro, R.W.M. 360; were obligated honorary members of the lodge by Bro. Ferguson, D.M., and Bros. J. W. Burns, I.P.M. 87, and J. Robertson, J.D. 347, as joining members. The lodge was then transferred to refreshment, Bro. Stobo in the chair, who proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, and also "The P.G.L. of Glasgow." Bro. McTaggart replied. Bro. Gow, S.M., proposed "The Visiting Brethren," coupled with the name of Bro. Neilson, R.W.M. 34, who replied. "Prosperity to Lodge Plantation and the R.W.M.," was proposed by Bro. McTaggart. Bro. Stobo replied in suitable terms. "The New Laid Stones," proposed by Bro. Ferguson, D.M., and replied to by Bros. Thomson and White. During the evening Bros. Nelson and Dowell sang some excellent songs.

PAISLEY.—Paisley Chapter (No. 112).—The regular meeting of this chapter was held in St. Mirren's, M.H., Moss-street, Paisley, on Friday evening, 3rd inst., at 8 p.m. The chair was occupied by Comp. A. McLeod, M.E.Z., and supported by Comp. W. Gemmell, H., and Comp. J. Carswell, J. There were also present Comps. A. McPherson, Scribe E.; G. Fisher, acting Scribe, N.; W. Brown, acting P.S.; M. Rodger, Asst. Soj.; J. Spence, acting Asst. Soj.; and others. The chapter was opened, and the minutes of last meeting read and approved of. Two candidates, Bros. Ex. Bailie Jas. Caldwell, P.G.S.M., Renfrewshire (East), and Jas. Tannahill, both of Lodge St. Mirren's, No. 129, were duly proposed and elected, and both brethren being in attendance were received and exalted to the degree of R.A., by Comp. McLeod, M.E.Z. There being no other business before the chapter it was thereafter closed. This chapter has only just been resuscitated after having been almost dormant for nearly three years.

PARTICK.—Partick Chapter (No. 113).—The ninth anniversary of this chapter was celebrated by a festival held in the old Masonic Hall, Dumbarton Road. The chair was occupied by Comp. J. Halkett, Comp. G. Ward, acting as Croupier. There were also present Comps. Brunton, Barr, J. White, Boag, William White, W. Wylie, Commissioner Trotter, Rose, Stewart, Lyon, Duncan, J. J. Cook, J. Peden, R. Clydesdale, A. Macdonald, G. Russell, J. Graham, W. McFarlane, and others. After supper the Chairman gave the usual loyal and Masonic Toasts, which were responded to with the usual enthusiasm. Some excellent songs were sung, and the meeting was closed about twelve o'clock.

PRINTERS' ART UNION.—We are asked to state that the fifth annual drawing of this Art Union for 462 prizes will take place at the London Tavern this day (Saturday).

DAYLIGHT reflected in dark rooms. Gas superseded in day time. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors.—Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, March 31, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, MARCH 25.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Percy, 113, Southgate-rd., N.
Manchester, 179, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross Road.
Sinai Chapter, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.

MONDAY, MARCH 27.

Lodge 4, Royal Somerset House and Inverness.
" 26, Castle of Harmony, Willis's Rooms, W.
" 28, Old King's Arms, F.M.H.
" 79, Pythagorean, Ship Hot., Greenwich.
" 183, Unity, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 902, Burgoyne, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
Chap. 25, Robert Burns, F.M.H.
Mark Lodge 5, Mallet and Chisel, Bridge House Hot.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
West Kent, St. Saviour's College, Forest-hill.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, MARCH 28.

Lodge 14, Tuscan, F.M.H.
" 92, Moira, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 141, Faith, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-street.
" 145, Prudent Brethren, F.M.H.
" 186, Industry, M.H., Basinghall-st.
" 205, Israel, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
" 259, Prince of Wales, Willis's Rooms, St. James.
" 1158, Southern Star, Montpelier Tav., Walworth.
" 1196, Urban, Old Jerusalem Tav., Clerkenwell.
" 1348, Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
" 1441, Ivy, Surrey Masonic Hall.
Chap. 21, Cyrus, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
Rose Croix Chap. Palestine, 33, Golden-sq., W.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone, at 8.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 29.

Lodge 898, Temperance-in-the-East, 6, Newby-pl., Poplar.
Chap. 435, Mount Lebanon, Ship & Turtle, Leadenhall-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Moant Edgcombe, 19, Jermyn-street, St. James's.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.

THURSDAY, MARCH 30.

Gen. Com. Girls' School, at 4.
Lodge 22, Neptune, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
" 1524, Duke of Connaught, Pownall-rd., Haggerston.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albion-rd., Dalston.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.

FRIDAY, MARCH 31.

Chap. 134, Caledonian, Ship & Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
K.T. Prec. 26, Faith & Fidelity, Terminus Ho., Cannon-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
St. George's, Globe Tav., Royal-hill, Greenwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Metropolitan, Pentonville-road.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.

St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, Commercial Tav., King's-road, Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Coutts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday April 1, 1876.

MONDAY, MARCH 27.

Lodge 148, Lights, M.R., Warrington.
Chap. 241, Friendship, M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, MARCH 28.

Lodge 1393, Hamer, 22, Everton-rd., Liverpool.
" 1570, Prince Arthur, 80, N. Hill-st., Liverpool.
Chap. 721, Grosvenor, M.R., Chester.
" 1094, Temple, M.H., Liverpool.
Mark Lodge, No. 11, Joppa, M.C., Birkenhead.
Merchants' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, MARCH 30.

Lodge 1313, Fermor, M.H., Southport.
Mariners' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, April 1, 1876.
All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, MARCH 27.

Lodge 102, St. Mark, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 103, Union & Crown, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 219, Star, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.
" 362, St. Clair, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.
" 541, Marie Stuart, M.H., Crosshill.
Chap. 122, Thetis, 35, St. James's-st., Kingston.

TUESDAY, MARCH 28.

Lodge 413, Athole, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 543, St. John, M.H., Dalmauir.
Chap. 67, Cathedral, 22, Struthers-st., Glasgow.
" 73, Caledonian of Unity, 170, Buchanan-st.

THURSDAY, MARCH 30.

Lodge 334, St. John's, Castle-inn, New Cumnock.
Chap. 117, Govandale, Portland Buildings, Govan.

FRIDAY, MARCH 31.

Lodge 51, London Kilwinning, Black Bull, Newmilns.
" 118, St. Bride's, M.H., Douglas.
" 125, St. James, Masons' Arms, Newton Ayr.
" 153, Royal Arch, M.H., Pollokshaws.
" 236, Wilsontown St. John, Forth Inn, Carnworth.
" 347, St. John, M.H., Rutherglen.
Chap. 79, Commercial, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.

SATURDAY, APRIL 1.

Lodge 458, St. John, Wilson's Hall, Busby.
" 544, St. Andrew, M.H., Coatbridge.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, April 1, 1876.

MONDAY, MARCH 27.

Lodge 349, St. Clair, F.H., George-st.

TUESDAY, MARCH 28.

" 151, Defensive Band, Alexandra H., Cockburn-st.
" 223, Trafalgar, 54, Bernard-st., Leith.

BRO. W. T. PALMER, FINE ART PUBLISHER

PICTURE FRAME MAKER AND GILDER.

Passe-partouts Cut and Pictures Mounted.

Handsome Gold Frames with Masonic Emblems for Lodges, and Certificates made to order at Moderate Prices.

THE TRADE SUPPLIED.

3A, CORPORATION BUILDINGS, FARRINGTON-ROAD,

LONDON, E.C.

THE LONDON MASONIC CLUB.

THE CLUB PREMISES

SITUATE

101, Queen Victoria Street,

are now being fitted up, and will

SHORTLY BE OPENED TO THE MEMBERS.

The Annual Subscription, now payable, is available to 1st May, 1877, and is fixed at—£3 3s. for Town Members, i.e., Members residing within twenty miles of the Club, and £1 11s. 6d. for Country Members, without entrance fee. Members incur no liability beyond their subscription. None but Freemasons are eligible for Membership.

An Election of Members will be held on 30th March next, after which date it is anticipated that it will be necessary to impose an Entrance Fee, and raise the annual Subscriptions, upwards of 500 Brethren having already joined.

Applications for Forms for Membership to be made personally or by letter to the Secretary, at the Offices of the London Masonic Club Company Limited, 37, Queen Victoria-street, E.C.

JOHN A. LATHBURY,
Secretary.

THE MASONIC AND GENERAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, (LIMITED).

HEAD OFFICE, 9, New Bridge Street, E.C.

CENTRAL TRUSTEES.

SIR HARCOURT JOHNSTONE, BART., M.P.
W. ROMAINE CALLENDER, Esq., M.P.

ABNER TORKINGTON,

MANAGING DIRECTOR.

ST. LEONARD'S COLLEGE, OXFORD ROAD, BIRKDALE PARK, SOUTHPORT, LANCASHIRE.

PRINCIPAL—Bro. the Rev. Dr. LOWE, of the Universities of St. Andrew's and Edinburgh.
The premises occupy a salubrious and commanding position near the sea.

Young gentlemen are thoroughly instructed in all the branches of an English, Commercial, Mathematical, and Classical Education, and are prepared for Mercantile pursuits, the Civil Service, and Professional Examinations, and for the Universities.

The number of pupils being limited to fifteen, special pains are taken, as well with those whose education is in a backward state as with those who are more advanced. High, moral, and religious training. The most respectable references. Inclusive terms, Ten Guineas per quarter. A liberal reduction made in favour of the sons of deceased Masons.

KESGRAVE HALL SCHOOL.

(NEAR IPSWICH.)

Bro. Francis A. Kent, M.C.P., F.R.S., wishes, in this Advertisement, to draw the attention of parents who are seeking a good, healthy, hard-working School for their sons.

Kesgrave Hall is a large mansion, in extensive and beautiful grounds, and is a remarkably healthy spot, on high sandy soil, and the Pupils have full access to many miles of private drives through wood and heath.

The School consists of about 60 boarders, with a staff of four resident, and four visiting Masters.

The highest references given, and the Principal will be happy to forward Prospectuses and Terms (which are moderate) on Application.

N.B.—The next term begins on May and.

ST. GALL, CONCORDIA, SWITZERLAND.
INTERNATIONAL AND COMMERCIAL
HIGH SCHOOL.—Scholars with or without Board and Lodging. Class instruction given in parallel courses. The most important courses taught in different languages, by professors of various nationalities. Instruction in all the mercantile branches, especially German, French, English, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, Dutch, and Russian, with correspondence in these languages. Preparations for superior technical schools.

At present five languages, three religions, and ten nationalities are represented. Referees: Mrs. Ingall-Gunther, chief editor of "The Bazar," Berlin; Dr. Joh. Scherr, Zurich; J. Flitz, Swiss Consul-General, Washington; Dr. Kerr, Swiss Ambassador, Paris; Geisser, Swiss Consul-General, Turin; B. B. Scheerer-Inglist; T. R. Tschidy, House Director, St. Gall.

Prospectuses, programmes, and regulations of the establishment, in five languages, to be had by applying to the director.

The school is conducted on truly Masonic principles.
DR. BERTSCH-SAILER, Director.

TWICKENHAM SCHOOL, MIDDLESEX.—Established 1810. Sound Education. Preparation for Examination and Commercial Pursuits. Foreign Masters. Moderate and Inclusive Terms.—Apply to Bro. Clayton Palmer, LL.D., L.C.P., F.E.I.S., &c.

FREDERICK ADLARD.

MASONIC CLOTHIER, &c., &c.

Inventor of the Masonic Jewel Attacher (Rgstd.).

"Bro. Adlard's famed jewel attacher, from its simplicity and convenience, has only to be known to be universally adopted. The price 7s. 6d. (if with Pockets for Jewels, 6d. each Pocket extra), places it within the reach of all."—"Masonic Magazine."

"We have much pleasure in recommending Brother Adlard's Attacher for its convenience and usefulness."—"The Freemason."

Craft Aprons; 15s. to 21s.
Lodge Collars, 9s. 6d. to 12s. 6d.
Royal Arch Apron and Sash, 30s. to 38s.

No. 225, HIGH HOLBORN.
Opposite Southampton-row, W.C.

THE "SPECIALITE" SHERRY.

"Free from Acidity and Heat."—British Medical Journal. "Valuable for Gouty or Uric Acid tendencies."—Dr. Hardwicke, Metropolitan Analyst, Coroner for Middlesex. Adopted and recommended by nearly 3000 Physicians and Surgeons for its valuable Dietetic Qualities. 30/0 per doz. FRITOE & SONS, Sole Proprietors and Importers, Chief Establishment, Abermarle-street, London, W.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—	PAGE
Craft Masonry.....	145
Royal Arch.....	146
Mark Masonry.....	146
Scotland.....	146
Consecration of the Wanderers' Lodge.....	147
Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.....	149
Freemasonry in France.....	149
Reviews.....	149
Masonic and General Tidings.....	149
Our Royal Grand Master's Return.....	150
Plans for Enlargement of the Girls' School.....	150
Masonic Morality.....	151
The Advantages and Disadvantages of Routine.....	151
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Masonic Prefixes.....	151
Masonic Jurisprudence.....	151
Cardinal Meaning and the Stage.....	152
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.....	152
Masonic Notes and Queries.....	152
Consecration of Two Chapters in Devonshire.....	153
OBITUARY.....
Bro. Sir J. Cordy Burrows.....	153
Masonic Meetings for Next Week.....	153
Advertisements.....	I. II. III. IV. V. VI.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

PHOENIX LODGE (No. 173).—The last meeting of this lodge was held at the Freemasons' Tavern, on Saturday, the 17th ult. The lodge was opened early in the afternoon by Bro. Wiles, W.M., assisted by Bros. Vine, I.P.M.; Carter, S.W.; Massey, J.W.; Matthews, Sec.; Burford, Treas.; Phillips, S.D.; Finch, J.D.; Andrews, D.C.; Allen, I.G.; Speight, P.M.; Tyler. The P.M.'s of the lodge present were Bros. Sharrman, Wilson, Salmon, Watson, Green. The visitors were Bros. Adams, P.M. 504, &c.; F. Binckes, P.M., &c., &c., Secretary to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys; Coombs, P.M.; Watts, W.M. 194; Palmer, P.P.G.O.; Walls, S.D. 1381; Farquharson, 259, &c. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the W.M. raised Bros. Charles and Tatham, passed Bros. Simpson, Garnett, and Houghton, and initiated Messrs. Güterbock and Davie. The ceremonies were well performed. Upon the conclusion of the Masonic labours the lodge was closed in ancient form, and the brethren adjourned to a most elegant banquet. Upon the removal of the cloth the usual toasts of ceremony were given briefly but well by the W.M., and the National Anthem and "God bless the Prince of Wales" sung. Bro. Binckes, whose name had been mentioned in connection with the officers of Grand Lodge, made a very excellent reply upon behalf of those distinguished brethren, but declined to take any honour to himself as a member of that body, inasmuch as he explained, and very fully, that although having filled the office of G.S. he held no past rank in Grand Lodge, and consequently his name ought not to have been coupled with the toast, but, notwithstanding its impropriety he felt gratified at the manner in which his health had been received by the brethren of the Phoenix Lodge. "The W.M.'s Health" was then proposed by the I.P.M., and, having been duly honoured, was briefly acknowledged by Bro. Wiles. "The Health of the Initiates and Newly-passed Brethren" was next given, and elicited a most excellent reply from Bro. Davie. The song of the E.A. was contributed by Bro. Speight. "The Health of the Visitors" followed, and was responded to at length by Bros. Coombs and Walls. The toast of "The P.M.'s" was given by the W.M. in a very neat speech, and was reverally responded to by Bros. Vine, Wilson, Sharrman, Salmon, and Green. Between the toasts instrumental, vocal, and dramatic selections were given by Bros. Palmer, Farquharson, and Walls. "The Health of those most useful and worthy Officers, the Treasurer and Secretary," having been proposed, and duly honoured, was responded to by Bros. Burford and Matthews. The toast of "The Junior Officers" followed, and having been reverally replied to, the Tyler was called upon to discharge his duty, and the brethren adjourned until the second Saturday in April.

DOMATIC LODGE (No. 177).—An exceedingly strong muster of the members of this lodge took place at Anderton's Hotel, Fleet-street, on the 10th ult., it being the last meeting of the season. There were present the following officers:—viz., Bros. Treadwell, W.M.; Everett, I.P.M., W.M., 1381; Smith, P.G.P., P.M., Treas.; Willing, jun., S.W.; Palmer, J.W.; Buscall, S.D.; White, I.G.; Spink, D.C.; Maclean, A.D.C.; Williams, Sec. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, Bro. Everett, I.P.M., raised Bros. Gwynn, Cook, and Abrams to the Third Degree most impressively, and the W.M. passed as F.C.'s Bros. Killingback, Jewell, Jennings, and Stevens very effectively. There being no candidate present for initiation, a long discussion ensued upon two notices of motion upon the agenda, viz.: By the W.M., "That the summer festival take place in July;" and by the Treasurers, "That the visiting fee be raised to 10s. 6d." Both motions were unanimously carried by a large majority. A committee was then appointed to carry out the proceedings of the festival and which will be held at that abode of historical picturesque celebrity, the Rye House. The I.P.M., having in his capacity of Steward at the last Festival of the Aged Freemasons placed the sum of £10 on account of the lodge upon his list, the lodge endorsed it by unanimously voting that sum to him. The lodge was shortly afterwards closed, and the brethren partook of an excellent banquet. The usual Royal and Craft toasts were given briefly but pertinently by the W.M., and were received with excellent fire by the 112 brethren present, of whom eighteen were visitors. Bro. Smith, P.G.P., the father of the lodge, and Bro. T. Adams, P.G.P., the veteran of the Craft, responded for the members of Grand Lodge. The I.P.M. proposed "The Health of the W.M." in a very graceful and kind manner, and who immediately responded by stating that to preside over so extensive a lodge as the Domatic was a task of no little difficulty, but if the brethren would only give him their hearty countenance and support during his year of office he would endeavour to discharge the responsibilities of the position to the best of his humble ability. "The Health of the Visitors" followed, and was responded to by Bros. Thompson, W.M. (Emulation), and Walls S.D. (Kennington). The W.M. next proposed "The P.M.'s" in a very neat speech, in which he expressed his personal obligations to those brethren. It is needless to state that this toast and the response that followed were most heartily received. During the proceedings Bros. Palmer, Wood, Walls, Budd, and others vocally entertained the brethren. "The Healths of the Treasurer, Secretary, and Junior Officers of the Lodge" were proposed and drank, and responded to on behalf of those absent and present by Bros. Williams, Palmer, Buscall, White, Spink, and Maclean. The Tyler's toast was called at half-past 10 o'clock, and the members separated until October.

STOKESLEY.—Cleveland Lodge (No. 543).—An emergency meeting of this prosperous lodge was held on Monday evening, March 27th, Bros. William Guthrie Forbes, M.B., W.M.; Wm. Scarth Dixon, S.W.; James Coulson, J.W.; J. H. Handyside, P. Prov. G.J.W., and P.M., Sec.; Richard Watson, P.M., Treas.; David Dixon, S.D.; J. W. Sharp, J.D.; George Markham Tweddell, acting as I.G.; and Wm. Harrison, Tyler. The lodge being opened in the First Degree, and Bro. Hanson having passed a satisfactory examination, &c., retired until the lodge was opened in the Second Degree, when he was again admitted and passed to the Degree of F.C. Several members of the lodge had travelled good distances to be present, which is a healthy sign of the spirit of Masonry.

LIVERPOOL.—Alliance Lodge (No. 667).—The monthly meeting of this well-conducted lodge was held on Tuesday evening, the 21st ult., at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool. The chair was occupied by Bro. J. E. Jackson, W.M., and he was supported by Bros. T. Ockleshaw, I.P.M.; G. S. Willings, S.W.; Ellis, J.W.; W. Doyle, P. Prov. G.J.D., P.M., Treas.; H. Frith, Sec.; W. Phillips, P.M.; and others. Messrs. Isaac Levy, Bushell, and Titterton were duly elected, and as they were in attendance they were initiated into the mysteries and privileges of the ancient Order by the W.M. in an effective manner, the ancient charge being given by the S.W., Bro. Willings, in a manner which has rarely been equalled. Two candidates were also raised to the Sublime degree of M.M. Notice of motion was given to raise the initiation fee to eight guineas. The brethren subsequently sat down to an excellent supper, under the presidency of the W.M., and during the evening a number of excellent songs were given by Bros. Willings, S.W.; S. Jacobs, 241; Wright, 667; and others.

GIBRALTAR.—Meridian Lodge (No. 743).—The installation of Bro. Lieut. W. T. Deverill, of the Meridian Lodge, took place on Wednesday evening, the 15th ult., in the presence of the Most Worshipful the D.D.G.M., Bro. Captain and Brigade Major G. J. Gilbard, who most ably performed the ceremony. The officers of the lodge present were Bros. W. Vines, W.M.; Major T. E. Swettenham, P.M.; F. Fisher, P.M.; Lieut. R. W. F. Phillips, S.W.; W. A. Barron, Sec.; J. Herbert, Treas.; Dr. T. Babington; Burton, Tyler; Rowe, S.D.; White, Hitching; Visitors: Bros. Beale, P.M. 325; Francis, P.M. 325; Myatt, 153; Collins, Quartermaster H. Wilkinson, 31st Regiment, Amor, 325; Stainfield, 325; Conway, 153; Ghio, 325; Nolan, 153; and Bro. Sir Arthur Mackworth Captain R.E., Lodge 238. The lodge having been opened, the W.M. stated the business of the evening, and Bro. Deverill having been presented, and all those not P.M.'s having been requested to withdraw, the installation was proceeded with, and the ceremony was very impressive and instructive, and the Craft are highly honoured by a very distinguished member in Bro. Gilbard. The W.M. then proceeded to invest his officers as follows:—Bros. T. Woodward, S.W.; H. Wilkinson (who was proposed and elected a joining member of the lodge), as J.W.; Barron, Sec. (for the fourth year); Herbert, Treasurer; Lieut. Newington, S.D.; Lieut. Phillips, J.D.; Rowe, Tyler; Fisher, P.M., as I.G. It was proposed by Bro. Major T. E. Swettenham that in addition to a cordial vote of thanks, Bro. Gilbard, the D.D.G.M., should be elected a permanent honorary member of the Meridian Lodge, which proposition was unanimously carried. The D.D.G.M. returned thanks for the honour conferred on him, and expressed himself always willing to come forward for the good of Masonry, and regretted that the Meridian Lodge was so soon to leave this station for England, and concluded by wishing the lodge every success and prosperity. A P.M.'s jewel was voted and will be presented to Bro. Vines so soon as it shall have been received, and a present was also voted to Bro. Burton, the retiring Tyler. The business of the evening being concluded, the brethren adjourned to an adjoining room, where an excellent repast was prepared, and having done ample justice there, the brethren retired at a very reasonable hour.

ECCLESHILL.—Eccleshill Lodge (No. 1034).—On Friday, the 10th ult. (the eleventh anniversary of this lodge), the brethren assembled to celebrate the festival of St. John the Evangelist. A large number of members and visiting brethren were present, amongst whom were Bros. Blakeley, P.M. Nelson of the Nile, 264; C. Avison, S.W. Nelson of the Nile, 264; W. H. Dick, J.D. Nelson of the Nile, 264; H. Farrar, W.M. Lodge of Hope, 302; C. Gott, S.W. Lodge of Hope, 302; F. C. Hope, Sec. Lodge of Hope, 302; J. Hamer, St. John's, Sedgfield, 325; G. Alsing, Caledonian (Scotland), 354; C. Crabtree, W.M. Harmony, 600; M. Mullen, J.W. Harmony, 600; S. B. Walmsley, P.M. Pentalpha, 974; W. Morgan, W.M. Shakespeare, 1018; H. Harrison, W.M. elect Shakespeare, 1018; W. Barraclough, W.M. Wharfedale, 1108; J. R. Croft, S.W. Wharfedale, 1108; C. Pratt, P.M., P. Prov. G. Supt. of Works; W. Bealand, P.M., P. Prov. G. Supt. of Works; J. G. Hutchinson, P.M., Charity Steward; and several other Past Masters. The lodge was opened by the W.M. (Bro. George Pearson) at 5.15 p.m., and Bro. Wm. B. Woodhead was raised to the Sublime Degree by the W.M., assisted by the I.P.M. (Bro. W. Pratt). The Treasurer (Bro. J. Procter, P.M.) presented the yearly balance sheet, which was received with great favour by the brethren, as it shewed the lodge to be in a most flourishing condition. The W.M. afterwards announced that the installation of the W.M. and officers for the ensuing year would be proceeded with, and called upon Bro. C. Pratt, P.M., P.P. G. Supt. of Works, to perform the ceremony. Bro. W. Bealand, P.M., P.P.G.S.W., then presented Bro. James Hartop (W.M. elect), and he was duly and properly installed W.M. in a most impressive manner by the Installing Master. The W.M. invested his officers as follows:—Bros. Pearson, I.P.M.; J. Arnold, S.W.; F. Smart, J.W.; Rev. A. L. Cooper, Chaplain; J. Procter, P.M., Treas.; F. W. Nicholson, Sec.; J. Wilson, S.D.; J. Cass, J.D.; M. Pedley, I.G.; W. T. Croft, Organist; J. Lightfoot, Tyler; J. G. Hutchinson, P.M., Charity Steward; J. Busfield, J. Southworth, R. Thomson, J. Flaxington, J. Busfield, Stewards; J. Davis, M.C. The business being completed, the usual collection for poor and distressed Masons was made, and the lodge was closed according to ancient usage at 8.20. The brethren then adjourned to a recherche banquet. After supper the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given. The chair was taken by the W.M., Bro. Jas. Hartop, and he was excellently supported by many P.M.'s and visiting Masters. The retiring W.M. (Bro. G. Pearson) spoke in most eulogistic terms of his officers, and thanked the brethren for the handsome manner in which he had been supported. He complimented the W.M. on the honourable position he had attained, and from the superior abilities he possessed and the excellent staff of officers chosen to assist him he was sure the present Masonic year would be one of great success. The W.M. in excellent terms returned thanks, and stated it was his intention to maintain the prestige of his lodge, and at the expiration of his term to leave it (if it was possible) in even better position than it stood at present. The visiting brethren all spoke in the highest praise of the splendid working they had witnessed, which they thought it would be difficult to excel by any lodge in the province. Bro. W. Bealand, P.M., P.P.G.S.W., in speaking of the charities and the efforts the Eccleshill Lodge had made to support them, stated that the lodge already stood very high in the province, having every officer endowed for the Boys' School, and he trusted ere long they would be in a similar position with respect to the Girls' School. The evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner, some capital songs, recitations, &c., being given by Bro. M. Mullen and other brethren, Bros. W. T. Croft, Organist, and J. W. Nicholson, Prov. Grand Organist, doing duty at the pianoforte. The entertainment was brought to a close by the usual toast: "To all Poor and Distressed Masons," &c.

HAMPTON.—Hamming Lodge (No. 1512).—The members of this young but flourishing lodge assembled in good strength at the Lion Hotel, on Thursday, the 16th ult. The officers of the lodge present were Bros. Hopwood, P.M. 141, W.M.; W. Hammond, P.M. Lebanon, P.J.G.D. of Middlesex, I.P.M.; Rowe, P.M., acting S.W.; Hurst, J.W.; J. Hammond, P.M., Sec.; Wheeler, S.D.; Fox, J.D.; Jessett, I.G.; Gutteridge, W.S.; Ockenden, D.C.; Tagg, A.W.S. The visitors were Bros. Colonel Wigginton, P.M., W.M. 1503, P.P.G.D.C. of Worcestershire, P.G.S. of Middlesex; Captain Birchill, P.M., P.P.G.S.B. of Herts; Dixon, P.M. 209, P.P.G.D.C. of Berks and Bucks; Wilson, P.M. 209; Martin, 201; Barton, 713; Robinson, 784; Hiscock, 865; Nuthall, 889; Sadler, 1293. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the W.M. initiated Messrs. Gavaron, Donald, and Day into Craft mysteries. This being the night for election of W.M. for the ensuing year, Bro. Hurst, J.W., was elected to that position, as the S.W., Bro. Hill, had declined standing for the honour. Bro. Rowe having resigned the office of Treasurer, the W.M. was unanimously elected in his stead, and a vote of thanks passed to Bro. Rowe, and which was ordered to be recorded upon the minutes. Upon the motion of the I.P.M. a Past Master's jewel was unanimously voted to Bro. Hopwood. The bye-laws having been read, the lodge was shortly afterwards closed, and the brethren adjourned to a collation. Upon the removal of the cloth the W.M. gave "The Queen and the Craft," which was duly honoured. In proposing "The Health of the M.W.G.M." the W.M., in the course of his remarks, referred to the great success that had attended the Prince throughout his late Indian tour, and how gratifying it must be to the Craft that, by the blessing of the G.A.O.T.U., H.R.H.'s health had not in the least been impaired by his visit. In conclusion he hoped that the Freemasons would take an opportunity of according their M.W.G.M. a grand reception upon his safe return to his native country equal to that given him on the ever memorable 28th of April last. This toast having been enthusiastically received, and Bro. Walls having contributed the National Anthem, and "God bless the Prince of Wales," the W.M. gave "The P.G.M., D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present." He then proposed "The Health of R.W. Colonel Burdett, G.M. of Middlesex," which was duly honoured. "The Health of the D.P.G.M. and the rest of the Grand Officers of the Province, Past and Present," followed, coupled with the names of Bros. W. Hammond, Grand Junior Deacon, and W. Wigginton,

Grand Steward. Bro. Hammond, in reply, stated that he was sorry that their R.W.P.G.M. had not been pleased to honour the lodge that evening with his presence, in order that he might have had an opportunity of witnessing the hearty manner in which his name and the officers of his province had been received. Colonel Burdett had written to say that he would be present, and he was sure some very important engagement indeed must have intervened to have prevented his attending their lodge, and he was sorry that his (Bro. Hammond's) position in Grand Lodge prevented him from replying on behalf of the R.W.P.G.M. He then went on to express his thanks on behalf of his brother officers and himself for the very kind manner in which the toast of the Grand Masonic executive of the province had been honoured, and in conclusion he stated that they (the Grand Officers) were only too proud to hold rank in the province that had as its chief so kind, genial, and affable a brother as Colonel Burdett. Bro. Colonel Wigginton, in opening his speech, said that as the J.G.D. of the Province had been diffident about replying upon behalf of the R.W.G.M., it could not be expected that he—who only held the office of G.S.—in the presence of his superior officer could say much. He then at length fully endorsed the remarks of the preceding speaker with regard to the abilities and worth of the brethren holding office in the Prov. Grand Lodge under the able sway of their ever courteous and much esteemed brother, Colonel Francis Burdett. The I.P.M. then arose, and said he was glad that the pleasing duty of proposing "The Health of the W.M." devolved upon him. He felt sure that the brethren would agree with him that Bro. Hopwood's year of office, which was now drawing to a close, had been a very prosperous and successful one, and he hoped that he would be many years spared to hold the position of second Past Master of the Hemming Lodge. In conclusion, he mentioned the W.M.'s connection with those excellent charities—the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, and the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. This toast having been duly honoured, the W.M. briefly replied, in which he stated that he was very pleased with the kind remarks of the I.P.M., but he was compelled to say that they were too eulogistic. He had endeavoured to do his best, and he believed that the members of the lodge were satisfied with him, and with that belief he should always look back to the year of his Mastership as being a very happy and pleasant episode of his life. "The Health of the Initiates" followed, and having been heartily drunk, Bro. Wigginton kindly contributed the song of the E.A. Bros. Gavaron, Donald, and Day having acknowledged the toast, the W.M. proposed "The Health of the Visitors." Bro. Col. Wigginton, in reply, said that on behalf of the two Grand Officers of Berks, Bucks, and Herts, viz., Bros. Dixon and Birchill, and the other brethren who had had an opportunity of visiting the Hemming Lodge that evening, he was empowered to state that their visit in every way had been highly pleasing to them. As P.M. of several lodges, and as W.M. of a neighbouring lodge, he had had opportunities of visiting different lodges, and he personally could say that the W.M. that evening, by taking the initiates separately, and being fully prepared to take the brethren for passing and raising had been present, that he had had by no means an easy time of it, and in conclusion he complimented him and the lodge upon the successful manner in which everything had been conducted. Bro. Sadler fully endorsed the remarks of the last speaker, and concluded by stating that if the Hemming Lodge went on in the same excellent manner as it had progressed during the last few months it would in a very short time be second to none in the Province of Middlesex. "The Health of the I.P.M." followed, and having been duly honoured, Bro. W. Hammond replied. He said in the course of his speech that he felt very proud of holding the position of First Past Master of so good a lodge as the Hemming promised to be. When he came to consider the very short time it had been established, not eighteen months, and the paucity of its members at the commencement of their Masonic campaign, he was absolutely astonished at the rapid progress made both in strength and efficiency. The concluding part of his response was occupied in expressing his thanks to the W.M. and the brethren for the hearty and kind manner in which his health had been proposed and drunk. The W.M. then called upon the brethren to drink "The Health of Bro. Hurst, J.W., the W.M. elect," which, having been complied with, that brother replied by thanking the brethren for having elected him to the chair of K.S., and hoped that they would have no occasion to regret having done so, and that with the assistance of the P.M.'s he hoped to be able to carry out the duties of the position to the satisfaction of the lodge. "The Health of the late Treasurer, Bro. Rawe, P.M.," and that of "The Secretary, Bro. J. Hammond, P.M.," followed, prefaced by a few kind words of commendation from the W.M., and having been duly honoured, the I.P.M., in their unavoidable absence, acknowledged the toast. In consequence of the lateness of the hour, the W.M. was prevented from enlarging upon the next toast, viz., "The Health of the Junior Officers of the Lodge," and Bros. Wheeler, Jessett, Gutteridge, Ockenden and Tagg, representing that body, were prevented by the same reason from more than briefly responding. During the evening Bros. Ockenden, Jessett, Hurst, and Walls dramatically and vocally enlivened the proceedings. The Tyler's toast at eleven brought a highly successful meeting to a close.

INSTRUCTION.

VICTORIA METROPOLITAN LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.—This popular lodge of instruction, which holds its meetings at the Portugal Hotel in Fleet-street, and has it should be said no connection but that of brotherly friendship with the Metropolitan Club of Instruction at King's-cross, held its annual banquet on Friday, 24th ult. There were present many of the Past Masters and W. Masters, who have sought and gained knowledge in the work of well ruling and government of lodges, as well as a great many of the aspiring Masons who are determined to obtain knowledge even if they have no practical need of it just at present. Bro. Stacey, the honoured Preceptor of the lodge, presided, assisted by Bros. P.M. Bingemann, the Secretary; Foulger, P.M., Treas.; R. Griggs, W.M. of 228; J. While, P.M. of 228 ("Freemason"); Hopper, of Shanghai; and others. Bros. Whittaker, Nelson Reed, and Farwig assisted by occupying the three Wardens' chairs. The banquet was exceedingly well served. After the active exertions of the brethren in dealing with the viands, Bro. Stacey proposed the usual loyal toasts, and spoke of the pride which every Mason felt in seeing statesmen filling positions which entailed great duties upon them. In speaking of the lodge, Bro. Stacey, in the course of an excellent speech, spoke of the flourishing position, and expressed the pleasure he felt at seeing those who had acquired most of their Masonic knowledge in its ranks achieving positions in different lodges. The toast was coupled with the name of Bro. Griggs, the W.M. of 228, who, in reply, bore witness to the self-sacrificing spirit displayed by Bros. Stacey and Bingemann, and those brothers had won the hearts of all with whom they had come into contact. Speaking from his own experience, he said he did not believe that there was a better lodge of instruction in London, or one in which the members generally possessed so much knowledge of lodge work. He had obtained the goal of his ambition in sitting in the chair of his mother lodge, and that he was able to discharge the duties to the satisfaction of his brethren was in some degree owing to the facility he had acquired in this lodge of instruction. Bro. Perrin, the W.M. elect of the Victoria Lodge, and Bro. Hopper, of Shanghai, responded for the visitors. Bro. Foulger proposed the toast of the W.M. of the night, and all did honour to Bro. Stacey, who responded in felicitous terms. "The Health of Bro. Bingemann" was given with warmth, and he, in responding, spoke of the pleasure it gave him to work in the lodge. The officers were toasted, and the evening ended with harmony, displaying no little talent as singers and story tellers. The lodge, it may be added, has done practical good by subscribing largely to the charities.

Royal Arch.

BATH.—Royal Cumberland Chapter (No. 41).—The monthly meeting was held on March 21st when owing to the illness of many of the members, and a heavy snowstorm, there was a very scanty attendance, and not till nearly an hour after the time fixed could the presence of three Principals be obtained. The chairs were filled by Dr. Hopkins as Z.; Rubie as H.; Moutrie as J.; Comp. Hearne was in his place as N.; and Brown as P. Soj.; also Bigwood as Janitor. The other officers were absent, and their positions occupied by substitutes. After the opening of the Board of Principals, and of the chapter, and the admission of the company, the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. A ballot was taken for Bro. Hunt as a candidate to be exalted at the next meeting, which was unanimous in his favour. A communication was read from the Royal Sussex Chapter, which had met on the previous evening, requesting co-operation in taking measures to obtain a provincial Grand Chapter in Somerset, but in the absence of most of the proper officers the consideration of it was deferred. As there was no other business on the paper of agenda, it had been arranged that the acting Z. should give instruction in the ceremony of exaltation, which was, however, prevented by the lateness of the hour, and the unfortunate circumstances of the evening.

LANCASTER.—Rowley Chapter (No. 1051).—The regular meeting of this chapter for the installation of the Principals and investiture of the officers for the ensuing year took place on Monday evening, the 20th ult. There were present the Installing Officer, Comp. Dr. Moore, P.G.S.B. of the Supreme Grand Chapter of England, &c.; Comps. E. Simpson, P.Z., Prov. G.S.B.; W. Hall, P.Z.; J. L. Whimpray, P.Z.; Edwd. Airey, H.; Wm. I'cald, J.; F. Dean, P.Z.; W. Wearing, N.; Wm. Hall, P.S.; J. Taylor and J. Ellershaw, Assist. Sojs.; H. Longman, J. J. Crookell, and others. After the chapter had been opened and companions admitted, the Principals elect were duly presented to the Installing Officer to receive the benefit of installation, and in Boards of Installed Principals in their several grades Comp. Airey was duly installed as M.E.Z.; Comp. Heald, as H.; and Comp. Dean, as J. After the Principals had been proclaimed and saluted, the following officers were presented and invested:—Comps. Dr. Moore, E.; W. Wearing, N.; W. Hall, P.S.; E. Simpson, Treas.; J. Taylor and Jas. Ellershaw, Assist. Sojs. A vote of thanks was awarded to Comp. Moore for his services as Installing Officer, and the chapter closed.

IPSWICH.—St. Luke's Chapter (No. 225).—The usual quarterly convocation of this chapter of Holy Royal Arch was held at the Coach and Horses Hotel, Ipswich, on Wednesday, the 22nd March, when there were present Comps. Emma Holmes, M.E.Z.; C. Byford, H.; J. Turner, J.; A. Barber, Scribe E.; Whitehead; George Abbot, Prin. Soj.; W. Daking, Dr. Mills, P.Z.; and others. The minutes of the last meeting having been read and confirmed, the ballot was taken for Comp. Daking, who was unanimously elected a joining member. This being the meeting for the election of officers for the ensuing year, the following were elected to fill those responsible positions:—C. Byford, as Z.; J. Turner, H.; Whitehead, J.; Geo. Abbot, Prin. Soj.; W. Daking, Scribe N.; H. Barber, Scribe E.; Syer, Janitor; Godball, Treas. The current business having been gone through, and another joining member proposed, the chapter was closed, and the companions assembled round the social board under the presidency of Comp. Mills, in the unavoidable absence of the M.E.Z., when the usual pleasant evening was spent by the brethren of this old chapter, who are always "happy to meet, sorry to part, and happy to meet again."

Mark Masonry.

DEVON.—Fortitude Lodge (No. 66).—A meeting of this lodge was held in the Hayshe Temple on Tuesday, 28th ult., at which Bro. Isaac Latimer was duly installed as W.M. for the ensuing year. The large number of thirty-one Past Masters were present. The ceremony was very ably performed by the retiring Master, Bro. C. Godtschalk. After the installation the W.M. duly appointed and invested his officers:—Bros. C. Godtschalk, I.P.M.; J. J. Avery, S.W.; W. Hearder, J.W.; S. Jew, Treas.; V. Bird, Chaplain; J. B. Gover, Sec.; W. B. Hambly, Reg. of Marks; Emery, M.O.; Ferry, S.O.; Crimp, J.O.; Hearle, I.G.

Scotland.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. John (No. 34).—A meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, 213, Buchanan-street, on Tuesday, 21st ult., at 7 p.m. The attendance of members and visitors was large. Bro. D. M. Nelson, W.M., presided, supported by Bros. W. Bell, I.P.M.; T. B. Bell, S.M.; J. Sellars, S.W.; P. Brownlie, J.W.; J. Dunn, Treas.; J. Dick, Sec.; and others. The lodge was opened, and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Bros. W. Lorimer, D. McDougall, W. Scott, R. Hutcheson, and J. A. Jardine were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason by Bro. McMillan, P.M. Messrs. H. Tennent and A. Murray were initiated by Bro. T. B. Bell, S.M. Amongst those present we noticed Bros. Johnston, O. Mother Kilwinning; R. Campbell, St. John, N.B., Canada, 22; Paterson, 27; W. Campbell, 56, I.C.; W. Crawford, 80; Cameron, 219; J. Rice, M.A. 225, Dublin; Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); Easton, W.M. 579; Wilson, D.M. 579; Henry, J.W. 581; Allan, Sec. 581; and others.

RENTON.—Leven St. John's Lodge (No. 170).—The annual festival of this lodge took place in the Black Bull Inn, Renton, on Friday evening, 17th ult., when about sixty sat down to supper, including a number of the fair sex, as well as deputations from Dumbarton Kilwinning (No. 18) and Alexandria (No. 321). The chair was occupied by Bro. David Paul, R.W.M., while Bro. Sinclair, S.W., ably discharged the duties of Croupier. After supper had been partaken of, the Chairman rose and said: "Twelve months have now come and gone since I had the honour and privilege of rising from the seat which I occupy tonight to address a few words to those who had assembled on that occasion. It is only, however, like yesterday since then; but how many important changes have taken place amongst us during that time? Some have spanned the blue sea, and are at this moment in a distant land; others are scattered here and there, while death has called some to go the road from whence no traveller ever returns. But, brethren, such is life; and while it is well for us to look back sometimes and take a lesson from the past, yet we must grapple with the present, and have faith and hope in the future. We are here to-night to throw away those cares and troubles which are apt to arise in our every day life, and to enjoy for a few hours those bright scenes of pleasure which good fellowship can alone inspire within us. And, brethren, I think we require a night such as this, with our lady friends to invigorate and strengthen us for further labour, because their presence is like the beaming stars shining in all their sparkling brilliancy in the midnight scene, and I hope that every brother present may say what our great national poet said on one occasion:—

"That the sweetest hour that ere he spent

Was spent among the lasses, O."

After congratulating the brethren on the continued prosperity of the lodge, he spoke on the aims and advantages of Masonry. Our institution, he said, like every other human institution, is not perfect, it has its failings, but it is characteristic of the human mind that they detect the failings, but overlook the virtues; and it may be said of our critics:

"They are to our virtues ever blind,

And to our failings ever kind."

The advantages of being connected with our Order are very great, besides the good fellowship and universal brotherhood we enjoy. It is surely a benefit to be connected with an institution whose universal language, and the great benefits it confers upon its members, gives it an influence and a power throughout the world which no institution of a similar nature can boast of. Masonry forms as it were an inner circle in society, under whose banner we can meet, away from the noise of the busy world, from business harassments, political excitement, religious contests, and the many other contentions which are going on around us at the present time; for here we can meet in peace and press the right hand of fellowship with a brother, and receive strength to pursue again the battle of life. But, brethren, we are told that the tree is known by its fruit, so the character of every institution is judged by those who are connected with it, and how they act. So, brethren, as Masons let us maintain its integrity by acting on the square of justice and keeping to the plumb line of rectitude in all our actions. Let us not imagine that Masonry is to be confined to the secret walls of a lodge, for while we maintain the secrets let us exhibit our principles in all our transactions with the world, and let our characters be adorned and cemented with its brightest jewels, namely, faith, hope, and charity; and by cultivating concord, friendship, and brotherly love we will best promote the spread and maintain the integrity of our Order. The Chairman then gave in succession "The Queen and the Craft," "The Three Grand Lodges," and "The Provincial Grand Lodge of Dumbartonshire, the latter toast being coupled with the name of Bro. Hodge, W.M. 18, who replied. The Croupier then gave "The Visiting Brethren," Bro. Paton, 18, replied. Bro. Stewart, W.M. of 321, proposed "Leven St. John's Lodge," expressing the great pleasure he had at being present, and was glad to hear that the lodge was in such a prosperous condition. He passed a high eulogium on the office-bearers the way they discharged their respective duties, coupling the toast with the name of the chairman, who replied. Bro. the Rev. D. H. Wilson then proposed "The Ladies" in a very amusing and interesting speech. Bro. D. Murray replied. The remaining toasts were:—"Mine Host," by Bro. McKay, of 321, replied by Bro. Murray; "The Chairman," by Bro. Allan, 18, and "The Croupier," by Bro. Lauder, 18. The proceedings were greatly enlivened by the excellent singing of Bros. D. Glen, Matheson, McCrimmon, Lawson, and Paton. An assembly followed. Bro. J. Matheson acted as Master of Ceremonies, Bro. Park's fine quadrille band supplying the music.

MAYBOLE.—Royal Arch Lodge (No. 198).—On Friday evening, 24th ult., within the King's Arms Hotel (Mr. Hunter's) upwards of forty couples sat down to supper on the occasion of Bro. J. Hamilton, P.M., being presented with a testimonial in recognition of his valued services as W.M. of the above lodge. Blessing being asked by Bro. Chapel, No. 11, supper was partaken of, and the following toasts followed from the Chairman, Bro. Jas. Nisbet, W.M., viz., "The Queen, Prince of Wales, and Royal Family," "Three Grand Lodges," "Provincial Grand Lodge of Ayrshire," coupled with the name of Col. Muir, Prov. G.M., to which Bro. Kennedy, of Lodge Mother Kilwinning, replied, after which Bro. J. Lambie, S.P.M., proposed the toast of the evening, "The Health of our Guest," which was cordially and enthusiastically received. Bro. J. Hamilton, P.M., was then presented with a valuable timepiece. Bro. Lambie in his remarks, alluded to the warmth every one had towards him in the lodge, for his kind manner and consistent walk as a good Mason. He had not only been appreciated by his own lodge, but by all the lodges that knew him. Amidst prolonged cheers he was wished long life and happiness. Bro. Hamilton, in a few but well-chosen sentences, replied. Songs and toasts followed. The whole proceedings were of a most pleasant nature. An assembly followed, which was kept up briskly till an early hour. The testimonial bore the following inscription:—Presented to Bro. James Hamilton, P.M., from the brethren of Royal Arch Lodge, No. 198, Maybole, as a token of esteem for his valuable services as W.M."

GLASGOW.—Lodge Commercial (No. 360).—One of the most brilliant, enjoyable, and in every way successful Masonic gatherings that have occurred in the West for some years was held in connection with this lodge on the 23rd ult., on the occasion of their being honoured with a visit from Bro. Henry Inglis, of Torsonce, Past Substitute Grand Master of Scotland, and present P.G. Master of the province of Peebles and Selkirkshire. The distinguished brother arrived at the lodge-room, No. 30, Hope-street, at nine o'clock, and was received with appropriate honours by the company of about seventy brethren assembled, and took his seat upon the dais at the chairman's right hand. Bro. John Monro, R.W.M. of the lodge, presided, supported on the dais by the following office-bearers of the P.G. Lodge of Glasgow: Bros. James Gillies, Treas.; A. Bain, B.B.; Jas. Balfour, Dir. of Ceremonies; J. Miller, Dir. of Music; David Reid, I.G.; and Geo. Sinclair, Treas. of the P.G. Benevolent Fund. In addition to the R.W.M. there were present of Lodge Commercial office-bearers, Bros. A. McKenzie and Julius Brode, Past Masters; D. Lamb, D.M.; W. Finlay, S.M.; J. M. Oliver, S.W.; Thomas Graham, J.W.; Geo. Scott, Treas.; John Smith, Sec.; Robert Reid, S.D.; and W. Keiller, J.D. Amongst the visitors were the following R.W. Masters of lodges: Bros. D. M. Nelson, St. John, 34; James Booth, Thistle, 87; D. Murray, Union and Crown, 103; R. Jack, St. John, Shettleston, 128; J. Peters, Royal Arch, Pollokshaws, 153; J. Singleton, Scotia, 178; W. M. G. Mason, Marie Stuart, 541; and W. J. Easton, St. Bryde, Uddingston, 579. Of other office-bearers among the visiting brethren were James Sellars, S.W., and P. Brownlie, J.W. 34; J. Forsyth, J.W. 103; J. Black, S.W., and T. Hart, J.W. 153; J. Harley, S.W.; and C. McKenzie, J.W. 354; J. Anderson, I.P.M., 370; J. Fraser, S.W. 541; Alex. Gow, S.M. 581; J. Henry, J.W. 581; W. Taylor, Treas. 581; W. Ferguson, P.M. ("Freemason"), and others. Bro. Inglis having taken his seat, the chairman said that, before calling the lodge from labour to refreshment, he was going to avail himself of his official prerogative in proposing him for affiliation as an honorary member of the lodge. Bro. Inglis's appearance there was to them indeed a bright one. They might not all be aware that he had claims upon their Masonic privileges which even preceded his more immediate ones. He was the son of one who held high and honourable positions in the Grand Lodge of Scotland before many of those present were born. Bro. Inglis himself had been so long connected with the Craft, and so zealous and earnest in all he had to do with it, as to make for himself a place in the annals of history, in which his name would be handed down when those present were no longer members of a lodge. To his (the chairman's) thinking, he was the foremost Mason in Scotland at the present day, and when he (the chairman) said that in bestowing the highest honour in their power upon Bro. Inglis they thereby conferred honour upon themselves, he was simply speaking the truth. Bro. Inglis then stepped in front of the altar and received honorary affiliation to the lodge at the hands of the W.M., Bro. Monro. Having returned to the dais he briefly returned thanks for the compliment. He said that what their R.W. Master had said concerning him the former doubtless believed to be true, but he (Bro. Inglis) said it was much too flattering. Their Master had said that in conferring affiliation they were doing honour to Lodge Commercial, [but he said—and he said it from all his heart—that the honour remained with the affiliated son of the lodge. It gave him great pleasure to be there that night and grasp their hands as brethren, and also thank them for the very great distinction bestowed upon him. The lodge thereafter adjourned from labour to refreshment. After the preliminary toasts that of "The Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow" was proposed by Bro. D. Lamb. It was coupled with the name of Bro. Geo. Sinclair, Treasurer of the P.G. Benevolent Fund, who, in replying, stated that the fund under his care had much increased. At that time last year they had in hand £570, their total income since had been £217 5s.; and, after deducting the disbursements, their gross capital was now £680 5s. 11d. "The Province of Peebles and Selkirk," coupled with the name of its R.W. Master, was proposed by the Chairman. He said he had had opportunities of witnessing the condition of matters in that province, and it was second to none in the kingdom. He could assure them that the style in which the lodges there did their work was an example. He had also had opportunities of observing the esteem he might almost say the veneration, in which the Master was held in the province, and he could assure them that, for once, the adage about a prophet having no honour in his own country was reversed. Distinguished as Bro. Inglis's career as a Mason had been, and eminent as had been his position in Grand Lodge, he (the chairman) trusted the day was not far distant when he would be in a more distinguished position still. If there was a brother who more than any other deserved to be raised to the throne it was Bro. Inglis; and he (the chairman) thought the Grand Lodge would not lose sight of his claims on its regard. Bro. Inglis, in replying to the toast, gave a highly humorous description of some of the Masonic features of his province. They in the south, he remarked, were few, but they were a very difficult lot. The brethren there talked enough about him in his absence, but when he went amongst them they were as quiet as lambs. He was very fond of them, and he believed they were very fond of him. The most riotous lot he had was Hawick. The very last time he was there he said to them—"I'll tell you what you are. The Empress of Russia said that if you scraped a Russian you would discover a Tartar; and I find that if I scrape a Hawick man I come upon a moss-trooper." I find you are all moss-troopers together, disguised as weavers; and if it is any comfort to you, I'm another. They were quite satisfied with this, and only asked me not to scratch them. In concluding, Bro. Inglis remarked that as to what the chairman had said of him personally, he thought he had been a little too high in his estimate. Still, there were very few older Masons than himself in Scotland, and he thought that in the various positions he had occupied in connection with the Craft he had endeavoured to do his duty. He served for seven years as Substitute Grand Master, and after that he thought it was time for him to retire. Should Grand Lodge choose to put him farther up—and they in the west formed no mean portion of Grand Lodge—his grateful thanks would be due to it. If they in the west chose to hang together they could do as they liked. If his brethren in Glasgow chose to think that he ought to occupy the throne they had only to go to Edinburgh and say so. The toast of "Lodge Commercial, No. 360," was given by Bro. D. M. Nelson, who, in commending it to the company, said that amongst all the lodges in Glasgow it stood pre-eminent, and that the W.M. was one of the best, if not best, working Masters they had at the present time. The Chairman, in responding to the toast, begged, in the name of the lodge, to thank all those visiting brethren who had come to meet them on that interesting occasion—including the worthy brother on his right hand, who was now one of themselves. On all such occasions as that they would be most warmly received. "Past Masters of the Lodge 360" was replied to by Bros. Julius Brode and A. McKenzie. Bro. Inglis proposed "The Lodges in the Province of Glasgow," coupled with "Lodge Plantation, No. 581," as being the junior. In the absence of the W.M. of the lodge, Bro. Alex. Gow, S.M., acknowledged the compliment in a few words, pleading the youth of the lodge as an excuse for not having much to say, and called upon Bro. D. M. Nelson, as Master of the oldest lodge in the province (St. John, 34), to supplement his remarks. In so doing the latter referred to the want hitherto of a proper reception hall for the Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow, a want, however, which was now likely to be supplied, the P.G. Master, Bro. W. M. Neilson, having acquired suitable premises in the neighbourhood of the new Public Halls for adapting to the purpose in question. He also stated that he had just received a note from the Lord Provost, informing him that Lord Henry Lennox would lay the memorial stone of the new Post Office building with Masonic honours, some time in May next. This attention on the part of the Lord Provost, Bro. Nelson remarked, showed that even in his civic capacity he took an interest in Masonry within the province. "Visiting Brethren" was given by Bro. Graham, J.W., and neatly replied to by Bro. W. J. Easton, W.M. 579. After one or two more toasts, Bro. Inglis begged to be allowed a single word before the closing of the lodge. In the course of a long experience of Masonic meetings, he said he had never met a better than that of that night, and for his own reception on the occasion he had to thank them from the bottom of his heart. The lodge was then recalled to labour, and closed in due form. We should add that the presence of a glee party, and of several skilled instrumentalists, materially enhanced the pleasure of a memorably agreeable evening.

HELENSBURGH.—Lodge St. George (No. 503).—A large number of the brethren of this lodge met in Roseneath Inn, (Bro. White's), on Wednesday evening, the 22nd ult. The chair was ably occupied by Commissioner Bro. Finlay Campbell. The principal feature of the evening's entertainment was in presenting Bro. James Marsland, I.P.M., with a handsome gold medallion, along with a purse of sovereigns, as also a beautiful gold ring for his good lady, as a mark of their appreciation of the worthy services rendered by Bro. Marsland to the lodge during the three years he occupied the chair of W.M. The brethren enjoyed a very pleasant and harmonious evening in toast, song, and sentiment.

MARYHILL.—Lodge Maryhill (No. 510).—A meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Hall 167, Main-street, Maryhill, on Wednesday evening, 22nd ult., Bro. J. McKay, W.M., in the chair, supported by Bros. H. Niven, P.M.; A. Neevy, D.M.; M. Carey, S.M.; D. McLachlan, S.W.; J. Kay, J.W.; W. Neil, Treas.; P. F. Craigie, Sec.; Hart, S.D.; Kirk, J.D.; Gibson, I.G.; and Brogan, Tyler. There being no work before the meeting the lodge was called to refreshment, and put under the care of Bro. Kay, J.W., when the Chairman proposed in succession the toasts of "The Queen and the Craft," "The Prince of Wales and Members of Royal Family," "The Three Grand Lodges," and "The Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow," which were enthusiastically responded to. The toast of "The Visiting Brethren" was replied to by Bro. Ferguson, P.M. ("Freemason"). "The Health of the W.M. and Past Masters" was duly proposed and acknowledged. Other toasts followed, and after spending a short time in song and sentiment the lodge was called to labour and closed.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Plantation (No. 581).—A meeting of this lodge was held on Monday evening, 20th ult., in the new Masonic Hall, Craigiehall-street, Plantation, Glasgow. Bro. T. Stobo, W.M., in the chair, D. Peacock, S.W.; J. Henry, J.W. Present: Bros. W. Ferguson, D.M.; A. Gow, S.M.; W. Taylor, Treas.; R. Allan, Sec.; Imrie, S.D.; Halley, J.D.; Dowell, J.S.; Henderson, B.B.; and Cumming, Tyler. The meeting was well attended there being deputations present from Nos. 0, 28, 87, 103, 114, 117, 178, 215, 309, 354, 360, 362, 408, 413, 419, 471 and 556. On the lodge being opened and the minutes of last meetings read and approved of, applications were read from Messrs. J. Lindsay, P. Stobo, A. Gow, and R. Falconer for admission into the Order, and on being favourably balloted for were admitted and initiated into the E.A. Degree by Bro. Ferguson, D.M. Bros. W. Taylor, A. Gow, J. Henry, R. Allan, and D. Peacock were awarded a vote of thanks, and the same to be inserted in the minutes, for having presented the lodge with working tools and other requisite articles. The brethren severally replied in suitable terms. Other business of minor importance was then proceeded with, when the lodge was closed.

CONSECRATION OF THE WANDERERS' LODGE No. 1604.

A lodge for the special convenience of military brethren travelling in different parts of the world, was consecrated on Tuesday last, at Freemasons' Hall by Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary, who was assisted on the occasion by the Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G.C., as Chaplain; Bro. H. G. Buss, Prov. Grand Treasurer, Middlesex, as S.W.; Bro. C. P. Cobham, W.M. 957, as J.W.; Bro. C. A. Cottebrune, P.G.P., as D.C.; Bro. Hopwood I.G.; and Bro. Cook, Organist. The object of the promoters and founders of the lodge is to grant the privileges of full membership to such brethren of the service as may be travelling with their regiments in different parts of Her Majesty's Dominions. The inconvenience of not belonging to such a lodge has long been felt by military brethren who are not members of those lodges which are attached to the different regiments. That this lodge will become a favourite with the service there can be very little doubt, as propositions were given in as early as the day of consecration for no less than six joining members and seven initiates. About seventy brethren attended the consecration, and these came from long distances expressly for the purpose. Some came from Portsmouth, some from Aldershot, some from Chatham, and some from Woolwich. Among them were the following:—Bros. George D. Roe, Sergt.-Major, R.E., 1424, P.P.G.S., South Wales; W. J. Parish, Gr.-Mr. Sergt., R.E., 1089; D. Evans, Gr.-Mr.-Corp.-Major, 1st Life Guards, 209; T. H. Meredith, 1257, P.M.; A. Wade, Armr. Sergt. 1st Life Guards, 1449, P.M.; W. H. Bird, Schoolmr., Grenr. Guards, 507; F. J. Wray, Regl. Clerk, Coldst. Guards, 1257; C. Fuller, Hospl. Steward, Coldst. Guards, 1257; A. Brookson, Sergt. Major, R.A., 1424; George Boulton, Commercial Traveller, 1424; E. G. Klefberg, Master Tailor, Coldst. Guards, 700; George Cox, Staff Sergeant, R.E., 184; John Guy, Gr.-Mr. Sergt. A. S. Corps, 141; George Morrison, Sergeant R.E., 184; J. W. Duncan, S. Bk. Sergt., Comm. Dept, 156; and R. J. Scott, R.E., War Office Clerk, 1424.

Bro. Geo. D. Roe was the W.M. designate; Bro. W. J. Parish, S.W. designate; and Bro. D. Evans, J.W. designate.

After the lodge had been formally opened in the three degrees, Grand Secretary addressed the brethren, stating with how much pleasure he consecrated that new military lodge, between which and regimental lodges—lodges moveable with regiments—he drew a distinction. After passing a very high eulogium on the way in which the military brethren as a rule performed all the duties and ceremonies of Freemasonry, he proceeded to say that he believed military lodges were worked even more correctly than the general run of lodges in the Craft, and in all respects they carried out the duties of Masonry in a markedly perfect manner.

When the time arrived for the delivery of the oration, Bro. Hervey called on Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, Rector of St. Clement Danes, to address the brethren.

Bro. Simpson then said,—W.M., Wardens, and brethren.—Our worthy and excellent Grand Secretary, who presides here to-day, has just stated that I will make a few observations to you before we proceed with the ceremony. I am glad that he used the word "observations," because what I shall now address to you will be in no sense what is commonly called in our technical language an oration. I purpose merely making a few plain observations, such as might be addressed to the sailors or the soldiers of our native country, and who, I believe, generally speaking, when they have to address themselves, address briefly and to the point. I will try, as far as I can, to follow their generally good example. Brethren, the assembly which is present here to-day, the many uniforms of various colours—"coats of many colours"—remind us at least of this, that communities of men must in this world be classed together and form so many different corps, with different interests, differing laws, different regulations, and different duties; but it is, perhaps, an occasion upon which more than any other we may see the moral of Freemasonry, whatever may be the external garb we wear, whatever the colour may be which the garb may bear, I trust that beneath every one of our garments is a uniform—I mean a uniform love of all that is good and noble and true, in which we, as brother Masons, can unite as one corps, and feel that the esprit de corps may never be lost. It has been handed down to us from ancient times; it is with us at present in full vigour, and by the blessing of God it shall continue till time shall be no more. I feel peculiar pleasure in being able to be present here to-day at the call of our excellent presiding Master, for not only am I pleased to be privileged to address you as a Past Grand Chaplain now growing old, but also because I feel a peculiar attachment to that body to which most of you belong. My first and earliest days were spent within three miles of Sunderland, where I saw many of the military stationed at that place, many, many noble fellows, privates, non-commissioned officers, and officers, I had the pleasure and privilege of calling friends, many who used to come out, on a summer day especially, to our parish church; and many of those brethren I remember with affection who now "sleep" on the hills of the Crimea. At Windsor, where I was curate for four years, I had an opportunity, too, of making acquaintance with many of our military brethren, and there I met with some as good, and true, and noble fellows as ever I met in the world. On these accounts, brethren, I feel a peculiar personal pleasure in addressing you to-day. And now, what are we met to-day to do? To Consecrate this lodge into a Freemasons' Lodge. And what is it? We are not operative Masons. We are not disposed to work as we saw in the public papers a few days ago in that noble band of engineers, who carry on operations which, in the language of a great statesman, seem to be likely to subdue the world. We are not those who attempt to conquer matter, but we do attempt to work by mind; and I venture, with all due deference to the great statesman, to join with the highest journal in the land in feeling that the work in mind is after all higher than the work in matter. The lodge that we are about to consecrate is an emblem of the present work we have to do, and is an emblem and a foreshadowing of that great building, of which, I trust, however wandering far and wide we may be, we may at last be found to be members. Whatever be the lines upon which we are now working, the lines we have to work upon, brethren, are the lines laid down by the Great Architect of the Universe for the purpose of building up a human edifice perfect in its parts and honourable to the Great Master Builder, however much that building may be in ruins, it is our great work now to restore it to somewhat of its original shape; and the man that works best at that high work, by truth, by honour, by temperance, by straightforwardness in all his dealings, and not least, by brotherly love to his fellowmen, and charity to all the world, that man doubtless will be among the master builders that will be paid their wages one day when they come to reckon with the Great Builder above. It is that work which we are called upon to do; and the man who does it, whether civilian or soldier, truthfully, honestly, cheerfully and as in sight of the All-seeing Eye, sure am I that he will not lose his reward, ay, even now. The respect which a man receives who thus is able to hold his head up, the respect in which he feels—which is a totally different feeling from self-conceit—the self-respect which that man feels, is of itself a great reward. And, Sir, I venture to say, without being invidious, or casting any slur upon civilians merely for the purpose of flattering or attempting to flatter our brethren of the army, I will repeat what I have ever held from my earliest days, that a high and noble soldier, noble in the highest sense of that exalted term, is one of the finest fellows on God's earth, for he is a man perhaps that has not to face "the cannon's mouth" with brute courage, but a man who has perhaps to go through more temptations than any man in the world; and therefore any man that comes out of that world of trial, a noble, a true, a good, and temperate man, depend upon it, Sir, is not only bound to receive but does receive our highest admiration. And when he joins our Masonic band there do I feel that he hears the two great key notes struck by our Grand Master at the Albert Hall, "Loyalty and Charity," here he finds an additional bond and additional inducement to act upon the high principles which I have ventured to throw out. Loyalty I need not speak of in the presence of soldiers. To them we look as the guardians of our liberties, of our homes, of our country; loyalty to the Sovereign, love to their country, and above all, obedience to their God, makes them to be in our sight true guardians of our highest liberties, and in that sense I have a very great, great veneration for the military order, and I am rejoiced to find so many within our noble society. Permit me, brethren, in conclusion, to mention a single point which I think it is very well for us all, not only soldiers but civilians, to have in mind, and it is this:—Freemasonry in beneficial, as we know, for many things; but probably Freemasonry can teach us very little that we know not already. It is an idea among many that Freemasonry, or even the highest forms of religion can teach us a great deal, and that we may wait and wait till we arrive at a perfect knowledge before we practise, or call upon ourselves to practise that which we learn. I venture to think that in this day and with the education that we have all received there is not a man of us in this room who needs to learn his duty—not one. We are not as our poor brethren in this very land 1800 years ago, we are not as the poor children of Adam scattered in many a land, ignorant of our duty—not at all. And therefore, I presume not to teach any man in this room his duty. But I do this, and Freemasonry does it a thousand times better; it reminds you and me of that which every one of us who can read his heart and has a knowledge of himself knows we need, it reminds us of the duties that we right well know we ought to perform; and it is that reminding, I look upon as a grand object of Freemasonry, we are perhaps in the presence of men who else rarely put themselves in the way of hearing these high truths; we are enabled in our beautiful and grand ceremonies to bring before them some of the highest truths of religion; and sure I am—I know it from the mouths of dying Masons, that they have received in Masonic lodges some of the most blessed reminders of their life. Hence, I look upon it that a regular attendance at our Masonic lodges, the putting ourselves in the way of being forced to hear these grand truths, the fact that we cannot avoid hearing them when we are within reach of them, is a great practical boon. I say this fact is a great blessing, and if we attend in our Masonic lodges, if we listen with attention to our beautiful ceremonies, and if we make a point of having in the chairs, as our officers men whose hearts, and whose minds are attuned to those beautiful ceremonies, and give them out in an impressive manner—I say it becomes a very great privilege to belong to a lodge of Freemasons, and all the more, not because the Master in the chair is a minister of religion, and doing a certain work which we may listen or may not listen to, as we like, and the acting up to which is more or less a restriction to us; but he is put there by ourselves, and by his mouth we interpret our duties. I trust that your lodge may long flourish under good Masters, with a succession of good Masters, as I have reason to believe the first will be on this occasion, that they will be supported by good and worthy officers, who will attend to their duties, and then as the wanderers come home they will go forth, and your voice will "go forth into all lands," and the Wanderers' Lodge will become a fold to which the sheep can ever return under good and true shepherds, and when they part to meet no more here they may meet in the Grand Lodge above, to which we are all hastening. Applause.)

The ceremony of consecration was then proceeded with, and at its conclusion Bro. Hervey installed Bro. G. D. Roe, 1424, P.P.G.S. West Division of South Wales, as W.M., and the following brethren were invested as the officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. T. H. Meredith, P.M. 1257, I.P.M.; W. J. Parish, 1089, S.W.; D. Evans, 209, J.W.; A. Wade, P.M., Treas.; R. J. Scott, Sec.; Goodson, S.D.; F. J. Wray, J.D.; George Boulton, I.G.; Geo. Cox and J. Fuller, Stewards; and Lackland, Tyler.

When the addresses had been delivered and the ceremonies of the day brought to a termination, Bro. J. Hervey was unanimously elected an honorary member of the lodge on the motion of Bro. Meredith, seconded by the S.W., and Bro. Hervey having acknowledged the compliment, the same honour was conferred on Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, on the motion of Bro. Meredith, seconded by the W.M. Thereafter six propositions for joining, and seven for initiation were given in, and the thanks of the lodge, to be recorded on the minutes, were voted to Bro. Hervey for consecrating the lodge, the motion being made by Bro. Meredith, and seconded by the W.M.

The excellent oration of Bro. Simpson drew another vote of thanks from the lodge, proposed by Bro. Meredith, and seconded by the S.W.

Bro. Meredith then proposed, and the J.W. seconded a vote of thanks to the other brethren who assisted in the consecration; and this having been unanimously adopted, the W.M. proposed, and the S.D. seconded a vote of thanks to Bro. Cooke, in reply, said that if his music had added anything to the solemnity of the beautiful ritual he was happy to have been the medium through which that addition had been made. A vote of thanks was also passed to those brethren who had visited the lodge on this first night of its meeting, Bro. Guy stating that some brethren had come all the way from Portsmouth to be present. The brother from Hiram Lodge who replied, said that it had given the brethren great pleasure to be present, and as to its being considered a long journey from Portsmouth to undertake for the purpose of seeing the consecration of this lodge, so thoroughly did those brethren feel the importance of this lodge that if the distance had been ten times as far they would have come. There were, however, some, who from military and other engagements had been prevented from attending. This concluded the business of the evening, and the brethren then closed the lodge and adjourned to Freemasons' Tavern, where after banquet the toasts usual on consecration nights were proposed and honoured.

Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson in returning thanks for "Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers," said that from what he had seen of Lord Skelmersdale, although he had not long been acting in his high position would prove an admirable ruler in the Craft, and by his personal worth as well as by attention to his duties the admiration and respect of Freemasons. For the brethren on his right and left (Bros. Hervey and Cotterburne) he need say nothing, as they were well known, and their works were appreciated; but for them as well as himself he might say that they returned thanks for the very kind way in which their health had been proposed and received, and for the hospitable way in which they had been treated. He would not for a moment attempt to trespass further on the attention of the brethren, seeing that he had already occupied a good deal of their time in lodge; but he might inform the brethren that he esteemed it a true pleasure and a great privilege to have had the happiness of being present at the consecration of this military lodge. He recognised among the brethren some old faces which had come back to his memory, and which he had been rejoiced to meet that day, even though they might be in new places. He trusted that bye-and-bye he might be received again as one of the Wanderers', but at the same time as one who would be at all times pleased to place his humble services at the disposal of the lodge. He wished all prosperity and happiness to the lodge, and he trusted that in future years it might prove the happy home for many an absent Mason to return to in his native land, and even if he found those whom he had loved in his own home gone he might be received with open arms by his brother Masons.

Bro. John Hervey in proposing "Success to the Wanderers' Lodge," said it was not a toast which he thought the brethren would say was not worthy of being mentioned on that occasion. He was satisfied the brethren would all feel that the lodge had entered on its career under very auspicious circumstances; auspicious, he might say, because it had a vast number of propositions both of candidates for initiation and candidates for joining the lodge. Under ordinary circumstances probably that might be a source of congratulation; but on that occasion he thought it was such a source because there was the outside world (the candidates for initiation being the outside world) coming forward to support them; and they would not have allowed their names to be put forward unless they had some degree of confidence in the members and sympathy with their objects; and the candidates for joining would not have wished to enter themselves as joining members unless they had felt they could enter a society which was congenial with their feelings, and which would be to them a happy and comfortable Masonic lodge. So much for the auspices of the lodge; and he thought he might congratulate the brethren still further, inasmuch as the W.M. had shown that evening first of all on his advent to the chair that he was capable of fulfilling its duties, that he knew how to govern the lodge, and by the way in which he invested his officers that he knew the ritual. All these performances of the W.M. proved that he was capable during his year of office of conducting the business of the lodge with ability, and of setting a good example to the members. If the work of a lodge was well done the candidate was well impressed with the society which he entered, and the principles of that society. If the work were badly done, then he went away dissatisfied, and he so expressed himself—that he thought Masonry a thing of real importance, but found it was nothing of the sort; that he had found a Master in the chair who stumbled in delivering the ritual, and could not perform the ceremonies he professed to perform; therefore he would not go near the lodge again or have anything to do with it. This was no imaginary state of things, but was really the feeling of candidates when they found a Master who could not perform the ceremonies. With respect to the W.M. whom they had seen in the chair that evening, he had shown that he knew his duty, and that he would perform it with credit to himself, and would conduct the lodge into a safe heaven. When it came to his turn, as come it would, to resign the chair, he would leave it with the approbation of the brethren, and yield it to his successor with an example to follow in his footsteps. He concluded by proposing "Success to the Wanderers' Lodge and the Health of the W.M."

The W.M., in reply, said he had often had occasion to regret his want of the power of speech to express his thoughts, but he did not know that he ever felt that want more than he did at that moment. He should have considered that the installation of the W.M. under ordinary circumstances was as great a distinction as any human being could be expected to attain to; but when he found himself occupying the chair of K.S. as the first W.M. of the Wanderers' Lodge he asked himself what he had done to deserve such a distinction among his fellows. He hoped, however, that he would be enabled, if the G.A.O.T.U. granted him health and strength, to discharge the duties of his high office with satisfaction to the lodge, with credit to himself, and with honour to the Craft. He hoped they would all be enabled to act up to one of their Masonic teachings by contributing their quota to the Masonic charities. He trusted that their working would be well and faithfully performed. It must be borne in mind that though they were a military lodge they were yet a metropolitan lodge, and though for a time they could not hope to compete with the Metropolitan Lodges in supporting the charities, they would do their best to do so. It was cheering to know that the noble Order had been undergoing a process of purification and reformation, and it was satisfactory to him to feel that as Master of a lodge he was connected by such close ties with institutions which provided a common platform on which politicians and others of every state of opinion might meet on the level and part on the square of friendship. Actions spoke louder than words, and he only hoped at the expiration of the present twelvemonths the brethren would give him as hearty a reception as they had that evening given him. From the well-known perseverance, and if he might be allowed to use the word, "pluck," of military men, he had no doubt they would give that attention to the duties of the lodge as would give it a gratifying measure of progress and prosperity.

The W.M. afterwards gave "The Health of the Consecrating Officers," to which Bro. John Hervey responded.

The S.W. proposed "The Visitors," to which Bro. Powell replied, and the S.W. having responded for "The Officers,

Bro. Meredith proposed "The Charities."

Bro. Cottebrune responded, and Bros. H. G. Buss and C. B. Cobham acknowledged the vote of thanks which had been passed in lodge to the brethren who assisted at the consecration.

The Tyler's toast having been given, the brethren separated, after spending a delightful evening.

The following is a list of the brethren present:—Bros. John Hervey, Grand Secretary; Rev. R. J. Simpson, M.A., Provincial Grand Chaplain; H. G. Buss, Provincial Grand Treasurer, Middlesex; C. A. Cottebrune, P.G.P.; Rev. R. J. Halpin, M.A., 167, Chahlain to the Porres, London; G. D. Roe, Prov. P.G. Steward, W.D.S. Wales, 1424; W. J. Parish, 1089; D. Evans, 209; T. H. Meredith, P.M. 1257; A. Wade, P.M. 1449; W. H. Bird, 507; F. J. Wray, 1257; C. Fuller, 1257; A. Brookson, 1424; G. Boulton, 1424; E. G. Klefberg, 700; G. Cox, 184; J. Guy, 141; G. Morrison, 184; J. W. Duncan, 156; R. J. Scott, 1424; J. Lackland, 1536; W. Symmons, W.M. 1424; W. Cottrell, J.W. 1424; F. G. Pownall, W.M. 1536; R. White, P.M. 1331; H. Massey, P.M. 619 ("Freemason"); C. Cook, 13, 700; Thomas White, 570; C. B. Cobham, W. Master 957; C. B. Payne, P.M. 27; R. J. Robinson, 1536; T. Newman, 322; J. Reith, 246; J. W. Young, 1536; A. Mc Kenzie, 1331; J. C. Phillips, 1424; W. M. Farran, P.M. 215; G. H. Heywood, 145; Capt. W. H. Coles, P.M. 20; J. H. Armstrong, 10; W. W. Turner, S.W. 1449; E. Duttan, 765; T. B. Russell, 1258; F. A. Stammers, 1436; J. Lewis, P.M. 1424; A. J. Barron, 1525; F. C. Quint, 1414; E. T. Onn, 1414; C. H. Stocks, 1424; J. Pearcey, 1424; C. W. Gates, 1424; J. Organ, 1424; H. P. Davis, 1424; W. Jordan, 1536; J. W. Martin, 141; R. Croisdale, P.M. 706; G. Mew, 523; J. M. Tully, 202; H. Carlin, 1536; T. H. Hambling, 700, 1536; J. Warren, 700, 1536; T. Cooper, 1536; C. Morton, 700; B. Plaisted, 913; H. Jones, 804; E. Hopwood, P.M. 141; H. Howding, 143; H. Smith, P.M. 1460; H. Kimble, 1360; H. Langshaw, 1424; W. Fenn, 141; H. F. Masters, 145; E. Cole, 1257; T. Watts, 1424; H. Haycock, 1348; G. Smith, 1536; H. White, 1257.

Reviews.

"BENGAL FREEMASONS' DIARY" for 1876, Calcutta. Black & Co.

We have received and been much struck with this well printed and useful publication, for which we are much obliged, and which we can most conscientiously commend. It is well got up, admirably arranged, full of most useful Masonic and secular information, and we sincerely trust will receive the support and patronage which it so well deserves. We feel bound to say, that a more useful and well compiled diary we have seldom seen. It is a great credit to its publishers.

"A GUIDE TO HOUSE FURNISHING," by Oetzmann & Co. We do not generally review "trade circulars," but this large work of over 300 pages seems to make itself an "exception" to our "rule." It is very well arranged and effectively illustrated, and certainly gives a great deal of important information for that great class of our people, for that immense section of society which is always "furnishing."

Confiding Thomas and beaming Alice are meaning to "set up shop" together, and so they want to furnish "Dove Cottage." And here, in their doubts and dilemma, Oetzmann & Co. obligingly come to the rescue, give them the minutiae of furnishing detail, the price of every article, from a baby's "crib" down to a "perambulator," from a "warning pan" down to a "tea kettle." We have, we confess, passed over the pages with astonishment, interest, and pleasure, and if it should so chance that any "angelic being" would consent "pour tou potage," live on our own great merits, and nothing a year, (we say nothing of love in cottage, or all the happiness of the connubial state), we should not at all object to give Messrs. Oetzmann an order, and have no doubt that both our better half and ourselves would be much pleased and fully satisfied with what we got for our ready money. If any unfortunate brother of ours is so rash as to be thinking of matrimony and furnishing at the same time, we can cordially advise him to study Messrs. Oetzmann's "Guide," and we feel convinced that his own adored Emily Jane will, with the artless interest of women, gladly aid his selection, not only of articles of "bigotry and virtue," but of all that is needful and becoming for a model household, or a young married couple. Can we say anything more in favour of so reasonable and so useful a book?

THE ADVERTISERS' MANUAL. 73, FLEET-STREET, LONDON. Is a very useful work, indeed, for that large "circle" of advertisers who either wish their wants made known to others, or have some little commodity or other to dispose of to a confiding and discerning public. We recommend it very cordially to the notice of our readers.

"The Monde Maçonnique," Paris, for March, has reached us, and is full of most interesting matter.

"REVISTA INTERNAZIONALE," is a new review, published at Florence, which has reached its second number, and seems very able written indeed, and contains several interesting articles.

"TEN YEARS' RETROSPECT," by R. H. Baynes; Henry King and Co., is an able and well written sermon, mainly ad hominem et ad Congregationem necessarily, it yet can be pursued by all with improvement and edification. We thank our rev. brother for sending it to us. W.F.A.

FREEMASONRY IN FRANCE.

The Grand Orient of France inaugurated on the 29th January this year, in its own halls, a course of instruction in the English language. Five hundred persons assisted at the solemnity. The re-union was presided over by Bro.

Armand, who was assisted by Bros. Caubet and Seinguerlet. Bro. Armand clearly explained the object of the Grand Orient. To a course of instruction in the German language, of which the success had surpassed all hopes French Freemasonry now added a course of instruction in the English language. The Council of the Order hoped to be able yet to augment year by year the number of these useful efforts. The success so far obtained guaranteed their prosperity. Bro. Seinguerlet, in an improvised address, pointed out ably, if shortly, the importance of the study of living languages. The courses of instruction thus created by the Grand Orient are gratuitous and open to all the world. More than 500 persons have already asked and obtained admission to the course.

NOUVELLES ETRANGERES.

(From the "Monde Maçonnique.")

ANGLETERRE.—On sait que les Maçons anglais sont des gens fort sérieux. Cependant il en est quelques-uns qui aiment la plaisanterie. En voici un, par exemple, qui a calculé que le Temple de Salomon a coûté exactement 943 millions de livres sterling! C'est le même qui possède une charte Maçonnique chinoise, qui remonte à une antiquité fabuleuse. Malheureusement, les emblèmes qui decorent ce document sont ceux des grades de Royale Arche, qui sont loin d'être préhistoriques. Un autre a decouvert que c'est en 257 que Saint Alban a formé la première Grand Lodge D'Angleterre, et qui le Roi Athelstane a accordé une charte au Francmaçon en 925.

Il ne faudrait croire d'après cela que tous les Maçons anglais traitent l'histoire Maçonnique avec le même sans gêne. Bien au contraire:—nulle part, il se trouve une phalange aussi considerable d'hommes qui se soient imposé la tâche ardue de debrouiller partiellement le chaos de notre passé. Il suffit de citer les noms des Freres Woodford, Hughan, Buchan, Murray Lyon, parmi tant d'autres pour montrer ce que la Maçonnerie doit aux Maçons anglais.

(TRANSLATION) FOREIGN NEWS.

ENGLAND.—It is well known that English Masons are very serious persons. However, amongst them there are some who are rather fond of pleasantry. Here is one, for instance, who computed that the cost of Solomon's Temple exactly amounted to 943 millions of pounds sterling; and the same has in his possession a Chinese Masonic charter emanating from a fabulous antiquity. Unfortunately the emblems decorating this document are emblems of the degree of Royal Arch, which are far from being prehistoric. Another discovered that St. Alban formed "the first Grand Lodge of England, and that King Athelstane granted a charter to Freemasons in 926."

Wherefrom we should not conclude that all English Masons treat the history of Masonry with the same recklessness; on the contrary, nowhere can be found such a considerable phalanx of men who voluntarily have undertaken the difficult task of disentangling the chaos of our past. Suffice it to mention the names of Bros. Woodford, Hughan, Buchan, Murray Lyon from amongst many others to show what Freemasonry owes to English Masons.

Masonic and General Tidings.

ARCHÆOLOGICAL.—We are very glad to announce that Bro. S. B. Ellis, Scribe E. of the Chapter of Paradise, Sheffield, 139, is about to publish in the Masonic Magazine for May, extracts from the old minute books of the chapter, beginning in 1783. We shall recur to the subject in our next.

Bro. the Right Hon. G. Ward Hunt, M.P., has signified to Bro. Professor Kelley Miller, W.M. of the Royal Naval College Lodge, 1595, that he will have much pleasure in becoming an Honorary Member of the Lodge. Bro. Ward Hunt, as First Lord of the Admiralty, is Governor of the College.

The officers of the 4th Dragoon Guards gave a grand ball on Wednesday, at the Exhibition Palace, Dublin. The Lord-Lieutenant and Lady Georgina Hamilton were present, and the list of guests—about 500—included nearly all the officers of the garrison, and a great number of the nobility. The entertainment was on a splendid scale, and fittingly closed the festivities inaugurated by the Viceroyal ball.

At a complimentary supper, strictly confined to brethren of the Craft, given at the Spread Eagle Hotel, Gloucester, on Tuesday last, which was presided over by Bro. Henry Jeffs, Past Master of Lodge No. 493, and Past Provincial Grand Junior Warden of Gloucestershire, Bro. Alderman Murrell, being in the vice chair, a handsome and elaborately worked gold jewel, of the value of eleven guineas, was presented to Bro. Councillor Roberts, Past Master of Lodge No. 1005 which bears the following inscription:—Presented by brethren of the Royal Lebanon Lodge to Past Master F. G. Roberts, in remembrance of past services as their Treasurer. Henry Jeffs, P.M., March 21st 1876.

The installation meeting of Adam's Lodge, 158, Sheerness, took place yesterday (Friday). A full report will appear in our next.

The Fifteen Sections will be worked at the Leopold Lodge of Instruction, Woolpack Tavern, Bermondsey-street, on Monday next at seven o'clock by Bro. C. W. Kent.

Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., Grand Master for West Yorkshire, will be the Chairman for the coming festival of the Girls' School.

We understand Bro. Edgar Anderson has the management of the "Surrey Masonic Hall Dramatic Company," and that he, with Bro. Clarke, invites brethren to join, it being confined to the Craft. Bro. Danvers will appear on the first evening, of which due notice will be given.

The death of Sir Cordy Burrows has evoked general expressions of sympathy, and the Mayor of Brighton has issued an advertisement relative to the public arrangements of the funeral. The local press is unanimous in declaring that Sir Cordy's death is an almost irreparable municipal loss.

His Grace the Lord Lieut. and the Duchess of Abercorn have arrived at the family mansion, Barons-court, Newtownstewart, county Tyrone, for a brief sojourn.

The foundation stone of the new building to be erected in Charterhouse-street, for the Fox and Knot Schools and Missions, was laid on Tuesday, by Bro. J. D. Allcroft, Treasurer of Christ's Hospital.

PRESENTATION.—On Saturday a few personal friends of Bro. John Corke (Corke, Abbott, and Co., Milton-street), took the opportunity afforded by his fiftieth birthday to present to him a massive silver epergne, as a mark of their high esteem. On Monday a number of the employés of the firm presented to him a handsome time-piece, the presentation being made by Mr. G. Redding, on behalf of the men. After each presentation, the persons concerned in it were entertained to dinner by Bro. Corke, at his residence, Herne Hill.

Bro. Sir John Bennett presided at a numerously attended Spelling Bee at the Tottenham Public Library and Reading Room, the profits being for the benefit of the institution.

The churchwardens of St. Dunstan's-in-the West, (Bros. Dwarber and Wellsman) give notice that several sums of money are at the disposal of the vestry to apprentice the sons of poor Freemen.

It has been assumed that Lord Derby, who is to receive Her Majesty at Baden, will be absent from London until after Easter. We believe that this statement is erroneous; that the Foreign Secretary is to return to London in ten days; and that he will be succeeded in his duties abroad by Lord Carnarvon.

We understand that the memorial stone of the New Post Office Buildings in Glasgow will be laid with Masonic honours by Lord Henry Lennox early next month.

SCOTTISH FREEMASONRY.—The "Evening Standard" of Thursday states that Lord Ramsay was installed Provincial Grand Master for Forfarshire, in the Reid Hall, Forfar, on Wednesday.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

The General Committee of this Institution met on Thursday afternoon at Freemasons' Hall, Bro. A. H. Tattershall in the chair. There were likewise present Bros. H. A. Dubois, Geo. Kenning, Thomas W. White, Dudley Rolls, W. Stephens, H. Browne, Griffiths Smith, W. Paas, John Boyd, S. Rawson, H. Venn, H. Massey ("Freemason"), Robt. B. Webster, Dr. Ramsay, John Symonds, Col. Peters, Richard Spencer, and R. Wentworth Little (Secretary).

After reading and confirmation of the minutes, one little girl was passed for placing on the list for election.

The following notices of motion for next Quarterly Court were then read by Bro. Little.

Notice of motion by Dr. Ramsay:—That every three years the four senior members of the House Committee retire, but shall be eligible for re-election; and the four who have been least frequent in attendance shall retire annually and be ineligible for re-election for a period of 12 months.

Notice of motion by Bro. Raynham W. Stewart:—That in the event of the Special Committee appointed by the Quarterly Court of the 11th December, 1875, presenting their report recommending that a further sum shall be expended in enlarging the present school or building on the present site at Battersea, he will move as an amendment to the report that it is inexpedient that any further sum of money should be laid out in enlarging the present schools or otherwise, and that in view of its being necessary to remove the school an eligible site should be sought for and purchased so as to meet the wants of the Craft.

Notice of motion by Bro. Robt. Kenyon:—That a committee of five Governors, Lieut.-Col. Creaton, Lieut.-Col. Burdett, Dudley Rolls, Dr. Ramsay, and Robt. Kenyon, be and are hereby appointed to inspect certain freehold lands at Sunninghill, Claremont, Banstead, and elsewhere with a view to the selected site being purchased and ultimately applied for the purpose of erecting fit and commodious schools, &c., thereon, so as to provide the necessary accommodation for a larger additional number of children.

Notice of motion by Bro. John Boyd:—That ten additional children be elected at the forthcoming election in April next, thus increasing the number in the school to 162.

Notice of motion by Bro. H. A. Dubois:—That the recommendation of the Special Committee appointed by the last Special Court of 11th December, 1875, be brought up and submitted for adoption.

Bro. S. Rawson moved, and Bro. John Symonds seconded, That the report of the Special Committee be printed and circulated among the subscribers, and his motion having been carried,

Bro. Symonds said that he should on the day of election move that the consideration of the report be adjourned to a day to be fixed, and at the close of the election at the Quarterly Court that it do adjourn, the day and hour to be appointed in order that the report might then be considered. He did not give a formal notice of motion to this effect, but merely mentioned it to the committee.

The committee then adjourned.

HEALTH, comfort, and economy promoted. Gas superseded in day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors, Manufactory, 60, Fleet-street, London.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/-

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS

are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

NOTICE.—It is very necessary for our friends to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to

GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

NOW READY.

VOLUME 8 OF THE "FREEMASON,"

from January to December, 1875, bound in cloth, with richly embossed device on cover. Price 15 shillings. This volume forms a first class reference and chronology of the leading events in Masonry during the past year. It may be had through any bookseller, or at the office, 198, Fleet-st., London.

NOW READY.

Reading Covers, to take 52 numbers of the "Freemason," price 2/6, may be had at the office, 198, Fleet-street.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

YOUNG COMP.—We believe on the left.

BOOKS RECEIVED.

"Bengal Freemasons' Diary" for 1876; "Shipping Legislation;" "The Advertiser's Manual;" "A guide to Furnishing," by Oetzmann & Co.; "Ricordo della Festa dell Ordine Della R. Log. Areopago e Cap. anziani Virtuosi all Or. de Livorno," Firenze, 1876; "Le Monde Maçonique;" "Ten Years' Retrospect," by Bro. Rev. R. H. Baynes, P.P.G.C. Warwickshire, and P.M. 254; "Revista Internazionale," Firenze, 1876.

The following communications stand over:—P.G. Mark Lodge, Leicestershire; Chislehurst Lodge, 1531; Valparaiso Lodge of Harmony, 1411; St. Mark's Lodge, 857; Masonic Ball at Liverpool.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d. for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTH.

HARDCASTLE.—Wife of Mr. Edward, M.P., of a daughter, at Elvaston-place, Queen's-gate, March 26.

MARRIAGES.

ROBINS-BUTTERFIELD.—On the 25th ult., at St. George's, Hanover-square, Francis, son of C. T. Robins, of Buckhurst-hill, Essex, to Fanny Maria, daughter of the late F. Butterfield.

STOVEL-SAXBY.—On 21st ult., at Faversham Church, Ebenezer Stovel, of New York, to Harriet, only daughter of W. Saxby, Esq., of Faversham.

DEATHS.

BURROWS.—On the 25th ult., at Brighton, Bro. Sir John Cordy Burrows, aged 62.

SCIVIER, Mrs. (for many years matron of the Cancer Hospital), aged 64, March 23.

HALL, Mr. Thomas J., late Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, at Leamington-road-villas, Paddington, aged 87, March 20.

VIGNE.—On the 26th inst., at Pembroke-place, Bayswater, Caroline, widow of A. Vigne, Esq.

REYNOLDS.—On the 27th inst., at his residence, 81, Caversham road, N.W., Thomas (Tom) Reynolds, second son of William Reynolds, of Dartmouth House, Dartmouth Park Hill, N., and Charterhouse-street, E.C., aged 34.

FORREST.—At Killigrew-street, Falmouth, on the 18th ult., Charles, fifth son of the late Mr. Thomas Forrest, aged 16 years.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, APRIL 1, 1876.

THE RETURN OF OUR ROYAL GRAND MASTER.

Baron Reuter announces in the "Times" of Monday that the Serapis, that His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, arrived at Suez on Saturday morning at 8 o'clock, and that he left Cairo at a quarter to 1 the same afternoon, accompanied by M. de Lesseps, Zaki Pasha, Casim Pasha, and Chereef Pasha. Our Royal Grand Master arrived at Cairo at 6.40 a.m. on the 26th, and was received by the Khedive, the Crown Prince, Mohamed Tewfik, the Prince Hussein Kamil Pasha. The Grand Duke Alexis of Russia was likewise present. A guard of honour was drawn up in line, and a military band played "God save the Queen" as the Royal train entered the station. The Khedive conducted the Prince to the Ghezireh Palace, which has been assigned to His Royal Highness and the members of his suite as a residence while in his capital. The "Times" special correspondent telegraphs from Cairo on the 26th ult. as follows:—From the departure from Aden, at 1.15 on Monday morning, the 20th, until the arrival at Suez on Saturday, at 8 a.m., the weather was favourable for the voyage of the Serapis, accompanied by the Raleigh and Osborne. The sea was quiet and smooth, the thermometer standing at 80. No incidents worth recording occurred during the voyage. The cement of the hull of the Serapis was covered by an accumulation of barnacles, which prevented a high rate of speed being attained. On anchoring in Suez Roads the Egyptian men-of-war saluted the squadron. Lord and Lady Lytton, Colonel and Mrs. Burne, Chereef Pasha, Mustafa Pasha, General Stanton, Mr. Gordon, M. de Lesseps, Captain Willoughby, Mrs. West, and others were received on board the Serapis by the Prince of Wales at breakfast. Lord Lytton had a long conversation with His Royal Highness, and accompanied the Prince to the station, where he took a cordial farewell. A special train conveyed the Prince to Cairo, where the Khedive and the Princes, the Grand Duke Alexis of Russia and suite, and many distinguished persons awaited his arrival. At 6 o'clock p.m. the Prince drove to the Ghezireh Palace with the Khedive and a grand Guard of Honour. The Khedive there took leave of the Prince, who entertained the Grand Duke Alexis at dinner, and went to the Opera in the evening. Cairo is very full. The Prince visited the Khedive, with some of the suite, privately, and had a long conversation with him. Sir Bartle Frere had interviews with the Khedive after the visit of the Prince, and also with General Stanton and Mr. Rivers Wilson. Lord Alfred Paget left for Italy this morning. The Prince dined with the Grand Duke Alexis at the Viceroy's Palace of El Noussa this evening. The Prince leaves for Malta on Saturday evening. The Grand Duke accompanies him in a Russian frigate.

THE PLANS FOR THE ENLARGEMENT OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

We have abstained from alluding to the various proposals put forward because we are inclined to think, on the whole, that such matters are best left to the proper authorities, and because we have often seen the evil of outside pressure in favour of some special scheme, which enlists in its favour what the Americans term the "lobby." We have previously said that we trust in all the proposed alterations the interest of the school and the welfare of the Craft will mainly, nay, solely, be considered, and that, we venture to deem, should be the great aim of the Subcommittee's recommendation, and of the General Committee and the Quarterly Court's approval. Any questions of personal consideration or of personal interest ought at once to be suppressed, alike for the sake of our orphans and in deference to our generous Craft, whose gifts are prompted solely by a wish to befriend the forlorn children of our brethren, and to advance the great and good cause of Masonic benevolence! Two proposals seem mainly to commend themselves to our notice, those of Bros.

Col. Creaton and Monckton, while Bro. Nunn seems to be desirous still of looking on, and building the school of the future. The great objection to moving from the present site seems to be that there is no evidence so far that it is likely to be wanted, as was said originally, for railway purposes for some time to come, and therefore on every ground we are bound it appears to us, to utilize our present commodious and healthy situation. If by an extension of the present school buildings anything like fifty additional pupils can be comfortably accommodated we would say, by all means let us adopt our Bro. Col. Creaton's, as we understand, modified proposal, as we are bound to guard against a tendency, common just now, unnecessarily to increase the annual demands on the school, to cheapen too much, so to say, the great privileges of our noble Orphan Institution. Some able brethren hold that we must be on our guard against a proneness to pauperize Freemasonry, by holding out too many inducements of material advantage and benefit to be obtained by Masons, and we confess that we feel there is some force in their arguments. But to a reasonable and practical proposal like that of our gallant Bro. Col. Creaton, whose worth and zeal we all equally admire and acknowledge, there can be no possible objection, and we hope that it may receive the unanimous support, as no doubt it will, both of the Quarterly Court and the Craft. To Bro. Monckton's proposal no objection could be made, if need be found for the admission of eighty instead of fifty new pupils, except that which necessarily arises from two establishments and two sets of teachers. It is obviously better to concentrate all our efforts on one school, on one system, under one efficient head, than run the chance of having opposing systems, and even rival elements, introduced into the organization of the Girls' School. If indeed it could be shown that the present site is unhealthy, or being closed in, or likely to be wanted in a short time, then we would respectfully say, build and prepare for the future elsewhere, and sell the existing site; but if not, prudence and economy alike suggest to us the advisability of not running into large building operations needlessly, but of making the best use we can of existing materials, for a judicious and sufficient enlargement of the school. If we educate well 200 orphans we shall be doing a good work. There are now 151 girls in the school, so that if we can accommodate fifty more we shall bring up the number to 200, leaving a small margin for purchased admissions, which probably average two or three yearly. May the decision of the General Committee and Quarterly Court tend to the happy progress of that most meritorious and well managed institution—the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. We shall recur in our next to the decision of the General Committee, which met on Thursday last.

MASONIC MORALITY.

It is very odd how persevering are the charges against our peaceful and well conducted fraternity, which uniformly represent them it, in the ecclesiastical and classic style of the Vatican as composed of the "children of Satan," or as secret conspirators, enemies to religion, to society, to order, and to law. Whence comes this hopelessness of utterance?—this plethora of abuse?—this extremity of ignorance?—this pomposity of impertinence? It is indeed very difficult to say. If in some foreign countries it be true even that some individual lodges and Masons have signalized themselves by indiscreet words and unjustifiable avowals, we are not aware of any Grand Orient or Grand Lodge which has done so, and certainly in the whole of Anglo-Saxon Freemasonry there can, in this respect at any rate, neither be room for suspicions nor cause for complaint. Indeed, we are sometimes to-day astounded at the recklessness with which the bitter writers of a Jesuit or Ultramontane school invent, yes, purely invent, libellous charges against our Order. It is true that in France and Belgium, as we venture to think, very unwise changes have been made a short time back in the "landmarks," so to say, of Freemasonry—so much so as to lend what force there be in Bishop Dupanloup's irate, if polished, criticisms. But even admitting this to be so, a fact we in common with all Anglo-Saxon Masons sincerely regret, it by no means justifies the wholesale charges, the ridiculous allegations, of our excited and unreasoning accusers. Take Germany for instance. The great mass of the German fraternity is a most peaceful, orderly, loyal, cultivated body of men, as much opposed to anything like social anarchy or to intestine commotion, to the "International" or to Communism, as can well be imagined. That individual writers may hold strong views on the Roman question is undeniable, and, in our humble opinion, the Church of Rome has no one to thank but itself for that serious struggle as between authority and reason, dogmatism and speculation, an iron uniformity and religious toleration which is setting in everywhere just now, and even to some extent in our peaceful and tolerant land. But given all this in—and we might put it more strongly, as in a row, as we know, hard blows and unexpected bitterness are often almost unconsciously developed and become the order of the day—we can find no justification whatever in these oft-repeated and audacious incriminations of the peaceful, loyal, moral character of Freemasonry. As a rule Freemasons are good men, loyal subjects, peaceful citizens, friends to order and social progress, most inimical ever to anything like confusion, revolution, anarchy. They are most respectable members of society, the honest bread-winner for a wife and children at home; they are temperate and yet genial; steady, and yet sensible of the advantages of sociality; by no means inclined to "run riot," or favourable to intemperance, or excess of any kind! Freemasonry, whatever its defects in the eyes of the bigot, and intolerant, and unthinking may be, is ever a most moral society, inculcating from first to last, be it noted, the morality of the Bible, and pointing out ever to every member of the Order (not as a Church or a religion, for Freemasonry is neither of these) the grave and enduring moral responsibility of man! Let us then see now the close of these foolish charges which are repeated "usque ad nauseam" by the glib ignoramus, or the flippant sciolist, by the fanatic, by the illogical, and by the unjust, that Freemasonry in any way can be considered as a society in the smallest degree antagonistic to law and order, morality or religion! It surely is time that these Parthian arrows of Ultramontane skirmishers should cease; it is, we think and hope, only befitting a religious body that those violent members of it should be restrained, who seem to disregard alike veracity and common sense, in their senseless, mendacious, and even ribald accusations against our kindly and long-suffering Order. If the strife is to continue—if bishops are to forget the principles of religion, if anonymous scribblers are to manifest how little of truth or justice has fallen to their lot, if the foolish anathema is to be pronounced, and the meaningless allusion is to be published abroad,—it may be a consolation for us all to remember, that such assailants after all do us no real harm, inasmuch as, strong in our own position, consistent with our own teaching, we shall continue, regardless of opposition, or censure, or menace, to proclaim the pure and moral principles everywhere of our great and useful, of our ancient and honourable Order.

THE ADVANTAGES AND DISADVANTAGES OF ROUTINE.

We are not amongst those who seek to run a muck at everything like order and regulation, discipline, and routine. Red tape is necessary and very good to a certain extent, nay, to a considerable extent, and he would be a foolish or very perverse person, a very unwise teacher, a very unsafe leader, who in the excess of his zeal for change and improvement as he thinks, ever forgot that, after all, more or less, this world, like society and institutions, is, and must be, governed in a great measure by routine. Indeed, it is not too much to say, that nothing can go on in this world without some routine. In Church and State, in the army and in the navy, in the professions of the bar and the magistracy, in the counting house and in the bank parlour, in the factory and in the printers' "chapel," routine is absolutely necessary, and cannot possibly or safely be dispensed with. Indeed, to routine may be ascribed much of the solidity of our insular character, which looks more to the practice than the theory, and seeks in the careful discharge of allotted duties to develop that sense and appreciation of first principles without which profession itself is apt to become hazy, and practice to degenerate into a free and easy laxity. We are, then, friends to needful and legitimate routine, alike in the interests of order and regularity, of the quiet discharge of duty, of the strict fulfilment of obligation, of those axioms of personal responsibility in positions of trust and importance without which not even the business of life could be carried on for twenty-four hours. But when we have said this, we must admit fairly, of some cautions and qualifications, as regards the application generally or individually of this leading principle. In everything of earth we have to contend with two great difficulties, excess and defect. In the nature of things, even principles and professions, above all, purposes and practices, good per se, may become warped, or weakened, or deteriorated here, so much so, that what is objectively good may though strange be the seeming paradox, become subjectively bad. First principles may be strained or extended until they actually have in them a tendency to evil, and what is abstractedly good, useful, fitting proper, becomes in the concrete hurtful, unwise, and even detrimental to the best interests of society. Thus there is a tendency to make simple routine become hyper-routine, to give it the colouring of undeniable red tape, to cause it to assume the character of obstructiveness, obstinacy, bigotry, and intolerance. When we all have gone on in a certain course a long while we are apt to think that it cannot be mended, and so we talk loudly of how much better it is "quieta non movere;" "we cannot," we say, "see the need or benefit of change," we resist proposals of amendment, we resent endeavours for alteration. But in so doing we act foolishly, as the philosopher would point out. As nothing is absolutely perfect here, either in animate or inanimate creation, and as the law of entire nature is a law of progress, and, so to say, amendment, we are not warranted in resisting wise and judicious suggestions of change and amelioration simply because we like to echo the familiar adage "let well alone." All institutions and all bodies politic require amendment and renewal, so to say, from time to time, and neither the world nor society could, humanly speaking, long endure, if all change be sacrificed to a spirit of routine, if all amendments be obstinately resisted. And here it is that routine so often act, prejudicially, for what we ought all to seek after, the "to kalon," and the "to agathon." We must give credit to others for being as conscientious as we are ourselves, and we must believe that those who advocate alterations are just as wise and capable of coming to a sound conclusion on the subject as we are. Nothing is so unreasonable and so antagonistic to the real interests of the world, and of society, of social improvement, of humanitarian progress, as that dear old sleepy routine, which sees nothing good but what is commended by long usage, which will not move out of a beaten tract, though the road be full of ruts, and clouds of dust whiten the weary traveller. And in Freemasonry the same law of existence applies, and the same condition of things to some extent exists. There are a great number of our good old brethren, who are advocates, so to say, of routine "pur et simple." "What has been, is, and ever shall be," seems to be their mot d'ordre, and their Masonic motto. Hence they are a little impatient of "novi homines," of "young Masons," of "fresh lights," of "Masonic reformers," forgetting that while they are standing still, good old souls, both the world and Masonry are moving on, and that as we all advance in life we see ever the constant appearance of a new generation, which does not care much for our "saws" and "instances," but very greatly prefers its own. Well, let us as Freemasons learn a lesson of wisdom and toleration. We cannot adhere to routine all our lives, we must relax a little from its strictness at times; we ought not to set ourselves against all change simply because it is new to us, and differs somewhat from the old way we have been accustomed happily to move in so long. Routine is a very good thing in its way, but many a lodge of ours is dwarfed and impeded in its Masonic life and youth by that adherence to routine under every circumstance, which becomes "red tape," and "red taps" of a Masonic kind, which always appears to us most childish and annoying. Our Grand Lodge happily sets us all a good example in this respect. Never at any time did our excellent Grand Secretary more reflect, in his zealous, and quiet, and most practical discharge of his high duties, the true spirit of Masonic activity and liberality; never at any time was hyper-routine more discountenanced, and a thoroughly sensible and painstaking course of action habitually pursued, so that all applicants are courteously treated, and all applications immediately attended to. May this truer understanding of the spirit of Masonic teaching increase in our private lodge system, so that year by year may witness, not a forgetfulness of routine, for that would be a great evil amongst us, but a wise adaptation of the teaching of common sense to the requirements of routine, and of reasonable concessions to those legitimate desires for amendment and improvement which no prudent statesman can ever safely resist, and no true Mason can ever consistently ignore. All proposals for change are not wise or legitimate, and can only be judged and decided upon alike in their opportuneness, their importance, and on their own merits.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

MASONIC PREFIXES.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Owing to the courtesy of our much respected Grand Secretary, I am enabled to lay before the Craft the authorized designations or Masonic prefixes of Grand and Provincial Grand Officers, and which are the only legal distinctions or designations of such brethren.

So general has become the custom to style brethren "Very Worshipful" and "Right Worshipful," who are below the rank of Provincial Grand Masters or Grand Wardens of England respectively, that it is now a common thing in some lodges to hear the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, or even brethren not above the rank of a Provincial Grand Pursuivant, styled Very Worshipful, whereas not one of the officers of a Provincial Grand Lodge, from the Deputy Provincial Grand Master to the lowest in rank as such, is entitled to any such distinction, their designations being simply Worshipful.

In order not to use my own words, I quote from the circular issued by authority of the Most Worshipful Grand Master, the Earl of Zetland, which finally and conclusively disposes of the matter. "The prefix of Right Worshipful is accorded to and is to be used only by the Deputy Grand Master, the Present and Past Provincial Grand Masters and the Present and Past Grand Wardens of the United Grand Lodge of England."

"That the prefix of Very Worshipful is to be used only by the actual and Past Grand Chaplains, the actual and Past Grand Treasurers, the actual and Past Grand Registrars, the actual and Past Presidents of the Board of General Purposes, the actual and Past Grand Secretaries of the Grand Lodge of England, and by no others."

"That the title or address of Worshipful is to be used by the rest of the Present and Past Grand Officers of the Grand Lodge of England, and by the actual or Past Masters of lodges, and that all others are to be styled or designated as Brother only."

So that Provincial Grand Officers, not Present or Past Masters, are entitled to the prefix Worshipful, and none whatever to any beyond that designation, excepting the Provincial Grand Master.

Yours fraternally,

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN.

Truro, 25th March, 1876.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

May I be allowed to call the attention of the brethren to the case of Richard James Trott, No. 48 on the list, son of Bro. F. Trott, P.M. Lion and Lamb, No. 192, it is the only chance the boy has, failing this election he will be beyond the presented age. Many of the readers of the "Freemason," I am sure both knew and esteemed our late brother, and will, I feel convinced, give us in our great need a helping hand.

I am, dear Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,

GEO. NEWMAN,

P.M. 766 and 192, M.E.Z. 1050 and 192.
51, London Wall, E.C.

MASONIC JURISPRUDENCE.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

As I happen to know a case in point, "A Scotch Master Mason" will find he will have to pay registering fee to Grand Lodge of England before his signature to any petition will have weight (Book of Constitutions, page 117, sec. 9: "Fees, &c.") He need not, however, join any English Lodge except the one he refers to as about to be started.

Yours fraternally,

VEVRY.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In venturing in reply to the question propounded by "A Secretary" to give my reading of the title "of proposing members" Book of Constitutions, page 83, clause 2, I beg at the outset to deprecate any impression that may be formed by yourself or readers that I am "laying down the law," or as, "our friend the enemy" would say, speaking ex cathedra. My opinion can only be rendered quantum valeat, and, if I appear to write dogmatically, I beg that the tone may be imputed to the exigency of composition, and not to the inclination of the writer.

I confess, however, that I am very glad the question has been asked, and shall be much gratified if you will allow me to give publicity to my views of this controverted point in your columns, and if I venture to inform your readers that I am an old P.M. of two lodges, a member of the Board of General Purposes, of many years successive election, and belong to a profession where a strict training in textual construction is considered an indispensable qualification, I make the announcement, not at all, I hope, vaingloriously, but to convince my brethren that I am entitled to form an opinion on the matter now mooted.

The Book of Constitutions seems to me to be very explicit on the point started by your correspondent, and by a due attention to punctuation, and not disdaining the use of italics to indicate emphasis, we may, I think, accurately construe the passage which, of course, propounds the law, (p. 83).

2. "No person shall be made a Mason without a regular proposition at one lodge, and a ballot at the next regular lodge;"

In cases of emergency the following alteration is allowed:—Any two members of a lodge may transmit in writing to the Master the name, &c., of any candidate whom they may wish to propose, and the circumstances which cause the emergency; and the Master, if it be proper, shall notify the same to every member of his lodge; either in the summons for the next regular meeting, or in a summons for a lodge of emergency to meet at a period of not less than seven days from the issuing of the summons for the purpose of balloting for the candidate; and if the candidate be then approved, he may be initiated into the First Degree. The Master shall, previous to the ballot being taken, cause the proposition and emergency, to be recorded in the minute book of the lodge.

Now we start with this proposition. The rule is that a candidate shall be proposed at a lodge meeting, not, mark, as in the case of a joining member, necessarily at a regular lodge meeting—at any lodge meeting, even a lodge of emergency—for I cannot regard the words "next regular lodge," as governing the antecedent "one lodge"—and ballotted for at the next regular lodge meeting. That is the rule. The exception is, that if it is necessary or advisable, and I take the question of the necessity or the advisability to be governed by circumstances to be considered either in regard to the interests of the lodge or for the convenience or advantage of the candidate—of such necessity or advisability the Master being the absolute judge—the Master properly invoked, may (1) either call a lodge of emergency for the initiation of the proposed candidate, or (2) insert his name in the summons for the next regular lodge meeting. Thus, say a lodge holds its regular meeting on the first Monday of each of the winter months. After its regular meeting in January, Bros. A. and B. are implored by Mr. C. to procure his admission into the Craft in their lodge. Assume—no very great stretch of imagination—that the lodge adjourns from April to October. Bros. A. and B. know that their friend takes a continental, or an American tour, or a tour of some kind, every autumn, and would like to carry with him his credentials as a full-fledged M.M. In proper form this is represented by Bros. A. and B. to the W.M., who sees at once that this very natural desire of Mr. C. cannot be gratified if he is only to be proposed in February, and not ballotted for until March. If the law were inflexible, Mr. C. would either not join the Craft at all, or would have to seek some other lodge, the dates of meeting of which were more accommodating than those of his friends' lodge. So the W.M. is allowed to pronounce that the initiation is one of emergency, and he accordingly orders the candidate's name to be inserted in the ordinary summons for the next regular lodge meeting in February. Mark that in this instance the initiation is pronounced to be emergent, not the meeting so there is no need as "A Secretary" supposes, for constituting a regular meeting an emergency meeting pro hac vice.

On the other hand the notion entertained by some brethren, as we are informed by "A Secretary," that names of candidates can be received up to the time of printing the summons, without inserting the emergency or declaring it in the lodge, is, as he justly observes, not in accordance with that which we must all regard as an infallible guide, the Book of Constitutions.

I fear, however, that this is very much the case in practice. A learned judge once said of the numerous approved infringements of a noted legal principal, that "the exceptions had eaten out the rule." If I may, without vanity respond to the appeal made by "A Secretary" to "some well informed brother," I would fain by this attempt at legal construction, protest against a continuance of that laxity. I have, of course, only used the supposititious case of Mr. C. as an illustration. A number of circumstances may be imagined, connected with health, leaving the country, personal predilection, &c., which might justify a Master in deeming a prompt initiation desirable. In that case, to sum up, he has power, as I read the law, when the exercise of his prerogative has been properly invoked to take the necessary steps to effect his object, either at a lodge of emergency to be convened for the purpose, or at the next regular lodge meeting if the date of its occurrence shall render it equally convenient.

I take it, however, that the Master must [notify that the initiation of any candidate not previously proposed in open lodge is on emergency, in the circular, whether for an emergency or regular meeting to every member of the lodge, and the circular should always contain full information of the circumstances rendering it so. The last clause is rather ambiguous and difficult in practice to carry out. I think, however, the law would be complied with if we read "cause the proposition and emergency to be recorded in the minute book of the lodge," direct the proposition, &c., which of course would be done by a public and official order to the Secretary, and by ascertaining, when the minutes are put for confirmation at the next regular meeting of the lodge, that it has been obeyed. This is, and has ever been the practice in the two lodges of which I am a P.M., and I have no doubt that they will be readily recognised by many brethren, who will at once supply the remaining letters to the initials which I have signed to this communication.

In conclusion, it is a grave subject for consideration, but which I do not feel called upon to discuss here, how far in this, as in other matters, it might not be advisable to endeavour to bring the administration of the laws promulgated by the Book of Constitutions into more perfect harmony with our present habits and usages. The rule I have been examining suited admirably a state of society where a man's place of avocation and his individual residence were usually identical. It consisted well with a time when journeys away from home were short and infrequent, and continental travel so rare as to be practically phenomenal. In those days the meeting of the lodge was—if I may use a figure—a household occurrence—compared to the usage now—a domestic episode.

The idea of suspending the wholesome gathering of brothers and fellows at the accustomed periods during the summer months had never occurred to any, even the most innovatingly ambitious, member of the fraternity, but nous avons changé cela. Understand, I do not advocate any alteration of what I consider to be per se a very wholesome enactment. It sets up a standard in abstract theory. It propounds a principle invaluable. I am only pleading for an indulgent view for the necessarily frequent resort to the privilege of exception given by the Book of Constitutions, provided always, as we lawyers say, that the Worshipful Master's prerogative of suspension is only exercised after he has been duly empowered by the requisition and in the manner provided in the text, a practice which, I am afraid, is now-a-days "more honoured in the breach than the observance."

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

S.P.

CARDINAL MANNING AND THE STAGE.

The following letter appeared in the "Times" of Monday, the 27th:—

Sir,—Will you kindly allow me a little of your most valuable space in answer to an onslaught upon my profession by Cardinal Manning, at Exeter Hall, on the 21st of March? At a meeting of the "Roman Catholic Temperance Society" his Eminence denounced all establishments for theatrical representations, "from the costly theatre of the rich to the penny gaff of the poor," as "one vast scale of corruption," and counselled and strongly urged all his hearers never on any account to set their feet in one of them. Without attempting to question the good or evil influence of the stage, it is really surprising to read that such views should be entertained by a man like Cardinal Manning, who represents a religion which not only tolerates but supports and encourages dramatic art. Nowhere has the drama a healthier and greater influence than in Catholic countries—Austria, Bavaria, Suabia, Italy, France, and Spain. I have seen rows of stalls and galleries filled with ecclesiastics in the theatres of Vienna, Stuttgart, Munich, Prague, and Paris. Hundreds of seminarists are nightly seen in the galleries of the Court theatres of Vienna, Munich, and Stuttgart. I wonder what effect this anathema would have upon them.

Without presuming for a moment to set myself up as a defender of the stage (I leave that to abler and greater men), I beg you to insert a few quotations from my glorious countryman, Friedrich Schiller, of whom, as of the immortal Bard, we might with justice say—"He was not for an age, but for all time." In his lecture read before the Royal German Society in Mannheim, 1874, and entitled "Die Schaubühne als eine moralische Anstalt betrachtet," he says the following:—

"The jurisdiction of the stage begins where the domain of all worldly law ends. When justice is blinded by gold and dissipation, enroled by crime, when the guilt of the mighty—scorning their own weakness and fear of man—girds the arm of authority, the stage takes up sword and scales and drags the criminals before a horrible tribunal of justice."

"The whole realm of romance and history, past, present, and future, is at her disposal. Even in the absence of morality, faith, religion, and worldly laws, Medea will terrify us tottering down the palace steps after her infanticide."

"Wholesome shuddering will seize us, and in quiet repose we will praise our own good conscience when we see Lady Macbeth walking in her sleep, washing her little hands which 'All the perfumes of Arabia' will not sweeten."

"As sure as what we see works deeper upon us than the dead letter or the naked narration, so sure will the stage leave a more profound and lasting impression than morality and law."

"Fools disturb society almost as much as criminals, and it is the stage which holds the mirror up to that large class of dolls. What she effects above through the instrumentality of pity and horror, she succeeds in here (much quicker and safer) through wit and satire."

"The stage alone can laugh over our weaknesses because she spares our sensibilities, and ignores the guilty. Without blushing we see ourselves unmasked in the mirror, and are secretly thankful for the gentle admonition."

"The stage is, more than any other public institution, a school for practical wisdom, a guide through the common road of life, an unfailing key to the most secret archives of the human soul."

"The stage is a co-operative channel from which, for better and more thinking men, streams the light of wisdom and then expands in milder rays over the entire universe. Better reasoning, truer principles, purer sentiments flow through the people's veins. The log of barbarism, the darkness of bigotry and intolerance disappear; the night retreats before triumphant light. I will only name one instance out of so many excellent examples. How universal within the last few years has religious toleration become! Long before Nathan the Jew and Saladin the Saracen preached the Divine truth that humility in God, and to be nearer Him, depends not upon our 'horrible imaginings;' long before Joseph II. conquered the terrible Hydra of pious hatred, the stage planted humanity and tenderness into our hearts. The fearful picture of heathen priest rage caused us to shun religious hatred; and in this terrible mirror Christianity washed off her stains."

I would most respectfully commend these somewhat "lame and impotent" translations to his Eminence Cardinal Manning.

Yours obediently,

DAVID G. BANDMANN.

Garrick Club, March 25.

Multum in Parbo; or Masonic Notes and Queries.

I follow up my "note" of last week with a few more remarks this.

It is a great encouragement to all Masonic students to think of the advance we have made since Mr. W. O. Halliwell (now Phillips) first published the Masonic Poem, say in round numbers a quarter of a century ago.

Then only the following MSS. were actually known to a few Masonic scholars, namely, the two Harleian, the two Sloane, the Lansdowne, and Dowland's. Bro. Matthew Cooke first called attention to the Additional MS., so that with the Masonic Poem we made up eight.

There were others which were also known to exist, such as the Antiquity, mentioned by Preston, Cole's MS., Mr. Dodd's MS., Rawlinson's MS., &c., but not many more.

Then came Bro. Hughan's publication of the York MSS., though their discovery had been earlier, namely, by Bros. E. W. Shaw and Woodford, and subsequently they were alluded to by Bro. Findel.

Bro. Hughan was the first to publish them. Indeed, the following MSS. owe their discovery entirely to Bro. W. J. Hughan:—York MS., No. 1; Grand Lodge MS.; York MS., No. 6; Alnwick MS.; Browne's MS., and I think, though I do not feel quite sure of the fact, the Aberdeen MS.

We also owe to him the references to Morgan's MS., Dermott's MS., Hargrove's MS., Wren's MS., Chester MS., and I think that we shall yet owe many more to his great industry and activity.

I am going to have, if possible, another search made among the muniments of the Masons' Company, by the kind aid of the authorities, to see if we can yet light upon the "book wrote on parchment," and I am not without hopes of being able to trace Ashmole's copy, perhaps the very parchment roll Dr. Plot alludes to in 1686.

I believe that by a general sifting of our lodge chests and old papers several other copies will yet turn up, as no doubt all the old lodges had a copy of the "Constitutions." This is a work we all can engage in, and I hope that all W.M.'s and Secretaries will look into the matter at once as to the papers remaining in the possession of their lodges.

A MASONIC STUDENT.

Can any brother put me in the way of obtaining a print of the Rev. James Dallaway, or of Hutchinson, Asne, Calliott, of Anderson or Payne?

¶ If any brother can I shall feel truly obliged.

A. F. A. WOODFORD.

198, Fleet-street.

AN OLD JEWEL.

A curious ancient silver jewel has been submitted to us for our inspection. It belongs to Bro. G. Broad, Blackheath Hill Railway Station.

It is oval in shape, without date. On one side are the three candlesticks, the two pillars, the square and compasses, the sun and moon, and various Masonic emblems.

On the reverse—the "Royal Arch Lodge of Jerusalem" is the motto of the base, above Stockport, — Lodge, the first word being illegible.

It has the Catenarian Arch—a soldier in armour, a cross, a cock, a gravestone, a headstone, with the cross, and the letters T.T.H.T., a triangle with the tetragrammaton. It appears to have been meant for wearing in lodge.—Ed. "FREEMASON."

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Stomach, Liver and Bowels.—In all painful affections of the stomach and disordered actions of the liver and bowels, one single trial of these PILLS will demonstrate that they possess regulating and renovating powers in a high degree. They speedily restore the appetite, lessen the unpleasant distention of the abdomen, and so prevent inflammation of the bowels and other serious abdominal ailments. Holloway's Pills afford the greatest comfort to the dyspeptic invalid without harassing or weakening the most sensitive constitution, or interfering materially with the ordinary studies, pleasures, or pursuits. The simplicity and efficacy of this treatment has evoked the gratitude of all classes in both hemispheres, and commanded a sale for these purifying PILLS unprecedented in medical history.—A.M.T.

CONSECRATION OF TWO ROYAL ARCH CHAPTERS.

On Thursday, 23rd ult., there was a considerable assemblage of companions for the purpose of witnessing and taking part in the Constitution and Consecration of two Royal Arch Chapters, one being that of the Dundas, 1255, the other the Devon Chapter, 1135, of Newton Abbot. The Rev. John Huyshe, the Grand Superintendent of the Province, was able, we were glad to see, to be present and take his part most ably in the business of the day, which he at all times conducts with great solemnity. Amongst the other companions present were the following:—L. P. Metham, P.H.G.; J. Elliott, P.Z., P.P.G.H.; J. B. Gover, P.Z., P.P.G.P.S.; P. B. Clemens, P.Z., P.P.G.A.S.; John Du Pre, P.Z. 70, P.P.G.T.; John Pearse, Walter G. Rogers, P.G.S.E.; H. W. Thomas, A.S. 70; Samuel Jew, P.Z., P.P.G. Treas.; T. W. Lemon, Scribe N. 189; H. Miller, P.Z., P.P.G., 1st S.B.; W. Hamblay, P.S.; J. W. Keyworth, P.J.; W. Elphinstone Stone, 106 Z., P.P.G.R.; William Haynes, 100, P.Z.; Edwin J. Knight, Z. 202, P.P.G.S.B.; R. Hamblay, 230; J. E. Curteis, P.Z. 189, P.P.G.S.B.; Wm. Joll, P.G.T. 230; R. H. Rae, P.P.G.T. 189; Jas. Page Phillips, Z., P.G.S. 223; Joseph Matthews, P.Z., P.P.C.T.; Lieut.-Col. Fitzgerald, 189; Captain Shanks, P.Z. 1205, P.P.G.J.; S. C. Cant, L. Webber, A. Bodley, H. 112, P.G. St. B.; R. Blight, W. H. Triplett, C. Godtschalk, 159, P.P.G.S.B.; H. J. Ham, T. C. Lewara, H. G. Beachey, 710, P.Z.; R. Bowden, P.Z.; C. J. Harland, Z.; W. T. Pilditch, Z. 156; J. H. Tonkin, J.; W. D. Thomas, H. 159; R. B. Twose, P.G.D.C., H. 105; W. H. Michell, P.Z. 156, P.P.G.D.C.; Isaac Latimer, J. 189; G. H. Amory, J. M. Hifley, P.Z., P.P.G.S.B.; E. T. Tarratt, E. Aitkin Davies, P.Z., P.P.G. Reg.; R. P. Culley, Z. 70; A. J. Bishop, 106; T. S. Bayly, P.P.G.R., J. Baxter, 954, W. R. Gillman, H.; John Rogers, P.Z.; John Lyon, P.Z.; G. Thorne, 70; P. L. Blanchard.

The chapter was duly formed by the following companions taking their places:—The M.E. the Rev. John Huyshe, P.G. Superintendent L. P. Metham, H.; Captain Keyworth, J.; W. G. Rogers, S.E.; Isaac Latimer, as S.N.; J. P. Phillips, P.S.; E. J. Knight, as 1st A.S.; J. Brown, as and A.S.; Wm. Joll, Grand Treasurer; J. H. Hifley, Sword Bearer; C. A. Godtschalk, 1st Grand Std. Bearer; G. B. Colston, 2nd Grand Std. Bearer; R. B. Twose, Grand Dir. of Cer.; G. H. Emery, Grand Organist; Alfred Bodley, Grand Banner Bearer; John Rogers and Peter Blanchard acting as Janitors.

The chapter having been duly opened, the P.G. Scribe E. addressed the acting Z., and then read the two warrants from the Grand Chapter, authorising the constitution and consecration of the Chapters Dundas and Devon. The officers of Dundas were present, and three Past Z.'s—Comps. Bowden, Michellmore, and Elphinstone Stone—represented Devon Chapter. All the ceremonies having been duly gone through, Comp. Metham, at the request of the Prov. Grand Superintendent, delivered the following oration:—

Most Excellent Sir and Companions,—With each recurring occasion I feel an increasing diffidence and difficulty in performing the task devolving on me of delivering the oration usual at the consecration of every Royal Arch Chapter. This difficulty does not arise from lack of interest or material, far from it, for no subject in Freemasonry is so rich in matter or so elevated in tone. The Royal Arch Degree is and must be the ne plus ultra of Freemasonry, the very climax and capstone of the Order, for it deals with a theme which is above all other themes, and which no other can approach, much less surpass; for however beautiful, however graceful, however useful other degrees may be, as spurs to zeal and incentives to imagination, the Royal Arch Degree can know no peer. Masonry would be incomplete unless it led us by gradual steps to the contemplation of the Great Jehovah, the incomprehensible Alpha and Omega, who was and is to come, the actual present, future, and all sufficient God, who alone has His being and from Himself, and gives to all others their being; who was, and is, and shall be the same from everlasting to everlasting, all creation dependent on His Almighty will. Therefore the more I reflect on the, to us, vital principles inculcated in the solemn ceremony in which we are about to engage, the more anxious I am to approach it with the reverence it claims, and to enforce on all the companions of the Order the absolute necessity of regarding this august degree with the same amount of veneration. It is very easy, and it is very pleasant, to look back and draw the parallel, as Freemasonry does, between our actual every-day life and a true Masonic career. From our dependence on others, even for the preservation of life itself, in the first portion of our existence, we have deduced the moral that it is our duty to learn and practise an abiding lesson of mutual dependence and equality. Passing onward in life we reached that period where opportunity was given us to practise these principles; the dignity, too, of labour and its usefulness were as clearly shown as its necessity. We were taught that to rightly employ the hours given to us, and to consider them as precious talents to be used not only for our own benefit and that of those who are dependent upon us, but also for the good of our fellow creatures and the glory of our Creator, is the most grateful sacrifice and return we can offer up for all the benefits conferred upon us when we ourselves most needed assistance. To the man who has cultivated his intellectual powers to the glory of God and the welfare of his fellow creatures, who, while glorying in his manhood and the meridian brightness of life, has modelled his life by the sacred dictates of morality and religion, the warm noon glides easily and swiftly into the calm afternoon and gathering shades of evening, until the night comes, when, without a shock or a fear, he lays down his mortal part in the grave as in a bed, his last look not turned back with vain regret to the scenes of his earthly life, but forward and upward, with resignation to the Divine will, and with trusting confidence, to that bright morning star whose rising shall bring peace and salvation to the faithful and obedient of the human race. For Masonry, in this degree, points with no faltering finger to the future beyond the grave, when we shall come face to face with the great I Am, who is the Eternal Ruler of the Universe, the elemental life, the primordial source of all its principles, the very spring and fountain of all its virtues; He has, indeed, given us the earth with all its teeming plenty and beauty for our enjoyment and use during our brief existence here, but He has also told us, with no uncertain voice, that our life is but a pilgrimage and a period of probation for admission into a nobler and eternal state hereafter. And this is why, as I pass from the contemplation of the things of this world to those of the world to come, from the weak and finite actions and thoughts of time to the boundless prospects and harmonious laws of eternity; from dealing with my fellow men, who are fallible and corrupt as myself, to the study of the attributes of the Supreme Being, who is all perfect, my ease vanishes, and I pause with awe in the presence of that dread name around which centre all the mysteries of this Supreme Degree. I entreat you, therefore, brethren and companions, to ponder deeply its meaning and mystery, and never to approach it yourselves, nor suffer others to approach it, in a spirit of indifference or irreverence. Remember always that unless you adopt its solemn teaching the circle of your Masonic duties is incomplete, and all your previous professions and practice valueless, therefore.

"Let all your lamps be bright,
Gird up your loins as in His sight,
And trim the golden flame,
For awful is His name."

The Royal Arch Degree stands, then, as a beacon, a pillar of light, to guide us through the wilderness of doubt and difficulty, by which we are surrounded in our earthly pilgrimage, only leaving us when, having passed through the dark portals which divide life from death, we enter the promised land, those happy regions where the true secrets of Masonry shall be disclosed to the faithful and obedient of the human race. To gain this great end we must during our earthly existence, with untiring zeal and unswerving faith, perform the task allotted to us while it is yet day. As trusty workmen and faithful companions, we must employ our working tools; with the pickaxe we must clear away the ruins of a fallen nature, with the trowel we must build up a fairer shrine for the reception of truth and virtue, with the sword by our side we must fight for the weak against the strong, for the good against the evil, and for the true against the false; and with the shovel we must bury the rubbish of the old Adam, so that our spirits may be purified to arise, when summoned by our tremendous but merciful judge, into a better and immortal life.

We should not read this degree rightly, however, if we did not recognise the bond of union it creates between our earthly duties and heavenly prospects. No rigid adherence to the rules of morality, no mere conscientious discharge of our obligations to ourselves, our families, or to the world at large, will ever raise us, unless they are sanctified by religion. But, on the other hand, the constant and strict performance of our duties here is recognised most clearly, and enforced in the most emphatic manner throughout the whole of this degree, and this finds utterance in the charge which is, or ought to be, given in every chapter; I know no words more fitting with which to close this address.

Brethren and Companions: You are about to quit this sacred retreat of peace and friendship, and to mix again with the world. Amidst all its cares and employments forget not the duties which have been so frequently inculcated and strongly recommended in this supreme convocation. Be ye, therefore, discreet, prudent, and temperate. Remember that around this altar ye have voluntarily and solemnly vowed to befriend and relieve with unhesitating cordiality every brother who shall need your assistance, sympathy, or advice; that you have promised to remind him in the most gentle manner of his failings, and to aid in his reformation; to defend and vindicate strenuously his character whenever wrongfully traduced, and to suggest the most candid, the most palliating, and the most favourable circumstances, even when he is justly liable to blame and reprehension. Thus shall the world see how Masons love one another. But, my brethren and companions, you are to extend the noble and generous sentiments yet further, let me impress upon your minds, and let it be instilled into your hearts that every human being has an undoubted claim to your kind offices, and while we more particularly recommend to your care the household of the faithful, we strictly enjoin you to do good to all, and to carry comfort and consolation to every one of your fellow creatures in the hour of their need. Thus by diligence and fidelity in the discharge of your public and private duties, by liberal benevolence and diffusive charity, by constancy and sincerity in your friendships, by being uniformly kind, just, amiable, and virtuous in your deportment, you may prove to the world the happy and beneficent effects which flow from our ancient and honourable institution. And let it not be said that you have laboured in vain or wasted your strength for nought, for your work is before the Lord and your recompense is with your God. Finally, brethren and companions, be all of one mind and live in peace with each other, and may the God of Love and Mercy delight to dwell among you and bless you for evermore. So mote it be. At the close of this address there was considerable applause.

The officers of the new chapters were then duly presented to the acting Z., and all the necessary forms for constituting the chapters having been concluded, the consecration commenced with an ode, beginning with

"Let there be light!" the Almighty spoke:

which was followed by prayers, by pouring of corn, wine, and oil on the chapter, and the companions then chanted psalm cxxii. The ceremonies were impressive, and the musical arrangements under Comp. Gant were admirable.

The following are the officers of Dundas:—G. Godtschalk, Z.; J. B. Gover, P.Z.; J. J. Avery, H.; H. W. Thomas, J.; T. B. Harvey, Scribe E.; W. Bell, Treas.; W. H. Triplett, P.S.; W. H. Ham, S.N.; T. Smith, Janitor.

Obituary.

BRO. SIR JOHN CORDY BURROWS.

We regret to have to announce the death of Bro. Sir John Cordy Burrows, Knight, which occurred shortly before ten o'clock on Saturday morning at his residence in the old Steyne, Brighton, after a short but painful illness. He was son of Mr. Richard Burrows, by Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. James Cordy, of London, and was born in Ipswich in 1813, and married in 1842, Jane, second daughter of Mr. Arthur Dendy, of Dorking, by whom he leaves an only son. Sir John received his medical education at Guy's and St. Thomas's Hospitals, became a member of the College of Surgeons in 1836, and was elected a fellow in 1852. The deceased gentleman had practised as a surgeon in Brighton for many years, and was so much esteemed and respected by the inhabitants that he was elected Mayor for the third time in 1871-2. Sir John took a great interest in the municipal affairs of Brighton, and was in 1871 presented by his fellow townsmen with a testimonial, consisting of a silver model of the Victoria Drinking Fountain, which he had been the means of erecting on the Steyne, accompanied by a silver tea and coffee service for Lady Burrows, and a carriage and pair of horses for use in his profession. He was knighted by Her Majesty in 1873. He was a fellow of the Geographical, the Zoological, and other learned societies, also consulting surgeon to the Brighton Hospital for Sick Children. Sir John was appointed Prov. Grand Mark Master for Sussex, June 23rd, 1874. He will be greatly missed by the poor of Brighton.

The Royal Oriental Order of Sikha (Apex) and the Sat B'Hai has just completed arrangements for holding a Grand Asayanna or assembly in the metropolis on the occasion of the return of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales from India. We know, on authority, that H.R.H. was graciously pleased to accept a blank Sasana or Mandate of the Order before his departure for the East. Several minor Asayani were held in Hampshire, Lancashire, and other provinces last year.—[London Provincial Illustrated Paper.] [We do not profess to know what this Order can be.—Ed.]

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, April 7, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, APRIL 1.

Gen. Com. Boys' School, at 4.
Lodge 142, St. Thomas's, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
" 1194, Villiers, Grotto Hot., Twickenham.
" 1459, New Cross, New Cross Hall.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Percy, 113, Southgate-rd., N.
Manchester, 179, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross Road.
Sinai Chapter, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.

MONDAY, APRIL 3.

Lodge 12, Fortitude & Old Cumberland, Ship & Turtle.
" 69, Unity, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 72, Royal Jubilee, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 83, United Lodge of Prudence, Albion Tav.
" 144, St. Luke's, M.H., Basinghall-st.
" 188, Joppa, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 256, Unions, F.M.H.
" 1319, Asaph, F.M.H.

Chap. 28, Old King's Arms, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
West Kent, St. Saviour's College, Forest-hill.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, APRIL 4.

Colonial Board, at 3.
Lodge 7, Royal York of Perseverance, F.M.H.
" 18, Old Dundee, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 101, Temple, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 217, Stability, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 765, St. James's, Bridge House Hot.
" 1259, Duke of Edinburgh, Cp. of G. Hope Tav., E.
" 1261, Golden Rule, Regent M.H., Regent-st.
" 1298, Royal Standard, Wellington Club, N.
" 1381, Kennington, Surrey Tav., Kennington Oval.
" 1472, Henley, Three Crowns, North Woolwich.
" 1549, Abercorn, Abercorn Hot., Gt. Stanmore.
Chap. 145, Prudent Brethren, F.M.H.
" 169, Temperance, White Swan, Deptford.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Samsy M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.

Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatsheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone, at 8.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 5.

Lodge 511, Zetland, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 1491, Athenæum, Athenæum, Camden-rd., N.
Chap. 55, Constitutional, Private Rooms, Leytonstone.
Precep. 139, Holy Palestine, Regent M.H., Regent-st.

LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Mount Edgumbe, 19, Jermyn-street, St. James's.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.

THURSDAY, APRIL 6.

Lodge 10, Westminster and Keystone, F.M.H.
" 27, Egyptian, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 45, Strong Man, Old Jerusalem Tav.
" 227, Ionic, Ship & Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 231, St. Andrew's, F.M.H.
" 554, Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
" 742, Crystal Palace, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge.
" 822, Victoria Rifles, F.M.H.
" 1155, Excelsior, Sydney Arms, Lewisham-rd.
" 1178, Perfect Ashlar, Gregorian Arms, Bermondsey.
" 1415, Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., E.
Chap. 2, St. James's, F.M.H.

l " 9, Moriah, Albion Tav., Aldersgate.

LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albion-rd., Dalston.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.

FRIDAY, APRIL 7.

Lodge 890, Hornsey, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 1489, Marquis of Ripon, M.S.A., Balls Pond-rd.
Chap. 259, Prince of Wales's, Willis's Rooms, St. James's.

LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
St. George's, Globe Tav., Royal-hill, Greenwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Metropolitan, Pentonville-road.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, Commercial Tav., King's-road, Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Coutts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday April 8, 1876.

MONDAY, APRIL 3.

Lodge 113, Unanimity, Bull Hot., Church-st., Preston.
" 613, Unity, Palatine Buildings, Southport.
" 703, Clifton, Clifton Arms, Blackpool.
" 1045, Stamford, T.H., Altrincham.
" 1051, Rowley, M.R., Athenæum, Lancaster.
" 1264, Neptune, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1380, Skelmersdale, Queen's Hot., Waterloo.
Everton L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.
Skelmersdale Red Cross Conclave, M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, APRIL 4.

Lodge 673, St. John's, M.H., Liverpool.
" 897, Loyalty, Fleece Inn, St. Helen's.
" 986, Hesketh, Grapes Inn, Crosby.
" 995, Furness, M.T., Ulverstone.
" 1256, Fidelity, Bull Hot., Poulton-le-Fylde.
" 1476, Blackpool, Clifton Arms Hot., Blackpool.
Chap. 203, St. John of Jerusalem, M.H., Liverpool.
Walton Mark Lodge, 161, St. Lawrence's School.
Merchants' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 5.

Lodge 86, Loyalty, M.H., Prescot.
" 484, Faith, Gerard's Arms, Ashton-in-Wakefield.
" 580, Harmony, Wheatsheaf, Ormskirk.
" 730, Ellesmere, Royal Oak Hot., Chorley.
" 758, Ellesmere, M.H., Runcorn.

" 1013, Royal Victoria, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1335, Lindsay, 20, King-st., Wigan.
" 1354, Marquis of Lorne, M.R., Leigh.
Chap. 477, Fidelity, M.C., 55, Argyle-st., Birkenhead.
De Grey and Ripon L. of I., N. Hill-st., Liverpool.
Downshire L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.
Harmonic L. of I., Mona Hot., James-st., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, APRIL 6.

Lodge 219, Mariners, M.H., Liverpool.
" 950, Hesketh, Royal Hot., Fleetwood.
" 1032, Townley Parker, Howard's A., Whitle-le-Wds.
" 1070, Starkie, Black Horse Hot., Kirkham.
" 1473, Bootle, Molyneux R., Bootle.
Chap. 758, Bridgewater, M.H., Runcorn.
St. John's L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, APRIL 7.

Lodge 680, Sefton, Adelphi Hot., Liverpool.
" 1375, Architect, Didsbury Hot., Didsbury.
" 1387, Chorlton, M.R., Chorlton-cum-Hardy.
" 1505, Emulation, M.H., Liverpool.
Duke of Edinburgh L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, April 8, 1876.
All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, APRIL 3.

Lodge 124, Kilwinning, Union Tav., Ayr.
" 129, St. Mirren's, St. Mirren's Hall, Paisley.
" 138, Operative, Blue Bell Hot., Ayr.
" 237, St. John, Masonic Arms, Girvan.
" 332, Union, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
Chap. 119, Rosslyn, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.

TUESDAY, APRIL 4.

Lodge 34, St. John, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 68, Doric, 44, Church-st., Port Glasgow.
" 73, Thistle and Rose, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 87, Thistle, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
" 173, St. John, M.H., Largs.
" 233, Hamilton, Spaldings Hot., Hamilton.
" 331, St. Peter's, Portland Arms, Galston.
" 406, St. John, Dalziel, M.H., Motherwell.
" 433, St. Thomas, Eglinton Hall, Dalmellington.
" 437, Govandale, Portland Buildings, Govan.
" 497, St. John's, Brewery Hall, Catrine.
" 556, Clydesdale, M.H., Rose-st., S.S., Glasgow.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 5.

Lodge 0, Mother Kilwinning, M.H., Kilwinning.
" 4, Glasgow Kilwinning, 170, Buchanan-st.
" 21, Old St. John, M.H., Lanark.
" 86, Navigation, Commercial Hall, Troon.
" 117, St. Mary, M.H., Partick.
" 126, St. Andrew, George Hot.
" 128, St. John, M.H., Shettleston.
" 166, St. John, 29, Graham-st., Airdrie.
" 198, Royal Arch, King's Arms, Maybole.
" 354, Caledonian Railway, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
" 442, Neptune, M.H., Ardrossan.
Chap. 87, Shamrock and Thistle, 12, Troon.

THURSDAY, APRIL 6.

Lodge 11, St. John's, King's Arms, Maybole.
" 22, St. John Kilwinning, George Hot., Kilmarnock.
" 27, St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 149, St. Andrew, M.H., Irvine.
" 157, St. John, Main-st., Beith.
" 165, Royal Arch, King's Arms, Ayr.
" 202, St. Clement's, Trades' Tav., Kilmarnock.
" 320, St. John, Royal Arch, M.H., Ardrossan.
" 370, Renfrew, M.H., High-st., Paisley.
" 465, St. Andrew, M.H., Garnad-rd.

FRIDAY, APRIL 7.

Lodge 114, Royal Arch, M.T., Cambuslang.
" 116, Royal Arch, Council Hall, Rutherglen.
" 135, St. James, Crown Inn, Tarbolton.
" 175, St. John, M.H., Greenock.
" 215, St. Andrew, Avondale Inn, Strathavon.
" 217, Cumberland Kilwinning, T.H., Port Glasgow.
" 242, Houston, Cross Keys Hot., Johnstone.
" 248, Lockhart St. John, M.H., Carnworth.
" 275, Shamrock & Thistle, 22, Struthers-st., Glsgw.
" 360, Commercial, 30, Hope-street, Glasgow.
" 408, Clyde, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 459, Kelburne, Cumbrac Hot., Millport.
" 512, Thorntree, M.H., Thornliebank.
" 551, Clydesdale, Royal Hot., Larkhall.

SATURDAY, APRIL 8.

Lodge 28, St. John, Black Bull Inn, Kirkintilloch.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, April 8, 1876.

MONDAY, APRIL 3.

Lodge 429, St. Kentigern, Royal Hot., Penicuik.

TUESDAY, APRIL 4.

" 5, Canongate and Leith, 86, Constitution-st.

THURSDAY, APRIL 6.

" 97, St. James's Operative, Writers' Court.

FRIDAY, APRIL 7.

" 291, Celtic, Ship Hot., E. Register-st.

WANTED, by the Advertiser, a Situation as Bank or Office Messenger, or any place of Trust. Eleven years character. M.M., M.M.M., R.A.M.—Address A. B. C., 61, Clifton-st., Finsbury-sq., E.C.

COURIER AND TRAVELLING SERVANT, "Italian," speaks English and Continental languages. Has 30 high references. Just arrived from the Continent. A.D., 9, Beak-st., Regent-st.

THE LONDON MASONIC CLUB.

THE CLUB PREMISES

SITUATE

101, Queen Victoria Street,

are now being fitted up, and will

SHORTLY BE OPENED TO THE MEMBERS.

The Annual Subscription, now payable, is available to 1st May, 1877, and is fixed at—£3 3s. for Town Members, i.e., Members residing within twenty miles of the Club, and £1 11s. 6d. for Country Members, without entrance fee. Members incur no liability beyond their subscription. None but Freemasons are eligible for Membership.

The next Election of Members will be held on 17th April, after which date it is anticipated that it will be necessary to impose an Entrance Fee, and raise the annual Subscriptions, upwards of 500 Brethren having already joined.

Forms of Application for Membership may be obtained from the Secretary, at the Offices of the London Masonic Club Company (Limited), 37, Queen Victoria-street, E.C.
JOHN A. LATHBURY,
Secretary.

ALL THE LARGE FURNITURE

OF A CRAFT LODGE

TO BE SOLD CHEAP.

FOR PARTICULARS,

ADDRESS W. E. G.,

Office of this Paper,

198, FLEET STREET, E.C.

SUPERIOR SHIRTS IN OXFORD MATTE CLOTH AND FRENCH PRINTED CAMBRIC

6 for 45s.

Patterns and Measuring Directions Free.

GANN, ROOT, & CO.,

Shirt Tailors, 171, Fenchurch Street, E. C.

BRO. W. T. PALMER,

FINE ART PUBLISHER

PICTURE FRAME MAKER AND GILDER.

Passe-partouts Cut and Pictures Mounted.

Handsome Gold Frames with Masonic Emblems for Lodges, and Certificates made to order at Moderate Prices.

THE TRADE SUPPLIED.

3A, CORPORATION BUILDINGS, FARRINGTON-ROAD,

LONDON, E.C.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY

(Limited), 7, Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General Accidents. Personal Injuries.

Railway Accidents. Deaths by Accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

GERMANY.—HIGH CLASS EDUCATION

at the Royal Colleges, Cassel (attended by the Sons of the Crown Prince of Germany), with thorough German, French, and English Private Tuition by resident Graduates, and a refined English Home. Delightful neighbourhood of Wilhelmshöhe, the Aue Park, and the valley of the Fulda. Prospectus, with highest references. Terms, 70 to 90 guineas inclusive. Sons of Masonic brethren at reduced terms.—Address Bro. Dr. Saure, M.A., Cassel) who will be in England in April).

APRIL ELECTION, 1876.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR

BOYS.—The Votes and Interest of the Governors and Subscribers are earnestly solicited on behalf of eight years of age. His Father, Bro. John Tanare, was initiated in the New Concord Lodge, No. 813, in 1866, and continued a subscribing Member until he fell into difficulties through continued ill-health. He has been for some time an inmate of Colney Hatch Lunatic Asylum, suffering from Paralysis of the Brain, and is pronounced incurable. His wife has six children to support, of whom this is the eldest, besides having to contribute to the support of her husband.

JAMES EDGAR TANARE,

The circumstances of the case are known to and strongly recommended by the following:—

The Right Honourable the Earl Percy, M.P., Prov. G.M. Northumberland, 25, Grosvenor-square, W.

Bro. *John Emmens, P.G. Purst, and P.M., No. 172 and 813, 254, Kingsland-road, E.

*J. J. Wilson, J.P.J.G.W. Essex, P.P.J.G.D. Middlesex,

P.M. No. 244, 813, 1337, 1437, W.M. 25.

*J. P. Sarel, P.P.S.G.D. Essex.

*James Terry, Prov. G.D. Cerms, Herts, P.M. 228, 1278, and 1366.

*H. J. Gabb, W.M. No. 813.

*T. Bartlett, P.M. 813.

*W. H. Main, P.M. 813 and 569.

*George Sinclair, Treas., 813.

*Bro. J. R. Gallant, S.W. 813.

*T. J. Cusworth, J.W. 813.

*R. K. Harper, S.D. 813.

*H. M. Levy, P.M. 188.

*H. W. Homan, P.M. 59.

*Edward Butler, P.M. 276.

*C. E. Walker, Southern Star Lodge, No. 1158.

*W. H. Gulliford, Montefiore Lodge, No. 1017, 11, Caroline-street, Bedford-square, W.C.

*Arthur McNamara, Fidelity Lodge, No. 3.

Proxies (for Girls' School also) will be thankfully received by the Brethren marked thus*.

COMFORT FOR TENDER FEET.—

Try Anthony Scard's new material! Peculiarly Prepared indestructible Porpoise Skin Boots and Shoes. Soft as silk, shines like patent, never cracks, becomes softer and finer in wear, a perfect durable luxury and superlative specialtie. 8 Bow Lane, Cheapside, E.C. Ladies' orders skilfully executed. One trial insures satisfaction.

Watches Clocks, Brooches, Ear-rings, and all kinds of Jewellery,

REPAIRED BY EXPERIENCED WORKMEN

at

198, FLEET-STREET, LONDON.

Country orders will receive prompt attention.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry.....	155
Scotland.....	157
Reviews.....	158
New Masonic Hall for Exeter.....	158
Masonic and General Tidings.....	159
Our Royal Grand Master's Return.....	159
Profession and Practice.....	160
Cardinal Manning and the Stage.....	160
The Plans for the Alteration of the Girls' School.....	161
The Vote of Confidence in the Committee and Executive of the Boys' School.....	161
A Commemorative Medal.....	161
CORRESPONDENCE:—
An Appeal.....	161
The Masonic Charities.....	161
Masonic Honours.....	161
The Extension of the Girls' School.....	161
Obituary.....	161
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.....	162
Provincial Grand Mark Lodge of Leicestershire.....	163
Masonic Female Orphan School, Dublin.....	163
Masonic Ball in Liverpool.....	163
Israelitism and Freemasonry.....	163
Masonic Meetings for Next Week.....	163
Advertisements.....	163

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

LODGE OF ISRAEL (No. 205).—The usual meeting of this lodge was held at the City Terminus Hotel on Tuesday, 28th ult. Bro. L. Jacks, W.M., in the chair of K.S. Bro. H. L. Jones was raised to the Third Degree in a most efficient manner by the W.M. The brethren present included F. Buckland, I.P.M.; Cohen, P.M. and Sec.; Coote, P.M. and Treas.; Latour, P.M.; Hogard, P.M.; J.P. Cohen, S.W.; Bassington, S.D.; Crosthwaite, J.D.; Phillips, I.G.; Masden, and Hall. Amongst the visitors were Bros. Binckes, P.M., P.G.S., and Aaron from Canada.

ST. MARK'S LODGE (No. 857).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held on Tuesday, 21st ult., at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell. Present: Bros. King, W.M.; E. Crouch, S.W., W.M. elect; Adams, J.W.; Harrison, P.M., Treas.; Frances, P.G.S.D., Sec.; Goolen, S.D.; Seaton, P.M.; Bragg, P.M.; Wynn-Williams, M.D., J.D.; Green, I.G.; Atkins, Edwards, Mellick, Hamilton, Richardson, Beardmore, Rudduck, and Cocks. Visitors: Bros. Crouch, P.M. 851; Taylor, J.W. 1046; Buchill, P.M. 795; Ramsay, M.D. 165; Turquand, W.M. 1556; Wallace, P.P.G.W.; Cozens, 1216; Lavington, 862; Cox, 503; Gray, 705; Pidcock, P.M. 916. The lodge having been opened and the minutes read and confirmed, the following gentlemen were balloted for and initiated, viz., Messrs. Walter Harris, Josh. Fryer, and David Russell. The chair was then taken by Bro. Harrison, P.M., who proceeded to install Bro. Crouch into the chair of K.S. Bro. Crouch then appointed his officers as follows:—Bros. Adams, S.W.; Goolen, J.W.; Frances, P.M., P.S.G.D., Sec.; Wynn-Williams, M.D., S.D.; Green, J.D.; Newton, I.G.; Atkins, D.C.; and Richardson, W.S. Bro. Harrison, P.M., was also reinstalled with the collar of Treas. The ceremony was well performed. After the close of the lodge the brethren adjourned to the dining hall, where a very sumptuous banquet awaited them, which had been supplied by Messrs. Bromly, and the wines by Bro. King. Everything was of first class quality and gave great satisfaction to the assembled guests. After the usual loyal and Masonic toasts had been duly given and honoured, both by the orations of the brethren and the appropriate music under Bro. Cozen's direction, "The W.M.'s Health" was proposed by Bro. Harrison, P.M., and in a few earnest sentences was ably replied to by Bro. Crouch, who then rose and gave the toast of "The Initiates," remarking he had proposed them in the full conviction they were worthy of the privilege conferred upon them that evening of being admitted into the ancient and honourable Order of Freemasons. Having had the knowledge of their worthiness from a long acquaintance with them, he felt no doubt they would prove an honour to the Craft they were that day admitted members of, and he hoped to see them rise to office as he had done in the St. Mark's Lodge. The toast was done ample justice to, and at the conclusion of the E.A. song—by a few expressive words from each of the newly-initiated brethren—was responded to. In proposing "The Visitors," the W.M. said he was happy to inform the lodge that two, namely, Bros. Gray and Lavington, had signified their wish to become members of the St. Mark, and he was sure the lodge would be glad to receive them. The toast was cordially received, and was duly acknowledged by Bros. Gray, Lavington, Crouch, and Wallace. The toast of "The Past Masters" was also received, and responded to by Bros. Bragg, Seaton, King, and Frances (Bro. Harrison having been suddenly called away to attend a patient). "The Officers" was also given, and replied to by Bro. Adams, and the Tyler's toast finished one of the most pleasant evenings ever spent by the brethren of the St. Mark's Lodge, the musical attainments of Bro. Cozens contributing no small share to the enjoyment.

ST. JAMES'S LODGE (No. 765).—This lodge held its most important and interesting meeting of the year—its "installation night," on Tuesday, at the Budge House Hotel, and great was the gathering on the occasion. Unfortunately, the W.M. of the last year, Bro. Peter McCallum was unable, through illness, to be present, and Past Master Child took the position of the Wise Man. That important and anxious piece of work, the reading and confirming of the minutes regarding the re-election of the new W.M. having been gone through in the usual cordial manner where brethren act with a truly Masonic feeling, five brethren were raised, the Masonic circle being thus completed for Bros. Richard and H. B. Bower, J. C. Perkins,

W. Holcraft, and W. H. Myers. The work was done with the studious adherence to ritual which might be expected in a lodge many of whose members are most active promoters of Masonic study. It had been arranged that the Secretary, Bro. Montagu Scott, P.M. of the lodge and who is as well known as an active volunteer as he is for his Masonic knowledge, should install the new Master, and he accordingly took the chair and set about the work as freshly as he set off on a march with his regiment when the world was younger by more years than we like to think of at present. Bro. Thomas Brown, the W.M. elect, was presented in the usual manner, and the Installing Master, after the address to the brethren on the custom observed from time immemorial, recited the qualifications essential in every candidate, and Bro. Brown having agreed to accept the office under the conditions, and having submitted to the regulations, was pledged in due form before the regularly held and assembled lodge of Craftsmen. The lodge was then raised, and all under the rank of Installed Masters having retired, the new W.M. was with all the forms of the ancient rite installed into the chair. The Board of Installed Masters having been closed the ceremony in the three degrees proceeded, with an entire absence, too, of the "any how," or "that ill do" style prevalent in some places, where carelessness and want of knowledge go hand in hand to mar, and, indeed, to mull the whole ceremony, and make all spectators feel a glow of satisfaction at the adoption of a suggestion that the addresses shall be "taken as given." Far different, indeed, was Bro. Scott's work, and he had the processions given with the stateliness of the Central London's march into Gray's Inn. The new Master then selected and invested his officers, Bros. Gibbs being chosen S.W.; Cox, J.W.; Goodwin, S.D.; Ponting, J.D.; Nelson Reed, as I.G.; G. A. Brock, as D.C.; P. M. Jones, as W.S. The selections were well received, and it was felt that the W.M. had made his selections on the best grounds, those laid down in the Book of Constitutions—on merit—and seen in the fact that the junior active officer, the I.G., is now frequently to be seen in the chair of instruction lodges, where he is able to impart that knowledge he has freely received. The Installing Master then gave the three addresses, and the lodge having closed, the members and the large muster of visitors partook of a gorgeous banquet as refreshment. The usual loyal toast of "The Queen and the Craft," "The M.W. the Grand Master," "The Deputy Grand Master," &c., preceded the toasts personal to the lodge, of "The W.M.," "The Installing Master," "The Past Masters," "The Visitors," and "The Officers" were tasted and replied. A delightful musical entertainment was given by the members, Bro. G. C. Searle presiding at the pianoforte. Amongst those present were Bros. W. S. Whitaker, W. J. Marler, F. H. Wilcocks, J. Clarricoats, the W.M., G. C. Searle, A. T. Pearu, Past Master Jones, Nelson Reed and While ("Freemason") The programme ended with the quotation "Stand not upon the order of your going, but go at once."

CITY OF LONDON LODGE (No. 901).—At the last meeting of this lodge Bro. Henry D'Arcy, the W.M., presided. The visitors included Bros. Sachs (from Frankfurt) and G. Smith. The Masonic work proper, which was most ably performed by the W.M., consisted of the initiation of Mr. W. Alder and the passing of Bros. Wallis and Morris to the Second Degree. The report of the committee appointed to ascertain the best place for the lodge meetings, as it is necessary to remove as the house where the meetings have been hitherto held is to be pulled down, was received and adopted, and the meetings of the lodge will henceforth be held at the Guildhall Tavern.

IVY LODGE (No. 1441).—The last meeting of the winter session of this lodge was held on Tuesday, the 28th ult., at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New Road. We desire to tender our hearty congratulations to the lodge upon having found a home in a temple dedicated to Masonic purposes. The new hall is unquestionably a great boon to lodges in the south of London, for it enables them to sever their connection from hotels and public houses. We are gratified to learn that several lodges have already located themselves in the building. The lodge was summoned for 4.30 p.m. and, shortly before 5 o'clock it was opened by Bro. Chas. Smith, the I.P.M., supported by the following officers, viz., Bros. John Noke, P.M. 87; J. J. Cantle, S.W.; C. F. Poupard, J.W.; L. Cornelissen, S.D.; W. Ashwell, J.D.; C. S. Jolly, Sec.; R. Forster, D.C.; D. H. Ashford, I.G., acting for Bro. T. F. Knight-Smith, who presided at the harmonium; and G. T. Fox, Tyler. The minutes of the last regular and emergency meetings were then read by the Secretary and confirmed, after which the W.M. proceeded to raise Bro. Warkinson to the Sublime Degree of a M.M. Bro. Smith, during the time he was W.M. of the lodge, was noted for the very excellent manner in which he worked the ceremonies, and during the twelve months that have elapsed since he vacated the chair has gained more lustre. From the perfect and earnest manner in which the ceremony was rendered, and the profound attention paid by the candidate, it was evident every word was received with telling effect. Bros. Wright and Phillips were afterwards passed to the degree of F.C. There being no initiate, and this being the night to install the W.M. for the ensuing year, Bro. Smith, as the I.O., proceeded with the service, after Bro. Noke, P.M., had formally presented Bro. Cantle, S.W. and W.M. elect. The new Master having been saluted in the three degrees, invested his officers as follows:—Bros. Poupard, S.W.; L. Cornelissen, J.W.; W. Ashwell, S.D.; T. F. Knight-Smith, J.D.; C. S. Jolly, Sec.; E. Thurlke, W.S.; G. Skegg, Assist. W.S.; R. Forster, I.G.; and G. T. Fox, Tyler. A vote of thanks to Bro. Smith for the skilful manner in which he had discharged the duties of Installing Officer was then ordered to be recorded in the minutes of the lodge. The W.M. with great regret announced that the absence from the lodge that evening of the outgoing W.M., Bro. George Mattock, was owing to a severe bereavement he had sustained by the death of his father. We believe it was the intention of the lodge to have recorded a vote of sympathy on the minutes, and to have forwarded the same to Bro. Mattock, but by pure accident it was omitted. Doubtless this will be done at the next meeting. The visitors present were Bros. Col. Creaton; Kelly, P.G.S.; H. A. Dubois, G.D.C. Middlesex; and many others. Amongst the members of the lodge we noticed Bros. C. Pautlin, Doherty, Plock, Burgess, A. Vernon, R. Giles, D. H. Ashford, J. R. Ashford, J. Vernon, Goodman, and others. All Masonic business being ended the lodge was closed in ancient form, and the brethren proceeded to the banqueting hall, where an excellent banquet was served.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT LODGE (No. 1524).—A meeting of this lodge was held on Thursday the 30th ult., when there were present Bros. Thomas C. Chapman, W.M.; H. Lister, S.W.; J. B. Shackleton, J.W.; B. Meyer, Treas.; W. H. Lee, P.M., Sec.; Neville Green, J.D.; H. G. Buss, Provincial Grand Treasurer, Middlesex; W. H. Brand, H. Meyer, C. Johnson, J. Watson, F. Brasted, E. A. Harding, J. Varney, H. Moon, C. W. Smyth, E. Dignam and F. A. Kelly. Visitors: Bros. C. Arkell, S.W. 192; J. Dorkin, 192; J. F. Lovelock, 212; O. Pitcher, 292, Scotland; J. Jones, 907; J. J. Marsh, 1326; W. Morgan, 1385; and G. S. Streeton, 1326. Bros. Charles W. Smith and John L. Payne, 757, were raised, and Bro. Dignam passed. After the business of the lodge the brethren sat down to supper, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts being proposed and duly responded to.

CITY OF WESTMINSTER LODGE (No. 1563).—An emergency meeting of this lodge was held at Regent Masonic Hall, Air-street, Piccadilly, on Monday, the 27th ult. Present: Bros. Swallow, W.M.; Holden, S.W.; White, J.W.; Cottebrune, Treas.; Scott, Sec.; Fisher, Org.; Phillips, S.D.; Shand, J.D.; Parsons, I.G. Visitors: Bros. Allen, P.M. 733; Parson, P.M. 749; Sowell, W.M. 176; Davis, W.M. 382; Burmeister, W.M. 538; Lancaster, W.M. 1287; Michael, W.M. 1507; Iretton, J.W. 1348; Andrews, Edell, Atkin, Evans, Bourne, Marshall, Clifford, Hiles, Gray, Hooker, and Boehr, and about twenty members. Summons calling the meeting read, and ballot unanimously in favour of the following:—Messrs. Pike, Day, Wass, Riley, and Bonham, who were afterwards initiated most impressively by the W.M. Bros. Gray, Bonham, James, and Irving passed to Second Degree This being the whole of the business for which the lodge of emergency was called, the brethren adjourned to most substantial refreshments. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, the W.M. being praised for his good rendering of the ritual, and the officers and brethren for their attention to the visitors. Some excellent harmony contributed to the pleasure of the meeting.

GATESHEAD.—Lodge of Industry (No. 48).—Monday, March 27th, was the day of installation of this lodge. The lodge was opened by Bro. R. Gregory, W.M., and there was a goodly attendance of the Masonic Craft to witness the ceremony, Bro. J. D. Stephen having been accepted by the brethren. Bros. J. E. Robson and J. J. Clay acted as Installing Masters, and Bro. Dr. R. E. Cook, as D.C. Bro. Stephen having been inducted into the chair of K.S., subscribed to the ancient formulas of the Order. Amongst those present were Bros. W. H. Crookes, Prov. G. Sec., Durham; R. B. Lutert, P. Prov. G.S.D. Durham; W. Liddell, P. Prov. G.D. Durham; J. J. Clay, P.M. 97; Jos. Cook, Prov. G.J.D. Northumberland; J. E. Robson, P.M. 48; W. Lean, P.M. 1087; W. Laing, S.W. 659; T. Blenkinsop, P. Prov. G.D. Northumberland; A. Barker, W.M. 1342; R. Candlish, P.M. 661; G. A. Allan, P.M. 991, P. Prov. G.D. Northumberland; T. Dawson, 424; T. Patton, 48; J. T. Smith, 48; T. White, 48; J. H. Thompson, P.M. 48, P. Prov. C.S.B. Durham; R. Smaile, Prov. G.S.B. Northumberland; T. S. Miller, J.W. 424; J. G. Smith, 48; A. Riley, P.M. 139; R. F. Cook, P.M. 48, P. Prov. G.S.D. Durham; R. Humphrey, S.W. 97; W. Richardson, 41; A. Lawrie, S.W. 991; E. Wakefield, 48; G. Hewitt, 48; J. Grieves, 48; J. Atkinson, P.M. 48, P. Prov. G. Supt. Works Northumberland; M. Taylor, 659; P. Harrison, 48; J. G. Robertson, 48; J. Montgomery, J.W. 991. The W.M. invested the following as his officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. D. Sinclair, S.W.; J. G. Waddington, J.W.; R. Gregory, I.P.M. and Treas.; R. F. Cook, D.C.; M. Corbett, Sec.; J. H. Howell, S.D.; R. Whitfield, J.D.; J. Wood, I.G.; R. Tate, S.S.; T. Simm, J.S.; E. Liddell, A.S.; R. Ferry, Org.; J. Curry, Tyler. The brethren afterwards adjourned to Bro. Jas. Tait's, Grey Horse Tavern, where they partook of an excellent repast. An orchestral band discoursed sweet music during the banquet, and the evening was agreeably enlivened by the following musical brethren, viz., Bros. D. Whitehead, J. Walker and J. Nutton, from the Cathedral choir, Durham; also Bros. R. Dewar, jun., A. S. Donni-son, J. Liddle, R. Terry, and R. Dewar, sen.

MIDDLETON.—Imperial George Lodge (No. 78).—An emergency meeting of this lodge was held on Thursday, the 9th ult., at the Assheton Arms, Middleton, Bro. David Reid, W.M., presided. After the usual routine attendant upon opening the lodge, the ballot was taken for Mr. David Tatton and Mr. Edwin Dodd, and being declared favourable in each case, the W.M. received into "The Mystic Circle" both candidates for its privileges. Such concluded the business of the evening, and the lodge having been closed in ancient form the brethren retired to strengthen the inner man. The customary toasts succeeded refreshment, after which the brethren discoursed in social strain; the Tyler's toast bringing the meeting to a close.

The regular monthly meeting of the lodge was held on the 23rd ult., when the ballot was taken for two joining members, Bro. Wm. Jones, 993, Alexandr. Lodge, Levesham, and Bro. George Henry Darion, 327, Zetland.

Lodge, Birkenhead. The election in each case was unanimous. The lodge was then raised to that degree which may be justly termed, "Retrospective and Prospective." Bro. J. B. Howard was then raised to the Sublime degree of a M.M. by Bro. John Wood, P.M., D.C.; the W.M. then conferred the same dignity upon Bros. John Bradshaw and Henry Wilson. Two other raisings were also due, but want of time necessitated their postponement. Two notices of motion were given by Bro. John Wood, P.M., D.C., and one by Bro. Harvey Heywood, P.M. and Treas., and of which subject we hope to speak favourably in our next Imperial George report. Bro. J. Millhouse, J.D., and Bro. J. Hatton, I.G., each proposed a candidate for initiation, after which hearty good wishes were accorded from lodges, 287, 467, 815, 1375. Charity was next attended to, after which the lodge was duly closed, and the brethren adjourned to the social board. After refreshment the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given; then followed the toast of "Our Newly Raised Brethren," this having been responded to, the toast of "The Visitors" was next given and acknowledged. Bro. John Kent, O.G., "worthy Mason be" completed the list of toasts, with the one at all times cheerfully received—"to all poor and distressed Masons." Before closing, our report we make a slight allusion to the "social board," to which, when labour is completed, the brethren, as a rule, retire. Such a course is also beneficial, especially when every brother reasons his merry heart with moderation and decorum. Although the graver responsibilities of the Craft are not conveyed to the banquetting room in their fullest form, it behoves us ever there to keep down all vain and unbecoming thoughts, and to remember that impious feast recorded, as "The feast of Belshazzar." Our social board when surrounded with lights of steady flame, both trimmed and guarded, points out the way to closer union, does not impede but helps us on our pathway of charity and love, a well trodden path, which every Freemason should be proud to traverse. We conclude, therefore, by remarking that the true Mason can be discovered even at the banquetting board.

SHERNESS.—Adam's Lodge (No. 158).—Yesterday week the installation meeting of this old lodge was held, by dispensation from the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Bro. J. S. Eastes, at the offices of the Local Board, Mile Town, Shererness, which had been kindly placed at the disposal of the brethren by the chairman and members of the Board. About seventy brethren attended, and the spacious room was well filled. The W.M., Bro. Ferminger, opened the lodge. On the Deputy Provincial Grand Master entering he was saluted according to ancient custom, after which the W.M. delegated the duties of Installing Master to Bro. A. Spears, Past Prov. G. Organist, Kent. Bro. Carpenter, P.M., then presented Bro. J. Woodley, S.W., for installation, and Bro. Spears duly installed him as Master in the presence of the following Board of Installed Masters:—Bros. Ferminger, W.M.; J. S. Eastes, D.P.G.M.; Alfred Spencer, Prov. G.S.; T. M. Rigg, P.P.G. Reg., P.M. 1089, De Shurland; Townsend, P.M. 158, P.P.G.S.D.; F. Binckes, P.G.S.; Clout, P.M., Mallory Abbey; Wm. Ord, P.M. 387, Leinster, (Malta); J. Parkes, P.M. 387 (Malta); Carpenter, P.M. 158; J. Bagshaw, P.M., Sec.; H. Massey, P.M. 619 ("Freemason"); E. Gorham, W.M. 184, Lodge of Benevolence; and Bro. J. Hancock, P.M. 1089, De Shurland. Bro. Spears announced that Bro. Woodley was the 98th Master who had been installed in Adam's Lodge since the date of the warrant. The following brethren were appointed to office:—Bros. Ferminger, I.P.M.; Brett, S.W.; Watts, J.W.; A. Spears, P.M., Treas.; J. Bagshaw, P.M., Sec.; Carpenter, P.M., D.C. (the first brother who has held that office, the Installing Master said, since he had known Adam's Lodge); Nunn, S.D.; Perkins, J.D.; R. Coleman, I.G.; Akhurst, Tyler. After the addresses had been delivered and the ceremony completed, the new W.M. called upon the Deputy Prov. G.M. to invest the I.P.M. with the jewel which had been voted to him by the brethren of the lodge. Bro. J. S. Eastes thereupon rose, and said he had been requested somewhat suddenly by the W.M. to present Bro. Ferminger with a token of love and regard which the brethren of the lodge had voted to him on his retiring from the chair. He complied with the request with a great deal of pleasure from what he had seen of his conduct that day. Still he had seen but little of him himself; but from what he had been told he had no doubt Bro. Ferminger had been a most active and zealous Master, and that for some time past he had been a most active and zealous member of this lodge. He might remind the I.P.M. that though he had passed from the rank of W.M. to that of P.M. his duties had not ended, but had in fact recommenced, because the duties of a P.M. were heavy; above all, he would have to give advice to the brethren of the lodge, which was a responsible office to take, not less responsible than that of the W.M. himself. He might rely upon it that if the P.M.'s of a lodge remained firm and steady to the principles of Freemasonry, and carried out their duties for the lodge through the chair of which they had passed, the working of the lodges would be performed earnestly and well. He hoped that Bro. Ferminger would still adhere to the working of the ceremonies of the lodge, and that he would consider it his bounden duty to instruct those brethren who came after him. If he did that the brethren would feel that this present which had been given to their brother for love and regard had not been given without foundation for those feelings, because he would then show that he had been a Mason throughout. He trusted that Bro. Ferminger would bear in mind what he had just said, that he would at all times support the Master in the chair and the brethren of the lodge to the utmost of his ability. He had great pleasure in conforming with the wish of the W.M. and brethren in placing this jewel on Bro. Ferminger's breast, not only as a reward for what he had already done, but also in the hope that he would continue to act for the good of the lodge. Bro. Ferminger, in acknowledging the gift, said he felt it a greater honour than many who had received the same, for this reason, he had in his possession a certificate granted to a brother of this lodge whom he had much pleasure as well as honour in recognising as his own grandfather. The certificate was some 80 or 90 years old. His (Bro. Ferminger's) father was a member of this lodge, and the brethren voted him a jewel of a somewhat similar description to the one just voted. It was an additional honour and pleasure to receive the jewel, because he was thankful to say that during the year of office, which their kindness had voted him to unanimously, he had followed in the footsteps of his father and grandfather. He hoped he should continue to act in the same spirit that he had evinced during his year of office; and he could assure the junior brethren that if they wanted instruction they had only to go to the P.M.'s to get it. If any brother, young or old, would come to him he would be happy to devote any time he had at his disposal for instruction of the brethren. As he had received much assistance from the P.M.'s during his year of office he begged now to thank them for it. On the motion of Bro. Spears, seconded by Bro. Townsend, P.M., a cordial vote of thanks was passed to Bro. Eastes, D.P.G.M., for honouring the lodge with his presence. Bro. Eastes, in reply, said he did not consider his presence was deserving of such a vote, as he considered it only a pleasurable duty to come in his official capacity. By repute he knew a great deal of Adam's Lodge. He knew intimately at one time their late Bro. Keddlil, who was a P.M. of the lodge, and in coming that day he renewed his recollection of him. He had to express his thanks to the brethren for having fixed a day for the installation, which was suitable to his own convenience, and it was with much pleasure that he availed himself of the opportunity to come among the brethren. Bro. Ferminger proposed, and Bro. Carpenter seconded, a vote of thanks to Bro. Spears for performing the ceremony of installation, and Bro. Spears having responded, a cordial vote of thanks was passed to the Chairman and members of the Local Board for granting the use of the board-room to the Adam's Lodge for the installation. The motion, which was made by Bro. Townsend, seconded by Bro. Ferminger, and carried unanimously, was ordered to be conveyed to the Local Board in a letter from Bro. J. Bagshaw, Secretary. This concluded the business of the lodge, which was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to their own room for banquet, which was admirably provided and served. When the banquet had been disposed of the toasts were proposed, the W.M. getting through them with great rapidity for the convenience of the many brethren leaving by the last (eight o'clock) train. To enable the brethren to get off at this hour he coupled the name of Bro. Binckes, Past G. Steward, with the toast of "The Grand Officers," and cleverly introduced the toast of "The Masonic Charities" to save time. Bro. Binckes, in reply, said that although he was not a Grand Officer, yet it had been held that in the absence of a Grand Officer or a Past Grand Officer a Grand Steward or Past Grand Steward might properly respond to this toast. On the present occasion there was no one present of higher rank in Grand Lodge than himself, and he would therefore discharge the duty cast upon him with much pleasure. The W.M., in his speech proposing the toast, had referred to Lord Selkirk as a zealous and hard-working Mason, and as a brother who had taken the chair of different Masonic charities, at the last of which—the Benevolent Institution—subscriptions to the amount of nearly £10,000 were obtained. Although comparatively young, his lordship was strenuous in the support of the Masonic Order, which he was sure arose from his intense love of it, and its general principles. He had at all times shown himself anxious to occupy any position he might be called upon to fill with advantage to Freemasonry. Occupying the high position he did he was constantly with Freemasons, and wherever he went he was received with the utmost enthusiasm, and had won "golden opinions from all sorts of people." With respect to the other Grand Officers, they discharged their duties with fidelity and zeal. Speaking upon the cause of charity which had been joined by the W.M. with this toast, the evening was waning very rapidly, and he would simply thank the brethren for what they had done in the cause, and the W.M. for bringing it before them. He considered charity the very main-spring of Freemasonry, the item by which Freemasons were better known and understood by the outer world than by anything else. Twenty-five years he had been associated with all the institutions, and fourteen years he had actually been the Secretary of the Boys' School. He trusted he might say—spite of some little exclusively prevailing opinions in one locality, at all events in the province of Kent—that he could challenge denial when he stated that in that position he had discharged his duty faithfully, conscientiously, and he would go so far as to say on the present occasion honestly, without being open to the charge of being egotistical. Kent had nobly supported the charities, it was always doing something for them, and he thanked the brethren heartily for what they had done. Freemasonry had received a great impetus by the advent to its supreme power of the Prince of Wales; but it must be remembered that with a great accession to the number of Freemasons greater demands would be made on the Institutions, and consequently greater would be the efforts required by all those connected with the institutions to keep pace with those demands. Larger responsibilities would be required of Freemasons than they had hitherto been called upon to bear. He hoped they would be all equal to the emergency, and that the proud boast of Freemasons that no deserving brother in distress, no widow or orphan of a brother, went away unrelieved, would always be asserted with the greatest truth. The toast of "The Prov. G.M., Lord Selkirk," was next proposed, and Bro. J. S. Eastes, D.P.G.M., in reply, thanked the brethren for the very cordial reception he had met with that day. It was scarcely two years since he (Bro. Eastes) had the honour of receiving his appointment from Lord Selkirk, and he had not once during the time that had since elapsed had the opportunity of visiting this lodge in his official capacity. To-day, however, he had been enabled to carry out his own especial feelings with regard to lodges where there were two or more in a town in that he had been enabled to visit the more ancient first. A lodge like this, which was really 110 years old, should be looked upon in an especial way. Since he had been appointed to his office a new face had been put upon Freemasonry. One and all must individually feel this. Still fresh in their recollection was that heavy blow which was aimed at their headship, and which, after all perhaps, figuratively, was a device for bringing us to our knees. In what light, however, could it be looked upon by our enemies. They had seen the Prince of Wales accepting the position of Grand Master, a wonderful increase in the number of Masons, and the wonderful prosperity of Freemasonry throughout the world, thanks to his Royal Highness stepping in and taking the Grand Mastership. They ought to be very proud that the principles of the Order enabled him to do so without fear and without reproach. This was a very great thing, and it had made a great impression on the outer world. We could gather from this at least one lesson for ourselves, how very necessary and desirable it was that all Freemasons should conduct themselves in such a manner as to shew to the world that there was something real and earnest in the spirit of Freemasonry. It was most essential that that should be the case; we ought to be especially good; and certainly in any little differences of opinion they had they ought to be careful not to let the world know of them. This was a thing he wished to be cultivated in the Province of Kent, that brotherly love which they desired to see in the various lodges, and among the individual members themselves. They should be particular to earn a good name as Freemasons; that their action should not dim the lustre of that close relationship they had with their Royal Grand Master. There was one other subject he wished to speak upon, the subject of charity referred to by Bro. Binckes. It was a subject which the brethren of Kent had a great interest in. They might assume that the charitable institutions of the Order were never in a more prosperous condition than now. Thanks to the energy and ability of the Secretaries of those institutions the matter was brought before the Freemasons in the provinces, and the result had been very great additions to the funds. The province of Kent had not been behind hand. But this would be of no avail if they did not back up their early efforts by renewed energy. A great deal more had to be done. There were many individuals in the provinces who never thought of subscribing to the charities, and he was sorry to say there were many lodges which had not thought of this duty. This was an especial field for the Charity Committee of the province to work in; they should call them to account if they did not bring a large amount of subscriptions. There was another matter he wished to bring before the brethren, the necessity of combination and concentration of their whole voting power when they had a candidate. Let them place the candidates in the hands of the committee, and when the committee had decided which to support let them all use their efforts to carry that one in. It was utterly useless, and a mere frittering away of strength, if several brethren were using their exertions on behalf of different candidates. He hoped he had made himself explicit enough on this point. He felt it was of vital importance to the province of Kent. He did not care what they gave; although he would not wish to discourage their giving what they could, he would say it was useless giving away their votes, one here and one there; let them give them all into the hands of their representative, and pass them over for the benefit of the candidate their Charity Committee might select. He made these remarks in a friendly spirit, and as such he hoped they would be taken. Bro. Alfred Spencer, Prov. G. Sec., replied for the Prov. Grand Officers, and informed the brethren that Masonic affairs in the province were in a very satisfactory condition, better than they had been in for years. On some occasions he had had occasion to complain of the work of the different Secretaries, but he was pleased to say there was a great improvement in that respect. His observations had been received kindly, and the returns had been properly made. The number of Masons was now becoming so large that it was incumbent on Masters and the brethren of lodges to be careful whom they admitted, because, as Bro. Binckes had said, as the number increased greater demands were made on the charities. Masonic law might be put in a very few words; be careful whom you admit; being careful whom you admit you will only have good members who will conform to the laws and constitutions of the Order; you will have order and propriety in your meetings; and you may depend upon it that if we act strictly upon that principle, our Craft will be supported by our Grand Master and other eminent Masons. Bro. Spencer then called the attention of the brethren to the circular from Grand Lodge as to the jewels which ought to be worn, and called upon the brethren to see that the orders of Grand Lodge were obeyed. He also called attention to the fact that Bro. Spencer was representative for the Charity Committee, and asked the brethren to support him. Bro. Ferminger, I.P.M., proposed "The Health of the W.M." They all wished him good health during his year of office. They had had an opportunity of seeing what he could do in the various offices through which he had passed, and they believed he would perform his duties as W.M. as satisfactorily. If he did, Adam's Lodge would never regret electing him to the W.M.'s chair. He had been a member of the lodge for the last twelve or fourteen years, and during that time had been most assiduous in his duties. He had never been absent except when his Queen and country called him away. While in the S.W. chair he had never been absent but once, when the snow prevented his getting over from Sittingbourne in time; but even then he tucked up his trousers, put his sea boots on, and attempted to wade to Sheerness in time. He, however, arrived too late for the working of the lodge. While he was S.W., he (Bro. Ferminger) never knew what it was to want a brother to whom he could go for advice and assistance, for he was well up to the W.M.'s duties. As the subject of charity had been touched upon, he hoped the W.M. would follow in the path of other W.M.'s, and that the brethren would support him. The W.M., in reply, said he should do all in his power to assist the institutions, and what he had heard that day had produced a strong effect upon him. He hoped he should carry out his duties as well as his predecessors had done, and with the assistance of the Wardens, Past Masters, and officers, he had no doubt he should succeed in doing it to the satisfaction of the brethren. (Hear, hear.) The toast of "The Masonic Press" was replied to by Bro. H. Massey, of the "Freemason." Bro. Ferminger, in reply to the toast of "The I.P.M.," said,—"I rise rather promptly, as the time is getting on. You are aware I stand before you this evening a full-blown Past Master. I must confess I am not a very big flower, but still I am as big as I can be. But, going from the ridiculous to the sublime, I hope that during my past year of office I have given you satisfaction. If I have not done so I can say honestly I have tried all I possibly could to act conscientiously in the discharge of the obligation I took when I was installed in that chair. There is one thing I hope will remember, that "to err is human, to forgive, Divine." If I have erred I hope you will forgive with all the power of which you are possessed. I am satisfied by the very handsome present you have given me, and the very handsome speech with which it was accompanied this afternoon, that my conduct must have met with your approval, or you would not have presented me with that gift. In accepting it I look upon it as a thing I may be proud of for years and years to come. I felt proud some twelve or thirteen years ago with a jewel that came from the brethren of the Adams' Lodge to my father. I felt proud of it as being his only son. Unfortunately, I had it stolen from me; but what I wish to impress upon your minds is, that if I could feel proud of a tribute that the members of Adams' Lodge in years gone by offered to his memory, I must feel equally proud in having a tribute which you have offered to my efforts to do my duty during my year of office. I can assure you I feel as much delighted in receiving it as you do in giving it. With these remarks I beg to thank you kindly and cordially for the able assistance and ready acquiescence that you have accorded to me while I occupied the chair. (Hear, hear.) The London brethren then returned to town, and the remainder of the toasts were afterwards proposed.

FOREST HILL.—West Kent Lodge (No. 1297).—The installation of this lodge was held on Saturday, at the Railway Hotel, Forest Hill, when the following brethren were present:—Bros. J. Allen, W.M.; H. D. Stead, S.W.; Crouch, J.W.; Clements, P.M.; Warren, P.M.; Kindon, P.M.; A. K. Stead, P.M.; Leonard, P.M.; Dr. Rosenthal, Massey ("Freemason"); Browden, Lawler, Corani, Gardner, Harford, Farmer, B. Cooke. Visitors: Bros. J. C. Parkinson, P.J.D.; A. L. Rosenthal, 1260; F. Toole, P.S.J.W. of Essex; J. While, I.P.M. 228; Isliffe, Crawley, Brookman, Webb, Shaw, Augustus Stead, Berry, Very, and others. The lodge having been opened in due form, the installation of the W.M. elect, Bro. H. D. Stead, was proceeded with, the work being done in a masterly way by Bro. Allen, the W.M. The new Master being duly installed, invested the following brethren as his officers:—Bros. Cronel, S.W., E. C. Massey, Treas., J.W.; Leonard Crowder, S.D.; Gates, J.D.; Lawler, I.G.; Farmer and Harford, Stwds.; Dr. Rosenthal, Chaplain; Warren, D.C.; and Kindon, Sec. The new Master presented Bro. Allen, the I.P.M., with the Past Master's jewel, and spoke in eulogistic terms of the manner in which he had filled the chair. Bro. Allen, in acknowledgment, said he should always value that jewel above all others he might get, as a memento of his year of office, and as a testimony that he had done his duty to the satisfaction of the lodge. Mr. Zuccani was then initiated in Masonic form. Before the lodge closed Bro. Warren said that the lodge had not yet acknowledged the handsome present of a harmonium given by Bro. Corani, sen. He was sure the brethren had appreciated the generosity of the donor, and he should therefore move that the thanks of the lodge be given to Bro. Corani, and that the same be written on vellum and presented to him. This was seconded and agreed to. The lodge then closed in perfect harmony. A banquet followed labour, at the conclusion of which the W.M. proposed "The Queen and the Craft." The recent public appearances of Her Majesty had given general satisfaction, especially her visit to the London Hospital, and they might well drink "The Health of the Queen, the Mother of Masons." The W.M. said the next toast was "The Grand Officers." They were much indebted to their Grand Officers, and H.R.H. the Grand Master in his recent visit to India had represented Freemasonry as much as Royalty. As to the other Grand Officers he had the happiness of being present at the late installation of the Prince of Wales as Grand Master, and he had been much struck with the neat working of Lord Skelmersdale. It impressed him with the full idea that the Grand Officers set a noble example to the officers of lodges. He proposed "The Health of the Grand Officers." The toast was drunk with Masonic honours. Bro. I.P.M. Allen said the toast he had to propose was that of "The W.M." They had all been pleased with the way in which he had acquitted himself that day, and he would no doubt carry on the business in a way worthy of himself and the lodge. The W.M., in reply, said that that was the proudest moment in his life save one. The exception was the announcement of the birth of a son, to be followed by others, and two of whom he was happy to see present. Another was in Bombay, and had the honour to receive the Prince of Wales when H.R.H. was there. His pride was not one of position, but in their approbation, which he certainly was very proud of. In answer to the kind remarks of Bro. P.M. Allen he could only say that he should endeavour to support the known reputation of the lodge. In conclusion he could assure them that he would always try to promote the interests of the Craft in general, and of that lodge in particular. He begged to thank them for their kind response to the toast. The W.M., in proposing "The Health of their Brother Initiate," said that he was a gentleman who was inclined to penetrate deeply into the mysteries of the Craft, and he was sure that Bro. Zuccani would prove a very worthy member. Bro. Zuccani in response briefly thanked the W.M. for initiating him and those officers who had assisted him in the ceremony. He trusted before long to be well versed in the forms and ceremonies of this honourable Order. The W.M.: The next toast was always well received at the West Kent Lodge, it was that of "The Visitors," for they were always pleased to give a hearty welcome to visitors. Visitors were frequently the salt of a lodge meeting, and that night the salt was not without its savour. They had a goodly array of visitors, and he especially thanked Bros. Crawley and Webb for the able assistance they had given him in preparing him for the chair. He regretted that Bro. J. C. Parkinson had been compelled to leave the lodge in order to keep an engagement in town, and in conclusion gave "The Health of the Visitors," coupled with the names of Bros. Berry and Toole. Bro. Berry, of the Yarborough Lodge, responded, and wondered why he had been selected to reply. He could only say that of the Yarborough Lodge in three months they had given eighty guineas away in charity. He had been highly pleased with the kind reception he had met with, and he had much enjoyed the work and hospitality of the lodge. Bro. Toole also responded. The W.M. then proposed "The Health of the Past Masters of the West Kent Lodge, to which all of the body present replied. The toasts of "The Officers" and "The Tyler" were then given, and the proceedings were brought to a conclusion in good time.

CHISLEHURST.—Chislehurst Lodge (No. 1531).—The election meeting of this young and prosperous lodge was held at the Bull's Head Hotel on Saturday, March 25th. Bro. J. Coutts, P.G.P., P.M., W.M., presided, supported by Bros. F. Walters, P.G.P. Middx., P.M., Treas., as I.P.M.; J. Griffin, P.V., Sec.; G. F. Guest, S.W.; W. Kippis, J.W.; H. Gloster, S.D.; Hutchings, D.C.; J. Fox, W.S.; and many others. The only visitor was Bro. Griffiths, P.M. 901. The work, done in an admirable manner, was raising two, passing one, and initiating three gentlemen into the Order. Bro. F. Walters, P.G.P. Middlesex, having informed the members it was not his wish, if elected, to accept the office of Treasurer, because he wished and recommended the lodge to elect their father, Bro. Coutts, into that position by a unanimous vote. A ballot for W.M. for the ensuing year was unanimous in favour of Bro. George Frederick Guest, S.W., and with the same result in favour of Bro. John Coutts, W.M., being Treasurer. On the proposition of Bro. F. Walters, it was unanimously resolved that a ten-guinea testimonial be purchased from lodge funds (the amount to be supplemented by private subscriptions amongst the members), be presented to Bro. J. Coutts, as a slight recognition of his services as first W.M., founder, and father of the lodge. That whenever any vacancy occurred amongst the officers, that in consideration of the essential services rendered to the lodge by the Secretary, Bro. J. Griffin, that he have the vacant office conferred on him. That so long as the lodge has amongst its members a P.M. who can work the installation, that on no account whatever be it ever allowed for any visitor to do that ceremony. Several candidates were proposed for initiation at next lodge meeting. Three Auditors, in addition to those who were provided for in the bye-laws, not being officers of the lodge, were elected. Business being ended, the lodge was closed. After some substantial refreshment, the usual loyal toasts were given and responded to. Some good songs from Bros. J. Williams, Hunt, Samuel, and others helped to pass away a pleasant evening. Before leaving the hotel a good display of fireworks was given, which completed the amusements of the evening. Those not local returned to town, and no doubt enjoyed what they had earned,—"Tired nature's sweet repose, balmy sleep."

INSTRUCTION.

MANCHESTER.—St. David's Lodge of Instruction (No. 1147).—The brethren met on Tuesday, the 28th ult., at the Masonic Hall, Cooper-street. There was an exceptionally good muster. The ceremony of the First Degree was then worked, the following brethren filling the various offices:—F. Coupe, W.M.; T. R. Peel, P.M.; J. Holmes-Poulton, Friendship 44, S.W.; W. Hadden, J.W.; J. Singer, S.D.; J. Davies, J.D.; J. O. Davies, I.G.; T. Elliott, as candidate. A portion of the First Lecture was then taken, which formed an agreeable interlude to the regular work. Subsequently the First Degree was rehearsed again, the following brethren acting:—Bros. F. Coupe, W.M.; J. Davies, P.M.; J. O. Evans, S.W.; T. Elliott, J.W.; J. B. Seel, S.D.; E. Staveley, J.D.; J. Holmes-Poulton, Friendship 44, I.G.; J. Singer, as candidate. The work was carefully and impressively done, and the high state of proficiency the brethren have attained is in no small measure due to the untiring zeal and energy displayed by Bro. T. R. Peel, W.M. St. David's, 1147, and Preceptor to this lodge of instruction.

A portion of the presents made to the Prince of Wales in India will, it is understood, be exhibited at the New Indian Museum, South Kensington, and the remainder in the Bethnal Green Museum.

Scotland.

GLASGOW.—Cathedral Chapter (No. 67).—The regular monthly meeting of this chapter was held in the Masonic Hall, 22, Struthers-street, Calton, Comp. James Duthie, Z., in the chair; Comps. George Priddle, H.; M. Dickson, J.; James Goldie, Scribe; James Wood, Treas.; Samuel Besland, First Sojourner; J. Aytton, Second Sojourner; James Dickie, Third Sojourner. Visiting companions present from Chapters 50 and 87, and a large attendance of members. The Mark Master Lodge being opened, applications were read from the following brethren:—Bros. John Sommerville, 157, Maryland, U.S.A.; William Carstorphine Star, 219; Charles Hawthorne, 458; John McFarlane, 138, Ayr. The four brethren were advanced and had conferred upon them the Mark, Excellent, and Royal Arch Degrees by the M.E.Z., and the chapter was closed in due and ancient form. Comp. Sommerville in an able and brief speech complimented the chapter for the manner in which it was worked, and said it gave him great pleasure in having become a member of the chapter, and that, although he was not a teetotaler, Good Templar, or either, he was at all times temperate, and recommended that all the lodges and chapters should discourage anything like having refreshments in their meetings, as no such had ever been used in his own mother lodge; that Masonry ought to raise man that he would at all times be an example to every one outside of the lodge that in such a way they might be induced to come in and join in the noble work; that he had Masonry at heart, and his wife and daughter were all members of the Order of the Eastern Star, and were far more enthusiastic than what he was, and said it was a mistake that the ladies in this place could not receive the benefits of having the Order conferred upon them, the same as in America.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. Mark (No. 102).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, 213, Buchanan-street, on Monday, the 27th ult. In the unavoidable absence of the W.M., Bro. J. O. Smith, Bro. T. Halket, P.M., occupied the chair; A. C. Paterson, Treas., acting S.W.; Jas. Thomson, J.W.; W. Nicholson, D.M.; J. Monteith, Sec.; H. McMillan, S.D.; G. Littlejohn, I.G.; and A. C. L. Gray, P.D.M. Visitors present: Bros. A. Wallace, P.M. St. George's, Greenwich, 140, E.C.; D. Cowen, St. John's Gibraltar, 115, E.C.; T. B. Bell, S.M. 34; P. Browallie, J.W. 34; J. Bannerman, D.M. 73; J. Taylor, 93; A. McLeod, P.M. 129; G. Fisher, J.W. 129; A. Macpherson, Sec. 129; J. Livingston, P.M. 180; J. Grant, 197; M. McIntyre, 219; H. Cowan, 335; and W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543 ("Freemason"). The lodge was opened and the minutes of last meeting read and adopted. Bro. J. Taylor, of Lodge St. Nicholas, Aberdeen, No. 93, was elected a joining member. Messrs. Adam Neil and B. Vol. Browne were initiated into the E.A. Degree by Bro. T. Halket, P.M.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Union and Crown (No. 103).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, 170, Buchanan-street, on Monday evening, 27th ult., Bro. D. Murray, W.M., in the chair, supported by Bros. A. M. Wright, I.P.M.; R. Munro, D.M.; J. McFarlane, S.M.; W. Thomas, S.W.; W. Forsyth, J.W.; N. Cameron, Treas.; J. Gillies, P.M., P.G.T., Sec.; P. Cullen, V. Chap.; J. S. Pollock, S.D.; A. Gray, J.D.; J. Gray, I.G.; and others. The meeting was particularly well attended, and among those present were Bros. A. Bain, P.M.; A. Leckie, 34; J. J. Hurst, 4; A. Campbell, 27; T. Docherty, 28; T. Chalmers, 118; J. Dick, 122; J. Brown, 152; A. Toward, 170; J. Cameron, 219; J. Findlay, S.M. 333; T. Muir, 347; J. Callen, 419; J. Smith, 458; W. Smith, 458; and others. Bro. J. Callen, of Lodge Neptune, 419, was received as a joining member, and Messrs. J. McLeod and H. Adamson were admitted and received the E.A. Degree at the hands of Bro. Murray, W.M. The other business before the meeting was that of passing and raising, but it was agreed to have an emergency meeting on the 30th ult., at five o'clock, for that purpose.

On Thursday, the 30th ult., an emergency meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, 170, Buchanan-street, Bro. D. Murray, W.M., in the chair, supported by Bros. R. Munro, D.M.; J. Bannerman, D.M. 73, acting S.W.; A. Peddie, 34, acting J.W.; N. Cameron, Treas.; W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); and a fair attendance of members and visiting brethren. The lodge being opened, two brethren were passed to the F.C. Degree. The lodge was then assumed on the Third Degree, when nine brethren were raised to the degree of Master Mason. Both ceremonies were performed by Bro. W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543.

RUTHERGLEN.—St. John's Operative Lodge (No. 347).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held in their Masonic Hall, Cathcart-street, Rutherglen, on Friday evening, the 31st ult., Bro. D. Smart, W.M., in the chair; J. Cunningham, I.P.M., acting S.W.; T. Alston, J.W. The other office-bearers present were Bros. M. Abott, D.M.; T. Muir, S.M.; W. Gardner, Treas.; A. Warnock, Sec.; W. Young, S.D.; A. Robertson, J.D.; and others. A large number of brethren were present, including Bros. J. Hamilton, W.M. 116, and Wm. Ferguson, I.P.M. 116, with a deputation of 23; W. Phillips, W.M. 556, with a deputation of ten; A. Gow, S.M. 581; J. Henry, J.W. 581; R. Allan, Sec. 581; and deputations from the following lodges:—Nos. 27, 73, 87, 114, 117, 219, 408, and 458. The lodge was opened and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. A letter of apology was read from Bro. Horn, Sec. 275, that a deputation from their lodge could not be present that night on account of Bro. Ronald's, the respected W.M., indisposition. Bro. J.

Clare, 408, Lodge Clyde, was affiliated a joining member, and Bros. J. Hamilton, W.M. 116, and ex-Bailie Edgar, Rutherglen, were affiliated honorary members of the lodge by the W.M. The lodge was then called to refreshment, when the W.M. proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, which were heartily responded to. The toast of "The Visiting Brethren" was replied to by Bro. A. Gow, S.M. 581, in an eloquent speech. "The W.M." was proposed by Bro. Phillips, W.M. 556, and replied to in suitable terms by Bro. Smart. "The Past Masters" was proposed by Bro. ex-Bailie Edgar, and replied to by Bro. Cunningham, I.P.M. During the evening Bros. Young, Aitken, Millar, Cunningham, Montgomery, and Gardner sang some excellent songs.

MOTHERWELL.—Lodge St. John Dalziel (No. 409).—The annual festival of this lodge was held on Friday, 31st. ult., Bro. John King, W.M., in the chair, supported by Bros. W. Forrest, P.G.B.B.; C. Gilchrist, P.G.S.D.; W. Bulloch, D.M.; and J. Johnston, S.W. Bros. J. Forsyth, S.W.; and Williamson, J.W., ably discharged the duties of Croupiers, supported by Bros. Kelso, R.W.M.; Brownlie, S.W.; and Barr, J.W. of Lodge St. Mary, Coltness, No. 31. Between fifty and sixty brethren sat down to dinner, including deputations from the following lodges:—Bros. A. Gladston, St. Mark's, Glasgow, 102; J. Walker, Hamilton, 233; and McPhail, Kilwinning, Paisley. After the usual loyal, patriotic, and Masonic toasts had been proposed and responded to, Bro. Bryson, at the request of the Chairman, proposed "The Health of Bro. A. King, P.M.," in a very congratulatory manner, and in the name of the lodge presented him with a very handsome timepiece, as a mark of respect, and in consideration of the valuable services he has rendered to the lodge. Bro. King, in replying, thanked the brethren for their kindness, and said that this mark of esteem was quite unexpected, and that it gave him very much pleasure to think that the brethren had thought him worthy of such a handsome presentation. A very happy evening was spent with song, toast, and sentiment. Bros. Robertson and Gladston added greatly to the harmony of the meeting by giving some excellent selections of music on the violin and harmonium.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Athole (No. 413).—A meeting of this lodge was held in St. Mark's Hall, 213, Buchanan-street, on Tuesday evening, the 28th ult., Bro. J. Louttit, W.M., in the chair; J. Miller, P.M.; D. Leeds, S.W.; A. Holmes, J.W.; P. Agnew, Treas.; R. Graham, Sec.; G. Robertson, S.D.; W. Grindlay, J.D.; and others. Among the visiting brethren were Bros. W. Bell, I.P.M. 33; Jas. Booth, W.M. 87; W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 116; W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); R. Allan, Sec. 581; Fraser, 73; Kay, 73; Annand, 87; Grant, 127; Aitken, 441; and Hunter, 453. On the lodge being opened, and the minutes of previous meeting read and confirmed, Messrs. James Peace and J. McNeill were admitted and initiated into the First Degree by Bro. Louttit, W.M. Three brethren were passed to the F.C. Degree, the W.M. again performing the ceremony, and four brethren were raised to the degree of Master Mason by Bro. J. Miller, P.M.

RIFLE MATCH IN EDINBURGH.

A most interesting rifle match came off on Monday, 27th ult., in the Hunter's Bog, between the Volunteer members of the Rifle Lodge, No. 405, and the military and Volunteer members of the Roman Eagle, No. 160. The competition arose out of a challenge, given some weeks ago by the Rifle Lodge, which was at once accepted by their Masonic brethren of No. 160. The last-named lodge being strong in military members, the match was considered by outsiders as a foregone conclusion in their favour. The result, however, shows that the Rifle Lodge has among its brethren a number of very good average shots. The conditions were—ten men aside, any military weapon, ranges 200 and 500 yards, seven shots at each. Proceedings began at 2.30, by which time a very large number of gentlemen connected with the Craft had assembled to witness the match. The weather was dull, but altogether favourable to good shooting. At the conclusion it was found that the youthful lodge representatives (the Rifle) had beaten their opponents by 37 points. The top scores of the match were Colour-Sergeant Machin, 79th Regiment, 47 (Roman Eagle), and Private D. Stewart, 47 (Rifle). The arrangements for the match were carried out by Bro. J. H. Forrester for the Rifle Lodge, and Bro. Gunn for the Roman Eagle. The following are the aggregate scores:—

RIFLE LODGE.	ROMAN EAGLE.
Pt. D. Stewart, Q.E.R.A. 47	Col.-Ser. Machin, 79th... 47
Ser. Edwards, M.C.A.V. 44	Ser. Emslie, 79th..... 41
Gunner Young, M.C.A.V. 43	Piper Glen, Q.E.R.V. 40
Capt. Hills, Q.E.R.V. 40	Ser.-In. Kennedy, 79th 39
Pt. A. T. Athorpe, do. 40	Ser. M'Phail, 71st..... 38
Dn. Forrester, M.C.A.V. 39	Ser. Chassels, 79th 35
Cap. Macadam, Q.E.R.V. 38	Ser. Marshall, Q.E.R.V. 32
Pt. Marr, Q.E.R.V. 37	Ser. Mallard, A.H. Crps. 27
Bat.-Ser.-Maj. Mitchell, 30	Ser. Gunn, 79th 27
M.C.A.V. 30	Ser. Henderson, 79th ... 19
Mr. Grieve 24

The team of the Rifle Lodge were entertained by their opponents to supper in the Iona Hotel, Nicolson-street.

NEW MASONIC HALL FOR EXETER.

For thirty-three years past the Freemasons of this city have made Tuckers' Hall their headquarters, and during their occupancy the building was specially fitted up for their accommodation. Sometimes, however, their meetings were found to clash with the meetings of the Tuckers' and Weavers' Corporation, and upon these occasions they had, of course, to give away. This was a source of inconvenience to the brotherhood, and they have, from time to time, discussed the advisability of obtaining "a house of their own;" in fact, for many years past the funds of the Exeter Lodges have been accumulated and invested for the express purpose of purchasing an eligible site, or a building that could be made available for a Masonic Hall. During the alterations which, for the past nine months, have been in progress at Tuckers' Hall, they have had to hold their meetings at the Public Rooms, and the trouble and expense entailed has brought the old subject of discussion again to the front, so that the question of erecting a Masonic Hall for Exeter has had to be definitely considered. A piece of land at the top of Longbrook-street was offered, and a general meeting of the three Exeter Lodges was called to consider this offer; but just previous to the meeting a suggestion was made that the extensive premises in Gandy-street lately occupied by Mr. Hawkins, surgeon, and belonging to Mr. Snow, wine merchant, might be purchased, and for a comparatively small outlay adapted to serve all the purposes of the Craft. A large number of the brethren viewed the premises, and were so struck with their general suitability that they at once accepted the offer of Bro. Jerman, architect, to survey and report upon the premises to a general meeting of the Order. A joint committee, composed of three members from each lodge, with Bro. S. Jones as hon. sec., was formed to receive the report, which they subsequently brought before the united lodges, who confirmed the first impressions of the brethren, and passed a resolution authorising them to enter into arrangements for purchasing. Like most of the houses in Gandy-street, the residence selected by the Freemasons for their Masonic Hall is of ancient date and appearance. It was built, as far as can be ascertained, more than two hundred years ago, and has been occupied from that time by city magnates. It was the residence of Roger Sanders, who was three times Mayor of Exeter, and of his family for several generations afterwards; eventually it came into the possession of the Snow family, who used it as a residence until some forty years ago. From the architect's report we are glad to learn that in adapting the building to the purposes of Freemasonry every care will be taken to preserve its ancient and historical features. Several of the inner doors are of the time of Henry VIII., carved and mounted with quaintly-devised ironwork, and, being in moderately-good preservation, they will probably be allowed to remain, as will also the quaint Elizabethan fire-places. The right wing is to be allotted for the accommodation of the resident Tyler. The premises are extensive, and, in addition to the large and handsome lodge-room, will admit of the apportioning of a good-sized private room to each of the three Exeter lodges. The establishment of a Masonic Club has been suggested, and the premises are certainly well adapted for the carrying out of such a scheme. The want of such a club, where the members of the Craft of the city and the province of Devon can meet in social communion, must have been long felt, and it is, therefore, hoped that the brethren will not allow the present opportunity to pass by without giving the matter their serious consideration. We are assured that many of them have already expressed their opinions in favour of such a scheme. The first separate lodge-room, with robing-room attached, is to be on the first floor of the left wing, the other two being on the basement on each side of the staircase. This staircase is a grand, wide structure, with heavy turned balustrade. On the second floor there is a fine large room, formerly used as a banquet-room, 26ft. by 17ft., into which will be thrown a small room, &c., adjoining, making it 31ft. by 18ft. This is to be set apart as the general lodge-room, and is considered sufficiently large to accommodate the Craft in the city for many years to come. If the brethren should feel ambitious to possess a large Masonic Hall for provincial purposes for the use of the whole of the Craft in the West, they have plenty of room at their disposal, and such a hall might be erected without in any way interfering with the present arrangements. The entrance into the large room is proposed to be through wide folding doors, the walls and ceilings to be stencilled and embellished with Masonic emblems and ornaments, a beautiful enamel window to be placed inside the present large window at the East end, and the floor to be covered with a Brussels carpet, of an appropriate design. The upper rooms will probably be set apart for the Orders of Chivalry (Knight Templar, Rose Croix, &c.). These rooms are excellently adapted for this purpose, there being the necessary three rooms connecting with each other. There are several other rooms for the storage of Masonic furniture, and other conveniences. Indeed, it is the opinion of many that more convenient and commodious premises could not have been secured, even if they had gone to the necessarily heavy outlay of erecting a new building expressly for the purpose, while the present building can be adapted and fitted up at comparatively slight expense. We are informed that the preliminary agreement for purchasing has been signed by the honorary secretary to the joint committee, who are to be the trustees, and that the property will be conveyed to them with all convenient despatch.

A STERLING TESTIMONIAL.—One of those gratifying and graceful tributes of esteem and recognition of services, after a long number of years, filled with anxiety and care, transpired on Wednesday, 29th ult., by a presentation of a very handsome silver tea set to Miss Agnes Tomkins, lately holding the principal position in one of the numerous fancy departments, in the well-known house of Bro. Ex. Sheriff Hutton, 7, Newgate-street, London. The service was contained in a beautiful Russia case, lined with purple silk velvet, each piece of plate bore the monogram of Miss Tomkins. Such testimonial do credit both to the firm as well as to the lady in question.

Reviews.

"ANNUAL REPORT OF THE METROPOLITAN AND CITY POLICE ORPHANAGE, 1876."

We have read with much pleasure the Annual Report of this useful institution for 1876. It is a most satisfactory one. There are now 160 children in the orphanage, 88 boys and 72 girls, and the school report of the Rev. D. Anderson is much to the credit both of teachers and taught. The financial statement is equally good in the present and promising for the future. The whole amount received reaches to £9545 19s. 8d., the whole amount expended to £8008 3s. 7d., leaving a balance in hand of £1537 16s. 1d., as well as £1975 6s. 2d. Three-and-a-half per Cent Met. Con. Stock. But some of the items of receipts are very remarkable. Annual subscriptions amount to £1903 18s. 7d., donations to £1179 12s. 7d. The Metropolitan and City Police Sergeants and Constables subscribe £2228 8s. 7d., while the large sum of £3276 1s. 9d. is raised from popular concerts and other entertainments organized mainly by the force. Retired sergeants and constables send £31 4s. 8d., and the boxes at the police stations £72 0s. 2d. Now, as we before remarked, these items are very noteworthy, inasmuch as £5504 10s. 4d. may fairly be said to be obtained by the unflinching zeal and organized efforts of the two forces. It is an old saying, and not the less true because old, that when people are in earnest they are sure to succeed, and we have not the least doubt but that, thanks to some liberal and befitting outside aid, the great success of the orphanage is attributable to the steady and persevering efforts, and cheerful and ready support of the force itself. The French saying "Aide toi même et Dieu t'aidera," "Help thyself, and God will help thee" is often exemplified and made good in human life, and never that we remember has it been more forcibly made true than in the case of this most needed orphanage. We trust sincerely that it has before it a future of increasing usefulness and practical prosperity. It appears to be admirably managed, and economically administered, and remembering what the peace and safety of this huge and overgrown metropolis owes to so comparatively small a body of disciplined and well-behaved men, we think that many of our merchants and "upper ten thousand," may well, by an annual subscription, strengthen the hands of the executive, and develop, as needs be, the great blessings of the institution itself. The work of the police is very hard and trying, they are exposed to innumerable accidents, and worse, and sure we are, the orphanage, of which the force may well be proud, deserves the friendly sympathy of all who are interested in the orphan and friendless, and above all are glad to testify their good will to those from whom they exact so much, and for whom often they do so little.

MAY'S BRITISH AND IRISH PRESS GUIDE FOR 1876.

May's Press Guide for 1876 is a very striking publication. Some of its facts are very interesting. There are now 1754 newspapers published in the United Kingdom, in the metropolis 452, in the provinces 931, in Wales 52, in Scotland 157, in Ireland 141, and in the British Isles 20. Of these 83 are daily morning, and 43 daily evening papers, 13 are published 5 times a week, 2 four times a week, 23 3 times a week, 110 twice a week, 16 are published on Mondays, 63 on Tuesdays, 101 on Wednesdays, 136 on Thursdays, 336 on Fridays, 70 on Saturdays, and 1 on Sundays, we feel bound to say, sad exception, 1 is published three times a month, 15 twice a month, 8 fortnightly, 99 monthly, 1 quarterly, and 1 irregularly. We are interested in this "petit sujet." And of those 80 are published at a halfpenny, 880 at a penny, 93 at 1½d. 270 at 2d., 13 at 2½, 117 at 3d., 10 at 3½, 54 at 4d., 20 at 5d., 76 at 6d., 3 at 7d., 2 at 8d., 6 at 9d., 23 at 1s., 2 at 1s. 6d., 5 at 2s., and 15 gratis. Of these newspapers 5 were established before the year 1700, 75 from 1700 to 1799, 34 from 1800 to 1810, 29 from 1811 to 1820, 48 from 1821 to 1830, 100 from 1831 to 1840, 132 from 1841 to 1850, 457 from 1851 to 1860, 464 from 1861 to 1870, 249 from 1871 to 1874, and 84 in 1875. There are also, it seems 746 periodicals, or serials of which 555 are published in London, in the provinces 107, Wales 19, Scotland, 41, Ireland 22, and British Isles 2. 529 of these are published monthly, 83 quarterly, 80 weekly, 32 at irregular times, and 21 at various times from biennially to half yearly. The earliest magazine is the Gentlemen's Magazine 1732, and six others were published originally in the last century, and still continue. Of these serials 326 are religious, London issuing alone of this number 260. Surely some brother who read these figures, if any one ever does read figures, will admit that "fact is often stranger than fiction," and that there are many more wonderful things in this world, statistical or otherwise, than exist often in a "fellar's" philosophy.

REPORT OF THE SEAMEN'S HOSPITAL AT GREENWICH.

The old "Dreadnought" had a great interest for us all, for though we are a nation of shopkeepers, we have a good deal of "sentiment," and not a little patriotism, and "Jack" always appeals to the heart and memories of a Briton. Now that he is ashore, comfortably housed at Greenwich, and no longer afloat in the Thames, we still feel a considerable degree of interest in that most useful of institutions, which cares in its cosmopolitan character for the mercantile marine of all nations. We are told that the report is, on the whole a good one, though we note that the hospital is apparently in need of funds. Its ordinary and extraordinary income for 1875 amounted to £12,691 18s. 8d., and its expenditure to £14,439 18s. 7d., but as of this account £3636 9s. 6d. were debts, it would seem that if its receipts keep up to this present account, there would remain about £2000 to meet extraordinary expenditure, which, of course, varies each year. 2045 in-patients were admitted in 1875, and as many of them came from ports which gave nothing we agree with the committee, that efforts ought to be made at once in those places to aid the society's operation. The average number of out patients mainly, through accident, is 1500. We have said enough to show the value and importance of this very useful institution, and we are glad to commend it to the notice of our readers and brethren.

W. F. A.

Mulum in Barbo; or Masonic Notes and Queries.

THE WILSON MS.

We have already given Mr. Hunter's graphic account of his researches among the Wilson manuscripts and their final dispersion by auction. The purchaser was the late Sir Thomas Phillips, and the bulk of the papers are supposed to be still in his collection. But through the inquiries of the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, and Bro. S. B. Ellis, of Sheffield, a curious Masonic Constitution, which formed part of this collection, has been found in the possession of the Rev. J. E. A. Fenwick, son-in-law of the late Sir Thomas Phillips. It is thus described in the April number of the "Masonic Magazine":—"We publish in another page the Wilson MS Constitution. It is a manuscript written on vellum, rubricated in certain words, and said to be of 17th century. A vellum MS. in England of the 17th century is very rare. We hope, however, to obtain a facsimile of the handwriting, which may lead to distinct certainty as to the date. We are ourselves inclined to fix the date as the 16th century from the simple fact of its being on vellum and rubricated. It is mentioned by Preston in 1778, and, if we remember rightly, in Dr. Oliver's edition of Hutchinson, and is said by Preston to be tempore Henry VIII. It was purchased by Sir Thomas Phillips, the great MS. collector, from Mr. Wilson, and is now in the possession of his son-in-law, the Rev. J. E. A. Fenwick, of Thirlestane House, Cheltenham, who has kindly permitted a copy to be taken of the MS., and that it should be published 'literatim et verbatim in extenso.' It is a curious manuscript per se, for several reasons, to which we shall allude in our next number, and very interesting to Masonic students." Freemasons and others who are curious in the matter will find the "Constitution" printed in extenso in the April number of the "Masonic Magazine."

Sheffield Independent.

I beg to call attention to the announcement elsewhere as regards the Wilson M.S., and I am glad to say that I shall soon be in possession of a facsimile, or apportion of it.

A.F.A.W.

Obituary.

BRO. THE HON. F. WALPOLE, P.G.M. NORFOLK.

It is our painful duty to record the death of Bro. the Hon. Frederick Walpole, M.P., Provincial Grand Master for Norfolk, which sad event took place on Saturday last, somewhat suddenly. Bro. Walpole was installed Provincial Grand Master for the Province of Norfolk, Nov. 20th, 1875, and, owing to his great popularity, and the unanimity with which his appointment by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M., was received in the province, served to bring together the largest assemblage of Masons ever gathered at a meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Norfolk. Upwards of 300 brethren were present, including not merely Norfolk Masons, but Suffolk, Essex, Leicestershire, and London. Previous to this appointment, he had served the office of Deputy Provincial Grand Master for many years. We are assured his death will be deeply regretted by the Craft in general.

FUNERAL OF BRO. SIR CORDY BURROWS.

On Saturday afternoon, all that was mortal of the remains of Bro. Sir Cordy Burrows, were carried to their last resting place in the Extra-mural Cemetery, Brighton, amidst all the signs of respect that could possibly be shown to the memory of an esteemed citizen. Indeed, a more impressive scene than that witnessed on the occasion—impressive as a spectacle, and doubly so as an outward sign of deep-seated veneration for the departed and of sympathy with his surviving friends—could not possibly be conceived.

All being in readiness, a movement was made almost punctually at two o'clock via Castle-square, to the residence of the deceased, from whence the body had already been removed and placed on the ecclesiastical open funeral car. A pall of purple velvet, with white satin cross and white tassels, covered the coffin, and on the pall itself were wreaths of white camellias and other rare and beautiful flowers. The bier was surmounted by devices and Masonic emblems worked in flowers. In front, immediately above the foot of the coffin, was a festoon bearing the word "Charity"—and a more appropriate motto could not well have been chosen to connect with the name of the departed. This was the gift of the Master (Bro. J. M. Kidd) and brethren of the Brunswick Lodge.

The Mark Masons of the Province of Sussex sent as a token of their love and esteem a floral keystone. It had a ground work of laurels, upon which was placed a raised design to represent the emblem of this Masonic Order, viz., a keystone composed of white flowers, chiefly camellias and azaleas. Upon the centre of the keystone were two circles, one of dark blue and one of dark red flowers. Across this was a triangle of yellow flowers, and at the top, to represent the Lewis, was a device also in yellow flowers, the whole being exceedingly effective and beautiful.

On one side of the car was placed a magnificent floral representation of the double triangle in the circle, presented by the Master (Rev. Bro. Walker) and brethren of the Yarborough Lodge. On the other side of the car was another very elaborate device in flowers of the square and compasses, presented by the Master (Bro. W. T. Nell) and brethren of the York Lodge.

The procession had a very imposing and attractive appearance, owing to its thoroughly representative character. The Volunteer Fire Brigade were in full uniform, with hatchets and helmets; the 1st Sussex Rifles were in uniform, but without belts or side arms; the 1st Sussex Artillery wore their busbies, but were also without belts and arms; and the Royal Naval Volunteers wore blue serge trousers and shirts, white naval hats and cutlasses. The principal friendly societies were also emblematically distinguished. No regalia was worn by either order, and only the district officers wore the mourning scarves generally assumed on such occasions. The members of the Manchester Unity of Oddfellows, however, each wore a sprig of thyme in the left button-hole; the Foresters wore a small piece of pea-green ribbon in the same way; and the Druids wore on their left breast oak and ivy leaves and acorns. The crew of the Robert Raikes lifeboat wore their red Phrygian caps; and the members of the Brighton Rowing Club wore in their button-holes the red and white striped ribbon of the Club, clouded with crape. All others in the procession wore the conventional black; but the leaves of acacia, kindly furnished to the brethren by Messrs. Balchin and Nell, of Western-road, and by Mr. Hugh Saunders, of Keymer, clearly showed that, large as was the attendance of Freemasons, who had been marshalled by Bro. John Scott in the position particularly allotted for them, there were many of the Craft occupying representative positions amongst the members of other public bodies. Bro. Sir Cordy Burrows was an energetic Mason, and one universally beloved by the fraternity. He was initiated in the Southdown Lodge, 164, was W.M. of the Keystone Lodge, No. 168, and the first Provincial Grand Mark Master Mason of Sussex, having been installed in Brighton in October, 1874, by the Right Hon. the Earl of Limerick, R.W. Grand Mark Master. He was also a member of the Order of Knights Templar, De Warenne Preceptory, Priory of Malta, and of the Rose Croix Degree, Eureka Chapter. His Craft titles were P.M. 811, of which lodge he was also a founder; P.P.G.J.W. Sussex; and a Royal Arch Mason, having been exalted in that degree of Masonry in the Lennox Chapter, No. 27.

"Sir John Cordy Burrows, born 5th August, 1813, died 25th March, 1876," so it was set forth on the coffin plate—the deceased's coat of arms and crest, Sursum Corda, surmounting the name—had been laid in the resting place he had himself chosen. His son, his brothers, and the other mourners first took their last glimpse; and then slowly, but in the perfect order that had been maintained throughout, filed past all those who had followed the remains from the top of the avenue to the grave. Those who were Masons dropped on the body the sprigs of acacia which they had till now worn in their coats, in the firm hope and assurance that their departed brother had passed into the mansions of eternal bliss and glory, where the World's great Architect lives and reigns for ever. Those who were Odd Fellows performed a similar ceremony with sprigs of thyme; and those who were Druids with ivy leaves. Many, very many, of those who belonged to no special "Order" helped to strew the coffin with flowers of the early spring, and so on till every individual member of the whole procession had slowly passed by and respectfully, with uncovered head, bid farewell. Then—it was now five o'clock, the proceedings from the commencement of the cortege organization having occupied three hours—followed on hundreds of the public who had been spectators only, and there was more leave-taking—more bestrewn with flowers—more regretful feelings at the loss of a good man.

At length, it is finished—the grave has closed; but time will have to roll, we had almost written for generations, before "the last resting place of Cordy Burrows" ceases to be looked upon with respectful recollection.

Brethren present: Bros. J. M. Cunningham, P.M. 75; P.G.M. Over, and Dep. P.G.M.M.M. Sussex; T. J. Sabine, P.M. 22, P.M. 75, P.G.M.A.D. of C., P. Prov. G.M. Sec. Sussex; T. Trollope, P.M. 166, G.M.D. of C., and P.G.M. S.W. Sussex; W. Hudson, P.M. 75 and 164, P.G.M.A.D. of C., and P.G.M.J.W. Sussex; S. R. Adye, W.M. 164, P.G.M. St. B., and P.G.M. Sec. Sussex, representing Grand Mark Lodge of England, &c. In addition to the above there were also present: Bros. J. Braithwaite, S.W. 164, P.G.M. Treas. Sussex; C. J. Smith, W.M. elect 168, P.G.M.D. of C. Sussex; Rev. Cave-Brown-Cave, 166, P.G.M. Chap. Sussex; J. Pearson, P.M. 75, P.G.M. Jun. Ovr. Sussex; W. R. Wood, W.M. 168, P.G.M. S.D. Sussex; J. N. Stoner, W. 168, P.G.M. J.D. Sussex; Kemp, 164, P.P.G.M. Stwd. Sussex; Davis, 75; Tuppen, 75; Rose, 75; J. Eborall, P.M. 75, &c.; Nell, S.W. 75; Foat, J.W. 75; Buckman, 75; Hornsey, 75; Curtis, 75; S. Peters, 75; J. Jeffcoat, Sec. 75; T. Chardler, 75; C. W. Hudson, 164; F. Willard, 164; Matthews, 166; J. R. Hawkins, 68, P.P.G.M. Stwd. Sussex; Tyndal Roberts, P.P.G. Reg., Notts; J. Scott, 315; Kuhe, G. Org. of England; J. M. Kidd, W.M. 732; J. Wood, 811; W. Bennett, 315; H. Saunders, P.M. 315; J. M. Stride, P.M. 315; W. Marchant, 315; W. Smith, P.M. 732; Rev. E. Walker, 811; Rev. Dr. O'Brien, 732; Dr. Tanner, 732; C. Horsley, 732; T. Lainsan, 732; F. Holford, 732; C. Chalk, 732; Lewis, 732; Vicars, 732; Landau, 732; De Paris, 732; Capon, 732; Auscombe, 732; D. Mutton, 732; King, Bombay; Suter, B.S.W. 56; Stuckey, 315; E. Martin, 313; A. Cunningham, 315; Foat, 315; Merry, 215; Rogers, 315; E. J. Furner, P.G.D., D.P. G. Master of Sussex, owing to his recent severe accident, was unable to walk in the procession, but he followed in his private carriage, and walked from the gates of the cemetery to the grave.

The following Masons were prevented by illness or other causes from attending, but sent apologies and expressions of regret:—Bros. G. Smith, Kukland, S. Cowly, A. Cowley, Fairman, Duke, J. Dorman, G. Weller, Knight, Stevens, Binckes, Meggy, Tomkinson, Davey, Pidock, Guyon, Bidgood, Buckham, Golding, Newman, Worge, Moren, and others.

Masonic and General Tidings.

A correspondent informs us that a lodge has at last been formed in Bolivia. It is called Trabajo y Houradez, No. 17, and holds its charter from the Grand Orient of Peru. On the 1st of January, 1876, two months from its consecration, it numbered 34 members. The office-bearers for the current year are as follows:—The Installing Officers Bros. Incipion Vernaza, 18°; W.M., Louis Lichtenstein, 18°; S.W., Louis F. Puelma; J.W., J. Castro Tagle; Sec., Abdon S. Ondaza; Treas., Dr. H. E. Neill; S.D., Anto. Magallanes; J.D., Manl. A. Fejada; I.G., G. Puijo.

It is announced that Her Majesty the Queen and the Princess Beatrice will embark for England on board the Victoria and Albert at Cherbourg on the 21st of April.

As the Prince of Wales will receive the corporation of Portsmouth's address on Board the Scapis, little will be done on shore beyond a ball which is to be given by the Mayor in honour of the occasion. The Freemasons are trying to get a space in the dockyard set apart for them, in which to open a lodge and greet the Prince with Masonic honours.

The anniversary festival of the London Coffee and Eating House Keepers' Benevolent Association will be held at the London Tavern, on the 12th ult. Bro. Alderman Sheriff Knight will preside, supported by an influential list of Stewards.

Bro. John Adams Acton, who is now in Bombay, has been commissioned to execute a bust of the Prince of Wales for the public library of the city of Jullundur.

GUILDHALL LIBRARY.—The committee of this library gave its annual dinner on Monday at the Albion Tavern, Aldersgate-street, Mr. Reginald Hanson, M.A. (chairman), presiding. In proposing the toast of "The Queen," the chairman remarked that whatever addition her Majesty might make to her title she would still be to Englishman what she had been for nearly forty years, namely, the Queen. The chairman then presented Bro. Symonds, the late chairman of the Library Committee, with a testimonial in recognition of his efforts in furtherance of its prosperity.

At the request of the Glasgow Working Men's Investment and Building Society, Limited, and with the consent and authority of the Provincial Grand Master, Alexander Smollett, Esq., of Bonhill, the Foundation-stone of the first of a series of houses in course of erection by that Society at Clyde Bank, Dalmuir, will be laid with Masonic honours, this day, Saturday, the 8th of April.

It is announced from Florence that Prince Leopold has arrived in that city.

The annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of South Wales, (Western Division), will be held at Aberystwith in June. We wish its popular Provincial Grand Master, (Major J. A. Lloyd Phillips), a successful gathering. Further particulars will shortly appear in our advertising columns.

The foundation stone of the new Masonic Hall at Havant, will be laid by Bro. W. W. B. Beach, Provincial Grand Master, Hants and Isle of Wight, on Monday next the 10th inst.

Bro. Captain Sir John H. Glover, R.N., G.C. M.G. of the Grand Masters Lodge, No. 1, sailed from Liverpool on Tuesday to assume his duties as Governor Commander-in-Chief of Newfoundland and its dependencies.

Considerable improvements in the postal service between England and France will be introduced on the 1st of May. The French mail, comprising the correspondence from the Liverpool and Manchester district, will be despatched from London at 9.30 p.m., and delivered in Paris the following morning.

The Royal London Militia will assemble for training on the 19th of June.

In reply to numerous enquiries we beg to state that the "Freemason" is published on Friday mornings, and should be obtainable of any newsagent and at all the railway bookstalls on Friday afternoon. The publisher will be glad to be informed where difficulty is experienced in procuring copies.

The Consecration of the Skelmersdale Lodge, No. 1599, took place at Masons Hall, Basinghall-street yesterday. A full report will appear in our next.

It was officially announced at the Admiralty on Saturday last that Captain William Codrington had been appointed private Secretary to Bro. the Right. Hon. Ward Hunt, First Lord of the Admiralty, in the room of Captain M. C. Seymore.

Bro. Chaplin Henry's programme has been accepted for the musical arrangements at the forthcoming Festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

THE WESLEY MEMORIAL.—We are requested to state that the Wesley Memorial in Westminster Abbey is the work of Bro. John Adams-Acton, who is at present in India.

It is stated that the State apartments at Windsor are to remain closed till her Majesty's return from Germany; and as it is feared that this fact may keep visitors away from the Royal borough during the holidays, a meeting is to be held with the view of getting up a requisition to the Lord Chamberlain to consider the matter.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/-

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS

are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

NOTICE.—It is very necessary for our friends to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For term, position, &c., apply to

GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

NOW READY.

VOLUME 8 OF THE "FREEMASON,"

from January to December, 1875, bound in cloth, with richly embossed device on cover. Price 15 shillings. This volume forms a first class reference and chronology of the leading events in Masonry during the past year. It may be had through any bookseller, or at the office, 198, Fleet-st., London.

NOW READY.

Reading Covers, to take 52 numbers of the "Freemason," price 2/6, may be had at the office, 198, Fleet-street.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

The following communications stand over:—Consecration of the Hamilton Lodge, No. 1600; "A New Idea in Spelling Bees;" Obituary of Bro. J. Porter. Reports of lodges Faith, 141; Lagos, 1171, South Africa; Harmony, 438, Cawnpore; Chapter Domestic, 177.

BOOKS RECEIVED.

"Constitution General Statutes and Ordinances of the Ancient and Primitive Rite of Masonry;" "New England Freemason."

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d. for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTH.

ANTRIM.—The Countess of, at St. James's Palace, March 26th, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

KESTEVEN—FLINT.—At Croydon, Mr. William H. Kesteven, M.R.C.S., of Tuffnell Park-road, to Beatrice, daughter of Mr. Richard Flint, of Croydon, March 28th.

PHILK—ORGILL.—At St. Stephen's, Haverstock-hill, Mr. Clarence J. Peile, of the Inner Temple, Barrister-at-Law, to Lizzie, daughter of Mr. J. J. Orgill, of Roslyn Park, Hampstead, March 30th.

IRWIN—COX.—At St. Andrew's, Deputy Inspector-General Ahmuty Irwin, R.N., C.B., son of the late Very Rev. Arthur Irwin, Dean of Ardert, to Annie G., daughter of Colonel J. W. Cox, C.B., commanding the forces in Jamaica, Feb. 25th.

DEATHS.

WALPOLE, the Hon. Frederick, M.P., Provincial Grand Master for Norfolk, April 1st.

PORTEIS.—On the 29th ult., Bro. James Porteis, P.G. S.W. Cumberland and Westmorland, after a very short, but severe illness.

VINCENT.—On the 3rd inst., at Morpeth-terrace, Augusta, wife of Sir Francis Vincent, Bart.

GOMPERTZ, Emily Ann, wife of Major E. D., Mysore Commission, at Bangalore, aged 31, March 19th.

BOYCE, Stanley D., son of Mr. Mathias, of Warrington-crescent, Maida Vale, aged 12, March 29th.

ROTHSCHILD, Mr. Sigismund, of Munich, Knight of the Danish Order of Dannebrog, at St. Thomas, West Indies, aged 76, March 14th.

MERCER, Pauline, M., infant daughter of Mr. Frank, at Canterbury, March 29th.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 1876.

THE RETURN OF OUR ROYAL GRAND MASTER.

The Serapis and her consorts weighed anchor on the morning of the 3rd, and left Alexandria for Malta. The Acting Governor of Gibraltar had received a telegram from Alexandria, announcing that the Prince of Wales would probably be at Gibraltar on the 12th, and stay a week. He would probably reach Malta late on the 5th, or early on the 6th.

PROFESSION AND PRACTICE.

That it is a "queer world my masters," is a statement as undeniable as it is uncontroversial, and verified by countless experiences of human life, day by day, hour by hour. And in nothing is this more plain than in that wonderful inconsistency of humanity which accompanies every step we take, so to say, from the cradle to the grave. Some have declared that this is the dark side of earthly existence, others have looked upon it as the surest proof of the littleness and frailty of man. For curiously enough, it is, as we all know, the stumbling block of our own little career, be we who we may. Many of us start in life with high aspirations, and goodly impulses. If we are weak and wavering, if we are inconsistent and ignorant, as we all are, we yet believe, as every real man does, that we have a mission to fulfil, something to do, something to achieve. It is often very sad to note how the tendencies of a sybarite luxury or easy self-indulgence, mar a life and palsy emotions, both alike once full of vigour and hope, but now, alas, cold, withered, dead, buried. It is melancholy, most melancholy, at times to reflect how the progress of life has falsified expectations and crushed energies, how it has dulled the keen sense of beauty and perfection, left us with a mutilated "to be" if we may so say, amid countless struggles and hopeless defeats. When, then, we talk of profession and practice, we mean rather the difference between the one and the other which is always before our eyes, in everything of life and the world, of men and of mortality. The preacher and the philosopher, the moralist and the mentor, the man of pompous preludes and wise axioms, the man who has a part to play before the world and plays it, the common-place being, like ourselves, in everything here—all equally afford us the same spectacle of human weakness, and human inconsistency—all alike seem to point to the great broad gulf that lies between profession and practice. And in Freemasonry it is ever the same. We profess to be brethren, and yet how unbrotherly we often are to one another. We proclaim ourselves members of a philanthropic and fraternal association, and yet to hear us talk of one another, one would suppose sometimes we had not learnt the rudiments of any morality whatever. We assert that we are lovers of truth, of fair dealing, and of open-hearted sympathy, and yet how unsincere, how treacherous, how unkind we sometimes make ourselves out to be. It is indeed only another proof, if proof were required, of the grave inconsistency of humanity ever, that even those of us who most avow our love for our good old Order, and know its formularies, and uphold its benefits and reality, can be the most uncharitable of men at times, not even sparing a brother's good fame but even wounding him in the dark with the covert slander, with the cruel innuendo. Alas let us not dwell too long on the bitterness and the "bassesse" of men, for it is a melancholy picture, it is a humiliating subject in all good truth. But as we are on the subject let us keep before us ever that not only "humanum est errare," but that we must ever expect here that mortal man will disport himself in the rays and glitter of his ever self-sufficient pride, forgetful of the fact that "the race is not to the swift nor the battle to the strong," and that we cannot expect to be consistent while sojourners on earth for a season, even though we are the best of Masons and have taken every degree that can be taken. And knowing this, let us not feel discouraged, because profession is one thing, practice another, because every day tells us that we talk much, we do little, and that though we profess much we perform less. Amiable inconsistency, habitual weakness of us all, let us not be too severe on others, remembering that we all require the greatest of allowances ourselves.

CARDINAL MANNING ON THE STAGE.

We confess that we deeply regret to have had to read Cardinal Manning's recent onslaught on the stage, alluded to by Mr. Bandmann in a letter to the "Times" we published last week, because, in our humble opinion, it is alike unjustifiable in the abstract, and untrue in the concrete. This great dignitary of the Roman Catholic Church, in the fulness of his ecclesiastical fervour, "lumps," as they say, all the theatres together, whether the pleasant Haymarket, or the Penny Gaff, and pronounces all, in unsparing condemnation, to be "one vast scale of corruption" (whatever that may mean), and exhorts his hearers never on any account to set their foot inside them. Thus the principal officer in the Roman Catholic Hierarchy in England declares the stage to have an entire evil influence on the morals and manners of the age in which we live. If Cardinal Manning be correct, the stage, as an institution, is, "ipso facto," corrupt and corrupting, a moral evil, a real upas tree, and saps and destroys the virtue of all classes amongst us. Despite so great an authority, is the statement true? We beg to express our opinion to-day that it is not, and to protest against so sweeping a charge, and so exaggerated an assertion. It is not a fact, per se, that the stage is or needs be corrupt or demoralizing. We look upon the drama, on the contrary, as a great school, alike of past experience and present tastes, temper, and tendencies. And more than this, not only does it represent as in a clear and comprehensive mirror the greatness and the littleness, the strength and the weakness, of human nature, the fashions and follies of the hour, the hopes which elevate, and the feelings which adorn, the words which move us, and the thoughts which burn; but it is also, whenever it is properly directed and wisely controlled, a school of moral maxims. It sets before us the axiomatic teaching often both of duty and decorum, of right and responsibility, of sense and sympathy, of taste and truth. Who can, then, venture to lay down one inquisitorial decree as against the stage? From what immaculate and infallible cathedra can any one dare to assert that all the dramas and comedies, the speaking verse, and the living prose which mark the great and classic productions of the stage at home and abroad, are all offerings to corrupted taste, all dominated by the spirit of ill? When Cardinal Manning makes such a statement does he believe it himself? We certainly do not. We think rather, and we think strongly, that society and civilization owe a good deal to the stage after all, both in England and abroad. For the stage has corrected taste, and vindicated honour, has upheld true sentiment, and ridiculed upstart vulgarity; it has shown us how truth ever ennobles and virtue ever rewards, how falsehood lowers and vice punishes, and it has set before us this most useful of lessons, and of warnings, that human life is really much the same in all generations, and that, "mutatis mutandis," our vices and our virtues are still equally characteristic of the dead ages as of the living present. The stage has no doubt also been always inimical to intolerance, to ignorance, to the parvenu and the profligate, to the tempter, the hypocrite, and the seducer; and the stage has been quite right in stamping a mark of moral opprobrium on all that can betray, can stain, can disgrace, can degrade humanity. But is the stage to be blamed for the excesses of some, for the perversity of others, for a vitiated taste, for individual errors? "Abusus non tollit usum" is as old as the hills, and as true and lasting. No doubt much of stage literature is objectionable, and many developments of stage manifestations are reprehensible enough. But is, therefore, the stage per se necessarily corrupt and corrupting? We contend not. Is it a moral evil for all classes, to be shunned by the virtuous and the religious? We say again, no. We deeply deplore the fact that a cultivated man like Cardin Manning can patronize the evil tendency of the time, to "run riot" in respect of correctness of expression, and the abstract importance of truth, can pander to the vicious habit of the day—of extravagance of language and unreliability of assertion. We had expected better things, we confess, of him, and could not suppose that in 1876 he would again practically raise the dead cry of stage corruption, reminding us of old times of intolerance, when poor actors and actresses were refused the rites of Christian burial, and when even Molière had to be buried by stealth, and, with all credit to the King, under Royal pressure. Does Cardinal Manning know anything of the modern drama? of that elevating taste and temperament which colour the greater part of the stage classics of the day? We fancy not, and we would recommend him to read "Masks and Faces," for instance, "Still Waters Run Deep," "King Charles," Tennyson's "Queen Mary," and for a little lighter reading we would recommend "Woodcock's Little Game," "Ici on Parle Français," "Lend Me Five Shillings," "A Quiet Rubber," "Little Toddlekins," and "The Two Bonnycastles," and we are quite certain, after a diligent perusal of this polite literature, that he will both alter his tone and amend his vocabulary. But, as Mr. Bandmann forcibly observes, such comments come not with a very good grace from Cardinal Manning, après tout. Why, it is not so long ago that Monsignori were measuring dresses, and deciding judiciously and judiciously on the propriety or impropriety of the attire of each fair "Ballerina" at Rome. Then it was that Cardinals "in petto," and Bishops in "partibus," had oracularly to declare and oracularly to be satisfied as to whether the gauze dresses of each active Coryphée were too high or too low. No doubt each good prelate said "defendit numerus," and acted like St. Dunstan. We note, then, very sadly this tendency to exaggeration and anathema, in many of the utterances of these high dignitaries of the Roman Church to-day. With them nothing is good, everything is bad, we all are "booked for something uncomfortable," we are all "going to pot." And yet we are inclined to fancy that all these loud words and tall talk are but idle breadth. No more than Freemasonry, can these "deliverances" affect the progress of the stage, and take away our English appreciation of it. If, like the Archbishop of Rheims, with his peccant jackdaw, Cardinal Manning finds it suit his dignity to curse, or any pleasure or profit in the practice, he must curse on. We doubt much the effect to-day of these intemperate ebullitions, those idle outpourings of a barbaric negativism. We have felt it to be our duty, though regretfully, to protest against these last unwise words of an able man, and we are sorry for them, alike in the interest of civilization and artistic excellence, of toleration and liberality of sentiment, and above all of religion. For such licence and violence of language react on the speakers. Such unqualified censure of the stage, being both unfounded and unfair, becomes absolutely worthless, and does more harm than good. We fear that all these outbreaks are only "indiciæ" to the thoughtful of the desire of the Roman Catholic Church to crush out alike liberty of thought and freedom of speech, and like the Vandal bands of old, to uproot even the mighty buildings which civilization has raised, to place all science and art, intellectual culture and material amusements even under the iron hand of a childish and purient ecclesiastical bigotry. We hear daily these daring claims which would sweep away apparently every vestige of artistic creation, of the "harmless gaiety of nations," of the welcome and amusing converse of the stage, and leave us melancholy and manacled under the depressing and grovelling influence of a baneful and morbid retrogression. Dreadfully "exercised" should we then all be, by the bad taste and the narrow-minded sciolism of a so-called Spiritual power, which has really nothing to do with the matter, and must be taught to mind its own business, and keep within its own line of demarcation in such matters. We consider, therefore, Cardinal Manning's attack on the stage in the worst possible "form," and alike unfounded and unjustifiable.

THE VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IN THE COMMITTEES AND EXECUTIVE OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

We are glad that by a formal vote this important question will be raised at the next Quarterly Court. It is quite time, we think, in justice to the Boys' School and all concerned that this expression of feeling should be given, as we believe there is a very general feeling in the Craft as regards much undeserved censure cast on the Executive, that such a motion is alike reasonable and requisite. We hope that all our brethren who sympathize with such a view of the matter and who are qualified, will make a point of attending on Monday, the 10th.

THE PLANS FOR THE ALTERATIONS OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

At the meeting of the General Committee nothing was decided, and the matter remains over practically for the Quarterly Court. Subsequent consideration has made us realize even more forcibly the soundness of the advice we ventured to offer last week to the Order, on all respect and humility. It is quite clear that the greatest caution is required in dealing with the subject, one of great importance, we beg to observe, alike to the Craft and the School. We have an admirable site, and sufficient of space to enlarge and utilize existing accommodation, and it would seem, to be prima facie, very unwise to move elsewhere until we are absolutely compelled to do so. We believe that we are correct in saying that from five to six acres of adjoining land will eventually be offered to the school in the first instance to purchase, if so disposed, and if eventually the land is really required for the railway, then will be the time for sale. In the meantime the land can't run away, and increases in value yearly. If we can educate 200 girls well we shall do a good work, and we are inclined to think that that number will suffice for the present, and that the school of the future is yet the school of the future. We feel it to be our duty to invite our brethren to pause and carefully consider all the "pros and cons" before they commit themselves to a sea of troubles, and the dubious advisability of large building undertakings.

A COMMEMORATION MEDAL.

Bro. Kenning has struck a very admirable medal in bronze in commemoration of our Royal Grand Master's installation, April 28th, 1875. It is very effectively designed and artistically executed, and reflects great credit on all concerned in its production. In England our Masonic medals are "few and far between," and we think that Bro. Kenning has done wisely in thus issuing a numismatic memento of an event long to be cherished in the recollection of all English Freemasons. So far the medal has only been struck in bronze, its low price comparatively placing it within the reach of most of us. But we understand that if sufficient support can be obtained either for a silver or gold medallion, Bro. Kenning is willing to issue a higher priced memorial even of so great an event for our Order. We call the attention of our brethren to it. The medal, as we before observed, is a highly finished piece of workmanship, and bears on it that excellent motto to which our Grand Master so happily alluded to at his installation, — Loyalty and Charity. The medal is taken from a photograph by Mr. C. Watkins.

OLD CHAPTER MINUTES.

We are glad to announce that Bro. S. B. Ellis's extracts from the minute book of the Chapter of Paradise, Sheffield, are now in the printer's hand for the May number of the "Masonic Magazine;" and as they are very interesting, and will be largely read by students, we recommend all brethren to send their orders for the Magazine for May at once to Bro. George Kenning, 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

THE MASONIC CHARITIES.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Unfortunately Freemasonry does not generally find favour with the weaker sex, for what reason I confess I am at a loss to understand, seeing that its principles apparently embody everything that is good and noble, and that its watchword is charity, which delights in providing for the widow and children of those to whom they were bound by the ties of brotherhood.

I unhesitatingly affirm that there are not two more noble institutions in the land than their Boys' and Girls' Schools, and as in the decrees of an all-wise Providence no one knows what may be before them in the future, I think it should not only be the aim of every true-hearted Mason to extend the blessings of those schools, but that every wife, daughter, and sister of members connected with the Craft should give a helping hand, believing that "Mercy which droppeth as the gentle rain from Heaven is twice blessed. It blesses him that gives, and him that takes."

To do this it has occurred to my mind that if in every large town (one in each county) ladies would interest themselves in a bazaar for that purpose, that it would meet with a hearty response and afford an opportunity for all to do something in such a noble cause, and thereby confer a lasting benefit upon the charities by augmenting their funds to a considerable amount, and enabling the committee to extend their usefulness instead of restricting it as they are now obliged to do.

I must apologise for troubling you, but the suggestion seems to my mind both reasonable and practicable, and has arisen from looking down the list of 59 candidates for the forthcoming election of the Boys' School in which 9 only can be successful, and 12 of the number have only this chance.

I am, Sir, yours truly,

A GRATEFUL MOTHER AND LIFE GOVERNOR.

MASONIC HONOURS, &c.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

If space permits, will you allow me to ask Bro. Hughan if he will be kind enough to correct me if I am wrong in my supposition in respect to the following. A Provincial Grand Lodge is an epitome of the Grand Lodge, therefore the brethren composing a Provincial Grand Lodge are the officers present and Past of such Grand Lodge and P.M.'s of private lodges as long as they still continue subscribing members to a subordinate lodge in that province, also the W.M.'s and Warden's for the time being of the subordinate lodges. A Provincial Grand Lodge meets at least once a year, when all the members of the subordinate lodges are allowed to assemble under their respective banners, but I believe brethren not qualified as above, that is M.M.'s, have no vote in such an assembly neither are they allowed to address the meeting except by leave from the chair, therefore, I am desirous of ascertaining, by what right, law or constitution a Mason not qualified as above can be appointed to an office in a Provincial Grand Lodge?

I remain, yours fraternally,

T. F.

April 4th, 1876.

THE EXTENSION OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I am glad to see that your powerful pen is in favour of Bro. Colonel Creaton's straightforward and disinterested scheme. Let me state some of the reasons which induce me to support it.

1. The site at St. John's Hill, upon which the present school is erected, is one of the healthiest in the kingdom, having a frontage to Wandsworth Common, and being bounded on one side by the railway, and on the other two sides by green fields.

2. The advantage of having all the children under one roof and one supervision is enormous, while the cost of maintaining two separate schools would be out of all proportion to the benefits supposed to accrue from such a system. As an example, the school for daughters of officers in the army, which has now two distinct establishments, is obliged to give up one in consequence of the duplicated expense.

3. Col. Creaton's scheme will provide what the institution really wants sadly, viz., a good schoolroom where all the children can be congregated together, with plenty of ventilation—the present room is too small for present numbers, and might with advantage be partitioned into class rooms.

Some brethren have expressed surprise that an estate agent should have appeared on the scene with a project to obtain land at some considerable distance from London.

I only wonder that several others in the same profession have not submitted their ideas, it being clearly an estate agent's business to do the best he can for his clients, and of course he is bound to push a sale, if possible.

Yours fraternally,

A LIFE GOVERNOR.

AN APPEAL.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I venture to ask your assistance in making known in your columns the sad case of the late Bro. Robt. Bryant, P. Prov. Grand Officer of Camba, formerly, a banker and maltster at Newmarket, who, through no fault of his own, was reduced from a good position to indigence.

Just before his death he, as a patient at Guy's Hospital, underwent a severe operation. His daughter, Ida Mary Bryant, is now since his death left an orphan without either father or mother, and is now an applicant for the Masonic Girls' School, and this being the third, and unfortunately the last application, I shall be very grateful to any brother whose votes are not promised if he will forward them to me, or use his influence in procuring her election.

I am Sir, yours fraternally,

JOHN READ, P.M.M. (No. 22),

P.M., P.Z. (No. 720), 30,

Past Mark Grand Organist, &c., &c.

Indian Office, Westminster, 28th March, 1876.

To the Editor of The Freemason

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Will you allow me to call the attention of the subscribers to our Boys' School to the case of James Edgar Tanare, a candidate for election on 10th inst. I have known the boy's father in such very different circumstances, when his hand was always open to help any case of distress, and the strain upon the mother's resources is so heavy, having to support both husband and family, and the boy is such a bright intelligent lad, so likely to prove a credit to the school, that I do earnestly hope all brethren who possibly can will give him their votes.

I am, yours fraternally,

W. H. GULLIFORD.

Montefiore, 1079.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

The General Committee of this Institution met on Saturday last in the board-room, Freemasons' Hall, Bro. Sigismund Rosenthal in the chair. The other brethren who attended were Bros. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, P.G.C.; Raynham W. Stewart, P.G.D.; John Symonds, P.A.G.D.C.; William Paas, P.G.D.; H. Browse, P.G.D.; Benj. Head, P.G.D.; Lieut.-Col. Creaton, P.G.D.; S. Rawson, P.D.G.M. China; Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B.; Richard Spencer, P.G.S.; Herbert Dicketts, P.G.S.; John Boyd, P.G.P.; Jesse Turner, Walter Wellsman, Robert A. Webster, Geo. J. Palmer, W. Peartree, J. Horth Ross, John Constable, Collard Moutrie, J. G. Chancellor, F. H. Ebsworth, Capt. Wordsworth, George Kenning, H. W. Hunt, Leopold Ruf, J. E. Frost, F. Adlard, E. M. Haigh, P.G.S.; H. Massey ("Freemason"), and F. Binckes (Secretary).

Two boys were placed on the list for election, and the case of one was deferred for better reading. Two outfits were granted to boys who had left the Institution and obtained situations, the reports from their employers being of the most gratifying character. The business paper for the Quarterly Court next Monday was settled, the business being to elect a Treasurer for the ensuing year; to elect 12 brethren on the General Committee; to declare two additional vacancies in the Institution caused by the withdrawal of two boys; to confirm the purchase of Kent House, and to consider the notice of motion by Dr. Ramsay that the four senior members of the House Committee retire every year, but to be re-eligible; and that the four members who have attended fewest times during the year retire, and to be ineligible for twelve months.

The West Yorkshire question with respect to the charges of Bros. Tew and Perrott was then taken into consideration, and a conversation ensued as to the best means of dealing with it at the Quarterly Court.

The Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, P.G.C., said he had meant to give notice of motion for the next court, if it had not been that Bro. Browse had mentioned before this committee his views on the undesirability of taking any notice in respect of the action of the brethren of West Yorkshire in respect to the Boys' School. He thought there was a great deal of force in what Bro. Browse had said, and he was rather inclined to be guided by the general feeling of the committee on Bro. Browse's observation, that by taking any steps upon the West Yorkshire brethren's proceedings the committee would be playing into those brethren's hands. He wished to place before the brethren what the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire had done—according to his view, irregularly. That Provincial Grand Lodge had passed resolutions appointing a committee of investigation and authorising them to report upon the Boys' School. That committee, appointed in his humble opinion unconstitutionally, and ultra vires, and in express defiance of Lord Zeland's dictum when G.M., had issued a report which the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire had adopted and approved of. Practically, the object of the West Yorkshire brethren was to consider the whole administration of the Boys' School. This question arose out of a pamphlet which had been issued about a year ago addressed to the Vice-Presidents of West Yorkshire, and complaining of gross abuses in the management of the Boys' School. This pamphlet was followed by another in which the writer stated that West Yorkshire would not be satisfied unless the Secretary of the institution was removed, the House Committee had resigned, the matron had been removed, and the head master re-instated. They appointed a committee at a meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire at Sheffield to consider the question. That committee met, and the brethren composing it, gave in a report, in which it was stated that the expenses of the Boys' School were out of all proportion; that a great deal more ought to be done with the money which was subscribed; that there was a great waste of funds; and that the whole administration of the establishment required to be looked into. That report had been received, ordered to be put on the minutes, and was accepted unanimously by the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire. The Provincial Grand Lodge passed resolutions to this effect,—That they accepted the report, that they ordered it to be printed, as he said before, for the use of the province, that they ordered a copy to be sent to every Provincial Grand Master in England, and the W.M. of every lodge; and they called upon every life governor of the Province of West Yorkshire to come up to London to support it. They had even asked that their report should be put on the agenda paper of Grand Lodge. He might say as regarded this, that it seemed the most extraordinary proceeding, and one which, in his long apprenticeship to Freemasonry he had never heard the like of before. Previous to the final meeting of this Committee of Investigation at Leeds, one of the members printed a pamphlet, which was called untruthfully "The Report of the Investigation Committee of West Yorkshire." It was really nothing of the sort, for it was only the evidence of one brother before the committee, and some statistics based on another brother's statement. The brother stated in this pamphlet that the reason he had been induced to act as he had was his dissatisfaction with the proceedings which had taken place at the Boys' School since 1863. The circulation of that pamphlet was stopped, and the pamphlet, as far as possible, was suppressed. This was done, and it was very difficult to obtain a copy; but several of the brethren had, nevertheless, seen it. Bro. Binckes had seen it; he (Bro. Woodford) had seen it; and Bro. Wordsworth had seen it. Bro. Wordsworth could confirm what he (Bro. Woodford) said, that the writer in this pamphlet brought forth serious charges against the whole administration of the Boys' School. The question, therefore, now was, could anything be done by the brethren with respect to the action of the Province of West Yorkshire. He had long been connected with West Yorkshire, and he could give the brethren some information as to what the province had done with reference to the Masonic charities. Originally, about nineteen years ago, Bros. Symonds and Hopwood went down to Sheffield when they were beginning a movement to support the metropolitan institutions. They then moved to give 100 guineas to the Boys' School. Next year they moved to give 100 guineas to the Girls' School. That had resulted, as the brethren were aware, in the return of many thousands of pounds from West Yorkshire to the metropolitan institutions. In 1869 he was requested by the Marquis of Ripon to draw up a statement of the comparative cost of the institutions, and having done so he was in a position to bear his testimony to the absurdity of the present movement, the utter unreliability of the statistics, and the fallacy of any brother getting up and starting a theory that a maximum of education should be obtained for a minimum of cost. This was really practically among the recommendations of this committee, that if the brethren would only reduce the expenses of the Boys' School to their minimum they could educate a much larger number of boys for the present expenditure. Could any brother think that a brother putting forward a statement of that kind knew anything about educational establishments, or was a fit judge of the expenditure, when he made such a proposition as this—which he (Bro. Woodford) would leave entirely to the practical knowledge of brethren around the table. Another asserted openly, that living in London was cheaper than it was in the provinces. And another charge was that the Institution did not make contracts with wholesale houses. Now, those were the kind of arguments that had weighed apparently with the brethren of West Yorkshire. The statement was made that the administration of the establishment was radically wrong, and that things were going on which were utterly improper, that Bro. Perrott had been dismissed owing to the improper action of the House Committee, who were led by Bro. Binckes; that he was a victim and a martyr, and that nothing less than his reinstatement would satisfy the justice of the case. Such were the complaints assiduously circulated, which had led to the demand for investigation by West Yorkshire. Now the question came before the brethren, could anything be done to meet this feeling of West Yorkshire, which his brother Wordsworth would bear him out in asserting was very strong indeed just now? Could any thing be done to put an end to it? He would venture to suggest, however, that if the Life Governors of the province had come up that day to move a resolution for a committee of enquiry, they would have been too late, as they had put the cart before the horse, and they ought to have come forward twelve months ago and enquired before making these statements; but after all these statements had been made "ad invidiam," they had no right to come now and invoke the laws of the institution and ask for a committee of enquiry. The question was whether any resolution the brethren might pass at a Quarterly Court would meet the necessities of the case as regarded West Yorkshire. He should himself personally have been unwilling to take an active part in the matter, but as the matter had been placed before the brethren by West Yorkshire, he felt it his duty as the old chairman of their Charity Committee to express his regret at the course they had followed, and he was prepared to take upon himself, as a life governor, the responsibility of moving a resolution at the Quarterly Court to the effect. "That having in view recent imputations cast on the administration of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, this Court deems it to be its duty to express its unabated confidence in the House and Audit Committees and executive." He ventured to think that if they passed that resolution at the Quarterly Court it would attain the end desired. There were a great many brethren of the Province of West Yorkshire who were rather led away by the statements that had been made, and who believed that there was something remaining behind, simply because the statements he had alluded to had been repeated usque ad nauseam. No proof had been offered; statements merely made and reiterated that the things were so. He had spent a great deal of his Masonic life in West Yorkshire, and he did not wish to come forward that day and do anything which might raise a spirit of controversy, but, from what he knew of West Yorkshire, he could say there was a great deal of uneasiness among the brethren there in these matters. They hardly knew what to believe, and he thought therefore that if the brethren came forward and passed his resolution at the Quarterly Court declaring their unabated confidence in the management of the Boys' School it would have now the end desired for. They were bound, as brother Masons, in his opinion, to support their House Committee and the executive, believing that they had done their duty. He for one should certainly oppose any committee of enquiry, believing that the proper time was passed and gone. (Br. Woodford concluded by again reading his notice of motion).

Bro. John Constable, P.M. 185, said that, maintaining as he did that the charges made in the pamphlets above alluded to were most unjustifiable and unwarrantable, he had great pleasure in seconding the vote of confidence, if it was necessary, and passing at the same time a few remarks on the subject. He trusted that some effort would be made at last to set aside the feelings which existed in West Yorkshire, and that the brethren present would lose no opportunity of reinstating the confidence which should exist, and which had hitherto existed in the House Committee, and also in the Secretary. (Hear, hear). Bro. Jesse Turner said he could not help thinking that there was such a thing to be observed in this matter as dignity. The House Committee and the auditors could very well afford to stand on their dignity. They had gone into the matter thoroughly, and done all they could to find out the truth. A committee of enquiry was appointed, and they went into the matter, having all the documents before them. That committee, in their report, stated that they did not find that any necessity existed for calling in the assistance of an expert, and that the charges brought forward from time to time by the Province of West Yorkshire had failed. He thought that the brethren, while desiring to do all the good they could, were in reality attaching a great deal of importance to the matter which did not belong to it. The assertions of West Yorkshire as to what they were going to do were mere brutum fulmen. Let it go for what it was worth. He did not think the brethren of West Yorkshire would take it unkindly if he said that we should not suffer very much from what they said as to getting rid of Bro. Binckes and the matron. Therefore, let that go for what it was worth. He knew what the brethren would do: they would support Bro. Binckes and the committee; but he thought they had done so much in this matter that they would go on meddling and muddling, and making a small fire into a great one at the end. The best course was to let the matter cure itself. There were some fires which burnt themselves out; but in this case it appeared to him that they were fanning the flame.

Bro. John Constable asked whether a vote of confidence would not meet the matter.

Bro. John Symonds, P.A.G.D.C., said he apprehended that at a Quarterly Court it would be perfectly competent to any subscriber to move for a committee of enquiry without previously giving notice. Whether that would be an expedient course or not he would offer no opinion. It was, however, the rule in all charities, and there was nothing in the laws of the Masonic Institutions to prevent it. Now, they must be prepared to deal with such a motion if it was brought forward. However, he was not going to express an opinion as to how that matter should be dealt with, or whether a committee should be granted or not. They did not know that any such motion would be made; he only said it would be competent to any subscriber to make it. He would pass to another matter. He found in the report which had been sent out by certain brethren who were constituted a Committee of Investigation, a letter addressed to Bro. Binckes, and signed by brethren who were described as Life Governors of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, and members of the Committee of Investigation appointed by the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire. He had always said, whenever he had heard of the appointment of a Committee of Investigation on the part of the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire, that we could not recognize such a committee—that if we were to do so it would be quite competent for the Province of Kent at another time, or the Province of Devon at another, and so on for the whole forty provinces throughout England, to be continually appointing committees of investigation; but he likewise said that if any brother of West Yorkshire was placed on such a committee, although that committee were not recognised, and was a subscriber to the institution, he would be entitled, as a subscriber, to have an answer to any enquiry he might make. In the present case he found there were nine brethren from West Yorkshire who signed themselves Life Governors of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, and members of the Committee of Investigation appointed by the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire. Their tacking on those words "members of the Committee of Investigation, &c.," should not have prevented Bro. Binckes from replying to them as Life Governors.

Bro. Binckes explained that the letter was sent to him, and accompanying it was a letter from the Secretary to the committee, that he should esteem it a favour if Bro. Binckes would address his communication to his (the Secretary's) office. Consequently he considered that that was nothing more or less than an official communication, and, acting under a resolution of the General Committee, he was precluded from answering it in any way. They did not apply as Life Governors, but through their official Secretary, who was a paid officer, and not a subscriber to the School at all.

Bro. Symonds contended that though Bro. Binckes might have been right in ignoring Bro. Quartermaster, the Secretary, he was not right in ignoring the signatories who were subscribers. Bro. Quartermaster was not entitled to have the information, but the Life Governors were.

Bro. Raynham W. Stewart, P.G.D., thought that all Bro. Symonds' remarks were entirely beside the question which was before the committee as to the propriety of meeting the West Yorkshire brethren's action by notice of motion or not. His feeling was that it was a proper thing to meet it by notice of motion, because it would show the West Yorkshire brethren that what was being done was not a hole-and-corner affair, and it would give them an opportunity of rallying their forces to come up and settle it. He was sure if it was decided that they had no confidence in the House Committee, that committee would be ready to retire.

Bro. Symonds admitted that he was not dealing with Bro. Woodford's notice of motion, and repeated his former opinion that it would have been better for Bro. Binckes to reply to the Life Governors' enquiries by a courteous letter.

Bro. Raynham Stewart replied that if the Life Governors had applied individually they would have received the information required; but here was a brother making enquiries who had no interest whatever in the Institution.

Bro. Binckes said on the 1st of January, 1876, a resolution was passed by the General Committee that the letter could not be entertained, and that resolution was arrived at after considerable discussion, the views obtained being simply these, that if you in any shape or way recognised the right of the Province of West Yorkshire to appoint a Committee of Investigation, you would give encouragement to other provinces to do the same. On the 8th of January he received the letter signed by the nine brethren referred to in their double capacity. The official communication to him was the Secretary's letter. This Bro. Quartermaster was formally appointed the Secretary of the Committee of Investigation, with a remuneration for his services. He (Bro. Binckes) was not dealing with the Life Governors. Bro. Quartermaster was their Secretary, and no life governor at all. Bro. Binckes' reply was, were you as an individual a contributor to our funds I should feel myself bound in courtesy to reply to your enquiries. Any individual brother subscribing to the School had a right to information and would have it. But, carrying out the resolution of the General Committee not to recognise the Committee of Investigation at all, he could not see that he was in any way open to censure as having been uncourteous. He did not regret his conduct; he was prepared to justify it there and elsewhere. He could not see how so experienced a Mason as Bro. Symonds could think he had been uncourteous. He might add that the affair had been a personal attack on himself; that he had been hard hit; and whenever hard hit he should try to hit hard in return.

A vote of thanks to the Chairman concluded the proceedings.

ISRAELITISM AND FREEMASONRY.

The following letter appeared in the "Nation's Glory Leader" of March 29th:—

Sir,—Noticing the letter of your correspondent, R. W. D. Nickle, in a recent number of your "Glory Leader," in which he makes some reference to Freemasonry, illustrative of the belief that the sacred Ark of the Covenant was still in existence, permit me, as one well versed in the symbols and teaching of Masonry, a remark or two thereon. Some months ago, when taking part in a discussion in our local newspaper, "The Man of Kent," on the Identity question, I had occasion to point out that the existence of Freemasonry flourishing in our midst was a most strong proof of our Israelitish origin, teeming as it does with allusions without end to ancient Hebrew history, and to a search in the west "for that which is lost." I pointed out in the communication referred to, on the installation of the Prince of Wales to the seat of the Grand Master of England, that he was virtually, in the eyes of all Masons, then installed into the throne of King Solomon. It would not be proper for me, in the columns of a magazine, to shew the constantly recurring references to the past history of the Israelitish people, as one might in the body of a properly constituted lodge or encampment; references and allusions constantly made, but even to Masons not understood. I should be glad of opportunities to point out to my brother Masons, in a proper place and time, the remarkable teaching of our symbolism and ceremonies. The mystical character on the keystone of which your correspondent, R. W. D. Nickle, calls the names or initials of Hiram Abiff, and which is so generally received as such, has, in fact, a deeper meaning, being the abbreviation for the word "Thesaurus," a hidden treasure or secret hiding-place.

I don't see that there is any allusion whatever, as suggested by your correspondence, to "nine" only of the tribes of Israel, the fact being just to the contrary, that every Royal Arch Chapter is emblazoned and decorated with the banners of the twelve tribes of Israel. I might go even farther, but I have said enough to prove that Masonry is intimately identified with our Israelitish origin, and is the only institution that I am aware of that has kept up in our midst the traditions of our noble ancestry, and the Identity question is one most appropriate for inquiry and discussion amongst Masons, and is peculiarly a search for that which is lost, viz., "The Lost Tribes of the whole house of Israel." I would that my brother Masons and companions of the Royal Arch could rightly understand and see the teaching of their beautiful ritual, tracing boards, and lectures, now so seldom or so carelessly used, and there would be found, although veiled in allegory and symbols, yet in a wonderful way, the truth of our Israelitish origin, preserved so marvellously, and now so remarkably spreading amongst all classes of the Anglo-Saxon race.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

"A ROYAL ARCH" MASON and "A ROSICRUCIAN."

HEALTH, comfort, and economy promoted. Gas superseded in day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors. Manufactory, 60, Fleet-street, London.

PROVINCIAL GRAND MARK LODGE OF LEICESTERSHIRE.

The annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Mark Lodge was held at the Freemasons' Hall, on Thursday, the 23rd ult., under the auspices of the Fowke Lodge, No. 19.

The lodge was opened at five o'clock, and the attendance of the brethren was both numerous and influential, most of the past and present officers being present.

The Mark Lodges of the province were fully represented, and the reports submitted evidenced a gratifying measure of success and prosperity during the past year, a result which can only be attributed to the untiring zeal and assiduity of the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master during a period of nearly twenty years.

The following brethren were appointed Provincial Grand Officers for the ensuing year:—The V. W. Rev. William Langley, D.P.G.M.M.; George Toller, jun., P.G.S.W.; Clement Stretton, (Past Grand Steward), P.G.J.W.; Wm. Barfoot (Mayor of Leicester), P.G.M.O.; R. Boughton, Smith, P.G.S.O.; Dr. Clifton, P.G.J.O.; Robert Waite, P.G. Treas.; J. M. McAllister, P.G. Sec.; C. Sansome Preston, P.G.R.M.; Wm. T. Rowlett, P.G.S.D.; H. T. Bobart, P.G.J.D.; F. Amatt, P.G.D.C.; J. T. Thorp, P.G.A.D.C.; H. James, P.G. Ins. of Wks.; M. H. Bobart, P.G.S.B.; Dr. Hunt, P.G. Standard Bearer; T. A. Wykes, P.G. Org.; R. Taylor, P.G.I.G.; and E. Mason, Dr. Meadows, and Wm. Vial, Provincial Grand Stewards.

On the business of the Fowke Lodge being resumed Bro. Toller installed his successor in office, Bro. Stretton, Past Grand Steward, who may be aptly and briefly described as a Freemason whose hand, liberal unto its means hath relieved the wants of others, and whose Masonic career (including the chair of each degree worked in Leicester) has been distinguished by a faithful adherence to the three grand principles of our Order—"Brotherly Love, Relief, and Truth."

In the name of the lodge the W.M. presented to Bro. Toller a very handsome P.M.'s jewel, as a token of fraternal consideration for his constant attention and personal kindness to the brethren, and to mark the high sense of gratitude they entertain for his dignified and zealous discharge of the duties of Master during the past year.

Bro. Toller feelingly thanked the brethren for such an unexpected proof of their esteem and regard.

The W.M., Bro. Stretton, ably presided at the banquet which followed, and was supported by the R.W. Prov. G. Master, Bro. Wm. Kelly, F.R.H.S.; V.W. Rev. W. Langley, D.P.G.M.M.; Wm. Barfoot, Mayor, P.G.M.O.; S. S. Partridge, P.P.G.S.W.; A. H. Burgess, R. B. Smith, R. S. Toller, Dr. Hunt, W. Sculthorpe, S.W.; R. A. Barber, J.W.; R. Taylor, J. T. Thorp, and others.

The loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured, and the meeting throughout afforded the greatest satisfaction.

MASONIC FEMALE ORPHAN SCHOOL, DUBLIN.

We received the following from Ireland, which was in type last week, but was crowded out:—

The annual meeting and distribution of prizes to the pupils of the Masonic Female Orphan School, Dublin, will take place in the Exhibition Palace, Earlsfort Terrace, on Friday, April 28th. His Grace the Duke of Abercorn, K.G., M.W.G.M., will preside on the occasion.

The doors of the building will be opened at half-past seven o'clock, from which time until the commencement of the proceedings, and also after the distribution of the prizes, a selection of music will be performed by military bands.

At a quarter-past eight o'clock the Grand Officers, the Provincial Grand Officers, the representatives from foreign Grand Lodges, Past Grand Officers, the Master Wardens, and Secretaries of the Dublin lodges, and those brethren expected to occupy places on the platform, will assemble in the Small Concert Room to receive the M.W. the Grand Master; and a procession having been formed, it will move to the Grand Concert Hall. The pupils of the School, together with the pupils of the Masonic Orphan Boys' School, will then enter the room, and on reaching the platform, will file off and occupy the seats provided for them. The Grand Master having been saluted according to ancient usage, the Hundredth Psalm will be sung, and the meeting will be addressed by members of the Order; after which the procession will be re-formed and proceed to the dais in the glass building, where the several prizes and certificates awarded to the pupils at the annual examinations will be presented to them by Lady Georgina Hamilton.

During the evening some of the pupils of the schools will play a selection of pianoforte music.

The brethren are expected to appear in full Masonic costume, ladies in evening dress.

Each governor of the School is entitled to one free ticket, not transferable, and seven visitors' tickets, at two shillings each, provided same be applied for at Freemasons' Hall, Molesworth-street, on the 11th, 12th, or 13th of April, between the hours of two and five o'clock, p.m. All tickets unclaimed on those days will be issued between the hours of two and five o'clock, on the 25th and 26th of April.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—In angry or indolent sores, and all skin diseases, originating in impure or weak blood, or depraved secretions, the joint agency of Holloway's Pills and Ointment is perfectly irrefragable. It is of little consequence how long these disorders may have lasted, or how sluggish, obstinate, or malignant they may seem; the daily application of the Ointment to the parts afflicted, and a course of these matchless Pills will most certainly effect a cure; not temporary or superficial, but complete and permanent. Both the Ointment and Pills are composed of rare balsams, unmingled with mercury or any other deleterious substances. They are, accordingly, as mild and safe as they are powerful and efficacious.—ADVT.

MASONIC BALL IN LIVERPOOL.

The Lodge of Israel, No. 1502, whose consecration, recorded in October, 1874, was chiefly for the purpose of satisfying the wants of brethren of the Jewish faith, appears to be making a most extraordinary progress in the province of which Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M., is the Provincial Grand Master. Not only has it increased largely in numbers, but it is well known for the excellent working powers of the officers. Some short time ago they established a Benevolent Fund in connection with the lodge for the assistance of widows and orphans of their members, and also for aid of the brethren in the hour of their affliction. One of the principal laws of this institution is that should any brother, widows, or orphans desire relief, the name of the recipient should be kept secret from the lodge, confining it to the executive of the fund. This is done for the purpose of hiding from the vulgar gaze the downfall of respectability, so that with the assistance of this fund they may endeavour to retrieve their worldly position without having recourse to open Masonic charity. This, in itself is a very laudable object, and one that should have the heartiest support of all charitably disposed Masons, and we know that that number is very great in Liverpool.

To increase this fund, as well as to give the members' wives and daughters a delightful Masonic re-union, the lodge held a ball on Wednesday evening, March 15th, at the Washington Hotel, Liverpool. Foremost amongst those present were Bros. A. J. Henochsberg, W.M.; Ralph Robinson, I.P.M. 241, I.P.M. 1502, Treasurer of the Ball Committee; Maurice Hart, S.W.; Alex. Jones, J.W.; B. Levy, Sec.; Schonstadt, S.D.; B. Woolf, J.D.; P. A. Crozier, I.G.; J. Wolf, S.S.; J. S. Waring, J.S.; Rev. J. Prag, Chap., and a number of private members of the lodge. There were likewise present Bros. A. Hoffnung, P.M.; Richard Brown, W.M. 241, Hon. Sec. West Lancashire Educational Institution; Parrington, 1356; Alvarez, 673, and a number of brethren of other lodges. There was also a goodly sprinkling of non-Masons present. Among them were L. S. Cohen, Esq., Zaquary, Esq., E. Davidson, Esq., and others. Dancing commenced at nine o'clock to the strains of Blamphin's band, and the ladies entered into the "light fantastic" with all the zest of sprightliness which Jewish ladies are so noted for. The large room of the hotel is especially adapted for dancing, the floor being laid with diaper, preventing the amount of dust from ascending, which is usually the annoyance of uncovered floors. The gay dresses of the ladies and the Masonic clothing of the brethren (of which the Craft and Royal Arch were the principal) together produced a very pleasing effect. An excellent supper was provided by Miss Lathom, the manageress of the hotel, to which we expect the visitors did ample justice. The whole of the arrangements were under the direction of the committee, of which the officers of the lodge were members, together with Bros. Lyons, Goldberg, S. Jacobs, Prenslan, and Aronsberg. Bro. H. M. Silver deserves an especial word of praise for the indefatigable manner in which he acted as Hon. Secretary. A band of Stewards, under the direction of their captain, Bro. Maurice Hart, S.W., added greatly to the comfort of the guests of the evening. Bros. Alex. Jones, J.W., and S. S. J. Henochsberg were efficient M.C.'s., and, acting with great spirit, did much to enhance the popularity of the ball. Financially speaking, the ball was as great a success as it was enjoyable, a handsome balance of £15 having been handed over to the Treasurer of the Lodge of Israel Benevolent Fund.

We are asked to state that Her Majesty the Queen has graciously sent an annual subscription of one hundred guineas to the Seamen's Hospital, late Dreadnought, Greenwich. The Mercer's Company have given a donation of fifty guineas, and Mr. Henry Green, of Blackwall and Brighton, has expressed his desire to help the good cause by assisting the committee to raise the £5,000 for which they have just appealed through the Lord Mayor, and has offered to contribute £100 provided nine others will give the same.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, April 14, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, APRIL 8.

Quarterly Gen. Court, Girls' School, at 12.
Lodge 108, London, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 173, Phoenix, F.M.H.
" 1328, Granite, F.M.H.
" 1361, United Service, Greyhound Hot., Richmond.
" 1423, Era, King's Arms Hot., Hampton-court.
" 1446, Mount Edgecumbe, Swan Tav., Battersea.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Percy, 113, Southgate-rd., N.
Manchester, 179, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross Road.
Sinai Chapter, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.

MONDAY, APRIL 10.

Quarterly Gen. Court Boys' School, at 12.—See advt.
Lodge 5, St. George's and Corner Stone, F.M.H.
" 90, St. John's Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 136, Good Report, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
" 193, Confidence, Anderson's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 222, St. Andrew's, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 957, Leigh, F.M.H.
" 1506, White Horse of Kent, 33, Golden-sq.

Chap. 22, Mount Zion, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
" 1319, Asaph, F.M.H.
Red Cross Con., 2, Plantagenet, Regent M.H., W.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.
Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
West Kent, St. Saviour's College, Forest-hill.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, APRIL 11.

Lodge 96, Burlington, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 198, Percy, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 211, St. Michael, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 228, United Strength, St. John's Gate.
" 235, Nine Muses, Longs Hot., Bond-st., W.
" 548, Wellington, White Swan Tav., Deptford.
" 854, Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
" 917, Cosmopolitan, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
" 1538, St. Martins-le-Grand, M.H., Masons' Avenue.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone, at 8.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12.

Com. R.M.B.I., at 3.
Lodge 3, Fidelity, F.M.H.
" 11, Enoch, F.M.H.
" 13, Union Waterloo, M.H., William-st., Woolwh.
" 15, Kent, F.M.H.
" 87, Vitruvian, White Hart, College-st., Lambeth.
" 338, Pilgrim, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 749, Belgrave, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 781, Merchant Navy, Silver Tav., Limehouse.
" 820, Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond.
" 1017, Montefiore, F.M.H.
" 1260, Hervey, F.M.H.
" 1305, St. Marylebone, British Stores, New-st., N.W.
" 1306, St. John of Wapping, Gun Tav., Wapping.
" 1503, Francis Burdett, Albany Hot., Twickenham.
Rose Croix Chapter, Grand Metropolitan, 33, Golden-sq.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Mount Edgumbe, 19, Jermyn-street, St. James's.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.

THURSDAY, APRIL 13.

Lodge 19, Royal Athelstan, Terminus Hot. Cannon-st.
" 23, Globe, F.M.H.
" 91, Regularity, F.M.H.
" 206, Friendship, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 263, Bank of England, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 334, Polish National, F.M.H.
" 657, Canonbury, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 860, Dalhousie, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 879, Southwark, Southwark Park Tav.
" 1076, Capper, Marine Hot., Victoria Dock.
" 1216, Macdonald, Hd.-qtrs. 1st Surrey Rifles.
" 1471, Islington, Cock Tav., Highbury.
" 1558, Duke of Connaught, Surrey M.H.
Chap. 73, Mount Lebanon, Bridge House Hot.
" 140, St. George's, Globe Tav., Greenwich.
Preceptory 117, New Temple, The Inner Temple, London.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules' Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, Leadenhall-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebony, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albion-rd., Dalston.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.

FRIDAY, APRIL 14.

(Being Good-Friday, it is probable the meetings will not be held).

Lodge 134, Caledonian, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 1520, Earl Spencer, Northcote Hot., New Wndswth.
Chap. 33, Britannic, F.M. Tav.
Rose Croix Chap., Mount Calvary, 33, Golden-sq.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
St. George's, Globe Tav., Royal-hill, Greenwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.

Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Metropolitan, Pentonville-road.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, Commercial Tav., King's-road, Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday April 15, 1876.

MONDAY, APRIL 10.

Lodge 314, Peace and Unity, Militia Mess R., Preston.
" 1021, Harrington, H.M., C.H.B., B.-in-Furness.
" 1350, Femor Hesketh, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1391, Baldwin Castle, Dalton-in-Furness.
" 1496, Trafford, Northumberland Hot., Old Trafford.
Mark Lodge, 165, Bedford H., Bedford-rd., Rock Ferry.
Red Cross Con. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, APRIL 11.

Lodge 178, Antiquity, Royal Hot., Wigan.
" 241, Merchants, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1230, Gilbert Greenall, M.R., Warrington.
" 1326, Stanley, M.H., Kirkdale.
" 1384, Equity, Commercial Hot., Widnes.
Chap. 537, Zion, M.R., Argyle-st., Birkenhead.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12.

Lodge 281, Fortitude, the Athenæum, Lancaster.
" 1052, Callender, P.H., Rusholme.
" 1061, Triumph, M.H., Lytham.
" 1094, Temple, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1356, De Grey and Ripon, 80, N. Hill-st.
" 1403, West Lancashire, Commercial Hot., Ormskirk.
" 1547, Liverpool, M.H., Liverpool.
Chap. 86, Lebanon, M.H., Prescott.
" 673, St. John's M.H., Liverpool.
" 1345, Victoria Cross Keys Hot., Eccles.
Neptune L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, APRIL 13.

Lodge 216, Harmonic, Adelphi Hot., Liverpool.
" 333, Royal Preston, Vic., Garrison Hot., Fulwood.
" 477, Mersey, 55, Argyle-st., Birkenhead.
" 786, Crosth, United Service, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1035, Prince of Wales, Kirkdale, Liverpool.
" 1182, Duke of Edinburgh, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1213, Bridgewater, Cross Keys Hot., Eccles.
Marine's L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, APRIL 14.

Lodge 1550, Perseverance, M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, April 15, 1876.
All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, APRIL 10.

Lodge 102, St. Mark, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 204, St. Paul, George Inn, Ayr.
" 205, Gartland St. Winnoch, Eagle, Lochwinnoch.
" 219, Star, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.
" 307, Union and Crown, M.H., Barrhead.
" 362, St. Clair, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.
" 384, Athole, Kirkintilloch, Washington Hot.
" 403, St. George, Oddfellows' Hall, Helensburgh.
" 541, Marie Stuart, M.H., Crosshill.

TUESDAY, APRIL 11.

Lodge 177, St. James, Old Monkland, M.H., Coatbridge.
" 230, St. Barnabas, Black Bull Hot., New Cumnock.
" 413, Athole, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 419, Neptune, 35, St. James-st., Kingston.
" 426, Prince of Wales, M.H., Renfrew.
" 441, Glasgow, 22, Struthers-st., Calton, Glasgow.
" 543, St. John, M.H., Dalmuir.
Chap. 69, St. Andrew's, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12.

Lodge 178, Scotia, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 333, St. George, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
Chap. 113, Partick, M.H., Partick.

THURSDAY, APRIL 13.

Lodge 88, New Monkland, T.H., Airdrie.
" 109, St. Marnock, T.H., Kilmarnock.
" 179, St. Mungo, London Hot., Mauchline.
" 203, St. John's, Olive H., Airdrie.
" 290, Dalry Blair, White Hart H., Dalry.
" 570, Kenmuir, M.H., Springburn.
Chap. 50, Glasgow, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

FRIDAY, APRIL 14.

Lodge 18, Dumbarton, Mission Hall, Dumbarton.
" 170, St. John, Black Bull Inn, Renton.
" 399, Royal Blues, Commercial Hot., Kilbinnie.
" 427, St. Clair, M.H., Garngad-rd., Glasgow.
Chap. 144, St. Rollox, M.H., Garngad-rd., Glasgow.

SATURDAY, APRIL 15.

Lodge 524, St. Andrew, M.H., Kilbride.
" 544, St. Andrew, M.H., Coatbridge.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, April 15, 1876.

MONDAY, APRIL 10.

Lodge 145, St. Stephen, Writers' Court, Edinburgh.

TUESDAY, APRIL 11.
Lodge 1, Mary's Chapel, Waterloo-place.
WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12.
Lodge 2, Canongate Kilwinning, St. John's Chapel.
Chap. 1, Edinburgh, F.M.H., George-st.
THURSDAY, APRIL 13.
Lodge 8, Journeyman, M.H., High-st.
FRIDAY, APRIL 14.
Lodge 83, St. Andrew, F.M.H., George-st.

THE ANNUAL
RED CROSS BALL

WILL BE GIVEN AT
WILLIS'S ROOMS, KING STREET, ST. JAMES'S.
UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE GRAND COUNCIL.
By the Members of the Masonic and Military Orders of the Red Cross of Constantine, K.H.S. and Knights of St. John.

On Monday, April 24, 1876.

PRESIDENT,
COLONEL FRANCIS BURDETT,
M. Em. Grand Viceroi, and Deputy Grand Commander of St. John.

The surplus will be given to the Masonic Charities and to the Almoner's Fund of the Red Cross Order.
Coote and Tinney's Band, Conductor, Bro. Coote.
Tickets, including Refreshments and Champagne Supper, Gentlemen's, 21 st.; Ladies', 15s.; Double Ticket, 31s. 6d.
Dancing to commence at Nine o'clock.
R. Wentworth Little, (Treas. Gen. and Knt. Grand Commander of St. John,) Treasurer.
Henry A. Dubois, G.A. Treas. and Knt. Commander of St. John; and J. Musgrave Levick, Commander of St. John, Hon. Secs.

17, Great James-Street, Bedford-Row, W.C.

MR. THOMAS C. MACROW.

252, Westminster-bridge-road, London, S.E.

(Facing Astley's Theatre.)

BUSINESSES of every description let quietly and quickly (Town or Country). All parties wishing to sell, call or send full particulars. Registration fee. Hours 10 to 6, Saturday 10 to 3. Enclose stamp for reply. No canvassers employed. Established 1864.

WANTED by Advertiser a situation as Traveller, Collector, or any position of trust, Town or Country, age 40, A.B., 2, Southan-street, Notting Hill.

WANTED by a M.M. a situation as general hand, or any place of trust. Address, J. T. 47, Ram Square, Wandsworth, S.W.

WANTED, by the Advertiser, a Situation as Bank or Office Messenger, or any place of Trust. Eleven years character. M.M., M.M.M., R.A.M.—Address A. B. C., 61, Clifton-st., Finsbury-sq., E.C.

GERMANY. — HIGH CLASS EDUCATION at the Royal Colleges, Cassel (attended by the Sons of the Crown Prince of Germany), with thorough German, French, and English Private Tuition by resident Graduates, and a refined English Home. Delightful neighbourhood of Wilhelmshöhe, the Aue Park, and the valley of the Fulda. Prospectus, with highest references. Terms, 70 to 90 guineas inclusive. Sons of Masonic brethren at reduced terms.—Address Bro. Dr. Saure, M.A., Cassel) who will be in England in April).

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY
(Limited), 7, Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.
General Accidents. | Personal Injuries.
Railway Accidents. | Deaths by Accident.
C. HARDING, Manager.

MAY ELECTION, 1876.
ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION. —The Votes and Interest of the Governors and Subscribers are most earnestly solicited on behalf of ELIZA BLACKBURN.

Widow of the late William Blackburn, formerly of the Robert Burns Lodge, No. 25, in which he was initiated in 1844; joined the Lodge of Confidence, No. 193, in 1848, and served the office of Master in 1850; joined the Globe Lodge, No. 23, in 1848, and served the office of Master in 1851; joined the Crystal Palace Lodge, No. 742, in 1858, and acted as Secretary thereof for eight years; joined the Double Lodge S.E.B. No. 889, in 1866, and was appointed Provincial Grand S.E.B. for Surrey in 1866. He was elected in the Robert Burns Chapter, No. 25, in 1846, was elected Treasurer of the said chapter, and served the office of First Principal in 1854; joined the Prudence Chapter, No. 12, in 1848, and served the office of Scribe E. from that time to 1873; and joined the Mount Lebanon Chapter, No. 435, in 1865, of which he was Scribe E., and retained that office till he was elected an Annuant and Donor of the Royal Masonic Institution in 1873. A Petitioner is allowed to remain in the apartments occupied by her late husband for a brief period according to the laws, her only means of support being the half of the annuity formerly enjoyed by him.

The case is strongly recommended by Bro. G. F. Newmarch, Dep. G.M. for Gloucestershire, and V.P. of the Institution, Cirencester.

" A.E. McIntyre, Q.C., Grand Registrar, 3, Middle Temple-lane.
" Henry Browne, P.G.D., Upper Tooting.
" Raynham W. Stewart, P.G.D., 11, Abchurch-lane.
" J. Brett, P.G.F., P.M. 177, Old Jewry.
" R. Spencer, P.G.S., P.M. 263, 26, Fentiman-road, Clapham-rd.
" J. T. Bennett, P.G.S., 23, No. 12, F. 1 Mail.
" W. Watson, P.G.S. Grand Stewards' Lodge, 42, Drury-lane.
" H. J. Strong, M.D., P. Prov. G.W. Surrey, P.M. 453, 463, P.Z. 463, and V.P. of the Institution, No. 64, North End, Croydon.
" R. Cartwright, P.P.G.S.W. Surrey, P.M. 889, Kingston.
" W. Pearce, P.Prov.G.Reg. Surrey, P.M. 889, No. 3, Dr. Johnson's Buildings, Temple.
" T. Long, Prov. G.D.C. Surrey, P.M. 889, Kingston.
" J. B. Lemaitre, P.M. 12, P.Z. 12, No. 30, Chiswell-street.
" L. Ruf, P.M. and Treas. 12, P.Z. and Treas. 12, Lowther Arcade.
" W. Rumsey, P.M. 206, No. 8, London-street.
" C. Smithers, No. 100, Leadenhall-street.
" H. T. Thompson, P.M. 742, Augusta Cottage, Nightingale-rd., Lower Clapton.
" C. Painter, 190, No. 130, Leadenhall-street.
By whom Proxies will be thankfully received, also by the applicant, Eliza Blackburn, 7, Royal Masonic Institution, East Croydon.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—	PAGE
Craft Masonry.....	165
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.....	167
Masonic and General Tidings.....	169
Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution.....	169
Provincial Grand Chapter of East Lancashire.....	169
Our Royal Grand Master's Return.....	170
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.....	170
Comparative Cost of the Boys' School.....	171
The Enlargement of the Girls' School.....	171
Old Minute Books.....	171
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Masonic Designations.....	171
Cardinal Manning and the Stage.....	171
Masonic Medal.....	171
Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.....	173
OBITUARY:—
Bro. J. Porter.....	173
Bro. J. D. Bath.....	173
Bro. J. R. Roberts.....	173
Masonic Meetings for Next Week.....	173
Advertisements.....	i. ii. iii. iv. v. vi.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

FAITH LODGE (No. 141).—On the 28th ult. this lodge held its meeting at Anderson's Hotel, Fleet-street. The proceedings commenced at five o'clock precisely. The officers present were Bros. Waygood, W.M.; Kennett, I.P.M.; Carter, P.M., Treas.; Stuart, P.M., Sec.; Walls, acting S.W.; Mallett, J.W.; Darcy, acting S.D.; Bye, I.G.; Rumbold, W.S.; Whitley, D.C.; and Past Masters Taylor, Green, and Themans. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the W.M. raised Bro. Goulden to the degree of a M.M. He then vacated the chair, and the I.P.M. passed Bros. Rothenburg, Manley, and Kendall as F.C.'s most impressively. Bro. Kennett having also left the chair, Bro. Taylor, P.M., initiated Mr. F. W. Leftly into Masonry in a very excellent manner. Upon the proposition of Bros. Carter and Green, P.M.'s, the sum of £5 5s. was voted to Bro. Hopwood, P.M. (W.M. of 1512), to head his list as Steward at the forthcoming Festival for Boys. The votes of the lodge for the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys and Girls were given to Bros. P. Taylor and Themans, P.M.'s. Some minor business having been transacted, the lodge was closed in ancient form, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet. Upon the removal of the cloth, the W.M. gave the usual Royal and Craft toasts, which were heartily received, and Bro. Walls having contributed a portion of the "National Anthem," Bro. Taylor proposed "The Health of the W.M." He stated that Bro. Waygood unfortunately laboured under very severe difficulties, but he had worked very hard to obtain Masonic instruction, and he personally was surprised at the manner in which he had, to a certain extent, nearly surmounted certain physical obstacles that stood in his way, and that he was entitled to the warmest support that the members of the lodge could afford. The duties of his position were drawing rapidly to a close, and they would soon miss his happy face and affable demeanour at the banquet table, and he hoped, in conclusion, that the brethren would heartily join with him in wishing the W.M. long life and happiness. The W.M. having briefly replied, proposed "The Health of the Initiate." This toast having been duly honoured, Bro. Leftly made a very excellent reply. In proposing "The Health of the Visitors," the W.M. stated that the lodge had not been honoured with quite so many visiting brethren as usual, but he was very pleased to see those that had been present in the lodge and at the banquet table, viz., Bros. Walters, P.M., P.Prov. G.S. of Middlesex; Callerson, 548; Nice, 1178; Westgaard, a member of a distinguished Danish lodge; and Boas, late of the Faith. This toast having been warmly received, was duly acknowledged. The W.M. then proposed "The Health of the P.M.'s of the Lodge" in very warm terms, in which he expressed his thanks to those brethren for the very great assistance and instruction that they had kindly rendered him both before and since his accession to the chair of K.S. Between the toasts Bros. Robinson, Walls, Leftly, and others instrumentally and vocally amused the brethren. "The Health of the Past Masters" having been acknowledged, the W.M. gave "The Officers of the Lodge," which having been briefly acknowledged by Bros. Davis, S.W.; Mallett, J.W.; Davey, J.D., and others, the Tyler's toast was called, and the brethren shortly afterwards separated until the last Tuesday in the present month, which meeting will terminate the season.

KENNINGTON LODGE (No. 1381).—The last meeting for the season of this prosperous lodge was held at the Surrey Club House, Kennington Oval, on the 4th inst. The lodge was opened at six o'clock by Bros. Everett, I.P.M. Domestic, W.M.; Higgins, S.W.; Reeves, J.W.; Walls, S.D.; Kohler, J.D.; Speedy, I.G.; Page, P.M., &c., Treas., acting I.P.M.; Stuart, P.M., &c., Sec.; Marston, W.S.; Robinson, A.W.S. Bros. Mann and Koch, P.M.'s, were also present. The minutes of the March meeting having been read and confirmed, the W.M., assisted by his officers, passed Bro. King to the Second Degree, the ritual being rendered with Bro. Everett's well-known ability. The W.M. then brought forward a motion that the lodge should hold a summer festival this year, to which ladies and members and friends should be allowed to participate in. He stated that he had organised a very effective one in connection with the Domestic Lodge last year, which, notwithstanding the unpropitious weather, was eminently successful, and he hoped that the lodge would consider the matter fully in all its bearings before coming to any decision. The motion was seconded by the S.W. and having been fully discussed was ultimately unanimously carried, and a committee, consisting of the officers, Past Masters and five members, viz., Bros. Cruse, Webb, Brooks, Marcus, and Hayward, were appointed to carry the matter out. Bro. Mann, P.M., proposed, and Bro. Koch, P.M., seconded, which was unanimously carried, that the fees of country members upon partaking of refreshment should be the same as those charged for visiting brethren, viz., 10s. and 15s. respectively. The lodge was then closed and the brethren partook of refreshment. Upon the removal of the cloth the W.M. stated that in consequence of there being no particular business before the lodge he had not deemed it necessary to hold a banquet, but not wishing that the last night of the season should pass without a little conviviality he had ordered a slight refreshment at a reasonable tariff for about a dozen, and he was considerably surprised and extremely gratified that he had been honoured by quite a mammoth gathering, which proved that the members of the Kennington Lodge were not entirely confined to the Fourth Degree. He then said that he should not bore them by indulging in very long speeches in introducing the various toasts, because he wished the members on that particular evening to thoroughly enjoy themselves without restraint. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were then given, and the National Anthem sung by Bro. Walls. Bro. P.M. Mann, in proposing "The Health of the W.M.," said that the best proof of Bro. Everett's popularity was the numbers assembled there that evening. Their W.M. had told them that he had anticipated only a dozen, and he had been supported, as he was proud to say—in proportion to their numbers—by quite a mammoth gathering. This proved that they had the right man in the right place, and he (Bro. Mann) looked forward to an exceedingly prosperous year of office for Bro. Everett. This toast having been heartily drunk, the W.M. made an exceedingly modest reply, and immediately afterwards proposed "The Health of their only Visitor, Bro. Palmer, J.W. Domestic," in a very humorous speech. Bro. Palmer, in reply, said that he had been so often a visitor at the Kennington Lodge, and had seen so many members of that lodge at the Domestic, that he was often in doubt as to which lodge he really belonged. He, however, must say that he always enjoyed himself at No. 1381, and he hoped that the intended summer festival would be a great success, and that he would—if they would allow him—do all he could to induce members of his lodge to take part in it, and concluded his remarks by thanking the W.M. for the manner in which he had proposed his health and the brethren for the hearty way in which it had been received. The W.M., in proposing "The Health of the Past Masters," took occasion to return his very sincere thanks to that distinguished body for the great assistance he had always received from them. He then went on to say that he believed that no lodge could prosper unless perfect unanimity prevailed between the Master and his predecessors in office. In conclusion, he said that the Kennington Lodge was highly famed in having three Past Masters so long and honourably connected with Freemasonry as Bros. Page, Mann and Koch. This toast having been well received, Bro. Koch, P.M., in the absence of the I.P.M., briefly replied. "The Health of the Treasurer and Secretary" followed, to which Bros. Page and Stuart responded. The former said that he was exceedingly proud at holding the position of Treasurer in the lodge. The W.M. had been pleased to pay him a very high compliment for the manner in which he had discharged his duties hitherto, and he hoped that as long as he held the office that his management of the funds would meet with their entire approval, and in conclusion he told them that he should never lose sight of one thing in the expenditure, and that was economy. Bro. Stuart said that the labours of the Secretary were very much reduced when they were assisted by an able Master and an energetic and careful Treasurer, and he was proud to say that the Kennington Lodge at the present time possessed both. He had endeavoured, he said, since he held the office to discharge it to the best of his ability, and he was pleased to think that his efforts hitherto had been rewarded by the kind approval of the brethren, and by the voice of the auditors at the annual investigation of the books and accounts. The W.M. then paid Bro. Trotman, the caterer of the lodge, a high compliment by proposing his health for the way in which he had attended to the comforts of the brethren since he had held that position. Bro. Trotman having replied, the W.M. proposed "The Health of the Officers of the Lodge," in which he gave those brethren hearty commendation for the manner they had discharged their duties, and for their punctual attendance. This toast having been honoured, Bros. Higgins, Reeves, Walls, Kohler, Speedy, Marston, and Robinson severally replied. During the evening contributions of harmony were given by the W.M., Bros. Sirgood, Philpott, Palmer, Walls, and others. The Tyler's toast brought the proceedings to a close, and the brethren separated until the first Tuesday in October next.

WOODBIDGE. — Doric Lodge (No. 81).—We paid another visit to this old lodge at Woodbridge on Wednesday, the 5th inst., when there were present Bros. Gall, W.M.; Barnes, S.W.; B. D. Gall, J.W.; E. Fitzgerald, Sec.; Browne, S.W.; W. Phillips, J.P., P.M.; Moore, J.P.; Whistock, Spalding, P. Prov. G.D.; W. Wilmshurst, P. Prov. G.S.B.; F. A. Kent, M.C.P., F.R.S., and others. Visiting Bro. Emra Holmes, P. Prov. G. Reg., and P.G.D.C. 114, and two other brethren, one hailing from the Star of the East Lodge, Harwich, and the other from the Framlingham Lodge, but whose names we did not learn, were also present. The lodge having been opened and minutes confirmed, Bro. George Edwards Keer was examined, and afterwards raised to the Sublime Degree of a Master Mason, the lodge having been previously opened in that degree, the ceremony being made very solemn by the impressive manner in which it was conducted by the W.M., who worked it admirably. Bro. Fitzgerald afterwards gave the lecture in the Third Degree—a lecture, by the way, far too seldom given in our lodges. Bro. Wilmshurst dictated the answers to the necessary examination for admission to a higher degree. The other business of the lodge having been disposed of, the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the Crown Hotel, where supper was served. The usual toasts were given from the chair, and then Bro. Phillips proposed "The Health of the W.M.," and spoke highly of his working. He also made some pertinent remarks on the care young members should take not to betray themselves too readily as Masons, alluding to some begging Masons who had been round the town lately, to whom allusion had been made in lodge. Bro. Spalding proposed "The Visitors," who all responded. Bro. Wilmshurst sang two capital Masonic songs in capital style, and a most agreeable evening was spent.

IPSWICH.—British Union Lodge (No. 114).—The usual monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, on Thursday, the 6th inst. Present: Bros. Rev. J. J. Burton, M.A., W.M.; Rev. J. B. Tweed, P.G. Chaplain, S.W.; H. Miller, P.G.P., J.W.; H. Casley, S.D.; Ridley King, J.W.; G. Elliston, I.G.; H. D. George, I.P.M.; W. Boby, P.P. S.G.W.; Emra Holmes, P.P.G. Reg., and P.G.D.C.; W. Spalding, P.M., Sec.; Harman Harris, P.M.; Rev. G. N. Godwin, W. Clarke, P.G.A.D.C.; W. Meadows, J. Walker, surgeon to the garrison, and others. The minutes of last lodge having been read and confirmed, Bro. Jones, Lieut. R.A., was examined and entrusted, and the lodge being opened in the Second Degree, he was admitted to the degree of F.C., the W.M. performing the ceremony very efficiently. The usual business having been disposed of the lodge was closed in due form, and the brethren retired to the dining hall, where Bro. G. Spalding provided the usual plain but substantial repast, to which full justice was done. The customary toasts were given from the chair, Bro. Boby responding to that of "The Past P.G. Officers" in his usual felicitous style. Bro. Holmes read the great Masonic poem, which, though too long for a post-prandial meeting, was very much appreciated, and several copies were asked. Bro. Holmes undertaking to get them from Bro. G. Markham Tweddell, the English publisher. Bro. Miller sang a very good song, and a pleasant evening came to an end far too soon for the brethren assembled, as is mostly the case in this popular lodge. It was hoped that Sir Patrick Colquhoun would have been present, as he had been in the town attending the assizes, and it was intended to give a cordial reception to so distinguished a Mason had he been able to come, but it was found afterwards that he had returned to town before the lodge met, much to the regret of those brethren who had the pleasure of his acquaintance and were desirous of showing him a little courtesy on behalf of the Craft in Suffolk.

WALSALL.—Lodge of St. Matthew (No. 539).—A meeting of this good old lodge was held at the Dragon Hotel, on the 7th inst., for the installation of Bro. T. Mount Humphries, W.M. elect. There was a brilliant gathering of the Craft, the attendance of brethren being larger than has been known for years. The officers present were Bros. T. M. Humphries, S.W.; J. Rowley, J.W.; J. Symons, P.M., Treas.; W. Bayliss, P.M., Sec.; Jos. Newman, I.G., P.M., P. Prov. G.J.W.; Thomas Nicholls, Tyler; W. Purvis, Assist. Tyler. The Past Masters present were Bros. Frank James, Dep. Prov. G.M.; Benj. Love, P. Prov. A.D.C.; F. Empson, P. Prov. S.G.W. Warwick; John J. Wickham; and Charles Humphries, P.M. 1013, Liverpool. The members present were Bros. A. P. Brewitt, E. Ouston, J. Lindop, A. H. Lindop, J. Griffin, G. Simpson, J. Simpson, J. Banks, J. H. Shekleton, J. Harper, and others. The visitors included A. Barnes, W.M. 1039; T. Bedmore, P.G.O. 1039; L. Wright, P.M. 419; C. Trigg, P.S.G.W. 1039; A. D. Parker, Org. 1039; H. Smith, P.M. Athol Lodge; H. Langman, W.M. 419; E. Bagaley, P.M. 419; E. Williams, 390; H. Humphreys, Dimbella, Ceylon; S. Smith Dorsett, J.W. 301; G. Grove, 739; James H. Walton, P.M. 696; J. Guy, W.M. 606; J. Jones, 506; R. Brewitt, 252; John Bragg, P.G.S.W. 739; J. Ketley, P.M. 739; Thomas Howkins, P.M. 468; Thomas H. Smith, P.M. 468; Frederick Derry, P. Prov. J.G.W., 482; James Brawn, 1039; H. Hobson, 1163; R. Williams, 696; J. F. Crump, 696; F. N. Syder, 419; W. Balls, P.M. 1163; and others. The lodge having been duly opened by the W.M., Bro. T. T. Fisher, and the minutes read and confirmed, the W.M. vacated the chair, which was taken by the D. Prov. G.M., and the installation was proceeded with in the very impressive and faultless style of Bro. Frank James. The newly-installed W.M. invested the following as his officers:—Bros. T. T. Fisher, I.P.M.; James Rowley, S.W.; A. P. Brewitt, J.W.; the Rev. James Downes, P.M., P.P.G.C., Chaplain; James Symons, P.M., P.P. G.S.B., Treasurer; Wm. Bayliss, P.M., P.P.J.G.D., Secretary; B. G. Cales, S.D.; E. Oerton, J.D.; B. Love, P.M., P.P.G.A.D.C., D.C.; John Griffin, I.G.; Stewards, John H. Shekleton and John Banks; Tylers, Thomas Nicholls, for the 30th time, and W. Purvis. The W.M. afterwards presented the lodge with a very handsome illuminated record of the W.M.'s (30) of St. Matthew's Lodge from its commencement, framed in a beautiful gilt frame, which was received, and the Dep. Prov. G.M. in the name of the lodge thanked the W.M. for it in a few suitable words, and it was duly entered upon the minutes. The lodge was then closed in ample form with solemn prayer by the W.M. The brethren afterwards adjourned to the Assembly Rooms, where an elegant banquet was provided, at which the W.M. presided, and who gave the usual loyal toasts in brief though suitable terms, to which the brethren heartily responded. The W.M. then proposed "The Health of the Right Worshipful the Provincial Grand Master of Staffordshire, the Right Hon. the Earl of Shrewsbury, the Very Worshipful Deputy Prov. Grand Master, Bro. Frank James; and the Officers, Past and Present, of the Provincial Grand Lodge," and in so doing well expressed the feeling of respect and admiration entertained by every Staffordshire brother for the Earl of Shrewsbury, mentioning the many instances in which his lordship had shewn his great interest in the Craft, and the great hospitality displayed by him on several occasions, especially at the installation of the Grand Master, the Prince of Wales, when he entertained the brethren of his province. He also well expressed the affectionate feelings of every brother in this province, and especially by this lodge, for the V.W.D.G.M., Bro. Frank James, of whom they (in Walsall) had so much reason to be proud as an eminent working Mason, a child of St. Matthew's Lodge, and a townsman. He also expressed the pleasure he had in seeing so many eminent Masons around him, many that he numbered amongst his personal friends, and he was proud to know that the majority had "risen to eminence by merit." The V.W.D.P.G.M., who replied in an eloquent speech, said it was a matter of great difficulty, but he would divide the toast into three parts. The first he found little difficulty in, on account of the great interest the R.W.P.G.M. had at all times shown in Freemasonry, his anxiety for the good working of his province, and more especially the interest he felt in the Masonic charities, of which he was an enthusiastic and liberal supporter. The second part was the greater difficulty, because it related to himself. He thanked the W.M. for his eulogistic remarks in introducing the toast, and the brethren for their enthusiastic reception of it; he modestly reminded his hearers of the eminent Masons who had preceded him, and who had been his tutors in Masonic lore. The third part he would leave to the Prov. S.G.W., who thanked the W.M. and the brethren for their kind reception of the Prov. G. Officers. The V.W.D.P.G.M. again rose to propose "The Health of the W.M.," and in so doing he felt quite sure that the lodge had done a wise thing in selecting Bro. T. Mount Humphries, whose Masonic career he had watched for many years, and whom he knew to be a zealous working Mason; he called the attention of the W.M. to the fact, that he had been, metaphorically, courting the dignity to which he had attained, and now that he was espoused he hoped he would not get tired of his bride during the ensuing year, although he would find the duties arduous and a heavy tax upon his time. He further exhorted him not to be discouraged should he find that the number of initiates during his year of office did not equal that of his predecessor (which had been an unparalleled successful one in the history of the lodge). He said that in Masonry, as in other things, there were times when great numbers desired to be admitted and the brethren thought nothing would stop their success, but he could, during the many years he had been a member, recollect times of great depression, and initiates very few. When these times came it was necessary to husband their resources, set their house in order, and wait for better times. Bro. J.M. Humphries thanked Bro. Frank James for the kind way in which he had proposed this toast, and the officers and brethren for the very hearty manner in which they received it. He assured them he responded with mingled feelings of pleasure and regret; with pleasure, seeing that he had been unanimously elected to that chair, which had been previously filled by many distinguished Masons; with regret, because he was afraid that the abilities he could place at the service of the lodge were not so brilliant as many of his predecessors; but of this he could assure them, he had entered heartily upon Masonic work, and he was determined as far as he was able to make St. Matthew's Lodge conspicuous for its charities, and he would undertake the duty of Steward at the next festival of the Boys' School, and he trusted that during his period of office he might perform his duties to the satisfaction of the lodge and with credit to himself. Of one thing he was quite sure, that the brethren would look leniently upon all his short-comings and take the will for the deed. Bro. H. Humphreys, of Ceylon, and Bro. J. Bragg, P.S.G.W., replied on behalf of the visitors; Bro. Bayliss, P.P.S.G.D., replied for the Past Masters; Bro. Rowley, S.W., replied for the Officers and Wardens; Bro. Thomas Nicholls, the venerable Tyler, proposed the last toast.

MANCHESTER.—Lodge of Truth (No. 1458).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held at the private rooms, Newton Heath, on Saturday, 1st inst. Bro. Kent, W.M., opened the lodge at 3.45 p.m. Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Motion was passed, without any dissentients, excluding a member, and a resolution adopted authorizing the usual steps to be taken to sustain such exclusion. Bros. Wm. Smith, Hebdon, Lorking, and Swain were raised to the Sublime Degree. The W.M. and Wardens were appointed to attend Provincial Grand Lodge at the meeting in May. Motion by Bro. Turner, P.M., that the lodge give a donation of ten guineas to the new East Lancashire Institution was carried unanimously. There were two propositions made—one for initiation and one for joining member, and after some business of minor importance the lodge was closed. Refreshments were then partaken of and the usual toasts proposed.

BRO. W. W. B. BEACH, M.P., Prov. Grand Master, Hants., presided over a council meeting of the Central Chamber of Agriculture, held on Tuesday, at the Salisbury Hotel, Fleet-street.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Perfect health is a condition which it is difficult to describe, but which we can all comprehend. It is the greatest natural boon that can be afforded to us, and any means which conduces to the preservation of it must ever be highly prized amongst mankind. Perfect health can be maintained only by attention to nature's laws, and by at once rectifying any deviations from that standard. Holloway's remedies are well and justly famed as being in the foremost rank as health preservers and restorers; they have earned and maintained that position by reason of their powerfully purifying and eliminating properties, and their success in that respect is so marked, that they are used almost universally.—ADVT.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

The Quarterly Court of subscribers and Governors of this Institution was held on Monday at Freemasons' Hall, and also at the Tavern. A large number of brethren being expected to be present to take part in the anticipated discussion between the West Yorkshire brethren and the brethren from the other provinces and London, the board-room of Freemasons' Hall was deemed incapable of affording the required accommodation, and for this purpose the large hall of the Tavern was engaged for the debate, the brethren afterwards to adjourn to the board-room to take part in the election. As was supposed, the brethren attended in considerable numbers, there being about 170 present at the opening of the Court, and remaining until the election commenced. Several were present from the Province of West Yorkshire, but their numbers were far inferior to those from other quarters. Bro. John Moxon Clabon, Past Grand Deacon, and President of the Lodge of Benevolence, was unanimously called upon to fill the chair, he being the senior Vice-Patron of the Institution. The other brethren present were, according to the signature book, Bros. H. Browne, John Simpson, P.M. 910 (West Yorkshire); John C. Walsh, W.M. 306 (West Yorkshire); Charles Lowry, P.M. 304 (West Yorkshire); Robert Craig, P.M. 304 (West Yorkshire); Charles Pegler, 837, 575, 304 (West Yorkshire); George S. Dunbar, 910; Alfred S. Tolson, Treasurer 910; H. Massey ("Freemason"), S. Rawson, Raynham W. Stewart, J. Wordsworth, Richard Spencer, J. Cawthorn, 458; L. Finch, 458; James Walker, 289; Thomas Crossley, W.M. 1311; John Thompson, P.M.; Henry Basevi Colonel, P.D.D.G.M.; A. F. A. Woodford, P.G.C.; Le Ruf, P.M.; F. Horsley, 304, P.M.; John Smith, 731, P.M.; Richard Holmes, 910, W.M.; J. Creaton, Thomas J. Sabine, V.P., T. Hill, P.P.G.W. (West Yorkshire); J. Wordsworth, P.P.G.D.C. (West Yorkshire); George Kenning, John Constable, W. Mann, Henry Smith, W. H. B. Tomlinson, Isaac Booth, (West Yorkshire), John Symonds, Edward T. Clark, Charles Godtschalk, W. Hughes, H. A. Dubois, Wm. King Gill, Magnus Ohren, H. M. Levy, G. Bolton, John Sutcliffe, Walter Hopekirk, John Bodenham, A. Durrant, W. H. Smith, Austin Sheppard, F. Adlard, Joseph Quarterman, J.W. 910 (West Yorkshire); O. G. D. Perrott, 657; Edward Clark, W. F. Smith, 177, P.M.; Albert Martin, 1539; Robt. B. Webster, John Dennison, 108; T. W. Tew, 910 (Dep. Provincial G.M. West Yorkshire); W. F. C. Moutrie, T. W. White, E. Fuller Clark, W. F. Tubby, 11; W. Winn, George Newman, W. Downing, T. W. Strachan, A. B. Wall, Jesse Turner, John Edward Cox, P.G.C.; Hyde Pullen, H. Somerville Burney, Thomas Smith, J. Stevens, James A. Birch, Charles Cann, Harry May, John H. McQueen, 11; Richard Tyrrell, 179; W. Buck, 670, W.M.; E. M. Haigh, 29; Fred A. Cole, P.M. 54, Colchester; James Terry, G.D.C. Herts; John Henry Leggett, P.M. 145; John Boyd, P.G.P.; Simeon Hayes, I.P.M. 139 (West Yorkshire); W. Jervis, S.W. 139 (West Yorkshire); C. W. Thompson, S.D. 969, S.W. 1601; H. Hacker, P.M. 723; G. T. Wright, 731; James Blyth, 813; W. Richardson, H. W. Binckes, C. H. Waters, George Eedes Eachus, Geo. Wilson, P.M. 173; Wm. Lane, P.M. 28; John Chadwick, P.M. 44; J. L. Hine, P.M. 65; P.P.G.S.W. East Lancashire; George P. Henley, 186; Wm. Roebuck, Wm. Stephens, Col. Alex. Bidgway, P.P.G.W. Devon; George J. Palmer, P.M. 11; W. Macdonald, John M. Stedwell, Donald M. Dewar, F. H. Ebsworth, James Robins, J. C. Dwarber, Alfred Henry Diaper, Benj. Head, Wm. Bristow, Charles Tighe, J. Marsh, T. K. Kent, 60; J. N. Frost, 704; F. W. Ramsay, James Horwood, James Lewis Thomas, Wm. Paas, W. C. Parsons, R. F. Gould, John Swainston, John T. Moss, N. C. Browne, Henry Browne, jun., H. W. Hunt, E. A. Sacré, G. R. Shervill, Donald W. King, Charles Cobb, 51; H. S. Friend, 9; J. G. Chancellor, Samuel Cole, 184 and 1424; J. Last, 145; Samuel May; J. Waldron, J. C. Chaplin, 18; W. Birch, 1170; George Sinclair, 813; E. H. Fisher, 1489; Thomas Littlecott, 169; J. M. Klenck, 1339; Alfred Braun, 766; J. Watson, P.M. 194; Edward S. Snell, P.G.D.; A. F. Aldridge, E. H. Thirkley, 145, W.M.; J. W. M. Dosell, Wm. Bulkeley Hughes, M.P.; L. B. Garrett, 11; H. Whitfield, Geo. Moxon, 209; H. Coward, 8; F. B. Davage, P.M. 167; Capt. Cope, P.G.S.B.; Richard S. Warrington, 197; C. W. Todd, 183; James Weaver, P.M. 862 and 1319; A. Rule, 263; Wm. Brighten, J. P. Sarel, S. B. Wilson, Edmund Mackney, and F. Binckes (Secretary).

After the minutes of the former Court and the Special Joint Court had been read and confirmed, and the minutes of the different committees had been read for information, Bro. George Plucknett was, on the motion of Col. Creaton, seconded by Bro. S. Rosenthal, unanimously re-elected Treasurer of the Institution. Nine brethren of the General Committee who required election were then re-elected, and Bros. Percival Sandford, E. J. Tyrrell, and Edmund C. Massey were elected to fill the places of those members of the General Committee who had qualified themselves as life governors. Two additional vacancies in the school, caused by the withdrawal of two boys since 1st July last, were afterwards declared.

Bro. Raynham W. Stewart then rose and said he should propose that five additional boys be elected into the school. The Institution could well do this, as it now possessed Kent House. The boys would not be required to be taken on till August next, and by that time Kent House would be ready for occupation. (Hear, hear.)

Bro. Henry Browne seconded the motion, which was then put, and carried unanimously, amidst loud cheers.

The Chairman next said that the brethren had just heard that the Institution had purchased Kent House, the price whereof was £2000. The question now before the meeting would be that a cheque be signed for the amount.

The brethren unanimously adopted the question. Scrutineers were next appointed for the election of sixteen boys.

The next business on the paper was to consider the following notice of motion, by Bro. F. W. H. Ramsay:—"That every three years the four senior members of the House Committee retire, but shall be eligible for re-election, and the four who have been least frequent in attendance shall retire annually, and be ineligible for re-election for a space of twelve months."

Bro. John Symonds said that Dr. Ramsay was not present, but that he withdrew this motion at the Girls' School on Saturday, and it was quite understood that he would not move it at the Boys' School if not carried at the Girls'. Probably this was the cause of Dr. Ramsay's absence.

The Chairman then said that the next business to be proceeded with was the motion of which Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, Past Grand Chaplain, and Past Provincial Grand Warden West Yorkshire, had given notice:—"That, having in view recent imputations cast on the administration of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, this Court deems it to be its duty to express its unabated confidence in the House and Audit Committees and Executive."

Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, P.G.C., and Past Prov. G.W. West Yorkshire, then rose, and said it was natural that he should rise with some degree of diffidence on that occasion, as it was the first time he had had the honour of addressing so large a number of brethren in the metropolis at a Quarterly Court. As they were aware, a great part of his Masonic life had been spent in the provinces, and he must throw himself, therefore, on the kind consideration of the brethren whilst he addressed a few words to them, which were dictated solely by a sense of duty. There were many reasons why he should not be a person to come forward to appear, even by implication, to pass a censure on a province with which he had been long and happily connected; but when he found that the province had formally found fault with the Boys' School in the manner it had, he thought that every one who had an interest in that School should come forward boldly, honestly, and fearlessly on the present occasion to express his opinion on the subject. He thought, also, that it was high time to put a stop to pamphlets which had been circulated detracting from the high character which the school had attained, and which had commenced the agitation which had culminated in the resolution to which he had referred. If there were any complaints to be made against the administration of the Institution they should be made to the Quarterly Courts, where they would be thoroughly enquired into. Nothing could be more detrimental to the character of the Masonic Order, or to the principles they professed, than that pamphlets like those he had alluded to, impugning the administration of brethren who had for years rendered great services to the cause of charity, and promoted the interests of this Institution, should be industriously circulated. (Hear, hear.) In 1869 he was Chairman of the charity committee of West Yorkshire, and this was the reason he now addressed the meeting, inasmuch as no one was in a better position than himself to point out the unreality of the present agitation. A resolution had been passed by the Prov. Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire, couched in very strong terms, and a copy had been sent to the G.M. of every province in England, and also to the Grand Secretary of England, and a letter asking him to put it on the agenda paper of Grand Lodge. The resolution was as follows:—

Resolution of Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire:—"The great cost of the school seems to pervade nearly every department of its management, and your Committee strongly impresses upon Provincial Grand Lodges, the necessity for adopting such measures as will secure a material reduction of such evil, so that the institution may be largely extended its benefits conferred upon a much greater number of recipients, and the sympathies of the Craft, continued and extended in its favour."

Now, the brethren present would like to know upon what evidence such a general resolution as this had been framed, and what was the evidence which had led the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire to pass a resolution to an effect which was practically a condemnation of the management of the Boys' School, and which had been circulated in every province of England, and asked to be placed on the agenda paper of Grand Lodge. He wished it to be understood that he spoke in the interests of peace, and he would pass over personal matters, which would only lead to mutual recrimination. They must bear in mind that the evidence on which this committee had based this resolution had been arrived at in a most singular manner. There were antecedent circumstances attending the movement in West Yorkshire which were very peculiar. He had alluded to them a week ago, and he did not wish to weary the meeting by repeating them now. Twelve months ago, just before the anniversary festival of the Boys' School, a report appeared—

The Chairman said he hoped Bro. Woodford would forgive him for interposing for only half a moment, or for interposing at all, but Bro. Woodford had already stated that he addressed the Court in the interests of peace. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) He (the Chairman) wished to express to the speaker and all the brethren present a very earnest wish that, whatever turn the discussion that day might take, it might be not only in the interest of present peace but of future peace, and the general good of the Boys' School. (Hear, hear and applause.)

Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, P.G.C., &c., in continuation said that what he was going to lay before the brethren was simply a statement of facts upon which there was no dispute. In order to arrive at a proper understanding of this case it was necessary to know how the evidence was arrived at upon which the resolution alluded to was based.

The Chairman said all he was afraid of was that they might drift into personalities.

Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford continued. Twelve months ago a pamphlet was published by the Dep. Prov. G.M. of West Yorkshire in which he charged very grave laxity of administration to the House Committee, and blamed especially the Secretary of the school with reference to the Head Master. That original pamphlet, addressed to the six Vice-Presidents of West Yorkshire, was followed by another in which the writer stated the four points on which the Province of West Yorkshire would insist were—the removal of the Secretary, the reinstatement of the Head Master, the change of the whole of the House Committee, and the removal of the Matron. Other pamphlets had followed, and the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire, which met at Sheffield on the 20th Oct. 1875, passed a resolution by which they appointed a committee to investigate the management and expenditure of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. He would pass over the unconstitutional nature of such a proceeding, because that matter had been practically decided by Lord Zetland in 1854, when he ruled that even Grand Lodge itself could not pass a resolution affecting the administration of the educational establishments of the Craft any more than it could pass a resolution affecting the administration of the Infant Orphan Asylum at Wanstead. The committee to which he was calling the attention of the Court was, however, appointed, and they instituted an enquiry and took evidence. What was the nature of that evidence? It was practically the evidence of one brother. (Cries of "No, no.") He held the statement in his hand, the original report presented to Provincial Grand Lodge. He had seen the pamphlet, which had been suppressed, which was, in fact, the evidence almost entirely of one brother. The main evidence on which that report was drawn up was the evidence of the Deputy Provincial Grand Master—(no, no)—he stated it distinctly, standing up there before the meeting. (Renewed cries of "No, no.") Would any brother give the name of any one else who was examined? If there was any other person it had not been published in the report to which the signatures of the committee were attached. So that the facts of the case remained before the brethren such as had never been heard of before in the annals of Masonic jurisprudence and Masonic law: the same person who impugned the management of the Boys' School was the accuser, the witness, and the judge. (Mingled cries of "Hear, hear," and "No, no.") The brethren might colour it as they liked; but the fact remained the same. (No, no, and hear, hear.) Then, when they looked further into the matter, after that evidence was submitted there was no further witness connected with the school brought forward, at any rate, no such evidence was printed. It was entirely one-sided evidence. Why were not those examined who could have explained everything? In an enquiry such as this professed to be, as to the management of the Boys' School, why was not the evidence printed and sent to Bro. Binckes? The first he knew of it was the resolution passed by the committee, in which the expenditure of the school was characterised as being grossly extravagant, and different institutions in London were taken and their expenditure was compared with that of the Boys' School. Now, in 1866 the West Yorkshire Charity Committee went into exactly the same figures. Allegations were made openly that the expenses of the Boys' School were exorbitant and were above all other similar institutions.

A brother from West Yorkshire here asked who signed this report.

Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford replied that he signed it. He had already stated in his opening that he drew it up. He had been appointed by the Marquis of Ripon to do so. He would now read a portion of it. "The Freemasons' Boys' School is made up of very different classes of society, and requires therefore a higher standard alike in clothing, food, and education, than is given to the orphans of merely eleemosynary institutions, or boys of any one particular class." It must always also be borne in mind that the object of the Boys' School is not to make our boys charity boys, or to reduce them to the level of a pauper institution; but to give them the same education they would have had, had God spared the lives of their parents, so as to fit them for the social position they were destined, humanly speaking, to fill. And we must always keep this before us when we consider the cost of the education given in the Boys' School, or compare it with that of any other. A careful analysis of the Boys' School per head, with that of several of the London institutions of somewhat of a kindred nature, gives the following result:—The expenditure per head is in excess of such schools as the Commercial Travellers', Warehousemen and Clerks', British Orphan, City Freemen's Orphan School, St. Anne's, London Orphan—but is equal to that of the Clergy Orphan, and less than that of the Royal Medical Benevolent. The much larger numbers in almost all the schools will in every case account for the difference in expenditure. For instance, the office expenses in the Boys' are larger per head than all the other schools, simply because of the limited number of boys. Whereas in the London Orphan, with 145 girls and 290 boys, the office expenses are £3 12s. 3d. per head, or in round numbers £1,520; in the Commercial Travellers' with 125 boys and 66 girls, in all 191, £7 7s. 5d. per head, in round numbers £1,400; in the Clergy Orphan, with 83 girls and 96 boys, in all 179, £4 4s. 8d. in round numbers £751. Our Boys' School is £9 1s. 10d. per head, in all £906 9s. 9d. for 104 boys. If the number of boys could be increased to 150, and eventually to 200, this expenditure would not be increased in the aggregate, and would show a reduction per head of from four to five pounds! As regards clothing, the expenditure of the boys is larger per head than all the charities mentioned. We give the boys two suits of good clothing a year, an extra pair of trousers, and linen and underclothing in great liberality. This is unusual in other schools, but has tended much to the health of the boys. As regards food—we give the boys of the best, and the consequence is an infirmary always empty, and a school of healthy, active, and happy lads, of whom their medical man says, they are both a pleasure and a marvel. As it may interest the Provincial Grand Lodge to know what is the amount per head spent in food by the other charities, the committee append a tabular statement, and if an average is taken of these eight schools, it will appear to be £13 14s. 6d., or £12 13s. 4d. in excess of what is paid in the Boys' School—£12 13s. 2d. per head."

	Boys.	Girls.	Total.	Cost of Food per head.
London Orphan	145	290	435	£10 8 4½
Warehousemen and Clerks	76	36	112	12 0 0
Clergy Orphan	96	83	179	17 2 5½
British Orphan	106	69	175	15 12 3
R. Medical Benevolent ...	200	—	200	19 3 11
Commercial Travellers ...	125	66	191	10 10 7½
St. Anne's	332	—	322	10 11 11½
Freemen's Orphan	—	—	137	13 5 9

Such was the report of 1862. What did 1875 show? Mutualis mutandis—practically the same. The averages of 5 of the same institutions, proved that the office expenses and educational charges are very reasonable, and that as regards food, the average of these institutions demonstrated, that whereas their average was £16 1s. 4d., that of this extravagantly managed institution was £12 13s. 2d. (Cheers.) He would not weary the brethren with more figures, but the question of comparative cost, as put forth in the report alluded to, was an utter fallacy.

Many brethren would agree with him that if the statements of the Report had been confined to West Yorkshire, no notice, perhaps, need have been taken of them, for no one could deny that if brethren subscribing from time to time were dissatisfied with the expenditure as stated in the printed reports they had a right to enquire into it, to comment on it, and make fair criticisms upon all of it. But what was sought to be done, and which was thus done by the pamphlets, was not to confine it to West Yorkshire. Since he had addressed the general meeting at which he had given notice of this motion three brethren from West Yorkshire had gone into a neighbouring province, had met brethren in Hull, and put into their hands the objectionable pamphlets making charges of maladministration against the authorities of the School. The brethren in London wished to maintain the interests of the Boys' School, and they thought that by passing a vote of confidence that day in the Committees and the Executive, and by putting a stop to the Crusade that was now being carried on against the School, they would be best consulting the interests of the institution. It was his humble conviction that if brethren wished to preserve the School they must put a stop to these pamphlets which were being sent through the length and breadth of the land. Let it be known that they wished to do so in the interests of the School; let them express their approval of the labours of the committees; but above all let it be shewn that they wished to express their sympathy with a very energetic and zealous official who had been very unjustly attacked—Bro. Binckes. (Cheers.) He (Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford) had endeavoured to avoid anything which might lead to personal recrimination; but he would confidently call upon that meeting of brother Masons to give a vote of confidence in the committees, and in the hard worked official he had alluded to, and so enable them to persevere in their wise, kind and enlightened labours for the care, welfare, and protection of the orphan children of their deceased brethren. (Loud and prolonged cheers.)

Bro. Strachan said he came from Northumberland at some amount of inconvenience from his anxiety to see the result of a very serious motion. He was very glad, indeed, to see that the question was raised direct, whether or not the brethren were to have confidence in the committee who managed this institution. The whole good feeling of the brethren in the provinces towards the Institution must entirely depend on whether they had confidence in the governors; otherwise it would be easy to conceive that the result to the Institution must be very serious. The brethren in the provinces could not attend in London and take part in the management of the school; but they could give a few pounds now and again, and they would do so if they could reply on the management of the executive. If there was reason to suppose that the executive was not entitled to confidence it would at once stop the flow of the provincial charity, and so be very detrimental to the institution, and through it to the London as well as to the provincial brethren. "When he saw some days ago the inside of the pamphlet which had been spoken of, some of the remarks in which were puerile, and more of which were in bad taste—he could not help saying to himself, 'who ever has published such a thing?' When he came to look it was with considerable pain he saw the name of the Deputy Provincial Grand Master of West Yorkshire was upon it. He wondered what could be done to put a stop to the heartburnings and the feelings which must have been engendered by that pamphlet. He saw in it some charges which to his mind could only be construed to be charges of embezzlement and maladministration of moneys. Now he belonged to a profession which was accustomed to receive such charges, and to enquire into them; and he found in a long course of investigation of such matters that sometimes they turned out to be false, impossible, and without foundation, and so he reported them; and at other times that they were true. He immediately on looking into the pamphlet put himself in communication with the school authorities to see what had been done. His first enquiry was, was this a matter that had come before the courts and committee from time to time? He was surprised to find that instead of these brethren coming to these courts and committees for explanation, and after that falling back upon appealing to the brethren of the province, they began by falling back on appeals to these brethren. It appeared to him at once upon seeing that, it was a false step, and that it took away from the value of the complaint the brethren had made. He had never yet had any difficulty with the Institution in all his connection with it; but if he had had any doubt or uncertainty with regard to its management he would have ventured to write a letter to the House Committee for information, and if he had then failed to obtain what he wanted, if the matter had been of sufficient importance he should have come to the Quarterly Court; he would not at once have rushed into publishing a pamphlet charging maladministrations against the officials of the Institution and published it far and wide without giving an opportunity to the parties accused of disproving his assertion. (Great applause.) He had from the position he occupied some knowledge how Institutions like this ought to be kept, and when he was told that the boys were kept in a ridiculously, slovenly, and absurd state it was his duty to go and see them, and when he went and saw them he was able to say of his own knowledge that this was not the case. (Hear, hear.) He was not there to say that the committee never made a mistake, or that this or that committee was immaculate; but he was there to express his strong confidence in the way the committee had passed through their duties on the whole, and to urge upon the brethren of West Yorkshire not to propagate dissensions in the Craft. (Great cheering.) Let all the brethren unite in supporting their charities as they had done nobly in the past. (Immense applause.) True, they had spent a little more money than some schools; they made it their boast hitherto; but if they wanted to alter it now if they found they were not pursuing the right course—that the committee were too extravagant, and would not alter it—let them alter the constitution of the committee; but do not let them do that until they found that it was no use asking them. (Hear, hear.) He would appeal to the brethren of West Yorkshire to concur in the vote of confidence in the committee just elected and the other committee; let them feel that these committees would look on every complaint that was made; and let them cordially unite in saying how much they were obliged to them, not only for taking upon themselves future duties, but also for what they had done already. He hoped the brethren of West Yorkshire would see their way not to oppose this vote, which he had much pleasure in seconding. (Applause, and cries of "Hear, hear," and "No, no.")

Bro. Gill, Prov. G.S.W. West Yorkshire, said he asked to be allowed to address the Court, and he felt he might venture to do so in confidence that the brethren would listen with respect to what he was about to say. Let him premise by saying that no one could possibly have been more pained and sorry than he was when he first saw the unfortunate report in print. (Hear, hear, and applause.) He had always said that if anything was wrong with respect to the institution the proper and fraternal way to complain about it was to come to the institution in the first instance, and to have found the fault that was to be found, at the Quarterly Court. (Cheers.) He would give way to no brother in affection for the charities of the Craft; and when at the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire it was moved that there should be a committee of investigation appointed to enquire into the matter contained in the report, he was the man of all others who got up and disclaimed any action on the part of Grand Lodge being taken. It was, however, carried against him, the brethren of West Yorkshire having a strong and almost unanimous feeling on the subject. He himself was neutral, but it was decided to appoint a committee. The committee was appointed; and let him say, in answer to a statement of Bro. Woodford, that no fairer committee was ever appointed by any province. (Hear, hear, from the West Yorkshire brethren.) The committee represented the leading Masons of every town of West Yorkshire—(hear, hear)—and without any favour whatever that committee met to discharge the duties for which it was appointed. He (Bro. Gill) was invited by Sir Henry Edwards to take a seat on that committee, but he had determined to be quiet. He, however, spoke to many discreet brethren on the Charity Committee and many others, and they urged him, saying, "By all means do go there, and prevent a repetition of these very serious charges being made, which if made ought to be made with the greatest possible care, and ought not to be made at all unless substantiated." (Hear, hear, and cheers.) He hesitated a long time, and ultimately he assented to be on the committee. He was then invited to take the chair at that committee. He consulted again with his friends, and they said, "Yes, you may and you ought; and in justice to our province, and to keep our province straight, do go and take the chair." With that object in view he did take it. Let him here tell Bro. Woodford he never made a statement further from the truth (and when he said this he did not mean to say he made the statement wilfully, for they knew Bro. Woodford could not have said anything intentionally untrue) than when he said there was no evidence taken on that committee. Now he spoke in the presence of several brethren who knew that to a very large majority of the brethren that pamphlet was objectionable. Nothing was more offensive to him than that pamphlet. He said that he objected to anything of the kind; but with respect to the published reports of the committee appointed to investigate the charges made against the committee and executive of the Boys' School, he would say that in the report that the committee put forward every figure and every word was justified; they took the word neither of the Deputy Prov. G. Master nor any one else. His brethren from West Yorkshire would say that before anything was accepted they asked, Where is the evidence of it? and he declined to receive anything which was not vouched for and proved. The brethren were at this meeting now as men of business, and not to fan the flame of discord. What they were there to do was to bring about again that feeling of Freemasonry which had existed, to cement the fraternity, and in every way to make this institution what it ought to be—a successful one. But, having said that, let him again say that he would endorse and was ready to prove to the very hilt every statement as authentic that was made in the report of the committee. Every word of it was true; every figure was true. If there was one figure there that was not correct, or one statement put forth that could not be justified by the printed reports of the institution, he would submit to any infliction and penalty the meeting might choose to put upon him. (Hear, hear.) Having investigated these reports, and having arrived, as he said, at the conclusion at which he had, it was very hard for Bro. Woodford to say that when they were justifying the Executive Committee they were casting a censure on the Province of West Yorkshire.

Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford rose to explain that he did not say this, but that he was unwilling to appear, even by implication, to cast a censure on the province.

Bro. Gill said he had taken the words down, and could not be mistaken. However, if Bro. Woodford now asserted that his statement just made was the correct one, he felt bound to accept it. He (Bro. Gill) had had the pleasure of enjoying the friendship of Bro. Binckes for a long time, and he had never entertained one unkind thought towards him. He (Bro. Gill) asked for nothing like the dismissal of the Secretary, or the replacement of the committee by a new one; but he would ask the brethren to hesitate before passing the resolution of Bro. Woodford. (Hear, hear.) With all deference and respect to the House Committee, he would say that the House Committee did not deserve the confidence of the brethren so far as this resolution would make out, and this he would show by what he was going to state. (Oh! oh! and hear, hear, and confusion.) He believed there was not a brother on that committee that was not a high principled gentleman. (Hear, hear, and general applause.) He had nothing to say against the character of those gentlemen (hear, hear), but he ventured to submit that they had been remiss where the transaction of the business of the institution was concerned, and also so far as the expenditure of the institution went. (Loud cries of "No, no," which were met by a few cries of "Hear, hear.") The matter was one entirely for the opinion of the brethren: he was not going to labour the point. The report of the institution was the basis on which they went, and should go (hear, hear), and it was intolerable that the secretarial expenses should reach to over £10 per boy. (Great uproar.) The reports did not fairly state what the cost per boy per annum was; but if the brethren would read what he believed to be a careful and truthful statement of the Investigation Committee, they would say that the expenditure of the secretarial office was an extravagant one, and ought to be revised and curtailed. (Mingled cheers and expressions of dissent.) They did not devote their time and their money in West Yorkshire to quarrel with this state of things; but perhaps when he said that West Yorkshire had provided one seventh of the whole expenditure of the Boys' School, they must allow that the brethren of that province had always been liberal. Whatever Bro. Binckes had asked for at any time he had got from West Yorkshire. True, it might be said that they had got their return. He admitted it; the brethren of West Yorkshire were men of business, and took care to get a fair return for what they paid. In this they only did what they had a right to do; they availed themselves of privileges the Craft had given them. It must therefore be admitted that they had no interest in injuring the institution. Their true object, on the contrary, was to further its best interests, and if there was a serious blot on the institution, they ought to do as they did now. The brethren of West Yorkshire now came, as they ought in the first instance to have come, to this Quarterly Court. (Hear, hear.) They believed there were certain things that ought to be remedied. It had gone forth into the province that there was extravagant expenditure in the administration of the School somewhere, and it would give confidence to the brethren in the provinces if a certain number of brethren from the provinces were appointed on the committee to enquire into it. (Hear, hear, and no, no.) He did not ask for an investigation committee; but place upon the House Committee such a fair proportion of provincial brethren as would give the provinces confidence—as would give them the assurance that all the expenditure that was incurred was fairly and properly incurred for those for whom they cared so much, the inmates of the institution. But where there was extravagant expenditure, as he asserted and re-asserted, not only in the Secretary's office but in domestic matters, then, he said, they had a right to complain. In the institution, if they would take the pains to look, they would find—and how could it be tolerated that it should be so—that during the last ten years there had been five changes of head-masters, and twenty of assistant masters. Could it be said that the executive did not know the reason why, who had done so much for the institution? How was it that all the masters that were discarded went away with some unhappy grievance, and brought discredit upon the institution. (Hear, hear, and signs of disapprobation.) Two assistant masters had left lately, and four others would leave by the 1st of May, and when he said this the brethren must admit that there was something which ought to be enquired into by this Court. He would not say where the blot was, but that it was for for the House Committee to put their finger on the blot, and to remove it. How could they ask the Provincial brethren's support unless they could shew them that great care had been taken in regulating the expenditure. He again asked for provincial brethren to be placed on the House Committee, and so give further confidence to the provinces by letting them see what was the inner machinery of the establishment in London. He had the confidence of his fellow-townsmen; he was chief magistrate of his district, and when he had suggestions of complaints made to him, he had them enquired into. The present was a matter to be enquired into with the greatest care. He had [had placed in his hands a statement by provincial gentlemen that certainly if true would be a discredit to the management of the institution.

The Chairman reminded Bro. Gill that he should go upon strict evidence.

Bro. Gill said he would certainly bow at once to the suggestion; but he was only urging this because it would give greater force to his application that the province might be fairly represented upon the House Committee. Inasmuch as there were upon the House Committee certain brethren who had been upon it for years, they should give place to others. There was not a member of it who sat there for his own gratification, but believed that the true interests of the institution were being served by him. He again asked for new members to be put upon the House Committee, to shew that there was no foundation for the charges which had been made. If this was refused the brethren would say that there was something that was wished to be concealed. (No, no.) For himself he believed that there was nothing to conceal, that there was not one penny, with the connivance of the committee, improperly expended; but it was the reckless and thoughtless passing of the accounts that ought to be supervised. He believed this was the feeling of the brethren. They ought to be heard. Was it magnanimous on the part of the brethren to pass a censure on the brethren of West Yorkshire by this vote of confidence?

The Chairman said he would like to make a little suggestion here—that the words, "having in view recent imputations cast on the administration of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys" should be struck out, and that it should read, "that this Court deems it to be its duty," &c. This, he thought, would take away any sting that might be supposed to exist in the present motion. He said this for the sake of peace.

Bro. Gill: Let them in the interest of peace have no resolution whatever. (No, no.) If the brethren had no less confidence than he did it would be well. They cast no imputations on the executive at all. It would give the greater confidence in the management if anything in the shape of mismanagement was rectified. He called for the brethren to vote against the motion, which was a censure on the brethren of West Yorkshire who had conscientiously signed the report. (Cheers.)

Col. Ridgway said he represented a province which though not so large as Bro. Gill's was still a large and important one—the province of Devon, of which he was a Past Grand Warden; and he wished to have the opportunity of in some respects supporting, and in others of disavowing, the views which had been enunciated as the views of the provinces. Bro. Gill had just said that they should wait before they voted on this resolution for such explanations as would enable them to come to a sound decision on the case; but they must not forget that it was impossible to have explanations from a body which was accused unless they had a lawful indictment prepared against them, and unless a fair opportunity was given them for explanation. (Hear, hear.) Bro. Gill had also said that the House Committee as at present constituted did not give confidence to the provinces, and he had, whilst repudiating the idea of giving the power to vote upon the question, himself voted; he had been both judge and jury, and declared that the provinces withheld their confidence from the committee. Several points had been brought before the brethren which he would not enlarge upon. There must be many brethren from the provinces as well as in London who would wish to speak upon matters which were fit and proper for the consideration of this Court; but he wished to draw attention to one or two points which he thought had been forgotten both in the excitement which had produced the charge against the committee and the charge which had not been openly preferred, and in the excitement which had led to the proposal of this resolution. It appeared to him that the course taken before the late General Committee of the Boys' School was a wise one, not to vote on a resolution or take any notice of it if not brought before them in a legal manner; and it struck him as very questionable whether it was a proper course in defence of a body not openly attacked to propose a resolution of this character. But since it had been proposed it was very evident that the brethren representing the provinces should not allow the resolution to be withdrawn without being thoroughly ventilated, and a condemnation to be passed on the wrong doers, if wrong doers there were, without the charge being supported by strict evidence. The matter appeared to lie in a nutshell. [In the first place a false issue was before the brethren. They were asked to express confidence in a body against whom no man had had the courage to come forward in a legal way to make a charge. (Hear, hear, and No, no.) On the other hand there had been false issues raised in a manner unknown to Masonry, and they had been dealt with in a manner in which he believed the committee alone were able to deal with them, by referring the charges to a select committee to examine and report upon the specific charges. He had the honour to be nominated on that committee, and his name appeared as one of those who signed the report; and he did not hesitate to say from the circumstances that came before the committee on that occasion that the question was not one of expenses or no expenses, it was not a question of whether the House Committee was extravagant or not extravagant; but the real question was a personal question. (Cries of Hear, hear, No, no, and great uproar.) He was speaking as a man of responsibility and as having no feeling in the matter. He was not a member of the House Committee or of the General Committee except as Vice-President of the institution, and, what was more, he had been absent from London for the last seven years until recently. He therefore came to this matter with a fresh and he believed unprejudiced mind. He believed the course he took on that committee was dictated by the same feelings as would have actuated any of the other brethren, a desire to look for the one point of truth which as an honest man he could find, and to give his vote [according to the evidence brought before him. The question was now narrowed from a question of expenses to one of personalities. (Hear, hear, and No, no, and confusion.) If they would allow him he would simply express his opinion on the subject. The issue before the brethren he said distinctly was not whether the expenses of this institution were too great, nor whether the provincial brethren had sufficient weight in the management of its affairs; but whether—and this was the light in which he viewed Bro. Woodford's proposition and the grounds on which he alone supported it—was it Masonic or consistent with their duty to allow a pamphlet to be circulated like the one to which attention had been drawn? (Continued applause, mingled with marks of disapproval.) This was the point—a pamphlet containing charges of a very fearful character against an individual and a series of individuals—whether that should be allowed to be inculcated, or whether they should take any step or no step against the maker of such charges. (Cheers, and disturbance.) He was not a man to be put down by clamour, neither was he one who would raise his voice for one moment to support anything that was not a true and righteous course. Now, he said, as a member of that special committee, they had laid before them a specific and pointed charge, with which they dealt categorically. The charge was distinctly that certain sums of money had not been properly accounted for. They had to ascertain whether certain charges loosely made in an irresponsible and unusual manner, or imputations which had been cast upon the committee and upon the Secretary, were correct, and whether the evidence they had would justify this Court in repudiating such charges. So far as the evidence of those charges was concerned the feeling of the Special Committee was in favour of the honourable conduct of the House Committee, of the Audit Committee, and of the Secretary. Further than that they had no right to bind the general body of the subscribers to the Boys' School. They had no right to come to the Quarterly Court to raise a false issue as to whether the school was well managed, or whether the expenses were too much or too little. It was not for this meeting to raise an issue whether the cost per boy was £1, or £5, or £10 too much; but whether a pamphlet such as had been issued by Bros. Tew and Perrott was to be allowed to be sent broadcast through the length and breadth of the Craft and create such an agitation as had been already raised. Bro. Gill had asked how it was that five head masters and twenty assistant Masters had been changed within a few years, and how at the present moment dissatisfaction was felt with the arrangements of the school. He (Bro. Col. Ridgway) knew nothing about this. If others were about to leave it was not to be wondered at at all when it was recollected that these pamphlets had been circulated with a view of casting a slur upon the House Committee and Secretary, and of supporting Bro. Perrott, who was formerly head master. They were not there to cast a slur upon Bro. Perrott; but it must be remembered that this school was different to such schools as Eton and Harrow, that they could not have at the Masonic Boys' School a kind of autocracy on the part of the head masters. First of all, we had to get our funds before we spent them, and for that purpose it was necessary that there should be no antagonism between the men who spent the money and those who subscribed it. It was not a question whether a mere Secretary should be pitted against a mere head master, but whether the committee, with that sense of responsibility and ability which they had always displayed, had discharged their duties properly. It was unquestionably the fact that their Secretary had been a very great supporter of this school, for the brethren in the provinces knew well—without in the least descending into the arena of petty squabbles between Masters and Secretary—that whereas the school a few years ago was a small school, it was now a large school, and that whereas a few years back, when Bro. Binckes first came, the annual subscriptions were a little over £1000, they were in the last year over £13,000, and all this was mainly owing to him. He had now stated the real point for the brethren to decide upon, and he should trust to them to vote. (Cheers.)

Bro. J. L. Hine said that, as representing the largest province under the English constitution, he had listened very attentively to what had been urged. When the pamphlet was published copies of it were sent to him as chairman of the Charity Committee of his Province of East Lancashire, with a request that he would call his committee together to go through the pamphlet to ascertain what its merits or demerits were. The committee met; the pamphlet was read to them from beginning to end, and they came to a unanimous vote that in the first place it was very un-masonic to publish such a pamphlet; and in the next place to send it to other provinces. They had not heard of it before; but he knew from the exertions he had had to make to get subscriptions that you had only got to shew a great number of men a very little reason why they should not subscribe, and they readily adopted that view. Depend upon it they would not subscribe if cause was shown why they should not, and it was for this reason, in the first place, that the pamphlet was wrong. In the second place his committee came to the conclusion that there was nothing in the pamphlet that for one moment should induce the brethren to withdraw from the House Committee and the executive that support and that confidence they had hitherto received. This report was read at the Provincial Grand Lodge, and it received a very hearty reception. They told the Provincial Grand Lodge what he had now told this Quarterly Court, and they were satisfied with the result of the Charity Committee's labours on that particular question. (Hear, hear.) He considered it was only right to make these remarks in order that it might go forth that they had enquired into this matter. The brethren of East Lancashire certainly did think that the expenses of the School might be a little bit less; but this institution was really almost in its infancy. He remembered when it was in debt, and when it had no building worth speaking of; now it had a splendid building, and it was impossible to say what it might be in the future; and at that time they might be able to reduce the expenses very much, so that the average expenditure per boy might be more favourable than now. (Hear, hear, and cheers.)

Bro. Moss, from West Yorkshire, rose to enter his solemn protest against Bro. Woodford, no doubt in all good feeling, having brought forward the question of the pamphlet and associating the brethren of West Yorkshire with it. Now, he repudiated the pamphlet, and the brethren of West Yorkshire had nothing to do with circulating it in other provinces.

Bro. John Sutcliffe, of Great Grimsby, immediately rose and said that, so far from this being the case, the pamphlets were distributed in Hull, which was in East Yorkshire, even as late as last week, by the Deputy Provincial Grand Master of West Yorkshire, and other brethren of that province.

Bro. Moss again tried to speak, but was met with cries of "Vote," and "Divide." He then advanced to the platform, the brethren forming a semi-circle round him. In this position he was urged by some brethren from West Yorkshire to persist in speaking, and he appealed to the chairman to obtain for him a hearing. The Chairman requested the brethren to listen for a short while, and again Bro. Moss attempted to speak. The brethren, however, over and over again shouted for a division, as they had heard everything that could be urged on both sides. After much delay and great confusion, the Chairman found that it was utterly impossible to prolong the debate, and he therefore put the motion of Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford without a reply from that brother, and the result was that almost every hand was held up in its favour, amidst much cheering. When the "contrary" was put only five hands were held up. The Chairman then declared the motion carried, and the brethren adjourned to Freemasons' Hall, where they proceeded with the election of the boys. Bro. John Symonds took the chair, Bro. Clabon having another engagement. At a quarter to six o'clock the poll was declared as follows:—

VOTES.

Perrin, Gilbert Palmer S.....	2256
Dawson, George Arthur	2130
Trott, Richard James	1962
Cromwell, Charles Henry	1932
Kedell, Robert Walter	1826
Stansfield, William Ashton	1822
Jackson, Joseph	1818
Cooke, William Astle	1816
Wain, Leonard.....	1781
Lee, Vincent John	1777
Vivian, Alfred Greville	1758
Robinson, George Sampson	1698
Gardner, Richard Thomas	1601
Adams, Donald Robert	1383
England, Herbert	1318
Rees, James Herbert	1272

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

The committee of this institution met on Wednesday, at Freemasons' Hall, Colonel Creaton, V.R., in the chair. There were also present Bros. Joseph Smith, Griffiths Smith, A. H. Tattershall, James Brett, Wm. Stephens, John Constable, W. Hale, H. M. Levy, John Gibson, J. Newton, Thos. Cubitt, F. Adlard, Capt. Wordsworth, L. Stean, C. F. Hogard, C. Lacey, J. E. Saunders, H. Massey ("Freemason") and James Terry (Secretary).

The Secretary reported that since the last meeting the death of two approved candidates had occurred, both of them West Yorkshire candidates. Bro. Cutbush had sent in a parcel of shrubs of trees for the use of the asylum at Croydon. The report of the Finance Committee was then received and ordered to be entered on the minutes. £3000 were ordered to be invested.

Bros. Farnfield, Col. Creaton, and Griffiths Smith were appointed a committee to draw up the annual reports. A female candidate was removed from the election list, she having an annuity of £80, and an invalid daughter a "compassionate" annuity of £16.

A letter was received from Bro. Farnfield acknowledging the letter of condolence with them by vote of the committee at last meeting on the death of his father.

The letter having been read by Bro. Terry, was ordered to be entered on the minutes.

Application from an annuitant for leave to reside in the Institution was granted; and a brother in the Institution having been removed by order of the committee at their last meeting, on account of his objectionable conduct, a letter was read from the other inmates, thanking the committee for the action they had taken.

Bro. Griffiths Smith proposed a vote of thanks to Bro. Cutbush for his gift. Every half year Bro. Cutbush was making as imilar gift, and he (Bro. Smith) would also propose that he should be elected an honorary life governor. (Hear, hear.)

Bro. W. Stephens seconded the motion, which was then put and carried.

The Chairman then said that he had requested the Secretary to call a special meeting for Tuesday, the 25th, for the purpose of raising the annuities of the male and female annuitants. What he proposed was that the men's annuities should be raised from £36 to £40 a year, and the women's from £28 to £32.

Bro. Joseph Smith said he should like to see them raised to £50.

The Chairman thought his proposition was sufficient for the day. The success of the last festival, he was of opinion, bound them to do something of the kind he had proposed.

Bro. James Brett was glad to hear the proposition; but they must be careful not to make the benefits too great, or they would be inundated with applicants.

The Chairman said they must bear in mind that in doing this they were not doing it for young people. The chances of the annuitants living long to enjoy their annuities were rather remote.

After a few remarks from Bro. Hale, a vote of thanks was passed to the Chairman, and the proceedings terminated.

PROVINCIAL GRAND CHAPTER EAST LANCASHIRE.

The annual meeting of the above Prov. G. Chapter was held in the Town Hall, Bury, on Thursday, 30th March. There was a numerous attendance of companions from all parts of the province, amongst others present being Comps. Col. Legendre N. Starkie, M.E. Prov. G. Supt.; J. L. Hine, 2nd Prov. G. Principal; James A. Birch, 3rd Prov. G. Principal; Jno. Tunnah, Prov. G. Scribe E.; Jao. B. Carr, Prov. G. Scribe N.; Jas. Hall, Prov. G. Principal Scj.; Thos. Hargreaves, Prov. G. 2nd Asst. Soj.; Thos. Chorlton, Prov. G. Reg.; Benj. Taylor, Prov. G. Swd. Br.; Edwin Brookes, Prov. G. Std. Br.; W. H. Hopkins, Prov. G. Dir. of Cer.; W. Holt, Prov. G. Org.; and others.

The Prov. G. Chapter having been opened, the minutes of the preceding meeting were read and confirmed. The Prov. G. Treasurer's accounts were presented and approved.

Comp. Hy. Holder was unanimously re-elected as Prov. G. Treasurer.

The Prov. G. Superintendent appointed and invested the following companions as Prov. G. Officers for the ensuing year, viz.:—J. L. Hine, Prov. G. 2nd Principal; Jas. A. Birch, Prov. G. 3rd Principal; Jno. Tunnah, Prov. G. Scribe E.; Lawrence Booth, Prov. G. Scribe N.; W. F. Towle, Prov. G. Principal Soj.; A. Bleackley, Prov. G. 1st Asst. Soj.; H. Wadsworth, Prov. G. 2nd Asst. Soj.; Thos. Charlton, Prov. G. Reg.; J. F. Salton, Prov. G. Swd. Br.; A. W. Siddall, Prov. G. Dir. of Cer.; J. R. Fletcher, Prov. G. Org.; W. S. Balmer, T. W. Probert, and Josh. Senior, Prov. G. Stewards.

A grant of £50 was made from the funds of the Prov. G. Chapter to the East Lancashire Systematic Masonic Educational and Benevolent Institution.

Comps. Ernst Linck and Jno. Smethurst were appointed Auditors of the Prov. G. Treasurer's accounts.

The Prov. G. Chapter was closed, and the banquet was celebrated at the Derby Hotel.

Masonic and General Tidings.

A Provincial Grand Chapter of the Western Division of the County of Lancashire will be held at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, on Tuesday next, the 18th inst., when Comp. the Rt. Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, P.G. Supt., is expected to preside. A special meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of the same division will be afterwards held, to consider the steps to be taken in connection with the proposed Masonic contribution from West Lancashire to the restoration of Chester Cathedral.

The petition for a new lodge, to be called the Dramatic Lodge, has been forwarded to head-quarters in London, highly recommended by Bro. the Rt. Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, R.W.P.G.M., D.G.M. of England, and Bro. H. S. Alpess, P.G. Sec. West Lancashire. The meetings of the new lodge will be held at the Masonic Hall, Liverpool, and there is every prospect that the latest addition to Freemasonry will prove a great success should the prayer of the petitioners be granted.

The committee appointed to make the requisite arrangements for the inauguration of the Walker Art Gallery, Liverpool, have decided, among other things, to secure a loan collection of pictures for the occasion, so that an art exhibition worthy of the special object may be confidently looked for. The opening is expected to take place during the sittings of the Social Science Congress in October.

Masons' Hall Tavern, near Basinghall-street, has changed hands, Messrs. Bell and Co. being now proprietors and managers.

Through the instrumentality of Bro. Alderman Hadley, who presided at the fifth annual festival of the United Kingdom Railway Officers and Servants' Association on the 30th ult., His Royal Highness Prince Leopold Provincial Grand Master Oxfordshire, has consented to become a patron and a donor of £25.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has accepted the invitation of the Lord Mayor and Corporation to attend the grand ball to be given in the Guildhall, in honour of his return. As yet the date of the ball has not been fixed.

The Marquis of Hertford, Lord Chamberlain, has issued instructions that the State apartments at Windsor Castle shall be open to the public on Easter Monday and Tuesday.

ROYAL ALBERT HALL.—The Prince of Wales has accepted the invitation of the Council of the Royal Albert Hall to a congratulatory concert, in honour of the return of His Royal Highness to England. The concert is fixed for Wednesday, the 17th May next.

THE LONDON TAVERN.—The directors of the London Tavern Company, with a party of the shareholders, dined together by private subscription at the tavern last week. The occasion was of considerable interest, as being the last dinner of the kind which will be held in this renowned establishment. It transpired during the evening that the future business of this company is to be concentrated at the Albion, where it was fully anticipated that the prosperity of the company would be assured. The directors were thanked for their services, and the utmost confidence was expressed in the managers of both houses, Bro. H. Whitfield, at the London Tavern, and Bro. W. G. Jennings, at the Albion.

Bro. the Rt. Hon. Lord Charles Beresford, Prov. S.G. Warden Devon, arrived at Malta on Monday in Her Majesty's ship Helicon, from Messina, with despatches for H.R.H. the Prince of Wales.

A moveable Grand Mark Lodge will be held at the Freemasons' Hall, Park-street, Bristol, on Friday, the 28th inst.

The consecration of the Merlin Lodge, No. 1578, will take place on Thursday next at Pontypriid, the consecrating officer being Bro. Theodore Mansel Talbot, R. W. Provincial Grand Master, South Wales, Eastern Division.

Mr. Fuetin Brown has produced a pianoforte which is unequalled in its power to resist a foreign climate. The action itself of his pianos being of such an excellent quality, that it responds to the slightest touch of the performer, and yet does not easily get out of order. For the climate of India nothing better can be recommended. The backs are strengthened with additional iron buttresses properly muffled from exbration with felt.

A NEW IDEA IN SPELLING BEES.—On Wednesday, the 29th ult., a monster Spelling Bee was announced to come off at Woodbridge, under the patronage of Capt. Round Turner, R.N., Capt. Cobbold, Bro. Emma Holmes, and Bro. Dr. Keer. The promoters were Messrs. Ullathorne and Howell, who had previously got up a very successful Bee at Ipswich, on which occasion Alderman Grimwade took the chair, and Bro. the Rev. R. N. Sanderson, M.A., second master at the Grammar School, acted as interrogator, and the prizes, which were both handsome and costly, were procured of Bros. Schülen & Boby, the leading jewellers in the county. It was through their apparent respectability, and the way in which the Bee was conducted at Ipswich, that Messrs. Ullathorne and Howell secured their patrons at Woodbridge. From various causes, however, the entertainment was not a success, and only an audience of some eighty or ninety responded to the invitations of these gentlemen, who, we understand, hail from Bristol, and it is said came to Ipswich with Herr Dobler, and probably have learnt to turn to account their knowledge of conjuring in a manner we fancy rather beneath the notice of that eminent professor of legerdemain. However, they succeeded in getting Bro. Emma Holmes as chairman, whilst Bro. Dr. Keer acted as interrogator. They also brought a concert party over from Ipswich, who discoursed sweet music in the intervals of spelling, which was rather above the average, whilst the singing was rather below. There were only eleven competitors for the five money prizes, so the programme was quickly gone through, and everything went off smoothly and harmoniously till the time came for giving away the prizes, which were to be presented by the chairman, when it was found the promoters had disappeared. Bro. Holmes summoned Mr. Booth, the bookseller who had sold the tickets, &c., and Mr. Deaves, one of the singers on the platform, to explain to the audience what they knew of the people who had got up the entertainment, but it appeared they could say very little about them, except that they had behaved honourably at Ipswich, and, as one of them said naively, "so they no doubt would have done here if the room had been full." As it was, however, they had decamped, taking with them the proceeds of the entertainment, and leaving the concert to take care of itself. The Chairman briefly announced the names of the prize winners, and stated that the National Anthem should have concluded the proceedings, but he feared the feelings of the performers would be too many for them, and he would suggest, as was done in the case of an address, they should take it as read. The audience were fortunately very good humoured, and treated the whole matter as a great joke, laughing immoderately when the chairman gravely announced, after a long pause, that the gentlemen who had got up the entertainment had omitted to leave the money for the prizes, and had gone out—let us hope, he said, for only a few minutes. However, it was no use waiting; the prize winners, not, alas, the prize holders, looked very lugubrious at the general hilarity which prevailed, and the meeting broke up. The chairman and several of the prizemen took an information at the police station, but without any successful result. The "Ipswich Journal," "East Anglian," "Daily Times," and "Suffolk Chronicle," however, fully exposed the conduct of Messrs. Ullathorne and Howell, and it is not likely they will renew their attempts in the county of Suffolk, at all events.

Mr. Edward Payson Weston, the American pedestrian, has accomplished the great feat in walking 111 miles in 24 hours. He began his task at the Pomona Palace, Manchester, at ten minutes past nine on Monday night, and completed it at the same hour on Tuesday night. The only rest he took was for ten minutes forty seconds, after the conclusion of the 95th mile. The last mile was covered in thirteen minutes thirty-eight seconds.

The annual festival of the Wellington Lodge of Instruction, No. 548, will be held at the White Swan Hotel, High-street, Deptford, on Monday, the 24th inst., Bro. C. G. Dille will preside.

DAYLIGHT reflected in dark rooms. Gas superseded in day time. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting 'Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors.—Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/-

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS

are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

NOTICE.—It is very necessary for our friends to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to
GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

NOW READY.

VOLUME 8 OF THE "FREEMASON,"

from January to December, 1875, bound in cloth, with richly embossed device on cover. Price 15 shillings. This volume forms a first class reference and chronology of the leading events in Masonry during the past year. It may be had through any bookseller, or at the office, 198, Fleet-st., London.

NOW READY.

Reading Covers, to take 52 numbers of the "Freemason," price 2/6, may be had at the office, 198, Fleet-street.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

E.W.S. (Perth).—You have not forwarded address of the firm, and there happens to be a large number of that name. On receipt of address, enquiries shall be made.

W.M. ELECT.—If appointed to both offices, yes.

Bro. Hughan's two letters will appear in our next.

Owing to the extreme pressure upon our columns this week the following unavoidably stand over:—Consecration of the Skelmersdale and Hamilton Lodges. Reports of Lodge of Truth, 521, Huddersfield; Royal Cumberland Lodge, Bath, 41; Lodge of Honour, Bath, 379; Hartington Lodge, 1085; Pattison Lodge, Plumstead, 913; Visit of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Derbyshire to the Phoenix Lodge of St. Ann, Buxton, 1235; Priory Lodge, 1000; Royal Commemoration Lodge, 1585; Welchpool Lodge 998; Domestic Chapter, 177; Laying the Foundation Stone of Workmen's House at Clydebank; and the following Scotch lodges:—34, 4, 73, 275, 571, 579, and 587.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d. for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

CUNNINGTON.—On the 5th inst., at Devizes, the wife of H. A. Cunnington, of a son.

EAST.—On the 7th inst., at Cornwall-road, Westbourne Park, the wife of Major C. J. East, of a daughter.

HARDWICK.—On the 10th inst., at Hereford-gardens, Park-lane, the wife of P. C. Hardwick, Esq., of a son.

HENDERSON.—On the 8th inst., at Lancaster-road, N.W., the wife of J. Henderson, of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

LITTLE—M'KENZIE.—On the 6th inst., at Ridge, Herts, Charles Edward Little, M.R.C.S., Shenley, Herts, to Isabella, daughter of the late A. M'Kenzie.

NAPIER—LEITH.—On the 6th inst., at St. Peter's, Eaton-square, Lieut. the Hon. John Scott Napier, 92nd Highlanders, to Isabella, widow of Major J. Leith, V.C.

WILLOUGHBY—ROBINSON.—On the 15th ult., at Madras, Robert Frederick Willoughby, 21st Fusiliers, to Mary Douglas, daughter of Sir W. R. Robinson, K.C.S.I.

DEATHS.

ROBERTS.—On the 24th Feb., Bro. J. J. R. Roberts, ex-President of the Republic of Liberia, and Past G. Master of Liberia.

RAWLINS.—On the 1st inst., at Allertorpe Vicarage, Yorkshire, the Rev. Christopher Rawlins, B.A., aged 68.

RICHARDSON.—On the 5th inst., at Lavender-grove, Dalston, Emily, wife of W. T. W. Richardson.

ROPER.—On the 7th inst., in London, Bro. Richard Steven Roper, of Newport, Monmouthshire.

GOOCH.—On the 8th inst., at The Limes, West Brixton, Albert W. Gooch, in his 87th year.

PORTER.—On the 29th ult., Bro. Jas. Porter, of Wigton, Prov. G.S.W. Cumberland and Westmorland, aged 39.

BATH.—On the 6th inst., Bro. J. D. Bath, of Aigburth, near Liverpool.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, APRIL 15, 1876.

OUR ROYAL GRAND MASTER'S RETURN.

According to the different reports in the "Times," His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, on board the Serapis, with the Invincible and Raleigh, preceded by the Helicon, which had left the Port with Admiral Drummond to meet the ships, entered Valletta Harbour at 10 a.m. on the 6th, under salutes from the forts of St. Elmo, Ricasoli, and Tigne, and from the ships of war. The latter were dressed with flags and the yards manned. At noon the Prince, under salutes from the forts of St. Angelo and Biscaris, landed at Marsa and was received by Governor Straubenze and Admirals Drummond and Rice, with the Military and Naval Staff, the members of the Council, and the heads of the Departments. The streets were lined by the troops, commencing at the Palace corner of Strada Vescova:—1. Royal Artillery, St. Elmo, Fort Manoel, Marsamuscetto, and the Royal Malta Fencible Artillery; 2. St. Elmo Regiment, 101st Royal British Fusiliers; 3. Floriani Regiment, 98th; 4. 74th Highlanders; 5th. 71st Highland Light Infantry; 6. 42nd Highlanders. The procession passed through Portes Desbombres, St. Anna, and Floriana, into Valletta, through triumphal arches. The road was studded all the way with lofty Venetian masts, with banners and devices, festooned with evergreens. The street balconies were festooned with damask. A guard of honour under a field officer was placed on the pavement of St. George's-square, facing the entrance to the Palace. The main staircase and corridor leading to the drawing-room were lined by regimental sergeant-majors, and one sergeant from each battery and company. On arrival at the Palace, the Archbishop, members of the Council, Judges, &c., received His Royal Highness. His Royal Highness was met by Lady Van Straubenze in the corridor at the head of the stairs, and the Governor conducted him to his apartments. The Palace was reached at 1.30 p.m., and the Prince appeared on the balcony and acknowledged the loyal salutations of the assembled multitude. The day of the arrival of the Prince of Wales was proclaimed a close holyday. The two banks distributed bread to the poor, and the indigent receiving outdoor government relief received 18s. each, and inmates of charitable institutions double rations, while a free pardon was granted to several well-conducted malefactors. After dinner the Prince witnessed from the centre balcony of the Palace, amid the deafening cheers of thousands, a grand illumination, with several allegorical transparencies, on the Piazza San Giorgio, where on a grand stand a hymn was chanted, in which most of the Opera artistes and many amateur vocalists and instrumentalists took part. At 11 p.m. His Royal Highness drove up the Strada Reale, preceded by native bands and banners, passing by Marich's Divan, the Casino, the Maltese Dining Hotel, the Café de la Reine, the Public Library, the Palace of Justice, and the Union Club, all of which were brilliantly illuminated, as were the Auberge de Castille and the approach to the Upper Barracca, from which the Prince witnessed a magnificent illumination of the Dockyard and the entire circuit of Valetta Harbour. Along the bastions overlooking these places troops stood closely ranged with coloured lights. Two thousand Chinese lanterns had been distributed among the boats plying in the harbour. The ships of war and several yachts were illuminated at the masts and yards, the portholes throwing up thousands of beautiful and repeatedly changing tinted lights. Nothing like it was ever before seen in Malta. At noon on the 7th a Royal salute was fired in honour of Prince Leopold's birthday, and there was a general review of the garrison at Floriana parade-ground. The Prince presented the 98th Regiment with new colours, which were blessed by the Bishop of Gibraltar and the senior military chaplains. His Royal Highness lunched with the officers of the regiment. The United Service Ball was given the same night and the illuminations were repeated. The committee for the reception of the Prince of Wales are making every arrangement to give His Royal Highness a hearty reception on his landing. The Prince will be received by the Acting Governor and Staff, the Royal Naval officers, the Colonial officials, and with a guard of honour, and proceed to the Casemate-square. There the address of the inhabitants will be presented, and a deputation from the friendly societies and other bodies will join the procession thence to the Convent, where His Royal Highness will alight. A levée will most probably be the next event, followed by a grand banquet given by His Excellency the Acting Governor, Major-General Somerset, and a reception by Mrs. Somerset will finish the evening. The following day it is proposed His Royal Highness, as Grand Master of the English Freemasons, shall lay the foundation stone of the new market with Masonic honours, when a large attendance of the brethren is expected. In the afternoon of the same day a general parade of the troops in the garrison will be held, and in the evening there will be a grand illumination of the town and the Rock and a fête in the Almeda. His Royal Highness will drive through the town to witness the devices, when the united bands of five regiments of the Infantry Brigade will march in from the Parade, playing the German tattoo and attended by an escort bearing torches; after which a military concert and dancing will follow. On the next day a monster picnic in the Cork Woods and a meet of the Calpe hounds are arranged for, and on the 4th there will be races and athletic sports on the North Front, followed by a grand ball in the evening to be held in the armoury in the Ordnance Store Department, where a large assemblage is expected to be present. Thus far has the projected programme been carried, but should the Prince honour the Rock with a longer stay further arrangements will be made to leave nothing undone that the Prince may retain a lively recollection of his visit. On Friday morning the Lord Mayor received a telegram from Malta stating in effect that the Prince of Wales would have great pleasure in being present at a banquet, followed by a ball, in the Guildhall, to be given by the Corporation of London in celebration of his safe return from India. Our Royal Grand Master left Malta on the 11th for Gibraltar, signalling "adieu" to his many friends.

THE VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IN THE COMMITTEES AND EXECUTIVE OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

We rejoice to think and to know that the good sense of our excellent Order has practically, let us hope, silenced for some time to come the ebullitions of a morbid antipathy, and has properly and openly rebuked the un-Masonic practice of defamatory pamphlets. A very numerous meeting at the Quarterly Court of the Boys' School, by an overwhelming majority, has asserted its unabated confidence in the House and Audit Committees, and in Bro. Binckes, the energetic Secretary, and, indeed, it could not well be otherwise, for despite the able advocacy of our worthy brother, the Mayor of Wakefield, it was quite clear, that the West Yorkshire brethren, to use a common expression, had not really "a leg to stand upon." The whole case, from its inception to its close on Monday, was as bad as bad can be, un-Masonic in form, unsound in every element. With no little ingenuity an attempt was made at the meeting to separate the province from the pamphlets, and the pamphlets from the province, but the common practical sense of Freemasons scouted the latent Jesuitism. Two main points were before the meeting, first, the fact that a great province like West Yorkshire, whose exertions for the Boys' School had been noble, had all of a sudden passed condemnatory resolutions in open P.G. Lodge, or, rather, accepted and approved of a condemnatory report which they had forwarded to every P.G.M. in England. And, andly, that it was clear to every man of common understanding that this provincial agitation and this provincial movement were the "outcome" of a pamphleteering crusade against the School Committee and Bro. Binckes. And these facts were rendered more intense by the distinct and undeniable truth, that the writer himself of the pamphlets, open or suppressed, and two brethren of West Yorkshire, had recently attended a meeting out of the province, at Hull, where the pamphlets, containing numerous unjustifiable, unworthy and personal charges against the entire administration of the School, had been placed before 23 brethren in Hull, laid, it is said, on the table by one of the three visitors. Hence it was patent to the meanest capacity that the whole proceedings of the last 12 months, whether defamatory of the official authorities or damaging to the financial prospects of the School itself, were still in full swing, in active operation, and must be checked, and must be clearly reprobated, if the real and lasting interests of a great institution were not to be sacrificed to most unwise prejudices, and most unfounded imputations. And we must be permitted here to observe, that anything more opposed to Masonic teaching and practice than the persistent circulation of these foolish and unfriendly pamphlets we have never heard of or known. We feel, and all will agree with us, that somehow a stop must be put to proceedings so opposed to every true principle of Freemasonry. It was also equally plain that the Report of the West Yorkshire committee was a partial and one-sided one, skilfully drawn up as far as the tables are concerned, but based on no reliable evidence, and certainly not on the evidence of any one who knew anything about the School. Whether we take the evidence of the D.F.G.M. as printed in the suppressed pamphlet to be a correct version of the evidence tendered, he being a member of the committee, with quasi judicial functions, or the tables which Bro. Pegler it seems originally sent to the "Freemason," and which we note are again printed in the Report, we all must feel how utterly unreliable such so called evidence is. No one brother seems to have been called before the committee, who could have given the committee any distinct information on the state of the School, nor was the evidence in any way ever submitted to any one connected with the School. For once our good brethren in West Yorkshire have forgotten "Audi alteram partem." That the meeting of Monday became at last very impatient with the obvious device to speak against time, we are not at all surprised and we think that the best thanks of all are due to Brother Clabon for his admirable chairmanship from first to last, as well as for his very properly closing, by a vote of the meeting, a very perverse and useless debate. We could have wished that the motion for confidence, brought forward in the interests of peace, could have passed without opposition and "una voce." But it was not to be; nay, it was quite clear that in the present state of feeling of many of our good brethren in West Yorkshire, such a motion had very little chance of acceptance as a soothing and a healing motion, though such was the intention of the proposer, who more than any one else, would naturally have the kindest feelings for his West Yorkshire brethren. For this unfortunate state of affairs in that good old province has been brought about by unwise statements, foolish assertions, fallacious arguments, and, we regret to add, by a good many underhand and questionable proceedings. Several brethren, ill qualified even to affect to lead their brethren, have greatly contributed, instead of throwing oil on the troubled waters, to add fuel to the flames. It will be some consolation to the administrative, therefore and to Bro. Binckes, and all sincere friends of the institution, to remember that brethren from every province in England, and we have reason to know from West Yorkshire itself, supported the motion of confidence, and we trust that when these angry feelings are past and gone which this reckless distribution of pamphlets has stirred up, that the old "Entente cordiale" between the Province and the Boys' School will be revived. We hope that able brethren like the Mayor of Wakefield, Bro. Gill, Bro. Tomlinson, the new Chairman of the Charity Committee, and others may induce our good brethren in West Yorkshire, ere long, to take a calmer view of things. We live in an age of great sciolism, and greater presumption, when the deductions of the reasonable are often discredited, and the puerilities of the loquacious are often praised, when logic is often at a discount, and common sense left out of court. Let us be on our guard then, sternly too, as regards our great educational institutions, in respect of the quack medicines of the empiric, and the hopeless "high falutin" of the impostor. Education just now seems to be the hobby of every one who has got the gift of the gab, and is threatened with the worst of all interferences and patronage, the interference of the charlatan, and the patronage of the incompetent. In this last discussion many have come forward to pronounce resolute opinions who have given no thought to the subject, and can only be a laughing stock to those who, for the best part of their lives have thought carefully over the whole matter, and have devoted themselves to its habitual control and practical development. We congratulate Bro. Binckes and the House and Audit Committees on the result of Monday's proceedings, and we trust that our next anniversary festival of this great institution, will evidence that the provinces most heartily endorse the resolution of the Quarterly Court, and disregarding all these hateful personalities, retain every confidence in those to whom are properly committed the present arrangements and the future fortunes of the Royal Masonic Institution for our Orphan Boys.

THE ENLARGEMENT OF THE GIRLS' SCHOOL.

We feel quite sure that the Quarterly Court on Saturday last came to a wise decision in accepting Bro. Col. Creaton's motion for enlarging the Girls' School on the present site, and utilizing the present building. We feel equally persuaded that they exercised a wise discretion in rejecting Bro. Raynham Stewart's amendment, which was practically an amendment entailing building elsewhere, in fact, the School of the future. Now we ventured to point out, just as Bro. Mason observed, that, in our opinion, the time for selling the present School site had not yet arrived, and that it would be quite sufficient to consider the propriety of doing so when that good time coming did arrive. At present it was clearly the better policy on every account to turn to the best account what we had, the more so as by Bro. Col. Creaton's scheme we should be able to accommodate 200 girls, a very good number. The discussion of Saturday brought out nothing new. Bro. Dudley Rolls made an effective speech in favour of the School of the future, but the feeling of the meeting was so strong in respect of utilizing and adapting the present buildings, only twenty-five years old, that the amendment was rejected by an overwhelming majority, and the original motion eventually carried unanimously. We congratulate Bro. Col. Creaton on the success of his motion, and hope that the House Committee will at once take steps to carry out the resolution. If next April we can accommodate 200 children, it will be a very grand announcement to make to the Craft, that the committee will fill up the School to its full capability, and endeavour comfortably to maintain and fittingly to educate 200 orphan daughters of Masons. The sympathies of the entire Craft are with this admirable Institution, and we sincerely trust that the resolution of the last Quarterly Court will lead to the permanent prosperity and the increased utility of the Girls' School. We call attention to Bro. Col. Creaton's scheme elsewhere.

OLD MINUTE BOOKS.

Why is it that we know so little of the early lodge life of English Masonry? Are their no Minute Books, or were they burnt by scrupulous brethren years ago? We are of opinion that many more exist than some of us dream of in our Masonic philosophy, and that a careful search in old lodge chests will reveal to the Masonic antiquary and student many archaeological treasures. Bro. S. B. Ellis, of Sheffield, has recently been studying the old Minute Books belonging to the Chapter of Paradise, Sheffield, and the extracts he has most carefully made, we are requested to state, will appear in the "Masonic Magazine" for May. They are very striking and interesting, and will suggest many points of discussion amongst Masonic students. Take for instance these three. At one time the chapter is called an "Encampment," at another the three Principals are termed the "three Kings," at another a Royal Arch Mason is described as a "citizen of the world." These are a few of the very many interesting little matters which crop out of our Bro. S. B. Ellis's lucid arrangement of the chapter extracts. We have said enough, we think, to make all our brethren read for themselves the facts contained in the pages of the May "Masonic Magazine," and we thank Bro. S. B. Ellis in these anticipatory remarks for his kind and interesting contribution to our current archaeological literature.

COMPARATIVE COST OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

We shall call attention to this most important subject again in our next issue, as certain facts came out at the Quarterly Court to which full justice could not then be done, and which are very remarkably in favour of the Boys' School administration.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

CARDINAL MANNING ON THE STAGE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Sir,—

I read, with some regret, the article which appeared with this heading in your last issue, and I hope you will allow me to say that I am sure you have misapprehended the drift of Cardinal Manning's words in reference to the stage. It is not with the stage itself that the Cardinal quarrels, unless the representations be in themselves bad, but it is against the associations and surroundings of theatres that he feels bound to put those of whom he is the pastor on their guard. I have heard him say this in private; and in his published sermons there is a passage which perhaps you will kindly allow me to quote: "I have been often asked, during the long years of my duty of directing souls, whether it is lawful to go to a theatre. My answer has always been: If the representation is not bad in itself, I cannot forbid you." After speaking of the abomination of the French stage, his Eminence continues: "As to our own theatres, I thank God it is not often they are openly or publicly stained. Such things happen sometimes. Such scandals are imported among us. I leave the whole of this to your own consciences, saying only, that I would to God that those who can refrain from such things, as an offering to our Divine Redeemer, would refrain for ever."

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

WILFRID MENNELL.

MASONIC DESIGNATIONS.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

The thanks of your readers are due to your able correspondent, Bro. Hughan, for his information as to the proper Masonic designations of Grand and Provincial Grand Officers, etc. Probably not one toast list in a hundred at our lodge banquets has the correct titles prefixed to the several names, and those who like to be correct in such matters will appreciate Bro. Hughan's "contribution."

Might I ask what is the correct designation of the Pro Grand Master? Sometimes he is "dubbed" Right Worshipful, and others Most Worshipful. The latter hardly seems correct, for there cannot well be two Most Worshipfuls. In a circular issued not long since from the R.M.B. Instit., the designation was M.W. in one place, and R.W. in another. I have not yet seen the Pro Grand Master's title in any document emanating from Grand Lodge—he is simply styled Pro G.M.

Yours fraternally,

A W. MASTER.

MASONIC MEDAL.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I have just met with a bronze medal of which I give you the following description:—It is 1½ inches in diameter, and 1-16th inches thick, and evidently of modern execution. Obverse a triangle enclosing the all-seeing eye, the triangle being surrounded by radiated beams extending almost to the edge of the medal. At the head of the triangle is a ribbon with the motto, "Lumen De Lumine." Reverse the inscription, "Querite et invenietis" on the exterior part, and on the field in three lines the following initial letters:—L.D.S., C.O.T.D.L., P.H.D. S.A.D.E.

I may observe that the medal was described to me as having been struck for a French lodge. I shall be glad if any of your readers can give me any information as to this medal, and as to the meaning of the ritual letters.

Yours truly,

Bolton, 10th April, 1876.

J.N.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

The April Quarterly Court of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls was held on Saturday last, at Freemasons' Hall. There was a large attendance of brethren, in anticipation of an important discussion on the different schemes for providing accommodation for an increased number of children in the Institution. Lieut.-Col. Creaton, Vice-Patron, presided, and the other brethren present were Bros. J. T. Strachan, H. Browne, W. F. C. Moutrie, E. Harris, H. W. Hemsworth, Raynham W. Stewart, Joseph Smith, R. H. Townend, Leopold Ruf, W. H. Absolon, Robt. Kenyon, Charles Pegler, H. C. Burt, H. Massey ("Freemason"); C. A. Cottebrune, Jesse Turner, W. S. Gover, S. Rawson, Griffiths Smith, Thomas W. White, H. A. Dubois, Richd. Spencer, Thos. Massa, George Kenning, E. H. Finney, A. H. Tattershall, George M. E. Snow, John Constable, James Mason, Benj. Head, James A. Birch, Robt. B. Webster, W. Downing, Charles Jardine, Henry Moore, George Bolton, Jno. Bodenham, Thomas J. Barnes, Jno. G. Stevens, Henry Basevi Colonel, W. Horne, Fred. Keily, H. Phythian, Thos. Smith, J. L. Hime, Thos. J. Sabine, H. Hacker, W. H. B. Tomlinson, Wm. Paas, M. S. Lariham, W. H. Radley, John Boyd, A. A. Pendlebury, John Hervey, Thomas Fenn, James Brett, Wm. Stephens, Jno. Chadwick, W. Bassett, S. Leith Tomkins, J. N. Frost, Dr. F. W. Ramsay, E. J. Barron, Hyde Pullen, H. C. Levander, John Read, George Lambert, Robert Griggs, J. Wordsworth, H. Cowland, John Oliver, H. G. Buss, Wm. Mann, F. S. Tyerman, Wm. Lane, J. Stohwasser, A. R. Rumsey, F. G. Baker, B. H. Swallow, F. B. Davage, W. Tanford, C. G. Hill, J. Terry, L. Stean, Geo. Neall, Jno. Appleby, W. Hickman, D.P.G.M. Hants; Richard James Spiers, V.P., P.D., P.G.M. Oxon; Samuel May, J. D. Woodland, E. H. Thiellay, W. Stiles, Rev. J. M. Vaughan, Rev. E. Brette, James Lewis Thomas, Lieut.-Col. James Peters, H. M. Levy, Wm. James Parish, Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, W. J. Murlis, E. Spooner, W. H. Main, H. R. Harper, J.W. 813; E. S. Snell, H. Muggeridge, I. R. Gallant, W.M. 813; John Symonds, J. E. Walford, P.M. 177.

After the minutes had been read and confirmed, the General Court was elected; after which

Bro. Robert Kenyon said he wished to make one observation. As Bro. Raynham Stewart had a notice of motion on the paper very similar to his (Bro. Kenyon's) he thought he would be best consulting the interests of the meeting if he withdrew his own motion. (Hear hear.)

The motion of Bro. Kenyon was then withdrawn.

Bro. H.A. Dubois moved—"That the recommendation of the Special Committee appointed by the last Special Court of the 11th September, 1875, be brought up and submitted for adoption."

Bro. H. Browne seconded the motion, which was thereupon put, and carried unanimously.

The Chairman said that as the report had been printed, and was in the hands of every brother present, he would move that that report be taken as read, and he would give some further explanation of it presently.

Bro. Raynham W. Stewart seconded the motion, which was then put and carried.

The Chairman said that before putting his scheme to the meeting he would read it. It was as follows:—"Modified scheme for large hall and dormitories over, to reduce cost of building from £14,000 to £9,400 to accommodate 56 children instead of 94. The elevation will remain the same as the more extensive scheme, but the bay window will be omitted. The large hall or schoolroom will remain the same in height, viz., 21 feet; the superficial area will be 250 feet less, viz., 2640 feet instead of 2890, giving 13 feet superficial each for 200 children. [Note.—The present assembly hall without dais is about 9 feet superficial each for 150 children, the present schoolroom about 10 feet superficial each for 150 children.] The large classroom at back on ground floor and lavatory over will be omitted, and the side back bedrooms fitted as lavatories. The dormitories on two pair floor and stairs thereto will be omitted; the scheme in every other respect will remain the same. This will leave sleeping, lavatory, wardrobe, and the other necessary accommodation for 56 additional children." He must also state that it was arranged at the meetings of the committee that the question of removing the lavatory was to be considered a separate thing from this scheme, because the laundry was a necessity; it was not large enough even for the present requirements of the institution. He had, therefore, not included it in this modified scheme. He would move, "That the report of the Special Committee be received." That bound the brethren to nothing. He would move something else afterwards.

Bro. Griffiths Smith seconded the motion, which was put and carried.

The Chairman said he would now move the adoption of the report.

Bro. John Constable seconded it.

Bro. Raynham W. Stewart said he had an amendment to move, which was that, looking at the wants of the Craft, the part they were about to lay out would seem to be inadequate to meet those requirements. He gave his friend Bro. Col. Creaton the greatest credit for having brought his scheme forward; but it must be remembered that they had laid out large sums on the school and they were about, if they carried Col. Creaton's scheme, to lay out a further sum, and it would be found when they had done so that by building more, the more they confined the space they had. He (Bro. Stewart) did not care where they went so long as they got an eligible site; it mattered not to him whether they went to Banstead or into Essex. But let them consider well what they were about. Let them secure a site of land and put on it a building that was adequate to the wants of the Craft. They found every time they wanted to accommodate some 10 or 15 children or 20 children they had to put their hands in their pockets and lay out £4000 or £5000 or £10,000. At the present time they had plenty of buildings, but no land. The railway was on one side, and on the other was a row of buildings. It was said that there were 2½ acres of land of which when it was to be sold this institution was to have the first offer; but they all knew what that meant; a price was put upon it, and if you did not pay that price you would not get a second offer, and if they did they would only get 2½ acres for something like £5000. Now, they could do this. They could very well bide their time. They had already utilised the infirmary; there was no dispute about that; and if they were to carry what he hoped they would presently, Bro. Boyd's motion for taking more girls in, they must utilise the infirmary still further. The Chairman said they were in this position: they had 150 girls in the institution and they could only make up 145 beds; therefore they had to make up another 5 in the infirmary. Well, there was room for ten and even more. Then let them for the present hold up their heads, and when they did act let them do something worthy of the Craft and really for the advantage of the children; if they did this it would amply repay them. He therefore moved his amendment, "That it is inexpedient that any further sum of money should be laid out in enlarging the present schools or otherwise, and that in view of its being necessary to remove the school, an eligible site should be sought for, and purchased so as to meet the wants of the Craft."

Bro. Dudley Rolls, in seconding the amendment, said there seemed to him every reason why no further sum of money should be expended either on the present building or on erecting a further building on the present site; and any argument in favour of land being purchased elsewhere with a view to the ultimate removal of the institution from its present locality he thought had been stated—that the neighbourhood of Clapham Junction was not a healthy one, and when he looked at the infirmary and then at the school house and found that one building was nearly as large as the other, it was very difficult to see how such an impression could be created in the mind of any person. The neighbourhood might be healthy or it might not; but assuming it to be the most salubrious spot on the face of the earth no one could be blind to the fact that it was situated near the largest railway junction in the kingdom, Clapham Junction, which had a vast traffic passing over it from numerous lines, and trains were passing within a few feet of the school room; but large as that traffic was now it was constantly and rapidly increasing. It therefore seemed in the course of a few years the neighbourhood would become densely populated and that shortly it would be totally unfit for the school. The railway would have to widen their lines; the school and grounds would be taken by the railway, and compensation would be paid. The money of this institution was not subscribed with the idea of getting compensation from railway companies. If the railway companies did take the property, whether the institution had a school elsewhere or not, they would give a fair and adequate compensation for whatever property they might be required to take. Again, large sums of money had already been expended on the old building, and it had now been proposed to spend a still larger sum upon it although it was never designed for any alteration or enlargement such as had been proposed. Whatever amount might be spent on it it would never be anything out a mere makeshift building at the best. They ought not to look on the matter superficially; they should look at it with reference to the wants of a future time. If there were any difficulties in the way of removal they were not great or unsurmountable. The school must eventually be removed, and it was the reverse of economy to spend a sum of money on the present building. They had large sums of money at present invested: the subscriptions were constantly and regularly increasing, and there was no doubt that the increase would be largely augmented if it was known that the money was going to be laid out elsewhere to increase the benefits of the institution. There was no reason why they should not look this matter boldly in the face, and at once agree to purchase a site elsewhere with a view to a comprehensive scheme worthy of the Craft. He opposed the present scheme on the ground of the welfare of the institution, and because he thought it would be found to be one of the greatest blunders ever committed. It had been hinted that the proposer of a scheme had a personal interest in it, but he hoped it was not so.

Bro. Henry Browne said that the schemes had undergone great consideration at the hands of the committee, and he regretted he could not be of Bro. Rolls's opinion. Although the committee was not unanimous on the scheme, he thought it was the best scheme they could adopt for the present. He did not dispute that the time was coming when this institution would have to remove further from London than it was at present. It was the first of the institutions that moved away from London. They went from St. George's Fields to Clapham Junction, and he believed he was right when he said that Lord Alford, the lord of the manor of Wandsworth Common, gave them the land. Let them not remove till they had got the money. What did removal mean? It meant the expenditure of at least £70,000. Let them put up with the building they had now. If they removed they must be prepared to take 300 children. Let them pause a little before they attempted it. They were told that the present was an old building. It was 1852 when it was opened, and he could not conceive how that could be called an old building. He called it a young building. Then they were told that the railways must take the property. He was quite of opinion that it was probable the railway would want the property; but they could not do so for three to four years, as the act would have to be applied for and obtained, and notice would have to be given, and in the meantime they would be able to get the money together, which would go a long way towards putting up the new building. If, however, they went away now, the building would only be sold at the price of old materials. Surely they would not be blind enough for that. He was not desirous of waiting five years while 40 children were knocking at their doors; he was desirous of having 50 more children in the institution. The infirmary could not accommodate more than 18 or 20 beds, and that was not half enough for them. If they adopted Col. Creaton's scheme they could take in 50 children more, which he thought was as large a number as the Craft would require of them for the next five years. In that time they would be able to see what they were about, and would be able to accumulate a large sum of money to carry them elsewhere. He asked the brethren to pass Col. Creaton's resolution.

Bro. W. Sutton Gover thought it would be a disastrous thing to have the institution in two places. Common sense pointed to having it under one management. When they moved, let them move altogether. Let them remain where they were; and if the railway wanted the land, they would have to pay full compensation. It had been urged that it was a disadvantage being so near a railway which was in connection with all the London termini. What greater advantage could there be, he would ask, for supervision and control? They should, he thought, remain there as long as possible. It had been said, "with bated breath," that somebody had said somewhere that the situation was unhealthy. Well, it was the first time they had heard it; they had always thought it one of the healthiest spots, and on that very ground it was best adapted for an institution of this sort. After all the arguments had been weighed, he thought it would be found that the best thing that could be done was to remain where they were. He was now going to tread on the most perilous ground which had been introduced by one speaker. He would be loth to suggest that any brother would place himself in such a position as to advocate a scheme in which he had a personal interest in the remotest degree. He (Bro. Gover) would not suggest it; he would scorn and repudiate such an insinuation. He could not imagine a brother would do such a thing. It would be an eternal disgrace, and he was sure no brother would incur it. The object of all of them was the benefit of the institution. (Hear, hear.)

Bro. Rolls said he did not suggest it, but said that such a statement had been made.

Bro. Robt. Kenyon said that when he opposed the adoption of the original report, which recommended an outlay of £22,000 or £23,000, he considered, as a governor of the institution, he had a right to do so. Opposition in these meetings was the means whereby the best cause was arrived at. With respect to the statement about a personal interest in a scheme, he could only say that it did not apply to him; but when a person got up in a public body to suggest a thing, unfortunately he was likely to be maligned, and his motives to be misunderstood and called in question. He believed that if his scheme had been adopted it would have led to that land being presented as a free gift to the institution. He was not, however, wedded to his scheme, but he was opposed to what he considered a lavish expenditure of money upon a site which was proved to be a small space, and totally inadequate to the purposes of the school. He wished to call attention to the fact that he had never charged any member of the committee with insincerity, for he held that their motives might be as pure and white as the driven snow. Yet the mistake remained of crowding in a small space of ground at Clapham Junction a building which of itself would be highly detrimental to the interests of the children placed in it. It was a small space of ground; it did not exceed 2½ acres; and if they were going to crowd another building on the ground, and go on adding more children they would have no space for future requirements. He thought it an error in judgement to spend thousands of pounds on it. If they were going to admit a larger number of children he thought they should begin their time on a healthy spot, somewhere where they could get a large plot of ground and plenty of air; a place which would be equal to large additions for years to come. He wished as much as Bro. Browne to see 300 children in the institution. He would go further and say, he should be glad to see 500 children in it. They had spent £15,000 already at Battersea. He had certainly succeeded in one sense in his opposition as he had reduced the proposed expenditure from £15,000 to £9000 or £10,000. This was admitted by the synopsis that had been placed before the brethren. He had merely risen for the purpose of setting himself right. His object in proposing a scheme was the benefit of the institution, and if any suggestion had been intended that he had any personal interest in it he threw it back in the teeth of him who made it. He wanted to preserve the funds from a lavish expenditure. The brethren were not only guardians of the children, but guardians of the money; they had been many years accumulating, and it was their duty to see that in providing a building for the reception of more children they were not incurring such an expense as would deprive them of the means of supporting those children when they had been admitted.

Bro. James Mason, P.G.S.B., in supporting Col. Creaton's scheme contended that there was plenty of land on the present property for an addition to the building.

Bro. Joseph Smith, P.G.P., took the same view, and was glad to find that Bro. Kenyon's opposition had resulted in a saving of expenditure of the institution.

Bro. John Symonds, P.G.A.D.C., said that the great advantage of Gothic architecture in which style the Girls' School was built, was that it admitted of additions being made to it without running the risk of deforming it.

The Chairman said his reply should be very brief as the subject had been fully ventilated; but on the subject of the healthiness of Battersea Rise he would read the following letter from the medical officer of the institution:—

"The Old Vicarage, Wandsworth, S.W.
April 7th, 1876.

"My dear Bro. Creation.—As I am not my own master, being at the call of a large practice, I may not be able, as I wish, to be present at the Quarterly Court on Saturday next, to speak the same views that I gave the House Committee when I was last present, on the healthy condition of the spot on which the Royal Freemasons' School for Girls now stands.

"I had a father in practice here for 48 years, and I have been in practice myself for 33 years; so I hope the combined knowledge will satisfy the Court of my fitness to give an opinion.

"Wandsworth Common stands on a bed of gravel from 16 to 32 feet deep. I believe that it possesses a very pure air, free from miasma. I have never heard of or seen any epidemic peculiar to the spot, nor have I seen fever, ague, or any other disease that could be considered due to a local cause. The spot was selected by the late Prince Consort as the best place for the Royal Patriotic Girls' School, and lately the committee of that School have so far approved his choice as to build a large Boys' School. The magistrates of the county prison selected the edge of the common to build some years ago a large House of Detention. I am not aware that their wisdom has ever been called in question on the score of healthiness. The health of the residents in the neighbourhood I may be supposed to know something of, and on all sides I could, if necessary, bring evidence of the healthiness of Wandsworth Common.

"On looking back at the health of the schools since they came to Battersea Rise, I will openly challenge any member of the Craft to say that the health of the children has been in any way impaired by their residence; but on the contrary, when the school first came there, two-thirds of the children had enlarged cervical glands. Now what is their state, though your numbers have more than doubled? I think I have written enough to prove that there can be no just grounds for disturbing the schools on the score of want of healthiness.

"Believe me, yours faithfully and fraternally, (Signed) THOS. S. HOWELL.

"Col. Creation."

He would now put the amendment.

The amendment was put and lost, and the report was put and adopted.

Bro. Joseph Smith moved that the report be referred back to the committee to carry out. He thought it very satisfactory that in such a large meeting the report of the committee had been judged to be right.

Bro. H. Browne having seconded the motion, it was put and carried; and Col. Creation was appointed permanent chairman of the committee.

Scrutineers of votes for the election were appointed; Bro. Samuel Tomkins was re-elected Treasurer; 50 guineas were voted to Miss Moss; and the following motions were withdrawn:—

By H. W. Hemsworth, Esq.,

That not more than two children of same parents be admitted to this institution at the same time.

By F. W. H. Ramsay, Esq., M.D.,

That every three years the four senior members of the House Committee retire, but shall be eligible for re-election, and the four who have been least frequent in attendance shall retire annually, and be ineligible for re-election for a space of twelve months.

By John Boyd, Esq.,

That Ten additional Children be elected at the forthcoming election in April next, thus increasing the number in the School to 162.

The election was then proceeded with, and votes of thanks to the Chairman and Scrutineers closed the proceedings.

The following is the result of the election:—

Names.	Votes.
Bryant, Ida Mary	1638
Herlan, Josephine Amelia	1352
Wright, Clara Isabel	1330
Sanford, Mabel Elizabeth	1304
Bridgeman, Emma Lizzie	1214
Potts, Emma Mary	1181
Norrish, Susan Jane	1122
Walker, Mary	1107
Bellamy, Sarah Lissie	1069
Boyd, Alice	1060
Fudge, Beatrice Helena	1030

Obituary.

BRO. JAMES PORTER, OF WIGTON.

It is with very deep and sincere regret that it is our melancholy duty to record to-day the death of a brother who stood high in the Masonic world in the north, Bro. Porter, of Wigton, Past Master of Lodge Concord, Preston, and Provincial Grand Senior Warden of Cumberland and Westmorland. Bro. Porter was cut off after a very brief but severe illness, on the 29th ult. Only on the Thursday previous he had gone off on a business journey, apparently in his usual robust health, and in good spirits. Next day he unfortunately got very wet, from which a cold set in, which rapidly increased to a bad case of inflammation of the lungs and pleurisy, and Bro. Porter got worse, until death put an end to his sufferings at four o'clock on Thursday afternoon. Bro. Porter was first initiated at Preston, and went through all the offices of the lodge until he attained the rank of W.M. A few years ago he removed to Wigton, where he had some years previously married the amiable lady who survives him, and on his coming into the new province his enthusiasm for Freemasonry attracted the attention of Earl Bective (then Lord Kenlis), G. Master of the province, who soon gave him one of the minor offices in the province. In 1874 Earl Bective appointed him the Senior Warden of the Province of Cumberland and Westmorland, and in 1875 his lordship again appointed him to the same office. Bro. Porter's Masonic lore was great, and he was more than willing to impart it to any lodge or brother who stood in need of assistance. In the various Masonic charities he wrought hard, and was at various times of much assistance in obtaining votes for candidates, or in getting candidates into the schools and other charities. Permission had been given by Earl Bective, Provincial Grand Master, for a Masonic funeral, but this, in deference to the wishes of the family, was not held. It took place on Monday afternoon, at the cemetery, Wigton. As it was, however, the melancholy news of the death of Bro. Porter had got spread to many lodges, and there was a large gathering of the brethren to pay a last sad tribute of respect to one so well known and respected in life. Amongst others we noticed Bros. the Rev. Dr. James Simpson, of Kirkby Stephen, G. Chap. of England; W. B. Gibson, P.M., P.P.G.S.W., and P.G. Sec.; F. Hayward, P.M., P.P.G.S.W.; Routledge, P.M. 1200, P.P.G. Purst; W. Court, Carlisle, P.P., P.P.G. Purst; Cooke, Carlisle, 1532, W.M., P.G. Purst; Taylor, Carlisle, P.M., P.P.G.D.C.; Quarter-Master Sergeant Noakes, Carlisle, 1532, S.D.; Jobbing, Sec.; G. Thorpe, I.G.; Mason, J.W.; Potter, S.W.; W. Hill, all of the Bective, Carlisle, 1532; R. Wharton, I.G.; Webster, Pearson, Cousens, Cockfield, Dr. Horan, W.M., Whitehaven, 119; Dr. Dinwoodie, W.M., Appleby, 812; W. Carruthers, Carlisle, P.M. 310; John Murray, Carlisle, P.M. 310; and many other brethren from a distance, besides the bulk of the Wigton brethren. In addition to these there was a large attendance of townsmen and ladies of Wigton, so that the mournful procession was unusually large. Bro. Porter was only 39 years of age, and leaves a wife and four children.

BRO. J. D. BATH.

The mortal remains of the late Bro. J. D. Bath, omnibus proprietor, of Aigburth, near Liverpool, were consigned to their final resting place in the burial ground of the old parish church of St. Michael's, Garston, on Thursday, the 6th inst.

The death of deceased, who was well known and highly respected in the neighbourhood where he had so long conducted an extensive business, created a widespread sympathy, and there was consequently a large attendance at his obsequies. All the shops in Garston were partially closed, and from the public buildings were displayed the usual symbols of mourning—namely, flags half-mast high. At the funeral service the church was crowded, and many who desired to be present failed to gain admission. The burial service in the church was read by the Rev. J. F. Hewson, B.A., vicar, and at the ordinances at the grave side the Rev. J. E. Evans, of St. Mary's, Grassendale, officiated. The funeral cortege included, besides the deceased's relatives, a large number of private friends. There were also present several members of the Masonic Craft, to which the deceased belonged, and their esteem was testified by a contribution of sprigs of acacia placed upon the coffin previously to its being lowered into the grave.

BRO. J. J. R. ROBERTS, P.G.M. LIBERIA.

On the 24th February just past another link was sundered from our mystic chain in the death of our distinguished and very worthy brother, Joseph Jenkins Roberts, the father of the country, late President of the Republic, for near twenty years president of Liberia College, and a Past Grand Master Mason of Liberia. A fully-detailed obituary will appear in another issue.

THE LATE BRO. WM. ROMAINE CALLENDER, M.P., PROVINCIAL GRAND MASTER, LANCASHIRE.—The "Manchester Courier" states that in November last the Premier wrote to Bro. Callender, asking, in most flattering terms, his acceptance of a baronetcy as a recognition of distinguished public services. Mr. Disraeli's exact words were: "It will mark Her Majesty's approbation of your increasing and successful efforts to enlist the working classes in favour of our admirable Constitution."

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, April 21, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, APRIL 15.

Lodge 1364, Earl of Zetland, Old Town Hall, Hackney. Chap. 1194, Royal Middlesex, Mitre Hot., Hampton-court. Mark Lodge, 104, Macdonald, M.H., Masons' Avenue.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Percy, 113, Southgate-rd., N.
Manchester, 179, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross Road.

MONDAY, APRIL 17.

Lodge 1, Grand Master's, F.M. Tav.
" 8, British, F.M.H.
" 21, Emulation, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 58, Felicity, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 185, Tranquillity, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
" 720, Panmure, Balham Hot., Balham
" 907, Royal Alfred, F.M.H.
" 1159, Marquis of Dalhousie, F.M.H.
" 1201, Eclectic, F.M.H.
Chap. 12, Prudence, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.

Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To. Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st. Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
West Kent, St. Saviour's College, Forest-hill.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, APRIL 18.

Board of Gen. Purposes, at 4.
Lodge 30, United Mariners', Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
" 95, Eastern Star, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 162, Cadogan, F.M.H.
" 186, Industry, M.H., Basinghall-st.
" 194, St. Paul's, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
" 435, Salisbury, F.M.H.
Chap. 890, Hornsey, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Varborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone, at 8.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Corahill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19.

Gen. Com. Grand Chap., at 3.
Lodge of Benevolence, at 6.
" Grand Stewards'.
" 140, St. George's, Trafalgar Hot., Greenwich.
" 174, Sincerity, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
" 190, Oak, F.M.H.
" 700, Nelson, M.H., William-st., Woolwich.
" 969, Maybury, F.M.H.
" 1044, Wandsworth, Spread Eagle, Wandsworth.
" 1150, Buckingham and Chandos, F.M.H.
" 1349, Friars, Cheshire Cheese, Crutched Friars.
" 1382, Corinthian, George Inn, Cubitt Town.
" 1540, Chaucer, Bridge House Hot., London Bridge.
Chap. 192, Lion and Lamb, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
" 857, St. Mark's, Half Moon Tav., Herne Hill.
Rose Croix Chap., Bard of Avon, 33, Golden-sq.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Mount Edgcombe, 19, Jermyn-street, St. James's.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.

THURSDAY, APRIL 20.

House Com. Girls' School, at 4.
Lodge 49, Gihon, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
" 55, Constitutional, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 63, St. Mary's, F.M.H.
" 169, Temperance, White Swan, High-st., Deptford.
" 179, Manchester, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 181, Universal, F.M.H.
" 733, Westbourne, Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
" 813, New Concord, Rosemary Branch, Hoxton.
" 1227, Upton, Spotted Dog Tav., Upton.
" 1287, Great Northern, F.M.H.
" 1339, Stockwell, Half Moon Tav., Herne Hill.
" 1425, Hyde Park, 1, Craven-rd., W.
" 1475, Peckham, Surrey M.H.

Chap. 29, St. Albans, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 79, Pythagorean, Ship Hot., Greenwich.
Mark Lodge, Bon. Accord, 2, Red Lion-sq.
Preceptory E., Observance, 14, Bedford-row.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebony, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albion-rd., Dalston.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.

FRIDAY, APRIL 21.

House Com. Boys' School at 4.
Lodge 6, Friendship, Willis's Rooms, St. James's.
" 143, Middlesex, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-street.
" 201, Jordan, F.M.H.
" 975, Rose of Denmark, White Hart Hot., Barnes.
Chap. 92, Moria, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
Rose Croix Chapter, "Invicta," 33, Golden-square.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
St. George's, Globe Tav., Royal-hill, Greenwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Metropolitan, Pentonville-road.

United Pilgrims, Surrey M. H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, Commercial Tav., King's-road, Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday April 22, 1876.

MONDAY, APRIL 17.

Lodge 721, Independence, M.R., Eastgate Row, Chester.
" 1402, Israel, M.H., Liverpool.
Chap. 32, Jerusalem, M.H., Liverpool.
Everton L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, APRIL 18.

Special P.G. Lodge, M.H., Liverpool.
" Chapter, M.H., Liverpool.
Lodge 667, Alliance, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1225, Hindpool, Hartington Hot., Brw.-in-Furness.
" 1276, Warren, Seacombe Hot., Seacombe.
Chap. 605, De Tabley, Seacombe Hot.
Merchants' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19.

Lodge 547, Zetland, 55, Argyle-st., Birkenhead.
" 823, Everton, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1016, Walton, St. Lawrence's, Soho, Kirkdale.
" 1345, Victoria, Cross Keys, Eccles.
" 1353, Duke of Lancaster, Athenium, Lancaster.
De Grey and Ripon L. of I., 80, North Hill-st., Liverpool.
Downshire L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, APRIL 20.

Lodge 203, Ancient Union, M.H., Liverpool.
" 343, Concord, Militia Mess Rooms, Preston.
" 425, Cestrian, M.R., Eastgate-row, Chester.
" 605, Combermere, Seacombe Hot., Seacombe.
" 1299, Pembroke, Rawlinson's Hot., West Derby.
St. John's L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.
Liverpool Red Cross Conclave, 55, M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, APRIL 21.

Duke of Edinburgh L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, April 22, 1876.
All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, APRIL 17.

Lodge 129, St. Mirren's, St. Mirren's H., Moss-st., Paisley.
" 332, Union, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 581, Plantation, Craigiehall-st., Plantation, Glasgw.

TUESDAY, APRIL 18.

Lodge 34, St. John, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 73, Thistle and Rose, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 87, Thistle, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
" 437, Govandale, Portland Buildings, Govan.
" 556, Clydesdale, M.H., Rose-st., S.S., Glasgow.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19.

Lodge 117, St. Mary, M.H., Partick.
" 354, Caledonian Railway, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
" 571, Dramatic, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
Chap. 150, Shettleston St. John, M.H., Shettleston.

THURSDAY, APRIL 20.

Lodge 22, St. John Kilwinning, George Hot., Kilmarnock.
" 27, St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 465, St. Andrew, M.H., Garngad-rd.

FRIDAY, APRIL 21.

Lodge 12, Greenock Kilwinning, T.H., Greenock.
" 31, St. Mary's Coltness, Scotts Hall, Wishan.
" 306, St. Thomas, 90, Wellgate-st., Larkhall.
" 321, St. Andrews, Sub. Halls, Alexandria.
" 360, Commercial, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
" 408, Clyde, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 471, St. John, Stane Inn, Shotts.
" 551, Clydesdale, Royal Hot., Larkhall.

SATURDAY, APRIL 22.

Lodge 524, St. Andrew, M.H., Kilbride.
" 544, St. Andrew, M.H., Coatbridge.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, April 22, 1876.

MONDAY, APRIL 17.

Lodge 44, St. Luke, Freemasons' H. George-st.

TUESDAY, APRIL 18.

Lodge 36, St. David, Ship Hot., East Register-st.
" 405, Rifle, F.M.H., George-st.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 19.

Lodge 160, Roman Eagle, Iona Hot., Nicholson-st.

THURSDAY, APRIL 20.

Lodge 48, St. Andrew, F.M.H., George-st.
" 226, Portobello, Royal Hot., Bath-st.

Chap. 152, Perseverance, 186, Constitution-st.

FRIDAY, APRIL 21.

Chap. 83, St. Andrew, F.M.H., George-st.

COURIER AND TRAVELLING SERVANT.—Italian age 30; speaks English and Continental languages; good experience and trustworthy, high references; just arrived. M.M.M.—Address, A.D.M., 9, Beak-street, Regent-street, W.

A MASTER MASON, German, lately arrived in London, appeals, in great distress, to the generosity of Members of the Craft, to procure him Employment as Corresponding or General Clerk.—J.A.W., 22, Farringdon-street.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

WOOD GREEN, LONDON, N.

Office, 6, FREEMASONS' HALL, W.C.

PATRON.

HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN.

PRESIDENT.

FIELD-MARSHAL H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G., &c., M.W.G.M.

At a Quarterly General Court of the Governors and Subscribers held at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, Lincoln's-Inn-Fields, London, on Monday, the 10th day of April, 1876, for the transaction of the ordinary business of the Institution, John Moxon Clabon, Esq., P.G.D., V. Pat., Trustee, in the chair, succeeded by John Symonds, Esq., V. Pat. and Trustee. A Ballot took place for the Election of Sixteen Boys from an approved List of 59 Candidates and the following were elected:—

SUCCESSFUL.

1. Perrin, Gilbert Palmer Sheridan	2256
2. Dawson, George Arthur	2130
3. Trott, Richard James	1962
4. Cromwell, Charles Henry	1932
5. Keddell, Robt. Walter	1826
6. Stansfield, Wm. Ashton	1822
7. Jackson, Joseph	1818
8. Cooke, William Astle	1816
9. Wain, Leonard	1781
10. Lee, Vincent John	1777
11. Vivian, Alfred Greville	1758
12. Robinson, Geo. Sampson	1698
13. Gardner, Richard Thomas	1601
14. Adams, Donald Robt.	1383
15. England, Herbert	1318
16. Rees, James Herbert	1272

Lists of Candidates successful and unsuccessful with full particulars of Polling, &c., may be had on application at the Office.

10th April, 1876, FREDERICK BINCKES, Secretary.
* * The seventy-eighth Anniversary Festival will be held on Wednesday, 28th June, 1876, on which occasion the Rt. Hon. Lord Leigh, R.W. Prov. G.M. of Warwickshire, has kindly consented to preside. The names of Brethren willing to represent Provinces or Lodges as Stewards will be gratefully received.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

ST. JOHN'S, HILL, BATTERSEA RISE, S.W.

At a Quarterly General Court of this Institution, held at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, Lincoln's-inn-fields, W.C., on Saturday, April 8th, 1876, Lieut.-Col. Creaton, Trustee and Vice Patron, in the chair; after the general business was disposed of the Governors and Subscribers proceeded to the Election by Ballot of Eleven Children into the Institution from a list of forty-three approved candidates, when the following were declared duly elected:—

No. on List.	Names.	Votes.
10.	Bryant, Ida Mary	1638
13.	Herlan, Josephine Amelia	1352
15.	Wright, Clara Isabel	1330
36.	Sanford, Mabel Elizabeth	1304
19.	Bridgeman, Emma Lizzie	1213
23.	Potts, Emma Mary	1181
2.	Norrish, Susan Jane	1122
27.	Walker, Mary	1107
4.	Bellamy, Sarah Lizzie	1069
12.	Boyd, Alice	1060
29.	Fudge, Beatrice Helena	1030

The number of votes recorded for unsuccessful candidates can be obtained on application at the Secretary's Office, and will be duly carried forward at the next election, if eligible.

R. WENTWORTH LITTLE, Secretary.

BRO. T. LAWLER, who was specially appointed to the Management of the MUSIC at the LONDON HOSPITAL on the memorable occasion of the visit there of HER MOST GRACIOUS MAJESTY THE QUEEN, begs to notify his change of residence, and requests that all letters relative to CONCERTS, BANQUETS, PRIVATE LESSONS, &c., be addressed—62, Saltoun-road, Brixton-Rise, S.W.

ONE MILLION STERLING

Has been paid as

COMPENSATION

FOR

DEATH AND INJURIES

Caused by

ACCIDENTS OF ALL KINDS,

By the Railway Passengers' Insurance Company,

Hon. A. KINNAIRD, M.P., Chairman.

PAID UP CAPITAL AND RESERVE FUND, £180,000.

ANNUAL INCOME, £200,000.

Bonus Allowed to Insurers of Five Years' Standing.

Apply to the Clerks at the Railway Stations, the Local Agents, or 64, Cornhill, and 10, Regent-street, London.

WILLIAM J. VIAN, Secretary.

WEAK OR DEFECTIVE SIGHT.—SPEC

TACLES scientifically adapted to remedy impaired vision by Bro. ACKLAND, Surgeon, daily, at Horne and Thornthwaite's, Opticians to the Queen, 416, Strand, London, W.C. Send six stamps for "Ackland's Hints on Spectacles," which contains valuable suggestions to sufferers from imperfect sight.

THE LONDON MASONIC CLUB.

THE CLUB PREMISES

SITUATE

101, Queen Victoria Street,

are now being fitted up, and will

SHORTLY BE OPENED TO THE MEMBERS.

The Annual Subscription, now payable, is available to 1st May, 1877, and is fixed at—£3 3s. for Town Members, i.e., Members residing within twenty miles of the Club, and £1 11s. 6d. for Country Members, without entrance fee. Members incur no liability beyond their subscription. None but Freemasons are eligible for Membership.

The next Election of Members will be held on 27th April after which date it is anticipated that it will be necessary to impose an Entrance Fee, and raise the annual Subscriptions, upwards of 500 Brethren having already joined.

Forms of Application for Membership may be obtained from the Secretary, at the Offices of the London Masonic Club Company (Limited), 37, Queen Victoria-street, E.C. JOHN A. LATHBURY, Secretary.

LONDON AND PROVINCIAL COMMISSION AGENCY,

1202, BISHOPSGATE-STREET WITHOUT, Having Travellers in Town and Country, can offer superior advantages to Manufacturers of Fancy Goods, Perfumery, Soaps, Leather Goods, Jewellery, &c.

All Samples sent to us must be carriage paid, and orders can be sent direct from manufacturers to the buyer.

Sole Agent for the Great American Hair Restorer, post-free, 7 stamps. Manager, F. KENSIT.

BILLIARDS IN THE CITY.

Established 1800.

17, SHERBORNE-LANE, King William Street. One Public Room and Seven Private Rooms. G. HAVILAND (late STEBBINGS), Proprietor. Chops, Steaks, Welsh Rarebits, Poached Eggs, Tea and Coffee, from 10 a.m. till 11 p.m.

MR. THOMAS C. MACROW.

52, Westminster-bridge-road, London, S.E.

(Facing Astley's Theatre.)

BUSINESSES of every description let quietly and quickly (Town or Country). All parties wishing to sell, call or send full particulars. Registration fee. Hours 10 to 6, Saturday 10 to 3. Enclose stamp for reply. No canvassers employed. Established 1864.

GERMANY.—HIGH CLASS EDUCATION

at the Royal Colleges, Cassel (attended by the Sons of the Crown Prince of Germany), with thorough German, French, and English Private Tuition by resident Graduates, and a refined English Home. Delightful neighbourhood of Wilhelmshöhe, the Auc Park, and the valley of the Fulda. Prospectus, with highest references. Terms, 70 to 90 guineas inclusive. Sons of Masonic brethren at reduced rates.—Address Bro. Dr. Saure, M.A., Cassel) who will be in England in April).

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY

(Limited), 7, Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.

General Accidents. Personal Injuries.

Railway Accidents. Deaths by Accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE, the

Original and Only Genuine, immediately Relieves and Cures Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pains. It acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep. (Numerous testimonials accompany each bottle.)

Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish, and Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 24, 1873. Bottles 1s. 1d., 2s. 6d., 4s. 6d., 11s., and 20s. Sold by all chemists.

The following testimonial is one out of many:— From G. F. SMITH, Esq., Manager Licensed Victuallers' Pure Tea Company.

9, Curtain-road, London, E.C., Sept. 21, 1875.

Sir,—I have taken your invaluable "Chlorodyne," (especially in the winter time) for some years. When I was advised first to use Chlorodyne I procured some of Collis Browne's. It did me no good whatever, I then bought some of your preparation. I firmly believe (under God) that it has been the means of prolonging my life, am affected (or rather was affected) with severe "Winter Cough," at now, when supplied with your incomparable specific, I defy my old enemy, and drive him out of the system.

I know nothing personally of you, Sir, nor, for that matter, of Mr. Collis Browne; but I know, that his preparation of Chlorodyne does me no good whatever, and it is with deep gratitude to you that I now pass my winters free from cough, and in comfort.

To Mr. RICHARD FREEMAN.

None genuine without the words, "Freeman's Original Chlorodyne," engraved on the Government Stamp.

Numerous Testimonials from the most eminent medical men accompany each bottle.

COMFORT FOR TENDER FEET.—

Try Anthony Seard's new material! Peculiarly Prepared Indestructible Porpoise Skin Boots and Shoes. Soft as silk, shines like patent, never cracks, becomes softer and finer in wear, a perfect durable luxury and superlative specialty. 8 Bow Lane, Cheapside, E.C. Ladies' orders skillfully executed. One trial insures satisfaction.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—	PAGE
Craft Masonry.....	175
Royal Arch.....	178
Scotland.....	178
OBITUARY:—
Funeral of Bro. the Hon. F. Walpole.....	179
Masonic and General Tidings.....	179
Discontinue the "Freemason".....	180
Our Royal Grand Master's Return.....	180
Comparative Cost of the Boys' School.....	181
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Regalia.....	181
Membership of Provincial Grand Lodge.....	181
Masonic Jurisprudence.....	181
Masonic Prefixes.....	181
After-Dinner Promises.....	182
By-Laws or Bye-Laws.....	182
Provincial Grand Chapter of East Lancashire.....	182
Masonic Progress at Galashiels.....	182
Consecration of the Skelmersdale Lodge.....	182
Consecration of the Ley Spring Lodge.....	182
Consecration of the Hamilton Lodge.....	183
Addresses to our Royal Grand Master.....	183
Masonic Festivities.....	183
Reviews.....	183
American Notes.....	183
Lodge of Benevolence.....	184
Masonic Meetings for Next Week.....	184
Advertisements.....	i. ii. iii. iv. v. vi.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

LODGE OF UNITED STRENGTH (No. 128).—The end of the season of this lodge was reached on Tuesday, the 11th inst., when a full assemblage of the brethren met at the Old Gate of St. John of Jerusalem, St. John's Lane, Smithfield. Bro. Robert Griggs, the W.M., ever punctual in his duties, was in his chair presiding at the time named in the summons, and like Master so the officers, for there was not a place vacant. The lodge was laid out in the Prior's Chamber, which makes a very picturesque lodge-room, and is only at a disadvantage when too many brethren attend the working, or when the lodge has to sit long at business, which it had on this occasion, for the Master had the programme of seven raisings, a passing, and five initiations. Bros. J. Hill, was S.W.; Snare, J.W.; Halford, S.D.; Pearcey, J.D.; Todd, I.G.; Flaws and Patmore, D.C.'s; and Hickman, A.W.S. The P.M.'s included Bros. J. While, I.P.M. ("Freemason"); Winsland, Treasurer; Crump, Secretary; Davies, James Terry, P.G.D.C. Heris, Secretary of the R.M. B.L., &c. (W.S.); and Hillhouse. The first work taken was to pass Bro. Booth, who was initiated on the previous night. Having very well answered the test questions the brother was further entrusted, and when admitted was in due form and with customary rites passed to the Second Degree, and was thus placed midway in the profession. Of the seven brethren who were to be raised six only attended at the time, and these were Bros. Coles, Griggs, Paine, Randall, Arnoll, and Trotter. They answered the questions and were entrusted with a test. Of course the working of the degree had to be repeated, for the custom of the lodge is to render the ceremonies with due solemnity, and this is impossible when degrees are bestowed on too many at once. The W.M. and his officers went through the work in a perfect manner, and it was evident that all were adepts in the performance of the ceremonies. The lodge was then resumed in the First Degree, and five gentlemen having been balloted for earlier in the evening, were initiated by instalments of their number. The gentlemen who were thus made brethren were Messrs. Coote, T. Sandy, Philip Woodman, John Woodman, and James Stephens Knight, all but the first being old inhabitants of the ancient and historic parish in which the old gate stands, and the last mentioned three were welcomed by Bros. While and Flaws as old comrades in the Finsbury Rifles. On the W.M. rising for the first time, the Treasurer, P.M. Winsland, proposed that the lodge should vote ten guineas to be placed on the list of the W.M., who was going up as Steward at the festival of the Girls' School. Bro. P.M. While seconded the motion, and Bro. James Terry supported it. The motion was of course carried unanimously. The lodge was then solicited to support a petition for a new lodge to be held at the Old Gate. No one appeared in support of the petition, and it was informal from there being no name of the proposed W.M. given in it. The lodge, with regret, had to pass the petition over. The lodge was then closed in due form, and the brethren adjourned to the banquetting hall, where an excellent repast was laid, and among the visiting brethren who honoured the United Strength with their presence were Bros. Henry Smith, P.M. of the Royal Arthur, 1360 (at one time a member of United Strength); Knight, S.D. 1360; Timothy, S.D. of 87; Hinson, of 1319; Saul, of 1291; Grimwood, 1311; Tongue, 534; McNevin, 1426; Loverdo, 1196; Bacea, 1196; and Lawson, of 1426. The usual loyal toasts were given, and when the Grand Officers were toasted the hope was expressed that at no distant date G.L. honours would fall in a quarter where there was great merit, for it was added, if honour should be bestowed upon merit in this case, then the lodge would be honoured in one of its children. The I.P.M. then proposed the toast of "The W.M.," saying that the many hours' arduous labours in the lodge which the W.M. had undergone had fully proved his ability, and the perfect manner in which he had rendered the ceremonies proved that he fully esteemed the honour of being Master of this old lodge by having successfully surmounted the difficulties which stood in the way of those who had to work in the duties of the Master's chair, as "men loved more ardently what they had suffered to attain, and enjoyed nothing so exquisitely as what they had pursued through calamity and danger," so would the busy W.M. come to regard the time he had given to the lodge and its duties as a pleasant light cast athwart a period of life which in after years might otherwise have seemed to wear a dull uniformity. The toast was warmly honoured, and the W.M., in response, said it was indeed a pleasure to him to perform the duties of the high station to which he had been called, and that if he gave those ceremonies in a manner to please the brethren it was in no small measure owing to the instruction and assistance he received from his Past Masters. The initiates were then toasted, and were welcomed by the brethren as duly admitted to the Craft, and each in suitable terms thanked the lodge for cordially receiving them into the ranks of the ancient brotherhood. The visitors were toasted, and nearly all present responded, all expressing their gratification at seeing the work and principles of the Craft—those above and those below the surface—well carried out. The W.M. then gave "The Past Masters," and Bros. While, Winsland and Terry responded. Bro. Terry in one of those orations for which he is famous, "the grave, the gay, the lively and severe," the severity being in a mock criticism on the foibles of brethren, and greatly enlivened the gathering. He especially congratulated the W.M. upon having undertaken the office of Steward for the Girls' School, and said that the W.M. could see in the young ladies brought up in the schools all that young ladies should be, and when he felt disposed to quit his unhappy state of bachelorhood, he could make his choice of one who, like them could be the housewife and the lady, they being trained in all the duties of household management, and educated in all the accomplishments which made the lady. All the brethren then joined in drinking to the officers, and the Tyler's toasts closed the last meeting of spring. In the course of the evening several brethren sung, and Bro. Booth gave two laughable recitations. Bro. Hart, the Organist, was much missed, he being obliged to be absent in Paris in connection with the preparation of the great picture of last year's grand Masonic ceremony in the Royal Albert Hall.

MACDONALD LODGE (No. 1216).—This lodge met for ordinary business and election of officers for the ensuing year, on Thursday, the 13th inst., at the headquarters of the First Surrey Rifles, at Camberwell. The W.M., Bro. J. Hepburn Hastie, was supported by Bros. M. S. Larham, S.W.; J. Stevens, P.M., as J.W.; Past Masters W. J. Messenger, G. Waterall, and S. H. Wagstaff; Bros. Capt. A. Styan, Treas.; J. J. Curtis, Sec.; T. W. Carnell, S.D.; C. Fountain, J.D.; F. Cozens, Org.; W. C. Hall, I.G.; and amongst others present were Bros. J. W. Holland, C. E. Golding, T. Edmonstone, F. P. Younge, P. Clay, A. Youngman, H. P. Jarman, A. C. Bradley, &c. The visitors were Bros. C. G. Cobham, W.M. 957; E. W. Fisher, 700; J. Greenway, 874; E. Fullager, 14; W. L. Pennewar, 1329; and — Middlemass, of the Sphinx Lodge. Bro. Younge was raised to the degree of M.M., and Mr. C. T. Danford was initiated into the Order. The unanimous vote of the lodge conferred upon Bro. M. S. Larham the distinction of W.M. elect, and a like vote re-elected Bro. Capt. Hyan as Treas. Bro. Grant, for whose late indisposition much sympathy was expressed, was re-elected Tyler. On the proposition of the W.M. the sum of 20 guineas was voted to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls to be placed on the list of Bro. G. Waterall, who represents the lodge as Steward at the ensuing festival. A like sum of 20 guineas was also voted to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys to head the list of Bro. Wagstaff, representing the lodge as Steward for that institution. Bro. Past Master Stevens, having addressed the lodge in reference to the very admirable manner in which Bro. Hastie had conducted the business of the past year, as well in regard to perfection of ritual as to courteous and dignified management of its affairs, evidenced by increased numbers and general efficiency, proposed "That a P.M. jewel of the value of 10 guineas be presented to the W.M. in recognition of his invaluable services, which proposition was carried by acclamation. Bro. Past Master Wagstaff made reference to the satisfactory progress of the society connected with the lodge for promoting the interests of the Masonic Charitable Institutions and securing Life Governorships for its members, and announced that during the ensuing week an additional Life Governorship would be constituted. An Audit Committee having been appointed, the business terminated. The lodge was closed with musical services, and the brethren partook of a frugal supper in hearty good fellowship, and separated much pleased with the evening's proceedings.

HERVEY LODGE (No. 1260).—The installation meeting of the Hervey Lodge was held on the 12th inst. at Freemasons' Hall. Dr. Jabez Hogg, W.M., presided, and was supported by most of his officers and a very large muster of brethren of the lodge and visitors. The meeting was in every respect a most successful one, as all the work was well performed, the officers being well up to their duties, and there being an excellent musical accompaniment to the ceremonies by Bro. Seymour Smith. The brethren who were present during the sitting were Bros. Dr. Hogg, W.M.; G. Harrison, S.W.; Southwood, J.W.; G. King, jun., P.M., Sec.; H. Hollingsworth, S.D.; E. J. Goodacre, I.G.; G. King, P.M.; H. B. Condy, H. Condy, W. Mason, E. T. Foot, J. Cox, F. R. Cox, F. A. Beeton, C. W. Robins, S. Spender, A. Czarniecki, A. Rosenthal, J. T. Bigwood, W. Howell, J. Fitch, W. Ryan, B. Butler, G. T. Salmon, J. T. Spalding, P. F. Portway, G. Vine, W. Burley, W. Gibbs, H. H. Topham, and Broker. Visitors: Bros. Clever, 12 and 171; R. Sears, D.C. 299; H. T. A. Stewart, P.M. 898; W. C. Beaven, 1288; S. Smith, 742; G. T. Carter, 145; M. Richards, 733; H. Hollis, P.M. 167; H. Massey, P.M. 169 ("Freemason"); C. Atkins, P.M. 17; and Green, W.M. 27. Dr. Hogg passed Bros. Mason, Fitch and H. B. Condy, and afterwards initiated Mr. Geo. Kidd Sheward, and Mr. Charles James. These ceremonies being completed, Bro.

Geo. King, jun., then ascended the throne and installed Bro. Geo. Harrison, S.W., as W.M. of the lodge for the year. The following brethren were the officers appointed and invested:—Bros. Southwood, S.W.; H. Hollingsworth, J.W., P.M. 487 and 1069; Dr. Jabez Hogg, P.M., Treas.; Geo. King, jun., P.M., Sec.; Ward, S.D.; Goodacre, J.D.; Spalding, I.G.; Geo. King, D.C.; and C. E. T. Speight, Tyler. All these brethren were vociferously cheered on receiving their different appointments. Bro. King concluded by delivering the addresses, and for his performance was also heartily cheered. As most pleasant gatherings have in them a dash of melancholy, the installation meeting of the Hervey Lodge formed no exception to the rule, and Dr. Hogg referred in feeling terms to the decease of Bro. Kingcome, whose little girl was an unsuccessful candidate at the last election of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. On Dr. Hogg's motion five guineas were voted from the benevolent fund of the lodge, and five guineas from the lodge fund towards assisting the case, and to be placed on Bro. Southwood's list. (Each of the initiates also placed ten guineas on the same list.) Bro. King seconded Dr. Hogg's motion, and Bro. Southwood, S.W., returned thanks. He acknowledged the exertions which the brethren of this lodge had made on behalf of his little protégée, and also thanked the W.M. of the Egyptian Lodge (Bro. Green), the Immediate Past Master (Bro. Charles Atkins), and the other brethren of that lodge, for their efforts in the same cause. He also called upon the brethren of the Hervey Lodge and the Egyptian Lodge to renew those efforts for the October election, when he was confident they would be able to land the little girl high and dry. Bro. Southwood gave notice of motion for a committee for carrying out a summer festival this year. Two years they had held summer festivals, to which ladies were invited, and these entertainments had been highly successful. (Hear hear.) Yet another drop of bitterness for the cup of enjoyment. Bro. George King, jun., announced that Bro. Darby, Dr. Hogg's Immediate Past Master, was dead; whereupon Dr. Hogg rose and said that, although the lodge had had no official announcement of the fact, although the members personally knew it, he would move a vote of condolence on the event. He regretted very much the loss the lodge had sustained. Bro. Darby was known to the brethren as a very earnest Mason; he took great interest in his work, though illness and other circumstances had kept him from the lodge during the last twelve months. At the last meeting he (Dr. Hogg) had a letter from Bro. Darby regretting his inability to be then present, but hoping to be present at the installation of Bro. Harrison. He would move a vote of condolence, and that the Secretary be instructed to write to the widow of Bro. Darby expressing the great regret of the brethren of the lodge at the death of Bro. Darby, and the deep sense they felt of the loss they had sustained thereby; hoping, however, that the Great Architect of the Universe would support Mrs. Darby in her very severe trial. (Hear hear.) Bro. Ward, S.D., seconded the motion, which was then put, and carried unanimously. Bro. Geo. King, jun., Secretary, then read several letters of regret for inability from being present, among others one from Grand Secretary. Lodge was then closed, and the brethren repaired to the Inns of Court Hotel, Lincoln's Inn Fields, to banquet, where a splendid repast awaited them. The customary toasts followed. After the toast of "The Queen and the Craft," in giving which the W.M. said that the feeling which existed on the part of Freemasons towards Her Majesty was just the very feeling which should exist, the toast of "H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M.," was given, the W.M. saying that ever since His Royal Highness had accepted the Grand Mastership of the Craft he had proved himself to be a thorough Mason. He always furthered the interests of the Craft in general, and when he came again to England and to London no doubt we should see him with us in Masonry. The W.M. next proposed "The Pro Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers," eulogising all of them for what Masonry had benefited through them. With this toast he coupled the name of Dr. Hogg, P.G.D., who, in responding, said it was unnecessary for him to speak of the quality of the representatives of Grand Lodge, and of the way in which they performed their duties, as all the brethren were aware of it. Whenever these representatives could be of service to the Craft they were ready to fulfil the duty required of them. This was proved by the alacrity with which they agreed to take the chair at the festivals of the different institutions of the Craft. He then apologised for the absence of Bro. Hervey, one of the founders of the lodge, who at the present time was surrounded with a great deal of work. He also apologised for the absence of Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, who had written to say he was sorry he could not attend. The W.M. then proposed "The Initiates," two gentlemen who he was sure would prove very active members of the Order, and who had that evening given evidence by their conduct that they would become an honour to the Order, and to the Hervey Lodge. Bros. Sheward and James responded, and stated that they had long desired to become members of the Order, and to have an opportunity of showing their interest in the Craft. Both thanked the brethren for their admission, and said that when anything was required of them they were at the command of the Craft. Dr. Hogg proposed "The W.M." It gave him much pleasure to do so, not only because it relieved him of a great amount of responsibility, which he had endeavoured to discharge conscientiously, and to the general satisfaction of the brethren, but because he knew that Bro. Harrison would follow in his steps, and show the brethren that they had elected the right man. Although the W.M. had not yet had an opportunity of showing how well and efficiently he could fulfil his duties in the performance of the ceremonies, yet he had proved that he knew one part of the ritual by duly investing his officers.

was sure that Bro. Harrison would perform the ceremonies much better than he (Bro. Hogg) had done. (No, no.) He had attended lodges of instruction, and had learned how to deliver the ritual in the best way that it could be given from the chair. In electing Bro. Harrison they had done the best thing they could for the lodge, and they had reason to be satisfied with the choice they had made. At the end of his year of office they would be able to say he had discharged his duties properly. He (Bro. Hogg) knew with what earnestness the W.M. had followed Masonry, and his interest in the Hervey Lodge was testified by the various presents he had made to it. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) The W.M., in responding, very cordially thanked the brethren and Dr. Hogg, whom he said he would follow as far as he was able in discharging his duties to the satisfaction of the brethren. It had given him great pleasure to see Dr. Hogg installed as Master, as under such enlightened rule the lodge could not fail to prosper. He then proposed "The Health of Dr. Hogg," and presented him, in the name of the lodge, with a massive Past Master's jewel. Dr. Hogg, in reply, said he could not find words to thank the brethren adequately for their kindly recognition of his poor services; but he assured the brethren that he should ever remember their kindness with the most grateful feelings. "The Visitors" was the next toast, and the W.M., after saying that the Hervey Lodge had always been celebrated for its visiting brethren, observed that that day was no exception to the general rule. Among the visitors there were some half dozen P.M.'s, who had taken part in the ceremony of installation. Among these brethren were some whom he had to thank for the efforts they had made on behalf of a candidate for the Girls' School whose late father was a member of the Hervey Lodge. He had thanked them in the lodge, but he now renewed those thanks to Bro. Green and Bro. Atkins, of the Egyptian Lodge, 27. Bro. Green, W.M. 27, in responding, said it gave him great pleasure and gratification to be present at the installation of Bro. Harrison. It was the third time he had had the honour of attending installations at the Hervey Lodge; and it was very agreeable to find that every time he came the lodge was increasing in prosperity. Bro. Richards, 733, also replied, and referred to the very impressive style in which the ceremony of initiation was performed. The W.M. next proposed "The P.M.'s," coupling with the toast the name of Bro. G. King, jun., and complimenting that brother on his fluent and impressive rendering of the grand ceremony of installation. (Hear, hear.) Bro. G. King, jun., having responded, the W.M. next gave "The Masonic Press," to whom all the brethren were much indebted for its faithful record of their proceedings, which was the result of arduous labour. Bro. H. Massey, replying for the "Freemason," refused to recognise the arduous nature of the duties of the representatives of the Masonic press when they were made so agreeable by the genial greeting with which he was always received by the Masters, Past Masters, and lay brethren of lodges among whom he was constantly thrown. The Masonic press, however, was always pleased to record any efforts faithfully and honestly made for the further extension of the Craft and the wide diffusion of its precepts. "The Musical Brethren" were then proposed by the W.M., and Bro. Seymour Smith replied. The toast of "The Officers" followed; and the W.M. said he was proud to think he had always had hard-working brethren as his officers. Referring to the S.W., he said that Bro. Southwood had done a great deal of good for the Hervey Lodge. He had expended much time in serving the family of one of their deceased officers, Bro. Kingcome. Bro. Southwood would have the approbation of every member of the Craft for the hearty way in which he had studied its interests. Bro. Hollingsworth, J.W., had been a member of the Craft for many years, and had already done much for it. He hoped he might live many years more to do yet greater things for it. Bro. Ward, S.D., was a thorough good working Mason, and would prove of great advantage to the members of the Hervey Lodge. Bro. Goodacre, J.D., also was a good working Mason, and he might say the same of Bro. Spalding, I.G. (Hear, hear.) Bro. Southwood responded. He took no credit for what he had done, which had been so kindly referred to by the W.M. Alluding to the initiates, he said they had shewn that they appreciated Freemasonry by having learned the lesson they had been taught of brotherly love, relief, and truth. Those were the grand principles on which the Order was founded, and on which the Hervey Lodge would always act. (Cheers.) The other officers also responded, and the brethren separated, having drunk the Tyler's toast, after spending a most agreeable evening. Bros. Seymour Smith and G. T. Carter added some charming melody to the other entertainments of the day.

SKELMERSDALE LODGE (No. 1599).—The first regular meeting of this lodge was held at the Masons' Hall, Basinghall-street, on Thursday, 13th inst. The brethren present were Bros. John Bingemann, W.M.; Wm. H. Marston, S.W.; Geo. Laker, J.W.; Henry Roberts, Treas.; Wm. H. Lee, Sec.; E. Abell, S.D.; Sargant, J.D.; Miroy, I.G.; Rawles, Tyler. The lodge was opened in due form. The minutes of the consecration meeting having been confirmed, the brethren proceeded to ballot for Mr. William Henry Knill-Abell, Mr. Thomas Knill-Abell, Mr. Charles Edward Hodsdon, Mr. James Causton, Mr. Louis Carl Beckmann, and Mr. George Evans, which resulted in their favour; the first five candidates being present, were initiated into the mysteries of ancient Freemasonry. Four brethren were also elected as joining members. On the W.M. rising several names were proposed as candidates for initiation and for joining at the next meeting. The lodge was then closed and adjourned to the second Thursday in May, and the brethren proceeded to an excellent banquet, provided by Bro. Bell, at which the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given by the W.M. and heartily responded to by the brethren.

BATH.—Royal Cumberland Lodge (No. 41).—At the monthly meeting held at the Masonic Hall, on Thursday, April 6th, all the officers attended punctually, namely, Bros. Brown, W.M.; F. Wilkinson, S.W.; Falkner, J.W.; Wilton, P.M., Dir. Cer.; Ashley, P.M., Treas.; C. Wilkinson, Sec.; Braham, S.D.; Denham, J.D.; Gummer, I.G.; Hunt and Radway, Stewards. Besides these there were Past Masters Cooper, Moutrie, Rubie, Mann, Dr. Hopkins, P.M. 43 and 958, and a few members; also as visitors from No. 53, Walker W.M.; Col. Ford, P.M.; Rev.—Martin, P.M.; Rolfe, Willson, and Summison; from No. 379, G. H. Cook, W.M.; Dickenson, Sec.; and Bush; from No. 906, Keene, P.M.; Howes, Dingle, Pinkett. The lodge was opened at quarter to eight, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The Treasurer's accounts were presented and passed, and a printed copy was given to each member. A favourable ballot was taken for the re-admission of Bro. Robert Cook as a joining member. Bro. Falkner presented the report of the committee appointed to endeavour to make arrangements for the purchase of a new organ, which did not afford much hope of success. Mr. John A. Wheeler, who had been balloted for at a previous meeting, was admitted, and initiated by the W.M., the charge being admirably given by Bro. Cooper, and the working tools explained by the S.W. Bros. Meatyard and Mercer were examined as to their proficiency, of which they gave very satisfactory proof, entrusted, and dismissed for preparation. The lodge was opened in the Second Degree, to which on their re-admission the candidates were passed by the W.M., who again called on the S.W. to explain the working tools. The lodge having been resumed in the First Degree, was finally closed soon after ten o'clock.

LANCASTER.—Lodge of Fortitude (No. 281).—The usual monthly meeting of this lodge was held on Wednesday, at the Masonic Room, Athenæum. There was a very good attendance of the Craft, including several visiting brethren, the chair of K.S. being occupied by the W.M., Bro. Thomas Atkinson. The lodge having been opened in the First Degree with solemn prayer, the minutes of the preceding meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. John Thistlethwaite having been unanimously elected, was duly initiated into the mysteries of Freemasonry by the W.M., the working tools of an Entered Apprentice being presented by the J.W. Bro. Dr. J. D. Moore, P.G.S.B. England, then gave a lecture on the First Tracing Board, which was listened to with much attention by those present. At the close a hearty vote of thanks was accorded Bro. Moore, and suitably acknowledged. The usual proclamations were made, and the lodge was closed with the formalities of the Craft.

BATH.—Lodge of Honour (No. 379).—The last meeting of the season was held at the Masonic Hall on Monday, April 10th, at 8 p.m. Several officers were unable to attend, owing to illness or absence from home. Those present were Bros. Cook, W.M.; Gore, S.W.; H. Culliford Hopkins, J.W.; Dickenson, Sec.; Gazdard, Tyler; also J. S. Bartrum, P.M. Bro. Dr. Hopkins, P.M. 43 and 958, acted as I.P.M.; C. A. Bush, P.M., and D.C.; C. Collus, as S.D.; H. G. Bush, 379, as J.D.; Howes, 906, as I.G.; Reeves, P.M. 906, as Org. There were many visitors present, among them Bros. Brown, W.M. 41; Simmons, P.M. 53; Col. Ford, P.M. 53; Cooper, P.M. 41. After the lodge had been opened the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. A ballot was taken for Mr. H. W. Baldwin as a candidate for initiation, under dispensation, which was unanimously favourable. He was in attendance, as was also Mr. T. Johnston, previously balloted for. Bro. Dr. Hopkins, P.P.G.S.W., then took the chair at the request of the W.M., and performed the ceremony of initiation, afterwards calling upon Bro. Cooper to give the charge, who discharged the duty in his usual impressive manner, and upon the J.W. to deliver the lecture on the Tracing Board, which he did for the first time, and acquitted himself admirably. A vote of thanks was passed to the visitors for their attendance, and specially to those who had rendered assistance in working the ceremony, which was duly acknowledged. No other business offering, the lodge was closed at ten o'clock, and the brethren separated, not to meet again till November.

CANPORE.—Lodge of Harmony (No. 438).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held on the 6th March in the Freemasons' Hall. Bro. C. Burbidge presided, and was supported by Bros. Bedford, P.M.; Eastaway, S.W.; Littlewood, J.W.; Ward, S.D.; Wilson, J.D.; Coles, I.G.; Tumber, Organist; and a good number of members. The visitors were Bros. T. Deek, 563; J. Macpherson, 391; A. E. Linton, 1210; G. Noble, 1210; and E. Boare, 5. The lodge was opened in the First Degree, and the minutes of previous meeting read and confirmed. The lodge was then passed to the Second Degree, when Bro. Logie was entrusted with it. The lodge was then raised to the Sublime Degree, when Bros. H. Burton and A. Burton were brought forward to receive it, which was given with great effect by the worthy R.W.M. This brought the business of the evening to a close. The lodge was then closed in due and ancient form and the brethren adjourned to a good supper, to which the visitors were, as is usual with this most hospitable lodge, especially invited. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were then duly honoured. The R.W.M. then proposed "The Health of Bro. P.M. Bedford," who is, he was sorry to say, leaving the station; he has been a member of this lodge for the last nine years. Bro. Bedford responded at some length. He said that it was true he would be absent in person, but his thoughts would often wander to Lodge Harmony and the many pleasant evenings he had spent there. The brethren then separated after spending a very agreeable evening.

RUNCORN.—Ellesmere Lodge (No. 758).—The usual monthly meeting of this now prosperous lodge was held in the Freemasons' Hall on the evening of Wednesday, April 6th, 1876. The lodge was opened in due form by the W.M., Bro. Edward Aston, at 6.30. The following officers and others were present:—Bros. James Warburton, S.W.; W. Wass, J.W.; Charles Gerrard, S.D.; J. Cox-shill, J.D.; William Lyon, Treas.; George Moss, Sec.; Thomas Gregson, Org.; William Mellor, I.G.; George Purver, Tyler; Robert Rigby, I.P.M.; C. C. Simson, P.M.; J. Fothergill, P.M.; Thomas Kingston; J. Couth, J. W. Lightburn, John L. Jones, and others. Visiting brethren: Bros. J. K. Diggs, W.M. of St. John's, 673; John Pemberton, P.G., S.W.L., and P.M. of Lodge 1264. The minutes of the March meeting having been read and confirmed, the W.M., assisted by his officers, passed Bro. John James Waterworth to the Fellow Craft Degree, after which Bro. James Collier was examined in the former degree, and having answered satisfactory, was raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason. Bro. Jonathan Wilson having been proposed as a joining member, was balloted for, and unanimously elected. Bros. W. Wass, J.W., and W. Millor, I.G., proposed and seconded Mr. Charles Rigby as eligible to become a member. Other important business being done, the lodge closed in harmony at nine o'clock.

PLUMSTEAD.—Pattison Lodge (No. 913).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Lord Raglan on Thursday, the 6th inst., Bro. A. Penfold, W.M., in the chair, supported by the following officers:—J. McDougall, I.P.M.; C. Coupland, P.M., and P.G.S. Kent; T. Smith, P.M., and P. Prov. G.P. Kent; C. Ellis, P.M.; J. Henderson, P.M.; W. T. Vincent, S.W.; H. J. Butter, J.W.; A. Jessup, Treas.; E. Denton, P.M. and Sec.; J. D. Hayes, S.D.; J. Chapman, I.G.; and R. Lister, Tyler. Among the visitors were H. Carnelly, W.M. 13; J. Rowland, P.M. 700; W. Weston, S.W. 1536; G. Spinks, J.W. 1536; H. S. Syer, Sec. 13; J. Warren, J.D. 700; J. Cavit, 147; H. Bryson, 700; T. W. Virgo, 700; J. Plume, 1472; W. Topp, 879; A. Cleese, 13; B. Pilcher, 1472; and others. Lodge having been opened in due form and with prayer, the ballot was taken for Mr. F. Hayward, and after approval he and Mr. D. Davis, who was already balloted for, were regularly initiated into Freemasonry. Bros. Upperton and Mitchell were passed, and Bros. Anderson, Read, and Long were raised in their several degrees, the impressive ceremonies being beautifully rendered by Bro. Penfold. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren and visitors adjourned to supper and refreshments, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts being put by the W.M. in his own choice and pithy manner. Some excellent singing enlivened the proceedings, and altogether a most enjoyable evening was spent by the brethren.

FLEETWOOD.—Hesketh Lodge (No. 950).—The annual meeting for the installation of W.M. was held on the 18th inst. in the Masonic room. About 40 members of the Craft were present. Bro. Captain Jameson, W.M., presided, and the lodge was opened in the First Degree with solemn prayer. The usual formalities of the Craft having been gone through, Bro. Dr. Orr, P.M., took the W.M.'s chair, and the brethren below the rank of Master having retired, Bro. William Stewardson, J.W. (Lancaster) was duly installed into the chair of King Solomon, the ceremony of installation being impressively gone through by Bro. Orr. The members having been re-admitted, the newly-installed W.M. was honoured with the customary salutes, and received the congratulations of the brethren present. The W.M. then proceeded to elect his officers, who were inducted into their respective chairs by Bro. Orr, as follows:—Bros. Henry Rawes, S.W.; Capt. Leeming, J.W.; R. Robinson, S.D.; John Wilson, Lancaster, J.D.; Richard Charnley, I.G.; John Gibson, Treas.; — Hall, Sec.; and James, Gibson, O.G. In the course of the proceedings, the newly-installed Master was presented with a beautiful collar by the retiring P.M., Bro. Capt. Jameson. The lodge was then closed in the manner peculiar to the Craft, and the brethren adjourned from labour to refreshment. The installation banquet was held at the house of Bro. Foster, the Crown Hotel, where an attractive bill of fare was provided. The dinner was carefully served, and gave complete satisfaction to all who had the pleasure of partaking of it. Bro. Stewardson, the W.M., occupied the post of honour, and was supported by Bros. Captain and Adj. Whitehead, Capt. Smith, Foster, Dr. Orr, Captain Leeming, Capt. Jameson. The S.W., Bro. H. Rawes, officiated as Grouper in the west, and was ably supported by the brethren around him. On the removal of the cloth, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to. The proceedings were worked with the greatest unanimity, and the installation meeting, and its attendant banquet, were fittingly brought to a close by the time-honoured Tyler's toast.

WELCHPOOL.—Welchpool Lodge (No. 998).—On Friday, the 31st ult. (the twelfth anniversary of this lodge) the brethren assembled to celebrate the Festival of St. John the Evangelist, amongst whom were Bros. Robinson, D.P. Owen, P.M.; W. Callender, I.P.M.; W. Withy, P.M.; F. Britton, W.M., P.M. 850, P.P.G.J.W. of Derbyshire; T. McGrath, S.W.; T. R. Morris, J.W.; G. Brown, S.D.; T. Richards, I.G.; J. Dainly, H. R. Gilbank, J. H. Anderson, R. Parry, J. Owen, E. Owen, A. Ikin, W. E. Rider, J. Barnard, Tyler. The lodge was opened by Bro. Britton, W.M., at 3.30 p.m., when the customary business was disposed of. The Treasurer's balance sheet was presented and read, which was received with great favour by the brethren, there being a larger balance than the lodge had ever had before in its favour. The W.M. afterwards announced that the installation of the W.M. would be immediately proceeded with, when Bro. Callender, I.P.M., presented Bro. Thomas Rowley Morris, the W.M. elect, and Bro. F. Britton, W.M., performed the ceremony in an impressive manner, assisted by Bro. D. P. Owen, P.M. The W.M. then invested his officers for the ensuing year as follows:—Bros. F. Britton, I.P.M.; G. Brown, S.W.; J. Sides Davies, J.W.; D. P. Owen, P.M., Sec.; W. Withy, P.M., Treas. (while in. vesting this officer the Installing Master presented No. 998 with the badge for this office); T. McGrath, D.C.; J. Daisly, S.D.; H. R. Gilbank, J.D.; J. H. Anderson, I.G.; J. Barnard, Tyler. Before closing the lodge the W.M. said that he had the pleasure to present the I.P.M. with a Past Master's jewel given by the lodge, which was duly acknowledged. The jewel presented is a work of art, both chaste and beautiful; has the words "Welchpool Lodge, No. 998," on the front, and on the reverse is engraved as follows:—"Presented by the Welchpool Lodge, No. 998, to Bro. Frederick Britton, P.M., to mark the efficient manner in which he discharged the duties of W.M. AD. 1875-6." The business being completed, the lodge was closed according to ancient custom, and the brethren adjourned to a splendid banquet. After supper the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to, interspersed with songs, after which the evening was brought to a close by the time-honoured toast, "To all Poor and Distressed Masons."

SOUTHEND.—Priory Lodge (No. 1000).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Middleton Hotel, Southend, on Thursday, the 6th inst. The lodge was summoned for six o'clock p.m., and shortly after that time was opened by the W.M., Bro. Dr. E. E. Phillips, P.M. 379, supported by the following officers and brethren:—Bros. A. Lucking, P.M. 160, and Prov. A.G. D.C. I.P.M.; Rev. S. R. Wigram, P.M. and P.Z. 214, Grand Chaplain, S.W.; W. Frost, J.W.; F. Wood, P.M., P. Prov. S.G.W., Treas.; J. A. Wardell, P.M. 160 and 1000, P. Prov. G.D., Sec.; J. R. Hemmann, P.M., Prov. J.G.D., Org.; W. Chaplin, S.D.; W. P. Bellias, J.D.; W. Chignell, I.G.; J. Reeve, W.M. 260; Wallis, J. W. Allen, jun., S.D. 160; G. J. Glasscock; Rev. H. J. Hatch, S.W. 160, Prov. G. Chap.; W. Waterhouse, H. Hicks, B. Mackel, H. Luker, W. D. Merritt, C. Woosnam, F. Canter, F. V. Jillings, S.W. 160. Visitors: Bros. Sir Thos. Kirkpatrick, Batt., 957; E. C. Rylay, W. Pissey, P.M. 160, P. Prov. J.G.W.; Capt. D. L'Anderson; G. Soiling, 160, G. Goodman, 160; Dr. Grayson, 277. The lodge having been opened, and the minutes read and confirmed, the ballot was taken for Mr. George Frederick Wood as a candidate for initiation, which proved unanimous in his favour. Bro. P. Benton was then passed to the Second Degree, Bros. Rev. Hayes, H. Briggs, and W. H. Lockett raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason, and Mr. G. F. Wood into the mysteries of the Craft, the work being done in a masterly way by the W.M. The charge to the initiate was very impressively given by the S.W., Bro. Rev. S. R. Wigram. Bro. Rev. Hayes was then invested by the W.M. with the collar of Chaplain of the lodge. All Masonic business being ended, the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to supper. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and duly responded to. Some excellent harmony by Captain Dr. L'Anderson, and several others contributed to the pleasures of the evening.

LANCASTER.—Rowley Lodge (No. 1051).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Rooms, Athenæum, on the 3rd inst., Bro. Longman, the W.M., presiding. The lodge having been opened in due form, the minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. There being no business of importance before the lodge, it merged into instruction, with Bro. Dr. J. D. Moore, P.G.S.B. Eng., as Preceptor, and a very instructive evening was spent by those present.

MANCHESTER.—Derby Lodge (No. 1055).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held at the Knowsley Hotel, Cheetham, on Thursday the 13th inst. The lodge was opened by the W.M., Bro. R. Hankinson, P.P.G. Reg., at 4 o'clock. The minutes were read and confirmed, and the balance sheet was submitted and passed. The W.M. Elect, Bro. E. Griffith Hughes, was installed in the chair of King Solomon by Bro. T. H. Glendining, P.M., assisted by Bro. Sillitoe, P.M. 317, who also invested the following officers:—viz., Bros. A. Turner, S.W.; J. Pollitt, J.W.; J. West, P.M.; Treas.; Bradshaw, Sec.; F. Thompson, P.M., D.C.; J. Boulton, S.D.; Robinson, J.D.; Morrison, I.G.; Pope and Williamson, Stewards; and Marshall, Tyler. The addresses to the W.M., Wardens, and brethren were impressively delivered by Bro. Freeman, P.M., about sixty members and visitors being present. After the lodge was closed, the brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet, provided in the well-known style of the host, Bro. Bremnell, which was presided over by Bro. Hughes, W.M. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured. The toast of the evening, viz., "The W.M." was proposed by the I.P.M. in a very complimentary speech, and met with a very hearty and enthusiastic reception. Other toasts were also ably proposed and responded to. During the evening Bros. Lovatt and W. Dumville (of the cathedral choir), and Bro. Bednal sang some excellent songs and glees, and Bro. Jarrett amused the brethren with some choice comic songs. The meeting dispersed about 10.30 after spending a pleasant evening.

DERBY.—Hartington Lodge (No. 1085).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Gower-street, Derby, on Wednesday, April 5th. Present: Bros. S. Pipes, W.M.; J. Worsnop, I.P.M.; W. Heathcote, S.W.; J. Gadsby, J.W.; M. H. Bobart, Treas.; G. Pipes, Sec.; J. Hills, S.D.; J. Heathcote, J.D.; J. Shaw, D. of C.; J. H. Biggs, I.G.; G. F. Edwards, Org.; T. Slinn, Tyler; Steele, Parkins, Manton, Frazer, Hextall, Butterfield, Russell, and Whales. Visitors: Bros. McCoombe, W.M. 731; Dunsford, King Alfred Lodge, 306, Leeds; T. Merry, Whittaker, Knight, 731. The lodge was opened at 7.45. After the minutes had been read and confirmed the ballot was taken for Mr. George Johnson, coal proprietor, who was duly elected. Bro. Pakeman was duly passed to the Second Degree. Mr. Geo. Hill, iron founder, was duly initiated into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry by the W.M. Mr. John Lane, engineer, Derby, was proposed as a candidate for Freemasonry. After the W.M. had received the hearty good wishes of several of the brethren the lodge was closed, after which the brethren adjourned to supper, when a very pleasant and enjoyable evening was spent.

LAGOS (S.W. Africa).—Lagos Lodge (No. 1171).—The annual festival and installation of this lodge in Lagos, Western Africa, was held on Monday, the 27th December, at the Freemasons' Hall, Broad-street, Bro. Robert Campbell W.M., presiding. The minutes of the previous meeting being read and confirmed, Bro. Charles Dennett Torton, W.M. elect, was then presented by Bro. Frank Simpson, P.M., to the Installing Master for installation. The ceremony of installation having been impressively performed, the new W.M. invested Bros. Robert Campbell, I.P.M.; Charles Pike, S.W.; Robert Knight Bousfield, J.W.; Rev. Valentine Faulkner, Chap.; George Smith, Sec.; Americo Jacinto Rodrigues, S.D.; William Meyer, J.D.; Jose Augusto Ribeiro, D.C.; Thomas J. Whittington, I.G.; John Smith and Adolphe Bell, Stwds. The lodge was closed at the conclusion of business and the brethren adjourned to the banquet. To the pleasures of this upwards of twenty-five brethren sat down to enjoy the many delicacies which had been so carefully provided by the exertions of Bros. Carrena and Ribeiro. The W.M. gave the toasts of "The Queen," "Bro. Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M.," "The Princess of Wales and the rest of the Royal Family," and "The Right Honourable the Earl of Carnarvon, M.W. Pro Grand Master," the last toast being responded to by his Excellency Bro. John D. A. Dumaresq, No. 784, who referred to the valuable services his lordship had rendered to the cause of Masonry. The W.M. then proposed "The Health of His Excellency Bro. Dumaresq," stating that it gave the members great pleasure to welcome him at their annual festival and it rejoiced all present to see him take so warm an interest in this lodge and Masonic work generally. His Excellency after thanking the brethren for their good feeling towards him, and wishing the lodge a continuance of its prosperity, proposed "The Health of the W.M.," adding he had much pleasure in congratulating the brethren of the lodge in having secured so able and popular a brother as the W.M. to preside over them, and from his official knowledge of him he felt sure the brethren could not have elected one who would show more zeal for the work committed to his care, for this lodge and Masonry generally. The W.M. thanked the brethren for the manner in which the toast had been received, and hoped his year's services in the chair would justify the confidence reposed in him. The earnest zeal of the brethren of his mother lodge, No. 823, had animated him with a desire to emulate them in this new country, and it gave him much pleasure to say that he found the brethren here willing and determined to help him. His Excellency, Bro. Dumaresq, then proposed "The Health of the Installing Master and Past Masters," stating that he had been informed how much the lodge was indebted to their untiring zeal for its success. In an unhealthy climate like Lagos, Europeans were obliged to leave the country frequently to save their lives, and this naturally must make it a work of great difficulty to secure brethren capable of performing the duties efficiently. He understood that the Past Masters who had been associated with the lodge from its commencement had by their energy successfully overcome every obstacle, and placed Masonry in such a position in the country that could not but be gratifying to all who had its welfare at heart. He hoped they might long be spared so that the lodge might have a continuance of their valuable services. Bro. Robt. Campbell, Installing Master, thanked the brethren for the hearty manner in which the toast had been received, and he could only say that he never felt happier than when Masonry was prospering, as he took a great interest in the Craft. He saw the lodge improving daily, and he hoped he would long be able to take the same active part in its management as he had always done. Bro. Frank Simpson, P.M., in acknowledging the compliment for the Past Masters could only say that his efforts of late had been principally in the financial direction, as no lodge could prosper if it was in debt. They had over £400 in hand, which would be appropriated to the erection of a new Masonic Hall when the sum was sufficiently large to cover the expenditure of such a work. He always had been proud of this lodge, which was the pioneer of Masonry in this part of Africa, and he knowing the vast amount of work to be done could but be gratified at the success which had attended it. "The Officers of the Lodge" were acknowledged by the J.W., "The Visiting Brethren" by Bro. Senhor Godinto, Lodge Irmao de Caridade, Bahai, "The Ladies" by Bro. Meyer, and the banquet was brought to a close by the Tyler's toast. Owing to the forethought of Bro. Meyer, who is noted for his musical talent, the band of the Houssa armed police, by kind permission of Bro. H. H. Graves, Assistant Inspector Gold Coast Constabulary, played suitable airs between each toast, and several brethren exhibited their musical talent, which added much enjoyment to the evening.

LIVERPOOL.—Fermor Hesketh Lodge (No. 1350).—The usual monthly meeting of this lodge was held on Monday evening, the 10th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Liverpool, the proceedings being of more than ordinary interest and novelty. Bro. Dr. J. M. Bennett, W.M., occupied his position in the E., and amongst those present were Bros. J. Higson Johnston, P.M.; Dr. A. Samuels, P.M.; T. A. Collinson, P.M., Treas.; Dr. Crawford, P.M.; R. Collinson, S.W.; W. H. Cooper, J.W.; Cooper, J.D.; Evans, I.G.; Gilrour, S.S.; Kaye, J.S.; and Titherly. The visitors included Bro. Dr. Stephens, P. Prov. J.G.D.; Bro. T. Platt, P. Prov. J.G.D. Cheshire; and Bro. Dr. Bailey, 786. After the First and Second Degrees had been given, and certain formal business had been transacted, Bro. Collinson, I.P.M., presented the W.M. with a very chaste and handsome silver cup, subscribed for by members of the lodge, as a kind of congratulatory offering in connection with a certain recent and interesting event, when another child was added to his family. Bro. Collinson referred in felicitous terms to the happy event, and cordially wished Bro. Dr. Bennett, the W.M., sincere happiness along with his wife and family. Bro. J. Higson Johnston, P.M., also spoke in connection with the presentation, stating that the lodge was now in a prosperous condition, and hoped it would long continue so. Bro. Dr. Bennett, W.M., said he had been quite taken by surprise, as he had not the remotest idea such a presentation was to be made. He thanked the brethren for their kind recognition of the happy event, and he was quite sure his wife, along with himself, would be delighted at the kindly feeling thus displayed by the brethren of the lodge. Refreshments were subsequently served in an adjoining room, and a very pleasant evening was spent.

VALPARAISO.—Lodge of Harmony (No. 1411).—On Friday, 14th January, 1876, this lodge met in their hall in the Calle de Elias, for the purpose of installing the W.M. for the ensuing year. There was a good attendance of members, and a very numerous assemblage of visitors from the different sister lodges. The installation ceremony was performed in a most effective manner by Bro. W. R. Betterley, P.G.P. Staffordshire, W.M. 1551, after which the W.M., Bro. George Jenkins, was saluted by the members in each degree, and received the hearty good wishes of the visitors present. The appointment and investment of the officers next took place as follows:—Bros. J. B. Bughe, I.P.M.; J. Barnett, S.W.; G. H. Hodgkinson, J.W.; J. G. Rowe, Treas.; G. R. Gepp, Sec.; W. D. Vaughan, D.C.; C. D. Rowe, S.D.; Charles Lewis, J.D.; T. M. Mole, I.G.; G. Crisp, S.S.; G. B. Barnett, J.S.; Rev. John Rowe, Chaplain. Before the lodge was closed Bro. Trumbull, Chaplain Bethesda Lodge, made a most impressive appeal to the brethren on behalf of the Blas Cuevas Schools, which he had lately had an opportunity of visiting, and becoming convinced not only of the excellent administration of their present master, but also of the great amount of good these schools were effecting. All business being ended, the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the banquet, where the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and enthusiastically received.

PLUMSTEAD.—United Military Lodge (No. 1536).—The above lodge held an emergency meeting on Monday, the 10th inst., in consequence of Good Friday falling upon their usual meeting night, and the attendance of both brethren and visitors must have been most gratifying to the esteemed W.M., Bro. F. G. Pownall, Bro. Plisted's fine room being nearly double lined with Masons good and true. The visitors included Bros. C. Coupland, P.G.S. Kent, and P.M. 913; A. Penfold, W.M. 913; T. Butt, S.W. 700; C. Cooke, Org. 700 and 13; H. S. Syer, Sec. 13; T. Hutton, 13; O. Hutton, 13; B. Norman, 13; C. W. Crews, 13; T. W. Robinson, 13; T. E. Hassell, 13; T. Huntingford, 13; G. W. Mitchell, 700; F. Lyons, 913 and 700; R. Beaver, 700; G. Beaver, 700; Fisher, 700; J. W. Weill, 1331; W. Lennox, 273; Joskey, 1107; E. Humphreys, 1066; R. Fletcher, 1066; C. Morris, 1331; J. Richards, 1326; A. Upperton, 913; E. Hughes, 913; and C. Jolly, 913. The officers present beside the W.M. were W. Weston, S.W.; G. Spinks, J.W.; W. Murphy, Treas.; T. Cooper, Sec.; H. G. Picken, S.D.; R. Lapham, I.G.; J. McCaffery, Steward; and J. Lackland, O.G. Bro. Croisdale, P.M. 706, was I.P.M. The business before the lodge was the balloting for of Sergeant W. A. Watkins, R.A., who after approval was duly initiated into the Craft. Bros. W. Taylor and G. Harris were then passed to the Second Degree, the working of both degrees by Bro. Pownall was most excellent. It was then put and carried, that the election of W.M. take place in June instead of May, and that the bye-laws be amended accordingly, and after the proposal of three candidates, the lodge was duly closed. After refreshment the W.M. gave the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, that of "H. R.H. the Prince of Wales and G.M. of England," who, the W.M. said, had done good service in India, and who he hoped, as had been suggested at Grand Lodge, would receive a truly Masonic welcome back to his native land, was most warmly received. In proposing the toast of "Lord Holmesdale, P.G.M. Kent, and the rest of the P.G. Officers," the W.M. said he hoped Bro. P.M. Coupland would tell the P.G.M. something of the real position and standing of the lodge, so that they might understand the great increase in its numbers and strength since the time of its consecration nine months ago. At the consecration of a new military lodge he had had the pleasure of attending in London a short time ago, Bro. Simpson, P.G.C. of England, had spoken warningly of indiscriminate admissions to the Craft, and it might be thought in the province that they were increasing in numbers without regard to those qualifications, both social and moral, without which no one should be admitted to the Order; but Bro. Coupland could see by the members present what the lodge was composed of, and their numbers would be accounted for by the admission of joining members who were continually arriving at the garrison from Canada, India, the Mediterranean, and other parts of Her Majesty's dominions. He felt proud to say that the initiates and former members were one and all an honour to both the lodge and the Craft. He coupled with the toast the name of Bro. P.M. Coupland, of the Pattison Lodge. Bro. Coupland, in the course of an eloquent reply, bore his testimony to the excellent character of the lodge, and should be proud to see the Worshipful Master some day taking a position in the province, such as his zeal and ability in Masonry, so well qualified him for. He quite agreed with Bro. Pownall as to the too lax manner in which members were admitted to Masonry; no one, in his opinion, should be admitted unless he occupied a good position in life and was of good moral character. Just at present there was quite a rage for Masonry, and many young men, who could by any means save a few pounds, were, he thought, too readily admitted to membership, and having no sound position in life, too often became claimants for Masonic charity; this he thought should not be, but unfortunately it was so in some lodges. The United Military Lodge it was, however, he believed, placed upon a sound foundation in that respect, for all its members were in such positions as to be a credit to the Craft, and the W.M. might be sure that the Provincial Grand Master and officers should know the excellence in the lodge, both in its working and members. Bro. P.M. Croisdale eloquently proposed "The Health of the W.M.," who he declared had won the good opinion and esteem of every brother, both of that and neighbouring lodges, and had by his energy placed the lodge upon a sure and sound basis, making it known among them all for its efficiency in working, and he trusted that his example would yet have the effect of making it the home of loyalty, charity, and efficiency for the brethren, who, for years to come might seek shelter within its ranks. He gave with great pleasure "The Health of Bro. Pownall." Bro. Pownall briefly replied, saying, his desire was to make the lodge second to none in the province. "The Initiate" was toasted, as were "The Visitors" and "Officers." Bros. Hughes and Price replying for the former, and Bro. Weston for the latter. Bro. Knight, who is about leaving England for St. Helena, was kindly toasted, "God speed" being wished him, and after a reply from him the Tyler's toast concluded the pleasures of the evening.

GREAT STANMORE.—Abercorn Lodge (No. 1549).—The second season of this thriving summer lodge was commenced very favourably on the 4th inst. in the presence of the following officers and brethren:—R. Helsdon, P.M. 133, W.M.; J. W. Garrod, S.W.; Joshua Nunn, P.M. 134, P.G.S.B.; J.W.S.; C. Veal, P.M. 889, P.P. G.S.D. Surrey, Hon. Sec.; G. Tidcombe, S.D.; J. Patterson, J.D.; H. L. Winter, Org.; J. Ebbs, acting I.G. Bros. Eversden, Best, Lloyd, Linton, Vincent, Roy, H. T. Swatton, and visitor Bro. C. Long, I.G. 753. The lodge was opened by the W.M. with solemn prayer at 4.15. The minutes of last meeting were then duly confirmed, and the ballot having been announced unanimous Mr. E. G. Swatton was impressively admitted to the First Degree. The ballot was also favourable for admission as joining members of Bro. J. Ebbs, 733, and R. Ray, 188. On the W.M. making the usual enquiries for the good of the Craft, the Hon. Secretary read a letter from Bro. J. Holden, S.D., tendering his resignation through inability to attend, which was accepted with regret, the brethren also decided to apply, through the R.W., Provincial Grand Master, for permission to wear a founder's jewel in commemoration of the consecration of the lodge in June last. Several minor matters were then disposed of. One joining member and one initiate were announced for next meeting in May, and the lodge was closed in perfect harmony at 5.45. An enjoyable evening and banquet, to which many musical brethren ably contributed very effectively closed the proceedings.

MORECAMBE.—Morecambe Lodge (No. 1561).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held on the 7th inst., at their lodge-room in Morecambe-street, Bro. Dr. Moore, P.G.S.B. of England, the W.M., occupying the chair of King Solomon. There was a good attendance of brethren. The lodge was opened in the First Degree with solemn prayer, and the minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. W. Stephenson, having given proficiency as an Entered Apprentice, retired, and the lodge was raised to the Second Degree, and Bro. Stephenson, having been re-admitted, was duly passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. The lodge was then resumed in the First Degree, and Messrs. Robert Gregson (Preston), John Gatt, W. W. Wilde, and John Hutton duly initiated into the mysteries of the Craft, the ceremony of initiation being ably performed by the W.M., and Bro. Hatch (I.P.M. 281), and Bro. Bradshaw, (P.M. 1051), respectively; the working tools being presented by the Junior Warden. The Worshipful Master then submitted a code of bye-laws for the government of the lodge, which were subsequently adopted with but few minor alterations. Some other business having been transacted, the lodge was closed in due form with the peculiarities of the Craft.

PUTNEY.—Royal Commemoration Lodge (No. 1585).—The first meeting of this new lodge since its consecration—which ceremony was fully reported in our issue of the 25th ult., and in which report by a clerical error the name of Bro. Joseph Smith, P.M., was inserted as Installed Master instead of Bro. Joseph Wright—was held at the Star and Garter Hotel, on the 5th inst. The lodge was opened at five o'clock by the following officers:—Bros. Joseph Wright, P.M. 1158, W.M.; Robinson, S.W.; Collins, D.C., acting J.W. In the unavoidable absence of Bro. Watson; Morphey, S.D.; Holland, J.D.; Boehr, I.G.; Smith, P.M. Royal Arthur, Sec.; Pulsford, P.M. and Secretary 1158, acting I.P.M.; Stacey, P.M., P.P.G.R. Berks and Bucks, acting Organist. The minutes of the consecration meeting having been read and confirmed, the W.M., with the assistance of his officers, initiated Messrs. Mansell, Harrison, Cook, Russell, and Hatfield into Craft mysteries, the ceremony being most ably carried out. Bro. Holland, of 1206, was unanimously admitted a joining member, and Bros. Silcock and Franks, 862, and Bemish, 1044, proposed as joining members. Other propositions having been taken, the lodge was closed in due form, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent repast. The other visitors present besides Bros. Stacey and Pulsford were Bros. Howick, P.M. 1044; Walls, S.D. 1381, &c.; and Franks 862. Upon the removal of the cloth the W.M. gave the customary loyal and Masonic toasts, prefaced by a few well chosen and appropriate remarks, and at his request Bro. Walls contributed the National Anthem and Brinley Richards' popular ode. The W.M. in proposing "The Health of the Visitors" alluded to the vast number that had honoured the lodge by their presence on the day of its consecration, and he was pleased to see that the majority of the visitors then present (April 5th) were also in attendance on that auspicious occasion, and in conclusion he trusted that, although that evening he had not been to entertain them so well at the banquetting table as he had endeavoured to do on the opening day, their visit had been in every way satisfactory to them. This toast having been duly honoured, Bro. Walls said that by the request of some distinguished Past Masters on his right he had been requested to return thanks for the compliment passed to the visitors, but he wished that the honour had fallen into better hands. He then went on to state that he had had opportunities of witnessing the work of the W.M. in another lodge, which he characterised as being almost faultless. It was also a very gratifying circumstance and a very good augury of future prosperity for the Royal Commemoration Lodge that on their first regular meeting they should have had six candidates present for initiation, one of whom, however, was necessarily compelled to be disappointed, and in conclusion the speaker stated that, on behalf of his co-visitors and himself, he wished to assure the members of 1585 that their visit had in every way been satisfactory and most pleasant to them, and he congratulated the lodge upon having so experienced, zealous and able a first Master as Bro. Joseph Wright. In giving "The Health of the Initiates" the W.M. expressed himself highly pleased with the five gentlemen who had offered themselves that evening as candidates for the secrets and mysteries of their ancient Order. With regard to the gentleman that had been disappointed, he hoped that he, together with several others would have an opportunity of "seeing the light" at a very early date. In conclusion, the W.M. said he felt confident from the attention that the newly-made brethren had given throughout the entire trying ceremony that they would eventually become good and worthy Masons. This toast having been drunk the initiates acknowledged the compliment that had been paid to them, and each stated the deep impression that the ceremony had made upon him. Bro. Pulsford, P.M., then rose to propose a toast, which, according to accustomed Masonic usage, ought to have been given earlier in the evening, namely, "The Health of the W.M." In the course of a few happy remarks, the speaker spoke of Bro. Wright's labours in Freemasonry, and called the brethren's attention to the fact that when acting as Steward on behalf of the Southern Star at the last festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, that his list (the W.M.'s) was one of the best, and that the sum was expressed by three figures. In conclusion, Bro. Pulsford said that if he were capable of speaking for hours he could not sum up or do justice to all the good Masonic and other qualities that their W.M. possessed. This toast having been heartily drunk, the W.M. briefly replied by stating that he felt exceedingly pleased at the manner in which his name had been mentioned that evening, but he must say that both Bros. Pulsford and Walls had given him more praise than was his due. It was true that he had given up a great deal of his time in order to perfect himself in Masonic working, and he wished on that occasion to acknowledge that his endeavours in that respect had been greatly aided by the worthy brother who had just proposed his health; yet he considered that merely a personal duty, and one that every Mason who aspired to the chair should cheerfully undertake. With respect to what had been stated about his poor services at the last Boys' Festival, he desired to state that he considered it also the duty of every Mason to increase the funds of those truly noble charities connected with the Craft, and if he had been able to produce a satisfactory list on behalf of one of those institutions, yet the brethren must remember that his exertions would have been of little avail unless assisted by the philanthropy of his friends and brethren. "The Health of the Secretary and Treasurer" followed, and was responded to by the Secretary, Bro. Smith, P.M., upon behalf of the Treasurer (Bro. Watkins, P.M.) and himself, in a witty and able speech. The toast of "The Officers" came next, and having been duly honoured elicited a very excellent response from the S.W., Bro. Robinson. The proceedings were enlivened by vocal contributions from Bros. Morphey, Walls, Cook, and others, and the Tyler having been called upon to discharge his duty, the brethren separated until October next.

Royal Arch.

DOMATIC CHAPTER (No. 177).—The last convocation of this well-known chapter was held at Anderson's Hotel, on the 23rd ult. This being the night of installation of Comp. Hayward there were a goodly number of companions present. The chapter was opened by Comps. Bolton, M.E.; Hayward, H.; Cottebrune, P.Z., acting J.; Palmer, S.E.; Hill, S.N.; Lawrence, 1st A.S.; Harrison, 2nd A.S.; Buss, P.Z., Treas. The other P.Z.'s present were Comps. T. Adams, Wilson, Cubitt, Coutts, Simmonds, Sutton, Gilbert. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the report of the auditors, Comps. Sullivan, Foxcroft, and Clarke, was received and adopted. The installation ceremony was then most ably worked by Comp. T. Adams, P.Z. The officers were next inducted, with the exception of the following, who were unavoidably absent:—Comps. Scott, H.; Weaver, J.; and Treadwell, P.S. Comp. Hayward, M.E., who it was evident was far from being well, having requested the I.P.Z. to take the chair, Bro. Drew, P.M., was exalted to the S.D. of the R.A., in a manner that left little to be desired. Comp. Clarke having given a notice of motion that the services of Comp. Palmer, the zealous and obliging S.E. of the chapter for the last four years, should be taken into consideration at the next meeting, with a view to present him with some mark of the chapter's esteem, the convocation was adjourned until the third Thursday in October next, and the companions repaired to the banquet, which was well served in the large hall. The visitors present were Comps. Nunn, P.Z. (Pannure); Stevens, P.Z. (Whittington); Swallow, H. 77; Scott, J. 77; Walls, (Jerusalem); Burford, (Belgrave), Kent. The cloth having been removed the M.E. gave the usual R.A. ceremonial toasts with commendable brevity. "The M.E.'s Health" having been duly proposed by Comp. Bolton, and responded to, the pleasing duty of presenting the I.P.Z. with a jewel—at the request of the M.E.—was performed by Comp. Cubitt, P.Z. He stated that he had known Comp. Bolton nearly fifty years, and he was extremely obliged to the M.E. in having allowed him to make the presentation to his dear old friend and companion. He then expatiated upon the services of the I.P.Z. to the chapter, and having pinned the very handsome jewel to the breast of Comp. Bolton, concluded his very excellent address by wishing him many years of health and happiness. Comp. Bolton having replied, "The Health of the Newly Exalted Comp. Drew" was proposed, and having been duly honoured was responded to by that companion most ably. "The Health of the Visitors" followed, and was acknowledged by Comps. Stevens, Burford, and Kent. The M.E. in proposing "The Health of the Past Principals of the Chapter" expressed his thanks to those worthy companions for the great assistance he had always received at their hands, and felt proud at occupying the chair which in the long history of the Domatic Chapter had had so many distinguished occupants. Comp. Buss, P.Z., replied in very excellent terms, in which he stated that he had been connected with the chapter for nearly twenty-five years, and was its senior member. He felt exceedingly proud that his name should have been coupled with the toast, and he hoped, by the blessings of Providence, to be spared many years yet to come to write himself Past Principal of the Domatic Chapter. "The Officers" toast having been proposed and drunk, was briefly acknowledged by Comps. Hill, Palmer, and Lawrence. During the evening contributions of harmony were given by Comps. Palmer, Lawrence, Stevens, Scott, Walls, and others. The Janitor's toast brought the proceedings to a close at a comparatively early hour.

MOUNT LEBANON CHAPTER (No. 73).—The installation meeting of this chapter was held at the Bridge House Hotel, Borough, High-street, Southwark, on Thursday, April 13th, Comps. J. H. Button, M.E.Z.; H. A. Dubois, H.; J. W. Baldwin, J.; W. Smeed, P.Z.; T. J. Sabine, P.Z.; J. T. Moss, P.Z. F. Walters, P.Z., S.E., opened the chapter. The companions were admitted. The minutes were read and unanimously confirmed. Ballots were unanimous in favour of the seven candidates for exaltation. Comp. W. Smeed, P.Z., in a correct and impressive manner exalted Bros. H. Hand, 1017; J. Parsons, 871; H. Ireland, 87; and C. J. Strome, 298, S.C. He installed Comps. H. A. Dubois, M.E.Z.; J. W. Baldwin, H.; John Mason, J. The officers invested and appointed were T. J. Sabine, P.Z., Treas. (re-invested for the fourth time); F. Walters, P.Z., S.E. (re-invested for the 13th time); B. Isaacs, S.N.; F. C. Mason, P.S.; T. W. Adams, First A.S.; S. Frankenberg, Second A.S.; W. Y. Laing, Janitor. Many propositions were received of candidates for exaltation. The chapter was closed. Banquet and dessert followed. Visitor, Comp. T. E. Scott.

Scotland.

LAYING THE FOUNDATION STONE OF WORKING-MEN'S HOUSES AT CLYDEBANK.

The foundation-stone of the first of a series of buildings being erected at Clydebank, Dalmuir, by the Glasgow Working-Men's Investment and Building Society, was laid on Saturday afternoon, the 8th inst., with full Masonic honours, by the Provincial Grand Lodge of Dumbartonshire, in the presence of a large number of spectators.

At present the society, having secured three acres of land on the estate of Barns of Clyde, are constructing sixty-eight houses for the accommodation of the workmen employed in Messrs. Thomson's shipbuilding-yard, and have nearly finished twelve of the lot. Each tenement of two storeys contains four houses, giving three apartments, with a garden plot of 20 feet in front, and a kitchen garden to the back. It is proposed to charge £165 for each house, and to allow the workmen to pay this sum at any time within 21 years. The houses are provided with water from the Old Kilpatrick Waterworks, and with gas, while a good system of drainage has been made to the Clyde, which flows near at hand. The range of buildings has been erected under the superintendence of Mr. James Smith, the architect and building manager of the society.

At three o'clock in the afternoon the members of the Provincial Grand Lodge assembled in the Masonic Hall, Dalmuir, Bro. Sheriff William Cunningham Steele, P.G. S.W., presiding; J. McLeish, P.G.S.D., acting P.G.D.M.; A. Denny, P.G.J.W., acting P.G.S.M.; D. Paul, R.W.M. 170, acting P.G.S.W.; A. McGregor, P.G.S.S., acting P.G.J.W.; Rev. D. H. Wilson, P.G. Chap.; W. Ferguson, P.G.J.S., acting P.G. Sec.; R. Thomson, acting P.G. Treas.; P. Moir, P.G.B.B.; L. Leckie, R.W.M. 543, acting P.G.S.D.; J. Allan, B. 18, acting P.G.J.D.; J. F. Wilson, S.W. 543, acting P.G.S.S.; J. Muirhead, J.W., acting P.G.J.S.; W. Cameron, R.W.M. 28; and Mair, Archt. 18, carrying working tools; Wiggins, P.G.I.G., and J. Kennedy, P.G. Tyler. Deputations were present from the following lodges, viz., St. John's, Glasgow, 33; Dumbarton Kilwinning, 18, headed by Bro. Barr, I.P.M.; St. John, Kirkintilloch, 28, headed by Bro. Cameron, R.W.M.; Thistle and Rose, Glasgow, 73, headed by Bro. Bannerman, D.M.; Leven St. John's, Renton, headed by 170, Bro. Paul, R.W.M.; St. Andrews, Bonhill and Alexandria, 321, headed by Bro. Stewart, R.W.M.; St. John's Dalmuir, 543, headed by Bro. Leckie, R.W.M.; Kenmuir Glasgow, 570, headed by Bro. Law, I.P.M.; Dramatic Glasgow, 571, headed by Bro. Dobson, R.W.M.; and Plantation, Glasgow, 581, headed by Bro. A. Gow, S.M. After the lodge had been opened the members walked in procession, headed by the 14th D.R.V. Band, to Clydebank.

Arrived at the platform beside the new buildings, the Freemasons took up their position round the foundation-stone, and the Rev. Bro. Wilson Renton, as Provincial Grand Chaplain, offered up prayer. Thereafter Bro. Sheriff Cunningham Steele, of Westonslee, Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Substitute Master, laid the stone with the ordinary ceremony.

Bro. Sheriff Steele then addressed the assembled company, and said it was exceedingly agreeable and pleasant to him to take part in a scheme of this kind, so pregnant with advantages to those whom they might call the working classes, but who were the stay and support of the nation, especially since the object of the society was to enable every man who had honourably, steadily, and industriously followed his vocation to find in his old age, or in his approach to old age, that he had the means of having a house. It gave one a status in the country, and he became a proprietor. No doubt the Savings Bank had done a great deal of good, but in this society there was a strong inducement held out to the working-man to deposit his money towards procuring a house. The society was founded in May, 1873, and had now no less than 760 members, with a subscribed capital of £59,750. One hundred and twenty houses had already been built, and out of these 96 had been sold at fair prices, while 65 houses were now being proceeded with.

Mr. Riddell, Secretary, read a letter of apology from the Rev. Dr. Bragg, Edinburgh, who apologised for his absence, and expressed the interest with which he had heard of the extension of the operations of the society. It was lamentable to hear, the rev. Doctor continued, of the difficulties and opposition which the working men met in their honourable and patriotic efforts to secure homes for themselves, and it was the interest of all classes to aid them in securing the removal of these difficulties. He was certain that when accurate statistics were taken it would be triumphantly proved that most of our social evils—crime, pauperism, intemperance, and disease—were directly and most favourably affected by making every man his own landlord, not to speak of higher and more important objects. Mr. Riddell further read a letter of apology for absence from Mr. James Thomson, Clydebank.

Mr. Allan S. Edmiston, the president of the society, next presented the silver trowel which had been used in the ceremony to Bro. Sheriff Steele, who briefly replied.

The members then re-formed in procession and walked back to Dalmuir, where the lodge was formally closed.

Immediately after, St. John's Lodge, Dalmuir, No. 543, was opened and called to refreshment, when a large number of the Glasgow brethren remained, Bros. Leckie, R.W.M., in the chair; J. F. Wilson, S.W.; and J. Muirhead, J.W. The Chairman proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, which were heartily responded to, and the brethren enjoyed themselves until 7.30 p.m., when the Glasgow brethren returned to town by rail.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. John's (No. 34).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, Buchanan-street, on Tuesday evening, the 4th inst., Bro. D. M. Nelson, W.M., in the chair. Bro. T. B. Bell, S.M., acting S.W.; Bros. P. Brownlie, J.W.; W. Bell, I.P.M.; James Dunn, Treas.; J. Dick, Sec.; A. Cameron, S.D.; D. Paton, J.D.; A. Peddie, I.G.; and J. Wright, Tyler. The meeting was particularly well attended by the members, and a large number of visiting brethren, amongst whom we noticed Bros. J. Monro, W.M. 360; J. Gillies, P.M. 103, P.G. Treas.; W. Harper, W.M. 408; T. Halket, P.M. 102, W. Taylor, Treas. 581; R. Allan, Sec. 581; and W. Ferguson, P.M. 102 ("Freemason") &c. On the lodge being opened and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed, Bros. W. Weir, G. R. Morrison and H. Tennant were passed to the Fellow Craft Degree in a most efficient manner by Bro. Monro, W.M. 360. On the lodge being reduced to the E.A. Degree, Bro. W. E. Campbell, of Lodge Magherafelt, 211, I.C., was affiliated a joining member. Bro. Nelson, the W.M., then rose and said,—"W. Wardens and brethren, I have now to perform a very pleasing duty, and that is to propose 'That Bro. Monro, the respected Master of Lodge Commercial, 360, become an honorary member of this lodge.' Bro. Monro has gained for himself a name long to be remembered for his zeal for Masonry in general, and the Province of Glasgow in particular. Bro. Monro was then obligated by the W.M.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Glasgow Kilwinning (No. 4).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, Buchanan-st., on Wednesday evening, the 5th inst., Bro. R. Prout, W.M., in the chair, supported by Bros. A. Sage, P.M., S.M.; T. G. Jamieson, acting S.W.; G. Holmes, J.W.; R. Mitchell, P.M. 332, D.M.; J. McKeand, Treas.; J. Currie, Sec. Present: Bros. J. Morgan, W.M. Lodge Star, 219; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); J. Law, I.P.M. 570; G. W. Wheeler, Chaplain 73; and others. On the minutes being read and approved of, the committee appointed to look out for a hall reported that they had secured the Claremont Hall, in Kent-road, where the meetings of the lodge will be held on and after Wednesday, the 7th June. Bro. J. S. Allan, Lodge Thistle and Rose, 73, was affiliated a joining member, and Mr. D. Carlisle was initiated by Bro. J. Morgan, W.M. 219, in his usual efficient style. After disposing of some charitable applications the lodge was closed.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Thistle and Rose (No. 73).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in the Kilwinning Hall, Buchanan-street, on Tuesday evening, the 4th inst., Bro. G. McDonald, W.M., presided, supported by Bros. J. Bannerman, D.M.; Alex. McLeod, S.W.; J. F. Handbridge, J.W.; J. S. Ampleford, Treas.; R. Richards, Sec.; Kay, S.D.; G. W. Wheeler, Chaplain; and others. On the minutes being read and approved of, Messrs. M. Reid and J. Miller were initiated into the E.A. Degree by Bro. McDonald, W.M., afterwards Bro. D. Fraser was passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by Bro. G. W. Wheeler, Chaplain.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Shamrock and Thistle (No. 275).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, Struthers-street, on Friday evening, the 7th inst., Bro. D. Ronald, R.W.M., presiding; W. Findlay, S.W.; D. Rowan, acting J.W. Present: R. M. Yuill, I.P.M.; W. Phillips, P.M., R.W.M. 556; J. Paterson, D.M.; W. B. Hutcheson, Treas.; J. Horn, Sec.; C. McLeish, J.D.; H. Cox, I.G.; and J. Guthrie, Tyler. The lodge was opened and the minutes of last meeting read and approved of. Several applications were read from widows of deceased brethren for relief, most of which were favourably received. Mr. R. W. Guthrie was then initiated into the R. A. Degree by the R.W.M. A candidate was also proposed for initiation at next monthly meeting. A new code of bye-laws, drawn up by a committee appointed for that purpose, was read and passed.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Dramatic (No. 571).—A meeting of this lodge was held on Wednesday, the 5th inst., at three o'clock p.m., in St. Mark's Hall, Buchanan-street, the W.M., W. J. E. Dobson, in the chair; H. W. Jackman, S.W.; W. Sivewright, J.W.; D. Campbell, Sec.; R. S. Smyth, S.D.; L. Mitchell, J.D.; G. R. Weir, acting I.G.; and J. B. Hardie, Tyler. Present: G. R. Weir, F. Muir, J. Robertson, R. Prout, W.M. 4; D. McKirdy, W.M. 332; W. Phillips, W.M. 556; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); J. M. Oliver, S.W. 360; G. W. Wheeler, 73; J. Allan, 73; J. H. Kelso, 116; W. Squires, 556; and W. Reynolds, 556, &c. The lodge being opened, Bro. Campbell read the minutes of last regular and one emergency meeting, which were confirmed. Mr. Gavin Connell was initiated into the First or E.A. Degree by Bro. Dobson, the W.M., in a most impressive manner. Thereafter Bro. F. Muir was passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by Bro. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543.

UDDINGTON.—Lodge of St. Bride (No. 579).—This lodge meets on the second and fourth Monday in each month, with the exception of the months of May, June, and July, when meetings will be called in cases of emergency. At the first meeting of the lodge, which was held on the 14th March, 15 candidates were initiated into the ancient rites and mysteries of Freemasonry; and at two subsequent meetings eight more were initiated, making a total of 23. Although the lodge is in its infancy, it is in a very flourishing condition, the success of which is due to Bro. W. J. Easton, R.W.M., who is a zealous and hard-working Freemason, and has won golden opinions thereby, and has made himself popular among the brethren and every way deserving of the high and exalted position in which they have placed him.

Obituary.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE HON. F. WALPOLE, M.P., PROV. G.M. OF NORFOLK.

The funeral of the late Hon. F. Walpole, M.P., Prov. G.M. of Norfolk, whose death was announced last week, and which has created a profound sense of sorrow among the brethren in that province, took place at Kingsbury on Friday. It was strictly private, among the mourners, however, was Bro. Drift, the Prov. G.S.W., and one or two other members of Grand Lodge. A special meeting of the members of the Craft had been held at Norwich under the presidency of the D.P.G.M., Bro. A. M. F. Morgan, when Bro. Lieut.-Colonel Bignold, P.M., P.G.R., said that never before had the Freemasons of Norfolk met together on so sad an occasion. No long ago their Prov. Grand Master Cabbell died, but time had dealt gently with him; he was more than in the fullness of age, and life had become a burden; but now it was different: Colonel Walpole was called away while his energies were powerful, his mind active, and his heart ever feeling in the cause of Masonry and for Masons. The shadow of the valley of death seemed to be resting on them, but beyond the shadow was the light which all true Masons sought after. Col. Bignold said that he would not dwell on his own loss in the death of the Prov. Grand Master, though friendships dating from early life were hard to fill; he would rather dwell on the irreparable loss which the Masonic body had suffered in the death of their beloved Prov. Grand Master, whose place, so ably filled, would know him no more. Colonel Bignold then moved that the following resolution of sympathy be agreed to and forwarded to Mrs. Walpole and the family of the late Prov. Grand Master:—"The brethren of the Province of Norfolk desire to express the sympathy of the whole Masonic body with Mrs. Walpole and the family of their late beloved and honoured Prov. Grand Master at the sudden bereavement which has befallen them, and the irreparable loss which they have sustained. God, the Great Architect of the Universe, has willed to call His servant from the earthly temple to that not made with hands, eternal in the heavens, so it must be well, but He alone can give the light of consolation in this great grief. The brethren trust it will be some solace to those to whom he was so dear, to know that every Freemason in Norfolk feels that by the death of their Prov. Grand Master he has lost a brother and a friend." Bro. H. G. Barwell, Prov. G. Sec., seconded the resolution, which was adopted unanimously; and it was determined to record it on the minutes of the Provincial Grand Lodge's transactions.

Masonic and General Tidings.

NEW LODGE.—Application is about to be made for a warrant for a new lodge, to be called the "Bayard," and held at 33, Golden-square. We understand that Bro. Col. Burney is to be the first W.M.; Bro. Capt. Leeson, S.W.; Bro. Watson, J.W.; and Bro. Portlock Dadson, Sec.

Bro. Henry Inglis, Provincial Grand Master of Peebles and Selkirkshire, assisted by a deputation from the Grand Lodge of Scotland, will lay the foundation-stone of the new Masonic Hall at Galashiels on Friday, the 12th prox.

The ceremony of consecration and installation will be worked in the Faith Lodge of Instruction, 2, Westminster Chambers, on Tuesday, the 9th May. The proceedings to commence at seven o'clock precisely.

A telegram has been received from Bro. Sir Wm. Knollys, announcing that H.R.H. the Prince of Wales had fixed the 19th of May as the day on which he would attend the banquet and ball to be given at the Guildhall. It is probable that the Princess of Wales will accompany his Royal Highness, who it is understood will enter the city by way of the Holborn Viaduct and pass along Newgate-street, Cheapside, and King-street to Guildhall.

The Rt. Hon. Lord Carnarvon, M.W. Pro Grand Master, arrived in Paris on Wednesday night, where he will remain for several days.

The Inaugural Masonic Ball took place at the Surrey Masonic Hall on Wednesday last. A full report will appear in our next.

Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, Deputy Grand Master, laid the foundation stone of the new church of St. John the Evangelist, at Walton, near Liverpool, on Monday last. Of the total number of sittings—950—which it is intended to provide, 500 will be free and unappropriated.

An Inaugural Ode, written by Bro. Samuel Poynter, on the completion of the Surrey Masonic Hall and spoken at the opening ball on Wednesday last by Bro. Dawson, will appear in our next.

The Lodge of Israel, No. 1474, will by special dispensation meet on the third Monday instead of the second.

The annual Red Cross Ball takes place on Monday next, at Willis's Rooms, King-street, St. James's.

Bro. Hollingsworth, J.W. of the Hervey Lodge, has been presented with an elegant silver vase, suitably inscribed, as a token of appreciation of his gallant conduct in saving the life of a young lady who was nearly drowned.

The directors of the Crystal Palace are organizing a grand fête, which will partake of the character of a great national welcome to the Prince of Wales, who has graciously accepted the invitation of the directors on his own behalf and that of the Princess of Wales.

A special meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge was held in Liverpool on Tuesday last under the presidency of Lord Skelmersdale, Deputy Grand Master, to consider an application for a grant from the lodge funds towards the restoration of Chester Cathedral. A proposal was formally made and ultimately adopted to vote £100 towards the restoration fund. Several members, however, expressed themselves opposed to the grant, because within the ranks of Freemasonry there were Dissenters and even Roman Catholics. On the other hand, it was urged that Freemasonry was under deep obligations to Church of England ministers, who were almost the only clergymen that ever become Freemasons.

The Duke of Connaught is shortly expected at Manchester to do duty with his regiment, the 7th Hussars, and will remain there for some time. His Royal Highness will leave Gibraltar about the end of the month.

The Annual Festival of the Wellington Lodge of Instruction (No. 548) will be held at the White Swan Hotel, High-street, Deptford, on Monday, the 24th inst. Bro. C. G. Dillely will preside.

A full report of the Installation Meeting of the Polish National Lodge, No. 534, will appear in our next.

Bro. Sir Watkin Williams Wynn, Bart., M.P., R.W.P.G.M. of North Wales and Shropshire, and Lady Wynn, who have been cruising in the Mediterranean in the honourable baronet's yacht during the winter, were expected home during the past week. Sir Watkin's health is said to be completely re-established.

A renewed warning against furious driving has been issued by Colonel Henderson.

The total number of visitors at the Alexandra Palace on Monday last was 66,219.

Crystal Palace.—One Shilling Day.—Monday, April 17.—Admissions by season tickets, 4,324; ditto by payment, 55,692; total visitors, 60,016, being 12,000 in excess of any previous Easter Monday and 16,000 in excess of last Easter Monday.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—As spring approaches a most favourable opportunity offers for rectifying irregularities, removing impurities, and erasing blemishes which have arisen from the presence of matters forced by winter from being transferred through the pores. This searching Ointment well rubbed upon the skin, penetrates to the deeply seated organs, upon which it exerts a most wholesome and beneficial influence. Well nigh all indigestion gives way to this simple treatment aided by purifying and aperitive doses of Holloway's Pills, round each box of which plain instructions are folded. Bilious Disorders, Loss of Appetite, Fulness of Eating, Lassitude, Gout and Rheumatism, may be effectively checked in their painful progress, and the seeds of long suffering eradicated by these remedies.—ADVT.

TO OUR READERS.

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/-

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS

are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

NOTICE.—It is very necessary for our friends to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to

GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

NOW READY.

VOLUME 8 OF THE "FREEMASON,"

from January to December, 1875, bound in cloth, with richly embossed device on cover. Price 15 shillings. This volume forms a first class reference and chronology of the leading events in Masonry during the past year. It may be had through any bookseller, or at the office, 198, Fleet-st., London.

NOW READY.

Reading Covers, to take 52 numbers of the "Freemason," price 2/6, may be had at the office, 198, Fleet-street.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

The following stand over:—Royal Cumberland Chapter, 41; Caledonian Lodge, 489, Constantinople; Lodge of Israel, 1474, Birmingham; Obituary of Bro. W. B. Gates.

Will Bro. G. H. Algrett, of H.M.S. Favourite, kindly send his private address to the editor of the Masonic Magazine, 198, Fleet-street, London, E.C.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d. for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

ANDERSON.—On the 15th inst., at Pelham House, Ventnor, the wife of T. C. Anderson, Esq., of a daughter.

AUSTIN.—On Feb. 14, at Yeo, Colac, Victoria, the wife of J. E. Austin, of a daughter.

NAPIER.—On the 13th inst., at Cannes, France, Lady Napier of Magdala, of a son.

PLAYER.—On the 15th inst., at Grays, Essex, the wife of G. N. Player, of a son.

STEVENS.—On the 11th inst., at Landor-road, Clapham, the wife of W. Stevens, Esq., of a son.

MARRIAGES.

CHAMBERLIN-BOLINGBROKE.—On the 6th inst., at Christ Church, Eton, George Moore Chamberlin, Esq., Norwich, to Emily Mary, daughter of A. F. C. Bolingbroke, Esq.

TAYLOR-RANDALL.—On the 11th inst., at St. Mary's, Stoke Newington, Arthur Norton Taylor, M.R.C.S., of Bovey, Tracey, Devon, to Emily Lloyd, daughter of A. M. Randall, M.R.C.S.

DEATHS.

BENINGFIELD.—On the 18th inst., at Ware, Bro. John Beningfield, late of Broxbourne, Herts, in his 81st year. Natal and Australian papers please copy.

BRAITHWAITE.—On the 20th ult., at Barbadoes, W.I., Charlotte Willoughby, wife of C. M. Braithwaite, Esq.

LEMAN.—On the 9th inst., James Leman, Esq., of Chester-terrace, Regent's Park, in his 32nd year.

LONG.—On the 15th inst., at Hounslow, Ann, eldest daughter of the late Bro. James Long, and niece to Mr. John Paisley, of Hounslow. Illincis papers please copy.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, APRIL 22, 1876.

OUR ROYAL GRAND MASTER'S RETURN.

By the Baron Reuter's telegrams in the "Times" and "Telegraph" we learn that the Serapis, with his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales on board, accompanied by the Osborne and Raleigh, arrived at Gibraltar at eight o'clock on the morning of the 15th, and was received with salutes from the forts and from her Majesty's ship's Devastation and Swiftsure and the Spanish frigate Vittoria. The Prince landed at noon. The Prince on landing was welcomed by the Acting-Governor and staff, the Royal Navy officers, the Colonial officials, &c. A guard of honour was drawn up on the quay, and flowers were strewn in the path of His Royal Highness. A procession was then formed to Casemate-square. The line of route was beautifully decorated. Altogether the reception was enthusiastic, and a complete success. On arriving at Casemate-square an address was presented on behalf of the inhabitants of Gibraltar, and a deputation from the friendly societies and other bodies joined the procession. At the Convent (Government House) His Royal Highness held a levee, at which the Moorish Ambassador, specially sent by the Sultan of Morocco to congratulate His Royal Highness on his safe return to Europe, was presented to the Prince by Sir J. Drummond Hay, the British Minister at Tangiers, and afterwards the Spanish Governor of Algeiras, the foreign Consuls, the heads of departments, and other officials were introduced by the Acting-Governor. A grand banquet was given in the ball-room of the Convent (Government House), by Major-Gen. Somerset, the Acting-Governor, in honour of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. Covers were laid for ninety-four. Among those invited to meet the Prince and the Duke of Connaught were the heads of the Departments, Sir John Drummond Hay, English Minister at Tangiers, Prince Louis of Battenburg, and the Protestant and Catholic Bishops of Gibraltar. The health of the Prince of Wales having been drunk, His Royal Highness, in returning thanks, said that it gave him great pleasure to revisit Gibraltar after an interval of seventeen years. He thanked the community for the excessively kind reception he had met with, and which he was not likely to forget. His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, whose health was also drunk, said that it gave him great pleasure to behold the hearty and loyal reception accorded to his brother the Prince of Wales. The town and rock were splendidly illuminated, and the effect was very grand. The Prince and Duke drove round the town alone. They were enthusiastically cheered by the crowd which followed. The people were most orderly. The Prince of Wales laid the foundation-stone of the new 38-ton gun battery at the Head Mole on April 17th. There was no ceremony. His Royal Highness afterwards laid the foundation-stone of a public market amid Masonic honours, the ceremony being witnessed by a great assemblage of people. His Royal Highness said he was glad to meet so many brethren of the Craft. Great enthusiasm was displayed. There was a grand review of the troops in the afternoon, and the Prince gave a dinner afterwards on board the Serapis. The company included his Excellency the Governor, the heads of the administrative departments, the military Staff, Sir John Drummond Hay, the Bishops of Gibraltar and Antioch, &c.; altogether fifty-two guests. The Prince was to leave on Thursday in the Osborne, on his way to Seville and Madrid. He is expected to arrive at Lisbon on the 1st of May.

GRAND FESTIVAL.

A full report of the proceedings will be given in the Freemason next week, with which number a supplement will be given.

DISCONTINUE THE "FREEMASON."

That our world is sometimes a dirty world, and that men are sometimes marked by great littleness, paradoxical as the expression may seem, is a truth as undeniable as it is unwelcome. We note this untoward unreality of things and persons in every department of life, in the progress of troublous years, in the secrets of business, in the pursuit of wealth, in the "guinnettes" of pleasure and society. Yes! very often we have to open our eyes, and to open them widely, at the insincerity of the trusted, and the meanness and pettiness and even "bassesse" of the fawning and the foolish, of the sycophant and the social, of the "friend of our bosom," of the neighbour in "our street." Perverse paradox of humanity! strange law of earthly life! which seems to throw around all we contend with, and all we mix with here, often its own gloomy hue of unreality, of untruthfulness, of hollowiness, of worthlessness. But do not let us become too serious or too didactic. People don't care for lectures, and are apt to deem moral essays dull reading, inasmuch as they do not suit the high spiced taste of the day for a looser and for a less exacting morality. So we will take a lighter tone and make use of a more jocose strain, alike of thought and verbiage, more in harmony probably with the tone and temper, the tastes and tendencies of our excellent clientele. We will content ourselves therefore with endorsing Mr. Weller's remark "that he never know'd such a state of things afore" as that which too often constitutes the way of the world, and marks both the professions and dealings of men. Some one has said that "we all have our troubles," so we have, even publishers and editors, no less than some forlorn bachelor, some obedient married man, some complaining wife, some desponding young woman, some youthful hero of the hour contemplating matrimony and misfortune all at the same moment. And though our troubles are small, and for the matter of that hardly worth notice, yet we have such a confiding circle of subscribers and sympathizers, that we feel it to be both a pleasure and a duty, "sub sigillo confessionis" too, to impart to them our humble grievances and to claim their fraternal commiseration. There are some people and brethren, pro pudor, in this world of ours who sometimes affect to think that they confer patronage or exhibit favour to publishers, and Masonic publishers "surtout," by their liberal orders for some periodical of the day. And equally the reverse is true, that by withdrawing their support, or by the magic word "discontinue," they opine, or seem to do, that to the energetic publisher such an order is alike a "heavy blow" and a great discouragement. Now what we want to point out to-day is, that any such idea is a serious delusion. All such matters are details of business, not personal questions in any way, and our publisher for instance thinks little, and cares less, if even he were to receive twenty such missives daily, as he is utterly independent, alike of patronage or opposition, and entirely regardless of favour or disfavour. The "Freemason" has always been conducted on business principles, and always will be, it courts no patronage, it cares for no depreciation, it offers its wares in the open market of Masonic opinion, it supplies a good article at a very cheap price, and those who wish to buy it and support it can do so, and those who don't, can—well!—leave it alone. Never at any time has any Masonic periodical been so supported and so cheered by so numerous and increasing a circle of subscribers and correspondents, and for every fraternal friend who says or scribbles off "discontinue," our publisher receives twenty fresh subscribers week by week. Now we say all this in the best spirit, and with the kindest and most brotherly feelings. The "Freemason" has always taken an independent course in all things, and (D.V.) always means to do so, it belongs to no party, it affects no clique, it is open to all, friendly to all, who in the interests of our common Order, seek its advice, or communicate to its pages. But we have thought it but fair to our publisher, who has made the paper what it is, and to its editorial management, inasmuch, as publisher and editor are often equally amused by these little acts, which for some petty cause, or at no cause at all, evidence, that in some minds a delusion exists, that by their patronage or their opposition, by the continuance or discontinuance of their subscription, they can in any measure, affect either the progress or the prosperity of the "Freemason," or manifest their approval, or exhibit their displeasure. Let all such, whoever they may be, be good enough to bear in mind that strong in the public opinion of a kindly and discerning Craft, the "Freemason" intends to go on its way, relying alike on that judicious and business like management which has given to it its solidity and its success, as well as on that free, impartial, and honest, and independent tone of thought and teaching which has characterized its past annals, marks its present material well doing, and has earned for it the good will, approval, fraternal confidence and cheerful countenance, not only of the Order in Great Britain, but of the Anglo-Saxon brotherhood, nay of Cosmopolitan Freemasonry.

THE COMPARATIVE COST OF THE BOYS' SCHOOL.

This question, which is a very important question in itself, had hardly full justice done to it at the recent discussion at Freemasons' Hall. The original accusations brought against the School in the pamphlets of unpleasant and un-Masonic memory were, that there was gross mismanagement, gross extravagance; that the accounts were kept slovenly, and that Bro. Binckes arrogated too much to himself. But when at Sheffield, the province of Yorkshire, worked upon by these utterly misleading, and we feel bound to add malevolent statements of personal animosity, however much it might be affected to be denied, endeavoured to frame the articles of impeachment, the whole venue was changed at once. The original allegations amount, alike in open and suppressed pamphlets, to deliberate charges of malappropriation and embezzlement; and the suppressed pamphlet was, in our humble opinion, libellous and actionable. Think of any brother Mason putting into print with regard to a miserable 8s. 9d., or 9s. 4d., of a savings bank account for the boys "who has got the money?" in this way implicating the honour of brethren in every way distinguished by long service and high character. But, as we said, all the charges of the previous pamphlets were abandoned at Sheffield, and the point put forward was the excessive cost of the school, and comparisons were made with other institutions. Now it is on this point clear, that those who affected to lead West Yorkshire were utterly ignorant of the subject, and did not really understand anything practically about the matter. For it had been shown in 1869 that the question of comparative cost could hardly be fairly entered into, as, owing to its peculiar "status," the Masonic Boys' School was a school "sui generis," and must have in many things an exceptional standard, alike of cost, and even education. But supposing that a comparison was made, the Boys' School came well out of it, and so far from there being any real cause of complaint, the truth of the case required that proper eulogium should be passed upon the managers of the School. And in 1876 we apprehend that the same state of things is to be found, and it is very amusing to note that the inculpaters of the School are "hoist" by their own "petard," actually silenced by their own figures. Take the Commercial Travellers' School, which we all know is a very well managed institution, economically administered. It had, according to its report, at the close of 1875, 288 boys and girls. Its office expenses were £1301 0s. 4d. against Masonic Boys £1159 10s. with 156 boys. The report of the West Yorkshire Committee made the office expenses £1274 15s. 9d. (Bro. Binckes puts them at £1159 10s. 10d.), but even by their own reckoning their statement that the average is £10 11s. 11d. is absolutely incorrect. If £1274 15s. 9d. is divided by 156, the product will be £8 3s., and a few fractions per head. We invite the attention of brethren in West Yorkshire to the subject, as it is a very serious blot on the calculations of the committee. The school salaries of the Commercial Travellers are £1317 8s. 10d., those of the Masonic Boys' School to the end of 1875, Bro. Binckes, £1286 2s. 8d. We may note here that the West Yorkshire Committee only deals with the accounts to the close of 1874, and, according to their report, the accounts for wages and education to the close of 1874, amounted to—Educational, £833 16s.; Wages, £521 1s., in all, £1354 17s. As regards food, the averages of the Royal Medical Benevolent, Clergy, Orphan, and British Orphan, amounted to £16 14s. per head, that of the Masonic Boys' to £12 11s. 9d. Is any further comparison needful? The truth is, the whole agitation is a personal one, and based on no reliable data of any kind whatever. The annual cost per school, as no one knows better than Bro. Gill, and many of the brethren who signed the Report, is no criterion as to the comparative cost. For this reason, that each school has to be judged by its own details of work, standard, and arrangement. In some schools the children, for instance, do not have meat daily. In this school or that school meat is only given three or four times a week, while the allowance of clothing is scantier than with us. It is idle for any one to say "we can educate at Sidcot for £33 19s.; or at Ackworth, £31 10s. 6d.; or Yorkshire Boys' School, £33; and, therefore, the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys is extravagantly managed, and must be reduced to their minimum." It is neither reasonable nor, in truth, Masonic so to argue! We apprehend that the question of comparative cost of the School has been often considered by the House Committee and the Quarterly Court, and that those best competent to form an opinion on the subject have long since carefully arranged the present scale of expenditure. Any life-governor can give notice of a committee to enquire into such a question, but from our experience of schools generally we do not fancy that in London much, if any, saving could be made. Bro. Gill fairly admitted that the proper course for the malcontents was to have gone originally to the Quarterly Court, and we hope that now it is admitted that there is no foundation for any of these statements or charges, this unseemly agitation and un-Masonic irritation may cease, and that our good friends in West Yorkshire will return to their normal condition of activity and zeal, of kind feeling and brotherly love, of geniality and goodwill, of constitutional progress, and of Masonic feeling. Of their earnestness and energy we are all aware, as well as of their many good qualities, and we have been much grieved to have seen them led into the "Caudine Forks" of a hopeless cause, and of unavoidable defeat. It is a most serious thing to lower West Yorkshire in the good opinion of the other provinces, and, above all, to weaken or take away the normal and well-earned character of our good West Yorkshire brethren for sobriety of mind and common sense, for Masonic fairness and fraternal good feeling, for all the graces, in fact, of the true Craftsman's character.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

REGALIA.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I regret that while the question of "Master Masons' Jewels" was recently passing through your columns I had not an opportunity of making one or two remarks thereon, but I take this as a fitting place, though under a more general head.

I agree with "A Past Master" (Feb. 26th) that "the compasses and square only" belong absolutely to Past D.G.M.'s—vide Constitutions, page 119. The "five-pointed star" I take to be in accordance with Article 2, page 118, and because it is not otherwise specially appropriated.

There are, however, other points at issue on the Regalia question. How is it that (say) ninety-nine out of every hundred Past Masters wear a gold or gilt jewel when the Constitutions distinctly say it shall be in silver?—(vide pages 121 and 122)—"except," it goes on to say, "in the Lodge of Antiquity, No. 2, and the British Lodge, No. 8, which are golden or gilt." Why don't these two lodges look after their privileges? This is really an important point and worth following up. I would make a passing remark that although a neat, artistic, and symbolical design is provided for a Past Master's jewel—(vide plate 12)—is it not strange that so very many brethren should disport themselves in over-ornamented and tawdry specimens of "Brummagem."

Page 125 says that the "three several sets of two right angles" worn by W.M.'s and P.M.'s in place of the three rusettes on the M.M.'s apron shall be of ribbon "of same colour as the lining and edging of the apron." Then how is it so very many W.M.'s and P.M.'s wear those emblems in silver instead of blue ribbon?

Are not the answers to these questions to be found in the old tale—general ignorance of that most concise yet comprehensive Book of Constitutions; but when we find so many Past Masters violating the rules they pledged themselves to support there should be a little allowance made to young M.M.'s seeking to decorate themselves. In conclusion, I would venture to recommend both classes to read up this subject (there are only 8 pages); those who have read it may benefit by re-perusing it; there are pearls to be found for those who pride themselves on being quite "au fait," as on page 124 it says that "officers and past officers of lodges may have the emblems of their offices in silver or white in the centre of the apron;" such is, to my taste, an improvement, for it fills up what otherwise appears a meaningless blank.

Fraternally yours,

"AD REM."

MEMBERSHIP OF A PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In answer to Brother T. F., we will find by reference to the Book of Constitutions that "the actual and Past Provincial Grand Officers, whilst they remain subscribing members to a lodge in the province, with the actual Provincial Grand Stewards, and the Masters, Past Masters, and Wardens of all lodges within the province, are members of the Provincial Grand Lodge."

Brother T. F. is anxious to know by what right, law, or constitution a Mason not qualified as before-mentioned can be appointed to an office in a Provincial Grand Lodge?

The right for the Provincial Grand Master to appoint a brother not officially a member of the Prov. G. L., owing to his being neither a Master, Past Master, nor Warden of a lodge in the province (though a contributing Master Mason therein), is conferred by the Book of Constitutions.

All officers of a Provincial Grand Lodge (as also of the Grand Lodge) below that of Provincial Grand Deacon may be filled by Master Masons who are eligible by reason of contributing to a lodge in the province, hence the Provincial Grand Master may appoint such brethren accordingly, and thus constitute those members of the Prov. G. Lodge who were not officially so before. It is plain also by the reading of the law on the subject, that Provincial Chaplains, Treasurers, Registrars and Secretaries may be selected from contributing Master Masons, and I believe are so appointed or elected in small provinces frequently, though the fewer officers elected by such means the better. In large provinces it is usual to select the provincial officers from Masters and Past Masters only, some also making it the rule for brethren to serve as Provincial Grand Stewards prior to being appointed to the "purple."

The judicious use of such a privilege by the Provincial Grand Master, by conferring honours when deserved, and only then, is often the means of stimulating worthy Masons to continue their services for the welfare of the Order, but the raising to the "purple" of the drones and Masonic shams in a province is an abuse of the office.

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN.

MASONIC JURISPRUDENCE.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Am I right in assuming that officers of private lodges in visiting other lodges, as well as Grand Lodge, cannot be considered properly clothed unless wearing their collar and jewel of office?

I take my ground on the first section in the Book of Constitutions, under the head of Regalia.

I remain, yours fraternally,

SIGILLUM.

MASONIC PREFIXES.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

The last paragraph of my communication respecting Masonic Prefixes is unfortunately spoilt in the "Freemason" by the omission of the word not between are and entitled. To complete the letter as intended I will again write it.

1. Provincial Officers, not Present or Past Masters, are not entitled to the prefix Worshipful. All Provincial Grand Officers (being actual or Past Masters), excepting the Provincial Grand Master, are to be styled Worshipful.

2. The Provincial Grand Master being designated Right Worshipful.

3. Grand Officers below the rank of Grand Secretary are to be styled Worshipful.

4. Grand Officers below the rank of Grand Warden and above the rank of Grand Deacon are entitled to the prefix Very Worshipful, and such officers only.

5. Deputy Grand Master and Pro Grand Master are to be styled Most Worshipful.

These particulars, obtained from the circular issued by the authority of the M.W.G.M. (the lamented Earl of Zetland), are more fully noted in my communication in last week's "Freemason;" and as that letter is the only official guide issued for Masonic prefixes it should be carefully studied by all concerned.

I may also state that the titles as above are those invariably used to designate the Grand Officers in all the Quarterly Communications from 1813 according to my examination of the whole series.

These prefixes are to be observed either in Provincial

Grand Lodge or elsewhere and are the only and constant designations of such officers, and in order that uniformity may be observed and every brother be styled according to the authority mentioned it is desirable when another such communication is printed that copies be sent to the Worshipful Masters of lodges as well as to the Provincial Grand Master as formerly. I confess to have formerly had a different opinion on the subject until the circular in question was kindly lent me for perusal, and doubtless others have been misled the same way, for it is unfortunate that the Book of Constitutions is not fully explicit on the matter.

Yours fraternally,

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Our brother "W. Master" will find an answer to his query in the quarterly communications of the Grand Lodge, and especially in the official report of the Grand Festival held at the Royal Albert Hall, 28th April, 1875. The Rt Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon is therein described as M.W. Pro Grand Master, and rightly so, as the Pro Grand Master enjoys similar privileges to the Grand Master, just as the Deputy (or Pro) Master of a lodge has the same position in the Craft as the Master, when the latter is one of the Royal Family.

Reciprocating "W. Master's" kind wishes,

Yours fraternally,

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN.

Truro, 17th April, 1876.

PROVINCIAL GRAND CHAPTER OF EAST LANCASHIRE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In your report of the meeting of the above chapter at Bury there are several inaccuracies, viz. :—

The Prov. G. Sword Bearer should be "Sallon," not "Salton." The Prov. G. Director of Ceremonies should be "J. H. Sillitoe," not "Sidall." The sum granted to the East Lancashire Systematic Benevolent Society should be £50, not £59.

Yours fraternally,

P. Z.

Manchester, 15th April, 1876.

AFTER-DINNER PROMISES.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In your report of the installation meeting of the Lion and Lamb Lodge in the "Freemason" of January, the 15th, I read as follows :—

"The W.M. then proceeded to propose 'The Masonic Charities,' and spoke of the endeavours needed to place the son of the late Past Master Trott in the School, this being the only occasion upon which the boy could stand for election."

Bro. Binckes, in his response to the toast, speaks as follows :—

"And then, with regard to the candidature of their late Past Master's son, he warned them that they would require 2000 votes to warrant them in looking for success."

Further on we read that certain brethren then promised their votes for the boy.

Meantime we were gathering our strength, and applied to one of the brethren for the promised votes, when judge our surprise at receiving a reply written on a post card as follows :—

"I can't conceive the possibility of getting a child in on a first application. I am most earnestly pressed to support the 5th application of Gardner." As you are aware, sir, we did succeed in electing our boy; in fact, he was third on the list, with 1962 votes, and that without the promised help. So much for their scepticism, as well as for the value of after-dinner promises.

I am, dear Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,

A PAST MASTER OF 192.

BY-LAWS OR BYE-LAWS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

As you published a letter on the subject of the correct spelling of the above a few weeks ago, I would point out to you that in the Constitutions as published in 1815 under the authority of the United Grand Lodge by William Williams, Esq., Prov. Grand Master for Dorset, the words are by-laws, and the same spelling exists in the edition of the Constitutions published in 1873.

Ne Varietur should be our motto in this matter also.

Yours fraternally,

A PROV. G. SEC.

[The fact is as our correspondent states. But we think a great deal may be said for Bye.—Ed.]

MASONIC PROGRESS IN GALASHIELS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In Scotland Masonic progress is slow but sure. We are not an enthusiastic people, still, in our Masonic lodges I believe there is as much warmth of affection and brotherly love as in any other country.

The Freemasons of Galashiels, St. John's Lodge, No. 262, having long felt the want of a hall of their own have resolved to supply that want. They have formed themselves into a limited liability company, but as they are neither rich nor numerous brethren at a distance would render us a great favour by taking tickets for our Grand Prize Drawing.

The foundation-stone of our new Masonic Hall is to be laid by Bro. Henry Inglis, Esq., of Torsonce, Provincial Grand Master of Peebles and Selkirkshire, assisted by deputations from Grand Lodge of Scotland as per enclosed circular, which perhaps you will copy on Friday 12th of

May. It is expected to be the largest Masonic demonstration that ever took place in the south of Scotland, and it would be a great pleasure to the brethren of this lodge to have deputations from some of the English lodges.

I am, yours fraternally,

ADAM JOHNSON, R.W.M. Lodge 262.

CONSECRATION OF THE SKELMERSDALE LODGE, No. 1599.

This new lodge was consecrated on Friday, the 7th inst., at Mason's hall, Mason's Avenue, Basinghall-street, by Bro. James Terry, P.M., 228, 1278, 1366, Prov. G.D.C. Herts, and Secretary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, who was assisted by Bros. John Hervey, G.S., as S.W.; H. G. Buss, Grand Treas., Middlesex, as J.W.; Hill, S.W. Highgate Lodge, as D.C.; Lucking, P.P.A.G.D.C., Essex, as I.G.; and W. H. Lee, P.M. 1524, as Sec. The musical brethren who also assisted were Bros. F. H. Cozens, Theodore Distin, and Seymour Smith, under the direction of Bro. Cozens. The lodge was attended by about forty brethren, among whom were John Bingemann, P.M. 55; F. Newcombe, 77; W. S. Killeter, 77; George Regan, 55; S. Stead, 177; W. M. Snelling, 180; W. Perrin, 1056; J. W. Skelton, 1056; F. W. Melhish, 55; A. Lucking, P.M. 166 and 1056; E. Miroy, 55; J. L. Heymans, 22; T. B. Linscott, 55; E. Driver, I.P.M. 45; Alex. Pilbeam, W.M. 45; J. J. Defriez, S.W. 45; G. Laker, 55; Alfred Sargent, 55; E. Abell, 55; C. A. Woods, 145; J. R. Foulger, P.M. 177; John H. R. Buckets, 55; W. T. Howe, G.P. Middlesex; G. Saul, 1201; W. H. Marston, 55; H. Roberts, 55; Richard Stanway, 1426; and C. B. Payne, G. Tyler.

The lodge having been opened by Bro. Terry, assisted by the other brethren, was afterwards in due form consecrated, Bro. Terry delivering the oration on the nature and principles of Freemasonry, which was heartily cheered at its conclusion. The ceremony of consecration was most beautifully and fluently performed, and it was rendered the more agreeable by a nice musical accompaniment, under the direction of Bro. Fred. H. Cozens, by Bros. J. W. Simons, Seymour Smith, and Theodore Distin. When the ceremony of consecration was completed, Bro. Hill, acting D.C., presented Bro. John Bingemann, P.M. 55, W.M. designate, to Bro. Terry, for installation, which ceremony was afterwards ably performed by Bro. Terry.

The officers appointed and invested were Bros. W. Henry Marston, S.W., and Bro. George Laker, J.W. Bro. Henry Roberts, No. 55, was then unanimously elected Treasurer, and was invested as such by the W.M. Bro. W. H. Lee was invested as Secretary; Bros. Abell, S.D.; Sargent, J.D.; Miroy, I.G.; and Rawles, Tyler. Bro. Terry then delivered the addresses. The Secretary afterwards read letters of regret for absence from Lord Skelmersdale, Sir Albert W. Woods (Garter), and the Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G.C. On the motion of the W.M., seconded by the S.W., a vote of thanks was passed to Lord Skelmersdale for granting the use of his coat of arms for the purposes of the lodge; also on the motion of the W.M., seconded by the S.W.; Lord Skelmersdale was elected the first honorary member of the lodge.

On the motion of the W.M., seconded by the S.W., a vote of thanks was passed to Bro. Terry for consecrating the lodge, and to Bros. Hervey, Buss, Hill, and Lucking for assisting him in the ceremony. Bros. Terry, Hervey, and Buss were then elected honorary members of the lodge, on the motion of the W.M., seconded by the S.W., and Bro. Terry responded for the compliments on behalf of himself and the other brethren. A long list of gentlemen as candidates for initiation and brethren for joining was afterwards read by the Secretary.

Lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet, provided by the new management of Mason's Hall Tavern. The usual toasts followed. In proposing "The Health of Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers," the W.M. referred to his lordship's presidency at the last festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution, when no less a sum than £9200 was subscribed for the aged Freemasons and widows of Freemasons. Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary, responded, and after referring to the able discharge of the Grand Master's duties in his absence by Lord Carnarvon and Lord Skelmersdale, said that it was well known that the other Grand Officers endeavoured to do their duty ably. He himself knew this from personal observation, and whether in the highest position or the lowest he could testify to their ability. He knew perfectly well that Bro. Payne, who was present, did his duty. He could vouch for him in the most confident manner; would that he (Bro. Hervey) could do as much for himself. At least he could say he endeavoured to do it, and if he had succeeded to some extent, as he hoped he had, and from the manner in which he had been received that evening he did not doubt he had—at any rate he passed muster, and he was satisfied. Referring to the ceremony of the evening, it had given him great pleasure to be present, and though he was not going to take the wind out of another brother's sails he could not refrain from congratulating the brethren on having the ceremony of consecration so splendidly performed as it had been by Bro. Terry. The W.M. had also discharged his duties in a style which filled the brethren with confidence that he had in him all the elements which would make him succeed. (Hear, hear.) He trusted that the lodge would have a great future. He himself had some interest in it, inasmuch as the brethren had been kind enough to elect him an honorary member. He felt therefore that he had a great interest in it, as he also had in other lodges which had passed a similar compliment on him. Without exception all the lodges where he had assisted at the consecration had succeeded, some to a marvellous extent.

There was one, the Prince Leopold, No. 1445 over which Bro. Howe, who was present, two or three years ago presided, which had proved a great success, and which had in it all the germs of a great success in the future. The Great City, No. 1426, he need scarcely allude to, because it had made itself prominent in the City, and did not require an exponent of its principles. He would not refer to its bread and cheese. (Laughter.) All he could say was, that whenever he had been there there had been splendid banquets, and a large assemblage of friends around the table, who had been most cordially and hospitably received. (Cheers.) If the Great City Lodge had refrained from giving large banquets, it had succeeded in one of its principles—charity. No doubt Masons would do well to restrict their banquets somewhat, and they would have the more means of supporting the institutions. However, he had no doubt that the Skelmersdale Lodge would be fully equal to the support of the great institutions. (Cheers.)

Bro. James Terry proposed "The Health of the W.M." Prefacing his remarks by a reference to the name of the lodge, he took the opportunity of saying how largely and how justly Lord Skelmersdale was estimated in his own Province of East Lancashire. This was the first time a lodge in the metropolis had been named after his lordship, and he (Bro. Terry) was glad to see that his friend, Bro. Bingemann, was its first W.M. Every one who knew Bro. Bingemann knew how well he had performed his duties as Master elsewhere. He was a fit Master of a lodge named after such a Freemason as Lord Skelmersdale, a nobleman who had proved himself such an able president at a festival, who was a polished gentleman, an illustrious statesman, and a thorough-going Englishman. He (Bro. Terry) was especially pleased that such a name had been given to the lodge, and that his lordship had given permission for his coat of arms to be used on the banner of the lodge. The great fame, the honour, and the reputation of the D.G.M. of England might now be considered in the keeping of the W.M., and he had no doubt it would be perfectly safe. (Cheers.)

Bro. Bingemann, in reply, said the lodge had conferred on him a high honour by entrusting him with the first Mastership of the lodge. He would endeavour to bring it to a state of great prosperity. If he could only have the assistance of the brethren he had no doubt of being able to succeed.

Bro. Pilbeam replied as the Master of the lodge who had signed the petition for the warrant, and said how cheerfully he acceded to the wish of Bro. Bingemann in that respect.

The W.M. proposed "The Health of Bro. Terry, he Consecrating Officer," and said he was sure the brethren must have been as thoroughly delighted as he was with the explicit and genial way in which Bro. Terry performed his duties. It was something beautiful to hear. (Cheers.)

Bro. Terry, who was received with great applause, in reply, said how readily he accepted the invitation to consecrate the lodge when he knew of what materials it was to be composed, and that it was to be named after a noble lord who had done him such excellent service by taking the chair at the last festival of the institution of which he had the honour to be Secretary. He then referred to the ready way in which his institution was supported, and the liberal subscriptions which were paid to it. He had no doubt, from his knowledge of the W.M., that this lodge would also support it, and for any support it might extend to it he should always feel grateful. Bro. W. T. Howe, P.M. 1445, replied for "The Visitors," and the other toasts having been honoured the brethren separated.

CONSECRATION OF THE LEY SPRING LODGE, No. 1598.

On the 15th inst. Bro. Terry, P.M. 1278 and P.G.D.C. Herts, assisted by Bro. C. G. Hill, S.W. 1366, consecrated at the Red Lion Hotel, Leytonstone, the Ley Spring Lodge, No. 1598, after which Bro. Barford, P.M. 55 and 1228, proceeded in the most able manner to instal Bro. P. A. Branchi as first W.M.

The officers appointed were Bros. G. E. Walters, S.W.; J. Buscoll, J.W.; J. W. Roberts, Sec.; R. Hogg, S.D.; W. Allen, J.D.; L. Lewis, I.G.; T. Varley, D.C.; S. Pott, Tyler.

The usual charges were then given, and the customary congratulation made.

It was proposed and seconded and unanimously carried that Bro. Terry should become an honorary member of the lodge.

Bro. Terry in reply assured the W.M. of the pleasure it had given him to consecrate the Ley Spring Lodge, and expressed his wishes for its future prosperity.

After a short interval the brethren sat down to an excellent repast provided in Bro. Barford's usual recherche style, the W.M. presided, and upon the removal of the cloth gave the toast of "H.M. the Queen," and referred to the pleasure which the whole of the Craft must feel at the early return of the M.W.G.M.

Bro. Terry then proposed "The Health of the W.M.," and passed some very high eulogiums upon the working capabilities of the officers; the toast was honoured in a most hearty manner.

The W.M. said he had to thank Bro. Terry for proposing his health and the brethren for the hearty way in which they had responded to it, and assured them of his conviction that the brethren whom he had appointed to office would give him that assistance that would enable him to carry out the duties of the chair in such a manner as would do great credit to the lodge. We would remark that great praise is due to the founders of this lodge, more especially to the indefatigable exertions of the S.W., who ever since the idea was formed of starting a new lodge has not left a stone unturned to make it a success.

"The Health of the Officers and Visitors" was given and duly responded to, and the Tyler's toast concluded a most enjoyable evening.

Bro. Lewis Warley rendered some excellent singing, Bro. Young accompanying upon the piano.

Visitors: T. Barford, P.M. 1228 and 55; W. H. Myers, P.M. 820, W.M. 1445; T. Y. Latreille, P.M. 1056; W. Mundy, P.M. 1228; W. A. Tharp, P.M. 1228; P. Edinger, W.M. 95; W. T. Christian, J.D. 1278; G. C. Young, Org. 820; G. Blackie, 1426; J. Taylor, 298; W. C. Claridge, 1420; C. Vile, 49; F. H. Varley, 33; T. Corbett, 143; W. Bailey, 49.

The musical arrangements were under the direction of Bro. G. C. Young, Org. 820 and 1445.

CONSECRATION OF THE HAMILTON LODGE, No. 1600.

This always interesting ceremony was performed at Alford on Thursday, 30th ult., by Bro. W. H. Smyth, of Elkington Hall, near Louth, W.D.P.G.M. of Lincolnshire, assisted by a few P.G. Officers.

Although Alford is one of the smallest towns in Lincolnshire (the population at the last census in 1871 being only 2881) the desirability of having a lodge there had long been felt by the brethren residing in the neighbourhood, and a small but energetic band having lately put their shoulders to the wheel, the result has been the engagement on lease of a convenient private room, advantageously situated in the very heart of the town, and the formation of the above-named lodge.

W. Bro. W. H. Smyth, D.P.G.M., having taken the chair, appointed Bros. C. M. Nesbitt, P.G. Treas., as S.W.; Jas. Fowler, P.P.G.S.W., as J.W.; W. Bro. A. Richdale, W.M. 426, as S. of W.; Bro. E. Locock, P.P.G.S.W., as Chaplain, in the absence of Bro. Rev. J. C. K. Saunders, P.G.C., who almost at the last moment telegraphed to say he could not be present.

Bro. Marsden, P.G. Sec., having read the petition and warrant from the Grand Lodge of England, the constitution and dedication of the lodge was proceeded with, concluding with a congratulatory address from W. Bro. Smyth, D.P.G.M., who mentioned among other matters that since his appointment to the office of D.P.G.M. in 1864 he had taken part in the consecration of no less than nine lodges, the number of which in the province had now just doubled, while the subscribing members had considerably more than doubled since the installation of the present P.G.M., His Grace the Duke of St. Albans.

The lodge having been reduced, the installation of Bro. Charles Smyth, P.P.G.Pt., as first W.M., was then proceeded with, the D.P.G.M. acting as Installing Master. The W.M., having been duly placed in the chair of K.S. according to ancient custom, invested the following officers for the ensuing year:—Bros. R. Garfit, S.W.; F. Higgins, J.W. and Treas.; T. C. Johnson, S.D. and Sec.; A. Veitch, J.D.; J. S. Cooke, I.G.; and Lewis, Tyler.

Hearty good wishes for the prosperity of the lodge having been given from members of the following lodges—Old Globe, 200; Shakespeare, 426; Lindsey, 712; Denison, 1248—W. Bro. W. H. Smyth, D.P.G.M., was proposed as an honorary member of the lodge, which compliment he suitably acknowledged.

Bro. Nesbitt, 712, P.G. Treas., was also proposed as a joining member.

Six gentlemen of Alford and neighbourhood having been proposed for initiation at the following lodge night, the lodge was closed and the brethren adjourned to an invitation banquet at the Windmill Hotel, served by Bro. Smith, at which the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were duly honoured.

ADDRESSES TO OUR ROYAL GRAND MASTER.

The one presented by the Chamber of Commerce of Malta was as follows:—

(Translation from the Italian).

"To his Royal Highness Albert Edward, Prince of Wales on the auspicious occasion of his arrival in Malta, April 6, 1876.

"From the Chamber of Commerce.

"Your Royal Highness,—To Malta, this small and sequestered island, has fallen the singular good fortune of being the first in Europe to welcome your Royal Highness on your return from the long and arduous but triumphant journey just completed in the far East among vast populations, the willing subjects of that great Queen whom they are now joyfully hailing as their Empress.

"The Chamber of Commerce of this diminutive, but not unworthy, gem of the Crown encircling the august brow of your Highness's Royal parent has already twice had the honour of tendering its respectful homage to your royal Highness, first on the occasion of the previous visit which you deigned to make to this island, and next when offering the expression of its heartfelt joy on your marriage with the august Princess who so happily shares your life.

"And to-day the Chamber of Commerce again presents itself to assure your Royal Highness of its gladness on once more beholding you treading these shores, where the loyal population will ever be foremost in its feelings of affectionate attachment towards the great Sovereign of the vast Empire which governs the seas, towards your Royal Highness personally, and towards your gracious consort and the whole Royal Family.

"The mercantile community of Malta, proud of the English flag that protects them, desire, through their chosen representatives, to express their earnest satisfaction on the arrival of your Royal Highness from India, and their fervent hope that you will be restored in perfect health to your Royal family, and to that great nation which is so eagerly awaiting your return to the land of your birth.

"Chamber of Commerce, Malta, April, 1876."

The following address was read to the Prince of Wales by the leader of the elected members of the Legislative Council, the Hon. Cachia Zammit, on His Royal Highness landing on the shores of Malta:—

"To His Royal Highness Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, &c.

"May it please your Royal Highness,—We, the elected members of the Council of Government, on behalf of the inhabitants of these islands, whom we have the honour to represent, deem it our bounden duty to be the first to greet your Royal Highness with a hearty welcome. We recognize in this third visit of your Royal Highness to these shores that unceasing interest which Her Gracious Majesty the Queen has always felt in the welfare of her faithful Maltese subjects; and we beg to express to your Royal Highness the earnest assurance of our deep attachment and unabated allegiance to Her Majesty our beloved Queen and her Royal house. Since the connection of these islands with Great Britain the loyalty and devotion of the Maltese to the British Throne have never for one instant wavered, and we feel confident that the advent of the heir of our Gracious Sovereign to our country will bind more closely the ties which happily unite these islands to the British Crown.

"Amid the universal rejoicings we regret the absence of Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales, whom the people of Malta would have welcomed with hearty enthusiasm, which her presence invariably excites in the United Kingdom.

"With sincere wishes for the happiness and prosperity of Her Majesty, your Royal Highness, and the Royal Family, we beg to remain your Royal Highness's most loyal and most faithful servants."

His Royal Highness replied as follows:—

"I thank you for the address you have presented to me on behalf of the inhabitants of Malta and Gozo on my return from my long and interesting tour in India. This island has many agreeable recollections and associations for me, and I rejoice that it should be the first spot at which I touch on my arrival in Europe. I will not fail to convey to the Queen your expressions of devotion and attachment to her Throne and Government. I can assure you that the oyalty which has been displayed on various occasions to the British Crown by the inhabitants of these islands is neither forgotten nor unappreciated by Her Majesty. The Princess of Wales will be much touched by the kind terms in which you have alluded to her, and had circumstances permitted it she would, I think, have experienced a lively pleasure in being present here with me to-day."

Masonic Festivities.

The last social gathering of the season in connection with the Lodge of Truth, 521, Huddersfield, took place on Thursday, March 30th. The proceedings commenced with a short Operetta, entitled the "Sleeping Queen," written by H. B. Farnie, Esq., the music by M. W. Balfe.

The scene is at the Court of Leon in the 16th century, where the Regent is trying to promote a matrimonial alliance between the King of Arragon and the Queen of Leon; but the Queen is secretly in love with Philippe D' Aguilar, who has just arrived from France with a letter of recommendation to Donna Agnes, a lady of honour. Donna Agnes intercedes for Don Philippe with the Regent, who is in love with the lady of honour. The Regent at first refuses, as Don Philippe is the son of a former foe and rival whom he exiled, but at last consents to grant any request preferred by the bearer of a knot of ribbon from Donna Agnes. Don Philippe in an interview with Donna Agnes relates how he loves a lady whose life he saved about a year ago near Paris whilst out hunting, and how he recognised in the Queen the lady he loved, but who, on his attempting to speak with her, turned round and asked one of her attendants, "What is that person?" Crest-fallen at this seeming fickleness, he announces his determination to leave the Court, and Donna Agnes gives him the knot of ribbon, assuring him if he shews it to the Regent he will get a commission in the army. This turns out to be correct, but the Regent, jealous that he is a lover of Donna Agnes, orders him to a regiment then fighting the Moors. On taking his farewell Don Philippe discovers the Queen asleep, kisses her, and rises just as the Regent and Donna Agnes enter. He delivers his sword to the Regent and is arrested, as by the laws of Leon "any one touching the sacred person of the Queen must suffer death." The Queen to prevent this catastrophe personates Donna Agnes in an interview with the Regent, until he also kisses her, when the Regent thinking himself lost, finds that the law further say "and no one can pardon except the Queen's husband." The Queen thereupon announces her intention to marry Don Philippe, which ends the difficulty.

The several parts were excellently rendered, and gave universal satisfaction to the ladies and brethren, who availed themselves of the opportunity of witnessing the abilities of those who so kindly volunteered their services. Dancing commenced about half-past nine and was kept up until early in the morning. Refreshments were provided by the purveyors of the lodge. When the time for retiring arrived the universal exclamation was how much every one had enjoyed themselves. Bro. Varley, P.M., along with Bro. J. Jackson, W.M., are deserving of the thanks of all present for introducing the new feature of an Operetta, and we trust next season when the social gatherings are commenced that they will again favour the guests with similar entertainments. The musical arrangements were conducted by Bros. Joshua Marshall, and J. Wood, P.M.'s, and were simply perfection. In conclusion let us wish success to the next social gathering at Lodge Truth, 521.

DAYLIGHT reflected in dark rooms. Gas superseded in day time. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors.—Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

Reviews.

WELCOME HOME POLKA, Composed by W. SMALLWOOD.—A. Williams, Paternoster Row, with a coloured portrait of the Prince of Wales.

We have received two very interesting "morceaux" of music. The one is a spirited polka, composed by W. Smallwood, and which we commend to the notice of our fair sisters. We shall hope that it may be patronized just now by that always loyal portion of our community.

The other is a "Festival Cantata," selected from Psalms cxxi. and cxxv.—"Praise to the Great Architect of the Universe," by Bro. T. Brooks, Org. 1358. Such compositions are very useful and very valuable, inasmuch as they can be seasonably introduced into many of our Masonic ceremonies. We commend Bro. Brooks's Cantata to the notice and support of the Craft.

AMERICAN NOTES.

MASONIC CENTENNIAL.—The One Hundredth Anniversary of American Union Lodge, No. 1, will be held on St. John's Day, June 24th, 1876, at Marietta, Ohio. This, the oldest Masonic lodge in the West, was originally constituted at Roxbury, in the State of Massachusetts, on the 20th day of February, 1776, the charter having been issued on the 15th, during the memorable struggle of the American Colonies for their independence, was worked in the Patriot Army, and visited by General George Washington and his Masonic brethren, who were holding offices in that army. Many other eminent men have since that time filled its various offices, among them General Rufus Putnam, the first Grand Master of Ohio, Gov. Return J. Meigs, and Gen. Lewis Cass. S. L. Hayden, in his work entitled "Washington and his Masonic Compeers," says: "American Union Lodge is the oldest daughter of the American Revolution," and undoubtedly the idea of the American Union was first developed by the organization of this lodge, as its name indicates—the colonies of America not having formed a union at that time, as the compact was declared first on July 4th, 1776, several months afterwards. An interesting sketch of the history of American Union Lodge is given in the proceedings of the Grand Lodge of Ohio, for 1875.

SEVENTY-SIX YEARS A MASON.—Bro. Peter Hammond, now residing at Geneseo, Henry county, Illinois, is one of the oldest Masons, as well as one of the oldest men, now living. He was born at Newton, Massachusetts, April 9th, 1776, consequently next April will be one hundred years old. His father, Samuel Hammond, was one of the old patriots who got up a lively tea party on board an English vessel in Boston harbour at the commencement of the Revolutionary war. He emigrated with his wife from Newton to Wardsboro, Windham county, Vermont, among the early settlers there, where he died December, 1842, aged ninety-four years. At the time they emigrated to Vermont, they left their eldest son, Peter, with his grand parents, where he remained until his mother made the journey on horseback after him, and took him back to their new home, a distance of one hundred and twenty-five miles, much of the way through the wilderness, the boy walking the whole distance. Here, on the eastern slope of the Green Mountains, he grew up to man's estate and became an honoured citizen. By industry and economy he acquired considerable wealth in early life. In the fall of 1799, being then twenty-three years old, Bro. Hammond took his first degree in Masonry. He subsequently became Worshipful Master of Mount Moriah Lodge, at Wardsboro, which position he held for a number of years, until the Morgan excitement, when the lodge voted to surrender its charter, much against his wishes. He yet retains the Master's jewel, which is now a precious jewel to him, and still takes a lively interest in Masonry, even now occasionally attending lodge meetings. His present health and strength indicate that he will not only live to celebrate his centennial year, but may add several more to it. So mote it be.—"Masonic Advocate."

THE FREEMASONS AND BURNS.—Amongst the recent celebrations of the birth-day of Burns, I am glad to see that the Freemasons of the St. James's Lodge at Tarbolton have not neglected to do honour to the memory of the poet who has enriched Masonic literature with one of its really good songs; the major part of the others being arrant rubbish, whether viewed as literary productions or as expositions of the glorious principles of the Craft. Whether Tarbolton be the burial-place of "auld King Coil" or not (and it has tradition for its green mound in its favour), Burns has made his connection with its Masonic lodge world-famous by his touching "Farewell to the Brethren of the St. James's Lodge, Tarbolton," written when want and persecution were about to drive him from his native land, which eternal disgrace to Scotland was saved through Masonry alone, as to that he owed his introduction to the Edinburgh literati. Let my readers, whether brother Masons or otherwise, take down their copy of Burns' poems, and read once more the beautiful verses I have alluded to, and they will feel all the better for having done so. Not only was the "one round" asked for "with a tear" by the bard to be given annually to his memory duly accorded by his "dear brothers of the mystic tie," in the very lodge where he had so oft not only "spent the festive night," but also "presided o'er the sons of light;" but several of his best songs were sung, the famous "Farewell" being appropriately included, and, as I learn from the "Freemason," "the jewel worn by the poet and other relics had a conspicuous place assigned them." I mention that Thom, the sculptor of the statues illustrative of "Tam o'Shanter and Souter Johnny," on the Burns' Monument at Alloway, was born in the parish of Tarbolton; and his name, like that of the poet, is "to Masonry and Scotia dear."—Bro. George Markham Tweddell, in the Archæologist.

LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

The monthly meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence was held on Wednesday evening at Freemasons' Hall; Bros. John M. Clabon, President; Joshua Nunn, Senior Vice President; James Brett, Junior Vice President being in their places. The following brethren were also present:—H. Bartlett, P.M. 147; Joseph Smith, P.G.P.; C. A. Cottebrune, P.G.P.; Hyde Pullen, P.G.S.B.; Griffiths Smith, P.M. 21; William Stephens, P.M.; C. F. Hogard, P.M.; Samuel May, James Mason, P.G. S.B.; Herbert Dicketts, P.M.; John Boyd, P.G.P.; Benj. Head, P.G.S.D.; Wm. Hy. Myers, P.M.; John Hervey, G.S.; H. G. Buss, A. A. Pendlebury, B. H. Swallow, W.M. City of Westminster; Charles H. Driver, P.M.; Samuel Pardoe, P.M. 511; H. T. Thompson, P.M. 742; F. H. Ebsworth, P.M. 73; F. W. Chittenden, W.M. 548; Thos. Kingston, W.M. 862; George Bird Gates, W.M. 829; J. H. Younghusband, P.M. 221; G. Rosh, W.M. 534; J. R. Foulger, P.M. 177; H. W. Hemsworth, P.M. 1193; C. P. Cobham, W.M. 957; Alex. Pilbeam, W.M. 45; Jesse Turner, P.M. 30; J. J. Berry, W.M. 534; A. R. Wade, P.M. 1442; George Brooks, W.M. 902; Lionel Jacobs, W.M. 205; J. Pringle, W.M. 766; Joseph J. Nelson, W.M. 539; W. J. Murlis, W.M. 1489; J. H. Watts, W.M. 1201; W. Stuart, P.M. 179; W. R. Marsh, P.M. 9; Howard Williams, W.M. 905; W. W. Baxter, W.M. 742; B. H. Mallam, W.M. 1563; H. G. Goodall, W.M. 784; J. Lightfoot, P.M. 147; John Green, 27; J. R. Gallant, W.M. 813; J. Smith, P.M. 913; Karl Bergmann, W.M. 238; H. Massey, P.M. 619 ("Freemason"); G. W. F. Loftus, P.M. 1193; H. M. Levy, P.M. 188.

Grants to the extent of £320, out of the total grants made at the former sitting, were first confirmed, and the brethren then proceeded with the new cases. Of these there were 33, which were disposed of as follows:—8 deferred; 1 received £100; 2, £30 each; 7, £20 each; 5, £15 each; 6, £10 each; 3, £5 each; and 1 received £2. Many of the cases were those of widows. The lodge sat for three hours.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, April 28, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, APRIL 22.

Audit Com. Boys' School, at 3.
Lodge 1293, Burdett, Mitre Hot., Hampton-court.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Percy, 113, Southgate-rd., N.
Manchester, 179, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross Road.

MONDAY, APRIL 24.

Annual Red Cross Ball.—See advt.
Lodge 4, Royal Somerset House and Inverness.
" 26, Castle of Harmony, Willis's Rooms.
" 28, Old King's Arms, F.M.H.
" 79, Pythagorean, Ship Hot., Greenwich.
Chap. 188, Joppa, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
West Kent, St. Saviour's College, Forest-hill.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, APRIL 25.

Special Gen. Meeting R.M.B.I. at 3.—See advt.
Audit Com. Girls' School at 4.
Lodge 14, Tuscan, F.M.H.
" 92, Moira, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 141, Faith, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 145, Prudent Brethren, F.M.H.
" 205, Israel, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
" 259, Prince of Wales, Willis's Rooms, St. James's.
" 1158, Southern Star, Montpellier Tav., Walworth.
" 1196, Urban, Old Jerusalem Tav., Clerkenwell.
" 1348, Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
Chap. 7, Royal York of Perseverance, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatshaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone, at 8.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26.

Grand Festival, F.M.H.—See advt.
Lodge 212, Euphrates, M.H., Basinghall-st.
" 507, United Pilgrims, Horns' Tav., Kennington.
" 754, High Cross, Seven Sisters' Tav., Tottenham.
" 898, Temperance-in-the East, 6, Newby-pl., Poplar.
" 1056, Victoria, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.

Lodge 1415, Campbell, Mitre Hot., Hampton-court.
" 1523, St. Mary Magdalene, Star Hot., Greenwich.
" 1540, Chaucer, Bridge House Hot., London-bridge.
Chap. 753, Prince Frederick William, St. John's Wood.
" 857, St. Marks, Surrey M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Moont Edgcombe, 19, Jermyn-street, St. James's.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.

THURSDAY, APRIL 27.

Gen. Com. Girls' School, at 4.
Lodge 22, Neptune, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
" 65, Prosperity, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
" 66, Grenadiers', F.M.H.
" 99, Shakespeare, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 858, South Middlesex, Beaufort Ho., Fulham.
" 871, Royal Oak, White Swan, High-st., Deptford.
Chap. 217, Stability, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 534, Polish National, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albion-rd., Dalston.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.

FRIDAY, APRIL 28.

Anniversary Festival, Stability L. of I.—See advt.
House Com. Boys' School, at 4.
Lodge 197, Jerusalem, F.M.H.
" 569, FitzRoy, Hd.-qtrs. Hon. Art. Co., City-rd.
" 861, Finsbury, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
St. George's, Globe Tav., Royal-hill, Greenwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Metropolitan, Pentonville-road.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, Commercial Tav., King's-road, Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday April 29, 1876.

MONDAY, APRIL 24.

Lodge 145, Lights, M.R., Warrington.
Chap. 241, Friendship, M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, APRIL 25.

Lodge 1393, Hamer, 22, Everton-rd., Liverpool.
Chap. 721, Grosvenor, M.R., Chester.
" 823, Everton, M.H., Liverpool.
Merchant's L. of I., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26.

Lodge 2, St. George's, Adelphi Hot., Hot., Liverpool.
" 220, Harmony, Garston Hot., Garston.
" 724, Derby, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1052, Callender, P.H., Rusholme.
" 1356, De Grey and Ripon, M.H., Liverpool.
Neptune L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, APRIL 27.

Lodge 594, Downshire, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1313, Fermor, M.H., Southport.
Chap. 216, Sacred Delta, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1086, Walton, St. Lawrence's School.

FRIDAY, APRIL 28.

Chap. 680, Sefton, M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, April 29, 1876.
All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, APRIL 24.

Lodge 102, St. Mark, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 103, Union & Crown, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgw.
" 187, St. John, Black Bull Inn, Carlisle.
" 219, Star, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.
" 362, St. Clair, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.
" 541, Marie Stuart, M.H., Crosshill.
Chap. 122, Thetis, 35, St. James's-st., Kingston.

TUESDAY, APRIL 25.

Lodge 413, Athole, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
" 543, St. John, M.H., Dalmaur.
" 67, Cathedral, 22, Struthers-st., Glasgow.
" 73, Caledonian of Unity, 170, Buchanan-st.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26.

Lodge 505, Burns St. Mary, Commercial Inn, Hurlford.
" 510, Maryhill, 167, Main-st., Maryhill.

THURSDAY, APRIL 27.

Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow, 213, Buchanan-st.
Lodge 290, Dalry Blair, White Hart H., Dalry.
" 334, St. John's, Castle-inn, New Cumnock.
" 570, Kenmuir, M.H., Springburn.
Chap. 117, Govandale, Portland Buildings, Govan.

FRIDAY, APRIL 28.

Lodge 51, Loudon Kilwinning, Black Bull, Newmilns.
" 118, St. Bride's, M.H., Douglas.
" 125, St. James, Masons' Arms, Newton Ayr.
" 153, Royal Arch, M.H., Pollokshaws.
" 236, Wilsontown St. John, Forth Inn, Carnworth.
" 347, St. John, M.H., Rutherglen.
Chap. 79, Commercial, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, April 29, 1876.

MONDAY, APRIL 24.

Lodge 349, St. Clair, F.M.H., George-st.

TUESDAY, APRIL 25.

Lodge 151, Defensive Band, Alexandra H., Cockburn-st.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 26.

Lodge 112, St. John, Royal Hot., Musselburgh.

THURSDAY, APRIL 27.

Lodge 392, Caledonian, F.M.H., George-st.

FRIDAY, APRIL 28.

Lodge 223, Trafalgar, 54, Bernard-st., Leith.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION

for Aged Freemasons
and Widows of Freemasons,

In compliance with a requisition received in accordance with Rule 8, a SPECIAL GENERAL MEETING of the Governors and Subscribers of the Institution will be held at Freemasons' Hall, Great Queen-street, London, on TUESDAY, the 25th day of April, 1876, at Three o'clock in the afternoon precisely, to consider the propriety of altering Law 4, Page 12, of the rules and regulations by substituting the figures £40 for £36, and Law 4, Page 13, by substituting the figures £32 for £28, and further to consider any proposition or motion which may then be brought forward to carry into effect the proposed alterations.

(By order) JAMES TERRY,
Secretary.
Office, 4, Freemasons Hall, London, W.C.
18th April, 1876.

THE ANNUAL

RED CROSS BALL

WILL BE GIVEN AT

WILLIS'S ROOMS, KING STREET, ST. JAMES'S.

UNDER THE AUSPICES OF THE GRAND COUNCIL.

By the Members of the Masonic and Military Orders of the Red Cross of Constantine, K.H.S., and Knights of St. John,

On Monday, April 24, 1876.

PRESIDENT,

COLONEL FRANCIS BURDETT,

M. Em. Grand Viceroy, and Deputy Grand Commander of St. John.

The surplus will be given to the Masonic Charities and to the Almoner's Fund of the Red Cross Order.

Coote and Tinney's Band, Conductor, Bro. Coote.
Tickets, including Refreshments and Champagne Supper, Gentlemen, 21s.; Ladies, 15s.; Double Ticket, 31s. 6d.
Dancing to commence at Nine o'clock.

R. Wentworth Little, (Treas. Gen. and Knt. Grand Commander of St. John.) Treasurer.

Henry A. Dubois, G.A. Treas. and Knt. Commander of St. John; and J. Musgrave Levick, Commander of St. John, Hon. Secs.

17, Great James-Street, Bedford-Row, W.C.

WELCOME HOME POLKA. — By W. SMALLWOOD, Composer of the celebrated Sea Shells Polka. Beautifully illustrated in colours, with life-like Portrait of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales in Masonic dress. "Welcome Home Quadrilles," by Arthur Henry Brown. Each 3s., post free 18 stamps.—London: B. Williams, 19, Paternoster-row.

A MASON of many years standing, owing to a run of misfortune is reduced to great distress, age 37, married, with family, appearance and address good, has plenty of push and tact. He will be most grateful to any brother for employment, not particular what some position of trust preferred. Address, M.M., Post Office, Sonning, Berks.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

Grand Festival	185
REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry	186
Royal Arch	188
Ancient and Accepted Rite	188
Scotland	188
Royal Masonic Institution for Girls	190
Masonic and General Tidings	190
Agenda of Grand Chapter	191
Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution	191
Masonic Intelligence from France	191
The Red Cross Ball	191
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys	191
Lord Skelmersdale on Church Extension	192
The Return of our Royal Grand Master	192
The Queen's Return	192
English Freemasonry	192
The Province of West Lancashire	193
CORRESPONDENCE:—
"What Next? Indeed!"	193
Masonic Jurisprudence	193
Membership of Provincial Grand Lodge	193
Regalia	193
The Installation Picture	193
The Freemasons and Burns	194
The Mark Degree	194
Masonic Prefixes	194
Masonic Hall at Havant	194
Inaugural Ball at the Surrey Masonic Hall	195
Visit of Provincial Grand Lodge of Derby to the Phoenix Lodge of St. Ann, Buxton	196
Provincial Grand Lodge of West Lancashire	196
Obituary	197
Provincial Grand Chapter of West Lancashire	197
Testimonial to a Worthy Brother	197
Masonic Meetings for Next Week	197
Advertisements	i. ii. iii. iv. v. vi.

GRAND FESTIVAL.

The annual meeting of Grand Lodge for the installation of the Most Worshipful Grand Master, was held on Wednesday evening, at Freemasons' Hall. As His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has not yet returned from his eastern tour, his place was occupied by the Pro Grand Master, the Right Hon. the Earl of Carnarvon, who had Col. Burdett, Prov. Grand Master of Middlesex, on his right, as Deputy Grand Master, while Bro. F. Pattison took the chair of Senior Grand Warden, and Bro. John Havers, that of Junior Grand Warden. The throne occupied by the Prince of Wales last year at the Albert Hall, surmounted by the Masonic banner, was placed for the Pro Grand Master, and the beautiful special carpet, woven expressly for the installation of the Prince of Wales, was again laid down the whole length of the temple for the procession of Grand Officers. The arrangements for accommodating an additional number of brethren was admirable. The Senior Warden's chair was placed nearer the porch, and the Junior Warden's chair was brought several feet forward. The extra space thus given was filled with seats, all of which were occupied. Grand Lodge was fully attended. Among the brethren present were Bros. Lord Tenterden, S. Rawson, J. M. Clabon, Rev. R. J. Simpson, McIntyre, Q.C., F. Roxburgh, Q.C., Dr. Woodman, the Rev. Sir J. Warren Hayes, Rev. S. R. Wigram, Rev. C. J. Martyn, Sir Michael Costa, Raynham, W. Stewart, A. J. D. Filer, R. J. Spiers, Major Platt, S. Tomkins Grand Treasurer; John Hervey, Grand Secretary; W. Speed, Grand Deacon; H. Browse, James Glaisher, J. A. Rucker, John B. Monckton, Peter De L. Long, Dr. Erasmus Wilson, Col. Creaton, J. C. Parkinson, Dr. Alfred Meadows, F. A. Philbrick, Q. C., Benj. Head, Thos. Fenn, C. A. Mirron, Hyde Pullen, Brackstone Baker, Ex. Sheriff Hutton, Rev. Dr. Cox, James Mason, Wilhelm Ganz, and others.

At five o'clock the organ was played by Herr Wilhelm Kuhe, and headed by Sir Albert Woods, Garter, Grand Director of Ceremonies the Grand Stewards of the year and Grand Officers entered, the Earl of Carnarvon, as Pro Grand Master, entering with the others, and taking his seat on the throne amidst the applause of the brethren.

Grand Lodge having been formally opened

The Earl of Carnarvon said,—The next duty I have to perform can be stated in a very few words; indeed, it is simply to announce to this Grand Lodge that His Royal Highness our Most Worshipful Grand Master, absent to-day, I regret, from the midst of us, has been pleased to appoint me as Pro Grand Master. (Loud applause). On this, of course, all comment on my part is necessarily superfluous, and the ordinary course of proceedings will follow.

Sir Albert Woods then proclaimed the Earl of Carnarvon as Pro Grand Master, and the customary salute followed.

The Earl of Carnarvon again rose and said—Brethren, I do not address you now to thank you for the manner in which you have received the announcement which it was my duty as a matter of form to lay before you. I have had already too many and too long evidences of your good will towards me to say anything on that point; but it is my duty now to make a second announcement to you, and one which I am satisfied will give great gratification to all who are in Grand Lodge, that His Royal Highness, the most Worshipful Grand Master, has been pleased to name my noble friend Lord Skelmersdale as the Deputy Grand Master (Applause), and take this opportunity of explaining, on behalf of my noble friend and brother, how deeply grieved he is to be unable to-day to be present. His absence is due to a great family affliction which effectually prevents him from being in attendance here to-day. Brethren, I have to announce that Lord Skelmersdale is the Deputy Grand Master.

The following brethren were then invested with the insignia of Grand Office, the Earl of Carnarvon first announcing that the Prince of Wales had been pleased to appoint them:—The Earl of Donoughmore, Senior Grand Warden; the Hon. William Warren Vernon, Junior Grand Warden; the Revs. Spencer Robert Wigram and Charles William Arnold, Grand Chaplains; Samuel Tomkins (Willis, Percival, and Co., bankers, Lombard-street), Grand Treasurer; Æ. J. McIntyre, Q.C., Grand Registrar; John Hervey, Grand Secretary; E. E. Wendt, Grand Secretary for German Correspondence; Lieut.-Colonel Thomas Burchell and T. W. Boord, M.P., Senior Grand Deacons; Ed. Barron and John M. Case, Junior Grand Deacons; F. Pepys Cockerell, Grand Superintendent of Works; Sir Albert Woods (Garter), Grand Director of Ceremonies; Dr. W. Rhys Williams, Assistant Grand Director of Ceremonies; Wm. F. Nettleship, Grand Sword Bearer; Wilhelm Kuhe, Grand Organist; E. P. Albert, Grand Pursuivant; S. G. Foxall, Assistant Grand Pursuivant; and C. B. Payne, Grand Tyler.

After these brethren had been formally saluted, the Grand Secretary read the following list of Grand Stewards for the year:—Bros. Thomas Taylor Smith, 1; John Boyd, 23; John Lewis Geiger, 8; Wm. Hope, M.D., 2; Arthur Curtis Valey, 4; John Cory Havers, 5; Winthrop Mackworth Praed, 6; Edmund Nash, M.D., 14; Robert Berridge, 21; Thos. Clarke Tatham, 26; Arthur Jas. Rickens Trundell, 29; Leonard Alfred Kew, 46; Felix Sumner Knyvett, 58; John Giles Chancellor, 60; Henry John Reynolds, 91; Geo. Marshall, 99; Wm. George Cusins, 197; Gabriel Prior Goldney, 259.

Grand Lodge was thereupon closed and the brethren adjourned to a splendid banquet at Freemasons' Tavern, at which the Earl of Carnarvon presided. This banquet, which was admirably supplied, was superintended by Mr. Dawkins, of the Freemasons' Tavern, and gave general satisfaction. The providing of it, and the general arrangements reflected the highest credit on the Grand Stewards, of whom the following is a list:—President: Bro. George N. Johnson, 1; Treasurer, Bro. George R. Thervill; Hon. Sec., Bro. Charles J. Morgan, 8; Bros. Stephen Pearce, 2; Alfred Meadows, 4; William H. Clarke, 5; William B. Colman, 6; Augustus C. Sadler, 14; Thomas Wilson, 21; W. N. C. D'Arcy, 26; F. Farnan, jun., 22; George F. Humphrey, 49; Alfred J. Hollington, 58; William L. Wheeler, 60; John T. Wimperis, 91; William R. Winch, 99; Thomas G. Bullen, 197; John Scott, 259.

After the banquet and before the cloth was uncovered the Earl of Carnarvon rose, and said:—Brethren, I sincerely regret that through unexpected circumstances I shall be obliged to retire from the chair this evening. I had hoped indeed that His Royal Highness, our Grand Master, might have returned to England in time to fill the chair on this great anniversary of the Masonic year. Unfortunately he has not been able to complete his journey and to reach this country in time. I had hoped also that my noble friend and brother, Lord Skelmersdale, might, as Deputy Grand Master, have also been present on the occasion. He has, unhappily, as I mentioned in Grand Lodge, been obliged to absent himself in consequence of a great family affliction. The task, therefore, suddenly, and without notice, fell upon me, and I regret to say that business over which I have really and literally no control, obliges me at this moment to ask your indulgence, and to leave you. It is personally a matter of extreme regret to me—I can hardly say how great regret. At the same time I know that all of you in this room know me so well that they are aware how reluctantly I tear myself away from such an assembly, and that I would not do so were it not that the necessity is absolutely imperative. Brethren, in taking my leave of you, I will only venture to express the hope which I know exists in the minds of every Mason in this room, that before very long His Royal Highness, may once more be with us. (Hear hear). I am satisfied that whenever he does return he will receive one of those cordial and enthusiastic welcomes such as he can receive nowhere out of the craft. Brethren: His Royal Highness has during the last few months not merely pursued a journey of great personal interest, but he has also performed a great and high political duty. (Applause). He has passed through the length and breadth of our Indian Empire. He has conciliated affections; he has cemented those blocks—those colossal blocks—of empire by his happy temper by his kindly consideration, by his political tact; and he has come away from the East, having discharged, and successfully discharged, a great public duty. (Hear hear.) On the other hand, we may also feel, and feel with great satisfaction, that while discharging those great political duties, he has never been forgetful of those Masonic obligations which he undertook here. Through the length and breadth of India he has received deputations; he has attended spectacles with reference to Masonry, which have given us all the greatest delight. He has discharged Masonic duties at Gibraltar; and he is, I observe, about to do the same at Lisbon; and if, as I saw lately in the newspapers, he has deliberately omitted to perform a Masonic duty in Malta, it was due to his political tact, and his knowledge and appreciation of the political circumstances of the Island. In a single word, I am satisfied that wherever His Royal Highness had been during the last three or four months he has maintained, and he has raised to a still higher point the credit and the character of English Masonry. (Cheers.) Brethren, I have nothing further to add except to express my deep personal regret at being obliged to absent myself, and I hope that under the presidency of my Right Worshipful brother on my right (Col. Burdett) who will now take my place, everything that is good and everything that is agreeable will ensue during the course of the evening. I wish you all an extremely good night.

His lordship then left the hall, conducted by Bro. Hervey and Sir Albert Woods, all the brethren standing. Col. Burdett took the chair in his lordship's absence, and grace was afterwards sung.

In giving the toast of "Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen," the Chairman said that all Masons were pleased that Her Majesty should return to this country after her Continental trip, refreshed with the change of air and scene, and with renewed strength.

The Chairman next proposed "Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales," and in doing so said that all the brethren would receive it with great delight. They all knew that Her Royal Highness felt considerable reluctance to the Prince going to what was felt to be an unhealthy country; but her feelings of patriotism prompted her to resist any personal objection to the step. We all know the influence a wife exercises over a husband; but she refrained from objecting to his travelling and smothered those feelings which she felt at parting with one so near and dear to her for the sake of the country to which we were happy to say she now belonged.

The Chairman next proposed "His Royal Highness the Grand Master." All Masons had the greatest wish to see him once more among them, and they hoped to do so. He did his duties as a Mason in a most enthusiastic manner, of which all classes had had experience. There never had been the slightest whisper of any deficiency of duty on his part, and Masons were all gratified that he performed his Masonic duties not only in this country but wherever he went. His journey to the East would produce most valuable fruits to Masonry. Whether in India, Spain, or Portugal, he had shown himself anxious to assist in every way he could the cause of Masonry. When he came back he would be received with the greatest enthusiasm. (Great applause.)

The Chairman next proposed "The M.W. the Pro Grand Master," and said that his lordship was so completely overwhelmed with public business that he had been obliged to leave the brethren earlier than he wished. Although in a short time he had suffered severe domestic affliction and been burdened with political work, he had never deserted his allegiance to Freemasonry. He had stuck to the Order in the kindest and most enthusiastic way, and he would always be well remembered by the brethren.

The Chairman then gave "The R.W. the Deputy Grand Master," and expressed his regret that domestic affliction was the cause of his absence. In all parts of England Lord Skelmersdale was well known to Freemasons, and those who did not now know his lordship, when they came to know him would be pleased not only with his Masonry but his kind and genial nature.

The Chairman next said that he had hitherto had to speak of individuals; he had now to speak of large bodies, and would propose "The Grand Lodges of Scotland and Ireland." Grand Lodge of England was intimately connected with them, and was on terms of the warmest and closest friendship with them. (Cheers.)

Lord Tenterden proposed "The R.W. the Provincial Grand Masters." Every Mason knew how ably these brethren discharged their duties, and with what energy and tact they performed their functions. The chair could not be better filled than by Col. Burdett, Prov. Grand Master of Middlesex, whose health as Chairman he would propose at the same time. It was not necessary to speak of Col. Burdett's abilities in that hall, as they were known to the whole Craft. The mere mention of his name was sufficient to secure a cordial reception. (Applause.) With the toast he would couple also the name of Bro. Ramsay, the District Grand Master of the Punjab. They had heard a great deal that evening of the reception of the Prince of Wales in India by Masons; and he might inform them that the District of the Punjab had seventeen active working Grand Lodges, and five chapters. To the provinces he wished prosperity.

The Chairman, in reply, said how much gratified he felt at the complimentary remarks of Lord Tenterden; but he could assure the brethren that he had only performed his duty, and he was glad that he had done so to the satisfaction of the Craft. Some people might perhaps find fault with Provincial Grand Masters; but they were few; and as long as he was a Prov. Grand Master, he would endeavour to do his duty.

Bro. Ramsay also replied.

The Chairman next proposed "The R.W. the Grand Wardens, and other Grand Officers, Past and Present," and complimented them on the way in which they one and all discharged their responsibilities.

The Hon. W. W. Vernon, J.G.W., responded.

The Chairman then proposed "The Masonic Charities," which he strongly recommended to the attention of the brethren. He alluded to the growth of these institutions, and felt confident that every one would exert himself to the utmost to maintain them in their condition of prosperity. (Hear, hear.)

Bro. James Terry, in reply said, he was completely taken by surprise in being called upon to respond, as it was a well known rule in Grand Lodge that the Secretary of the Institution whose festival was immediately following Grand Festival, should have the opportunity and pleasure of replying to so acceptable a toast to the great body of Freemasons. In the absence of the Secretaries of the other Educational Institutions, however, it devolved on him to reply. He could only but express the hope that the success, and what he might term the only increased success which attended the festival of the Benevolent Institution in February last, might be renewed at the approaching festival of the Girls' School and the Boys' School. When he told the brethren that the three Institutions received over £30,000 last year, he ventured to hope that when the month of June came, they would be able to announce a much larger sum. The reason he said so was that the demands on the Institutions were largely increasing, and therefore they called on the body of the Craft to give them the means of meeting them. They had 40 applicants for the Girls' School, 59 for the Boys', and 57 for the Benevolent Institution. Not more than one-third could be accommodated at the Educational Institutions, and therefore it behoved the Craft to do all they could and more than they were now doing. With respect to the Benevolent Institution whose festival had just been held, more than £9400 had been received. Permit him to say that the committee of the institution, being mindful of the obligation devolving upon them, had resolved to respond to this liberality by the addition of £4 to each annuity. At a meeting held only the day before they resolved to do this; but the brethren must remember that this involved an additional outlay of nearly £1000 a year. He appealed to the new blood, the incoming members, to lend their assistance. (Great cheering.)

The Chairman then gave "The Grand Stewards of the year," and thanked them for their kind attention to the comforts of the brethren.

Bro. Johnson replied, and said that nine-tenths of the work fell on the Secretary. This office was filled this year by Bro. C. J. Morgan, without whom the Grand Stewards would have fallen into complete confusion. His exertions certainly deserved praise, and if anything should be in the gift of Grand Lodge all the Stewards hoped it might fall on Bro. Morgan. (Cheers.)

The remainder of the evening was spent in the Temple, where a beautiful concert was given under the conductorship of Herr Wilhelm Kuhe and Herr Wilhelm Ganz. Madame Liebhart, Miss Annie Sinclair, Madame Osborne Williams, and Bros. George Perren, Large, Carter, and Theodore Distin were the vocalists engaged. Bro. Harker was toastmaster.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

POLISH NATIONAL LODGE (No. 534).—The annual gathering of this celebrated lodge was held on Thursday, April 13th, at Freemasons' Hall, for the installation of the W.M. Bro. F. Rath, and a right noble meeting it was, some 70 brethren being present, besides numerous visitors. The lodge was summoned for 4.30 p.m. The working of this lodge was most excellent, and the installation ceremony was duly performed, much to the credit of the Installing Master, after which the newly-elected W.M. initiated five new members, and did the work admirably, as well as the officers, who were equally well up in all they had to do. Splendid order and equally splendid attention were given. The following brethren were the officers:—S.W., J. H. Cumming; J.W., G. T. Ebner; S.D., J. Aspinall; J.D., J. S. Taylor; I.G., A. N. Jagielski; M.C., G. E. C. Jackson; Treas., our right worthy Bro. John Boyd; and the ever-active and well-known Bro. W. Paa, P.M., Sec. A lodge thus constituted can only be a success and worshipful. Amongst the visitors on this occasion were many well-known brethren, Bros. Colonel Peters, F. Binckes, Adlard, Hyde Pullen, S. White, T. Burdett Yeoman, and many others. After the business of the lodge was finished, the brethren adjourned to the banquet room and sat down to a table sumptuously laden with all the delicacies of the season. Here again the W.M. had evidently done his duty, in company with the Wine Steward, Bro. Paa, who studied the taste of every brother present. Such attention does honour to the lodge. Grace was said by the W.M., and the cloth removed. After some few minutes the W.M. called the brethren to order, and gave the toast of "The Queen and the Craft;" said,—"As your W.M., nothing gives me greater pleasure, than to pay a tribute of attachment and loyalty to the sovereign lady of these realms, who adorns the throne, and lovingly and mightily sways its sceptre: we are bound to admire and love her, because of her attachment to our royal and ancient Order. Brethren—"The Queen and the Craft." After the National Anthem was sung the W.M. gave the next toast, "The Grand Master of the Craft, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales," remarked there was unfortunately a great deal of cheap praise and adulation lavished on those who often by mere chance were called upon to occupy places of trust in the Government, but in our G.M. we have one who, when our noble Order stood in jeopardy, accepted the Masonic throne, and thus made firmer than ever the strength and unity of the brotherhood, for which we pay him all honour. Brethren, a good fire for the M.W.G.M., H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. Brethren, I will now give you the toast of the Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon, who is a gentleman and nobleman well suited and fitted to fulfil the high and responsible office which he has been called to. It is well known how thoroughly he acquits himself of the duties imposed upon him. He is the right man in the right place; we will therefore pay him the honour which is his due. To his health, and may he long continue in the midst of us and have our confidence. To order, brethren, whilst with great pleasure I give to you "The Deputy Grand Master and the rest of the Grand Officers." I cannot say more of the D.G.M. and officers than I have of the Pro Grand Master. We know that he has the full confidence, and they also, of the Craft, otherwise they would not have been called to those high and most honourable offices. Bro. P. M. Cooke proposed "The Health of the W.M." in eulogistic terms, and the W.M. Rath responded by saying how grateful he felt by having the confidence of the brethren of the lodge, and that whilst he ruled he trusted peace and prosperity would go hand in hand together. He felt that the duties of governing so large a lodge involved much time and seriousness, especially when this lodge was composed of men of so high an order of intellect. I shall do my duty, and state, like Marshal MacMahon, "J'y suis, j'y resti." With heartfelt thanks please accept the same. The toast of "The Initiates" was given with enthusiasm and heartily responded to. The W.M. said that there was no more pleasing duty to perform than that of having to propose "The Health of the Visitors." The toast was responded to by Bros. Hyde Pullen, and Binckes in terms of acceptability. The toast of "The Tyler" brought one of the most pleasurable evenings to a close that one might ever wish to experience. "Vive la" Polish National Lodge.

GREAT NORTHERN LODGE (No. 1287).—The last meeting of the season was held on Thursday, 20th inst., at the Freemasons' Hall, Bro. E. Lancaster, W.M., presiding, supported by Bros. E. Staton, P.M. and Sec., acting S.W.; Jupe, J.W.; West, S.D.; Robinson, J.D.; Arkell, I.G.; Rawles, Tyler. There were also present I.P.M. Forbes, P.M. Webb, Treas.; and Bros. Buszard, Owen, Schmerl, Hawtin, and others. The business before the lodge was the raising of Bros. Kempton and G. Buszard and the passing of Bro. Farry, which was very carefully done by the W.M. On the completion the brethren adjourned for refreshment, and the pleasure of the evening was greatly enhanced by the singing of several of the brethren.

STOCKWELL LODGE (No. 1339).—The installation meeting of the above lodge was held on Thursday, April 22nd, at the Tulse Hill Hotel, there being present Bros. Benham, W.M.; J. Pain, W.M. elect; Bowyer, J.W.; Frances, P.G.S.D., Sec.; Coe, S.D.; P. Mirjer, J.D.; Harris, I.G.; Brighton, P.M.; Klenck, P.M.; Dubiney, F. Sawyer, Cocks, Grist, C. H. Benham, jun.; Kay, Wm. Harris, H. Hart, Turner, W. H. Boswell, Horncastle, Hineksman, H. S. Hart, Clarke, F. Knibbs, R. J. Knibbs, Mason, Footman, and others. Visitors: Bros. Simpson, P.G. Chaplain; Coward, P.G. Org.; Stork, Boddy, W.M. 1044; Alftatt, 192; Atkins, P.M. 813; Quellerton, 1329; Goldsmid, 419; Mellick, 857; Dodson, P.M. 72; Dann, S.D. 72; Hancock, 1329; and Newman, 1385. The business of the evening consisted of the initiation of Mr. Wm. Scrace, the passing of Bros. Turner and Cocks, the raising of Bros. Boswell, and Mellick, 857; and Benham, jun.; and the installation of Bro. J. Pain. The initiation and passings were performed by the W.M., and the raisings by Bro. Frances, P.M., P.G.S.D.; and the installation by the W.M., and all the ceremonies were very ably rendered. Officers appointed: Bros. Bassett, S.W.; Bowyer, J.W.; Frances, P.M., Sec.; Hammerton, P.M., Treas.; Coe, S.D.; Bowyer, J.D.; and Harris, I.G. The incoming W.M., as a final duty, presented, in the name of the lodge, with a few appropriate words, a jewel to the immediate P.M., Bro. Benham, who acknowledged the gift. This being a Banner Lodge, the W.M. presented the lodge with a banner of his arms. The brethren then adjourned to the grounds to witness a beautiful display of fireworks, which had been provided by the W.M., Bro. Pain, and were much delighted at the artistic skill which had been employed in blending in a brilliant harmony pyrotechnic colours of every hue. The brethren gave three hearty cheers at the conclusion, and returned to the lodge-room, where an excellent banquet awaited them. Afterwards the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given. The immediate P.M. proposed the toast of "The W.M.," remarking that he was one of the founders, and he had no doubt the prosperity of the lodge would continue under his care. He was sure he would be found quite equal to the work of the lodge, and that the brethren would feel quite satisfied with the choice they had made. Bro. Pain, in reply, said he was one of those who formed the lodge in 1871, and he had been S.W. of it for three years in succession, but his business avocations would not allow of his taking the chair till this time, for he did not wish to have the office of W.M. until he felt quite sure of being able to fill the post with satisfaction. He thanked them sincerely for the manner in which they had drunk his health. The toast of "The Initiate" was received and replied to. "The Visitors" was replied to by Bro. Simpson, P.G.C., who testified to the delight he had experienced in being present that evening. He was much pleased at the manner the various ceremonies had been gone through. The ceremonies in Freemasonry were very beautiful, and he was sure the most indifferent would not fail to be impressed with them, by hearing them repeatedly so well done as they had been by the brethren he had heard that evening. As the constant dropping of water on the hardest stone would in time wear its way into it, so must the constant hearing of the tenets of Freemasonry leave its impression on the minds of those who listened to them. He thanked them for the cordial manner in which they had received the toast. Bro. Coward, P.G.O., also replied in a few appropriate words. The toast of "The Immediate P.M. and the P.M.'s" were given, and replied to by Bros. Benham, Klenck, and France. The toast of "The Officers" was replied to by Bro. Brighton, P.M., S.W. pro tem., and the Tyler's toast concluded the evening.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT LODGE (No. 1558).

—On the 13th inst. this prosperous lodge held its sixth regular meeting at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New-road. Present: Bros. W. Snowden, W.M.; W. S. Cackin, S.W.; T. Sleep, J.W.; Dann, P.M., Sec.; W. Mitchell, S.D.; A. Runacres, J.D.; E. W. Boyton, D.C.; W. Chalk, W.S.; F. Geider, Tyler; and the following members of the lodge:—Bros. J. R. Smith, R. Scott, J. Dixon, J. Emms, C. Sims, J. E. Pentreath, W. Grayson, G. Harris, W. Fish, J. H. Swan, and W. J. Bott. Also as visitors:—Bros. E. G. Webster, Royal Jubilee, No. 72; L. Lawrence, P.M. Castle, No. 36 (lapsed); and J. W. Drayson, D.C. Royal Union, No. 382. The lodge was opened in due form with solemn prayer. The minutes of the last lodge meeting were read and confirmed. The Secretary read a letter from Bro. J. Kemp, tendering his resignation of I.G., whereupon the W.M. appointed and invested Bro. E. W. Boyton, D.C., as I.G., and Bro. W. Chalk, W.S., as D.C. Bro. C. E. Power was appointed as W.S. Bros. Fish and Bott, who were candidates for passing, gave proof of proficiency, were entrusted, and retired. The lodge was then opened in the Second Degree. Bros. Dixon and Emms, who were candidates for raising, were examined, entrusted, and retired. The lodge was then opened in the Third Degree. The W.M., left the chair and Bro. Dann, P.M. and Sec., officiated as W.M. Bros. Dixon and Emms were duly admitted and raised to the sublime degree of Master Masons. The lodge was then resumed to the Second Degree, and Bros. Fish and Bott were admitted on the square and duly passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. The lodge was resumed to the First Degree. The W.M. again took the chair. In rising, he said: It affords me great pleasure to state that the lodge owes no man anything and is in a most flourishing condition. The consecration and installation only took place in October last, and we are now 27 in number with proposing members and initiates ready to join. The funds are in hand for Grand Lodge dues; we have also a fund for benevolence. I would suggest that £5 5s. from the general fund be given to B. O. Mitchell for the Girls' School, and I shall be pleased to hand him a guinea on my own account for the same purpose. I think the brethren will admit that I have provided liberally after the labours of the lodge, although not extravagantly, and this too, upon every occasion of meeting. This I think, brethren, is a success that few lodges can equal in so short a period of seven months. This statement was received with applause. Bro. Mitchell, S.D., proposed a vote of thanks to the W.M., and that the same be recorded in the minutes of the lodge, for his very able and efficient management of the business and funds of the lodge. This was seconded by Bro. Cackin, S.W., and carried unanimously. The W.M. thanked the brethren for their kind expression of approbation, which he valued very much, and it would be still his constant endeavour to do all he could to promote the interests of the lodge. The W.M. rose for the second time. Brother Scott questioned the propriety or justice of charging the full amount of half-yearly subscriptions to those brethren who had recently been initiated, and contended that a reduction should be made fairly. The W.M. was quite disposed to make some reduction, but not to go into fractions. It was very difficult to draw the line. After some discussion, in which several brethren took part, Bro. Cackin, S.W., proposed that the subscriptions be paid as usual without deduction. This was seconded by Bro. Grayson, and carried by a majority of eight to four. Proposed by Bro. Power, and seconded by Bro. Dann, that Bro. C. Lawrence, P.M. of late Lodge Castle, 36, be balloted for as a joining member of this lodge. The W.M. rose for the third time, and all Masonic business being ended the lodge was closed and adjourned till the 11th May next. The brethren then retired to the banquetting hall, where the usual provision was made in the way of a good dinner, which all seemed to enjoy. The usual toasts given upon these occasions were done justice to by the W.M., and well responded to by the brethren.

ST. DUNSTON'S LODGE (No. 1589).—This new lodge held an emergency meeting at Anderson's Hotel on Friday, the 21st inst. Present: Bros. Dwarber, W.M.; Wellsman, S.W.; Dalwood, J.W.; Maxwell, P.G.S., I.P.M.; Tisley, Sec.; Turner, J.D.; Woodbridge, I.G.; and Bros. C. H. Stephenson, W.S., and H. F. Cox, D.C., of the Asaph Lodge, No. 1319, as visitors. The W.M. in his well-known impressive manner passed Bros. Manners, Bull, Low, Thurgood, and W. H. Clemow to the Second Degree, and duly initiated into the Order Mr. F. C. Platts (the son of the late Bro. Platts, of No. 188). A ballot was taken and declared to be unanimous in favour of Bros. E. D. Maddick, of No. 171, and F. Farrington, of No. 55, as joining members. After the labours of the evening were concluded the brethren adjourned to "refreshment," when the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given, and the brethren spent a most enjoyable evening, agreeably enlivened with songs and recitations.

WOOLWICH.—Union Waterloo Lodge (No. 13).—A well-attended meeting of the members of this good old lodge took place on Wednesday, the 12th inst., at the Masonic Hall, William-street, Bro. T. J. Carnelly presiding, assisted by the following officers of the lodge:—C. Young, P.M.; G. Davies, P.M.; F. G. Pownall, S.W.; G. Reed, J.W.; J. Henderson, P.M. and Treas.; H. S. Syer, Sec.; J. Moore, S.D.; T. Hutton, J.D.; N. Brown, I.G.; and B. Norman, Tyler. The visitors included A. Penfold, W.M. 913; J. Laverack, 1255; J. E. Ryder, 145; J. Gregg, 687; A. J. Collier, 220; J. Coghlan, 898; and C. Jolly, 913. The lodge having been duly opened, Messrs. James Pook, of H.M.S. Buffalo, and J. F. Bell, of Plumstead, were after approval initiated into Masonry. The brethren then adjourned for refreshment, and on resuming labour Bros. Wells, Morley, Baker, and MacDaniel were passed to the Second Degree, the W.M. performing the ceremony twice, two of the candidates at a time, and it is needless to say in a most excellent and impressive manner. The lodge was then resumed to the First Degree, and Bro. Pownall took occasion to thank the W.M. for placing in his hands 10 votes belonging to the lodge for the benefit of Mrs. Brown, the widow of an old and esteemed member of the lodge, she being now a candidate for the benefits of the Aged Widows' Benevolent Institution. The lodge was then closed, and again the brethren assembled round the social board, which was spread in the hall, doing away with the necessity of their adjourning to a neighbouring tavern, and there in brotherly love and harmony passed a few pleasant hours together most happily.

WOOLWICH.—Lodge Nelson (No. 700).—The usual monthly meeting of the above lodge took place at the Masonic Hall, William-street, on Wednesday, the 19th inst., and, as is the rule with this popular and excellent lodge, there was a good muster of both brethren and visitors. Among the latter were three Indian brethren, that is to say, members of a lodge in that land of "beauty and of death" just visited by our Grand Master and future King, they having lately arrived in England with detachments of the Royal Artillery, to which important branch of the service they have the honour to belong. Their mother lodge is the Rock of Gwalior, No. 1066, and from the well-known hospitality of the Nelson it may be imagined better than described the hearty reception they met with. Bro. T. Ward, the W.M., presided, supported by the following officers:—G. Bowles, P.M.; S. C. Norman, P.M.; C. W. Hobson, P.M.; S. Goddard, P.M.; T. Butt, S.W.; S. Waters, J.W.; F. Dawson, P.M. and Treas.; J. Henderson, P.M. and Sec.; A. Woodley, S.D.; J. Warren, J.D.; C. Cooke, Org.; and B. Norman, Tyler. Among the visitors were W. T. Vincent, S.W. 913; W. Weston, S.W. 1536; T. Hastings, S.W. 829; G. Spinks, J.W. 1536; E. Humphrey, 1066; R. Fletcher, 1066; W. Towers, 1066; C. Morris, 1331; W. A. Watkins, 1536; and C. J. Ily, 913. The business before the lodge was the balloting for and initiating of Mr. J. H. Buckley, if approved, which was happily effected, and the passing of Bros. Mitchell and Challis, both ceremonies being worked by the W.M. in a style worthy of the lodge's fame; relief was then voted to two distressed brethren, and notice of motion in reference to an alteration of one of the by-laws, and then the lodge was closed in due form and the brethren adjourned to refreshment to the Red Lion, where the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and honoured by the W.M. and brethren most heartily. Bro. Humphreys responded for "The Brethren of the Rock of Gwalior Lodge," Bro. Weston for the "United Military," and Bro. C. Jolly for "The Pattison," in reply to "The Visitors," most cordially proposed by the W.M. The initiate neatly responded to his health, and Bro. Butt to a very flattering reception of The Officers of the Lodge. The W.M. of course received, as is so well and worthily his due, an ovation, and "God Save the Queen" concluded the pleasures of the evening.

MAZAGON.—Lodge Concord (No. 757, E.C.).—The meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, on Saturday, March 18th, 1876, at 6.15 p.m. There were present W. Bros. Henderson, W.M.; W. C. Rowe, I.P.M.; B. Robinson, P.M.; O. Tomlinson, S.W.; J. Speirs, J.W.; G. Macdonald, acting Secretary; F. Burdett, Treas.; W. G. Danie, S.D.; Watson, J.D.; F. Grew, acting I.G.; J. Luke, Steward; Members, Bros. May, Lean, Wilson. Visitors, W. Bros. Barrow, P.M. 944, E.C.; McKenzie, P.M. No. 944, E.C.; Rev. C. Gilder, 1100, E.C.; C. Parker, J.W. 1100, &c. The lodge was opened with prayer, and the minutes of the last regular meeting were read and confirmed, also those of the Permanent Committee were read and adopted. The first business before the meeting was to ballot for Mr. L. Valentine Jones as a candidate for initiation; he having been elected and present was duly initiated into the mysteries of ancient Freemasonry, the address, &c., being given by the S.W. in a very impressive manner, which called forth the applause of the brethren. The lodge was then opened in the Second Degree, and Bro. Watson examined as to his qualifications in the former degrees, and having passed a very creditable examination was entrusted and passed out. The lodge was then raised to the Third Degree, and Bro. Watson duly admitted and raised to the High and Sublime Degree of a M.M.; the lodge lowered to the First Degree, in due form, and all E.A. admitted. W. Bro. Henderson then rose and said he had now to claim their attention for a few minutes, while he performed the very pleasing task of presenting the testimonial which they had voted to their Immediate Past Master, W. Bro. W. C. Rowe, for his valuable services to the lodge during the year 1875, which had been of such a nature that it had not been thought right to let them pass by altogether unrewarded. They trusted that he would long be spared to appear among them wearing the Past Master's jewel and the clothing which they now asked him to accept, with the warm expressions of their affection for him as a brother Mason, and of his services as their Master. W. Bro. Henderson then pinned on to W. Bro. Rowe's breast the P.M.'s jewel of the lodge pattern, and handed to him the full set of a P.M.'s clothing. W. Bro. Rowe, who, on rising was warmly applauded, in acknowledging the gift, said: W. Master, Past Masters, officers, and brethren,—You have so taken me by surprise in presenting me with this very handsome gift, that I do not know how to return my thanks to you for the same; but I cannot allow the very unexpected compliment you have just paid me to pass by unacknowledged, although I am not prepared to thank you as I could wish, for the handsome present which has just been made to me by the lodge. I cannot feel that I have deserved such a gift, because I have simply done my best, which it was my duty to do as Master of this lodge, during the past year, and I should have been sufficiently rewarded by the knowledge that my services and endeavours to do my duty have met with your approbation. Nevertheless, since you have been pleased to honour me in this way, I can only assure you that I shall always regard this beautiful jewel as among the most valued of the Masonic decorations which I am permitted to wear, and as regards the clothing, I trust I may be spared by the G.A.O.T.U. for many years to come, to appear here as one of your Past Masters, month after month, clothed in this or a similar costume. Again, brethren, I thank you for this very handsome gift. There being no further business before the lodge, it was closed in peace, love, and harmony at 8.30 p.m.

MAZAGON.—Lodge Truth (No. 944, E.C.).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in the Freemasons' Hall on Monday, the 3rd March, 1876. Present: W. Bros. W. C. Rowe, I.P.M. 757, E.C., W.M.; Alex. Mc Kenzie, P.M. and Treas.; H. W. Barrow, P.M.; Bros. C. Tudball, S.W.; C. Parker, J.W. 1100, as J.W.; Capt. S. Babington, Sec.; Rev. G. Gilder, S.D.; G. Claridge, J.D.; R. Simkins, I.G.; J. W. Seager, Tyler. Members: Bro. Claridge, and others. Visitors: Bros. Rev. C. Gilder and C. Parker. The lodge was opened with prayer at 6 p.m. punctually. The summons convening the meeting was read. The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and confirmed. The W.M. informed the brethren that as there was no work before the lodge in the way of initiations, &c., he had arranged for the sections of the First Degree to be worked, in which Bro. C. Tudball, S.W.; J. O. Weeks, J.W.; Capt. S. Babington, Sec.; and R. S. Simkins, I.G., had promised to take part with him in the working of the same, and should therefore proceed. W. Bro. W. C. Rowe asked all the questions, which were answered by Bros. C. Tudball, Capt. S. Babington, and Simkins in a most able manner, which was a credit to any lodge, and the W.M. expressed his entire satisfaction to those brethren who had assisted him, and hoped that they would still continue with their labours, and he had no doubt of the lodge gaining its former position in a very short time, and stated that it was his intention to continue the working of the sections at the next and other meetings, until they had gone through the whole of the fifteen sections of the First, Second, and Third Lectures, and still to do without the banquets, as every brother that was present must acknowledge that a large amount of work was gone through, and they were all enabled to return to their homes again to their own dinners, which met with the approval of all present. W. Bro. Mc Kenzie, P.M., apologised for the non-attendance of W. Bro. C. E. Mitchell, I.P.M., on account of the death of his father. The W.M. said the brethren would be sure, join with him in expressing their regret to their oldest P.M., and said that he would propose that a letter of condolence be sent to W. Bro. Mitchell in the name of the lodge, which was carried. There being no further work before the lodge, it was closed in peace, love, and harmony at 7.45 p.m.

WALMER.—Lord Warden Lodge (No. 1096).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held at the Public Rooms, Deal, on the 21st inst. Bro. R. J. Emmerson, P.M., P.P.G.J.W., 1206, presided as Installing Master, and was supported by a large number of the members of the lodge and visitors. It was the most successful of such meetings ever held by this lodge, not only on account of the number present, but also by the very admirable manner in which every detail of the ceremonies was carried out. Shortly after the lodge was opened Bro. J. Eastes, D.P.G.M., was announced, and received by the members of the lodge with the customary honours, suitable music being played during the procession. The following were present:—Bros. W. E. Cavell, W.M.; T. Ayling, S.W.; A. H. des Barres, S.D.; J. B. Harrison, P.M.; H. Belling, Org.; E. Kirby, Steward; S. Holgate, Tyler; G. Wood, J. C. Cross, W. Hazell, W. Carterfield, J. E. Lawrence, T. Smith, J. Laggett, W. Pritchard, J. Miller, T. Bowling, J. Ringland, J. Nottage, J. Herson, W.M. 199; J. Bordeaux, S.W. 199; J. Goodevin, J.W. 199; G. R. Igglesden, 199; W. Gorton, 199; W. W. Watts, 734; T. Bent, 784; W. Hayman, 784; G. W. Moon, 784; A. F. S. Bird, 784; W. A. Norris, A. Gardner, 1206; L. A. Hill, F. Baker, W. W. Woodruff, T. Browning, 784; E. Terry, 1206; W. Harding, 784; H. M. Baker, 1208; W. A. Smeath, 1208; H. S. Watts, 1206; W. Watts, 784; S. Olds, 784. After the minutes had been read and confirmed, Bro. Emmerson installed Bro. T. Ayling, S.W., into the chair of King Solomon, who afterwards invested his officers, addressing to each a few appropriate words on the duties he undertook:—Bros. A. H. des Barres, S.W.; F. Kirby, J.W.; J. B. Harrison, Chap.; T. Smith, J.D.; H. Bolting, Org.; W. Hazell, I.G.; S. Holgate, Tyler; G. Wood, D.C.; and W. Carterfield and J. Laggett, Stewards. Bro. Emmerson concluded by delivering a telling address to the W.M. and his Wardens and all Masons generally, which was loudly cheered, as was also a proposition to record on the minutes a vote of thanks to him. The lodge was then closed by Bro. Ayling, and the manner in which it was done was most efficient, auguring well for the work of the ensuing year. The banquet was served up in a highly creditable manner by Bro. Hurst, who carried out every arrangement that could conduce to the comfort of those present. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and heartily responded to. Bro. Ayling, in replying to the toast of his health, gave a concise account of the charities in which he takes an active and energetic part, and concluded by asking all present to bring forward among their brethren the claims of these admirable institutions. He was also unanimously elected to represent his lodge on the Charity Committee of the province. The D.P.G.M., Bro. J. Eastes, addressed the meeting on matters relating to the province, which were very heartily received. Bro. des Barres, S.W., responded on behalf of "The Officers," saying it was their intention to make themselves worthy of their W.M.'s choice. Bro. Baker, S.W. 1208, also brought forward the claims of the charities, urging those who had been content hitherto to act passively should now actively and heartily cooperate with the Stewards going from the different lodges. The party broke up about 11 p.m., separating with hearty good wishes and all unanimous in the opinion that they had spent a very enjoyable evening. Regret was expressed that the Secretary was unable to be present on account of illness.

BIRMINGHAM.—Lodge of Israel (No. 1602.) The first meeting of this prosperous lodge under the new Mastership was held on the 17th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Severn-street. There being a large amount of work to do the lodge was opened at 3.30, Bros. S. Lyon, W.M.; J. Silverstone, S.W.; B. Lazarus, J.W.; H. Harris, S.D.; P. Roberts, J.D.; W. Wood, I.G. The minutes of the March meeting having been read and confirmed, the W.M., assisted by his officers, raised Bro. Ball and Gordon to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason; afterwards passed Bros. Deal and Cohen to the second degree; afterwards initiated Mr. Saul Abrahams, Mr. A. B. Newman, and Mr. S. Druff (a Lewis by dispensation), the whole of the three degrees being rendered by the new W.M. in a very able manner. Afterwards the Rev. J. G. Emanuel, B.A., Chaplain, in a very feeling and eloquent manner proposed a vote of condolence to the family of the late Bro. M. Wilcox, who lost his life in the recent football match at Derby, also to Bro. A. Jacobs, on the loss of his wife. Before closing the lodge £30 was voted from the benevolent fund for Masonic charities. The brethren then adjourned to the banqueting room, where the W.M. presided, and gave the usual loyal and Masonic toasts.

LIVERPOOL.—Lodge of Israel (No. 1502.)—At a recent meeting of this lodge, held in the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, March, 1876, the following resolution was proposed by Bro. Dr. S. Lewis, seconded by Bro. Rev. J. Prag, Chaplain, and carried, "That a letter of congratulation from this lodge be sent to the Freemasons' Lodge in Jerusalem, and that the same be transcribed in English, German, and Hebrew." The following is a copy of the letter forwarded:—"To the W.M., Officers, and Brethren of the Masonic Lodge at Jerusalem: Worshipful Master and Brethren,—In the name of the Great Architect of the Universe, I, Alfred J. Henochsberg, W.M. of the Lodge of Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons, No. 1502, of Liverpool, Great Britain (our lodge being duly opened and properly consecrated) assisted by the principal officers, and in the presence of brethren from North, South, East and West, hereby convey to you our fraternal greetings and hearty congratulations on this occasion of the formation of a Masonic lodge at Jerusalem. With satisfaction and delight we hail the tidings of such a lodge having been established within the confines of the Holy City. Masonry has achieved an illustrious reputation in the past, and rejoicing as we do in acknowledgment of its origin and fundamental principles, it becomes to us a source of sincere pleasure to recognise that this time-honoured institution is experiencing an active and manifest revival in that sacred spot which centuries ago contained its cradle. Masonry, like other channels of amelioration and mercy, has been subjected to persecution, and in the operation we are bold to affirm that a chief agent for ennobling the individual mind, and for benefitting humanity at large, has been unjustly assailed. The effect we know has been analogous to the shooting of arrows against walls of granite. Still we observe with a lively sense of pleasure that a totally different regime is extant in the country ruled by your exalted and enlightened sovereign H.H. the Sultan (under whose benign sway it is your privilege to live) for which Masons and mankind in the main accord him unequivocal thanks. In Great Britain our Craft is flourishing. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, heir-apparent to the throne of this mighty empire, is one of us, and the nobles of the land and the worthies of the nation, are proud to enrol themselves under our banner. Our Lodge of Israel is not exclusive, as its name might indicate. Amongst its members are worthy men, representatives of various denominations, and similarly disciplined to your lodge at Jerusalem, neither creeds nor nationalities are allowed to interpose invidious distinctions. The only qualifications for admission that we demand are those which are wisely insisted on in all Masonic Lodges, and which are unquestionably essential with men who desire to live in conformity with the pure principles of piety and virtue, and who are also anxious to be united and identified with the wise and good of every clime. In conclusion, we pray that the Almighty Father and Supreme Ruler of the Universe may grant to you and to all Freemasons His gracious aid, that we may be enabled to dedicate and devote our lives to his service, and that prudence may direct us, temperance chasten us, fortitude support us, and justice guide us in all our actions. Finally, that as true Freemasons, we may always practice brotherly love, afford relief to the needy to the utmost of our power, pay due obedience to the laws of the country in which we are called to reside, and that in happy union with these beneficent duties, we desire that the Angel of truth may be the pioneer, the guiding star of all our words and actions. With fraternal greetings, Alfred J. Henochsberg, W.M.; Maurice Hart, S.W.; Alexander Jones, J.W."

Royal Arch.

BATH.—Royal Cumberland Chapter (No. 41).—At a regular meeting, held at the Masonic Hall, on Tuesday, April 18th, the Board of Installed Principals was opened by Ex. Comps. Moutrie, P.Z., acting as Z.; Dr. Hopkins, P.Z., as H.; R. Carey, J.; and Mann, P.Z. The following companions were then admitted, and the chapter was duly opened: Hill, E.; Hearne, N.; Brown, P. Soj.; Young, S. Soj.; Falkner, J. Soj.; Howes, Gummer, and Williamson. Bigwood was in his place as Janitor. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Letters of apology for absence were read from the 1st and 2nd Principals, Comp. Davis, and the candidate for exaltation. The voting papers for the several Masonic charitable institutions were ordered to be placed in the hands of Ex. Comp. Ashley, to be used in favour of candidates from this province. On the proposition of the acting H., seconded by J., the following resolution was passed:—"That, considering the recent extension of R.A. Masonry in the Province of Somerset, which now contains 10 chapters, it appears desirable to unite them in closer bonds, with a view to the further promotion of the general interests of the Order, and to the bestowal of provincial rank on many members who have distinguished themselves by long and efficient services. That, with this object, it be a recommendation from the Royal Cumberland Chapter to the constituted authorities to consider the propriety of establishing a Provincial Grand Chapter, and if the suggestion be favourably entertained, to take the necessary measures for carrying out the project, in conformity with the Constitutions of Royal Arch Masonry. No other business offering, the chapter was closed at an early hour.

Ancient and Accepted Rite.

ST. GEORGE'S CHAPTER, ROSE CROIX.—A meeting of this chapter was held at 33, Golden-square, on Monday last, Bro. F. Davison, M.W.S. The meeting was fully attended by the members of the chapter, and there was a goodly array of visitors. Bros. C. T. Sparkes, Chaucer Lodge; F. Burgess, Asaph Lodge; G. J. Smallpiece, 777; J. T. Gibson, Earl Spencer Lodge; and W. Poore, Burgoyne Lodge, were perfected very ably by the M.W.S., after which the ceremony of installing the M.W.S. elect, Bro. James Stevens, was performed by Bro. Hyde Pullen in a most impressive manner.

BOMBAY.—Bombay Chapter, Rose Croix, 18°.—The regular convocation of this chapter was held in the Masonic Hall, Mazagon, on the 17th December. Ill. Bros. Dr. J. Anderson, M.W. Sov.; Bro. C. E. Mitchell, P.M.W. Sov.; Ill. Bro. W. C. Rowe, High Prelate; Bro. Walton, 1st General; Ill. Bro. H. Hussey, 2nd General; Bro. H. Stead, Grand Marshal; H. W. Barrow, Raphael; J. Thomas, Recorder; J. L. Madden, Captain of Guards; J. W. Seager, Guard. The chapter was opened in due form. The minutes of the last convocation were read and confirmed. The M.W. Sov. said that the business before the convocation was the installation of the M.W. Sov. elect, Ill. Bro. W. C. Rowe, 30°. The M.W. Sov., Ill. Bro. Dr. J. Anderson, after eulogizing the services of Ill. Bro. W. C. Rowe to the different degrees and orders to which he belonged, and the services which he had rendered to this chapter in particular, said he was sure that during his year of office the chapter would flourish, and proceeded to install him into that high office in ancient form. Ill. Bro. J. Anderson then proclaimed Ill. Bro. W. C. Rowe, 30°, M.W.S. of the Bombay Chapter, 18°, for the ensuing year. Ill. Bro. W. C. Rowe then rose and in suitable terms returned thanks to the Ill. brother who had just installed him, and said that he would use his utmost endeavours to maintain the dignity and high standing with which the Bombay Chapter of S.P.R.C. had hitherto been held, and he hoped he should have the hearty co-operation of the officers to assist him in working the chapter, and begged that they would attend regularly and punctually to the duties of those several offices which he was about to appoint them to, and proceeded to invest the following brethren:—Ill. Bro. W. H. Hussey, 30°, H.P.; Bros. R. G. Walton, 1st G.; H. Stead, 2nd G.; J. Thomas, R.; H. W. Barrow, G.M.; C. Yudball, R.; J. L. Madden, C. of G.; J. W. Seager, G. P.M.W.S. C. E. Mitchell, 18°, was elected Treas., and warmly applauded in taking the post again for another year. Ill. Bro. W. H. Hussey, 30°, H.P., returned thanks to the M.W.S. for the honour he had done the officers, and himself in particular, by appointing them to the posts which he had done, and said that he was sure that he (the M.W.S.) would have the united assistance of the officers to enable him to carry out the working of the degree with that efficiency which he was sure it would be worked by their newly-installed M.W.S.

Scotland.

VISITATIONS OF PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF GLASGOW.

The annual "visitations" of the different lodges throughout the province by the Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow for the current year (1876) have now begun. A commencement was made on Thursday, 20th inst., with Lodge St. Mungo, 27, and Lodge St. Andrew, 465; and, according to the syllabus, the work will be completed with the visitation of Lodge St. John's, Shettleston, 128, on Wednesday, 7th June. The amount of time and labour perforce expended in this periodical task by the office-bearers of the Prov. Grand Lodge is, we feel certain, but imperfectly comprehended by many of the brethren, who only see them once, at their own lodge, and do not follow them throughout. It may assist toward forming some idea of the matter when we state that, as regards this year, the number of lodges to be visited during the short period indicated is 28; that in one week (that commencing 1st proximo) no fewer than seven are to be overtaken; and that on ten occasions, two lodges—in some cases remotely apart—are to be visited on the one evening.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. John (No. 33).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, 213, Buchanan-street, on Tuesday evening, 18th inst. Bro. W. Bell, I.P.M., informed the brethren that the W.M., Bro. D. M. Nelson, was unavoidably in England on business, and could not be present that evening, and under these circumstances called upon Bro. J. D. Young, D.M., to open the lodge, which was accordingly proceeded with; Jas. Sellars, S.W.; P. Brownlie, J.W.; J. Dick, Sec.; A. Cameron,

S.D.; D. Paton, J.D.; A. Peddie, I.G.; and the other office-bearers in their places. The meeting was particularly well attended by the members and a large number of visiting brethren, among whom we noticed Bros. J. Miller, P.M. 413; J. S. Adam, Doric, 58, Canada; W. Harper, W.M. 408; J. McInnes, S.W. 332; W. Murray, S.M. 332; J. R. McKay, Neptune, 375, Aberdeen; W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); and brethren from Lodges 73, 103, 129, 197, 300, 370, 419, and 465. On the lodge being opened, Bro. Dick, Sec., read minutes of last regular and one emergency meeting, which were approved of. Bro. the Rev. Joseph Rice, M.A., of Lodge Acacia, 225, I.C., Dublin, who was proposed and seconded at last meeting for affiliation to the lodge, was then obligated by Bro. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543. The lodge was then opened in the Third Degree, when Bros. W. Weir, J. Morrison, G. R. Morrison, Alex. Murray, H. Tennant, A. M. Robertson, and R. Weatherston were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason by Bro. Miller, P.M. 413, in a very impressive manner.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. Mungo (No. 27).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in St. Mark's Hall, Buchanan-street, on Thursday. In the absence, through illness, of the W.M. (Bro. Dugald Butler), the chair was occupied by his S.M., Bro. David Dick, with Bros. Dr. J. McInnes, S.W., and G. M'Comb, J.W., in their respective places. Amongst those present were Bros. D. Ronald, W.M. 275; W. J. E. Dobson, W.M. 571; W. Morrison, P.M. 125; R. Jack, W.M. 128; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 (Freemason); W. Taylor, Treas. 581; M. Stork, 553, &c. The lodge having been opened in the First Degree, it was announced that the Provincial Grand Lodge were in waiting. The chairman at once gave orders for their admittance, and they were received by the brethren upstanding and with the customary formalities. The deputation consisted of Bros. George Sinclair, acting Prov. Grand Master; James Gillies, Treas.; Archibald M'Taggart, Sec.; A. Allison, Jeweller; A. Bain, B.B.; James Balfour, Dir. of Cir.; and David Reid, I.G. The deputation having taken their seats upon the dais, the Chairman acknowledged the supremacy of P.G.L. in the usual form, by presenting his mallet to the acting P.G. Master, and as usual had it immediately returned to him, with a request to retain command of his lodge. Bro. M'Taggart, P.G. Sec., said that before submitting to the lodge the report of the deputation he had to sympathise with them in the circumstances under which they had met that night in the absence, through indisposition, of their W.M. He was sorry also at having to state that, from a similar cause, the Prov. Grand Master, Bro. W. M. Neilson, would not be with them on the occasion. He thought, however, that they had something to congratulate themselves upon in the history of the Province of Glasgow and the progress it was making, as to which he might just mention that one-half of the Masons made in Scotland during the past year were made within it. They (the P.G.L.) were very glad to meet an old lodge like St. Mungo. They could ill afford to find a lodge with such a history and reminiscences dropping into the shade, and they were glad to find that it was not so. The number added to the membership during the past year was, as formerly, very respectable. They had made the average number of 26, and a very respectable average indeed. Moreover, he was proud to say, from personal knowledge and report, that they had had no better or more firmly-laid stones in the past than those they had laid last year. Thereafter Bro. M'Taggart stated that the deputation had gone over the books carefully, and found them, on the whole, remarkably well kept—the sederunt book, the minute book, the roll book, and the receipt book. The official report which they had to make would be to that effect, and also that the lodge generally was working in strict harmony with the Grand Lodge of Scotland. After a few remarks from the acting P.G.M., Bro. Sinclair, the Chairman said that on behalf of the W.M. he had very great pleasure in thanking the Prov. G. Lodge for their favourable report, and hoped the lodge would always continue to merit the like. The P.G. deputation then withdrew in order as they had entered.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Scotia (No. 178).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held in Kilwinning Hall on Wednesday evening, the 12th inst., Bro. J. Singleton, W.M., presiding; P. Hepburn, S.W.; A. Mercer, J.W.; W. Higgins, D.M.; H. Killin, Sec.; W. King, Treas.; J. Matheson, P.M., Chap.; W. McDonald, S.D.; W. Hart, J.D.; R. McEwan, B.B.; and W. King, jun., I.G.; Bros. W. Bell, I.P.M. 34; D. Murray, W.M. 103; R. Munro, D.M. 103; J. Gillies, P.G. Treas., and Sec. 103; N. Cameron, Treas. 103; J. Wilson, 34; J. Wilson, 18; A. McGregor, 321; J. Reid, 354; W. Ferguson ("Freemason"); and others. On the lodge being opened, Messrs. R. Chalmers, Jos. Kelly, and W. Dalglish were initiated into the E.A. Degree by Bro. Matheson, P.M. The last-named gentlemen was initiated on behalf of the Lodge Union and Crown, 103, for which Bro. Gillies, Sec. 103, thanked the W.M. and members of Lodge Scotia. The members were engaged the remaining part of the evening in framing a new code of bye-laws.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Star (No. 219).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, Trongate, on Monday evening, the 10th inst., Bro. J. Morgan, W.M., in the chair, J. Brown, S.D., acting S.W.; D. Mearns, J.W.; J. Martin, D.M.; W. Anderson, S.M.; F. Dow, Sec.; B. Smart, Treas.; R. Watson, Chaplain; D. Taylor, J.D.; J. Duthie, and J. Pearson, Tyler. Present: Bros. D. Sinclair, Treasurer of the Provincial Benevolent Fund; J. Gillies, P.G. Treas.; A. Bain, P.G.B.B.; D. Reid, P.M. 465 and P.P.I.G.; R. Campbell, 22, New Brunswick; R. Young, 195, I.C.; R. Prout, W.M. 4; D. Murray, W.M. 103; R. Munro, D.M. 103; W. Forsyth, J.W. 103; N. Cameron, Treas. 103; J. Singleton, W.M. 178; P. Hepburn, S.W. 103; A. B. Ferguson, W.M. 354; J. Harley, S.W. 354; C. McKenzie, J.W. 354; D.

Litch, S.D. 354; Jas. Harley, J.D. 354; W. B. Paterson, 360; W. Gardner, 360; A. Paterson, 360; D. Gilchrist, W.M. 465; G. B. Paterson, S.W. 465; W. Chalmers, J.W. 465; W. Campbell, Sec. 465; W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); J. Houston, D.M. 571; and others, and a number of deputations from several other lodges in the province and neighbourhood, the hall being completely filled, nearly 200 being present. On the lodge being opened, and the minutes of last meeting read and adopted, Bros. L. Cooke and C. Hathorne, of Lodges 347 and 458 respectively, were affiliated joining members, and Messrs. S. Cruden, T. Ferguson, Jas. Watson, and W. Stark were initiated into the E.A. Degree by Bro. Morgan, W.M. Bro. D. Mearns, J.W., then presented the lodge with a handsome square and compass, for which he received a hearty vote of thanks, and the same to be recorded in the minutes. There being no further business before the meeting the lodge was called to refreshment, when the W.M. gave the following toasts in succession, which were warmly received:—viz., "The Queen and the Craft," "The Prince of Wales and other members of the Royal Family," and "The Three Grand Lodges." The W.M. in proposing "The Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow" complimented the office-bearers on the efficient manner they had hitherto done their duty, but regretted very much that the visitations of the lodges had this year been neglected. Bro. Bain, P.G.B.B., replied on behalf of the Provincial Grand Lodge. The W.M. then proposed "The Sister Lodges." Bros. Singleton, W.M. 178; Prout, W.M. 4; and Gilchrist, W.M. 465, suitably replied. "The Health of the W.M." was ably proposed by Bro. Gillies, P.G. Treas., and enthusiastically responded to by the brethren. Bro. Morgan replied. "The Newly-Laid Stones" was proposed by the W.M., and replied to by Bro. Cruden. During the evening the musical portion was pleasantly furnished by Bros. J. Houston, W. Stewart, the well-known professionals, and others. After the Tyler's toast the brethren separated, having spent a most enjoyable evening.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. George (No. 333).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held in St. Mark's Hall, on Wednesday evening, the 12th inst., Bro. A. Thomson, W.M., in the chair, supported by Bros. J. Findlay, S.M.; J. Forsyth, S.W.; R. Anderson, J.W.; A. Dunn, Treas.; Archd. McIntyre, Sec.; A. Boyd, S.D.; T. Hill, J.D.; W. Neilson, and others. Visitors present: Bros. W. B. Stevenson, 15; J. Twoart, 28; J. Bannerman, D.M. 73; J. Geddes, 354; J. Stewart, 360; A. Shelden, 484, New York State; W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); and others. The Secretary read the minutes of last monthly meeting, which were adopted. Bros. J. Robertson and G. Kennedy were passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by Bro. Findlay, S.M., and in consequence of Bro. Robertson having to leave this country in a few days he was raised to the Degree of Master Mason by Bro. Findlay, S.M., who again officiated in an able manner.

At an emergency meeting of this lodge, held in St. Mark's Hall, on Friday evening, 14th inst., for the special purpose, the Mark Master Degree was conferred upon the following brethren, members of the lodge, viz., T. Stewart, P.M.; R. Fairbairn, J. K. Adams, C. P. Douglas, and John Findlay. Thereafter a proposal was submitted to, and ultimately adopted by the meeting, that the fee for receiving the Mark Master Degree should be raised from the present figure of 1s. 2d. to 2s. 6d. in the future. It was proposed by Bro. Jas. Findlay, S.M., seconded by Bro. T. Hill, and agreed to that the office-bearers of the Mark Lodge in connection with No. 333 should be as follows:—Bros. A. Thomson, M.M.; Jas. Findlay, acting M.M.; J. Forsyth, S.O. R. Anderson, J.O.; A. Dunn, Treas.; A. McIntyre, Sec.; A. Boyd, S.D.; T. Hill, J.D.; A. Wright, I.G.; and W. G. Hickson, Tyler.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Caledonian Railway (No. 354).—At the regular meeting of this lodge, which was held in the Masonic Hall, 30, Hope-street, on Wednesday evening, the 19th inst., Bro. A. B. Ferguson, W.M., presiding; D. Buchanan, D.M.; J. Harley, S.W.; C. McKenzie, J.W.; D. T. Colquhoun, Treas.; J. Reid, acting Sec.; Jas. Harley, J.D.; and the other office-bearers in their places. The meeting was very well attended by visitors and members of the lodge, and among the former were Bros. J. Morgan, W.M. 219; D. Reid, I.P.M. 465, P.G.I.G.; W. Dobbie, P.M. 362; W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); J. Bannerman, D.M. 73; J. Scott, D.M. 579; G. B. Davidson, S.W. 465; J. Conner, G.M.; L. L. Sicilia, Palermo; A.C. L. Gray, 102; James Balfour, P.G.D.C.; R. Campbell, 22, Canada; E. Arthur, Org. 87; J. Duthie, 219, first Z. Chap. 67; A. R. Wilson, Chap. 27; and others. The lodge was opened, and the minutes read and confirmed, after which Mr. R. Crichton was initiated into the First Degree by Bro. J. M. Oliver, S.W. 360. Five brethren were passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by Bro. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543, and six brethren were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason by Bro. J. Morgan, W.M. 219.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Commercial (No. 360).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, 30, Hope-street, on Friday evening, 21st inst., Bro. J. Menro, W.M., in the chair; J. M. Oliver, S.W.; T. Graham, J.W.; D. Lamb, D.M.; W. Findlay, S.M., acting Treas. The hall was well filled with the members and visiting brethren. Among the latter were Bros. J. Peters, W.M. 153; W. Mc G. Mason, W.M. 541; W. Bell, I.P.M. 34; R. Jack, W.M. 128; W. J. E. Dobson, W.M. 571; W. Gemmell, S.W. 129; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); and others. On the minutes being read and confirmed, Bro. W. Stalker was passed to the F.C. Degree by Bro. Oliver, S.W. At this juncture it was announced that a deputation of the P.G. Lodge of Glasgow was in readiness to be admitted into the lodge, they having examined the books in the interval. The deputation consisted of Bros. J. Baird, P.G.S.M., acting P.G.M.;

A. McTaggart, P.G. Sec.; G. Thallon, P.G.S.D.; A. Allison, P.G. Jeweller; A. Bain, P.G.B.B.; G. Sinclair, Treas. and Con. of the P.G. Benevolent Fund; D. Reid, P.G.I.G.; and J. Hardie, P.G. Tyler. On their entrance into the lodge-room they were received with the usual honours. After the customary formalities, Bro. McTaggart said they had to congratulate Lodge 360 on their present highly prosperous condition. The report of the deputation had to make was simply that they (office-bearers of the P.G.L.) certified that they had that evening visited Lodge Commercial, No. 360, had examined the various books of the lodge and found them in a very excellent condition, and that the lodge generally was working in strict harmony with the constitution of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. Bro. Baird said for his part he did not think that in the Province of Glasgow it was possible to find better kept books than those they had just inspected in Lodge 360. The W.M., Bro. Menro, said that when they (Lodge 360) had the pleasure of seeing the P.G.L. last year there were a few little holes in which the deputation found it necessary to pick in their coat, owing to some little acts of omission or commission in their working hitherto. He thought they had now looked to the matter and reformed these, and he was glad they had been able to do so. On behalf of the lodge he begged to return the deputation sincere thanks and best wishes for their kindness on the present occasion. Bro. Baird having briefly acknowledged the compliment, the P.G.L. deputation retired. Bro. R. C. Bell, of Lodge Argyll, Dunoon, No. 335, was elected a joining member and duly obligated by the W.M. Bros. A. Paterson, W. Gardner, A. Stalker, and R. M. F. Watson were then raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason in a most impressive manner by the W.M. The lodge was then closed.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. Andrew (No. 465).—The deputation of the Provincial Grand Lodge proceeded to visit this lodge on Thursday, 20th inst., immediately on their leaving No. 27. They were received in due form by the W.M., Bro. David Gilchrist, the officers and brethren, and after the usual preliminaries the P.G. Sec. stated the result of the inspection made by the deputation. It was his pleasing duty, he said, to submit to that lodge a very satisfactory report. It was simply this—"We (under-signed), office-bearers of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow, hereby testify that we visited Lodge St. Andrew, No. 465, on the evening of Thursday, 20th April, examined the various books of the lodge, and found them correctly kept, and that generally the lodge is working in strict harmony with the Grand Lodge of Scotland." It had been said, Bro. McTaggart observed, that the visitations of the P.G. Lodge were, on many occasions, a "bore," but if they admitted that, they would undermine the fabric of their noble constitution. After dwelling at some little length on the salutary influence of periodical inspections or examinations of an inferior by a superior body, he reverted to Lodge St. Andrew. Their audit, he said, had been properly attended to in December last, and the funds found carefully kept and judiciously expended. The deputation had applied many tests to various portions of the books, every one of which had been fully stood; and in fact it would be doing injustice to the office-bearers of the lodge to say that they (the deputation) had found a single flaw. The number of members added to the lodge during the year had been 41, and the amount handed over to the Treasurer of the P.G. Benevolent Fund was £10 15s., to be disbursed in the shape of benevolence during the ensuing twelve months. He (the speaker) need not assure them that it had been very kindly received, and would be very judiciously applied. Bro. Sinclair having briefly endorsed the tenor of Bro. McTaggart's remarks, the Chairman said he had to thank the deputation kindly for coming there, and also for the favourable report they had made; and he hoped that next time they came they would find everything as correct as they had done that night. On the motion of Bro. David Reid, P.M. of 465, Bro. A. Allison, P.G. Jeweller, then received the compliment of honorary affiliation to the lodge—the ceremony being performed by Bro. McTaggart. The deputation thereafter retired.

HASKKIEU.—Caledonian Lodge (No. 489).—A meeting of the members of this lodge was held on the evening of Thursday, 6th April. Wor. Bro. Rand, on proof that none but worthy brethren were present, constituted a lodge for labour in the Apprentice Degree, the business, per circular, being to initiate Messrs. Mark G. Bingley and Thos. J. Stevenson, neophytes balloted for in the earlier part of the year, but, owing to storm and distance, were prevented thereby. The initiation ceremony, notwithstanding it was Wor. Bro. Rand's first essay at the altar, satisfied the brethren that the choice they had made in electing Bro. Rand as a ruler in the East for the year 1876 would redound to the special welfare of 489, as well as to the credit of the Craft throughout the Orient. A pleasing duty, or rather a privilege, next devolved upon the W.M., viz., the presentation of a Past Master's jewel to his predecessor in the East, Bro. Wm. Dorrell. The remarks of Bro. Rand in formally giving over the gift of the lodge were well chosen, appropriate, and altogether void of empty laudation. P.M. Bro. Dorrell, in reply, feelingly thanked the brethren for their golden present, then briefly reviewed the labours in the lodge during his two years of supreme command, frankly adverting to the able and willing services of his officers, and the attention and regular attendance of the brethren generally. Alluding to the jewel—splendid as it was—its value was doubly enhanced from the fact—it came to him in the "maternal" home, where light first dawned upon him Masonically. In grateful terms, mention was made of the honours bestowed since he joined the Order. 1st. He was the first initiated member of this lodge who was elected to preside over it (former W.M.'s were affiliations). 2nd. On the expiry of the first term they were pleased to renew it. 3rd. Brethren in the district had lately placed him in the exalted position of Principal of the Lodge Leinster, R.A.C. And now! this rare gem. The trusts reposed, and the value intrinsic, would ever remain internal and external memories. But cheapest and best memory of all the compliment conferred, that in the "home" where his Masonic vows were registered, he had been deemed worthy to occupy in the East. The worthy brother concluded by wishing the brethren present God-speed, the Great Architect of the Universe's protection over brothers absent, and to all, home and abroad, comfort of body and peace of mind. Bro. Frazer, enumerating the good their Bro. Dorrell had effected with and for the Caledonian, spoke of the great interest his friend had always taken for the interests of the shareholders of the Masonic Temple—work of itself more than sufficient for one man—independent of the many duties Bro. Dorrell did carefully fulfil when W.M. of 489. The Secretary here gave over to Bro. Dorrell the P.M.'s certificate. The jewel was from the establishment of Bro. Kenning, London, and is justly admired for neatness of design, artistic finish, and correct proportion. The following inscription is engraved on the reverse of the medal:—"Presented to P.M. Bro. W. Dorrell by the Lodge Caledonian, 489, in respect of his zeal, integrity, and labour, 1874-5." Nunquam non paratus. The business following was routine, and the lodge was closed by ancient rite, when the brethren adjourned to refreshment, and an hour of social enjoyment brought "an evening to be remembered" to a happy close.

DALMUIR.—St. John's Lodge (No. 543).—An emergency meeting of this lodge was held on Wednesday 5th inst., Bro. S. Leckie, W.M., in the chair; J. F. Wilson, S.W.; A. McNaughton, jun., D.M.; acting J.W.; and the other office-bearers in their respective places. Mr. D. Hillhouse was initiated into the E.A. Degree by the W.M. The regular meeting was held on the 11th inst., Bro. S. Leckie, W.M., presiding, supported by Bros. W. Ferguson, I.P.M. ("Freemason"); A. McNaughton, jun., D.M.; J. Barrie, S.M.; J. F. Wilson, S.W.; J. Muirhead, J.W.; J. Alexander, Sec.; J. Morrison, jun. S.D.; J. Stairs, J.D.; J. Morton, Chap.; A. Smith, I.G.; J. Adair, Tyler; J. Burton, W. Colquhoun, T. Miller, D. Bell, R. Hillhouse, J. Malcolm, J. Alexander, &c. On the minutes being read and confirmed, Bro. W. Goudie, 437, was affiliated a joining member, and Bro. J. Thomson was raised to the degree of Master Mason by Bro. Ferguson, I.P.M. The lodge was then assumed on the E.A. Degree, when it was arranged to hold a harmony meeting on Tuesday evening, the 25th inst.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Clydesdale (No. 556).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in their Masonic Hall, 106, Rose-street, S.S., on Tuesday evening, 18th inst., Bro. W. Phillips, W.M., in the chair, supported by Bros. H. McCulloch, D.M.; J. McNaught, S.W.; T. Phillips, J.W.; J. McKechnie, Treas.; G. B. Yuill, Sec.; P. Young, S.D.; J. McCammon, J.D.; and others. Present: Bros. W. J. E. Dobson, W.M. 571; C. G. H. McNaught, P.M. 275; R. Allan, Sec. 581; Brodie, 360; Stewart, 360; and others. Mr. R. H. Simpson was initiated into the First Degree by Bro. Phillips, W.M., and afterwards Bros. G. McFarlane and Lappin were raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason, the W.M. again performing the ceremony in a most careful and impressive manner.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Dramatic (No. 571).—This lodge held its regular meeting on Wednesday, the 19th inst., at 3 p.m., in St. Mark's Hall, 213, Buchanan-street, Bro. W. J. E. Dobson, W.M., in the chair, supported on the dais by Bros. Ct. H. de Rochetiu, P.M. Etoile du Bosphore Lodge, Constantinople, of Grand Orient of France; A. C. Wylie, W.M. Gresham Lodge, 869, E.C., P. Prov. G.S.B. Herts; J. H. Sutcliffe, King Solomon Lodge, 422, Australia, 422, I.C.; J. S. Adam, Doric, 58, Canada. Present: Bros. Arch. Lander, S.M.; H. W. Jackman, S.W.; W. Sivewright, J.W.; W. Barbour, Treas.; D. Campbell, Sec.; L. Mitchell, J.D.; J. Robertson, acting I.G.; J. B. Hurdie, Tyler; and a large number of visiting brethren. Amongst those we noticed Bros. J. Prentice, M.C. 34; P. Brownlie, J.W. 34; G. W. Wheeler, 73; J. Annand, 87; J. McLaughlan, S.D. 87; J. M. Oliver, S.W. 360; W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); W. Phillips, W.M. 556; J. Law, I.P.M. 570; R. Allan, Sec. 581; and others. The lodge was formally opened, and minutes read and confirmed. Mr. W. Buchanan was initiated by the W.M., and Bro. G. Connell was passed to the Fellow Craft Degree. Both degrees were rendered in Bro. Dobson's usual able style. Previous to the F.C. Degree being performed Bros. Ct. Rochetiu and A. C. Wylie were obliged to leave. Before doing so, however, the former (who does not speak English) expressed, through the latter, acting as interpreter, the gratification he had experienced by his visit to Lodge Dramatic, and his satisfaction with the working of the E.A. Degree, so far as he could understand. Bro. Wylie, on his behalf, expressed himself similarly, and took occasion to add that, although a Scotchman, and born in the city of Glasgow, he had never before been inside a Scotch Masonic Lodge, and he was glad to have this opportunity of stating that in England reports went that Masonry in Scotland was not what it ought to be. He could now say to the contrary, and passed a high compliment on Bro. Dobson for the efficient manner the First Degree was performed. Before retiring, they requested to be permitted to give a small donation to the charitable fund of the lodge, and thanked the W.M. for his courteous reception of them. The two brethren withdrew amidst the applause of the meeting. It may be stated that this young lodge is progressing favourably under the able management of the respected W.M., Bro. Dobson. In the month of August last a charter was granted by the Grand Lodge, and was chiefly intended to supply a want greatly felt by the brethren of the dramatic, musical, and equestrian professions, whose calling or occupation made it impossible for them to attend regular meetings of any lodge. The lodge meets on the first and third Wednesdays of every month at 3 p.m., in St. Mark's Hall, 213, Buchanan-street, and we are proud to say that the brethren of the sister lodges embrace the opportunity of meeting with the brethren of Lodge Dramatic, 571, on almost every occasion. Professional brethren intending to visit Scotland will have satisfaction in knowing that they can meet with brethren of their own profession in Glasgow at the above hour and dates.

PLANTATION.—Lodge Plantation (No. 581).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in the new Masonic Hall, Craigiehall-street, Glasgow, on Monday, the 3rd inst., Bro. T. Stobo, W.M., in the chair; Bros. A. Bain, P.M. 103, acting S.W.; J. Henry, J.W. The other office-bearers present were Bros. W. Ferguson, D.M.; A. Gow, S.D.; W. Taylor, Treas.; R. Allan, Sec.; A. Imrie, S.D.; J. Halley, J.D.; J. Campbell, S.S.; J. Dowell, J.S.; Henderson, B.B.; and Cumming, Tyler. The lodge was opened, and the minutes read and confirmed. Messrs. W. T. Mabon, J. Wilson, and J. A. Campbell were initiated into the First Degree by Bro. Alex. Bain, P.M. 103, in that brother's usual impressive manner. Bros. E. Garraway, R. H. White, J. Nish, and Neil Thomson were passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by Bro. W. Ferguson, D.M. The meeting was well attended by visiting brethren, including Bros. W. Bell, J.P.M. 34; R. Dalziel, 34; Dempster, 34; Chalmers and Davidson, 68; Grant, 197; McGregor, 321; Gibralth, 362; Spy, 413; Gardner, 413; and M. Gray, 543; also brethren from Lodges 32, 117, 175, 419, and 437.

The regular meeting of this lodge was held on Monday, 17th inst., in the new Masonic Hall, Craigiehall-street, Glasgow, Bro. W. Ferguson, D.M., presiding; D. Peacock, S.W.; J. Henry, J.W.; W. Taylor, Treas.; R. Allan, Sec.; A. Imrie, S.D.; J. Halley, J.D.; J. Campbell, S.S.; Paterson, acting I.G.; and Cumming, Tyler. Present: Bros. D. Smart, W.M. 347; W. Phillips, W.M. 556; J. Simpson, S.W. 419; J. McNaught, S.W. 556; J. McKechnie, Treas. 556; J. Stewart, 360; and a large number of other visiting brethren. On the minutes of last meeting being read and confirmed, Bro. Brown, No. 114, was elected a joining member and obligated by Bro. Phillips, W.M. 556. Bros. Phillips, W.M. 556; Simpson, S.W. 419; and McNaught, S.W. 556, were obligated honorary members of the lodge by Bro. Ferguson. The committee appointed at last meeting reported that the code of bye-laws as drawn up by them would be read at next meeting. Bros. W. F. Mabon, J. A. Campbell, J. Wilson, and A. Gow were passed to the Fellow Craft Degree. The lodge was then assumed on the Third Degree, when Bros. N. Thomson, E. Garraway, R. H. White, and Jas. Smith were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason by Bro. Ferguson. Afterwards Bro. Paterson was elected I.G., and installed into office by Bro. Phillips.

ERRATA.—"Uddington."—Lodge of St. Bride, No. 579," as appeared in "Freemason," 22nd inst., should read "Uddington.—Lodge St. Bryde, No. 579."

Masonic and General Tidings.

On Tuesday afternoon, at Ruabon, 5000 people welcomed home to Wynnstay Bro. Sir Watkin and Lady Williams Wynn and family, after a five months' absence in the Mediterranean for the benefit of Sir Watkin's health. Three addresses of welcome were presented and acknowledged. Over 1000 school children were present, wearing medals struck in honour of the event, and the day was kept as a general holiday.

At Bangor Steeplechases, Wrexham, an address was presented to Bro. Sir W. Wynn, M.P., Prov. Grand Master North Wales, by Viscount Combermere, on behalf of a thousand members of the Wynnstay Hunt, the occasion being the return home of Sir Watkin, after a long cruise for the benefit of his health; and the address congratulated him on his recovery, and thanked him for the princely manner in which, at his own expense, he kept up the hunt. Bro. Sir Watkin returned thanks.

Bro. Sir Michael Costa will conduct the congratulatory concert in the Royal Albert Hall to the Prince of Wales, in honour of the return of His Highness to England, on Wednesday evening, the 17th of May.

Bro. Brackstone Baker has been elected churchwarden at St. Mark's, Lewisham.

The Knights Companions of the R.S.Y.C.S. will meet in Council, at their Provincial Grand Lodge, 33, Golden-square, on Thursday, the 11th proximo, at three o'clock precisely.

The Percy Lodge of Instruction, No. 193, meets every Saturday evening, at eight o'clock, at Bro. Fysh's, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, corner of Church-road, Islington. On Saturday (this evening) the 15 sections will be worked by Bro. G. Ward Verry, P.M. 554. On this occasion the lodge will open at seven o'clock.

RAVENSBORNE LODGE, No. 1601.—The consecration of this lodge took place yesterday (Friday) at the offices of the Lewisham Board of Works, Catford. The Rev. Wm. Taylor Jones, M.A., P.M., 181, 708, and P.P. G.C. Middlesex, was installed W.M. Bro. Charles Wm. Thompson, S.D. 969, was appointed S.W., and Wm. Bache Roberts, P.M. 181, J.W. The banquet was held at Bro. Spencer's Bridge House Hotel.

The Sir Hugh Myddelton Lodge, No. 1602, will be consecrated this (Saturday) afternoon at the Agricultural Hall, Islington, at 4 o'clock. The ceremonies of consecration and installation will be performed by our esteemed Grand Secretary, Bro. John Hervey. The officers designate are Bros. E. Somers, W.M.; E. G. Sim, S.W.; T. J. Coombs, J.W.

Bro. H. S. Marks has painted a portrait of Alderman Sir B. S. Phillips for the forthcoming Royal Academy Exhibition.

The foundation stone of a new church proposed to be erected on the ruins of an old abbey at Nunceaton was laid on Wednesday last, with full Masonic honours by Lord Leigh, Provincial Grand Master of Warwickshire. A considerable number of the Craft from various parts of the country attended. The mallet used was the one with which King Charles the Second laid the first stone of St. Paul's Cathedral 200 years ago.

The fifty-ninth anniversary festival of the Stability Lodge of Instruction, No. 217, took place on Friday. A full report of the proceedings will appear in our next.

THE SHAKESPEARE MEMORIAL.—At the annual meeting of the Stratford-on-Avon Shakespeare Club it was announced that Mr. Chas. Flower, chairman of the Memorial Association, in addition to his previous handsome donation, has just given £100 in furtherance of the memorial project. It is understood that the erection of the structure will be commenced forthwith.

ANCIENT RELICS.—During some excavations among the ruins of an old abbey at Nunceaton the workmen have discovered a stone coffin, containing human bodies. Along side it were two stone coffin lids, one bearing a Maltese cross, the other a Latin cross. Some tessellated pavement has also been laid bare, as well as some encaustic tiles, sculptured stone, &c. The work of excavation is still proceeding, and the operations of the workmen are watched with the keenest interest, it being thought probable that many additional relics illustrative of the former grandeur of the abbey will be turned up.—"Sheffield Daily Telegraph."

Spiritualism meets with scant favour in Russia. The commission deputed by the Physical Society of the St. Petersburg University to investigate spiritualist phenomena has finished its labours, and issued a report declaring that "spiritualist phenomena are the result either of unconscious movements or wilful imposture, and Spiritualism is a mere superstition."

The Prince of Wales has consented to be present at a "soirée" to be held by the Royal Geographical Society within the Exhibition buildings on the 14th of May. His Royal Highness will be attended by the members of his suite who were with him in India.

RE-OPENING OF CHESTER CATHEDRAL.—The Prince of Wales is to be invited to attend the re-opening of Chester Cathedral, the restoration of which, at a cost of many thousands of pounds, is now complete. The date will be fixed to suit His Royal Highness, but it is hoped that the ceremony will take place the same week as the Wrexham Eisteddfod, and that the Prince will be present at both.

Messrs. Elkington and Co., of which firm our Bro. Elkington is a member, are sending, on the 29th, a selection of choice objects in art metal work which have been manufactured by the firm for the Centennial International Exhibition at Philadelphia.

THE VICTORIA CLUB.—The many advantages afforded by the Victoria Ladies' Club, 25, Regent-street, are deserving of more than a passing notice. To professional men, and those resident in the suburbs, the difficulty of arranging a meeting with wives, daughters, sisters, or mothers, subject to the many delays incidental to business and professions, is overcome by the accommodation afforded by this club, and should ladies visit the West End either for business or pleasure, light refreshment, luncheons, dining, drawing, writing, dressing rooms, and lavatories are at their command, secure from the possibility of annoyance; in a word, the privacy and comfort of home, with the convenience of a town house, is secured, within easy walking distance or shilling cab fare of the principal shops, theatres, railways, &c. The situation of the club (corner of Jermyn-street, Regent-street) is most convenient. Based on the model of gentlemen's clubs—exclusive for ladies—without the elaboration, the appointments are perfect, and our fair readers will learn with satisfaction that ladies wishing to dress for evening enjoyments, every requisite for the toilette is provided, with the assistance of a maid, without additional charge. When we mention the small annual subscription securing these many advantages, we feel assured our suburban readers especially (not forgetting Town) will gladly avail themselves of membership. Family tickets, three guineas; single, two guineas. Established under distinguished patronage, it cannot but prove a great success. In the meantime any information required will be afforded on application to the lady manager, to whose courtesy in visiting the club we are indebted for this brief outline. The difficulty attendant on ladies accompanying gentlemen to Town engagements, incidental to the Masonic programme, now is overcome, and we heartily wish the club the success it ensures.

The complimentary dinner and presentation of a testimonial to Bro. Wm. Herbage, on his retiring from the management of the City Bank, Ludgate Hill, will take place on Wednesday next at the City United Club, Ludgate Hill Circus. The chair will be taken by Bro. Alderman S. C. Hadley, at 7 o'clock punctually. A report of the proceedings will appear in our next. Further information may be obtained of Bro. F. Kent, 8, Red Lion-court, Cannon-street.

A large deputation from the West India Committee waited, on Tuesday evening, upon Lord Carnarvon, at the Colonial Office, Downing-street, with reference to the present state of the Island of Barbadoes, and to ask Her Majesty's Government to recall the Governor, Mr. Pope Hennessy.

A Grand Council of the Illustrious Knights K.H. 30° will be held on Tuesday, the 9th May.

Reports of 697, Colchester; 1391, Leicester; and 376, Ipswich, stand over.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

A Special General Meeting of the Governors and Subscribers of this institution was held on Tuesday, in the library, Freemasons' Hall, for the purpose of considering the propriety of altering Law 4, page 12 of the rules and regulations, by substituting the figures £40 for £36, and Law 4, page 13, by substituting the figures £32 for £28, and any motion or proposition which might be made thereon. To those subscribers and brethren who may not have a copy of the Laws of the institution we may explain that the effect of this is to increase the annuities of the male annuitants from £36 to £40, and of the females from £28 to £32. Lieut.-Col. Creaton, P.G.D., V.P., was called to the chair, and the other brethren present were Bros. S. Rawson, P.D.G.M. China; Griffiths Smith, P.G.S.; Levy, P.M.; Charles Hill, H. Massey ("Freemason"), Thos. Cutitt, P.G.P.; W. Dodd, P.M. 1194; H. G. Buss, Prov. Grand Treas. Middlesex; W. Lane, P.M. 28; H. C. Levander, P.P.G.R. Middlesex; Charles Webber, Benj. Head, P.G.D.; and James Terry, Prov. G.D.C. Herts (Secretary).

Bro. James Terry first read the requisition for the meeting and then the advertisement calling it.

The Chairman afterwards said that it was not necessary that he should take up the time of the brethren by again stating his reasons for proposing the alteration in the laws of the institution. Its object was simply that the annuities should be raised £4 a year, both to men and women. He would therefore only move "That Law 4, page 12, of the rules and regulations be altered by substituting the figures £40 for £36." This increase would not commence till the 1st of June, or be paid till September.

Bro. Levy seconded the motion, which was put and carried.

The Chairman said his next business was to move "That Law No. 4, page 13, of the rules and regulations be altered by substituting the figures £32 for £28."

Bro. S. Rawson seconded the motion, which was then carried.

Bro. Griffiths Smith moved "The best thanks of the meeting to the Chairman for presiding, and also for having raised the annuities of the old men and women."

Bro. Levander seconded the motion, which was unanimously adopted.

The Chairman, in reply, said he thanked the brethren very much for their vote. The meeting certainly had had little to do; but as they had been pleased to pay him the compliment of considering he had rendered a service he must accept it.

Bro. James Terry informed the brethren that the alterations which had just been made would involve an additional outlay of £960 a year from the funds of the institution. There were 240 annuitants. (Hear, hear.)

The meeting then separated.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

The General Committee of this Institution met on Thursday, at Freemasons' Hall, Bro. Thomas W. White in the chair. There were also present Bros. H. Browne, John Boyd, Thos. Massa, Griffiths Smith, T. F. Peacock, Joshua Nunn, Herbert Dicketts, W. F. C. Moutrie, Henry Venn, F. C. Baker, R. B. Webster, John George Marsh, H. A. Dubois, Levy, Dr. Woodman, W. Peters, Benj. Head, John Symonds, John A. Rucker, A. H. Tattershall, H. W. Hemsworth, J. Rosenthal, Major Finney, J. K. Stead, H. Massey ("Freemason"), Edward Clark, Thomas Kingston, and R. W. Little, Secretary.

One little girl was placed on the list for the next election, after which nominations for the House and Audit Committee were made, and scrutineers were appointed for the election of these brethren at next meeting.

The brethren afterwards separated.

SUPREME GRAND CHAPTER.

The following is the agenda of business for the Quarterly Convocation of Grand Chapter on Wednesday:—

The regulations for the government of the Supreme Grand Chapter during the time of public business, to be read.

The minutes of the last Quarterly Convocation to be read for confirmation.

Installation of Principals, and appointment and investiture of Officers for the ensuing year.

The Report of the Committee of General Purposes:—The Committee of General Purposes beg to report that they have examined the Accounts from the 19th January to the 18th April, 1876, both inclusive, which they find to be as follows:—

To Balance Grand Chapter	£349	9	6
" " Unappropriated Account...	163	5	5
Subsequent Receipts	454	0	4
	£966	15	3
By Disbursements during the Quarter	£189	5	4
" Balance	627	17	0
" " in Unappropriated Account	149	12	11
	£966	15	3

which balances are in the hands of Messrs. Willis, Percival and Co., Bankers of the Grand Treasurer.

The Committee have likewise to report that they have received the following petitions:—

1st. From Comps. John Jones, as Z.; Richard Henry Evans, as H.; Henry Jackson, as J.; and six others for a chapter to be attached to the Hamer Lodge, No. 1393, Liverpool, to be called the Hamer Chapter, and to meet at the Clarence Hotel, Everton-road, Liverpool, Lancashire.

2nd. From Companions John Wallingford as Z.; Henry Sleeman as H.; George Felton Lancaster as J., and seven others, for a Chapter to be attached to the Gosport Lodge, No. 903, Gosport, to be called "The Gosport Chapter," and to meet at the India Arms Hotel, Gosport, Hampshire.

3rd. From Companions John George Richards, as Z.; John Dampney, as H.; William Foxwell, as J.; and six others for a Chapter to be attached to the Zetland Lodge, No. 1071, Saltash, to be called "The Zetland Chapter," and to meet at the Masonic Hall, Saltash, Cornwall.

4th. From Companions Thomas Joseph Sabine, as Z.; Eugene Henry Thiellay, as H.; John John Baxter Langley, as J.; and eight others, for a chapter to be attached to the Era Lodge, No. 1421, Hampton Court, to be called "The Era Chapter," and to meet at the Kin's Arms Hotel, Hampton Court, Middlesex.

5th. From Companions Arthur Leared, as Z.; George James Row, as H.; Alfred Durrant, as J.; and six others, for a Chapter to be attached to the Lewis Lodge, No. 1185, Wood Green, to be called "The Lewis Chapter," and to meet at the King's Arms Hotel, Wood Green, Middlesex.

These petitions being in all respects regular, the Committee recommend that the prayers thereof be respectively granted.

(Signed) JOHN CREATON, President.

ADDRESS TO OUR ROYAL GRAND MASTER.

On the 28th of March a deputation from the G.O. of Egypt, viz., Marquis T. de Beauregard, 1st D.G.M.; Chev. P. L. Dilberogut, G.K. of T.; and Bro. Oddi, as G. Sec., presented to the British Consulate the following address:—

"Valle del Nilo, Or. d'Alessandria,
28th March, 1876.

"To His Royal and Imperial Highness the Prince of Wales.

"May it please your Royal and Imperial Highness and Most Illustrious Brother.

"In the name of the Egyptian Masonry, the Grand Orient of Egypt, whose Grand Master I have the honour to be, avail themselves of the happy occasion of your Royal and Imperial Highness's passage through this country to greet you, and through you the British Craft, and to convey their salutations to that illustrious nation, which stands worthily at the head of modern civilization.

"We trust your Royal and Imperial Highness will please to accept this our fraternal greeting and manifestation of our admiration for the happy and great country of which your Royal and Imperial Highness is Grand Master and Prince.

"We shall pray the G.A.O.T.U. that all civilized nations may follow the track of glorious England, and that all Princes and Kings may imitate the example of your Royal and Imperial Highness.

"Please your Royal and Imperial Highness to accept the M.K., which in the name of the Grand Orient of Egypt I offer to your Royal and Imperial Highness, and through you to all British brothers.

"Meanwhile, I have the honour to be of your Royal and Imperial Highness the most humble servant and brother.

(Signed) "B. A. KOLA, G.M.
"F. F. ODDI, G. Sec."

DAYLIGHT reflected in dark rooms. Gas superseded in day time. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors.—Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

MASONIC INTELLIGENCE FROM FRANCE.

By the "Monde Maconnique" of April, just received, we learn that the "Conseil de l'Ordre" has suspended for six months (and very properly) the Lodge Orion, Orient de Gaillac, for the violation of Article 122 of the "Statuts et Reglemens Generaux de l'Ordre." The suspension begins from January 8th. The Council of the Order has also determined to add a course of Geography to those of German and English.

As the "Monde" informs us, "numerous and brilliant Masonic fetes" have been held by several of the French Lodges during the last month, such as that of the Lodge "Les Freres Unis Inseparables," which gave on the 19th March, at the Grand Hall of the Hotel of the Grand Orient a "Matinee Musicale" for the benefit of its adoption of orphans. Bro. Beer presided at this "seance," to which the most eminent performers lent their kindly aid.

Bro. Caubet, the able editor of the "Monde Maconnique," mentions, as "parmi ces charmantes soirées," those of the Lodges L'Union Maconnique, Les Amis Bienfaisants, L'Ecole, Les Hospitaliers Français, La Renaissance, and the united Lodges L'Amitie and L'Athenae Français, et la Fraternite des Peuples. The two lodges, Les Amis Bienfaisants and L'Ecole, celebrated their winter fete by a grand banquet, at which ladies were present, followed by a ball, both magnificent and successful. Bro. Blanchon, "Venerable," or W.M., of the Amis Bienfaisants, and Bro. Paillet, Venerable of the L'Ecole, presided jointly at this fete.

Three addresses were furnished at this fete, one by Bro. Tallandier, Deputy for the Seine, by Bro. Martin Nadaud, Deputy; and by Bro. Hubert, we presume the able editor of the Chaine de l'Union, and Venerable of the Lodge "Le Temple" des Amis de l'Honneur Français.

Bro. Caubet also mentions favourably two other fetes, one of the Lodge Renaissance on the 27th March, and of the triple union of lodges already alluded to, L'Amitie, L'Athenae Français, La Fraternite des Peuples, on the 1st of April.

We note also a list of the lectures delivered in the Lodges "de Paris et de la Banlieue," which shows that much activity still pervades French Masonry, or rather Parisian. If we in our simpler view of the end and objects of Freemasonry, its right position, and its true character, might demur to many subjects proposed as lectures in lodges by our French brethren, yet we must always bear in mind that each national system has its own manner, to use a French expression, of "envisager," alike the tenets and the development of Freemasonry.

We might wish that in France as in England all questions bordering on the domain of politics, or religion, or social controversies, were rigorously excluded from the "syllabus" of Masonic lectures, but as such a "consummation," though devoutly to be wished for in the best interests of French Freemasonry, in our humble opinion is not likely to be arrived at, we must learn as Freemasons to practise the great lesson and art of toleration! We are requested to state that in the "Masonic Magazine" for June will appear Bro. Caubet's interesting article, "Du Role de la Francmaconnerie dans l'Avenir," and, making allowance for the French "point de mire," we can commend Bro. Caubet's eloquent French and Masonic sentiments to the notice of those of our Order who fraternally patronise that interesting and useful publication.

LORD SKELMERSDALE, D.G.M., ON CHURCH EXTENSION.

The foundation stone of the new Church of St. John the Evangelist, at Walton, near Liverpool, was laid last week by Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M. England, R.W.P.G.M. West Lancashire, in presence of a large number of spectators. The distinguished company included Lady Skelmersdale, the Right Rev. the Lord Bishop of Chester, John Torr, Esq., M.P., and a large number of clergy and leading laity.

After the ceremony, an elegant luncheon was served in the Walton Institute, where there was a most fashionable assembly. After several toasts had been proposed and responded to, Mr. Councillor A. B. Forwood proposed "The Health of Lord and Lady Skelmersdale." In doing so he said it was a fortunate thing that they saw the highest representatives of the laity and the Church uniting together, as they were that day, in inaugurating a new church in the district. There was every opportunity, he was sure, for good work by the clergy and laity, and he was satisfied that the clergy only wanted leading and suggestions to follow in any work for the good of the community. (Hear, hear.) The toast he had to propose was that of a nobleman who took a very leading part in the county, and also in one of the most benevolent institutions of the day—(hear, hear)—and he believed his lordship would look upon no period of his Masonic career with greater pleasure than upon what he had done that day in laying the foundation stone of their new church. (Applause.)

Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, in acknowledging the toast, said it had given him great pleasure to be present. He took a very deep interest in church extension. There was not a county, he thought, which had made a greater stride in this respect than that of Lancashire, and the progress in this direction seemed to him perfectly marvellous. He saw the new church was to have half of its seats free and open. He took a great interest in that portion of church work, and he could not help saying that he thought the time to advocate the free and open system was when the foundation stone of a new church was being laid. (Hear, hear.) It was the beginning of a new era in a church, and why should they not begin it as a free and open church at once? Here they were in a community knowing each other, and not likely to have heart burnings about this seat or the other, and he wished he could persuade them to think the matter over again and do what he should like so much to see in their new church. (Hear, hear.) His lordship then proposed "The Health of the Bishop and Clergy of the Diocese," and said there was no bishop in the country who spared himself less than the Bishop of Chester did in doing the work he was called upon to perform.

The Bishop briefly acknowledged the toast, and the proceedings shortly afterwards terminated.

THE RED CROSS BALL.

The annual ball given by the Knights of the Red Cross of Constantine (Grand Council of England) took place on Monday night at Willis's Room's, King-street, St. James's, when a company of 180 Sir Knights, ladies, and gentlemen assembled. It was given under the patronage of the following Grand Officers of the Order, many of whom were Stewards on the occasion:—

GRAND COUNCIL.—Sir Frederick Martin Williams, Bart., M.P.; Colonel Francis Burdett; The Right Hon. the Earl Ferrers; William Edward Gumbleton, J.P.; Rev. William Benjamin Church, M.A.; Rev. Joseph Mary church Vaughan; Henry Charles Levander, M.A.; Robert Wentworth Little; William Robert Woodman, M.D.; Raynham William Stewart; Angelo John Lewis, M.A.; John Boyd, Thomas Cubitt, George Toller, jun., Thomas W. White, the Right Hon. the Earl of Bective, the Right Hon. the Earl of Jersey, the Right Hon. the Lord Skelmersdale, James Percy Leith, Robert Jones, Rev. Thomas FitzArthur Tovin Ravenshaw, M.A.; Rev. Chas. John Martyn, M.A., Hyde Clarke, John Hervey, William Henry Hubbard, Henry Gustavus Buss, Colonel John Whitwell, M.P., John George Marsh, James L. Thomas.

GRAND SENATE.—Joseph Charles Parkinson, William Rochuck, Charles H. Rogers-Harrison, F.R.C.S.; Rev. Philip H. H. Brette, D.D.; George Powell, Henry Arthur Dubois, George Kenning, Lieut.-Col. Jas. Peters, Alfred A. Pendlebury, Herbert Dicketts, John Mason, Rev. P. M. Holden, Eugene H. Thiellay, Thos. Burdett Yeoman, Frederick Kelly, Chas. Frederick Hogard, John William Ellison Macartney, M.P.; John Robert Goepel Joshua Nunn, William Thomas Howe.

STEWARDS.—Colonel F. Burdett, President; R. Wentworth Little, Treasurer; Henry A. Dubois and Charles E. Hogard, Secretaries; E. Amphlett, W. J. Vesker Blinndon, W. H. Brittain, C. J. Burgess, F. Clark, Captain G. Cockle, B. Cook, A. H. Edwards, W. Forster, J. R. Foulger, R. G. Glover, C. W. Gray, R. G. Hall, C. Hamerton, J. Hancock, J. Harper, L. Hirsch, C. Horsley, Captain L. L. Howell, W. D. Jones, W. Kelly, F.R.G.S., T. Kingston, J. M. Levick, T. Massa, C. F. Matier, G. Moren, W. T. Murley, E. S. Norris, M. Ohren, H. Phythian, F. W. H. Ramsey, M.D., W. Richards, S. Rosenthal, H. H. Shirley, S. Spencer, J. E. Symons, F.R.G.S., W. Wilkinson, L.R.C.P., W. Winn. M.C., &c. &c. &c.

Dancing commenced at nine o'clock to the music of Coote and Tinney's band, under the conductorship of Sir Knt. Coote, B.O. Jarvis being Master of the Ceremonies. Several of the Sir Knights wore the jewels (other than those of Craft and Royal Arch), which, added to the elegant dress and jewels of the ladies, gave great brilliancy to the scene.

Although all the Sir Knights above named were not present, many of them were, and among them we observed Col. Burdett, G. Viceroy; Sir Knts. Little, G. Treas.; J. Boyd, H. E. Levander, J. L. Thomas, C. F. Hogard, T. B. Yeoman, E. Thiellay, E. Hamerton, T. Cubitt, G. Kenning, Lieut.-Col. Peters, T. Kingston, F. Kelly, H. Hand, H. A. Dubois, J. T. Moss, and Bros. J. Keen and W. H. Pannell, C.C.

Col. Burdett did not stop during the whole of the evening, and when supper, which was a very elegant one, was served shortly after midnight, Sir Knt. R. Wentworth Little took the chair. There were no speeches, and after the repast was finished dancing was resumed, and kept up with great vigour till past four in the morning. The ball was a most successful undertaking, and all the company expressed themselves highly delighted with it. The profits will be devoted to the Masonic charities.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

On Wednesday, the 26th of April, at the Masons' Hall Tavern, a room of which was kindly lent for the occasion by Messrs. Bell & Co., a meeting was held for the purpose of establishing an "Old Scholar's Re-union." Dr. Morris, the head master of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys, was in the chair. A very pleasant evening was spent, to which the kindness of Messrs. Bell & Co. greatly contributed. The old scholars present subscribed to a prize to be given, with the sanction of the House Committee, to the best boy in "science." The Secretaries of the "Re-union" are Messrs. S. W. Martin and F. H. Reid (17, Offord-road, Barnsbury, N.) who will be glad to receive the names and addresses of former pupils. They will have much pleasure in having the names of such subscribers to the school as may choose to become patrons of the "Re-union."

Sea water for the tanks in the Westminster Aquarium is now being brought from Brighton to London 500,000 gallons will be required.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT are expressly adapted for a those derangements of health which arise from impure, depraved or impoverished blood. The circulation of the blood is the process by which nutriment is conveyed to every part of the body, and is the medium by which all effete and used up material is removed. So important a process and function is this, that any derangement of the circulation of the blood is invariably attended with loss of health. These twin remedies have the valuable property of acting directly on this, and cannot be too highly extolled in inflammations, fevers, &c. Females will also find them invaluable in the complaints peculiar to them, as they modify so materially the circulatory system.—ADVT.

TO OUR READERS

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

E. H. Allgrett in our last was a misprint for G. H. Wyatt.

We have received the circular from the Supreme Conseil Rite Ecossais, France, with reference to a correspondence with Bro. Albert Pike, U.S.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d. for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

HORROCKS.—On the 20th inst., at Ainsworth House, near Bolton-le-Moors, the wife of Mr. J. Horrocks, of a daughter.

HUTCHESON.—On the 30th inst., at Oporto, the wife of S. S. Hutcheson, Esq., of a son.

MARRIAGES.

CREWE-ADDERLEY.—On the 20th inst., at Lea Marston Church, Vauncey Harpur, son of Sir J. H. Crewe, Bart., of Calke Abbey, Derbyshire, to Isabel, daughter of the Right Hon. Sir C. B. Adderley.

DAVIS-CRAWFORD.—On the 20th inst., at Stratford-on-Avon, Arthur Staden Davis, M.A., of Cheltenham College, to Rose Duncombe, daughter of the late Rev. J. R. Crawford, M.A.

DEATHS.

BLAND.—On the 23rd inst., at Worton Hall, Isleworth, Middlesex, James Sparling Bland, Esq., aged 56. Friends will please accept this intimation.

BLACK.—On the 26th inst., Bro. C. W. Black, of 9, Catherine-court, aged 67.

FAIRMAN.—On April 18th, at Golden Cross Hotel, Havelock-road, Hastings, Bro. Geo. Fairman, aged 39 years.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, APRIL 29, 1876.

OUR ROYAL GRAND MASTER'S RETURN.

Since our last impression our Royal Grand Master has been to Cadiz and Seville, where he was warmly received, and assiduously visited the many scenes of local interest and attraction. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught arrived at Cordova on the 24th from Seville. Having visited the Moorish Cathedral and other objects of interest in the town, their Royal Highnesses dined, and subsequently left at 7.10 p.m., by special train, for Madrid. The two Royal brothers reached Madrid at 10.45 on the 25th, and were received at the railway station by the King, accompanied by his Ministers and Chamberlains, and also by Mr. Layard, Her Majesty's Minister, and the members of the Legation, all of whom were in full uniform. The Prince looked in perfect health. After he had taken his seat in the Royal carriage to the right of King Alfonso, the cortège proceeded to the Palace, which was reached at 11 o'clock, and where several high dignitaries were in attendance. The crowd cheered loudly when the carriages left the station, the Prince sitting on the right of King Alfonso with the Duke of Connaught and Prince Louis of Battenberg opposite. The other carriages followed with the suite. The full dress liveries were very handsome, and the whole equipage well appointed. The cortège was preceded by a Royal Guard on horseback, a very fine body of men. The Royal party drove from the station to the Palace through a mile and a half of crowded streets. The people were very respectful, but there was no cheering. It is not the habit in Spain to cheer unless under excitement of a political character or of warlike demonstration. The reception at the Palace was stately, the approaches to the staircases being lined by halberdiers in very effective dresses, cocked hats broad lapelled coats, blue and white facings, white breeches, and long black gaiters. Upon reaching the grand apartments King Alfonso presented the ladies, the grandees, and officials to the Princes, who then presented the members of their suites to his Majesty, who gave them a most gracious reception. The King and the Prince of Wales visited the Museum in the afternoon of the 25th. The military review in honour of the Prince of Wales was very successful. His Royal Highness was on horseback on the King's right, and behind were the Duke of Connaught, Prince Louis of Battenburgh, the Spanish Minister of War, and several generals. The uniforms of the English officers in the suite of the Princes greatly attracted the attention of the crowd. The King and their Royal Highnesses drove along the front of the troops, the line extending from the Atoch Church to the Castellane fountain. They then witnessed the march past, which lasted an hour and a half. They will go to Toledo on Thursday or Friday, returning in the evening to Madrid. After the Opera on Thursday there will be a ball at the Palace of the Duque Ferran de Nunez, and on Friday and Saturday balls will be given by Mr. Layard and the Duque de Bailen. The Ministers are invited to meet His Royal Highness at a tea party at the Palace. The inhabitants of Madrid have given the Prince a very hearty reception. The Prince of Wales will probably stay at Madrid until Friday or Saturday. The Prince of Wales has telegraphed from Madrid direct to the King of Portugal, announcing that he will arrive at Lisbon on Monday, the 1st of May, at three in the afternoon. He will be present at the Italian Opera on the 2nd, and at a Royal ball on the 3rd. On the following day there will be a display of fireworks, on the 5th a military review, and on the 6th a grand banquet. His Royal Highness will sail for England on the 7th of May. The Lodge of the Grand Orient of Portugal, which contains a large number of British members, intends to make the Prince of Wales an honorary member. A Masonic deputation will wait on him with the diploma specially engrossed on vellum.

THE QUEEN'S RETURN.

By the time these lines meet the eyes of our readers Her Majesty the Queen will have been for some days back again in old England. We are among those who think that a great deal too much has been said, and unwisely said, about the Queen's visit to Germany. It was alike, we venture to think, both natural and reasonable, and in itself as an act of simple family life and detail, to be greatly commended instead of being criticized, to be praised instead of being questioned. It was a little holiday to the Queen, a domestic and seasonable arrangement, by which cherished souvenirs might be renewed, and affairs of business regulated. We never could understand why any remarks should have been, made in Parliament, or out of Parliament, upon what was alike clearly a personal act of duty and affection, contributing some few hours of relaxation and retirement, both from the ceremonies of a Court, and the unavoidable claims of public business. The late Prince Consort, with his rare prescience, saw years ago that, in England at any rate, the position of the Crown, always exceptional, was rendered easier as a fact, and the prestige of the throne was increased, by the careful development of the inner side of private and family life. The English are, happily, a home-loving people; the associations and sympathies of all classes, high and humble, are bound up with the quiet discharge of social duties and the elevating tastes and gentle virtues of family relationship. No public life is worth anything which does not rest on the home circle as its solace and strength, its charm and comfort, amid the "whirligig of time" and the strange conceits of mortal men in their mundane struggle. A Court has its attractions and its greatness, its splendour and its allurements, but it has also its dangers and its drawbacks, its snares and its sorrows. Hence the only counterpoise to the wearing toils and overweening influences of a merely public life, arising from the fact that Sovereigns are always "en evidence," and have but little spare time for self-refreshment and self-reflection, is to be found in the safe path and restraining sympathies of family association, interest, and affection. How well and wisely the Prince Consort judged, time has already surely shown, and we regret that, misled by a little "mirage" of that perversity which often comes over society, any should ever have thought it well or befitting to criticize the Queen going to Germany, or her visit to Baden or to Cobourg. We shall all be glad to think that, amid all the greatness of the greatest of sovereignities, amid all the splendour of the English Court, the Queen, the daughter of a Freemason, retains her intense love of home and family life, and, bound deeply by those ties of personal and intimate relationship which constitute, we may say, the best guarantee for the happiness of home, the peace of nations, and the progress of mankind, leaves the great realm of England for a short "retraite," and some few simple moments of peaceful and unartificial family intercourse. Who can venture to blame her, or any one in her exalted position, who seeks, amid scenes and memories very dear, to strengthen herself for the duties of her great rank, and to live out that happy inner life of domestic sympathy and attachment, which has brightened even the enduring grandeur of her diadem with the noblest and tenderest sympathies of this earthly existence of ours?

ENGLISH FREEMASONRY.

Well! they may say what they like, Ultramontane accuser and intolerant defamer, but this good old English Craft of ours is going on its way to-day, impelled by a very prosperous "trade wind," over a tranquil sea, and under a blue sky! Time has run on since, say, Lord Lovel was installed in succession to the Duke of Norfolk, on the 19th of March, 1731, very nearly 150 years ago, and these small beginnings have led to wonderful results. A very able brother of our Order once observed that the Craft was a very remarkable institution, and that, considering all the unavoidable drawbacks and weaknesses of humanity, it was a very noble Order, and did a great amount of good. We feel strongly the truth of his forcible words as we sit pen in hand to-day. What other Order can boast such a career of usefulness, kindness, benefit to others, good to mankind? We may well remember to-day that the revived Grand Lodge of 1717 is the mother of all speculative Masonry, and that if Cosmopolitan Masonry exists at all, it is owing to those humbler brethren of ours who met at the Apple Tree Tavern, in Charles-street, Covent Garden, in February, 1717. They probably little foresaw to what a mighty tree the petty seed they planted there Masonically would grow, neither could they estimate the effect and influence that Freemasonry was to exercise over individuals and nations. For we may lay this down as a fact, that wherever Freemasonry, in its true principles, is at active work, there peace and toleration, home life, and national well-being are pretty sure to be found abounding on every side. And English Freemasonry has always kept, even amid most troubled times, the even tenour of its way, it has never turned to the right hand or the left, it has never been seduced by party cries, or passing applause, to let go its ancient landmarks, it has remained moored safely to its own unchanging principles, amid the follies, and frivolities, and perversities, and blunders of other portions of the Masonic family. Hence in the eyes of some writers English Freemasonry is alike in a sleepy and comatose state, obstructive and retrograde, insensible to the awakening theories of more ardent minds! Be it so; but we in England prefer this very state of "coma," if you like, to that fictitious life which Masonry here and there is living, to that pretentious and ever-lurid glare which seems to fall as if with menacing mien, alike on the protestations of some, and the public proceedings of others who claim to be like us, brethren of the Masonic Order. For in England certain characteristics have marked our good old Order along the dusty highway of time, and have preserved it, happily, from the quack "nostrums" of the empiric, have saved it from the "facilis descensus Avernus" of the unreasoning reformer. English Freemasonry has ever been religious and reasonable, liberal and loyal, tolerant and truthful, peaceful and progressive, but sternly opposed alike to iconoclastic absurdities and to revolutionary changes. It has ever inculcated reverence of God, and love for man, fealty to the throne, and obedience to the laws. It has advocated unceasingly the obligations of citizenship, and the feelings of patriotism, while it has surrounded home life and social duties with all those attractions which lend grace and dignity to this human and gregarious existence of ours. It has never faltered in urging the claims of suffering and sorrow, of poverty and distress, in upholding the sanctity of toleration, in proclaiming the brotherhood of man! It is this combination, alike sympathetic and yet fraternal, sensible and yet emotional, which has so endeared the Craft to its children, and has so served to commend it to the minds of the educated and intellectual, the student and the statesman, the man of business and the man of the world, the most elevated in earthly rank and the toiling bread winners of the great middle class. And, as the old saying runs, "the proof of the pudding is in the eating," we in England, nay, Freemasons generally, fully recognise, with some few exceptions, the reality of the position and work of English Freemasonry. At this very moment our lodges are increasing rapidly, some say too rapidly, and our one only danger lies in our very numbers, in that large admission of members which is now taking place. But with caution and care even this difficulty and peril may be overcome, and we have, ourselves no fear, but that like others in times past, these symptoms of evil will yet be overmastered for good. It is with legitimate pride, that as English Freemasons, we may note the onward progress of our ancient and useful Craft. Its works of charity are deepening and extending, material well-being is apparently only an incentive to increased well doing, and never at any period of our history was there, we believe, a more faithful realization amongst our brethren generally, both of the excellences and claims, the duties and demands, of Freemasonry. So long as we keep firmly to the great landmarks of our Order, so long as we uphold its genuine principles, and preserve its wholesome enactments—so long as we practise what we preach, and carry out what we profess—so long will our English Craft, humanly speaking, endure, alike useful and beneficial for ourselves and for mankind. But the highest prosperity and the greatest numbers will not save us from the inevitable re-action which ever follows close upon the great tide of human affairs and institutions, if ever we forget our duties in our privileges; if ever we lose sight of the truth, that talking is one thing, doing another; if ever we look lightly at the sure and solemn fact, that Freemasonry, like everything else of earth, is on its trial, and can only be judged, and will only be judged by its "facts," not by its "verba," by the fruits it evidences, by the work it performs.

THE PROVINCE OF WEST LANCASHIRE.

A meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of this distinguished province took place at Liverpool on April 10th, 200 brethren being present, under the distinguished presidency of our amiable and popular D.G.M., Lord Skelmersdale, also Prov. G.M. Among the other business was the proposition to grant £100 towards the "Sedilia" of the cathedral of Chester, now under process of restoration. For some reasons this resolution was opposed, apparently on the ground that it was a denominational vote. So, no doubt, in one sense, it was; but yet it was a vote which appealed alike to the sympathies of the members of the Provincial Grand Lodge as Freemasons, and also as lovers of art, and promoters of æsthetic improvements. For in England we Speculative Freemasons must never forget that we are the descendants of those who built those very glorious fanes, on which time's destroying hand has fallen, and which pious care would preserve, and loving religion would seek to renovate and restore. The remarks of Bro. Alpass, I.G. Secretary, are deserving of much attention, not only from his long services to our Order, but his perfect acquaintance with the teaching and temper of Freemasonry. It is a fact that, as a rule, the Clergy of the Church of England are more favourable to Freemasonry than almost any other religious body. And long may this friendly "Concordat" continue, long may this entente cordiale prevail. None are more careful than we are to uphold the non-political and non-controversial character of Freemasonry, but when a proposal comes to endeavour to assist a good work, like the restoration of Chester Cathedral, not only do we hold it is perfectly fair to act as Freemasons to do so, but we are not infringing on our avowed neutrality when we show our good will towards a great denominational body, from which we have as a rule, always received so much friendly consideration, and from which to-day out of every 100 of our Chaplain brethren 99 actually are recruited for our fraternal ranks. We are glad to see that West Lancashire makes so distinct a move, supported by so large a majority, in favour of the religious building art, and the good work of Church restoration, as though we do not deny that there is at first sight a little difficulty in the case, apparently, on the strict grounds of denominational neutrality, yet we also feel assured that it is only in the appearance and not in the reality. Bro. Alpass's argument is, we think, a very fair one, "ad Latomos," and practically unanswerable; and we are pleased to note for the information of our readers how good sense and kindly feeling and sound practical judgment dominate, fortunately for us all, for the most part, the meetings of our ancient and benevolent Craft.

THE GRAND FESTIVAL.

We publish in another column a report of the Grand Festival, but, as it is too late for our notice this week, shall recur to it in our next.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

MASONIC JURISPRUDENCE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Can you, or any of your numerous readers who are versed in the laws and customs of our Order, give me a reply to the following queries:—

1. Has a definite decision ever been given as to whether a Warden who has not served a complete and current year as such (i.e. from one annual installation to the following one) but who has served for upwards of twelve months in two periods, is qualified for the chair? In the only English work on Masonic Jurisprudence that I am acquainted with—Dr. Oliver's—it is laid down that such a one would not be qualified, and that the twelve months' service must be continuous.

2. Are Wardens, who served as such under the sister constitutions (Irish or Scotch), eligible to be elected to the chair of an English lodge?

3. In the case of a lodge losing its W.M. by death, removal, or otherwise, and also losing one or both of its Wardens from either of the above causes, or by resignation, is the I.P.M., who is ruling the lodge, competent to appoint another brother as Warden? and if so, would the Warden so appointed count the time as qualifying, supposing broken periods do count? I am of opinion that, under these circumstances, the I.P.M. cannot appoint a fresh Warden, except pro tem. at each meeting, he not being the actual Master of the lodge.

4. When appointing a brother to the office of Warden at a meeting other than the installation meeting, is it sufficient to say, "Brother so and so, take the Warden's chair," and for the said brother to put on the collar and take his seat? or should not the W.M. formally appoint, invest, and instal the Warden, such to be entered on the minutes of the meeting?

A reply to the foregoing will oblige, Yours truly and fraternally,

23rd April, 1876.

ENQUIRER.

MEMBERSHIP OF A PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Will you kindly allow me to ask Bro. W. J. Hughan to be kind enough to point out the authority of the "P.G.M." to appoint a brother not officially a member of the P.G.L. owing to his being neither a Master, Past Master, nor Warden of a lodge in the province (though a contributing Master Mason therein) is conferred by the Book of Constitutions."

I find that "brethren of eminence and ability, who have rendered service to the Craft, may, by a vote of the Grand Lodge, duly confirmed, be constituted members of Grand Lodge, with such rank and distinction as may be thought proper."

The Craft in general ought to be thankful to Bro. Hughan for his contributions to the "Freemason."

I have a P.G.L. balance sheet, in which the Deputy G.M. is styled R.W.D.P.G.M., and the P.G. Officers from the P.G.S.W. to the P.G.S. are styled V.W. both included.

If Prov. Grand Lodge is in error, no wonder for members of private lodges to be wrong.

Yours fraternally,

R.W.O.

THE INSTALLATION PICTURE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In consequence of my absence from town whilst superintending the engraving I was not aware that my advertisement had been inadvertently (on my part) omitted from your issue. In re-inserting it will you kindly permit me again to call the attention of those brethren who have not yet forwarded their portraits for insertion in the engraving to at once favour me with same. I find, on close examination, that we can insert about 300 more, in addition to those now in hand (nearly 700), and I am quite sure that the excellence and fidelity of the portraits already engraved will ensure the utmost satisfaction. Surely it is not too much to ask 1000 brethren out of the 8000 present, to assist me in producing such a memento as will make the great event of double interest to our Royal Grand Master. Permit me also to add that it is of the utmost importance that no delay should take place in complying with my wish.

I am, dear Sir and Brother, fraternally yours,

EDWD. J. HARTY.

213, Regent-st., W., 25th April, 1876.

REGALIA.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

While reading the article by "Ad Rem" on the above in your last he touched a cord that I often wished some one to pull.

The 3rd paragraph. "How is it that (say) ninety-nine out of every hundred Past Masters wear a gold or gilt jewel when the Constitutions distinctly say it shall be in silver, &c.?"

Qy. Are the jewels worn by the ninety-nine, referred to above, those that the P.M.'s attach to their coat collars on the left breast? If so, are they in reality jewels, according to the Book of Constitutions, any more than those which are attached to the watch chain, &c., by many a brother.

By the reading of the Constitutions, p. 122, I presume that a Past Master's jewel is to be worn pendant to a collar of light blue ribbon four inches broad, or as in p. 124, where the emblem of their office is in silver or white in the centre of the apron.

Yours fraternally,

R.W.O.

"WHAT NEXT, INDEED?"

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Under the caption "What Next, Indeed," an article appeared in your issue of the 11th March, and I have to request permission to make a few remarks thereon. You seem to apprehend disaster to the aged frame of Past Master Dobbin, and in fancy hear him exclaim, "What! admit women to an installation—it's scandalous—never heard of such a thing in my life before—it will ruin Freemasonry altogether, &c., &c., &c."

What dreadful forebodings are concealed under the three et ceteras my imagination fails to conceive, but doubtless, despite of such, Freemasonry will still live, and I sincerely hope that the worthy Past Master may survive long enough to meet the lady friends of Montgomery Lodge at their centennial in 1925. And you, too, most worthy "Freemason," cannot understand how ladies could be present at an installation, but presume some means are found for squaring the matter so as to be in accord with Masonic ritual. Squaring Masonic ritual is either a vile pun or a very slang expression, unworthy of place in your well edited columns—excuse me.

If your Masonic library does not contain a copy of Ahiman Rezon and Freemason's Guide," by David Sickles, 33rd Sec-Gen. of the Superintending Council, Northern Jurisdiction, and which is dedicated to John W. Simons, Past Grand Master of Masons and Knights Templar of New York, Grand Treasurer of the Grand Encampment of the United States, Grand Treasurer of the Grand Lodge of New York, and Sovereign Grand Inspector-General, &c., make haste and obtain a copy. This book is our standard in all matters of ceremony.

The directions for "The Installation of the Officers of a Lodge" are accompanied by the following notes.

1. "A private examination is understood to precede the installation of the Master."

2. "If the installation is performed in a public place, this as well as other private ceremonies are omitted."

In point of fact nothing Masonic is done before "Cowans," be they male or female, with the exception of "The Grand Honours." I will endeavour very soon to write out the entire ceremony for your guidance and instruction, and possibly inform you of a similar proceeding in a lodge in Great Britain, so that you may see there is precedent for our action.

I sympathize with Bro. Simmons, who you say is in love, and am sure if such be the case he does endorse your opinion as to the extent of welcome to be given—"within due limits"—to well disposed gentle and graceful sisters, but this I know, that the admission of sweethearts, wives, daughters, and sisters to great educational and benevolent festivals, to special soirees, to organized banquets, and to agreeable reunions (balls, I presume) will never do half so much good in removing the impression, prevalent among women, that Freemasonry is but another name for conviviality, as listening to language such as the fo-lowing, taken from the Grand Master's charge to the officers of a lodge.

"Forcibly impress upon them (the brethren) the dignity and high importance of Masonry, and seriously admonish them never to disgrace it. Charge them to practise out of the lodge those duties which they have been taught in it, and by amiable, discreet and virtuous conduct, to convince mankind of the goodness of the institution, so that when a person is said to be a member of it, the world may know that he is one to whom the burdened heart may pour out its sorrows to whom distress may prefer its suit, whose hand is guided by justice, and whose heart is expanded by benevolence."

In this country there are no "banquets" after lodge meeting, and thus the time taken from the family circle is freely given by our "dear creatures" who know that "the brethren" are engaged in rather more Masonic work than "charging glasses" at the re-union from which they are excluded. Let me assure you, dear sir and brother, that the Masonic fraternity here yield to none in devotion to the Craft, they are jealous of its honours, of its secrets, but without they know the value of female influence and support, and are proud to show to those whose lives and homes are made happier by the exercise of Masonic virtues that in lodge such virtues are inculcated. Thus, instead of the words, "I am going to the lodge" being heard with alarm, they are listened to with pleasure, because those to whom they are addressed know, "it is good to be there." The next time I visit London, I hope to make your personal acquaintance, when it will at the same time afford me pleasure to learn that Past Master Dobbins has vanished all fear, and ceases to believe in negligence of Masonic ritual, that Bro. Simmons has not only thriven in love, but the gentle, well-dressed partner of his joys and sorrows has been present at his installation, and with delight heard the words, "Brethren, behold your Master," spoken to her beloved lord and master, then will she re-echo the closing sentence of the Grand Master's address: "Within your peaceful walls may your children's children celebrate with joy and gratitude the annual recurrence of this auspicious solemnity, and may the tenets of our profession be transmitted through your lodge, pure and unimpaired from generation to generation." "So mote it be."

I am, dear Sir and Brother, yours truly and fraternally,
MARY'S CHAPEL, No. 1.

THE FREEMASONS AND BURNS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Referring to the paragraph on this subject in your publication of to-day, it may be interesting to point out to the Craft, that in various Masonic works, published in the U.S.A., the "Farewell" has a verse added which is not to be found in any edition here of Burns's poems, nor is it believed to be his composition. The verse is as follows:—

And you, kind-hearted sisters fair,
I sing farewell to all your charms,
The impression of your pleasing air,
With rapture oft my bosom warms.
Alas! the social winter's night
No more returns while breathe I draw,
Till sisters, brothers, all unite
In that Grand Lodge that's far away.

I think the construction of the last verse in our editions alone sufficient to prove that the above is not genuine; but if spurious it is not of recent manufacture, as I have seen it in an American book, published about forty years ago.

Yours fraternally,

JOHN HOGG.

THE MARK DEGREE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Will you kindly inform me through your columns whether it is in accordance with the Scotch Constitutions to confer the Mark Degree, a special meeting being called for this purpose and a charge being made for conferring the same.

The Scotch Grand Lodge Laws and Constitutions distinctly state (chap. 2, par. 1), that they recognise no degrees of Masonry but those of E.A., F.C., and M.M., denominated St. John's Masonry (including the Mark, which, however, G.L. does not recognise as a separate degree).

I hold that to call a special meeting for the purpose of conferring the degree and charge a fee for the same is unconstitutional and a violation of Grand Lodge laws.

The special meeting I allude to was held in St. Mark's Hall, Buchanan-street, Glasgow, on Friday evening, the 14th inst., and appeared in the columns of the "Glasgow Daily Mail," and at the same meeting a proposal was made and adopted that the fee for conferring the degree should be raised from rs. 2d. to 2s. 6d. in the future. I regret to say that in Scotland the Grand Lodge laws are too frequently violated, and should be enforced.

Yours fraternally,

A. R. A. MASON.

MASONIC PREFIXES.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Whilst thanking Bro. W. J. Hughan for his interesting letters on this subject, I would call his attention to the following.

On April 1st he said the Dep. G.M.'s prefix was Right Worshipful, on April 22nd, he states it to be Most Worshipful. Which is correct? Presuming the latter to be correct I give a complete recapitulation of prefixes.

Most Worshipful, Nos. 1. to 6 inclusive.

Right Worshipful, Nos. 7 to 10 inclusive.

Very Worshipful, Nos. 21 to 34 inclusive, and Masters, and Past Masters of lodges.

(N.B.—The above numbers refer to the collective body styled "United Grand Lodge," &c., see Constitutions, pp. 16 to 18.)

As M.M.'s (whose designation is brother only) may be appointed to certain offices in Grand, or Prov. Grand Lodges, it is clear that—

Office in Grand Lodge gives a prefix.

Office in Prov. Grand Lodge does not.

So the whole affair lies in a nut-shell.

To be beyond doubt, will Bro. Hughan kindly say if the foregoing list of prefixes is perfect? Then your readers may mark same in their copies of the Constitutions, and so set a vexed question at rest.

Fraternally yours,

"AD REM."

In Bro. Hughan's letter on this subject last week, the paragraph "(5) Deputy Grand Master and Prov. G.M. are to be styled Most Worshipful," should read as follows:—

(5) Deputy Grand Master, Provincial and District Grand Master, and Grand Wardens are to be styled Right Worshipful.

(6) The Grand Master and Pro Grand Master, Most Worshipful.

LAYING THE FOUNDATION STONE OF A MASONIC HALL AT HAVANT.

The brethren of Lodge Carnarvon, No. 804, have for some time past been anxious to secure a "local habitation" exclusively their own, and having succeeded in obtaining an eligible site in Victoria-road, opposite the Star Hotel, arrangements were made for the erection of a hall. Bro. H. R. Trigg, of Hayling, prepared the plans for a building 45 ft. by 35 ft., including a lodge-room, retiring-room for the W.M., committee-room, Tyler's room, and the usual offices. The edifice, which will be without architectural pretensions, is to be of brick, with cement ornamentation, and its erection has been entrusted to Bro. G. Barnes. Arrangements had been made for laying the foundation-stone of the building with full Masonic ceremonies, and it was anticipated that there would be a very large attendance, not only of members of the craft, but of the uninitiated outsiders. Unfortunately, however, the weather, which so frequently mars out-door spectacles, was most unpropitious, and the brethren did not attend in anything like the numbers looked for, while the heavy and almost continuous downpour effectually prevented a strong muster of the public. Mr. Arthur Locke, of the Bear Hotel, Havant, kindly placed the large room over his carriage repository at the disposal of the Masons, and herein a lodge was held and duly "tyled." The R.W. P. Grand Master of Hampshire and the Isle of Wight (Bro. W. B. Beach, M.P. for North Hants), who is ever ready to do all in his power to promote the interests of Freemasonry, came specially from London to be present, and he was supported by the V.W. the P. Dep. Grand Master (Bro. William Hickman, of Southampton), Bro. H. Ford, P.G.S.W., Bro. J. E. Le Feuvre, Prov. G. Sec.; and Bro. Mark E. Frost, Prov. G. Treas.; J. W. Fardell (Ryde), P.G.J.W. Among the brethren present in lodge were Bros. Lintott, W.M. Carnarvon Lodge; H. R. Trigg, P.M., Prov. G. Sup. of Works; J. N. Hillman, P.M., P.P.G.S.B.; H. Cawte, P.P.G. Warden; John Lillywhite, P.M., Prov. G. Registrar; J. C. Wheeler, W.M. 257; J. Whale, W.M. 309; R. Eve, P.M., P.P.G.S. Warden; G. R. Johnson, Prov. G. Swd. Bearer; T. Francis, P.M.; R. Newland, P.M., Prov. G.A.D.C.; E. Good, P.M.; R. Barber, P. Prov. G.S.B.; R. Osborne, Prov. G. Org.; J. Harrison, I.P.M. Carnarvon Lodge; J. Southwood, C. H. Liddell, H. T. Cecil, P.P.G. Steward; F. White, R. R. L. Rosoman, F. Spurgeon, F. Lemmon, C. N. Burr, W. Payne, P.G. Steward; H. F. Cox, S.W. Carnarvon Lodge; G. Barnes, O. C. Harries, H. Coles, E. Salter, G. A. Eaton, G. Woodman, W. Sims, J. Blount Thomas, P.P.G.S.D.; Major Paxton, T. Hall, C. B. Payne, Tyler of the Grand Lodge of England; G. Carter, J.D. Carnarvon Lodge; W. Bull, Eugene E. Street, G. L. Green, J. P. Paice, and others. Bro. H. R. Trigg acted as M.C. The cornucopia, or horn of plenty, and other golden vessels used on such occasions had been sent from the Grand Lodge, and oil, corn, and wine were placed in them, but in consequence of the bad weather were not used, it having been determined to shorten the ceremony as much as possible. At three o'clock the P.G.M. and his officers, with the brethren, preceded by the band of the 21st North Fusiliers, under the direction of Mr. Daniels, moved in procession from the temporary lodge to the site of the hall, where Bro. Johnson, in the absence of the Prov. G. Chaplain (Bro. the Rev. E. B. C. Churchill), impressively read a short prayer, after which the P.G.M. "proved" the stone and declared it "square, level, and well-wrought, and fit for the purpose intended." The stone was then lowered and the usual taps were given. Bro. Trigg produced the plans, which, having been examined by the P.G.M., were declared "well executed, and the limits and proportions accurately defined." The procession then re-formed and returned to the lodge-room, which having been "close tyled."

The Prov. Grand Master said the ceremony in which they had been engaged was such as was always interesting to Freemasons. Although they did not take part in operative Masonry, as their forefathers were wont to do in former days, they never shrank from showing the interest they took in the erection of buildings. They were incited to do this by the fame of those who had gone before. Many magnificent buildings remained as masterpieces of art, and modern Freemasons had not only engrafted many valuable lessons upon the work which their forefathers wrought, but they had taken an active part in the erection of buildings in the present day. But there was something specially interesting and coming home to their hearts in a practical manner when the building which was proposed to be erected was for the purposes of Freemasonry. When that building was in future time to be a lodge, in which the purposes of Freemasonry were to be carried out, it indeed came home to the heart of every man, and led him to take a more active interest in it than he might otherwise do. It became them to think of the work in which they were engaged. When a building was being erected for the purpose of Freemasonry they had to think, "What is this which we are promoting?" and it brought home those lessons which were inculcated by their Masonic Craft. It was well-known to them all that those lessons were most valuable; they were founded upon the Sacred Volume, which lies open in every lodge. In that Sacred Volume were contained those lessons which were most valuable for the life of man. If they could but act up to the lessons therein inculcated, and which every Master of a lodge was bound to impress upon the brethren under his rule, they would have their lives improved, and they would feel that Freemasonry had brought home to them lessons which were most valuable for their future. The building which was to be erected was founded on wisdom, strength, and beauty—wisdom to devise, strength to execute, and beauty in embellishment. But the construction of the building was as nothing compared with the purposes for which it was devised. Therein he trusted in future years would be impressed on those who attended lessons in harmony with the purposes of Freemasonry. He trusted that those lessons would bear fruit, and that those brethren who attended would feel themselves called upon to act up to those valuable precepts which were instilled among them. If a Freemason was really impressed with the value and the necessity of acting up to those lessons, it could not but have a most important effect upon his future life. Supposing a Master who was impressing those lessons upon the brethren were not to act up to them himself, would he not feel that he was falling away from what he was impressing upon them? Would that not lead him to act better, to do more to promote the welfare of man, and to show his reverence for the Great Architect of the Universe, than he might otherwise do? He trusted it would. No one who made himself well acquainted with the principles of Freemasonry could fail to be aware of the importance of the precepts which were taught; and therefore if any one who was well acquainted with them failed to carry out in his own person those precepts, he must feel that he was derogating from the high position which he ought to occupy. Such was not, he trusted, the case with any one there. He trusted that all who attended within this lodge would have the lessons of Freemasonry amply and well explained to them, and that those who had them impressed upon them would act up to them. He hoped this building, the foundation stone of which had been laid that day, would be powerful for good, and that it would exercise an important influence upon Freemasonry in that town and neighbourhood. He could only say, for himself, that he wished it hearty good-speed, and that the work they had inaugurated that day might be prosperous and efficient. (Applause.)

Bro. Lintott, W.M., in proposing a vote of thanks to the R.W. Prov. Grand Master, said they would all agree with him it was a great kindness on his part to come so many miles to be present with them. They had long been looking forward to that day. They knew that the R.W. Prov. Grand Master had many important and arduous duties to perform, not only in Freemasonry, but in many other matters.

Bro. F. Cox, S.W., seconded the resolution, saying he was sure it must have been an exertion on the part of the P.G.M. to find time to visit so small a lodge as this.

The Prov. Grand Master, in acknowledging the vote, said it gave him very great pleasure indeed to be present, and he thought he should have been very deficient in his duty if he had failed to attend when the brethren of the Carnarvon Lodge were making such a noble effort to erect a building fit for the purposes of Freemasonry. It reflected such infinite credit on them that it deserved every encouragement on the part of Freemasons in other parts of the province, and being at the head of the province he should have failed in his duty if he had not come to show by his presence that he heartily approved of their good work, and that he was anxious to say a few words to encourage them, and wish them prosperity in the future. He hoped and trusted that on his next attendance there he should see the building assuming full proportions, and promising to be worthy of, and efficient for, the purposes of Freemasonry. (Applause.)

The lodge was then closed in the usual Masonic form.

At half-past four a banquet was served in the Town Hall, under the presidency of the Prov. Grand Master. The catering was entrusted to Bro. Purnell, of the Dolphin, who had prepared a choice menu, and served the repast in a manner reflecting great credit upon him. At the conclusion of the dinner,

The Prov. Grand Master said that loyalty to the Sovereign of their native land was an integral portion of their Masonic creed, and therefore they, as Freemasons, in common with other of Her Majesty's subjects, were ready on every occasion to prove their loyalty and affection. But had they not any inducement to do so it would be found in the manner in which Her Majesty, during a lengthened reign, had endeared herself to the hearts of her subjects. And, indeed, during that long time she had proved herself a true constitutional Sovereign, and that she was ready on every occasion to consult their welfare and adapt herself to their wishes. (Applause.) He was sure that as Freemasons he need not appeal to their hearts to join in the toast with every sense of affection that they were capable of showing.—The P.G.M. then gave "The Queen and the Craft." (Applause.)

The Prov. Grand Master said the next toast that he had the honour to propose to them was that of their Grand Master, the Prince of Wales. (Applause.) Those who were present on the occasion of his installation would not readily forget the magnificent spectacle presented, and they must also have realised the fact that the Prince of Wales, in assuming the office of Grand Master, was not insensible to the duties he was taking on himself. (Hear, hear.) He had shown himself a great friend to the Craft, and during his recent journey in India he had lost no opportunity of attending a Masonic ceremony whenever it was in his power to do so. It must be a source of joy and congratulation to them to find that during his journey throughout that great empire he had not only endeared himself to the hearts of their countrymen there, but also of the natives of that country. He was sure that though he had not thrown aside pleasure, yet he had never neglected duty to pursue it. (Hear, hear.) He had, he was quite sure, worked during his tour in a wonderful manner. The enormous number of processions and ceremonies that he had attended required a very strong constitution to get through. But he had been enabled to surmount all, and he was sure that the manner in which he had conducted himself throughout the whole of that tour had redounded to the honour of England, and had shown that he who held the highest position, next to the Queen, in England, was able to conduct himself towards all those with whom he came in contact in a manner to reflect honour on the position he occupied. (Applause.) He trusted that on his return to this country he would meet with a reception that would repay him in some measure for the labour he had undergone. (Applause.)

The Prov. Grand Master said that however ready the Prince of Wales, their Grand Master, might be to attend Masonic ceremonies, yet it was quite impossible for him to discharge those duties all over the country. The consequence was that it was necessary to have a Pro Grand Master to represent him, and the Craft were fortunate in having a brother of such eminence and talent as the Earl of Carnarvon. (Applause.) He was very much associated with this county, although he held the office of Provincial Grand Master of Somerset. But he had shown himself ready to take a great interest in Freemasonry in this province, and extremely zealous in discharging the duties of Provincial Grand Master. He had also been a staunch supporter of their Masonic charities, and, in short, had reflected honour upon the cause of Freemasonry since he had been a member of their Order. (Applause.) He would couple with the toast "The Health of Lord Skelmersdale, the Deputy Grand Master," who in Lancashire, in particular, was held in the very highest repute. "Those who had the opportunity of meeting him, as he frequently had, on Masonic occasions, knew that the able manner in which he performed his duties commended itself to the hearts of all who came near him. He would couple with the toast 'The Health of a Past Grand Officer,' whose name ordinarily would be coupled with another toast, but whom it would be convenient on this occasion to give an opportunity of saying a few words before he left—Bro. William Hickman. (Applause.) He gave 'The Provincial Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and the Officers of the Grand Lodge, Present and Past.' (Applause.)

The Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Hickman, in responding, said he could assure them that in the Earl of Carnarvon the Grand Lodge of England had a nobleman who conducted the proceedings, in the absence of the Prince of Wales and on his behalf, in a most satisfactory manner. (Hear, hear.) He need not remind them of the manner in which the installation ceremony of the Prince of Wales—that glorious meeting of Masons throughout England—was conducted by his lordship some twelve months ago. That was a day that would rest in the memory of all Masons in England for many, many years to come, and even for generations. (Hear, hear.) Lord Skelmersdale was only too pleased to second the exertions of the Pro Grand Master, and to do his duty as Deputy Grand Master, and all the officers, present and past, of Grand Lodge were only too pleased to do what in them lay for the furtherance of Freemasonry. He only hoped that to-day's proceedings, although they might have been to some extent marred by the weather, over which they could have no control, would be remembered in Havant, they having laid the foundation of a lodge which he trusted would last for many years, and cement the bonds of Freemasonry, particularly the support of their charitable institutions, and he hoped also that many lasting friendships and kindly relations might exist in this lodge. (Hear, hear.) He expressed the thanks of the Provincial Grand Officers who had been summoned, and who had been so pleased to accompany their Provincial Grand Master on this occasion, for the very kind manner in which they had been received. They would be only too pleased at a future time, when the building was completed, to come there and inaugurate the proceedings therein, and they trusted that this lodge might exist for many years and be held in the new building, which would be a very handsome one, according to the plans they had seen that day, and that it might be from generation to generation a rallying-point for Freemasonry in this district. (Applause.)

Bro. Lintott briefly proposed "The R.W. Prov. G.M.," who had come there that day from a long distance to be present, although, as they knew, he had many other important and arduous duties to perform. (Hear, hear.) The toast was drunk with great enthusiasm.

The Prov. Grand Master, in responding, said he certainly could have wished that circumstances had been more propitious. If the weather had been only favourable they should have had, no doubt, a large attendance, anxious to witness such an interesting ceremony. But as they were not so favoured they were obliged to put up with a comparatively small attendance. But he might congratulate their Worshipful Master that the brethren who were present were animated by a sincere desire to take part in that interesting ceremony. It must be gratifying to any one to have a Masonic lodge constituted in a locality. Those brethren who had taken part in the formation of a lodge, and in its sustentation, must have been animated by a sincere desire to promote the welfare of Freemasonry, and they then set themselves to work to get a building proper to receive them. There was something, no doubt, repugnant to the feelings of true Masons when they met in a building not adapted to them and unworthy of holding them. (Hear, hear.) Therefore it reflected the more credit on them when they set to work and put their shoulders to the wheel, to erect a building which should be worthy of them. (Hear, hear.) Such, he trusted, would be the result of the proceedings of to-day. What had they resolved to do? To make a building for the purposes of Freemasonry. Was it an Order worthy of support, or a mere ignoble Order, which would flourish for a few years and then die away? Freemasonry had existed for centuries, its votaries had been well aware that it was an Order which could not die, because its principles would ever keep it alive. Other societies had died out, but Freemasonry still flourished and increased, because those who had succeeded their forefathers had gone on, feeling that the lessons they had received were lessons which were well worthy of being acted up to and perpetuated. Amongst the lessons of Freemasonry there were some which could not but reflect credit upon those that devised them, as upon those who were determined to act up to them. They had the lessons of benevolence and charity—charity, let him say, acted upon to its fullest extent, not that charity which lavishly gave away to the first comer, but that charity which had an influence upon the inner man, which led them to act honourably and benevolently to every one with whom they came in contact. That was the true charity which should influence the human life, and could they see it acted up to throughout the outer world they would have fewer disputes and fewer disturbances, and they would have something more benevolent than had ever as yet existed in the world. But that was too much to expect. Let them, however, as Masons, resolve so to act, that however much the outer world might cavil at their principles, they would be compelled to say—"We cannot but admit that they do not neglect them in their own lives. (Hear, hear.) That was a reflection which should induce all of them to act in an honourable and proper manner, so that others might say when they looked upon a Mason—"He has acted up to the principles which have been instilled into him." (Hear, hear.) In presiding over that province, which he had had the honour to do for some years, he had taken the warmest interest in the progress of Freemasonry throughout its precincts. Impressed himself, at his first entrance into the Order, with a belief that Freemasonry would confer the greatest benefits upon the human race, he had tried, far as in him lay, to support it, and he could only hope that he might have the pleasure of seeing Freemasonry flourish, not only throughout the province, but throughout the country. (Applause.) He thanked the W.M. and brethren of the Carnarvon Lodge for the very kind and hospitable reception they had given them that day, and he trusted, as their Deputy Grand Master had said, that on a future occasion he might have the opportunity of coming there and seeing the result of the auspicious proceedings which had taken place that day. (Applause.)

Bro. Lintott, W.M., proposed "The Provincial Officers, Present and Past," coupling with the toast the name of Bro. Henry Ford, P.G.S.W. (Applause.)

Bro. H. Ford, P.G.S.W., in responding, said he was much obliged to them for having an opportunity of joining in this festive occasion. He came there, hoping that they might have a fine day and a large gathering. They had not either, but at least they had had the leaders of their Craft present among them, showing them they were still earnest in their attachment to the principles of their Order, and, although the weather was unpropitious, doing their duty to the best of their ability. He was quite sure that all present must have derived some lessons of instruction and some lessons to guide them in the future from the ceremony in which they had taken part. The ceremony was necessarily curtailed in consequence of their great enemy, the weather, but still enough had been performed to show they had laid the foundation of a building which, they believed, would take deep root, and, by the blessing of the Great Architect of the Universe, bring forth fruit a hundred fold. They did not come there to take part in an empty or idle ceremony, or merely to grace a procession or show themselves in Masonic clothing to the ignorant multitude; but they came there for the purpose of strengthening the hands of a body of men in that town, who had done so much to cultivate Freemasonry and establish its principles and precepts. (Applause.) Let them hope that the proceedings of that day would eventuate in Freemasonry being more firmly established than ever among them, and that the Carnarvon Lodge, which was about to have a habitation of its own, might continue to flourish. (Applause.) Following so closely after their excellent Right Worshipful Grand Master, it would be affectation in him to detain them with a long speech. But he could not allow the opportunity to pass without expressing his deep sense of the obligations of Freemasonry, as he had often done in that town in days gone by. The name of a Freemason was not a mere empty word; it had a meaning and significance which they ought never to forget. (Hear, hear.) It imposed upon them self-restraint, which they ought to practise whenever the necessity for it arose. He could not help feeling sad for a moment, even although they had every appliance for festivity before them. He could not help remembering that the hand of Death had been among Freemasons, as well as among other bodies, and that if it had not been for his inroads in the Order he (Bro. Ford) would not be occupying the position he now filled. They missed from among them on that occasion the face of a genial brother, who had recently been taken to, he hoped and believed, an abode of bliss; a brother who had been wont to make them as happy as it was in his power to do, even at the sacrifice of his own personal comfort. Let them for a moment pause and reflect that the time might come—nay, must shortly come—when they would have to follow him to that bourne whence no traveller returned. He knew their excellent Brother Forbes between forty and fifty years, and he always found him to be a good friend and a sincere and trustworthy man; and, as a Mason, his heart was enshrined in the principles of their Order. Let them follow in his footsteps, although all could not gain the position he occupied, and strive to emulate his example. While on this melancholy topic he could not help remembering that they had formerly a brother among them who, on occasions like this, was the life and soul of their proceedings—he referred to their late excellent Bro. Stebbing, the Deputy Prov. Grand Master. They always missed his genial countenance whenever anything was to be done for the good of Freemasonry. Let them strive to emulate the example of those who had gone before them. They were apt to forget what the meaning of Freemasonry was. It was not merely the practice of one of the social virtues. Brotherly love, relief, and truth were its three cardinal points. He urged the brethren of the Carnarvon Lodge to continue to live together in brotherly love. If that principle had not been acted upon they could never have gained the predominance they had in this town, or have been in a position to go through that day's proceedings. (Applause.)

The Prov. Grand Master referred to the presence amongst them of an Irish Mason, and proposed "The Grand Lodge of Ireland," which was responded to by Bro. Charles H. Bamber, Sphinx Lodge, 263.

The Prov. Grand Master said he rose to propose a toast which he was sure would be received with the greatest enthusiasm—"The health of their Worshipful Master." It would have been much more pleasing to have proposed this toast could he have congratulated him upon all the proceedings of to-day having gone off in the most favourable manner, but was sure he might congratulate him that as far as he (the W.M.) was concerned everything had gone off in the most admirable manner. They must thank him for the arrangements which had been made and for the manner in which he had conducted them. The Worshipful Master had important duties to perform. He had to rely upon the support of the brethren of neighbouring lodges assisting him upon any occasion when they might be called upon to do so. He was sure the Worshipful Master of the Carnarvon Lodge might rely upon the support of the brethren of his neighbouring lodges. (Hear, hear.) They would therefore drink his health, and wish that the remaining part of his year of office might be most prosperous. (Loud applause.)

The toast was drunk with great enthusiasm, and Bro. Lintott briefly responded, and proposed "The Visitors."

Bro. Eve, P.P.G.S.W., in responding, said nothing could be a greater source of enjoyment to all true Masons than to assemble on the occasion of laying the foundation-stone of a Masonic Hall. They all felt that if Masons could possibly get funds sufficient to have a place of their own it was their duty to do so. For a small locality, as Havant was, compared with Portsmouth and other towns, they had shown a great deal of pluck in getting a building of their own, and he was sure would receive the congratulations of all the brethren of the province. The visitors could only regret that they had not been better favoured in respect to the weather, and he trusted that next time they had occasion to have a meeting of that kind they would take the opportunity of coming in still larger numbers than they had that day, for the purpose of expressing their feelings towards them, for the manner in which they had conducted Masonry in this town. When they saw what a small body had done, it brought a number of larger towns rather into disrepute. (Hear, hear.) Other towns ought to emulate the example which they had set, and he hoped it would be followed. (Hear, hear.) He proposed, "Success to the Carnarvon Lodge. (Applause.)

Bro. Good, P.M., briefly responded, and promised a donation of £10 towards the building fund. (Applause.)

INAUGURAL BALL AT THE SURREY MASONIC HALL.

Owing to the large increase of members, and of necessity, lodges, a want has long been felt in the southern part of London for a building in which the solemn rites of the Order can be performed, without having resort to establishments but poorly suited to the requirements of the Masonic fraternity. The Surrey Masonic Hall, which has been in course of erection now very nearly two years, was formally opened on Wednesday, the 19th inst., by an Inaugural Ball. The foundation-stone was laid as far back as the 29th of May, 1874, by Colonel Francis Burdett, J.P., Prov. Grand Master of Middlesex, in the presence of a large number of distinguished brethren, and many ladies. The dedication of the hall took place on the same day as the consecration of the new lodge, No. 1539, which was named after the hall. The Rt. Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, Deputy Grand Master for West Lancashire, formally dedicated the new hall to Freemasonry on Wednesday, July 13, 1875. The hall, as its name implies, was built for the special accommodation of Masonic lodges, and the portion of the premises more especially devoted to this purpose has been in use several months, a number of lodges, chapters, and instruction lodges having already taken up their quarters within the building.

In addition to this portion, however, the building also comprises a large public hall 95 feet long, 40 wide, and 35 high, and this having now approached completion, was inaugurated, as we have already stated, by the ball, and in order to identify the opening of this hall with one of the three great principles of Freemasonry, the proceeds will be given to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. Of the boon which this hall will prove to the neighbourhood there is little need to speak.

Bro. M. S. Larham, a director of the Surrey Masonic Hall

Company, obtained permission for the members of the Order to appear in Masonic costume, which gave great effect and zeal to the assembly. Bro. D. Goffrey's band was in attendance and performed some choice music. Bro. John Jarvis praying himself an able Master of the Ceremonies. Supper was supplied about one o'clock in the rooms adjoining the hall. The usual toasts were given and duly responded to. During the evening the following Inaugural Ode, on the completion of the Surrey Masonic Hall, written by Bro. Samuel Poynter, P.M. 902 and 1491, barrister-at-law, was delivered by Bro. Dawson in a very able manner.

ODE.

"And the house, when it was in building, was built of stone made ready before it was brought thither; so that there was neither hammer nor axe nor any tool of iron heard in the house, while it was in building."—1 Kings, VI., v. 7.

"An house not made with hands."—II. Cor., V., v. 1.

In Israel's holy city, when the word
Went forth to build a Temple to the Lord,
The pious prince, who swayed the sceptre then,—
Wise alike of monarchs and of men,—
Inspired by zeal, by light divine illumed,
To give command unparalleled presumed.

"The fane we build"—so mused his mighty mind—
"Is for no earthly potentate designed;

"For human ruler, howsoever great,
"Whate'er the pomp, the pageantry, the state,
"His throne surround, how loud so'er th' acclaim
"With which the sycophantic shout his name,—
"Let mortal hands with lusty strokes attest
"A mortal's lodging 'tis they build at best!

"The maul for luxury's use now deftly plied
"Shall ring on nails that clinch the coffin's side;
"The pick that cleaves the earth to found the throne
"Breaks up the ground beneath the cold grave stone;

"Each sound of toil that jars on royalty's ear
"Proclaims that e'en to monarchs death is near!
"E'en as at Pharaoh's feasts, o'er pomp and power,
"The grisly, grinning, skeleton would tower,*

"So, as the sumptuous palace stone by stone
"Rises in beauty, rings the dirge-like tone,—
"Whomsoever thou art for whom these toilers ply,
"Thou shalt their lot in this—thou too must die!"

"Not so that Being"—thus the king's thoughts ran,
"For whom this regal edifice we plan;
"How grand so'er, yet all too mean for One
"Whose Temple is the Universe alone,—

"Ruler of all, e'en of the gruesome king;
"Cedes grave no victory, knows in death no sting!
"Let then no harsh discordant noises break
"The solemn silence in the house we make;

"No stroke disturb, or clang of tool dispel,
"The stillness where we pray our God to dwell!"
The king decreed, and word'ring Israel viewed
The logs well shaped, the ashlar squared where hewed,

In forest and in quarry, leagues away
From that all hallow'd site, where, day by day,
Conveyed by tedious toil o'er sea and land,
All ready fashioned to the builder's hand,

The precious freight arrived; and fingers skilled
The pieces fitted—and, with reverence filled,
The Jewish people saw before them rise
The stately fabric—mounting to the skies;

The world's new wonder growing—tower by tower—
In symmetry and silence hour by hour!
So the first Temple sprang—how changed the tone
Upon that spot, when, ruined and o'erthrown,

The pious builders of the second sought
The ancient glory to restore—and wrought
With sturdy arm—the hammer swinging high,
Trowel and pick in hand, but sword on thigh!

Thus to all time they the example set
That lawless violence must by force be met,
Proclaiming in the patriot's loftiest strain
What toil produces valour must maintain!

Shall these great lessons of time passed away
Be told in dull, deaf, nay, dead, ears to-day?
Shall we, whom God has blessed with peace and means,
With sceptic sneer turn from these old-world scenes?

Or read with pride that goes before a fall
The unregarded writing on the wall?
Not so! The Temple that the wise king planned,
Too great almost for work of human hand,

So grand, so glorious, that it seemed to grow
By nature's process from the earth below,
We builders speculative, in our state
Of mortal sojourn, strive to imitate.

Ah! would our skill could from the world around
All evil banish, as metallic sound
Was stilled within the Temple's gorgeous walls!
But here sin's ringing conflict still appals;

Yet work we on, our house the human soul;
The sounds we seek to banish or control
Are vice's promptings, passion's fierce appeal;
Or a voice ham'ring tender hearts to steel;

These sounds discordant silenced, we could hear
The "still small voice" that whispers "Peace is here!"
Nor yet alone the earlier Temple's rise
Exhausts the lesson Holy Writ supplies;

The careless and indifferent may cease.
To heed the conscience, and may call that peace;
But lethargy, like this, so dense and deep,
Is, as to peace, as death is unto sleep.

Be ours, while silencing the angry din
Of raging passions jarring all within
The human temple—ever to incline
Our mental ears unto the voice Divine!

And, as the builders, when they sought to raise

*An allusion to the well-known traditional custom at Egyptian banquets.

Again the Temple to Jehovah's praise,
Toiled with their hands, but carried at their side
The sword to guard the work their skill supplied,
We, too, must learn, when right's by force withstood,
Like men to 'quit us for the common good!

The common good! Our revels here to-night
Remind us of an enemy to fight.

Grim foes we Masons face; the strife we'd win
Is waged with want, with ignorance, with sin!
Whom threaten they? Hark! where in yonder walls
The tiny foot of blooming girlhood falls.

Our Brethren's orphans! Brethren whom hard care
Their feet through life kept on the dark'ned square.
Poor girls! Ye gentle fair, whose witching eyes
To-night our festal scene's chief charm supplies,

From joyful thoughts with which your bosoms glow,
One warm pulsation of your hearts bestow
In gentle sympathy with this our aim,
In sanctioning the privilege we claim

To succour those for whom to-night we plead—
Our orphan sisters—in their hour of need!
Hold! I have said enough. You'll say there's quite
Sufficient moralising for one night.

All harsh, discordant noises from this scene
Be banished now; while tranquil and serene,
Sole interruption of the stillness round,
Shall be sweet music's joy-inspiring sound;

The only strokes upon our ears to beat,
The joyous pattering of youthful feet,
Threading the circling maze; and if, by chance,
Some cheery voices break the pleasant trance,

The heartfelt wishes on our ears will fall
Affection's welcome—warm good-will to all.
Success to this our roof, and, to have done,
As Tiny Tim says, "God bless every one!"

Hold! I have said enough. You'll say there's quite
Sufficient moralising for one night.

All harsh, discordant noises from this scene
Be banished now; while tranquil and serene,
Sole interruption of the stillness round,
Shall be sweet music's joy-inspiring sound;

The only strokes upon our ears to beat,
The joyous pattering of youthful feet,
Threading the circling maze; and if, by chance,
Some cheery voices break the pleasant trance,

The heartfelt wishes on our ears will fall
Affection's welcome—warm good-will to all.
Success to this our roof, and, to have done,
As Tiny Tim says, "God bless every one!"

Hold! I have said enough. You'll say there's quite
Sufficient moralising for one night.

All harsh, discordant noises from this scene
Be banished now; while tranquil and serene,
Sole interruption of the stillness round,
Shall be sweet music's joy-inspiring sound;

The only strokes upon our ears to beat,
The joyous pattering of youthful feet,
Threading the circling maze; and if, by chance,
Some cheery voices break the pleasant trance,

The heartfelt wishes on our ears will fall
Affection's welcome—warm good-will to all.
Success to this our roof, and, to have done,
As Tiny Tim says, "God bless every one!"

Hold! I have said enough. You'll say there's quite
Sufficient moralising for one night.

All harsh, discordant noises from this scene
Be banished now; while tranquil and serene,
Sole interruption of the stillness round,
Shall be sweet music's joy-inspiring sound;

The only strokes upon our ears to beat,
The joyous pattering of youthful feet,
Threading the circling maze; and if, by chance,
Some cheery voices break the pleasant trance,

The heartfelt wishes on our ears will fall
Affection's welcome—warm good-will to all.
Success to this our roof, and, to have done,
As Tiny Tim says, "God bless every one!"

Hold! I have said enough. You'll say there's quite
Sufficient moralising for one night.

All harsh, discordant noises from this scene
Be banished now; while tranquil and serene,
Sole interruption of the stillness round,
Shall be sweet music's joy-inspiring sound;

The only strokes upon our ears to beat,
The joyous pattering of youthful feet,
Threading the circling maze; and if, by chance,
Some cheery voices break the pleasant trance,

The heartfelt wishes on our ears will fall
Affection's welcome—warm good-will to all.
Success to this our roof, and, to have done,
As Tiny Tim says, "God bless every one!"

Hold! I have said enough. You'll say there's quite
Sufficient moralising for one night.

All harsh, discordant noises from this scene
Be banished now; while tranquil and serene,
Sole interruption of the stillness round,
Shall be sweet music's joy-inspiring sound;

The only strokes upon our ears to beat,
The joyous pattering of youthful feet,
Threading the circling maze; and if, by chance,
Some cheery voices break the pleasant trance,

The heartfelt wishes on our ears will fall
Affection's welcome—warm good-will to all.
Success to this our roof, and, to have done,
As Tiny Tim says, "God bless every one!"

Hold! I have said enough. You'll say there's quite
Sufficient moralising for one night.

All harsh, discordant noises from this scene
Be banished now; while tranquil and serene,
Sole interruption of the stillness round,
Shall be sweet music's joy-inspiring sound;

The only strokes upon our ears to beat,
The joyous pattering of youthful feet,
Threading the circling maze; and if, by chance,
Some cheery voices break the pleasant trance,

The heartfelt wishes on our ears will fall
Affection's welcome—warm good-will to all.
Success to this our roof, and, to have done,
As Tiny Tim says, "God bless every one!"

Hold! I have said enough. You'll say there's quite
Sufficient moralising for one night.

All harsh, discordant noises from this scene
Be banished now; while tranquil and serene,
Sole interruption of the stillness round,
Shall be sweet music's joy-inspiring sound;

The only strokes upon our ears to beat,
The joyous pattering of youthful feet,
Threading the circling maze; and if, by chance,
Some cheery voices break the pleasant trance,

The heartfelt wishes on our ears will fall
Affection's welcome—warm good-will to all.
Success to this our roof, and, to have done,
As Tiny Tim says, "God bless every one!"

Hold! I have said enough. You'll say there's quite
Sufficient moralising for one night.

All harsh, discordant noises from this scene
Be banished now; while tranquil and serene,
Sole interruption of the stillness round,
Shall be sweet music's joy-inspiring sound;

The only strokes upon our ears to beat,
The joyous pattering of youthful feet,
Threading the circling maze; and if, by chance,
Some cheery voices break the pleasant trance,

The heartfelt wishes on our ears will fall
Affection's welcome—warm good-will to all.
Success to this our roof, and, to have done,
As Tiny Tim says, "God bless every one!"

Hold! I have said enough. You'll say there's quite
Sufficient moralising for one night.

All harsh, discordant noises from this scene
Be banished now; while tranquil and serene,
Sole interruption of the stillness round,
Shall be sweet music's joy-inspiring sound;

The only strokes upon our ears to beat,
The joyous pattering of youthful feet,
Threading the circling maze; and if, by chance,
Some cheery voices break the pleasant trance,

The heartfelt wishes on our ears will fall
Affection's welcome—warm good-will to all.
Success to this our roof, and, to have done,
As Tiny Tim says, "God bless every one!"

Hold! I have said enough. You'll say there's quite
Sufficient moralising for one night.

All harsh, discordant noises from this scene
Be banished now; while tranquil and serene,
Sole interruption of the stillness round,
Shall be sweet music's joy-inspiring sound;

The only strokes upon our ears to beat,
The joyous pattering of youthful feet,
Threading the circling maze; and if, by chance,
Some cheery voices break the pleasant trance,

The heartfelt wishes on our ears will fall
Affection's welcome—warm good-will to all.
Success to this our roof, and, to have done,
As Tiny Tim says, "God bless every one!"

Hold! I have said enough. You'll say there's quite
Sufficient moralising for one night.

All harsh, discordant noises from this scene
Be banished now; while tranquil and serene,
Sole interruption of the stillness round,
Shall be sweet music's joy-inspiring sound;

The only strokes upon our ears to beat,
The joyous pattering of youthful feet,
Threading the circling maze; and if, by chance,
Some cheery voices break the pleasant trance,

The heartfelt wishes on our ears will fall
Affection's welcome—warm good-will to all.
Success to this our roof, and, to have done,
As Tiny Tim says, "God bless every one!"

W.M. 128; T. Horsley, P.P.S.G.W. 253; T. Slinn, P.G. Tyler; T. Wright, W.M. 654; and others.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF WEST LANCASHIRE.

An especial Provincial Grand Lodge of the Western Division of the county of Lancashire was held at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, on Tuesday, the 18th inst., for the purpose of taking into consideration a letter which had been received from the Rev. E. Deacle, precentor of Chester Cathedral, with regard to the proposed contribution by the Freemasons of West Lancashire towards the restoration of Chester Cathedral. Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M. England, R.W.P.G.M. West Lancashire, was present, and accepted the place of honour at the proceedings. Amongst the others present were Bros. A. C. Dealey, P.G.J.W.; Dr. J. K. Smith, P.G. Reg.; T. Armstrong, P.G. Treas.; H. S. Alpass, P.G. Sec.; J. F. Goggin, P.P.G. Chap.; R. Wilson, P.P.G.S.D.; T. Wylie, P.P.G. Reg.; R. Wylie, P.P.G.J.D.; W. J. Turley, P.P.G.J.D.; J. R. Goepel, P.P.G.D.C.; J. Lunt, P.G.D.C.; G. Broadbridge, P.P.G.D.C.; J. Skeag, P.G.O.; S. E. Ibbis, P.P.G.S.B.; J. Bell, W.M. 1356; R. Brown, W.M. 241, Hon. Sec. West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution; J. Wood, Treas. 1094 ("Freemason"); J. W. J. Fowler, P.P.G.A.D.C.; W. Johnson, 241; J. Houlding, J.W. 823; W. Healing, W.M. 1094; W. S. Vines, P.M. 220; J. H. McQuistan, 241; S. J. McGeorge, P.M., Treas. 241; H. Liversage, 1299; R. Bennett, W.M. 1299; A. Jones, J.W. 1502; J. T. Callow, W.M. 1505; H. Nelson, P.M. 1505; T. Clark, P.M. 673; J. Hocken, P.M., Treas. 673; Dr. F. J. Bailey, 786; H. Ashmore, W.M. 1325; G. Turner, P.M. 823; R. Young, P.M. 86; W. Tyrer, W.M. 86; H. Vaughan, J.W. 86; J. A. Edginton, P.M. 1182; P. B. Gee, W.M. 1264; J. Higson Johnson, P.M. 1350; A. Woolrich, S.D. 1356, &c.

The P.G.M. said it would be remembered that at the last P.G. Lodge meeting a letter was read from the Rev. Mr. Deacle with reference to the restoration of Chester Cathedral, but it was then thought advisable to postpone the consideration of the matter, as the brethren were then engaged in raising funds for the Benevolent Institution. He then took it upon him to say that the brethren would raise money for the purpose of helping on the restoration, and he had promised that their gift would take the form of a sedilia, which he thought would be a much more appropriate gift to come from Freemasons than either a pavement or coronna, the other gifts which had been named by Mr. Deacle in his letter. He now asked the brethren to give him their opinion on the subject, and say what they thought the P.G. Lodge should do in connection with the matter.

Bro. R. Wylie, P.P.J.G.D., now moved that the sum of £100 be given towards the restoration of Chester Cathedral.

Bro. Dealey, P.G.J.W., seconded the motion.

Bro. Broadbridge, P.P.G.D.C., said he thought they should hesitate before voting the funds of the P.G. Lodge to this purpose. They had amongst their number many brethren who were Dissenters, Roman Catholics, and members of other persuasions, and in relation to these they stood in a very peculiar position. Moreover, they ought to remember that they had the greatest difficulty in raising the sums required to get their children elected in connection with their institutions. Besides, he thought that before they parted with their funds they ought at least to furnish that help properly.

In answer to a brother, the P.G.M. said the sedilia would cost about £450.

A brother from Barrow also objected to the vote, remarking that the clergy of Carlisle, in which part of that province was situated, might as well ask for a similar vote.

After several other brethren had spoken for and against the proposal,

Bro. T. Wylie, P.P.G. Reg., called attention to the Masonic gift which had recently been made to the cathedral at Gloucester, and urged the brethren to see that the pledge or promise of their P.G.M. should be redeemed with what he might call "flying colours."

Bro. H. S. Alpass, P.G. Sec., in supporting the motion for the vote, pointed out that amongst the 4400 Freemasons in the province of West Lancashire no fewer than 3200 were resident in the diocese of Chester. With regard to the objection raised as to the different creeds to be found in the Masonic body, he stated, as the result of a long experience, that the clergymen of the Church of England were almost the only ministers who joined the Order, a fact which he considered a complete answer to the repeated charges of irreligion which had been made against Freemasonry. When so many clergymen of the Established Church became Masons and took part in the ceremonies of the Craft, the members of that Order could be neither infidels nor deists, as many had alleged. They owed a debt of gratitude to the ministers of the Church, and they could show this in some measure by their aid in this work of restoration.

After Bro. R. Young, P.M. 86, had spoken against the proposition,

Bro. R. Wylie said this was not a question of religion, but a Masonic question, in which they were called upon to contribute to the restoration of a building in which they ought to have a special interest.

The motion was carried by an overwhelming majority and it was also resolved that the P.G.M. should recommend the members of private lodges within his province to supplement the vote of the Provincial Grand Lodge.

Lord Skelmersdale intimated his intention of subscribing £25 towards the object.

After £55 had been voted for relief and assistance in the education of deceased Freemasons' children, the proceedings of the special meeting terminated.

PROVINCIAL GRAND CHAPTER OF WEST LANCASHIRE.

The annual Provincial Grand Chapter of the Province of West Lancashire was held on Tuesday afternoon, the 18th inst., in the Chapter-room at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool. Comp. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, Prov. G. Superintendent, was present, and presided over one of the largest gatherings of companions seen in Liverpool for a long time.

After the P.G. chapter had been opened, and some formal business transacted, the P.G. Supt. appointed and invested the following as his Provincial Grand Officers for the coming year:—Comps. J. Prescott, P.G.H.; G. D. Pochin, P.G.J.; Dr. J. Kellett Smith, P.G. Reg.; T. Armstrong, P.G.T. (re-elected); H. S. Alpess, P.G.S.E. (re-appointed); Dr. S. J. McGeorge, P.G.S.N.; W. Sharp, P.G. Soj.; R. Dodgson, P.G.A. Soj.; J. Holland, P.G. Second A. Soj.; T. Nevett, P.G.S.B.; J. T. Callow, P.G. St. B.; H. Nelson, P.G.D.C. (re-appointed); J. Skeaf, P.G.O.; J. Wainwright, P.G.S.; and P. Ball, P.G. Janitor (re-elected).

On the motion of Comp. Thomas Wylie, it was resolved to vote £25 from the funds of the Provincial Grand Chapter towards the Masonic contribution from West Lancashire in aid of the restoration of Chester Cathedral; and it was further agreed that a recommendation should be sent by Comp. Lord Skelmersdale, P.G. Supt., in name of the Provincial Grand Chapter, to all the chapters within his jurisdiction to supplement that amount by private subscriptions.

This was all the business of importance, and the Prov. Grand Chapter was closed in due form. The majority of the companions subscribing sat down to an excellent banquet, provided by Comp. W. Vines, P.Z. 220, of the Canton Hotel, whose catering gave general satisfaction.

TESTIMONIAL TO A WORTHY BROTHER.

On Saturday last a deputation of gentlemen of the county of Chester assembled at Bradwall Hall, Sandbach, the seat of Bro. G. W. Latham, P.P.G.S.W. Cheshire, whose name is a household word amongst the Masons throughout the province, to present to him a testimonial in recognition of his public services to the county during the last 20 years in connection with the Court of Quarter Sessions and the Bradwall Reformatory. The deputation was a most influential one. The testimonial consisted of a subscription of £500, out of which had been purchased a golden vase, 30 inches in height, which was an exquisite specimen of the goldsmith's art from Nuremberg, together with an illuminated scroll, bearing the signatures of the subscribers.

Bro. Lord de Tabley, R.W.P.G.M. of Cheshire, in making the presentation, said that, in the name and on behalf of the county of Chester, he had very great pleasure in presenting that testimonial as a mark of their high appreciation of Bro. Latham's philanthropic endeavours in respect to the Bradwall Reformatory, the origin of which and its gratifying results were very generally known. It would be idle to disguise the fact that in a certain degree the testimonial was more or less of a public protest against what was generally regarded as ungrateful and unworthy treatment of Bro. Latham in connection with the business of the Cheshire Quarter Sessions. But this was a matter upon which he refrained from dilating. A hundred and twenty gentlemen had offered this mark of their sympathy with Bro. Latham, and desired in that way to testify their high appreciation of his career in the county as a magistrate, a philanthropist, and a Cheshire landlord.

Bro. Latham said that the presence of the gentlemen around him that day was a very gratifying evidence to him of their sincere and generous sympathy. As to the unfair treatment at quarter sessions to which his lordship had referred, he would abstain from commenting upon it, further than to say that he perfectly recognised the rights of the magistrates concerned in the transaction in question to choose their own chairman of quarter sessions. Still perhaps he had some little right to complain that he had been hardly treated. Some reason, at any rate, might have been given for so unprecedented and abrupt a dismissal. He had, however, the satisfaction of feeling that he at least had done nothing to Americanise our institutions in the county, for he had at least disdained to canvass for votes for that office.

After the presentation the company adjourned to luncheon.

Obituary.

BRO. WILLIAM BROOKS GATES.

Many brethren will regret to learn of the death of Bro. W. Brooks Gates. His long connection with the Pomfret Lodge, 360, Northampton and the Chapter, and his provincial duties made his name familiar to all in the province. He was Provincial Treasurer (with Bro. E. E. Welchman, one of the oldest P.M.'s of the Pomfret Lodge now left) for many years, and was always careful to husband the funds so as to be able to contribute to the Masonic charities. "The Northampton Mercury" says:—"Yesterday (Friday) afternoon the funeral of this well-known and respected inhabitant took place at St. Giles's Church, the Rev. Canon Robson and the Rev. J. T. Drake officiating. Mr. Gates was registrar of the Bedford district of the Court of Probate, to which he was appointed in 1857, on the death of his father, who had previously held the office for many years. He was for a considerable period a member of the Town Council, of which he was made an alderman. As chairman of the Sanitary Committee he was known for his punctuality and business capacity, and rendered great assistance in schemes brought forward by the exercise of good judgment upon matters in which he took great interest. His name was always found amongst the most charitable of the supporters of the clerical and legal institutions. We understand that he has bequeathed his most valuable library of legal works to Mr. A. J. Jeffery. Mr. Gates's memory will be long cherished by the poor, who by his death have lost a kind benefactor. The following was the order of the procession:—Pomfret Lodge of Freemasons, Rev. R. T. Drake, Rev. Canon Robson, two churchwardens, Messrs. Phipps and Son, undertakers; Mr. Utley; pall bearers, Mr. John Hanson, Mr. James Weatherell, Mr. Goodman, Mr. Cattell, Mr. Hanson, Mr. Jeffery; mourners, Miss Bull, Mr. William Reed, Rev. W. J. Gates, man-servant, Mr. E. Bull, Mr. H. Gates, Mr. C. Gates, Mr. Neville. The Freemasons who attended included members from Towcester, Wellingborough, Kettering, Peterborough, and Huntingdon. The deceased gentleman filled the office of Provincial Grand Treasurer of the Order of Freemasons for many years. A large number of the inhabitants of the town assembled to pay a mark of respect to the deceased gentleman."

Amongst the brethren who attended the funeral were:—Of the Pomfret Lodge, 360: Bros. P.M.'s M. A. Boeme, W.M.; M. W. Flewitt, W. Kingston, G. Cotton, J. T. Green, G. Robinson, J. U. Stanton, E. W. Tuffley; and Bros. T. Whitehouse, H. W. Parker, J. S. Norman, M. E. Jones, Luke Knight, Jas. Watkin, G. R. Swallow, T. E. Melsheim, A. Dorrell, T. Warren, A. Richardson, H. Brown, H. J. Atkins, G. Ellard, C. E. Ashford, Aldridge, C. Barnes, J. H. Williams, J. J. Hart. From Socrates Lodge, 373: Bro. J. Marsh, P.M., P.P.D.C., &c. From St. Peter's Lodge, 422: Bros. E. Vergetti, P.M., P.P.G.S.W.; G. F. Buckle, P.G. Sec. From Lodge of Fidelity, 455: Bros. G. Osborn, P.M., P.P.G.S.W., &c.; R. Howes, P.M., P.G. Treas.; S. Jacob, P.M.; T. Davies, P.M.; J. Tunnard, P.M.; W. To-malin. From Perseverance Lodge, 455: Bro. J. H. Hall. From Westworth Lodge, 737: Bros. T. Cook, P.M.; T. Miller, P.M.; Rev. R. T. Drake, P.P. Chaplain; Rev. T. Stimpson, Chaplain; Rev. Jas. Phillips, F. Cant, 1164. Bro. J. T. Green officiated very ably as Director of Ceremonies, being assisted by Bros. J. Marson and J. W. Stanton.

BRO. CALATRAVA, GRAND MASTER OF SPAIN.

We find in the "Monde Maconique" for April a "Necrologie" of Bro. Calatrava, 5th Grand Master of the National Grand Orient of Spain, who died a short time back, aged 93. Bro. Calatrava was the youngest brother of the former President of the Council of Ministers, and had himself been Minister of Finance. He was nominated Grand Master of Spanish Masonry December 27th, 1847. The great object of Bro. Calatrava was to withdraw Spanish Freemasonry from those political influences which had too long dominated Freemasonry in that interesting country, and have been a bar to its progress, and the great stumbling block in the way of its success and extension. That he did not fully succeed is not to be wondered at, but we will hope that better days are in store for Spanish Freemasonry. Let them adopt our Grand Master's words, "Loyalty and Charity," superadded to the determination, "point de politique," and all will yet be well with them. If Freemasonry everywhere would confine itself to its proper and happy mission, its eventual triumph is assured, despite the ravings of the intol-rant, and the persecutions of the irreligious.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, May 5, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, APRIL 29.

Lodge 1602, Sir Hugh Myddelton, Agricultural Hall, N. (consecration.)

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Percy, 113, Southgate-rd., N.
Manchester, 179, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross Road.

MONDAY, MAY 1.

Lodge 16, Royal Alpha, Willis's Rooms, St. James's.
" 25, Robert Burns, F.M.H.
" 188, Joppa, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 256, Unions, F.M.H.
" 1319, Asaph, F.M.H.

Mark Lodge, 139, Panmure, Balham Hot., Balham.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
West Kent, St. Saviour's College, Forest-Hill.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, MAY 2.

Colonial Board, at 4.
Lodge 18, Old Dundee, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 171, Amity Ship Hot., Greenwich.
" 765, St. James's, Bridge House Hot.
" 1257, Grosvenor, Caledonian Hot., Adelphi.
" 1259, Duke of Edinburgh, C. of G. Hope Tav., E.
" 1261, Golden Rule, Regent's M.H.
" 1298, Royal Standard, Wellington Club, N.
" 1472, Henley, Three Crowns, Woolwich.
Chap. 507, United Pilgrims, Horns Tav., Kennington.

Mark Lodge 1, St. Mark's, M.H., Mason's Avenue.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatshaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone, at 8.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 3.

Grand Chapter, at 7.
Lodge 1491, Athenæum, Athenæum, Camden-rd., N.
LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.
Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Haylock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Mount Edgecombe, 19, Jermyn-street, St. James's.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.

THURSDAY, MAY 4.

Lodge 10, Westminster and Keystone, F.M.H.
" 27, Egyptian, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 45, Strong Man, Old Jerusalem, St. John's Gate.
" 231, St. Andrew's, F.M.H.
" 554, Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
" 1155, Excelsior, Sydney Arms, Lewisham-rd.
" 1360, Royal Arthur, Duke of Edinburgh Tav., S.W.
" 1445, Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., E.
Chap. 174, Sincerity, Cheshire Cheese, Crutched Friars.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebony, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albion-rd., Dalston.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.

FRIDAY, MAY 5.

Chap. 3, Fidelity, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 8, British, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
St. George's, Globe Tav., Royal-hill, Greenwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Stability, Guildhall Tav., Gresham-st.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Metropolitan, Pentonville-road.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M. H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Duric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, Commercial Tav., King's-road, Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Coutts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday April 6, 1876.

MONDAY, MAY 1.

Lodge 133, Unanimity, Bull Hot., Church-st., Preston.
" 613, Unity, Palatine Buildings, Southport.
" 703, Clifton, Clifton Arms, Blackpool.
" 1045, Stamford, T.H., Altrincham.
" 1051, Kowlep, M.R., Athenæum, Lancaster.
" 1264, Neptune, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1380, Skelmersdale, Queen's Hot., Waterloo.
Everton L. of J., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, MAY 2.

Lodge 673, St. John's, M.H., Liverpool.
" 897, Loyalty, Fleece Inn, St. Helen's.
" 986, Hesketh, Grapes Inn, Crosby.
" 995, Furness, M.T., Ulverstone.
" 1256, Fidelity, Bull Hot., Poulton-le-Fylde.
" 1476, Blackpool, Clifton Arms Hot., Blackpool.
Chap. 203, St. John of Jerusalem, M.H., Liverpool.
Merchants' L. of J., M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 3.

Lodge 86, Loyalty, M.H., Prescott.
" 484, Faith, Gerard's Arms, Ashton-in-Wakefield.
" 580, Harmony, Wheatshaf, Ormskirk.
" 730, Ellesmere, Royal Oak Hot., Chorley.
" 758, Ellesmere, M.H., Runcorn.
" 1013, Royal Victoria, M.H., Liverpool.

Lodge 1335, Lindsay, 20, King-st., Wigan.
 " 1354, Marquis of Lorne, M.R., Leigh.
 Mark Lodge, 65, West Lancashire, M.H., Liverpool.
 De Grey and Ripon L. of I., N. Hill-st., Liverpool.
 Downshire L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.
 Harmonic L. of I., Mona Hot., James-st., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, MAY 4.

Lodge 249, Mariners, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 950, Hesketh, Royal Hot., Fleetwood.
 " 1032, Townley Parker, Howard's A., Whitle-le-Wds.
 " 1070, Starkie, Black Horse Hot., Kirkham.
 " 1473, Bootle, Molyneux R., Bootle.
 Chap. 758, Bridgewater, M.H., Runcorn.
 St. John's L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, MAY 5.

Lodge 1375, Architect, Didsbury Hot., Didsbury.
 " 1387, Chorlton, M.R., Chorlton-cum-Hardy.
 " 1505, Emulation, M.H., Liverpool.
 Duke of Edinburgh L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, May 6, 1876.
 All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, MAY 1.

Lodge 124, Kilwinning, Union Tav., Ayr.
 " 129, St. Mirren's, St. Mirren's Hall, Paisley.
 " 138, Operative, Blue Bell Hot., Ayr.
 " 237, St. John, Masonic Arms, Girvan.
 " 332, Union, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 Chap. 119, Rosslyn, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.

TUESDAY, MAY 2.

Lodge 34, St. John, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 68, Doric, 44, Church-st., Port Glasgow.
 " 73, Thistle and Rose, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 87, Thistle, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
 " 173, St. John, M.H., Largs.
 " 233, Hamilton, Spaldings Hot., Hamilton.
 " 331, St. Peter's, Portland Arms, Galston.
 " 406, St. John, Dalziel, M.H., Motherwell.
 " 433, St. Thomas, Eglington Hall, Dalmellington.
 " 437, Govandale, Portland Buildings, Govan.
 " 497, St. John's, Brewery Hall, Catrine.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 3.

Lodge 0, Mother Kilwinning, M.H., Kilwinning.
 " 4, Glasgow Kilwinning, 170, Buchanan-st.
 " 21, Old St. John, M.H., Lanark.
 " 86, Navigation, Commercial Hall, Troon.
 " 126, St. Andrew, George Hot.
 " 128, St. John, M.H., Shettleston.
 " 166, St. John, 29, Graham-st., Airdrie.
 " 198, Royal Arch, King's Arms, Maybole.
 " 354, Caledonian Railway, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
 " 442, Neptune, M.H., Ardrossan.
 Chap. 87, Shamrock and Thistle, 12, Troon.

THURSDAY, MAY 4.

Lodge 11, St. John's, King's Arms, Maybole.
 " 22, St. John Kilwinning, George Hot., Kilmarnock.
 " 27, St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 149, St. Andrew, M.H., Irvine.
 " 157, St. John, Main-st., Beith.
 " 165, Royal Arch, King's Arms, Ayr.
 " 202, St. Clement's, Trades' Tav., Kilmarnock.
 " 320, St. John, Royal Arch, M.H., Ardrossan.
 " 370, Renfrew, M.H., High-st., Paisley.
 " 465, St. Andrew, M.H., Garngad-rd.

FRIDAY, MAY 5.

Lodge 114, Royal Arch, M.T., Cambuslang.
 " 116, Royal Arch, Council Hall, Rutherglen.
 " 135, St. James, Crown Inn, Tarbolton.
 " 175, St. John, M.H., Greenock.
 " 215, St. Andrew, Avondale Inn, Strathavon.
 " 217, Cumberland Kilwinning, T.H., Port Glasgow.
 " 242, Honston, Cross Keys Hot., Johnstone.
 " 248, Lockhart St. John, M.H., Carnworth.
 " 275, Shamrock & Thistle, 22, Struthers-st., Glsgw.
 " 360, Commercial, 30, Hope-street, Glasgow.
 " 408, Clyde, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 459, Kelburne, Cumbrac Hot., Millport.
 " 512, Thortree, M.H., Thornliebank.
 " 551, Clydesdale, Royal Hot., Larkhall.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, May 6, 1876.

MONDAY, MAY 1.

Lodge 429, St. Kentigern, Royal Hot., Penicuik.

TUESDAY, MAY 2.

" 5, Canongate and Leith, 86, Constitution-st.

THURSDAY, MAY 4.

" 97, St. James's Operative, Writers' Court.

FRIDAY, MAY 5.

" 291, Celtic, Ship Hot., E. Register-st.

FOR FISH.

Try GOW

FOR POULTRY.

Try GOW.

FOR GAME.

Try GOW

FOR BARRELLED OYSTERS.

Try GOW.

J. GOW.

1, HONEY-LANE MARKET, CHEAPSIDE.
 Special quotations to large consumers, Hotels, Caterers, &c.
 Country Orders promptly executed.

ONE ORDER WILL SECURE FUTURE PATRONAGE

ONE MILLION STERLING

Has been paid as COMPENSATION

FOR DEATH AND INJURIES

Caused by
ACCIDENTS OF ALL KINDS,

By the Railway Passengers' Assurance Company,

Hon. A. KINNAIRD, M.P., Chairman.

PAID UP CAPITAL AND RESERVE FUND, £180,000.

ANNUAL INCOME, £200,000.

Bonus Allowed to Insurers of Five Years' Standing.

Apply to the Clerks at the Railway Stations, the Local Agents, or 64, Cornhill, and 10, Regent-street, London.

WILLIAM J. VIAN, Secretary.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

A RAILWAY ACCIDENT to any particular person is a (theoretically) remote contingency; but as it may happen, as a matter of fact, the very next journey undertaken, and as the sum at which it will be seen the risk (in a pecuniary sense) may be extinguished FOR LIFE is almost absurdly small, it is not too much to say that the insurance is an OBVIOUS DUTY in the case of most travellers. £1000 if killed, with liberal all-wances if injured, for a single payment of £3, covering the whole life. Smaller amounts in proportion.—RAILWAY ACCIDENT MUTUAL ASSURANCE COMPANY (Limited). RESERVE FUND AND GUARANTEES, £14,700. No. 42, Poultry, London.—For Forms, &c., apply to Mr. W. Burr, F.S.S., Manager.

ESTABLISHED 1871.

COCKBURN'S UNITED SERVICE AGENCY SOCIETY.

The attention of the United Grand Lodge of England, Grand Lodges, Colonial Board, Committee of Management, Provincial Grand Masters, District Grand Masters, Grand Stewards, W.M.'s, and brethren are specially directed to the facilities and advantages afforded by

COCKBURN'S UNITED SERVICE AGENCY SOCIETY.

for the safe remittance of money to the principal cities and towns of the United Kingdom, the Continent, India, Colonies, and all parts of the world.

GUARANTEED COCKBURN'S CHEQUES can be cashed by Lodges, Brethren, Residents, and Travellers, at Continental, Foreign, and Colonial Banks, at the current rate of exchange.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

The Originators and first starters, in 1871, of the CHEQUE BANK system, of small cheques in lieu of POST-OFFICE ORDERS, are PREPARED TO TAKE UP the work of the CHEQUE BANK on its now winding-up, and not only to grant GUARANTEED cheques, which may be cashed without difficulty all over the world, but also to ALLOW 2½ PER CENT. INTEREST annually, at Christmas, on the minimum monthly balances in even £10 of all accounts then open with them.

Absolute Security Ensured, and an immense saving of time and money.

For all information, circulars, and catalogues, apply to the Head Office, 41, Haymarket, London, S.W.

GRAND

DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES,

ON THE ART UNION PRINCIPLE.
 The Ga'ashiel St. John's Lodge of Freemasons, No. 362, have much pleasure in intimating to the Masonic Craft and the public in general, that they will give a Grand Distribution of Prizes in the Public Hall, Ga'ashiel, on Friday, 30th June, at Seven o'clock, p.m. The proceeds to be devoted to the building of a new Masonic Hall.

TICKETS ONE SHILLING EACH.
 Drawing on Friday, June 30th. Winning Numbers will be published in the "Freemason" of July 8th, and the "Scotsman" and "Border Advertiser" of Wednesday, the 5th of July, 1876.

The following are a few of the Principal Prizes:—
 A Cottage Piano, in Walnut, 7 Octaves, value ... 35 10 0
 A Harmonium, in Walnut, 8 stops, 5 Octaves ... 18 10 0
 Both supplied by Paterson & Sons, George-st., Edinburgh.
 Gentleman's Gold English Lever Watch ... 14 0 0
 Nickel Silver Tea Set ... 7 10 0
 Singer's Sewing Machine ... 6 10 0
 Lady's Gold Watch ... 5 5 0
 Gentleman's Silver Lever Watch ... 5 5 0
 Gold Albert Chain ... 4 15 0
 Lady's Silver Watch ... 2 10 0
 Sofa, in Haircloth ... 5 0 0
 Easy Chair, in Haircloth ... 3 10 0
 Lady's Black Silk Dress ... 4 0 0
 Model Ship ... 4 0 0
 20lb. Box Fine Tea ... 3 5 0
 Lady's Work Table ... 3 0 0
 16-day Time piece, in Marble ... 2 15 0
 Length Suit of Tweed ... 1 10 0
 Gentleman's Writing Desk ... 1 10 0
 Lady's Workbox ... 1 5 0
 Set Gold Earrings ... 0 14 0
 Also a large number of other Prizes, consisting of every description of useful, ornamental, and fancy goods, will be given away.
 Bro. Thomson, R.W.M., recommends the above to the Craft and the Public as being really worth the value put upon them.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.—ESTABLISHED 1770.

J. GRANT, City Poulterer, Fishmonger,
 Licensed Game Dealer, &c.,
 93, BISHOPSGATE-STREET.

Private Families, Lodges, Masonic Halls and Clubs, Hotels, &c., supplied on liberal terms with Poultry and Fish of the best quality only. Telegrams, and orders by post, promptly attended to. Wenham Lake and rough ice. Consignments Received Daily at South-Western Branch, opposite Clapham-common.

To the Nobility, County Families, and Gentry.

THE PRINCE'S GATE HOTEL,

19, CROMWELL PLACE, S.W.,

(Opposite South Kensington Station).

PRIVATE HOTEL,

Easy access to all parts of Town, ten minutes of Hyde Park and Albert Hall. Unsurpassed in London for elegance of appointments, replete with every convenience rendering the House an

EXCEPTIONALLY ATTRACTIVE AND REFINED HOME.

TERMS PER WEEK:

Single Rooms from 3½ to 5 Guineas.
 Double Rooms from 6 to 9 Guineas.
 Private Sitting Rooms from 3 Guineas. Per day from Half-guinea.

Charges for Visitors, Luncheon 2s. 6d. Dinner 5s. Supper à la Carte.

Gas in Bedrooms, Special Bath, and meals served in Bed-rooms at irregular hours extra as per tariff. There is an ascending room to the top of the house.

Complete tariff on application to the PROPRIETOR.

MAY ELECTION, 1876.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

—The Votes and Interest of the Governors and Subscribers are most earnestly solicited on behalf of

ELIZA BLACKBURN,
 Widow of the late William Blackburn, formerly of the Robert Burns Lodge, No. 25, in which he was initiated in 1844; joined the Lodge of Confidence, No. 193, in 1848, and served the office of Master in 1850; joined the Globe Lodge, No. 23, in 1848, and served the office of Master in 1851; joined the Crystal Palace Lodge, No. 742, in 1858, and acted as Secretary thereof for eight years; joined the Doble Lodge Surrey, No. 889, in 1863, and was appointed Provincial Grand S.B. for Surrey in 1866. He was exalted in the Robert Burns Chapter, No. 35, in 1846, was elected Treasurer of the said chapter, and served the office of First Principal in 1854; joined the Prudence Chapter, No. 12, in 1858, and served the office of Scribe E. from that time to 1873; and joined the Mount Lebanon Chapter, No. 435, in 1863, of which he was Scribe E., and retained that office till he was elected an Annuitant and inmate of the Royal Masonic Institution in 1873. Your Petitioner is allowed to remain in the apartments occupied by her late husband for a brief period according to the laws, her only means of support being the half of the annuity formerly enjoyed by him.

The case is strongly recommended by Bro. G. F. Newmarch, Dep. G.M. for Gloucestershire, and V.P. of the Institution, Cirencester.

" E. McIntyre, Q.C., Grand Registrar, 3, Middle Temple-lane.
 " Henry Browne, P.G.D., Upper Tooting.
 " Raynham W. Stewart, P.G.D., 11, Abchurch-lane.
 " J. Brett, P.G.P., P.M. 177, Old Jewry.
 " R. Spencer, P.G.S., P.M. 263, 26, Fentiman-road, Clapham-rd.
 " J. T. Bennett, P.G.S. 33, No. 13, Pall Mall.
 " W. Watson, P.G.S. Grand Stewards' Lodge, 42, Drury-lane.
 " H. J. Strong, M.D., P. Prov. G.W. Surrey, P.M. 452, 463, P.Z. 463, and V.P. of the Institution, No. 64, North End, Croydon.
 " R. Cartwright, P.P.G.S.W. Surrey, P.M. 889, Kingston.
 " W. Pearce, P.Prov.G.Reg. Surrey, P.M. 889, No. 2, Dr. Johnson's Buildings, Temple.
 " T. Long, Prov. G.D.C. Surrey, P.M. 889, Kingston.
 " J. B. Lemaitre, P.M. 13, P.Z. 13, No. 30, Chiswell-street.
 " L. Ruf, P.M. and Treas. 12, P.Z. and Treas. 12, Lowther Arcade.
 " W. Rumsey, P.M. 206, No. 8, London-street.
 " C. Smithers, No. 100, Leadenhall-street.
 " H. T. Thompson, P.M. 742, Augusta Cottage, Nightingale-rd., Lower Clapton.
 " C. Painter, 190, No. 170, Leadenhall-street.
 By whom Proxies will be thankfully received, also by the applicant, Eliza Blackburn, 7, Royal Masonic Institution, East Croydon.

MAY ELECTION, 1876.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

—The Votes and Interest of the Governors and Subscribers are earnestly requested on behalf of

ROBERT YORK,
 Who was for many years Manager of the Old Brewery, Southend, is now in the 66th year of his age, was initiated in the Lodge of True Friendship, No. 160, June 17th, 1856, served the offices of Junior and Senior Warden, and was twelve years a Subscribing Member thereof. He is now entirely without means, and is dependent on his friends for support.

The Case is strongly Recommended by

R.W. Bro. R. J. Bagshaw, Prov. Grand Master for Essex, V.P.
 " Matthew Clark, Dep. Prov. Grand Master for Essex, V.P.
 " Rev. S. R. Wigan, P.M. and P.Z. 214, Grand Chaplain, Vicarage, Prittlewell.
 " W. Percy Leith, P.M. and P.Z., Past Grand Deacon.
 " F. A. Philbrick, P.M. 18, Past Grand Deacon, V.P.
 " Joseph Burton, P.M. and P.Z. 276, Prov. G. Treas. Essex, High-street, Chelmsford.
 " John Wright Carr, P.M. 160, Prov. G. Sec. Essex, Roxwell, Chelmsford.
 " F. Wood, P.M. 1000, P.Prov.S.G.W. Essex, Southend.
 " A. Lucking, P.M. 160 and 1000, Prov. A.G.D.C. Essex, Cliff Town, Southend.
 " J. A. Wardell, P.M. 160 and 1000, P.Prov.G.D. Essex, Cliff Town, Southend.
 " J. R. Hemmann, P.M. 1000, Prov. G.D. Essex, Cliff Town, Southend.
 " Joseph Reeve, W.M. 160, Cliff Town, Southend.
 " E. England Phillips, W.M. 1000, P.M. 379, Southend.
 " S. P. Norris, P.M. 21, P.G.S., 17, New Broad-st., E.C.
 " P. Matthews, P.M. and P.Z., P. Prov. G.W. Essex.
 " Geo. Burgess, P.M. and Sec. 160, P.Prov.G.D. Essex, Rochford.
 " Henry Wood, P.M. and Treas. 160, P.Prov.G.O. Essex, Rochford.
 " D. B. Groat, P.M. 160, P. Prov. G.D. Essex, Rawreth.
 " Wm. Pissay, P.M. 160, P. Prov. G.W. Essex, Rayleigh.
 " Edwd. Judd, P.M. 160, P. Prov. G. R. Essex, Rayleigh.
 " John Allen, jun., P.M. 160, P. Prov. G.S.B. Essex, Rayleigh.
 " John B. Brazier, P.M. 160, Marine Parade, Southend.
 " John Bingenmann, W.M. 55, 12, Mornington-road, Bow, E.
 " George Free, P.M. and Sec. 73, 65, Drummond-road, Bermondsey.
 " Charles Raydon, W.M. 73, 14, Blue Anchor-road, Bermondsey.
 " Jas. Willing, jun., P.M. 1507, S.W. 177, 366, Gray's Inn-road, W.C.
 " John G. Bond, P.M. 87, P.Z. 749.
 " J. C. Johnstone, P.M. 30 (J.C.) D.C. 1000, Southend.
 " James Girling, 1000, Southend.
 " Rev. H. John Hatch, S.W. 160, Prov. G. Chap. Essex, Rectory, Little Stamburgh.
 " F. V. Jilings, J.W. 260, Hawkwell.
 " Wm. Frost, J.W. 1000, Cliff Town, Southend.
 *Those marked with an asterisk will receive proxies.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry.....	199
Instruction.....	199
Royal Arch.....	201
Mark Masonry.....	201
Scotland.....	201
Consecration of the Sir Hugh Myddelton Lodge.....	202
Grand Chapter.....	203
Masonic and General Tidings.....	203
Return of our Royal Grand Master.....	203
The Provincial Grand Mastership of Norfolk.....	204
The Grand Festival.....	204
Masonic Etiquette.....	204
Rule Britannia.....	204
The Value of Freemasonry.....	205
Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution.....	205
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Kilwinning and Freemasonry.....	205
Masonic Jurisprudence.....	205
Masonic Prefixes.....	205
Politics.....	205
Officers' Jewels.....	206
Surrey Masonic Hall Company (Limited).....	206
Sheffield Masonic Library.....	206
Freemasonry and Roman Catholicism.....	207
Bro. Hubert and the "Chaine d'Union".....	207
Presentation to Bro. Dr. W. F. Mills.....	207
Masonic Meetings for Next Week.....	207
Advertisements.....	l. ii. iii. iv. v. vi.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

ALEXANDRA PALACE LODGE (No. 1541).

—A meeting of this new and flourishing lodge was held on Saturday in the handsome suite of private rooms of the Palace from which the lodge takes its name. The first W.M., Bro. J. C. Parkinson, J.P., P.G.D., and Dep. Grand Master of Middlesex, was unfortunately not able to be present, and the chair was taken by Bro. Kelly King, P.M., and Past Grand Steward, who is the S.W. of the lodge, Bro. Dyte, P.M., the Treas. and Steward of the lodge, officiated as S.W.; Bro. Palmer, P.M.; the J.W. occupied the chair in the South, and in the course of the heavy work of the day, Bro. Haigh, P.M. and Past Grand Steward; Bro. J. R. Stacey, the Secretary of the lodge, and Bro. John Rowlands, Bro. Daniel and other brethren, worked duties appertaining to the I.P.M., Deacons, and assistant Past Masters, Bro. Daniels being I.G. On the lodge being opened a letter was read from the W.M., expressing his regret at his inability to attend on the installation day, owing to that important event falling upon the occasion when the Needle Makers' Company, of which he is the Master, holds its annual meeting. The ballot was taken for a joining member in the person of Bro. C. B. Jones, P.M. of 583, and he was unanimously elected, and two gentlemen, Mr. Robert Blackman and Mr. G. A. Daniel, were also elected by ballot as candidates. Bro. Kelly King then initiated the candidates in due form, and with great care on the part of all who assisted in the work. In order to give the acting W.M. the opportunity of making arrangements for the comfort of the brethren at a later period Bro. Stacey took the chair, and passed Bros. Harris, Calvert, Gush, and Delvalle to the Second Degree, the ritual being rendered with the excellent effect for which our brother is celebrated. Bro. Kelly King again took the chair, and the lodge being raised, Bros. Arnold and Todd, who had previously shown their proficiency in the former degrees, were made Masters. The ceremony was excellently worked by Bro. Kelly King, and the brethren were all highly pleased with the pains taken, and effective manner in which the beautiful language was delivered. The ability and experience of the officers, too, added greatly to the effect. The lodge was then closed, and the preparation for the dinner gave the brethren an hour's breathing time about the palace and grounds. An excellent repast was spread before the brethren, well served by the caterers of the Palace, Bros. Bertram & Roberts, to which all did ample justice. The W.M., in giving the loyal toast of "The Queen and the Craft," said, amid the plaudits of the brethren that the title "Queen of England" was the highest in the world, and by that title the Sovereign of these realms was endeared to the hearts of her subjects. In proposing the toast of "The M.W., the Grand Master," after the other had been honoured, the W.M. said His Royal Highness, when he returned from his Eastern tour would be received with enthusiasm by all classes, but by none with more fervour than by his brother Masons. There was no more loyal body in the world than the Freemasons, and it was expected that an opportunity would be given to the Craft in England to give their Grand Master a special welcome back. It had been suggested that the welcome should be given in the Alexandra Palace, and the Alexandra Palace Lodge would be ready to do a special duty on that occasion, should it arise. (Cheers.) The toast was warmly honoured, as were the toasts of the Pro. Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and the Grand Officers Past and Present. Bro. Rooke, P.M., and P.G.S., who was asked to respond for Grand Lodge, said he feared that the W.M. was colour blind, for scarlet was not purple; but though of no higher rank than a Past Grand Steward he would say that the officers of Grand Lodge and all who had had the honour of holding office in Grand Lodge were always gratified by the manner in which this toast was received. Bro. P.M. Haigh, P.G.S., then proposed the toast of "The W.M. of the day," and expressed his pleasure that the acting W.M. had shown himself so ready to discharge the duties of the chair in the absence of the Master. The toast having been honoured, the W.M., in response, said it had afforded him real gratification to see the progress the lodge had made, though at the same time he deeply regretted that Bro. Parkinson had been unable to be amongst them. He thanked the brethren for the assistance they had given him on all occasions when acting as the deputy of the Master, and assured them that no efforts would be wanting on his part to place the lodge in the high position it was entitled to occupy. After some harmony, the W.M. proposed "The Initiates," of whose attention to the ceremony he spoke very highly, and expressed the hope that they would become worthy members of the brotherhood. Bros. Blackman and Daniel made suitable response, thanking the brethren for the honour conferred by their election into the lodge, and promising to steadily persevere in the ranks into which they had been that day admitted. The W.M. then proposed "The Visitors," saying that the lodge, though a young one, was old in hospitality and gave every welcome to visiting brethren. Among those present were Bros. While, P.M. 228 ("Freemason"); Fletcher, 412; Lambert, 1138; and Skinner. Bro. While, in response, said he was no stranger; for he was, as it were, at the conception of the lodge; he was present at its happy delivery into life, and he was glad to be present on that occasion to mark the vigour of its youth. A successful future might from the first have been augured for the lodge, for it had, as one of its active members, in Bro. Stacey, a High Priest of the Craft, one, too, who unselfishly devoted himself so to teaching in lodges of instruction that his pupils went forth conquering and to conquer positions in old and young lodges wherever the English tongue was spoken. One of the initiated brethren of the lodge, Bro. W. Senior, was on his way to Tasmania to take a high official position with which he had been tempted, and so imbued had been with the true spirit of Freemasonry that there was little doubt that when he returned to visit his mother lodge he would hold a high position among the brethren in that distant province, and give additional pride to this lodge. It was a matter of congratulation to the lodge that it had so many Past Masters in its working ranks to give the lodge the benefit of their experience and knowledge, and when brethren who had achieved all the honours of the Craft were thus seen coming forward to work in all the offices it betokened that the lodge had all the elements of a successful future. Bros. Lambert, Fletcher, and Skinner also replied, and the W.M. then proposed the toast of "The Officers," and said that one and all had shewn themselves ready to sacrifice any time and money to advance the interests of the lodge—some, indeed, like Bros. Haigh, Dyte, and Stacey, being ready to fill every class of office. Bro. Palmer, in response, said that he had stuck to his office of J.W., and had a bed of roses, while his Bros. Dyte, Stacey, and Haigh had the most arduous duties thrown upon them. Bro. Dyte said his work was dictated by selfish feelings, for having associated himself with those who were determined to make the lodge a success, his endeavours were directed to the end of achieving for it the position it was justified in looking forward to hold. Bro. Stacey also replied, and then, warning having been given that the next train was in readiness, the Tyler's toast was given and the party broke up. The journey south was then commenced, and the faulty railway arrangements were seen to be as rampant as ever. The Great Northern turned out at King's Cross the passengers who had booked from the south, and at the Metropolitan Railway no train for these tickets was vouchsafed without an hour's waiting, unless the passengers re-booked. Thus these railways demand double booking and double fares by a trick for travelling on the same railway to the same stations. If punishment and shame fall to those who rob railway companies of fares, what ought to be the lot of railway companies who seem to lay traps to catch unwary travellers into paying twice? These companies ought certainly to learn to "act on the square," for acts like these not only injure the Palace, but will tend to raise sympathy for those who overlook the duty of paying fares once.

LIVERPOOL.—Mariners' Lodge of Instruction (No. 249).—What may be called the annual festival of this Lodge of Instruction, which has greatly prospered during the past year under the talented Preceptorship of Bro. Dr. J. Kellett Smith, Prov. G. Reg., was celebrated on Thursday evening, the 27th April, at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool, where there was a goodly gathering of members and friends. Bro. Dr. Smith, Preceptor, occupied the chair of W.M., and the other offices were filled by Bro. A. Jones, S.W. (J.W. 1502); J. C. Robinson, J.W.; W. Corbett, Sec.; J. Whalley, S.D.; J. R. Cave, J.D.; and C. Leighton, I.G. Amongst those present were Bros. J. Hayes, I.P.M. 249; J. J. Rose, P.M. 249; R. Wylie, P.P.G.S.D., P.P.G.D.C.; H. Price, W.M. 249; J. Lloyd, S.W. 249; H. P. Price, J. N. Pendleton, S. 249; W. H. Vernon, F. Mollett, J. M. Ellison, W. P. Jennings, S. 249; W. G. Veale, F. Cooper, J. B. Mackenzie, J. Whittle, M. Goldstone, R. Jones, W. Mooney, W. Smith, R. Collings, Hon. Sec. 249; and J. Quinn. An excellent dinner was served by Bro. Ball, and after ample justice had been done to the "creature comforts" the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given with great point by the Preceptor, Dr. Smith. "The Health of the Preceptor of the Mariners' Lodge of Instruction" was given by Bro. J. Hayes, I.P.M. 249, who referred to the excellent services which he had rendered in connection with his office. Bro. Dr. Smith, in acknowledging the toast, said it had given him the greatest pleasure during the last three years to preside over that Lodge of Instruction. He had had an able coadjutor in Bro. Hayes, who had given great assistance in the working of the lodge. "The Officers of Instruction" was responded to by Bro. A. Jones, and "The Visitors" by Bros. Quinn and Wylie. Various other toasts were given, and the pleasure of the social gathering was greatly promoted by excellent songs given by Bros. Veale, Wylie, Quinn, Price, Dr. Smith, Skeaf, McKune, &c. The Third Degree will be given by Bro. A. Jones, at the meeting next Thursday, and the present season will close with the installation ceremony, worked by Bro. Hayes a fortnight after.

LIVERPOOL.—Downshire Lodge (No. 594).—The usual monthly meeting of this lodge was held on Thursday evening, the 27th ult., at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool. The W.M., Bro. T. Dilcock, presided, and amongst his staff of officers and "full privates" present were Bros. H. Hunt, P.M.; R. P. France, S.W.; J. Le Comber, J.W.; R. Ing, P.M.; Treas.; J. L. Houghton, Sec.; T. Boswell, J.D.; J. W. Whitfield, I.G. A. Pederson, S.; W. G. Veale, Org.; P. M. Larsen, P.M.; Tyler; Wheattham, D. Quayle, F. Duncanson, J. H. Burch, W. H. Booth, H. Collas, T. G. Leather, W. H. Veevers, I. de Frece, Treas. 1502; C. D. Blackburn, A. R. Watt, J. B. MacKenzie, C. Strickland, L. Goodman, S. Prince, J. Long, R. Maddox. The visitors included Bros. H. Williams, P.M. 241; R. Mills, 401; D. Meek, 203; J. McQuitan, 241; and R. Donnelly, 203. After the minutes had been read and confirmed the W.M. initiated two candidates in a highly effective manner into the mysteries and privileges of the Order. The ancient charge was well given by the S.W., and the working tools by the J.W. The lodge was subsequently closed in peace and harmony.

COLCHESTER.—United Lodge (No. 697).—The annual festival of this lodge was held on Friday the 21st ult., at the George Hotel. The W.M., Bro. A. R. Clench, having been unanimously re-elected to the office of W.M., the ceremony of installation was impressively performed by Bro. the Rev. J. C. Martyn, P.G. Chaplain of England, and P.M. of Sudbury Lodge. Letters of apology for unavoidable absence were read from a large number of brethren of the province, including the R.W.P. Grand Master, Bro. R. J. Bagshaw, the R.W. Deputy P.G.M., Bro. Clarke, Bro. F. Binckes, Secretary of the Boys' Masonic Institution, &c. At the close of the installation ceremony the W.M. appointed and installed his officers for the ensuing year as follows:—Bros. the Rev. E. H. Crate, I.P.M.; T. W. Taylor, S.W.; W. H. Bateman, J.W.; the Rev. T. G. Brettingham, Chaplain; B. Brailley, Treas.; T. Rix, Sec.; George Harvey, S.D.; C. E. Denton, J.D.; C. Winterbon, Org.; J. H. Boulton, D.C.; R. Emson, I.G.; H. Everitt and A. Adams, Stewards; C. Gunner, Tyler. Amongst the visitors were Bros. R. B. Barton, D.C.L., P.P.G.M. of Western India; J. W. Carr, P.G.S. of Essex; Alfred Welch, W.M. 51, Colchester; J. E. Wiseman, P.M. 433; H. York, P.M. 433, Brightlingsea; J. Hills, P.M. 1224 and P.P.G.J.W. Suffolk; George Bray, Colonel 96th Regiment, Royal Kent; W. S. Sprent, P.G.S.B. Essex; A. E. Rogers, S.D. 433; Henry Welham, 1224; W. Rickey, P.M. 701; Welch, W.M. 51; G. G. Pye, W.M. Star in the East, Harwich, S.W. 51, &c. In the evening the brethren sat down to an elegantly served banquet at the George Hotel. The W.M. was supported by Bros. Bolton Barton, Colonel S. Burney (one of the original founders of the lodge nearly twenty years ago), C. J. Martyn, J. W. Carr; and the company numbered between sixty and seventy. The day's proceedings were of a highly successful and satisfactory character, and formed a red-letter day in the annals of the lodge.

INSTRUCTION.

STABILITY LODGE OF INSTRUCTION

(No. 217).—The 59th anniversary of this excellent Lodge of Instruction, which for many years has been under the Preceptorship of Bro. Henry Muggeridge, one of the most highly respected members of the Craft, was held on the 28th ult., at the City Terminus Hotel. As usual on the annually recurring occasions of this festival there was a very large number of brethren present, for whom, however, the hotel found plenty of accommodation. About 200 brethren were present, and among them were Lord De Tabley, Prov. G.M. of Cheshire; A. J. McIntyre, Q.C., G. Reg.; S. Rawson, P.D.G.M. of China; John Hervey, G. Sec.; E. S. Snell, P.G. Deacon; John Boyd, P.G. Pursuivant; James Terry, P.G. Dir. of Cer., Herts.; John Edmund Middelton, P.G. Steward; Fred Brown, and Bros. J. Horne Payne, H. C. Levander, A. H. Tattershall, A. H. Diaper, George Kenning, W. Lane, Gurton, N. B. Headon, Edward Moody, Charles Hill, G. W. F. Loftus, H. Massey ("Freemason"), Wayner, Botall, Zwinger, W. Webb, Green, 235; Moses, Paley, Hopwood, Williams, 21; Groos, 21; Cheese, 869; Wyche, 715; W. F. Kibble, 715; W. Kibble, 715; W. White, 49; L. R. Mills, 49; Howard, 49; Hunter, 49; Dr. Smith, Fordati, 2; H. Brown, 2; Muir, 217; Westmore, 217; Kidder, 12; Cooper, 12; Coombs, 12; Emanuel, 235; Baulman, 715, and Townsend, 715. At six o'clock, the hour that this lodge always meets, Bro. H. Muggeridge ascended the chair, and opened the lodge, assisted by the following brethren as his officers: Bros. Joseph Clever, S.W.; Thomas Cargill, J.W.; J. Bagot Scriven, S.D.; F. D. R. Copestick, J.D.; Sidney Smith, I.G.; Henry Birdseye, Sec.; and J. Gilchrist, Tyler. After the usual formalities the programme for the evening was entered upon, and the lecture of the First Degree was worked in sections by the following brethren viz.:

1st Section.	Bro. Francis Fellowes, J.D....	192
2nd "	" Charles Arkell, S.W.	192
3rd "	" Joseph Clever, P.M.	12
4th "	" Thomas Cargill, W.M.	49
5th "	" J. Bagot Scriven (Lodge Board), P.M.	5
7th "	" Sidney G. Smith, I.G....	715

All this work was beautifully performed, and each brother on resuming his seat was loudly applauded by the lodge. At the conclusion of the ritual, names of brethren proposed for joining were taken and read out, and among them Lord De Tabley was one of the earliest. At the conclusion of the business the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to a very nice supper provided by Bro. Lord over which Bro. A. J. McIntyre, Q.C., presided. When the banquet was finished, and the table had been cleared, grace, "Non nobis," was sung by Bros. Lester, Cozens and Distin, and the toasts were then proposed. Bro. McIntyre in giving "The Queen and the Craft" referred to Her Majesty's late visit to the continent, and to her return to England, to the delight of all her subjects, and no doubt to her own great gratification. (Hear hear.) In giving "The M.W.G.M., and the Pro Grand Master" he said Masonry felt itself highly honoured when His Royal Highness became a Past Grand Master, and more especially when he appeared to shew such very great interest in the advancement of the principles of the Order. Under all circumstances he had been most strenuous in his support of the doctrines and principles of Freemasonry, and in carrying out those principles in every quarter of the globe. He had gone forth to a distant oriental clime, over which he would hereafter reign, and he had not forgotten the Freemasonry he had learned at home. He had shewn that he did not forget us in his absence, and now that he was about to return all good and loyal Freemasons would testify their appreciation of the great service H.R.H. had rendered to the Craft, and would welcome him with exultation to his native land. He (Bro. McIntyre) would couple with this toast the Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon, who amid all the toils of state and the responsibility he was under to his Sovereign and countrymen found time on every occasion to discharge the duties he owed to Freemasonry. He had done so in the Prince of Wales's absence, and it was with much pleasure that Freemasons heard on Wednesday that he had been re-appointed Pro Grand Master. (Cheers.) In giving "The Health of the D.G.M., Lord Skelmersdale, and Grand Officers," Bro. McIntyre said the brethren had had some little experience of Lord Skelmersdale, and over his own province, a most important one, he presided admirably. He was popular in every other province. His keen discernment had enabled him to single out those young and promising Masons who were ready to do honour to the Craft. He had been careful in bestowing office according to merit; and whenever Masons had his assistance in Grand Lodge of England, it had been observed how well he conducted the business in the absence of the Grand Master and Pro Grand Master. He proved there his diplomatic ability by soothing over all troubles which might arise in Grand Lodge, and by his courtesy and kindness of manner made all things comfortable. They had among them in that room a brother who presided over a province adjoining that of Lord Skelmersdale, a province which he (Bro. McIntyre) was proud to be a member of, as he had been the Master of a lodge in, and was still a member of that province. He looked with the greatest pride and satisfaction on the presence of Lord De Tabley, whom he placed in the very front rank among the Provincial Grand Masters in England. Shortly after his lordship was appointed Senior Grand Warden of England, the M.W.G.M., Lord Zetland, appointed him (Bro. McIntyre) Senior Grand Deacon. He was delighted to see the way in which the Provincial brethren supported Lord De Tabley. Not only was Lord De Tabley well known as a supporter of Masonry in his province, but he helped them in Grand Lodge, in Grand Chapter, and in private lodges, and he was also one of the members of a most distinguished lodge in the metropolis, the Lodge of Friendship (No. 6). On this occasion all the members of the Stability Lodge of Instruction were delighted to welcome the Provincial Grand Master of Cheshire, and to know that he was to be enrolled as one of its members. There was also present another brother from a distant clime who had done excellent service to Masonry, Bro. S. Rawson, Past District Grand Master of China. Those who knew what the East was knew of its deteriorating qualities; but Masons were all glad to see Bro. Rawson coming back among them in no way worse for his sojourn, not perhaps in the full vigour of youth, but if at all in age, a very green old age, not green in his mental capacity, but green as to his youthfulness which remained to him. Then, there was the Grand Secretary, to whom Freemasonry in England owed so much—(Cheers)—a brother who was the most hard worked of the Grand Officers of England, and upon whose accuracy, precision, care, and attention the work of the Craft, and the prosperity of the Craft, to a considerable extent depended. It must be a delightful thing for Grand Secretary to know that year after year during the time he had held that office how greatly the number of lodges had increased, that the work in Grand Secretary's office had increased to a marvellous extent, and that it was done with an expedition and correctness that could not be excelled in any establishment. The oldest of the Past Grand Deacons, Bro. Snell, was likewise present. He never was absent from these meetings. His happy face was always to be seen among the brethren, shewing how highly he appreciated the kindness with which he was received. There was also Bro. Boyd, one of the oldest of the P.M.'s, who had been honoured with a position on the dais in Grand Lodge. There were, therefore, five Grand Officers on his (Bro. McIntyre's) right, representing the five points of fellowship which should always distinguish Freemasons. (Cheers.) Lord de Tabley, in reply, said he felt sure it was the object and the anxious desire of every member of Grand Lodge to do his best for the promotion of the good of the Craft at large, whether in the provinces or elsewhere, and to do their utmost to spread the great principles on which the Order was founded. He knew that he spoke the sentiments of all the Grand Officers on his right hand when he said that it gave the greatest gratification to them to be present at the proceedings that evening. The Chairman had been good enough to speak of himself in far too flattering terms. It had been a peculiar gratification to him to be present to see one whom he knew as one of his earliest friends in the Craft presiding, and to see Bro. Muggeridge, to whom his Province of Cheshire owed so much, performing so ably the duties of Master. What he had seen that evening had astonished him. He had been very much pleased with all he had seen, and he trusted this would not be his last visit to the Stability Lodge of Instruction. They had been pleased to place him on the list for ballot as a member at next meeting, and he hoped by his future attendance to show that he was not ungrateful for the honour paid to him. He thanked them most heartily for the honour conferred upon him. (Cheers.) Bro. McIntyre next proposed "The Stability Lodge of Instruction and Bro. Henry Muggeridge," a toast which he requested might be drunk in bumpers. It was very difficult, he said, upon all occasions to do justice to any brother who took a prominent position, whether in the United Grand Lodge of England, in a Provincial Grand Lodge, in the ordinary lodges of the Craft, or even in so great a lodge as the Stability Lodge of Instruction. It had been his lot to propose this toast upon very many occasions, and upon each occasion that he had had to propose it he had always felt still greater pleasure, because he felt that their excellent friend and preceptor, Bro. Muggeridge, had come among them, if not in the full vigour of health, with the same accuracy of knowledge that he had always possessed. He seemed even to excel himself upon every occasion by the admirable manner in which the pupils whom he brought forward carried out the programme he placed before the lodge. Very many men of slightly more than ordinary intelligence had the gift of acquiring a considerable amount of knowledge; but they also very frequently had that defect that the knowledge when acquired was kept to themselves; they had not the means of imparting it to other people and making the other people to whom they attempted to impart it have the power of acquiring the learning which they themselves possessed. The power of imparting knowledge seemed a golden gift, and certainly if it had fallen on any one it had fallen upon their preceptor, Bro. Muggeridge, who was not only accurate himself in enunciating the ritual of the Craft and seeing that the sections were worked with accuracy and precision, but also he had the power of instilling into the minds of his pupils that determination to have not only verbal accuracy, but that emphasis which was necessary to show that it was understood. Mere words were nothing; but Bro. Muggeridge had the power of imparting the spirit which was intended to be conveyed. It did very great credit to the pupils; but it did still greater credit to the instructor who was able to instil his life and soul as well as his words into the working. They all knew Bro. Muggeridge so well that any words of his (Bro. McIntyre's) would be superfluous if he were to attempt to point out his many excellences. They had all known Bro. Muggeridge for years; they had appreciated him more and more every year that he had continued to be their instructor; and although on that occasion he (Bro. McIntyre) could not congratulate him upon being in that robust health that he had seen him in on other occasions, he could congratulate him on this, that, having been ill he was getting better, and that in a very short time they would see him "himself again." (Hear.) He had very great pleasure in proposing "Health, Long Life, and Prosperity to Bro. Muggeridge, the Preceptor of the Stability Lodge of Instruction," and to assure him that he (Bro. McIntyre), and all those who had had the benefit of his kind instruction, and his still more kind Masonic counsels, were delighted to see him amongst them, and that they hoped that this uniting together which took place once a year might continue for many years to come, that Bro. Muggeridge might be with them, and that they might meet him and each other with the same good feelings and truly Masonic spirit which they felt on the present occasion. (Cheers.) Bro. Muggeridge, who on rising was received with loud applause, said that although he was very much delighted at the very kind manner in which the last toast had been proposed and responded to, the most difficult part he had to perform that evening was to return thanks, and a great many of them would sympathise with him when he said he had returned thanks for this toast for so many years that he really could not think of anything fresh to say upon the subject. They must bear in mind that it was a most limited theme to speak on, as well as a difficult one, because it was really and essentially speaking of himself. He had had the pleasure of attending these meetings, and been a constant attendant of this lodge of instruction for 37 years. (Applause.) It had been under his management since the year 1839; and this would be an excuse for his making a very short and defective speech. He had been particularly pleased that evening at the goodly assemblage both in lodge and at the banquet table. He wished that the numbers had been even larger. He was also exceedingly pleased at the way in which his pupils had worked that evening. (Cheers.) But this was a subject he would leave to the excellent chairman. He would pass this and go to another subject, which in common gratitude he ought to mention. Ingratitude was a great sin, one that ought not to be practised by Masons, and more especially by a Mason like him. The subject was the sister lodge of instruction, which, though he was not going to propose, always shewed him the greatest kindness, and did him the greatest honour, inviting him to their annual meeting in November, and making much of him when he went. They also expressed the kindest wishes on all occasions to the Stability, which they called "the Sister Lodge of Instruction." The Treasurer of that lodge, Bro. Hervey, was present. He was delighted to see the representatives of Grand Lodge of England present in such force, Lord De Tabley, Prov. G.M. of Cheshire, Bro. Rawson (his old friend, who had been a member of the Stability Lodge of Instruction nearly as long as he had himself, when the lodge was held at the Old George and Vulture, in Cornhill), and Bro. Boyd. All the brethren had worked well that evening. The S.W., who would have an opportunity of speaking shortly, had worked well; but there was one brother who had worked the Lodge Board whom he should ask to perform a duty. The health of the President he thought should be proposed by one of themselves, and he should call upon Bro. Scriven to do so. Bro. Scriven—Major Scriven—was introduced to him (Bro. Muggeridge) by an old and esteemed friend, Bro. Algernon Perkins, who used to attend this lodge regularly at Radley's Hotel. Ever since then he had been acquainted with Bro. J. B. Scriven, and he would like him to propose the health of the W.M. Bro. Muggeridge concluded by again thanking the chairman and brethren for proposing and drinking his health. Bro. J. Bagot Scriven then rose and said: If it is a duty incumbent on every Mason to make progress in the science, it is also a very great pleasure to every Mason to find that those who have amply discharged that duty have also made such progress in their social avocations, their civil and professional employments, as add, I may say, an additional lustre to our fraternity. (Hear, hear.) But distinguished as Bro. McIntyre is, we all know, in the Craft, distinguished as he is, as all England knows, in the profession which he adorns and which adorns him, he is perhaps more distinguished to us as members of this lodge of instruction by the kindness which has prompted him so often to occupy that chair, by the courtesy, the ability, and the eloquence with which he has discharged the duties that belong to him. (Cheers.) Through the kindness of Bro. Muggeridge and the permission of Bro. McIntyre I am proposing this toast; and it is a task of unmixed pleasure and delight to me to propose it, and great pleasure to you, I know, to drink it with me, and I am not saying too much when I say that I also know the manner in which you will receive it will give great pleasure to Bro. McIntyre. I ask you to drink "The Health of Bro. McIntyre, Q.C., Grand Registrar, and Chairman of this evening." (Great applause.) Bro. McIntyre, in reply, said: Bro. Scriven, Bro. Wardens, and brethren, I cannot allow a moment to elapse before rising to return thanks for the extremely kind way in which Bro. Scriven has been pleased to propose my health and the enthusiastic way in which you have received it. It is true that I am known to most of those assembled here, because this is not the first time I have filled the chair; but on every occasion that I have come among you I have always found the very greatest kindness shown to me by the brethren here, and the very greatest readiness to look over all the imperfections of the occupant of the chair. I am especially delighted that on this occasion a brother who has so distinguished himself in working the Craft this evening has been entrusted with the duty of proposing my health. To have my health proposed by one who has done so well tonight is a great satisfaction. He is one of you proposing the health of an old member of your lodge, and to him for the kind way which he has done so, and to you for the kind way in which you have done it, I again say I return you my most sincere and heartfelt thanks. (Hear, hear.) Lord De Tabley proposed "The Working Brethren, Bros. Fellows, C. Arkell, Joseph Clever, Thomas Cargill, J. Bagot Scriven, and Sydney G. Smith," and said: Brethren, I need not say that it is with the greatest pleasure that I accept the honour of the gavel for a few moments, for believe me it is the greatest pleasure to me to have the honour of such a toast as that which now stands on the list before me entrusted to me to propose. I have said with what satisfaction and gratification I have been present here to-day, how much I admired the memory and the ability with which your excellent instructor went through his work; but I must also say that my admiration, and I am sure the admiration of the brethren who heard it, must be equal of those other brethren who worked the sections that had been worked. With the greatest confidence I therefore propose for your acceptance the good health of those brethren who have proved themselves such an ornament to the Stability Lodge of Instruction, such a credit to the Craft, and such a credit to themselves. I trust they may all go on and prosper, and do honour to the Craft in which they have made such progress. (Cheers.) Bro. Clever said, in reply, that the working brethren sincerely thanked Lord De Tabley and the brethren for the honour just done them. It had afforded them very great pleasure to be permitted to take part in the working of the sections, and if they had discharged their duties to the satisfaction of the brethren they were amply repaid for any efforts they had made to qualify themselves for discharging those duties. He had said to qualify themselves. Of course they could not have qualified themselves if it had not been for the great kindness of their esteemed friend and Bro. Muggeridge. He was ever ready, as they were all aware, to afford assistance and instruction to any brother that might require them. The very great amount of pains and attention that he had given them for some time past he (Bro. Clever) for one should ever be grateful to him for. No one knew what it was but those who had gone through it to qualify themselves for the discharge of the duty of working the sections. However small it might be they were entirely dependent upon their Bro. Muggeridge for it; and he (Bro. Clever) had been surprised to find what patience and attention he gave them in imparting instruction. He was sure none of them could express their gratitude sufficiently to him for the pains and attention that he had bestowed upon them. He wished it was in his power to do more justice to this reply than he had. (Hear, hear.) Brother Cargill proposed "The Sister Lodge of Instruction" and said that though there was some slight differences in the verbiage of the rituals of the two the great principles of the Craft emanated from the two lodges. Each lodge at its meetings proposed the health of the sister lodge, and this interchange of courtesies shewed the good feeling which united them with the Craft in general. Wherever Masons went they found the Craft in general benefited by these two great lodges of instruction, and though they worked under either they were equally members of the same Craft. Like members in the outside world whether they receive their instruction from one or other of the universities they were equally educated and equally efficient. (Hear hear.) Bro. John Hervey responded, and was received with loud and long continued applause. He said the J.W. had proposed "Success to the Emulation Lodge" so kindly and so gracefully that he (Bro. Hervey) felt somewhat at a loss to return thanks for such graciousness of expression. He did not think if he were buried that his friends would be desirous of digging him up to-morrow (referring to the song of "Janitor John" which had just been sung by Bro. Distin); and at any rate he probably would not be so missed as the good janitor of whom their excellent Bro. Distin had just sung so admirably about. (Laughter.) However that might be he could quite assure the brethren of the cordial thanks for the compliment which they had paid the Emulation Lodge of Improvement, a lodge with which he had been associated, not 37 years, as Bro. Muggeridge had been associated with the Stability, but he believed 32 years; but then he was a juvenile as compared with their excellent Preceptor, and therefore five years would not go for nothing. He had been Treasurer of the Emulation for 29 years, and although he could not boast of having paid such strict attention to the duties of the lodge as Bro. Muggeridge had to the Lodge of Stability, yet he hoped he had done some good service to it or they would not have gone on from year to year electing him as their Treasurer, paying him the compliment which they did. He was very glad to be present that night, and he would bear his testimony, as had been so admirably borne already, to the working of the brethren that evening, and to the working of the Preceptor who so ably presided. To this working of course he need not allude, because it was so well-known that it needed no eulogy either from him or anybody else; but they all knew it was difficult to get up from year to year to come forward to work the sections to do honour to the lodge of which they were members, and to show that precision of working, and that practical working, that had been exhibited on that occasion. He was glad to see that the Craft had been so well supported by the brethren who had worked that evening, and that the Lodge of Stability was in such a state of prosperity, a prosperity which he hoped would increase from year to year, and that whether they were in the East or in the West, in the Lodge of Stability or the Lodge of Emulation, the only competition they would have would be in their good working and showing the grand desire they had of improving in the Craft, improving those who came among them, and doing honour to those who presided over them. (Cheers.) Bro. McIntyre in proposing the toast of "The Masonic Charities" said that this last toast was not the least important in an assembly of Freemasons. They were told that among the great and good gifts that sent to man the greatest gift of all was charity; and it was, at all events, a thing that was impressed upon a Freemason from the time he entered into the Craft, and was instilled into him as he went on. They could never forget to their dying day the way in which the Masonic charities were impressed upon them; they all felt and appreciated them. But let them do more than appreciate them; let them show by their actions towards them that they thought them worthy of the support Freemasons had accorded to them. They fully deserved the support they got. On that occasion they had representatives of one of them there. He was only sorry they had not the representatives of all there. But they had a very distinguished one present in the person of Bro. Terry—(hear, hear)—who, wherever he went, always preached the cause of charity from his heart. Consequently it went straight to the heart. (Hear, hear.) They were all delighted to see him, and in his presence he (Bro. McIntyre) wished prosperity to all the Masonic institutions, hoping he might be long spared to advance the cause of all the charities, and particularly that charity of which he was the Secretary and so able a supporter. (Great applause.) Bro. Terry, in reply, said: Permit me to thank you, W.M., very sincerely indeed for the very kind expressions you have thought fit to make use of in proposing, for the acceptance of this meeting, the subject of the Masonic Institutions—the institutions of which this lodge of instruction has been so very many years a most consistent supporter; and I have to thank the Preceptor and the members of the lodge this evening for those extra donations which they have thought fit on the present occasion to vote in support of those institutions. It is not the first time for very many years we have had the honour of receiving from this lodge of instruction in their friendship and kindness to the institutions; and I am proud to think that this lodge of instruction goes on in the same path of prosperity as it has done in the past. With respect to the kind manner in which the W.M. had thought fit to express himself on the way in which the duties of the Secretarial departments of the different institutions were performed permit me to thank him very heartily and sincerely; and I feel with him that were those institutions not worthy of support they would not receive that cordial co-operation of the Craft that they do at the present day. When I say that during the past four or five years the income of our institutions has nearly doubled I think it is something for our institutions to be proud of; that large as may be the demands on our members, large also has been the reception with which the calls on your charities have been met. When I tell you that the first festival held this year, in February last, the largest ever brought in in aid of the funds of that institution was then brought in, so may I augur for the future that in May and June next a largely-increased sum may be got; that an increased sum may be given in aid of the Girls' School on the 10th of May, of which Institution your worthy Preceptor is a most successful officer; that an increased sum may be subscribed to the Boys' School, which requires so much. When I tell you that out of 43 candidates for the Girls' School you could only at the late election elect eleven, and out of fifty-nine for the Boys' you could only elect ten, it must be abundantly clear that there are large demands and limited means. In the Benevolent Institution we are in an inverse position. We are able to take in 17 men, and 20 women out of 32, giving, I think you will admit, a very substantial support to our poor, old, and deserving people. Also I may tell you that on Tuesday of this week we have gone further by endeavouring to assist them as far as we can by adding to the amount of the annunities hitherto afforded them an increased sum of £4 per annum to every old man and every old woman. (Hear.) That may perhaps seem an insignificant sum for me to mention; but in the aggregate it amounts to a very large sum. When I tell you it adds to our expenditure every year £1000 we have only to ask, I think, in the future, as we have received in the past, and as we are receiving at present, your very generous, your very cordial, and your very fraternal support. Believe me, brethren, when I tell you if you could only happen to be for the space of one short week in our different offices you would see so much misery and distress brought before you that you would instantly go abroad as far as you could and make known to every brother you meet the claims of our varying and different institutions. You have but to go there and see them working, as they are day by day, and to say to yourselves that we really do possess in the Craft three of the best institutions, and, I venture to say, the most ably managed of any identical institutions throughout the length and breadth of the land. And when I say that, brethren, I believe I am saying something indeed, when we know the good the various institutions which are spread over the land are doing. You know we cannot go abroad; we must confine our appeal for sympathy to a very restricted circle indeed; but I am very proud to think that that very restricted circle does answer any and every call, whenever just cause is shewn to them, in the most ample and liberal manner. Imbued with that idea, Sir, I thank you very cordially for having proposed that toast. I thank this lodge for having for so many years contributed to the funds of all, and I may also say in conclusion I wish long life and happiness to your worthy Preceptor, and may he be spared to preside over this lodge in order by his means and ability that increased funds may be added to the coffers of our various institutions, and by them to go on in the career of usefulness which I think every brother in this room will admit they are endeavouring to do at the present time. (Great applause.) The brethren then separated. The evening was enlivened by some excellent solo and part singing by Bros. F. H. Cozens, Theo. Distin, and Lester.

Royal Arch.

KENDAL.—Kendal Castle Chapter (No. 129).—A quarterly convocation of this chapter was held at the Masonic Hall, on Thursday, the 27th ult. The M.E.Z., Comp. Henry Rauthem II, was supported by Comp. Captain Gawith, P.Z., H.; John Bowes, P.Z., P.P.G.S.B., as J.; Titus Wilson, I.P.Z.; John Talbot, E.; R. J. Nelson, N.; Geo. McKay, P.S.; W. Cranston, Assist. Soj.; R. Godfrey, Assist. Soj.; T. Baron, and others. The chapter was opened by the Principals, when the rest of the companions were admitted, and the minutes confirmed. The ballot was then taken for Bro. Edmund Fearenside, which proving in his favour, and he being present was exalted, together with Bro. Robert Winder, who had been elected at a previous meeting. On the invitation of the M.E.Z. the ceremony was performed by E. Comp. Bowes, to whom a warm vote of thanks was afterwards accorded, on the motion of Captain Gawith seconded by the M.E.Z. It was decided to hold the annual festival at Rigg's Hotel, Windermere, on Thursday, June 22nd, when a very pleasant re-union is anticipated. After some routine business and a proposition the chapter was closed with the usual solemnities, and the companions separated, mentally reciting the lines so well-known to Craftsmen:—

"As happy we have met,
And happy we have been,
So happy may we part,
And happy meet again."

Mark Masonry.

BATH.—Royal Cumberland (Time Immemorial) Lodge.—The annual meeting was held at the Masonic Hall on Thursday, April 27th, at five p.m., with the following officers:—Bros. J. Dutton, W.M.; Dr. Hopkins, Chap., as I.P.M.; Brown, as S.W.; Carey, J.W.; John Dutton, Treas.; Cater, Sec.; C. Wilkinson, M.O.; Rubie, S.O.; Cater, J.O.; Braham, as S.D.; Murliss, as J.D.; Falkner, as I.G.; Reeves, as Org.; Bigwood, Tyler. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, and the Treasurer's balance-sheet passed, Bros. E. L. Hill and Williamson were introduced and advanced to the degree of M.M.M. by the W.M. Bro. Dr. Hopkins, P.G.J.W., took the chair, and Bro. R. Carey was presented as W.M. elect. After the usual preliminary proceedings the brethren were dismissed, and Bro. Carey was duly inducted into the chair of Adoniram. On the return of the brethren, and after the proclamation and completion of the ceremony, the following were appointed and invested as officers:—J. Dutton, I.P.M.; Dr. Hopkins, Chaplain; Cater, S.W.; John Dutton, J.W. and Treas.; Rubie, Sec.; C. Wilkinson, M.O.; Braham, S.O.; Baldwin, J.O.; Falkner, Reg.; Radway, S.D.; Murliss, J.D.; Jacob Smith, I.G.; Howes, Steward; Bigwood, Tyler. The Installing Master then gave the addresses to the W.M., the Wardens, the Overseers, and the brethren, in a manner which elicited repeated applause. Votes of thanks were passed to him, to the I.P.M. for his services during the past year, the efficiency of which was most favourably commented on; to Bros. Dr. Hopkins, Birth, and Brooke for presents made to the lodge; to the visitors, among whom were Bros. Col. Ford, Sloane, and Reeves, and specially to the latter for his kind assistance as Organist. These were duly acknowledged. The W.M. addressed the brethren on his installation. The lodge was closed at eight o'clock, and an adjournment was made to the Castle Hotel for the banquet. The proceedings of the evening were in every way satisfactory, and copies of the new bye-laws having been distributed to the members, there is every reason to hope for good future progress in this interesting branch of Masonry.

Scotland.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF GLASGOW.

The quarterly communication of the Prov. Grand Lodge of Glasgow was held in St. Mark's Hall, Glasgow, on Thursday evening, 27th ultimo. In the absence, through indisposition, of Bro. Col. Walter Montgomery Neilson, P.G.M., Bro. J. Baird, P.G.S.M., occupied the chair, supported on the dais by Bros. A. McTaggart, M.A., P.G. Sec.; J. Gillies, P.G. Treas.; G. Sinclair, Treas., and Convener of Benevolent Fund; A. Bain, P.G.B.B.; J. Miller, P.G.J.D.; J. Balfour, P.G. Dir. of Cer.; D. Reid, P.G.I.G.; and J. B. Hardie, P.G. Tyler. Bro. G. McDonald, W.M. Thistle and Rose, No. 73, occupied the P.G.S. Warden's chair, while Bro. J. Booth, W.M. Thistle, No. 87, occupied that of the P.G.J. Warden.

Bro. Baird read a telegram he received that afternoon from the P.G.M., regretting very much his absence that evening from attending P.G.L. on account of his continued illness. The Sec. then read the minutes of last meeting which were approved of. Bro. Sinclair also read minutes of Benevolent Fund, showing that large sums of money had been disbursed during the last quarter towards charity.

New codes of bye-laws were admitted for approval to P.G. Lodge from lodges 102, 275, 362, 419, and 510, and were remitted to P.G. Committee, with powers.

An abstract of last year's statement was handed to each member, and on the motion of Bro. Miller, P.G.J.D., seconded by Bro. J. Scott, W.M. 419, the same was adopted. The P.G. Sec. then intimated he had received abstracts and papers from Grand Lodge and bye-laws of Lodge St. Vincent, No. 553, with powers to P.G. Lodge to call a meeting of St. Vincent Lodge and determine the whole matter.

The Prov. Grand Lodge was then closed.

Amongst those present we noticed the following:—Bros. W. Bell, I.P.M. 34; A. McLeod, S.W. 73; J. F. Mitchell, I.P.M. 102; J. Thomson, S.W. 102; W. Thomas, S.W. 103; R. Jack, W.M. 128; G. McLeod, S.W. 128; J. Campbell, I.P.M. 128; J. Singleton, W.M. 178; J. Morgan, W.M. 219; D. Ronald, W.M. 275; W. Findlay, S.W. 275; J. B. Macnair, I.P.M. 332; J. M. Oliver, S.W. 360; T. Graham, J.W. 360; A. Rutherford, S.W. 362; J. Simpson, S.W. 419; D. Gilchrist, W.M. 465; Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); R. Aikman, W.M. 570; W. J. E. Dobson, W.M. 571; and others.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE RENFREWSHIRE EAST.

On Saturday evening a meeting of the Prov. G. Lodge Renfrewshire East was held in the hall of Lodge St. Mirren, No. 129, Moss-street, Paisley, Bro. Col. Campbell, of Blythswood, P.G.M., presiding; Bros. James Gilmour, P.G.S.W.; and J. Paton, P.G.J.W. The P.G.M. was supported by Bros. H. Macdowall, jun., of Garthland, P.G. D.M., and James Caldwell, Craigielea, P.G.S.M.

The P.G.J.W. drew the attention of the lodge to the loss which it had sustained in the death of Bro. J. Stevenson, R.A. Lodge, Rutherglen (116), who, he said, had occupied the offices of Depute Master and Senior Deacon in the P.G. Lodge. He believed that they had lost a brother who was a good Mason, and had spent a great deal of his time in furthering the cause of Masonry. He moved that they engrave in their minutes their deep sense of the loss which the P.G. Lodge Renfrewshire East had sustained.

The P.G. Master said that he regretted very much to learn of the death of their esteemed brother, and at the same time to hear of the death of Bro. Robertson, late W.M. of No. 153, R.A., Pollokshaws, who was an able and intelligent office-bearer of the P.G. Lodge.

It was unanimously agreed that a minute expressive of deep regret at the loss the lodge had sustained in the death of these two brethren should be engrossed.

In reply to a question by Bro. G. Glen, W.M. Prince of Wales Lodge, Renfrew, No. 426, the P.G. Master said that arrangements had been made for a visitation of the lodges in the province.

GLASGOW.—St. Mark's Lodge (No. 102).

The regular meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, 213, Buchanan-street, on Monday evening, 24th ult., Bro. J. O. Smith, W.M., in the chair; J. Thomson, S.W.; G. Littlejohn, J.W.; J. F. Mitchell, I.P.M.; A. C. Paterson, Treas.; J. Monteith, Sec.; and a large number of members and visiting brethren, including Bros. J. Booth, W.M. 87; P. Brownlie, J.W. 34; J. Dick, Sec. 34; M. Stark, D.M. 553; Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); and others. The annual visitation of the P.G. Lodge took place this evening. The deputation consisted of Bros. J. Baird, S.P.G.M.; G. Sinclair, Treas., and Convener of Benevolent Fund; A. McTaggart, P.G. Sec.; J. Gillies, P.G. Treas.; A. Bain, P.G.B.B.; J. Balfour, P.G. Dir. of Cer.; J. Allison, P.G.J.; and D. Reid, P.G.I.G. The deputation on being admitted were received with the accustomed honours. Bro. McTaggart, on being requested by the acting P.G.M., reported that the books had been carefully examined, and said they were in excellent order, and that the lodge was in a highly prosperous condition, and congratulated the Master, office-bearers, and members of the lodge on the state of its affairs. Bro. Baird, acting P.G.M., said it must be gratifying to hear such a favourable report, and complimented the members on the prosperous condition of their lodge, and trusted it would long continue. Bro. J. O. Smith thanked the deputation for their kindness in again visiting Lodge St. Mark, 102, and moved a vote of thanks to the members of the P.G.L. which was heartily given. Bro. Baird briefly replied, and the deputation withdrew. Mr. John F. Reid was then initiated into the First Degree, and afterwards four bre ren were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason by Bro. J. F. Mitchell, I.P.M., in his usual able and impressive manner.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Union and Crown (No. 103).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held in the Kilwinning Hall, 170, Buchanan-street, on Monday evening, 24th ult., Bro. D. Murray, W.M., in the chair, ably supported by the following office-bearers:—Bros. A. M. Wright, I.P.M.; R. Munro, D.M.; J. McFarlane, S.M.; W. Thomas, S.W.; W. Forsyth, J.W.; N. Cameron, Treas.; P. Cullen, B.B.; A. Gray, J.D.; and J. Gray, I.G., and a large turn out of members and visiting brethren. The lodge was opened and the minutes read and confirmed. Mr. James Taylor was then admitted and received the Entered Apprentice Degree at the hands of Bro. A. M. Wright, I.P.M. The Provincial Grand Lodge deputation was then announced, they having arrived from St. Mark's Lodge, No. 102, and were admitted with the usual honours. The usual formality of handing the mallet over to the acting P.G.M. and returning the same was gone through, when Bro. McTaggart, P.G. Sec., said the books of the lodge were examined very minutely, and he was glad to say they were in every sense faultless, and that the lodge was working in strict harmony with the Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. Bro. Baird remarked that it ought to be a matter of unbounded satisfaction to every member of the lodge to hear such a favourable report just given by the P.G. Sec., and he (Bro. Baird) was glad to mention that the cash book was the best kept they had inspected this year. Bro. Murray, the W.M., then moved a vote of thanks to the members of the P.G. Lodge, which was heartily responded to. Bro. D. Reid, P.G.I.G., was affiliated an honorary member of the lodge. The deputation then withdrew. The lodge was afterwards called to refreshment, when a short time was spent in harmony.

KILBARCHAN.—Lodge St. Barchan (No. 156).—A meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, Kilbarchan, on the 20th ult., the W.M., Bro. Wm. Lewis, M.D. presiding, and supported by Bros. Buchanan, D.M.; Craig, S.W.; Orr, J.W.; Kirkland, Treas.; Grant, Sec., &c. Among the other brethren present were Bros. Henderson, H. Buchanan, P. Buchanan, P. C. McGregor, &c., of 156; Bro. White, of 117; &c. Bro. D. McArthur was raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason, the ceremony being gone through in a most impressive manner by the W.M. Afterwards Bro. White, 117, was affiliated as an honorary member of St. Barchan's. Bro. White, in returning thanks, complimented the W.M. and the lodge upon the efficient manner in which the business of the lodge was conducted. The lodge was thereafter closed in due form.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Athole (No. 413).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in St. Mark's Hall, 213, Buchanan-street, on Tuesday evening, 25th ultimo, Bro. J. Louttit, W.M., in the chair; Bros. D. Leeds, S.W.; A. Holmes, J.W.; P. Agnew, Treas.; R. Graham, Sec.; and a large number of members and visiting brethren were present. On the lodge being opened and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed, Mr. R. H. Muir was initiated by Bro. W. Bell, I.P.M. 34, on behalf of Lodge Thistle, 87. Thereafter Bros. D. M. Nelson, W.M. St. John, 34; W. Bell, I.P.M. 34; J. Booth, W.M. 87; J. Grant, 197; and W. J. E. Dobson, W.M. Lodge Dramatic, 571, were obligated honorary members of the lodge by the W.M., Bro. Louttit. Bros. D. Ross and Robt. McBryde, of 413, and R. H. Muir and Hugh Clark, of 87, were passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by Bro. W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 116. The lodge was then assumed in the Third Degree, when four brethren were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason at the hands of Bro. J. Booth, W.M. Lodge Thistle, 87.

DALMUIR.—Lodge St. John (No. 543).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held in their hall at Dalmuir on Tuesday evening, 25th ult. The business before the meeting was passing, and presentation to the I.P.M. The lodge was opened at 7.30 p.m. prompt, Bro. Ferguson, I.P.M., in the chair; A. McNaughton, jun., D.M.; J. Barrie, S.M.; J. F. Wilson, S.W.; J. Muirhead, J.W.; M. Watson, Treas.; J. Alexander, Sec.; J. Morrison, jun. S.D.; J. Stairs, J.D.; J. Morton, Chap.; J. Morrison, sen., S.S.; R. Hunter, J.S.; A. Smith, I.G.; J. Adair, Tyler; T. T. Johnstone, D. Jamieson, Thomson, Bell, Barton, Malcolm, and others. Among the visiting brethren were Bros. Peters, 3, Marshall, 50; Ser.-Major Chamberlain, E.C.; Capt. Gray, 362; Alex. Gow, S.M. 581; D. Peacock, S.W. 581; J. Henry, J.W. 581; W. Taylor, Treas. 581; R. Allan, Sec. 581; Paterson, I.G. 581; Campbell, 581; and others, amounting in all to about sixty brethren. The candidate for passing was unavoidably detained, the lodge was therefore closed and called to refreshment, when Bro. S. Leckie, W.M., arrived and occupied the chair, and after doing justice to a substantial repast, the usual loyal, Masonic, and patriotic toasts were given and responded to, viz., "The Queen and the Craft," "The Three Grand Lodges," "The Army, Navy, and Volunteers." Bro. Chamberlain replied for the Army, Bro. Gray for the Navy, and Bro. Sergeant Thomson for the Volunteers. "The Prov. Grand Lodge of Dumbarton," replied to by Bro. Ferguson. "The Visiting Brethren," proposed in an excellent speech by Bro. Wilson, S.W., replied to by Bros. Peters, Marshall, and Gow. "The Health of Bro. W. Ferguson, I.P.M.," proposed by Bro. James Barrie, S.M., who said: R.W.M., Wardens, and brethren,—A very pleasant part of this evening's programme has been assigned to me, and whilst wishing that it had fallen into abler hands, it is a duty which I have great pleasure in performing. A considerable part, and by no means a disagreeable part, of the experience that falls to us as Freemasons is that we are sometimes called upon to give a practical illustration of those brotherly feelings which we profess to entertain towards each other, and one of these we are about to give

now. Two years and a half ago the Freemasons of this district, with its lately increased population, considered it advisable to endeavour to get a lodge erected in the locality, and for that purpose fourteen of us met one evening in the Ferry Road Hotel, to consider the situation, and devise means for the formation of a lodge. The brother who was called to the chair at that meeting, and who was a zealous promoter of the cause, has since been summoned above, where all good Masons hope to arrive. The result of that meeting and others that followed was that at length a lodge was formed, and has proved not the least active and promising in the province of Dumbarton. The fact that we now number about 100 members shows that we did not miscalculate the grounds for proceeding, and speaks for the progress we have made. The hall in which we are now met, and which many a more pretentious district would envy us, is another proof of our progress within this short time. Bro. Ferguson was one of our little band from the beginning, and for two years filled the chair, and discharged its duties in an efficient manner. During his period of office he was scarcely, if, indeed, he was ever, absent from a single meeting. He has now gone from amongst us, and we feel our loss. We may well and honourably congratulate those representatives of our youngest sister lodge who are here to-night on the gain that has come to them through our loss, but we must say "Tis better to have loved and lost, than never to have loved at all." Before allowing him to part company with us it is the wish of the members to give him some small token of our appreciation of his services as Master, and the honour of handing over the united gift has been awarded to me. And now allow me, Bro. Ferguson, to adorn your breast with this Past Master's jewel, as a mark of the kindly feelings of your Dalmuir brethren, and allow me, along with it, to convey to you what I am sure you will esteem far more, the assurance that their warm and good wishes will go along with you wherever you go. May you long be spared to wear this jewel, and may you have a large experience of the things of which it is emblematic. We trust that as your eye falls on this little gift, perhaps years hence, it may awake pleasant recollections of evenings spent and spent—not altogether unprofitably—in the lodge from whose members it came. Bro. Ferguson replied at some length, thanking the brethren for drinking his health (which was done with Highland honours), and to you, Bro. Barrie, for the kind sentiments you have expressed towards me for my services as Master of the lodge for two years. I shall always wear this jewel in kindly remembrance that it was presented by the brethren of the Lodge St. John, Dalmuir, 543. "St. John's Lodge, No. 543," was proposed in a telling speech by Bro. Gow. Bro. Leckie, W.M., replied in suitable terms. Other toasts followed, and the evening's entertainment was much enlivened by the excellent singing of Bros. Jamieson, Millar, Alexander, Henry Johnstone, Allan, Smith, Morton, Paterson, Ferguson, Muirhead, Barrie, and others. Bro. Allan gave some splendid selections of music on the harmonium, and after the Tyler's toast, "Happy to meet, sorry to part, and happy to meet again," the brethren separated, having spent a night long to be remembered.

CONSECRATION OF THE SIR HUGH MYDDELTON LODGE (No. 1602.)

On Saturday last this new lodge was consecrated at the Agricultural Hall, Islington, and the appropriateness of the title of the lodge to the locality must be generally recognised. For a lodge which has promise of such support the rooms are however at first sight very small; nor does there seem to the casual observer any method or resources by which they can be enlarged. The banquet-room is the better of the two, it being the well-known committee-room of the Agricultural Hall Company. The lodge-room is the Secretary's room down below, and no doubt for an ordinary lodge would afford sufficient accommodation. The names of sixteen gentlemen for initiation and five brethren for joining were read out on the day of consecration, so that after the fourth of the ensuing meetings of the lodge, if all these come up the room must necessarily be crowded, more especially if, as is likely to be the case, other names will be given in at each of those meetings.

The ceremony of consecration was performed in the presence of about 70 brethren by Bro. John Hervey, Grand Secretary, who had Bros. A. J. D. Fisher, as S.W.; Dr. Woodman, as J.W.; the Rev. R. J. Simpson, as Chaplain; C. A. Cottebrune, as D.C.; Henri De Solla, as Organist; Glover, as I.G.; and W. Steedman, as Tyler.

[We were promised a correct copy of the list of the brethren present, but it had not arrived at the time of our going to press.]

After the usual formalities had been observed,

Bro. John Hervey, from the chair, said that on these occasions it was the usual custom of the consecrating officers to make a few observations to the brethren, and those who were sitting round the room, and who probably had been present at former lodges that he had consecrated, knew how strongly he had always expressed himself in consecrating a new lodge about the necessity of being careful as to those to be admitted within the precincts of the lodge. He would not press upon them again the same theme, because he trusted that there it was not necessary; but he would again just say one word upon this point, that if they got a disagreeable member into the lodge who marred the harmony of the lodge they would probably never know the end of it until circumstances over which we had no control—over which nobody had any control—either removed the member or broke up the lodge. Now, it had been a bad custom, which he feared was growing, for brethren to think that when they were in rotation they ought to be appointed to office, and if they were not appointed to office or probably if they proposed a candidate for initiation in the lodge who might not be congenial to the brethren, and that candidate was refused admission, the brother who proposed him immediately commenced a system of blackballing, a system which was as disgraceful as it was unmasonic. He did not know that he could sufficiently reprehend that course; it ruined a lodge; and why? because one brother thought that he had a right to control the Master in the choice of his officers; thought that he had a right to control the choice of the brethren as to whom they should select to consort with them. He hoped they would see and hear of no such thing in this lodge, and he should be glad if brethren would, as much as they possibly could, express their disapprobation of such a course, and prevent as far as possible its being carried out. If any such course was pursued it must eventually break up the lodge, and he knew large lodges which had been destroyed by a systematic course of blackballing. It was uncharitable as well as ungentlemanly; uncharitable, because it marred all the comfort of the lodge, broke the lodge up into cliques, and tended to foster that dissension which ought never to enter the doors of a Freemasons' Lodge. (Hear hear.) The brother who was the cause of all this might be a great supporter of the charities; but it was not merely the putting of the hands in the pockets and paying five or ten guineas that made charity. Charity, it was said, ought to begin at home, and the charity which began at home would begin by the party practising that virtue of making himself agreeable to those with whom he was acting, and if he be not promoted just as he thought he ought to be, the most charitable feeling was for him to say, "Well, I ought to have that office; but I have no doubt the brother who is appointed to it is more worthy of it than I am; and, therefore, the Master has exercised a discriminating conduct in the course which he has pursued." He ventured upon these few observations, because in his career of Masonry the practice of blackballing came unfortunately much under his view. Of course there were circumstances which justified the blackballing used. If a man of doubtful character had been proposed in a lodge, then, of course, the blackball was the proper course, unless his proposer withdrew him. The blackball was a proper instrument to prevent him entering a lodge; but to pursue it as a means of revenge against the Master or against the lodge was a system, as he said before, as ungentlemanly as it was un-Masonic. He trusted he should never see it in this lodge, and as he had remarked, he hoped if there were any brethren present who were aware of such a course being pursued, or likely to be pursued, that they would do their utmost to prevent its continuance. He would not detain them longer, because he knew they would have an excellent address from his good and reverend friend on his left, which would be far better than the few words he could put together at a moment's notice to put before them. He would therefore at once close what he had to say. He did not want to be either a nuisance to the brethren who were round the room, or to say anything which was unpleasant or out of place. The few words he had said he trusted were in place and that they would have their effect upon the brethren. (Hear, hear, and cheers.)

The ceremony of consecration was then proceeded with till the time came for the Chaplain's address.

The Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G.C., then arose and said: Worshipful Master, Wardens, and brethren, I congratulate you upon the declaration just made from the chair, and I thank you, especially the two brethren who did me the honour to wait upon me, for giving me the privilege of being present to-day to take some humble part in these happy proceedings. This lodge has already "a local habitation and a name"—"a local habitation" in one of the most ancient parts of this great metropolis; a very worthy "name" as being that of connected with one of those noble benefactors who have been a great blessing to this country. But at the same time it is a new branch of the old tree; it is an offshoot of one of the most venerable and glorious societies which have hitherto existed on this side of the grave, running back into a remote antiquity and founded upon the highest principles of piety and virtue. On that account especially does the consecration of a Freemasons' Lodge become a very solemn as well as a very happy event. Brethren, as I was coming along, I remembered, in addition to the fact that I had not prepared an oration, that our worthy and excellent brother here (Bro. Hervey) on a late occasion was good enough to say that it would be better not to prepare one, but simply to trust to such remarks as it might occur to me as apposite to the occasion on which we assembled. I cannot do better than adopt his advice, and therefore shall venture on a few remarks upon a subject which may possibly interest us all, if not improve us. As I passed through the railway station I saw on the head of a placard these words, "Another Failure on the Stock Exchange;" and as I came up here I saw the sign of an old house of entertainment, "The Angel," and I could not help thinking that those two things, those two signs—one a sign of the times and the other a sign of the material world—might form a very apt subject of thought for us Masons to-day. The word "sign" is not uncommon amongst us, as we know; thrice it has been mentioned to-day; but I think it is a very excellent thing for us at times to consider well the relation which the word "sign" bears to the thing signified; for upon that lies a considerable amount of human happiness or misery. Now, it cannot be denied that those who mark the signs of the times must bear this in view, that this England of ours with all its progress, its material progress, with all its wonderful amount of commercial activity, with all the marvellous discoveries of science, seems not to have advanced in one respect, which, I ventured to say, is superior to them all. It was once, brethren, the boast of this nation that if there was any one point on which it could boast itself, to use a common phrase, it was that it was a nation that valued reality, thoroughness, straightforwardness, and honesty, that it was not a nation of shams. I very much fear, if we look into the commercial world at the present day, with all our vaunted education, we shall not find greater honesty than was to be found a century ago, whether you take it from the Stock Exchange downwards to the smallest and pettiest tradesman that exists in the city. Thank God there are thousands of glorious exceptions; but I am speaking generally, that it is a sign of the times, and that in the commercial world there is an immense amount of unreality. When I come again to social life, I find the same thing. We live too much out of our homes, which used to be the boast of England too. And I fear that in living much out of our homes, and in moving in what is commonly called society, we do not improve those domestic virtues which I believe make the women as well as the men of England great. Nay, even in that part of our social entertainment commonly called the dinner or the banquet, even there unreality is supplied broadcast for us; and nothing can be more unreal than many of those entertainments typical of the society which gathers around it, of that unreality, that want of substantiality, that old English idea which should pervade even the dinner which we eat. When I come to religion I find the same element abound, whether it exists in the form of what is commonly and significantly called "cant" or religious—mere religious—profession, reminding one of the "sounding brass and the tinkling cymbal," which has made religion and hypocrisy almost synonymous in the mouths of business men; or, whether, on the other side I look to that adoration of mere externals which are cropping up and eating out the life and reality of Englishmen and Englishwomen; I say whether I look to one or the other—commercial, social, or religious—I find that sham is taking a very strong hold of English society. And, brethren, when we find this abroad in the world in general, shall we Masons in particular expect to remain immaculate? Certainly not. It is well for us when we have our closed doors to speak honestly to one another; and certainly he would be but a dishonest watchman who should as your Chaplain and not speak his mind off. Brethren, I am sure you will agree with me in feeling that we do not enough practise out of the lodge those noble duties and tenets which we hear within it; and in no place is that more manifest to me sometimes than in the conversation, in the song and in other things which occur after some of our lodge meetings and banquets. Let me speak plainly, I am quite sure of this, that if those noble principles which are impressed so beautifully upon us in our assemblies that we should keep within the bounds of propriety, that we should observe temperance in all things, that we should avoid anything like "indecent and excess," I am quite sure that though, thank God, again, the great majority of our brethren hold to these noble tenets, there are such exceptions as do warrant me in making these observations; I do not think in our assemblies out of the lodge we as men, if true to our obligation, if true to the tenets of our Order, should use with our lips any words, doubtful or not, which we should not be prepared to make use of in the presence of our wives and children. That is the test. It was but a little time ago I was trying to persuade a tradesman with whom I have a certain connection to take an indecent print out of his window, and after he had used all kinds of arguments to convince me that it was a work of art and others of that flimsy, but specious kind which were to be swept away by common sense, I asked him this question: "Are you a husband?" "I am." "Have you a daughter?" "Yes." "Will you take her on your arm and stand opposite that picture for three minutes?" "No, I would not;" and that brought him to think of old Burns' prayer, "Oh, wad some power the giftie gie us to see ourselves as others see us, and so frae many a blunder free us," and he took it away accordingly. I would also venture to remark upon another point within the lodge which has been partially touched upon by our excellent presiding Master. I think that any man who joins Masonry ought to join it for its own sake, and when he does join it come and attend its assemblies whenever his private avocations or public duties freely admit it; that he would not drop in merely in time for the banquet, but would come to the lodge, and then he would there hear those beautiful and instruction ceremonies which will certainly help to make him a better man and Mason. But, moreover, I venture to think also that if he has the laudable ambition to take office, which every man should have, then he certainly ought to make himself master of the working of the lodge, so that he should not when he comes into office not merely not convey the beautiful lessons which I speak of, but that he should positively hold them up to ridicule and obloquy. The not doing so is another instance of sham. A man may say, "I have joined a lodge; I am an officer," but then if he really and truly does not act up to the profession he makes, that is sham. Again, if a man proposes another as a member of his lodge, when he does so he is a trustee of that lodge; and if he proposes his own brother, if that brother does not answer to that description given in our questions, "What are fit and proper persons to be made Masons?"—You know the answer—if it is his own brother he ought not to propose him; if he does it is a sham, and a great shame too, if I may make the remark. Brethren, I am quite satisfied in the few desultory observations which I have made that you will agree with me that the best motto for this or any other lodge to have in the old three words "Esse quam videri," to be, rather than to seem. I am quite sure that you will agree with me that the great light of Masonry points out both in its older part, and in its newer part some of the plain simple honest duties which are expected in us as Englishmen and Masons. "What doth the Lord require of thee but to do justly, to love mercy and to walk humbly with thy God?" Could there be a more beautiful and terse expression of our Masonic creed? And in the newer part of that glorious old book "pure and undefiled religion" is defined to be "to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction and to keep ourselves unspotted from the world." If, brethren, we try to follow these glorious texts we shall then be able to follow the old book as well as adopt the sentiments of a modern poet in those glorious lines wherein he says:—

Life is real, life is earnest, and the grave is not its goal,
Dust thou art, to dust returnest, was not spoken of the soul.

Let us then be up and doing, with a heart for any fate,
Still pursuing, still achieving, learn to labour and to wait.

The rev. brother sat down amidst loud cheers. The remainder of the ceremony was then proceeded with, and at the installation of W.M. Bro. Elias Somers was installed W.M. The following brethren were afterwards invested:—Bro. E. G. Sim, S.W.; T. J. Coombs, J.W.; J. Weston, Treasurer; J. Osborn, Secretary; A. Rowley, S.D.; F. Ellen, J.D.; J. G. Glover, I.G.; J. D. Taylor, Steward; W. T. Poulton, Steward; H. De Solla, Organist; and W. Steedman, Tyler. The consecrating brethren were elected honorary members of the lodge, viz., Bros. Hervey, Filer, Woodman, Cottebrune, and Simpson. 16 initiates and 5 joining members, were afterwards proposed and the lodge was then closed. A splendid banquet was afterwards provided by Bro. F. Sawyer, of the Crystal Palace, Bro. F. Sawyer, jun., and Bro. W. Abbott, manager, superintending it. The usual list of toasts was proposed and honoured, the replies being made by the Rev. R. J. Simpson, Bro. Hervey, Bro. W. T. Howe and Bro. Gallant for the visitors. Bro. Cubitt and Dr. Woodman for the charities, Bros. Weston and Osborn for Treasurer and Secretary, and Bro. Sim for the officers. The musical arrangements, by Bro. De Solla, were excellent. Late in the evening the brethren separated.

SUPREME GRAND CHAPTER.

The Quarterly Convocation of Supreme Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons of England was held on Wednesday evening at Freemasons' Hall. Grand Chapter at its opening was formed as follows:—Lord De Tabley, Z.; Major W. Ramsay, District Grand Supt. Punjab, H.; S. Rawson, J.; J. A. Rucker, P.S.; J. Percy Leith, First A.; Robert Gray, Second A.; J. Hervey, G.S.E.; Colonel Creation, S.N.; Dr. Woodman, S.B.; Joseph Smith, as G.D.C.; F. Pattison, E. G. Snel, James Glaisher, Joshua Nunn, H. J. P. Dumas, Captain Platt, Hugh D.J. Sandeman, N. Bradford, Benj. Head, and the following companions:—A. A. Bagshaw, Z. 1235; Worthington, Z. 370; G. E. Wainwright, J. 370; J. B. Scriven, H. 5; Joseph Clever, J. 13; C. Coupland, Z. 913; T. W. Boord, M.P., P.Z. 7; E. J. Barron, P.Z. 214; F. Driver, J. 742; T. J. Sabine, P.Z. 73; W. Ramsay, C. F. Hogard, Hyde Clarke, Z. 515; H. Massey, P.Z. 619 ("Freemason"); Herbert Dicketts, P.Z. 145; John Boyd, P.Z. 145; 534; William Stephens, H. 862, Z. 1365; John Constable, F. D. Copestick, F. Adlard, Thomas Fenn, H. Muggenridge, Earl of Donoughmore, and C. B. Payne.

Grand Scribe E. first read the regulations for the Government of the Supreme Grand Chapter during the time of the public business, and then the minutes of last quarterly convocation, and these latter having been put and confirmed,

Lord De Tabley said that the next business which had fallen into his hands as representing the worthy Grand Z. of the Order was to declare the names of the officers whom their most illustrious head had been pleased to appoint to the distinguished honour of holding office in the Grand Chapter. His Lordship then read them as follows:—His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, G.Z.; the Earl of Carnarvon, Prov. Grand Z.; Lord Skelmersdale, H.; Lord D. Tabley, J.; John Hervey, S.E.; the Earl of Donoughmore, S.N.; the Hon. William Warren Vernon, P.S.; the Rev. Spencer Robert Wigram, 1st A.S.; Lieut.-Col. Thomas Birchall, 2nd A.S.; Samuel Tomkins, Treas.; E. McIntyre, Q.C., Registrar; Thomas W. Boord, M.P., F.S.A., Sword Bearer; Edward J. Barron, Standard Bearer; John M. Case, Director of Ceremonies; and Chas. Bryant Payne, Janitor. The companions were then invested, and Colonel Creation, President of the Committee of General Purposes, brought up the report of that committee, and this having been taken as read, and ordered to be received and entered on the minutes, Colonel Creation proposed seriatim the granting of warrants for five new chapters, to the under mentioned lodges, Nos. 1393, 903, 1071, 1423 and 1185. These having been authorized the election of the Committee of General Purposes was taken, and on propositions being made the following companions were declared duly elected:—James Lewis Thomas, 13; Joseph Smith, 19; John Boyd, 145; H. C. Levander, W. Stephens, 1365; and F. Adlard, 214. The following companions were nominated by the Prince of Wales:—Colonel Creation, Benj. Head and Robert Gray. This concluded the business of Grand Chapter, which was thereupon closed in due form.

A charge of libel brought against Bro. Thomas Jones, the publisher of the "Sewing Machine Chronicle," has been disposed of at the May Session of the Central Criminal Court. The defendant's counsel, Serjeant Ballantine and Mr. Straight, entered the plea that the alleged libel contained matters that were true in substance and fact, and that it was for the public benefit that this should be known. The jury acquitted the defendant.

Upwards of 100 brethren were present on Thursday at the consecration of the Merlin Lodge, No. 1578. A full report of the proceedings will appear in our next.

Masonic and General Tidings.

By command of the Provincial Grand Master of Hampshire and the Isle of Wight, Bro. W. W. Beach, M.P., the Provincial Grand Secretary, Bro. J. E. Le Feuvre, telegraphed to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales at Madrid expressing the desire of the Freemasons of the province to offer their congratulations to the Grand Master on his arrival within their province from India. H.R.H. has been graciously pleased to accede to their wishes and Provincial Grand Lodge has been summoned to meet at Portsmouth on the 11th ult. for the purpose. The Masons of Hampshire and the Isle of Wight are fortunate in being the first to welcome our Royal Grand Master home.

It has been settled by arbitration that the sum of £310,000 is to be paid to the Liverpool Corporation by the Mersey Docks and Harbour Board for a piece of land which has been acquired by the Board from the Corporation. This is at the rate of £2 17s. 7d. per yard.

THE TULIPS IN THE TEMPLE GARDENS.—The warm weather of the last few days has brought the collection of tulips in the Temple Gardens to great perfection. Mr. Newton, the head gardener, has arranged the beds very tastefully. Among the best specimens we may mention the Cottage Maid, a very pretty variegated flower; the Tournesol (double), the Kaiser Kroon, and the Rex Rubrorum, the latter a very bright crimson flower. The gardens are now open daily to the public.

We are authorised to state that the Prince of Wales proposes to arrive at Portsmouth on Thursday, the 11th of May, and will be met off the Isle of Wight by the Princess of Wales and her children.

The Consecration of the Clive Lodge, No. 1575, will take place on Monday, the 15th ult., at Market Drayton. The proceedings will commence at 2 o'clock, banquet at 4.

The anniversary festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys will be held at the Alexandra Palace, on Wednesday, June 28th, under the chairmanship of Bro. the Rt. Hon. Lord Leigh, Provincial Grand Master of Warwickshire. Masonic clothing will not be worn.

Bro. His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, K.G., who is now on his way to join his regiment, the 7th Hussars, will be appointed to the staff of the 5th Army Corps, which is to be mobilised in the southern counties next July.

Bro. Sir John Bennett will lecture on "The Dutch and their Doings," at the Greenwich Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge, on Tuesday next.

Bro. His Grace the Duke of Abercorn, Most Worshipful Grand Master of Ireland, was present on Friday last in the Exhibition Palace, Dublin, at the annual distribution of prizes of the Masonic Female Orphan School. The gathering numbered over 7000 persons. A full report will appear in our next.

The turnpike at Archway-road, near Highgate, ceased to exist yesterday. The road was constructed in 1813, after a vain attempt had been made to tunnel Highgate-hill, and the cost of its construction amounted to £13,000. The toll was felt most vexatious, and its removal has been long desired.

The sale of Bro. W. Foster White's pictures on Saturday, by Messrs. Christie, Manson, and Woods, at their gallery in King-street, realized £1087. At the same sale a small collection of modern pictures and drawings, formerly belonging to the late Sir Sills John Gibbons, Bart., realized £283. The amount realized by Bro. White's engravings on Monday last was £66 9s.

Her Majesty the Queen will hold a Drawing Room at Buckingham Palace on Wednesday, May 10th, at three o'clock; and another Drawing Room, also at Buckingham Palace, at three o'clock on Friday, May 12th.

The foundation-stone of a new church at Nunceaton was laid with Masonic ceremony by Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Leigh on Wednesday, 16th ult. A report will appear in our next.

His Grace the Duke of Abercorn, M.W.G.M. Ireland, will open the Belfast Working Mens' Exhibition on the 23rd inst.

Her Imperial Majesty the Empress of Germany landed at Dover on Wednesday, shortly after noon, and at once proceeded by special train to Windsor.

CAPTAIN S. G. HOMFRAY, A.G.D.C. OF ENGLAND, AND D.P.G.M. MON.—We regret that the name of this well-known brother was again omitted in our report of the grand festival which appeared last week.

Bro. the Rt. Hon. Lord Carnarvon, M. W. Pro Grand Master, presided at the 87th annual dinner of the Royal Literary Fund, on Wednesday last, on behalf of Lord Derby, who was unable to attend in consequence of the death of the Dowager Countess.

Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Skelmersdale, Deputy Grand Master, was present at the funeral of the Dowager Countess of Derby on Tuesday.

Monday last, the twenty-sixth birthday of Bro. His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, was celebrated at Windsor with the usual honours. In the morning, and at intervals throughout the day, the bells of St. George's Chapel and St. John's Church rang, salutes of twenty-one guns being fired from the artillery in the Long Walk and the Royal Adelaide frigate and Fort Belvedere, Virginia Water. Prince Arthur was born May 1st, 1850.

WHITTINGTON LODGE OF INSTRUCTION, No. 861.—The meetings are now held every Wednesday evening at the Black Bull, Holborn, at 8 o'clock.

Gas superseded in day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms. Health, comfort, and economy promoted, by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors.—Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

TO OUR READERS

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS

are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month. Notice.—It is very necessary for our friends to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to

GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

The following stand over:—Reports of Lodges: Royal Oak, No. 871; Urban, No. 1196; Chaucer, No. 1540; Lodge of Unanimity, No. 1236; Blenheim; Churchill, No. 478; of Instruction, No. 198; Star Lodge of Instruction, No. 1275; Metropolitan Lodge of Instruction, No. 1507; Jerusalem Chapter, No. 185; Lodge St. John, No. 262; Galashiels; Consecration of a Lodge at Pontypridd; Letter from Bro. Yarker, "Ancient and Primitive Masonry;" Testimonial and Dinner to Bro. W. M. Herbage; Masonic Ball Oxford; Phoenix, No. 904, Rotherham; Stuart, No. 540, Bedford; Commercial, No. 1390, Leicester; Percy Lodge at Dunbar; Obituary, Bro. Kerr; Masonic Female Orphan School, Dublin.

REMITTANCES RECEIVED.

	£	s.	d.
Alford, Jas., The Cape (Draft)	0	13	0
Batchelor, J. C., U.S.A. (P.O.O.)	1	16	0
Brown, H. D., Monrovia (P.O.O.)	1	4	0
Buchanan, J., Malta (P.O.O.)	0	16	6
Cole, P. A., Madras (P.O.O.)	2	10	0
Goetze, W., Shanghai (P.O.O.)	2	0	0
Harris, J. A., U.S.A. (P.O.O.)	0	10	11
Hayden, L., U.S.A. (Cash)	0	10	6
Howard, W. C., The Cape (Draft)	1	6	6
Joseph, H. M., N.S.W. (Cash)	1	4	0
Imloth, R.W., Demerara (P.O.O.)	1	4	0
Leworthy, R., Sydney (P.O.O.)	2	0	0
Loxton, S., The Cape (Draft)	0	19	9
Maskell, D.W., Cape Colony (P.O.O.)	2	12	6
Norton, J., U.S.A. (Cash)	0	14	0
Parker, Jno., U.S.A. (Draft)	1	2	0
Rastall, J. H., U.S.A. (P.O.O.)	0	12	0

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d. for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

ASHBY.—On the 27th ult., at Vine House, Grantham the wife of A. Ashby, of a son.

BAKER.—On the 29th ult., at Abingdon, the wife of S. I. Baker, of a daughter.

BARING.—On the 17th ult., at Constantinople, the wife of W. Baring, Esq., of a daughter.

CUNNINGHAM.—On March 28, at Roorkee, N.W.P., India, the wife of Capt. A. Cunningham, R.E., of a son.

INGLIS.—On the 30th ult., at Edinburgh, the wife of A. B. Inglis, Esq., of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

MACKENZIE-BIDDULPH.—On Jan. 12, at Earee, Shoalhaven, New South Wales, by the Rev. W. Grant, M.A., Hugh, youngest son of Kenneth Mackenzie, Esq., Dundonnell, Rosshire, Scotland, to Bella Mary, eldest daughter of T. T. Biddulph, Esq., and granddaughter of the late Rev. Theophilus Biddulph, of Bristol.

HARDY-GLADSTONE.—On the 29th ult., at St. Anne's, Bowden-hill, Reginald, son of Sir J. Hardy, Bart., of Dunstall Hall, Staffordshire, to Lucy Marion, daughter of the late Capt. Gladstone, R.N., M.P.

DEATHS.

AKERS.—On the 27th ult., at Tunbridge Wells, James Ramsay Akers, Esq., in his 63rd year.

DERBY.—On the 26th inst., at 15, Cromwell-road, Emma Caroline, Dowager Countess of Derby, aged 71.

KERR.—On the 30th ult., at Church-street, Galashiels, Bro. Wm. Kerr, aged 73 years.

WYATT.—On the 25th ult., at Holland-grove, Brixton, Augustus, son of the late C. Wyatt, Esq.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, MAY 6, 1876.

OUR ROYAL GRAND MASTER'S RETURN.

Our Royal Grand Master has left Madrid, and is now at Lisbon. His reception in both countries has been most enthusiastic. That he cannot have failed to have been delighted alike with Spain and its kindly people—its great memories, and its wondrous interest, is, we apprehend, undoubted. Lisbon and the Tagus and Cintra and its associations will have for him a potent spell. We feel how enjoyable is his trip. He will soon be crossing the Bay of Biscay on his way home. May he have favouring breezes, a calm sea, and may a kindly Providence speed him safely onwards, to that warm welcome and loving family awaiting his glad return.

THE PROVINCIAL GRAND MASTERSHIP OF NORFOLK.

We understand that H.R.H. the Grand Master has been graciously pleased to offer the Grand Mastership of this province, vacant by the death of the late Hon. F. Walpole, M.P., to Lord Suffolk, and that in due time his lordship will signify his acceptance of it. A brilliant gathering may, therefore, be expected in Norfolk, as we believe the installation ceremony is to be performed by H.R.H. the Grand Master.

THE GRAND FESTIVAL.

Our last Festival was an exceptional one, and in one respect it was "Hamlet" without the Prince. Our Grand Master was still enjoying the brilliant reception of Madrid, Lord Carnarvon had to leave early on account of Mr. Hennessey and Barbadoes, Lord Skelmersdale was kept at home by a very great family affliction, and so on Bro. Col. Burdett descended alike the position and the duties of the G.M. We need hardly say that nothing was lost to the Craft in the hands of that urbane and genial brother, and that the Festival ended as it began, successfully, in peace, love, and harmony, as might well be expected. The ladies, our fair sisters, being greatly pleased with the soft sounds and the cooling liquids, which the foresight and liberality of our worthy Grand Stewards had so judiciously and bountifully provided. Of course the absence of the principal "dramatis personæ" could not fail to be a disappointment to many, though like the Irishman's, it was a disappointment that was "expected," and so the Festival of 1876 will appear to some to be somewhat shorn of its normal or especial brilliancy! But let us look on to 1877, and let us trust, we who still survive, that there will then gather around our M.W. Grand Master a loyal band of faithful brethren, in honour alike of his ever welcome presence, and in unwavering attachment to our good old Craft.

MASONIC ETIQUETTE.

Our contemporary, the "Evening Standard" of April 25th, has the following remarks, in a letter from its correspondent at Gibraltar, with reference to a Masonic ceremony in which our Royal Grand Master took part. He first gives the account of the day's proceedings on the 18th April as follows:—"While the Prince of Wales was thus engaged in the south, great preparations were being made for a similar ceremony at the other end of the town, where the first stone of the new market was to be laid, with all Masonic honours, by the Grand Master of England. A procession of nearly 200 Master Masons, with all their proper insignia, and preceded by a military band, had marched through the town and taken up their position at the angle of the old market where the foundation stone of the new was to be placed. On the Prince's arrival the District Grand Master and other Masons of high degree were first presented to him. His Excellency the Acting Governor then read an address, to which His Royal Highness responded as follows:—"Your Excellency,—I am very glad to have this opportunity of publicly expressing how much pleased and gratified I am at the kind and cordial welcome given me by the inhabitants of Gibraltar. I am proud to have the honour of laying the first stone of a building which has been approved of and assisted by Her Majesty the Queen, which will, I am sure, prove of the greatest utility to all classes in Gibraltar. It is with feelings of great pleasure I see around me so many members of my fellow Craft. The Prince then proceeded to lay the stone in the manner above described, and then followed a short religious ceremony, conducted by Mr. Richmond, District Grand Chaplain." And then comes the commentary:—"Much surprise has been expressed that a Wesleyan minister should have been invited to officiate, while the Bishop of Gibraltar and many other clergymen of the Church of England were present, particularly as the market will be a Government building. I cannot offer any explanation, unless it may be that he was a Mason and the others not; however, it is a prevailing topic of conversation." Now it is quite clear, first of all, that "our own correspondent" is not a Mason, and, secondly, that he has made a mountain of a molehill. If the subject be a "prevailing topic of conversation" among the good folks at Gib., the old Rock must be greatly changed from what it used to be in very happy hours, alas! now a long long while ago, "Consule Planco." Indeed, our natural feeling would be, what a singular lack of matters to talk about must exist within the walls of "Calpe," if such an allegation be in any way correct. That Bro. D.G.C. Richmond, should, despite his being a Wesleyan minister, officiate at a Masonic ceremony was a simple matter of necessity from the very nature of the case. The ceremony was a Masonic ceremony, and those engaged in it were Freemasons, and as the foundation stone was laid by the D.G. Lodge it was a matter "de rigueur" that its D.G. Chaplain should officiate. Why any surprise should be felt is, we confess, inexplicable to us. Indeed, the correspondent of the "Evening Standard" suggests the reply to his own query when he says "unless it may be that he was a Mason and the others not." This really is the "dignus vindice nodus," and the one real explanation of the apparent difficulty, the happy solution of the enigma of our contemporary's ingenious correspondent. We call attention to the matter, simply because we think it well that all should understand the principles on which we act, and the Masonic etiquette, which is alike needful and becoming on all such occasions. Bro. Richmond, having been appointed D.G.C., was the only proper person to officiate, and whether he was a Roman Catholic priest, or Wesleyan minister, it made no difference, and if all the Bishops of England had been present it could have made none. On such occasions our own officers, our own Chaplains, naturally fill their proper places, and do their proper work, in all Masonic ceremonies, and we should be cowards and something worse if we allowed anything like outside pressure or the opinion of "Mrs. Grundy" to make us deviate one jot or tittle from what the customs of Freemasonry sanctioned and the rules of our own excellent Order enjoined. The question is in itself hardly worth mooted or mentioning, except that it allows us to lay down clearly and calmly the first principles of our Masonic code, alike of etiquette and of usage.

RULE BRITANNIA.

Freemasons are not politicians but they are patriots, simply because they are citizens, and they do not ignore their duties and sympathies as citizens because they become Freemasons. Certainly not. This would indeed be a "reductio ad absurdum." But while as citizens they uphold their privileges and principles, they also bear carefully in mind the teaching and temper of Freemasonry. They do not confound one with the other, they do not forget their citizenship in their Masonry, nor their Masonry in their citizenship. In all that appertains to the greatness and glory of their country they remain as devoted as ever, and they rejoice to say, with entire sincerity, and strong, warm feelings, 'Tis a glorious charter, deny it who can, That breathes in the words, I'm an Englishman.

In all matters, then, which affect the course of public events, whether for peace or war, the defence of our "Alma Mater," our common country, in the honour and freedom of the British flag, as Freemasons we ever take a deep, and an unchanging, and fervid interest. We are still proud of that fine army of ours, which is ever ready at the call of duty to go anywhere, to do anything for the Queen and old England. We warmly sympathize with our "hearts of oak," and though we do not talk so much just now as we once did of our wooden walls, but rather of our "ironclads," we often echo Campbell's words,

Britannia needs no bulwark,
No towers along the steep.
Her march is o'er the mountain wave,
Her power is on the deep.

Many of our brethren at Portsmouth will have taken part in the launching of the "Inflexible" on Thursday last, and its naming by a fair member of our Royal family, Princess Louise. And while we shall all hope and pray that peace may be long preserved, that the sword may be turned into the ploughshare practically, in all lands and in all hemispheres, yet if the "war dogs" of rapine and ruin, of suffering and sorrow, of wrong and wretchedness should yet be loosed upon mankind, we shall equally believe that quick to strike and ready for the warfare will ever be that noble profession, the navy of Great Britain. That it will do its duty we know. That Jack will always be chivalrous in the hour of strife, and humane in the moment of victory, we are well assured, and so we meet the future with calm composure and reliant hope; and feeling that it is in the highest interest of civilization and progress, and liberty and toleration, and peace and happiness for mankind, that the "revere flag of England" should float in undimmed greatness over the mighty ocean, we shall trust that in the good Providence of God, it will yet be upheld by our blue jackets as of old, in safety, and dignity, and glory, nothing being able to tarnish its honour, and no stranger being able to haul it down.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

We rejoice to observe that, on the motion of our gallant and estimable Bro. Lieut.-Col. Creton, like a good soldier always "to the front," our male annuitants receive £4 additional yearly, making their incomes £40, and the females £32, hitherto £28. We quite approve of the increase, which has been for some time needed, and is both appropriate and seasonable. Bro Terry, the worthy Secretary, states that the increase will impose an additional charge on the income of the Institution of £960 per annum, and that there were now 240 annuitants. Be it so; we feel sure that the change is one equally approved of and appreciated by our entire Craft, and we have no doubt that this proper and beneficial change will at once be endorsed by the still more liberal support of all classes of our brethren.

THE VALUE OF FREEMASONRY.

People may doubt or debate in respect of the history of Freemasonry, but none can question its value, or deny its benefits. Freemasonry has this peculiar characteristic, explain it as you may, that it includes within its ample fold men of very contrasted callings and conditions of life. It has its attractions, apparently, as well for the intellectual as the well-to-do, for the man of science as well as the man of business, for the followers of the learned professions as well as those who make up the great nameless middle-class of Anglo-Saxon Freemasonry. Clergymen and physicians, barristers and solicitors, the skilful surgeon and the able "litterateur," all alike are not ashamed to avow themselves brethren of the mystic tie. And to them Freemasonry often holds out a kindly and a helping hand. Prosperity is not necessarily the lot of any. It often leaves many of us, in the great forest of life, when the leaves are sere and the winds are chilling. Too often, day by day, we hear of sad cases of those who once were travelling the high road of affluence and comfort and respectability, men of gaiety and geniality, who now are alas! too sadly and slowly limping along the cross-country lanes of gloom, and misery, and penury. Misfortunes overtake us all alike, and adversity visits us, some one has said, in turn; no life is necessarily exempt from its drawbacks; no career can be always preserved from its vicissitudes! No, there is one law for us all alike, often of "hard measures," as we think, of deep sorrow, of overwhelming misfortune, of untoward hours in this great noisy, struggling, dusty world of ours. We are led back to these reflections by a case to which our good Bro. Jabez Hogg has called our attention, and which we will allow to tell its own tale. We append his circular, which we commend to the special notice of our readers:—

Greyhound Lane,
Streatham Common, S.W.,
January, 1876.

Sir,—

Your vote and interest are earnestly requested for Dr. Robert Stewart, at the ensuing election of candidates for the benefits of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution.

Dr. Stewart is a member of the College of Physicians, and was formerly in extensive practice at Streatham and its vicinity, but is now, by great misfortune, obliged to solicit the favour and benevolence of his brother Masons. The doctor has been an Arch Mason for some years, and until 1867 was in flourishing circumstances. The first step to his misfortune was caused by a partner whom he took into his practice, and whom he trusted too confidently, and who, after having brought Dr. Stewart to a state of bankruptcy, committed suicide. The next step was the death of his beloved wife; then fever struck the doctor, and left him, shattered in health and fortune, dependent upon the kindness of a neighbour for a home, which home may now at any moment be broken up, and your applicant be cast upon the world, unless the kindness of his brother Masons shall find him an asylum in their Institution.

Proxies will be thankfully received by me,
JABEZ HOGG, P.G.D.,
P.M. 1260, &c.

Surely this is a case alike demonstrating the value of Freemasonry, and appealing to us all alike, in our different positions and professions. Medical men always appear to us to have a great claim on the sympathy and goodwill of their fellow creatures. Many are the grave difficulties, many the heavy responsibilities of their laborious lives. That great profession which has ever been foremost in all works of scientific improvement, and in all labours of intellectual advance, is, as many of us know, ever most ready to aid calamity and mitigate suffering, not only by the potent exercise of the healing art, but by the priceless and ever cheerful endeavours of a warm-hearted personal sympathy. Very few people know how much of unostentatious kindness and liberality are shewn by the great body of the medical profession to suffering patients, to the needy and the friendless, except those who have met them and seen them by the bedside of the poor, or taken counsel with them amid the panic of infection, or the throes of the dying bed. To them humanity and society alike owe a great debt of gratitude, often forgotten, not seldom unexpressed. We are glad, then, in advocating on every ground, personal and general, the claim and case of Bro. Dr. Stewart, and not the least because it is personally urged upon our attention and Masonic goodwill by our esteemed Bro. Jabez Hogg.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

KILWINNING AND FREEMASONRY.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I do not know if the following is of much consequence, but if it is worthy of insertion you can use your discretion.

On looking over some volumes of "The Mirror," the forerunner of the penny periodicals, and dated May 8th, 1830, I discovered as under, which is the first intimation to myself, and I daresay it will be to a great many other brethren, of the reason why so many of the Scotch lodges rejoice in the name of Kilwinning:—"Freemasonry in Scotland first made its appearance at Kilwinning, in Ayrshire, where a party of enthusiasts having landed from the continent in the twelfth century spread the knowledge of their mysteries gradually over the rest of the country by colonies termed lodges."

Yours fraternally,

D. P. OWEN, P.M. AND P.Z. 998.

MASONIC JURISPRUDENCE.

In answer to "Enquirer," we beg to say, on the best authority:—

1. Yes; frequently by the Board of General Purposes. He must serve for 12 consecutive months.
2. No, he must have served in an English lodge.
3. No. The appointment of all officers, except the Treasurer and Tyler, is in the hands of the W.M., and no one else.
4. No. The brother must be formally appointed as Warden by the W.M., and if present be installed.—[Ed.]

POLITICS.

The following letter appeared in the "Daily News" of May 1st:—

SIR,—During the week I have had sent me, in my capacity of Master of a Masonic Lodge, a circular from the National Union of Conservative and Constitutional Association, at Stephen's Chambers, Bridge-street, Westminster, and an accompanying address to Her Majesty for signature. The address was a twofold object—First it congratulates Her Majesty on the reception met with by her Royal son in her Indian Empire; and secondly, it expresses the satisfaction felt in learning that Her Majesty is about to be advised to assume the style of Empress of India. For the former object I should have no hesitation in presenting the address in my lodge for the signature of my brethren. But with regard to the latter object I am astounded at the impudence of these gentlemen—for I can call it nothing else—in asking me to make my Masonic position a vehicle for promoting their political ends, by procuring signatures to this address. It has always been our boast as Masons we know no sect or party, and however skilfully this matter may be put, it will undoubtedly lead, wherever it is adopted by Masters of lodges, to a violation on one of our foundation principles. I think this attempt at so gross an innovation should be shown up as it deserves, that Masons can see what Messrs. Gorst and Neville would do in order to promote their political views.

Yours truly,

Cardiff, April 28.

A W.M.

The following is the circular referred to:—

National Union of Conservative and Constitutional Associations, St. Stephen's Chambers, Bridge-street, Westminster, S.W., April, 1876.

SIR,—We are desired by the Council of the national Union to send you a copy of an address to Her Majesty which is being extensively signed in all parts of the country, and to request that if you approve of the same you would use your influence to promote its adoption in your neighbourhood. We shall be pleased to send further copies if required, and it is desirable that the address should be returned by the end of this month, when the Council will take the necessary steps for its due presentation.

Yours truly,

J. E. GORST, } Honorary
EDWARD NEVILLE, } Secretaries.

MASONIC PREFIXES.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

The corrections that have been made in the several letters that have appeared on this subject have sadly militated against the clearness with which it is desirable it should be placed before your readers. "Ad Rem," for example, in your last issue seems to have quite misapprehended the subject. Adopting his plan (a very good one) of connecting the prefixes with the list of officers on pages 18 to 20 of the Book of Constitutions the following would appear to be the proper designations of the various officers, as gathered from Bro. Hughan's researches:—

GRAND LODGE.

MOST WORSHIPFUL Nos. 1 to 4 inclusive.

RIGHT WORSHIPFUL Nos. 5 to 10 inclusive.

VERY WORSHIPFUL Nos. 11 to 20 inclusive.

WORSHIPFUL..... The remaining officers of Grand Lodge, also the actual Masters and subscribing Past Masters of every private lodge.

PROVINCIAL (OR DISTRICT) GRAND LODGES.

RIGHT WORSHIPFUL Only the Provincial (or District) Grand Masters, Past and Present, are entitled to this designation, by virtue of their office outside Grand Lodge.

No other officer of a Provincial (or District) Grand Lodge is entitled to any prefix whatever, save and except such as he claims by virtue of his position in Grand Lodge i.e., either as actual or past officer of Grand Lodge, or as being an actual Master or subscribing Past Master of a private lodge.

Yours fraternally,

Lux.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Mistakes having been made in both of Bro. W. J. Hughan's letters on this subject (which led to a mis-statement in mine of last week), and a portion of my letter having been omitted, I can only suppose they are printer's errors; anyway it leaves us much "as we were before we were." Under these circumstances I must ask leave to trespass on your space, in order that all the prefixes may, if possible, be correctly given at a glance, viz.:—

MOST WORSHIPFUL Nos. 1 to 4 inclusive.

RIGHT WORSHIPFUL Nos. 5 to 10 inclusive.

VERY WORSHIPFUL Nos. 11 to 20 inclusive.

WORSHIPFUL..... Nos. 21 to 34 inclusive, and the W. Masters, and Past Masters of all private lodges.

By referring to the "Constitutions," pp. 16 to 18, it will be seen that the list from which the above numbers are quoted includes both present and past Grand Officers. And as all Prov. G.M.'s are members of Grand Lodge, it is by their status therein that they acquire the prefix of "Right Worshipful"; or, in other words, with the sole exception of the Master of a private lodge, who is styled "Worshipful," the right of using a prefix is restricted to the appointments made by the M.W.G.M., for as M.M.'s (whose designation is "Brother" only) may be appointed to certain offices in Grand Lodge, or in a Prov. Grand Lodge, it is clear that

Office in Grand Lodge gives a prefix.
Office in a Prov. Grand Lodge does not give a prefix.
Now, will Bro. Hughan kindly say if all the above is correct?

Fraternally yours,

"AD REM."

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

My good friend and brother, "Ad Rem," having placed the whole matter in a nutshell, it is only needful now to look at the subject in such a small compass and conclude the correspondence.

Bro. "Ad Rem" says truly,

"Office in Grand Lodge gives a prefix (including Prov. G. Masters), office in Provincial Grand Lodge does not."
In reply to Bro. "Ad Rem's" fraternal request, and for the information of all interested, the following will be found in accordance with the circular of the late M.W. G.M., the Earl of Zetland, respecting Masonic designations. Book of Constitutions, re rank. Pages 16, &c. (edition 1873.)

Nos. 1 to 4, Most Worshipful.
Nos. 5 to 10, Right Worshipful.
Nos. 11 to 20, Very Worshipful.
Nos. 21 to end, Worshipful.

All officers appointed by Provincial Grand Masters are Worshipful brethren, if Masters or Past Masters, but not else.

Bro. R.W.O. asks a question which I have already virtually answered, but I will with pleasure accede to his wishes by referring to the subject at more length.

The authority for the Prov. G. Master to appoint a brother to office not officially a member of the Prov. G. Lodge, owing to being neither a Master, Past Master, nor Warden of a lodge in the province (though a contributing Master Mason therein), is conferred by the Book of Constitutions.

The Grand Master of England has the right by the Constitutions to appoint certain brethren to office, provided they are Master Masons (vide Constitutions, page 37, edit. 1873), and thereby the Prov. Grand Masters have a similar power.

In addition to the foregoing under the laws regulating Provincial Grand Lodges, certain officers are required to be either Masters, Past Masters, or present or past Wardens, viz., Deputy Provincial Grand Masters, Provincial Grand Wardens, and Provincial Grand Deacons respectively. The remainder have simply to be Master Masons. The rule to which Bro. R.W.O. alludes has reference to "Past Rank," which it is not in the power of any Provincial Grand Master or Lodge to confer.

Yours fraternally,

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN.

OFFICERS' JEWELS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In the lodge to which I belong (constituted 1765 under the old York regimine) several of the officers' jewels (silver) are different from those now worn.

The Past Master's is similar in design to the one now worn by the M.W.G.M., except that it has the blazing sun within the extended compasses instead of the irradiated eye. The Deacon's jewel is a winged Mercury bearing the caduceus; the Tyler's, a trowel.

Can any of your readers inform me whether these jewels were identified with the old York system, or are they, as I have reason to think, the recognized officers' jewels now worn under some other constitution.

Yours fraternally,

Lux.

THE SURREY MASONIC HALL CO., LIMITED.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Sir,—

From time to time I have noticed in your paper accounts of festivities at the Surrey Masonic Hall, Camberwell New-road, in which the directors of the above hall have figured prominently; but I have not noticed any attempt to make the company a commercial success. I have no doubt whatever that lodge meetings, balls, inaugural ceremonies, and other social reunions are very congenial to the tastes of the directors, and that their vanity is highly flattered by the prominent positions they occupied therein; but I should like to have answers to the following queries:—

(1.) What steps are being taken to prove the statement in the prospectus that the S.M.H. would be worthy of the attention of capitalists, as it would be a "remunerative investment?"

(2.) Is the hall completed? If so, has the directorate advertised it, or in any way informed entrepreneurs and caterers for public instruction and amusement that the hall not only existed, but was ready for public use?

(3.) Have any applications to hire the hall been received?

There are many who would be glad to be satisfied that the directors are doing their duty to the shareholders; and it would restore confidence if the above queries were satisfactorily replied to. Our money has been lying idle for the last three years, and it is high time that some return was made for our quasi-"remunerative investment."

I enclose my card, and am yours, &c.,

"A SHAREHOLDER."

SHEFFIELD MASONIC LIBRARY.

We have been requested to publish the following particulars with reference to the above:—

"Freemasons' Hall, Sheffield,
April 29th, 1876.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

We have much pleasure in handing to you, herewith, an account of the formation of a Masonic Library in connection with the three Sheffield Craft Lodges, and it is with deep feelings of satisfaction we call your attention to the distinguished patronage and liberal support which has been already accorded to the scheme. All under whose notice it has been hitherto brought, have heartily responded to the call, and promised to aid in furthering the cause. The Executive Committee, therefore, feel confident that in making this appeal to the members of the Craft in Sheffield and neighbourhood the funds will be considerably augmented—for although the full range of Masonic literature is not generally known to Masons, it is firmly believed that when a comprehensive Masonic library (such as we aim at) is placed within the reach of the brethren in Sheffield and neighbourhood, they will not be slow to avail themselves of the manifold advantages it offers. Should it, however, but serve to stimulate a few to penetrate deeper into the arcana of our mystic lore, and thus attain a knowledge of our society in its past, it cannot fail (whilst affording such members both pleasure and instruction) in leading them to make its present and future more glorious.

Any donation, or subscription, you may be pleased to give will be thankfully received and duly acknowledged by the Treasurer, or either of the Hon. Secs., who will at all times be happy to afford any further information in their power.

Commending the following pages to your careful perusal, and soliciting your hearty co-operation and support, we are, yours fraternally,

S. R. ELLIS, } Hon. Secs.
A. SCARGILL, }

The Sheffield Masonic Library is under the patronage of Lieut.-Col. Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., &c., &c., R.W. Prov. G.M. of West Yorks.; T. W. Tew, Esq., J.W., W. Dep. P.G.M. of West Yorks.; and Bentley Shaw, Esq., J.P., D.L., M.E. Prov. G. Supt. of the Royal Arch Masons of West Yorks.

PRESIDENT.—W. Bro. Henry Seebohm, P.M., F.Z.S.
VICE-PATRONS.—W. Bro. Henry Ecroyd, W.M. 296; W. Bro. Wm. J. Hughan, P.M., P.P.G. Sec. of Cornwall, Past Sen. Grand Deacon of England.

VICE-PRESIDENTS.—Britannia Lodge, No. 139; Royal Brunswick Lodge, 296; Wentworth Lodge, 1239; W. Bro. W. H. Brittain, P.M., P.P.J.G.W.; Bro. S. B. Ellis, S.W. 1239; Bro. Dr. Francis Griffiths; W. Bro. G. W. Hawksley, P.M.; W. Bro. H. Pawson, P.M.; Bro. Dr. Wm. R. Thomas, J.W. 1239.

TREASURER.—Bro. Dr. W. R. Thomas, J.W. 1239.
HON. SECS. AND LIBRARIANS.—Bro. S. B. Ellis, S.W. 1239; W. Bro. A. Scargill, P.M.

GENERAL COMMITTEE.—W. Bros. Robert Arnison, P.M.; A. J. Binney; Joseph Binney; Rev. E. B. Chalmers, M.A., P.M., P.P.G.C.; John Clark, S.D. 1239; Ensor Drury, P.M., P.P.J.G.W.; H. J. Garnett, P.M., P.P.G.S.B.; Rev. A. W. Hamilton, M.A., Mus. Bac., W.M., 139, P.P.G.C.; Alexander Hay, P.M., P.P.G.S.B.; Simeon Hayes, P.M.; Bro. William Jervis, S.W. 139; H. W. Loft-house; Henry Matthews, P.M.; Jno. F. Moss, P.M., Prov. G. Steward; Bro. W. Nicholson, J.W. 296; John Nixon; John Ridal, S.W. 296; W. Bros. W. Roddewig, P.M., P.P.G.D. of C.; F. M. Tindall, P.M.; Bro. G. E. Webster, J.W. 139; W. Bro. Wm. White, W.M. 1239.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE (Ex-officio).—President, Bro. H. Seebohm; Treasurer, Bro. Dr. W. R. Thomas; Hon. Secs. and Librarians, Bro. S. B. Ellis and A. Scargill, and Bro. Rev. E. B. Chalmers, H. J. Garnett, Dr. F. Griffiths, S. Hayes, and H. W. Loft-house.

The following is a copy, published by permission, of a letter received from Lieut.-Colonel Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., &c., &c., R.W. Prov. G.M. of West Yorks:—

"Pye Nest, near Halifax, Feb. 29th, 1876.

"My dear Sir and Brother,—

"I have great pleasure in enclosing my cheque for five guineas towards the intended Masonic Library for the use of our Sheffield brethren and their friends belonging to the Craft, and I need hardly say you have my hearty good wishes for the success of your very laudable project.

"Believe me to remain, yours faithfully and fraternally, (Signed) "HENRY EDWARDS.

"S. B. Ellis, Esq., S.W. 1239."

The following donations have been received:—R. W. Bro. Lieut.-Col. Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., &c., &c., £5 5s.; W. Bro. T. W. Tew, J.P., £2 2s.; W. Bro. Bentley Shaw, J.P., D.L., £3 3s.; W. Bro. Henry Ecroyd, £13 13s.; W. Bro. Wm. J. Hughan, £10 10s.; Britannia Lodge, No. 139, £5 5s.; Royal Brunswick Lodge, No. 296, £5 5s.; Wentworth Lodge, No. 1239, £5 5s.; W. Bro. W. H. Brittain, £5 5s.; Bro. S. B. Ellis, £5 5s.; Bro. Dr. F. Griffiths, £5 5s.; W. Bro. G. W. Hawksley, £5 5s.; W. Bro. H. Pawson, £5 5s.; W. Bro. H. Seebohm, £5 5s.; Bro. Dr. W. R. Thomas, £5 5s.; W. Bro. Alexander Hay, £2 2s.; W. Bro. A. Scargill, £2 2s.; W. Bro. F. M. Tindall, £2 2s.; W. Bro. Wm. White, £2 2s.; W. Bro. R. Arnison, £1 1s.; Bro. Joseph Binney, £1 1s.; Bro. John Clark, £1 1s.; Bro. H. W. Loft-house, £1 1s.; W. Bro. H. Matthews, £1 1s.; W. Bro. John F. Moss, £1 1s.; Bro. John Nixon, £1 1s.; W. Bro. Wm. Roddewig, £1 1s.; Bro. George E. Webster, £1 1s.; Bro. A. J. Binney, 10s. 6d.; W. Bro. H. J. Garnett, 10s. 6d.; W. Bro. Rev. A. W. Hamilton, 10s. 6d.

RESUME OF SCHEME.

The objects of the Sheffield Masonic Library are:—Primarily—The collection of Masonic Literature. Secondly —The Collection of General Literature. Thirdly—The organizing of a series of lectures to be delivered, and discussion papers to be read upon Freemasonry, and upon "The Hidden Mysteries of Nature and Science,"—after which lectures and papers it is desirable that discussions shall take place.

The various duties will be performed by an Executive Committee (see page 7), elected from and under the supervision of the General Committee and its officers (see pages 5 and 6). Lodges, chapters, or brethren giving 10 guineas shall become "Vice-Patrons" (for life); 5 guineas shall become "Vice-Presidents" (for life); 2 guineas shall become "Life Members;" 1 guinea shall become "Subscribers" (for the year in which given).

N.B.—Subscribers of one guinea for 2, 5, or 10 consecutive years, or contributing 2, 5, or 10 guineas within such respective periods, shall become Life Members, Vice-Presidents, or Vice-Patrons accordingly.

Donations, otherwise than in money, are taken at the valuation of the Executive Committee.

Works, &c., to be lent gratuitously to subscribing members of the three Sheffield Craft Lodges, and to members of the General Committee.

N.B.—Thus brethren in the neighbourhood, or from a distance, who qualify themselves by a donation or subscription, may participate in the advantages of the library.

LIST OF BOOKS.

Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of England, 1723, 1756, 1767, 1769, 1784, 1807, 1815-19, 1827, 1847, 1863, 1873; Constitution of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, 1848, 1873; Constitution of the Grand Lodge of Ireland, 1858; Constitution of the Grand Lodge of Kansas, 1869; Constitution of the Grand Lodge of Canada, 1861; Constitution of the United Grand Lodge of New York, 1851; Regulations of the Grand Chapter of England, 1823, 1873; Regulations of the Grand Chapter of Scotland, 1869; Regulations of the Grand Chapter of Ireland, 1873; Regulations of the Grand Chapter of Iowa, 1871; Constitutions of the Grand Mark Lodge of England and Wales, &c., 1872; Regulations of the Supreme Grand Council 33° England and Wales, &c., 1874; Regulations of the Grand Council of R. and S. Masters of Eng. & Wales, &c., 1874; Statutes of the Convent General, and of the Great Priory (K.T.) of England and Wales, &c., 1873; Statutes of Grand Conclave (K.T.) of England and Wales, 1853; Statutes of the Red Cross of Constantine Order, &c., of England and Wales, 1868; Statutes (and History) of the A. and P. Rite of Great Britain and Ireland, 1875; W. Yks. Prov. Grand Lodge Bye-Laws, W. Yks. Prov. Grand Royal Arch Chapter Bye-Laws, 1860; "Fac simile" of English Constitutions of 1722, "Old Constitutions," by the Rev. J. E. Cox, 1871; "Ahiman Rezon," (Dublin), 1817; "Fac simile" of Illuminated "Address presented to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, K.G., M.W.G.M., from the Freemasons of Sheffield, August, 1875"; Dr. Oliver's Institutes of Masonic Jurisprudence, Discrepancies of Freemasonry, Freemasons' Treasury, Pythagorean Triangle, or the Science of Numbers, Antiquities of Freemasonry, Book of the Lodge, Star in the East, Signs and Symbols, Golden Remains of Early Masonic Writers (vol. 2), On the Origin of the Royal Arch Degree, Theocratic Philosophy of Freemasonry; Preston's Illustrations of Freemasonry, 1772, 1801, 1804, 1812, 1821, 1846; Hughan's Masonic Sketches and Reprints, Hughan's List of Lodges at 1814 (at the Union of Antients and Moderns), Hughan's Old Charges of British Freemasons, Halliwell's Early History of Freemasonry in England, Cooke's History and Articles of Freemasonry, Murray Lyon on Freemasonry in Scotland, Origin of Freemasonry in New Jersey, History of Freemasonry (Scotch), 1804; Dr. Loth's Illustrations of Emblems, 1° to 33° inclusive; Callcott's Disquisition of Freemasonry, 1769; Cole's Illustrations of Freemasonry, 1821; Hales' Social Harmony, 1763; Coustons on Freemasonry and the Inquisition, 1746; Masonic Code of Alabama, Bailey's English Dictionary, about 1726; Smith's Use and Abuse of Freemasonry, 1785; Browne's Masonic Master-key, 1802; Bulletin of Supreme Council 33°, S.J., U.S.A., vols. 1 and 2; Freemasons' Quarterly Review, 21 vols., 1834 to 1854; Principles of Freemasonry, 1777; Freemasonry—"A Word to the Wise," 1796; Historical Sketch of the "Society of the Sons of St. George," Report of the Masonic Board of Chicago, 1872; Yarker's Speculative Freemasonry, Moore's "Epicurean," Woodruff's New York Masonic Code, Life of Constantine, by Eusebius, from the Greek; Red Cross Order—Calendars of, 1868 to 1873; Dr. Mackey's Lexicon of Freemasonry, Dr. Mackey's American Quarterly (Masonic) Review, Mackenzie's Royal Masonic Cyclopaedia, Kenning's (Woodford's) Cyclopaedia of Freemasonry, Fort's Early History and Antiquities of Freemasonry, Findel's History of Freemasonry, Memorial vol. of the Masonic Temple of Philadelphia (with photographs, &c.), Hutchinson's Spirit of Freemasonry, 1775; Dallaway's "Architecture," Secret Societies of the Middle Ages, 1837; Heckethorn's "Secret Societies of All Ages and Countries," American Masonic Register, Universal Masonic Record, Cosmopolitan Masonic Calendars, 1871 to 1876; Webb's Masonic Monitor (with Dr. Oliver's autograph), 1805; "Solomon in all his Glory," Ashe's Masonic Manual, 1825; Ashe's Masonic Manual, edited by Rev. J. E. Cox, 1870; Addison's History of the Knights' Templar, 1842; Elements of Freemasonry, 1788; The "Locke" Pamphlet (on Freemasonry), 1753; "Masonic Magazine," vols. 1, 2, 3; "Rosicrucian Magazine," vols. 1 and 2; The "Freemason," from commencement; Bell's History and Bye-Laws of Prov. G. Lodge of the N. and E. Ridings of Yorks, Dendy's Philosophy of Mystery, Kingston Masonic Annual, 1871; Paton's "Origin of Freemasonry; or the 1717 Theory Exploded," Paton's "Freemasonry in relation to Civil Authority," &c.; Three Masonic Sermons by the Rev. W. J. Percy, Reflected Rays of Light upon Freemasonry, Lord Bacon on "Learning," 1640; Freemasons' Pocket Companion (London), 1764; Freemasons' Pocket Companion (Edinburgh), 1765; History of the Washington Lodge, 1783-1876; Arnold's Philosophical History of Freemasonry and other Secret Societies, An Address to the Duke of Athol on the subject of the Union, 1804; "Life of Pythagoras, with his Symbols and Golden Verses; also the Life of Hierocles, and his Commentaries upon the Verses," 1707; Robinson's "Proofs of a Conspiracy against Religions and Governments in the Secret Meetings of Freemasons, Illuminati, and Reading Societies, Dublin, 1798; numerous Reports of Proceedings of English and Foreign Grand Lodges, Chapters, Charity Committees, &c., &c.; old numbers of English and American Masonic Magazines, Masonic Essays, Manuals, Sermons, Lectures, &c.; Histories and Bye-Laws of Lodges.

IN FRENCH.—Les Franc-Maçons, 1747; Varrentrapp's History, &c., of Freemasonry, 1744; Rebold's Histoire des Tres Grandes Loges, 1864.

IN SPANISH.—Los Comenidos de Castilla, 1842.

IN GERMAN.—Marbach—"Agenda" (on the Craft and Royal Arch Degrees); "Sarsena"—(History and Origin of Freemasonry); "Signet Star," 15 vols.; A Revelation of Freemasonry; "Freymaurerisch Versammlungsrede n der Gold und Rosenkreutzer des alten Systems"—Amsterdam, 1779; Kloss's Bibliographie der Freimaurerei und der mit ihr in Verbindung gesetzten geheimen Gesellschaften Systematisch zusammengestellt—Frankfurt-a-M. 1844.

Whilst referring, with some degree of pleasure, to the foregoing list of books already in our possession, the Executive Committee can only regard it as a nucleus, and, as such, a powerful incentive to further exertions.

S. B. ELLIS, Hon. Secs.
and
A. SCARGILL, Librarians.

PRESENTATION TO DR. W. P. MILLS, P.M., BY LODGE 376.

A very gratifying presentation was made at the Masonic Hall, Ipswich, to Dr. W. P. Mills, who for many years has acted as Treasurer of the Perfect Friendship Lodge. The lodge was well attended, amongst those present being the officers of the lodge:—Bros. J. H. Staddon, W.M.; H. Sidney, S.W.; A. Read, J.W.; H. Luff, Sec.; J. G. Churchyard, S.D.; W. B. Jeffries, J.D.; W. T. Westgate, D.C.; W. Green, I.G.; Past Masters W. J. Jack, N. Tracy, J. A. Pettit, J. B. Fraser, A. Gamman, W. Spalding, W. A. Elliston. The British Union Lodge was represented by Bros. C. F. Long, P.M.; W. Boby, P.M.; A. D. George, P.M.; St. Luke's Lodge by Bros. W. Daking, S.W.; A. C. Barber, P.M.; and others; the Prince of Wales Lodge by Bros. F. Bennett; W. Clarke, J.W.; D. D. Steele, and others. Amongst the members of the Perfect Friendship Lodge were Bros. F. Fisher, L. Callaway, T. Hooper, T. R. Elkington, A. Cannon, W. H. Spicer, S. R. Anness, R. Anness, W. R. Davis, H. G. Bishop, H. D. Harrison; and others. The presentation consisted of an illuminated address, beautifully executed by Miss Tracy, together with a drawing-room clock and pair of ornaments, all enclosed under glass shades. The clock, an eight-day one, and the ornaments are made of ormolu and enamel, and have medallions very richly painted, representing hunting scenes. The articles, which are valued at 40 guineas, were supplied by J. B. (Messrs. R. D. and J. B. Fraser), and were much admired by the brethren.

The address was as follows:—"To W. P. Mills, M.D., P.M., P.P.S.G.W. Suffolk. Dear Sir and Brother,—We, the Worshipful Master, Wardens, Past Masters, and brethren of the Perfect Friendship Lodge of Freemasons, No 376, beg your acceptance of the accompanying time-piece, and ornaments, as a slight token of the high estimation of the many valuable services rendered our lodge, especially as Treasurer during a period of 26 years. Wishing you long life and happiness, We subscribe ourselves, Yours fraternally."

(Here follow the signatures of the W.M. and present officers and Past Masters and brethren of the lodge.)

Upon a gilt plate within the shade of the clock was the following inscription:—"Presented by the brethren of Lodge Perfect Friendship, No. 376, to W. P. Mills, M.D., P.M., P.P.S.G.W. Suffolk, as a mark of esteem and in recognition of his services as Treasurer for twenty-six years." After the passing of two brethren and the initiation of Mr. W. Roe, the presentation was made by the W.M., Bro. J. H. Staddon, who in a most felicitous speech expressed the obligations the brethren were under to their worthy Treasurer for acting in that capacity for the long period of twenty-six years, and asked his acceptance of the scroll, ornaments, and timepiece. Bro. Mills suitably responded, and stated his inability to sufficiently express his thanks to the brethren for their handsome and unexpected presentation. The lodge having been closed in due and ancient form, the brethren retired to the banqueting room, and about fifty sat down to supper.

INFANT ORPHAN ASYLUM WANSTEAD.—The anniversary meeting of this excellent charity will be held at Wanstead, on the 29th June. Bro. the Earl of Shrewsbury will preside on this occasion.

HAVE THE REMEDY WITHIN YOUR REACH.—Nothing has yet equalled the efficacy of Holloway's Balsamic Pills in checking disease and restoring vigour to the human body. They root out all impurities from the blood, and regulate and invigorate every organ. Immense care is taken to secure the genuine preparation to the public, that no disappointment may be caused to invalids seeking health by Holloway's medicines. Their composition, and careful packing, prevent the impairment of their virtues by time, sea voyage, or climate. They never gripe, or cause inconvenience. In disturbances of the system, disorders of the digestive apparatus and derangements of the bowels, these Pills exercise an almost magical power, which conquers disease safely, quickly, conveniently and cheaply.—Advr.

FREEMASONRY AND ROMAN CATHOLICISM.

The funeral of Permanent Sergeant Nagle, of the Second West York Yeomanry, took place at Stoney Road Cemetery, Halifax, in the presence of a very large concourse of people. Deceased died at the Halifax Infirmary, after a protracted illness caused by a cancer in the tongue. The funeral cortege assembled at the infirmary, and was composed of nearly all the members of the H Squadron of the Second West York Yeomanry, and a large number of artillery and rifle volunteers. Several of the militia staff and pensioners were also present, and the band of the regiment with which the deceased was connected played the Dead March in "Saul." At the cemetery the Rev. Father Geary performed the funeral ceremony, and at the close of the service in the chapel announced that deceased had been a Freemason, but in order to die in the faith of the Roman Catholic Church he had, previous to his death, renounced his connection with Freemasonry. The usual firing over the grave took place, after which the crowds dispersed.

BRO. HUBERT AND THE CHAÎNE D'UNION.

We have been requested to publish the following:—
Paris, le 17 Avril, 1876.

M. Hubert, rédacteur en chef de la "Chaîne d'Union, Journal de la Franc-maçonnerie Universelle," me prie de faire savoir à ses amis et abonnés que, par suite d'un accident qui lui est arrivé, le 13 Avril, en montant en omnibus, il s'est fracturé une jambe et se trouve provisoirement empêché de publier son journal. Il compte sur la sympathie de ses abonnés pour accepter ce retard forcé, et leur promet qu'aussitôt qu'il pourra se lever, il complètera les numéros restés en arrière et reprendra sa publicité régulière.

M. Hubert invite ses correspondants à continuer de lui adresser leurs documents et notes, rue de la Vielle-Estrapade, 9, afin, qu'ils puissent être transmis à l'imprimerie, composés de suite et coordonnés dès que la santé du rédacteur le lui permettra.

Les amis de M. Hubert, que voudraient lui rendre visite, pourront le voir à partir de 10 heures du matin jusqu'à 5 heures et demie du soir inclusivement, en s'adressant à la Maison de santé du faubourg Saint-Denis (Hospice Dubois), escalier A, au 28, côté des hommes, chambre No. 14, où il est actuellement alité.

Pour M. HUBERT, empêché,
A. PARENT, imprimeur de la "Chaîne d'Union."

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, May 12, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, MAY 6.

Gen. Com. Boys' School, at 4.
Lodge 1194, Villiers, Grotto Hot., Twickenham.
" 1559, New Cross, New Cross Hall, S.E.
Precep. 127, Bard of Avon, Hampton Court.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Percy, 113, Southgate-rd., N.
Manchester, 179, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross Road.

MONDAY, MAY 8.

Lodge 5, St. George's and Corner Stone, F.M.H.
" 136, Good Report, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
" 193, Confidence, Anneton's Hot., Fleet-st.
" 957, Leigh, F.M.H.
" 1366, Highgate, Gatehouse Hot., Highgate.
Chap. 720, Panmure, Horns Tav., Kennington.
" 1118, University, F.M.H.
" 1319, Asaph, F.M.H.
Rose Croix Chap., Holy Sanctuary, 33, Golden-sq.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
West Kent, St. Saviour's College, Forest-hill.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, MAY 9.

Lodge 46, Old Union, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
" 167, St. John's, Holly Bush Tav., Hampstead.
" 211, St. Michael's, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 541, Wellington, White Swan Tav., Deptford.
" 1269, Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Mark Lodge 1, St. Mark's, M.H., Masons' Avenue.
Supreme Grand Council, 33, 33, Golden-sq.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Frodo. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatsheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.

Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone, at 8.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 10.

Anniversary Festival R.M.I. for Girls, F.M.Tav.—See Advt.
Com. R.M.B.I., at 3.
Lodge 3, Fidelity, F.M.H.
" 13, Union Waterloo, M.H., Woolwich.
" 15, Kent, F.M.H.
" 708, Carnarvon, Mitre Inn, Hampton Court.
" 781, Merchant Navy, Silver Tav., Burdett-rd., E.
" 820, Lily of Richmond, Greyhound, Richmond.
" 1017, Montefiore, F.M.H.
" 1228, Beacontree, Private Room, Leytonstone.
" 1306, St. John of Wapping, Gun Tav., Wapping.
" 1503, Francis Burdett, Albany Hot., Twickenham.
Supreme Grand Council, 30° and 33°, 33, Golden-sq.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Mount Edgecumbe, 19, Jermyn-street, St. James's.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.

THURSDAY, MAY 11.

Lodge 19, R. Athelstan, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 91, Regularity, F.M.H.
" 263, Bank of England, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 657, Canonbury, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 879, Southwark, Southwark Park Tav.
" 1076, Capper, Marine Hot., Victoria Dock.
" 1216, Macdonald Hd.-qtrs. 1st Surrey Rifles.
" 1288, Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav.
" 1321, Emblematic, Tulse Hill Hot., Tulse Hill.
" 1471, Islington, Cock Tav., Highbury.
" 1558, Duke of Connaught, Surrey M.H.
" 1599, Skelmersdale, Masons' Hall, Basinghall-st.
K.T. Precep. 45, Temple Crossing, Bridge House Hot.
" 117, New Temple, The Inner Temple, London.
Prov. Grand Lodge, R.S.Y.C.S. at 3 o'clock. 33, Golden-sq.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albion-rd., Dalston.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.

FRIDAY, MAY 12.

Lodge 33, Britannic, F.M.H.
" 134, Caledonian, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 157, Bedford, F.M.H.
" 1420, Earl Spencer, Northcote Hot., S.W.
Chap. 6, Friendship, Willis's Rooms, King-st., W.
K.T. Precep. 26, Faith and Fidelity, Terminus Hot.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
St. George's, Globe Tav., Royal-hill, Greenwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Metropolitan, Pentonville-road.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, Commercial Tav., King's-road, Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Coutts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday April 13, 1876.

MONDAY, MAY 8.

Lodge 314, Peace and Unity, Militia Mess R., Preston.
" 613, Unity, Palatine Buildings, Southport.
" 703, Clifton, Clifton Hot., Blackpool.
" 1021, Hartington, H.M., C.H.B., B.-in-Furness.
" 1350, Fernor Hesketh, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1398, Baldwin Castle, Dalton-in-Furness.
" 1496, Trafford, Northumberland Hot., Old Trafford.
Chap. 148, Elias Ashmole, C.R., Warrington.
Mark Lodge, 165, Bedford H., Bedford-rd., Rock Ferry.

TUESDAY, MAY 9.

Lodge 179, Antiquity, Royal Hot., Wigan.
" 241, Merchants, M.H. Liverpool.
" 1250, Gilbert Greenall, M.R., Warrington.
" 1325, Stanley, M.H., Kirkdale.
" 1384, Equity, Commercial Hot., Widnes.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 10.

- Lodge 281, Fortitude, the Athenaeum, Lancaster.
 " 1052, Callender, P.H., Rusholme.
 " 1061, Triumph, M.H., Lytham.
 " 1094, Temple, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1356, De Grey and Ripon, 80, N. Hill-st.
 " 1403, West Lancashire, Commercial Hot., Ormskirk.
 " 1547, Liverpool, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1345, Victoria, Cross Keys Hot., Eccles.
 Neptune L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, MAY 11.

- Lodge 216, Harmonic, Adelphi Hot., Liverpool.
 " 333, Royal Preston, Vic., Garrison Hot., Fulwood.
 " 477, Mersey, 55, Argyle-st., Birkenhead.
 " 786, Croxteth, United Service, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1035, Prince of Wales, Kirkdale, Liverpool.
 " 1182, Duke of Edinburgh, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1213, Bridgewater, Cross Keys Hot., Eccles.
 Chap. 220, Harmony, Garston Hot., Garston.
 Mariners' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, MAY 12.

- Lodge 1280, Rock, Bedford House, Rock Ferry.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, May 13, 1876.
 All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, MAY 8.

- Lodge 102, St. Mark, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 204, St. Paul, George Inn, Ayr.
 " 205, Gartland St. Winnoch, Eagle, Lochwinnoch.
 " 219, Star, 12, Trongate, Glasgow.
 " 307, Union and Crown, M.H., Barrhead.
 " 362, St. Clair, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.
 " 384, Athole, Kirkintilloch, Washington Hot.
 " 403, St. George, Oddfellows' Hall, Helensburgh.
 " 541, Marie Stuart, M.H., Crosshill.
 " 579, St. Bryde, M.H., Uddingston.

TUESDAY, MAY 9.

- Lodge 177, St. James, Old Monkland, M.H., Coatbridge.
 " 230, St. Barnabas, Black Bull Hot., New Cumnock.
 " 413, Athole, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 419, Neptune, 35, St. James-st., Kingston.
 " 426, Prince of Wales, M.H., Renfrew.
 " 441, Glasgow, 22, Struthers-st., Calton, Glasgow.
 " 543, St. John, M.H., Dalmuir.
 Chap. 69, St. Andrew's, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 10.

- Lodge 178, Scotia, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 179, St. Mungo, London Hot., Mauchline.
 " 333, St. George, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 510, Maryhill, 167, Main-st., Maryhill.
 Chap. 113, Partick, M.H., Partick.

THURSDAY, MAY 11.

- Lodge 88, New Monkland, T.H., Airdrie.
 " 109, St. Marnock, T.H., Kilmarnock.
 " 203, St. John's, Olive H., Airdrie.
 " 290, Dalry Blair, White Hart H., Dalry.
 " 570, Kenmuir, M.H., Springburn.
 Chap. 50, Glasgow, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.

FRIDAY, MAY 12.

- Lodge 18, Dumbarton, Mission Hall, Dumbarton.
 " 170, St. John, Black Bull Inn, Renton.
 " 399, Royal Blues, Commercial Hot., Kilbirnie.
 " 427, St. Clair, M.H., Garngad-rd., Glasgow.
 Chap. 144, St. Rollox, M.H., Garngad-rd., Glasgow.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, May 13, 1876.

MONDAY, MAY 8.

- Lodge 145, St. Stephen, Writers' Court, Edinburgh.

TUESDAY, MAY 9.

- Lodge 1, Mary's Chapel, Waterloo-place.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 10.

- Lodge 2, Canongate Kilwinning, St. John's Chapel.

- Chap. 1, Edinburgh, F.M.H., George-st.

THURSDAY, MAY 11.

- Lodge 8, Journeyman, M.H., High-st.

FRIDAY, MAY 12.

- Chap. 56, Canongate, M.H., John-st.

To the Nobility, County Families, and Gentry.

THE PRINCE'S GATE HOTEL.

19, CROMWELL PLACE, S.W.,

(Opposite South Kensington Station).

PRIVATE HOTEL.

Easy access to all parts of Town, ten minutes of Hyde Park and Albert Hall. Unsurpassed in London for elegance of appointments, replete with every convenience rendering the House an

EXCEPTIONALLY ATTRACTIVE AND REFINED HOME.

TERMS PER WEEK:

Single Rooms from 3½ to 5 Guineas.
 Double Rooms from 6 to 9 Guineas.
 Private Sitting Rooms from 3 Guineas. Per day from Half-guinea.
 Charges for Visitors, Luncheon 2s. 6d. Dinner 5s. Supper à la Carte.

Gas in Bedrooms, Special Bath, and meals served in Bed-rooms at irregular hours extra as per tariff. There is an ascending room to the top of the house.

Complete tariff on application to the PROPRIETOR.

ESTABLISHED 1871.

COCKBURN'S UNITED SERVICE AGENCY SOCIETY.

The attention of the United Grand Lodge of England, Grand Lodges, Colonial Board, Committee of Management, Provincial Grand Masters, District Grand Masters, Grand Stewards, W.M.'s, and brethren are specially directed to the facilities and advantages afforded by

COCKBURN'S UNITED SERVICE AGENCY SOCIETY.

for the safe remittance of money to the principal cities and towns of the United Kingdom, the Continent, India, Colonies, and all parts of the world.

GUARANTEED COCKBURN'S CHEQUES can be cashed by Lodges, Brethren, Residents, and Travellers, at Continental, Foreign, and Colonial Banks, at the current rate of exchange.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

The Originators and first starters, in 1871, of the CHEQUE BANK system, of small cheques in lieu of POST-OFFICE ORDERS, are PREPARED to TAKE UP the work of the CHEQUE BANK on its now winding-up, and not only to grant GUARANTEED cheques, which may be cashed without difficulty all over the world, but also to ALLOW 2½ PER CENT. INTEREST annually, at Christmas, on the minimum monthly balances in even £10 of all accounts then open with them.

Absolute Security Ensured, and an immense saving of time and money.

For all information, circulars, and catalogues, apply to the Head Office, 41, Haymarket, London, S.W.

MAY ELECTION, 1876.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

—The Votes and Interest of the Governors and Subscribers are most earnestly solicited on behalf of

ELIZA BLACKBURN.

Widow of the late William Blackburn, formerly of the Robert Burns Lodge, No. 25, in which he was initiated in 1844; joined the Lodge of Confidence, No. 103, in 1848, and served the office of Master in 1850; joined the Globe Lodge, No. 23, in 1848, and served the office of Master in 1851; joined the Crystal Palace Lodge, No. 743, in 1858, and acted as Secretary thereof for eight years; joined the Doble Lodge Surrey, No. 889, in 1863, and was appointed Provincial Grand S.B. for Surrey in 1866. He was exalted in the Robert Burns Chapter, No. 25, in 1846, was elected Treasurer of the said chapter, and served the office of First Principal in 1844; joined the Prudence Chapter, No. 12, in 1858, and served the office of Scribe E. from that time to 1873; and joined the Mount Lebanon Chapter, No. 435, in 1863, of which he was Scribe E., and retained that office till he was elected an Annuitant and Inmate of the Royal Masonic Institution in 1873. Your Petitioner is allowed to remain in the apartments occupied by her late husband for a brief period according to the laws, her only means of support being the annuity formerly enjoyed by him.

The case is strongly recommended by Bro. G. F. Newmarch, Dep. G.M. for Gloucestershire, and V.P. of the Institution, Cirencester.

Æ. McIntyre, Q.C., Grand Registrar, 3, Middle Temple-lane.
 Henry Browne, P.G.D., Upper Tooting.
 Raynham W. Stewart, P.G.D., 11, Abchurch-lane.
 J. Brett, P.G.P., P.M. 177, Old Jewry.
 R. Spencer, P.G.S., P.M. 263, 26, Fentiman-road, Clapham-rd.
 J. T. Bennett, P.G.S., 23, No. 12, Pall Mall.
 W. Watson, P.G.S. Grand Stewards' Lodge, 42, Drury-lane.
 H. J. Strong, M.D., P. Prov. G.W. Surrey, P.M. 452, 463, P.Z. 463, and V.P. of the Institution, No. 64, North End, Croydon.

R. Cartwright, P.P.G.S.W. Surrey, P.M. 889, Kingston.
 W. Pearce, P. Prov. G. Reg. Surrey, P.M. 889, No. 2, Dr. Johnson's Buildings, Temple.

T. Long, Prov. G.D.C. Surrey, P.M. 889, Kingston.
 J. B. Lemaitre, P.M., 12, P.Z. 12, No. 30, Chiswell-street.
 L. Ruf, P.M. and Treas. 12, P.Z. and Treas. 12, Lowther Arcade.

W. Rumsey, P.M. 206, No. 8, London-street.
 C. Smithers, No. 100, Leadenhall-street.

H. T. Thompson, P.M. 742, Augusta Cottage, Nightingale-rd., Lower Clapton.

C. Painter, 190, No. 130, Leadenhall-street.

By whom Proxies will be thankfully received, also by the applicant, Eliza Blackburn, 7, Royal Masonic Institution, East Croydon.

FOR FISH.

Try GOW

FOR POULTRY.

Try GOW.

FOR GAME.

Try GOW

FOR BARRELLED OYSTERS.

Try GOW.

J. GOW.

1, HONEY-LANE MARKET, CHEAPSIDE.

Special quotations to large consumers, Hotels, Caterers, &c.

Country Orders promptly executed.

ONE ORDER WILL SECURE FUTURE PATRONAGE

A MASONIC GEM.—The Engraver of the Medal Dies cut for the Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of Canada, to commemorate the Union, begs to call the attention of the brethren to a most faithful and speaking likeness of H.R.H. in Masonic vestiture, encircled in plume border, with appropriate inscription, which he has just completed, and is specially suitable at the present time for embossing on Ball Tickets, Cards of Invitation, Presentation, Menu's, or anything connected with the Order. The Proprietor will be happy to treat with the members of lodges for stamping in any quantities or styles, or should a lodge desire to become sole possessor of this little gem, would be willing to dispose of Die, "which is registered." Impressions of the same can be seen at the office of the "Freemason," by applying to Mr. George Kenning, or to the Engraver, H. W. Rawlins, 25, Little Bell Alley, E.C., where impressions of Medal Dies above referred to can also be seen.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE COMPANY

(Limited), 7, Bank Buildings, Lothbury, E.C.
 General Accidents. Personal Injuries.
 Railway Accidents. Deaths by Accident.

C. HARDING, Manager.

RAILWAY ACCIDENTS.

A RAILWAY ACCIDENT to any particular person is a (theoretically) remote contingency; but as it may happen, as a matter of fact, the very next journey undertaken, and as the sum at which it will be seen the risk (in a pecuniary sense) may be extinguished FOR LIFE is almost absurdly small, it is not too much to say that the insurance is an OBVIOUS DUTY in the case of most travellers. £1000 if killed, with liberal all-wances if injured, for a single payment of £3, covering the whole life. Smaller amounts in proportion.—RAILWAY ACCIDENT MUTUAL ASSURANCE COMPANY (Limited). RESERVE FUND AND GUARANTEE, £14,700. No. 42, Poultry, London.—For Forms, &c., apply to Mr. W. Burr, F.S.S., Manager.

GRAND DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES, ON THE ART UNION PRINCIPLE.

The Galashiels St. John's Lodge of Freemasons, No. 262, have much pleasure in intimating to the Masonic Craft and the public in general, that they will give a Grand Distribution of Prizes in the Public Hall, Galashiels, on Friday, 30th June, at Seven o'clock, p.m. The proceeds to be devoted to the building of a new Masonic Hall.

TICKETS ONE SHILLING EACH.

Drawing on Friday, June 30th. Winning Numbers will be published in the "Freemason" of July 8th, and the "Scotman" and "Border Advertiser" of Wednesday, the 5th of July, 1876.

The following are a few of the Principal Prizes:—

A Cottage Piano, in Walnut, 7 Octaves, value	31 10 0
A Harmonium, in Walnut, 8 stops, 5 Octaves	16 18 0
Both supplied by Paterson & Sons, George-st., Edinburgh.
Gentleman's Gold English Lever Watch	14 0 0
Nickel Silver Tea Set	7 10 0
Singer's Sewing Machine	6 10 0
Lady's Gold Watch	5 5 0
Gent's Silver Lever Watch	5 5 0
Gold Albert Chain	4 15 0
Lady's Silver Watch	2 10 0
Sofa, in Haircloth	5 0 0
Easy Chair, in Haircloth	3 10 0
Lady's Black Silk Dress	4 0 0
Model Ship	4 0 0
20lb. Box Fine Tea	3 5 0
Lady's Work Table	3 0 0
16-day Time piece, in Marble	2 15 0
Length Suit of Tweed	1 12 0
Gentleman's Writing Desk	1 10 0
Lady's Workbox	1 5 0
Set Gold Earrings	0 14 0

Also a large number of other Prizes, consisting of every description of useful, ornamental, and fancy goods, will be given away. Bro. Thomson, R.W.M., recommends the above to the Craft and the Public as being really worth the value put upon them.

RUPTURES—BY ROYAL LETTERS PATENT. WHITE'S MOC-MAIN LEVER TRUSS.

Is allowed by upwards of 500 Medical Men to be the most effective invention in the curative treatment of HERNIA. The use of a steel spring, so often harmful in its effects, is here avoided; a soft bandage being worn round the body, while the requisite resisting power is supplied by the MOC-MAIN PAD and PATENT LEVER, fitting with so much ease and closeness that it cannot be detected, and may be worn during sleep. A descriptive circular may be had, and the Truss, which cannot fail to fit, forwarded by post, on the circumference of the body, two inches below the hips being sent to the MANUFACTURER, Mr. WHITE, 228, Piccadilly, London.

Price of a Single Truss, 16s., 21s., 26s. 6d. and 31s. 6d. Postage free
 " of a Double Truss, 31s. 6d., 42s. and 52s. 6d. Postage free
 " of Umbilical Truss, 42s. and 52s. 6d. Postage free.
 Post Office Orders to be made payable to JOHN WHITE, Post Office Piccadilly.

NEW PATENT ELASTIC STOCKINGS, KNEECAPS, &c.

The material of which these are made is recommended by the faculty as being peculiarly ELASTIC and COMPRESSIBLE and the best invention for giving efficient and permanent support in all cases of WEAKNESS, VARICOSE VEINS, &c. Price 4s. 6d., 7s. 6d., 10s., and 16s. each. Postage free.

CHEST EXPANDING BRACES.

(For both sexes). For gentlemen they are a substitute for the ordinary braces. For children they are invaluable; they prevent stooping and preserve the symmetry of the chest. Prices, for children, 5s. 6d. and 7s. 6d.; adults, 10s. 6d., 15s. 6d. and 21s. each. Postage free. And Every Description of Surgical Appliances.

JOHN WHITE, Manufacturer, 228 Piccadilly, London.

FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE, the

Original and Only Genuine, immediately Relieves and Cures Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Neuralgia, Spasms, Colic, Whooping Cough, and all Nerve Pain. It acts like a charm in Diarrhoea, and is the only specific in Cholera and Dysentery. It rapidly relieves pain from whatever cause, soothes and strengthens the system under exhausting diseases, and gives quiet and refreshing sleep. (Numerous testimonials accompany each bottle.)

Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice James, Lord Justice Mellish, and Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davyport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. See Times of July 24, 1873. Bottles 1s. 1½d., 2s. 9d., 4s. 6d., 11s., and 20s. Sold by all chemists.

The following testimonial is one out of many:—
 From G. F. SMITH, Esq., Manager Licensed Victuallers' Pure Test Company.

9, Curtain-road, London, E.C., Sept. 21, 1875.
 Sir,—I have taken your invaluable "Chlorodyne," (especially in the winter time) for some years. When I was advised first to use Chlorodyne I procured some of Collis Browne's. It did me no good whatsoever, I then bought some of your preparation. I firmly believe (under God) that it has been the means of prolonging my life, am affected (or rather was affected) with severe "Winter Cough," at now, when supplied with your incomparable specific, I defy my old enemy, and drive him out of the system.

I know nothing personally of you, Sir, nor, for that matter, of Mr. Collis Browne; but I know, that his preparation of Chlorodyne does me no good whatsoever, and it is with deep gratitude to you that I now pass my winters free from cough, and in comfort.

To Mr. RICHARD FREEMAN.
 None genuine without the words, "Freeman's Original Chlorodyne," engraved on the Government Stamp.

Numerous Testimonials from the most eminent medical men accompany each bottle.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry.....	209
Royal Arch.....	211
Knights' Templar.....	211
Scotland.....	212
Sir Henry Edwards Visit to the Girls' School.....	212
Reception of our Royal Grand Master at Portsmouth.....	213
Ancient and Primitive Masonry.....	215
Testimonial and Dinner to Bro. Wm. Herbage.....	215
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.....	215
Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution.....	215
Welcome Home again!.....	216
No Politics.....	216
The Proposed Masonic Library at Sheffield.....	216
The Triumph of Intolerance.....	217
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Bro. Lux and Officers' Jewels.....	217
What Next? Indeed!.....	217
Discontinuance of the "Freemason".....	217
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys.....	218
Regalia.....	218
Masonic Orphan Girls' School, Dublin.....	218
Consecration of a Lodge at Pontypool.....	218
Masonic Notes and Queries.....	218
Royal Masonic Institution for Girls—Annual Festival.....	219
Masonic and General Tidings.....	221
Obituary.....	221
Presentation to Bro. J. P. Ball.....	221
Masonic Meetings for the Week.....	223
Advertisements.....	i. ii. iii. iv. v. vi.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

FAITH LODGE (No. 141).—The last meeting of the season of this popular City lodge was held at Anderson's Hotel, Fleet-street, on Tuesday, the 25th ult. The lodge was convened at half-past four in the afternoon, when there were present Bros. Waygood, W.M.; Kennett, I.P.M.; Themans, P.M.; Hopwood, P.M., W.M. 1512, acting S.W.; Walls, acting J.W.; Dairry, J.D., acting S.D.; Rumbold, W.S., acting I.G. The officers present later in the evening were Bros. Stuart, P.M., Sec.; Carter, P.M., Treas.; Taylor, P.M.; Davis, S.W.; Mallett, J.W.; Bye, I.G. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The W.M. having raised Bros. Ginz and Manley to the Third Degree, vacated the chair, and Bro. Hopwood, P.M., by his permission, raised Bro. Kendall. Bros. Smith and Leftley being candidates for the Second Degree were accordingly passed as F.C.'s by the W.M., who afterwards initiated Mr. Barrett. The question of holding a summer banquet having been discussed the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet. The visitors were Bros. Simmonds, P.M. 141, 554, and W.M. 1159; Joseph Wright, P.M. 1158, and W.M. of the Royal Commemoration; Tully, 209; Stichling, Zetland; Cook, Royal Union; Heffer, Southern Star; Cousins, Yarrowborough; Barrett, Star of the East. Upon the removal of the cloth the W.M. briefly gave the usual toasts of ceremony, which were duly honoured, and Bro. Walls having sung the National Anthem, "The Health of the W.M." was warmly proposed by Bro. Taylor, P.M., in the absence of the I.P.M. In concluding his remarks he called upon the brethren on that occasion to give the toast every honour as they were about to separate for many months, and that when they again assembled the W.M.'s reign would be almost over, and he therefore desired the brethren to give Bro. Waygood such a parting "fire" as his indomitable perseverance in endeavouring to surmount many obstacles that stood in his Masonic progress so thoroughly deserved at their hands. It is, perhaps, but needless to say that after such an address the toast was most heartily drunk. The W.M., in reply, thanked Bro. Taylor for the kind manner in which he had introduced the toast, and the brethren for the warmth with which it had been received, and briefly touched upon his long connection with the lodge, and the services he had humbly endeavoured to render it. In conclusion he told them that during the long summer recess he should look back to that meeting with pleasure, and with a hope that they would all meet again in September in the full possession of good health, and of every domestic prosperity. The initiate, Bro. Barrett, having been toasted, made an excellent reply. In proposing "The Health of the Visitors" the W.M. took occasion to mention that one of the visiting brethren that evening, Bro. Simmonds, had passed the chair in that lodge nearly thirty years ago, and was W.M. of 1159, at the present time, proving that his zeal for Freemasonry had not abated. They had also, he said, another very hard working brother present on that occasion in the person of Bro. J. Wright, P.M., whose attention to the ancient Craft was pretty well known to them all. The W.M. in conclusion also mentioned the names of the other visitors present that evening, and hoped that their visit to the Faith had been in every way agreeable to them. This toast having been responded to, the remaining toasts were given very quickly by the W.M., and as briefly acknowledged. They were "The Past Masters of the Lodge," "The Treasurer and Secretary," and "The Junior Officers." In the intervals Bros. Robinson, Mallett, Leftley, Themans, Walls, and others instrumentally and vocally enlivened the proceedings. The next meeting of the lodge will be held on the last Tuesday in September. This lodge will be represented at the Boys' Festival in June by Bro. E. Hopwood, P.M.

JORDAN LODGE (No. 201).—The last regular meeting of this very old established lodge was held on the 21st ult. at the Freemasons' Tavern. There were present Bros. Wagner, W.M.; Elsam, P.M. (Dobie), P.P. G.D.C. of Surrey, S.W.; Read, J.W.; Sumner, S.D.; Smith, J.D.; Arliss, P.M., Sec.; Pain, I.G.; Robinson, P.M., acting I.P.M.; Pavage, P.M., W.S.; Whitley, P.M. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The agenda of business contained the names of several brethren for passing and raising, and also three candidates for initiation, but from various causes they were all prevented from attending, and the W.M. in order to fill up the time rehearsed the ceremony of initiation, with Bro. Harper for a candidate, and the S.D. at its close delivered the charge. A discussion then ensued upon the propriety of holding a summer banquet in connection with the lodge, which was ultimately unanimously agreed to, and a committee appointed to carry it out. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren adjourned to an excellent banquet. The visitors were Bros. Bofill, Royal Jubilee; Stroud, late of the Jordan; Cook, Domestic; Walls, S.D. Kennington. Upon the removal of the cloth the W.M. gave "The Queen and Craft," "The M.W.G.M., H.R.H. the Prince of Wales," "The Pro G.M.," "The D.G.M. and the rest of the Grand Officers, Past and Present." Bro. Read having contributed the National Anthem, Bro. Robinson, P.M., arose, and proposed "The Health of the W.M." in a very neat speech. In the course of his remarks he stated that although Bro. Wagner that evening had had no work to do, yet his zeal for Freemasonry was such that he had gone through the first ceremony as a rehearsal in a manner that left little to be desired, and in conclusion he hoped that the remainder of the W.M.'s year of office would be attended with every prosperity. This toast having been duly honoured, the W.M. in a few brief words acknowledged the compliment that had been passed to him, and immediately gave "The Health of the Visitors," in which he deplored the circumstances that had prevented him and his officers that evening from exhibiting the working of the lodge to their guests, but he hoped that on a future occasion, should they honour them with their company, to show them that the Jordan Lodge had not degenerated. This toast was responded to by Bros. Cook and Walls. "The Health of the Past Masters" followed, and was replied to by Bros. Robinson, Whitley, and Davage. The latter brother shortly afterwards took occasion, when "The Masonic Charities" was proposed, to regret that this toast was not given at all lodge banquets, as he was of opinion that much monetary good would arise if the cause of charity in connection with those valuable institutions was brought to the notice of the brethren at the convivial board. He stated that as one of the Governors of the charities he would be only too happy to accompany any brother at any time over the different buildings, and to explain their working and management. "The Health of the Treasurer and Secretary and the Junior Officers" followed, and was acknowledged by Bros. Robinson, Elsam, Read, and others. Contributions of harmony and poetry were given during the evening by Bros. Read, Robinson, Walls, and others. The Tyler having discharged his duty, the brethren separated until the third Friday in October.

THE ROYAL OAK LODGE (No. 871) held its regular meeting on 27th ult. at the White Swan Tavern, Deptford. There were present Bros. H. J. Tuson, W.M. (who presided, and did all the work in good style); W. Andrews, P.M., Treas.; F. Walters, P.P. G.P. Middlesex, P.M., Sec.; G. Andrews, P.M., M.C.; W. Myatt, P.M., W.S.; S. O. Lewin, I.P.M.; J. J. Pokes, S.W.; J. B. Langley, J.W.; G. T. Linn, S.D.; R. Harman, J.D.; J. G. Vohmann, I.G.; H. J. Fisher, Organist; and about 40 other members. The large number of visitors who honoured the lodge with their presence were Bros. H. J. Green, W.M. 1538; H. Keeble, P.M. 1275; J. Griffin, P.M. 933; J. Roper, P.M. 147; C. Nash, P.M. 79; H. Caston, 40; T. W. Adams, 765; W. T. Hunt, 79; and several others, whose names we were unable to ascertain. Bros. G. Eve, W. Simmonds, and G. A. Leighton were Crafted. Five guineas were voted to a deceased member's widow, and her petition to Lodge of Benevolence signed in open lodge. Several candidates were proposed for initiation. The lodge was adjourned. Good banquet and dessert followed. The usual loyal toasts were given and responded to. Songs and recitations followed.

URBAN LODGE (No. 1196).—Saint John's Gate, Clerkenwell, has long been noted for being one of the relics of the London that is passed. Garrick there made his debut in the hall which is over the gateway; it was in the coffee-room that Dr. Johnson presided over the Urban Club, and it was there also that Oliver Goldsmith spent most of his ready cash. With such reminiscences as these it would be impossible for any to enter the hostelry of St. John without some feeling of awe and respect; and this feeling would be intensified were they to attend a meeting of the Urban Lodge of Freemasons which sprung out of the Literary Club of which Johnson was president. On Tuesday, the 25th ult., a lodge was held at the ancient tavern, which was presided over by Bro. Japheth Fickle, W.M. There were of the members a very good muster. Visitors: Bros. Caravoglia, Donald King, Righton, Hamer, Watts, Hepburn, Shawson, Roberts, Pogmore, Buss, Kidder, and others. After the business (two initiations performed by the W.M. and a raising through the courtesy of the W.M. conducted by P.M. Marsh) of the lodge was completed the whole meeting adjourned to the banquet-hall (the identical room in which Garrick made his first essay at comedy), where a most elegant but at the same time substantial repast had been prepared by the host, Bro. Gay.

"Course followed course, and round the bottle flew; Laughter and mirth prevailed amongst the crew." The toast of "The Queen and Craft" was proposed by the W.M. and drunk with a great degree of loyalty, whilst that of "The Grand Master" was received with fervour such as is seldom witnessed, and as Bro. L. ehmeier at the piano played "God Bless the Prince of Wales" such a hearty chorus of voices joined in the refrain that shewed too plainly to be mistaken how sincere and heartfelt were the wishes for the Prince's welfare. The other usual toasts were all well received and responded to, and the whole evening passed off most pleasantly, with one exception, and we do not doubt that the brother who caused the slight unpleasantness will (to use his own words) "regret in the morning the speech of the previous night." The Secretary (Dr. Carpenter) spoke of the flourishing state of the lodge's finances. Bro. Terry, in a very eloquent speech, pleaded for the Masonic charities, and we think that the Urban Lodge will not fail to take his advice and to endow their W.M. as a Vice-President of one of these excellent institutions. During the evening the brethren were favoured with some very fine songs from Bros. Caravoglia, Donald King, and Righton, and Bro. Lehmeier delighted all his hearers with the exquisite amount of pathos and expression he displayed in his rendering of Thalberg's "Home, Sweet Home." Bro. Fairchild also gave a recitation, "My Pipe," with great dramatic force, which showed he possessed histrionic powers of no mean ability. The brethren separated at 11.30, having passed an evening one of the most happy within any of their recollections.

SURREY MASONIC HALL LODGE (No. 1539).—The regular meeting of this flourishing lodge was held on Thursday evening, May 4th, at the Masonic Hall, Camberwell New Road. Bro. Mark S. Larham, W.M., presided, and the following officers were present:—Bros. E. Clark, P.M.; W. Ramsey, S.W.; T. L. Green, J.W.; J. Oliver, Sec.; N. Ritherdon, S.D.; W. Smale, J.D.; D. A. Ross, I.G.; and S. J. Harvey, D.C. The following visitors were also present:—Bros. Middlemass, 957; Murfin, 733; Reynolds, 1319; F. Wallis, I.P.M. 905; Holt, P.M. 235; Dubois, P.M. 1326 and P.M. 1423; H. Thompson ("Freemason") 1426, and P.M. 177 and 1158; J. Burgh, 2; S. T. Carter, 1328; G. J. Dawson, 749; C. Sims, 1555; and Vockins, P.M. 1329. The lodge having been opened in due form, and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed, the lodge was opened in the Third Degree, and Bro. Collins was raised to the Sublime Degree, the whole ceremony being impressively performed by the W.M. with his usual ability. The lodge was then lowered to the Second Degree, and Bros. Clans and Moss were passed to that of F.C. The next business was to ballot for the admission of Mr. Frederick George Wells, which being unanimous in his favour, he, being in attendance, was impressively initiated into the mysteries and privileges of Ancient Freemasonry. The next item on the programme was the election of a W. Master for the ensuing year, and the choice fell upon Bro. Ramsey, S.W., who returned thanks for his election, and Bro. Larham was elected Treasurer for the coming year. Bro. E. Clark, P.M., then proposed that a jewel of the value of ten guineas be presented to Bro. Larham, as a recognition on the part of the lodge of his services, and the able manner in which he had discharged his duties as W. Master. Bro. Green, J.W., seconded the motion, which was put and carried unanimously, and for which the W. Master returned thanks. Bro. Geider, P.M., was re-elected Tyler, and the Audit Committee having been appointed the lodge was closed in due form, and the brethren adjourned for refreshment, well served by Bro. Bromley, of the Clapham Road. On the removal of the cloth the W.M. gave "The Queen," and afterwards "The Health of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, Most Worshipful Grand Master," and expressed a hope that the Masons of England would again see him amongst them at the next meeting of the Grand Lodge, when he hoped they would all give him a hearty welcome. The toast was most cordially responded to. The W. Master next gave "Bro. Wells," their newly initiated brother Bro. Wells, in responding, said he begged to thank them most sincerely for the manner in which his health had been proposed and drunk, and he trusted that he should become a respectable member of their ancient and honourable fraternity. Bro. E. Clark, P.M., said, in proposing the next toast, which was "The Health of their W. Master," he did so with a certain amount of regret, as he was sure from their associations they did not like losing his services in his present capacity of W. Master. He had always been with them, and had done his work well, to say nothing of the cordiality that had always existed between them, and he was sure that they all appreciated his services. The toast was cordially received. The W. Master thanked Bro. Clark for the kind remarks he had made, and the brethren for the very hearty manner in which they had responded to them. He hoped that he had given them satisfaction, and he trusted that the S.W., his successor, would have as successful a year of office as he had, and he concluded by proposing "The Health of the W.M. Elect." Bro. Ramsey returned thanks. He was full of hopes for the future, and he hoped with the assistance of such a hearty and thorough Mason as their present W. Master to carry out the work of the lodge to their satisfaction. The W.M. said the next toast was a very pleasing one to him, as it was to propose "The Health of the Visitors," and he must say that he felt highly gratified to see so many present on that occasion. Having read over the list he said he should call upon Bro. Thompson, who he believed was the oldest Mason present to return thanks for the visitors. Bro. H. Thompson ("Freemason") said the W.M. had cast upon him a most important duty to return thanks for such an array of visitors as was then present, and the more so as he should be but an unworthy exponent of the feelings of those who were far more able to discharge that duty. (No, no.) He took their observations as a kindly feeling towards him, and in the first place he begged to thank the lodge for the splendid hospitality with which they had been received, and in the next to express the high satisfaction they derived in witnessing the very able manner in which the whole of the three ceremonies in the lodge had been performed by the W.M. That was no more than he (Bro. Thompson) expected from him, having seen how assiduous he had been in his attendance at lodges of instruction, where he was always to be found giving instruction to young Masons who required it, and what particularly added to its value was the very unostentatious way in which that information was conveyed. In this respect he followed closely the course taken by his own teacher, the late Bro. Thomas, and he might say that like the mantle of Elijah that fell upon Elisha, the mantle of their late revered Bro. Thomas had fallen upon Bro. Larham, and he hoped he might long live to enjoy the honours which that night had been conferred upon him. The Tyler's toast was given, and a very harmonious meeting was brought to a close.

CHAUCER LODGE (No. 1540) held its regular meeting on Wednesday, April 26th, at the Bridge House Hotel, Borough High-street, Southwark. In the unavoidable absence of the W.M., Bro. T. J. Sabine, P.P.G.S.B. Middx., P.M. 738, the lodge was opened by Bro. T. J. H. Wilkins, P.M. 73, who is doing good suit and service to this young lodge by the really efficient manner in which he performs the duties of I.P.M., and by the great assistance he is to every officer who requires any help, being ever ready, able, willing, and obliging to undertake the duties of any officer who might be absent. When we overheard the veteran Secretary, Bro. F. Walters, P.P.G.P. Middx., P.M. 73, Secretary of several lodges, state he never had his work better done (during his absence) by any one than when Bro. T. J. H. Wilkins, P.M., did it for him, that shows his able services are well appreciated by those whom experience makes good and excellent judges of what ought to be done. He was well supported by Bros. J. C. Mason, S.W.; E. S. Stidolph, J.W.; F. Walters, P.P.G.P., P.M., Sec.; W. J. Kemp, S.D.; G. H. Wright, P.M. 28, as J.D. (another zealous member, ever ready as a good old P.M. to render any assistance whenever called upon to do so); H. Faija (C.E.), I.G.; A. J. Hawkes, M.C.; and a large number of the members, there being a good full lodge. Amongst the distinguished visitors who attended this meeting were Bros. H. J. Tuson, W.M. 871; W. Lane, P.M. 28 (Royal Benevolent Institution); Rev. T. W. Cave, L.L.D., Sec. 1309, &c.; T. C. Walls, S.D. 1381; T. W. Adams, 565; J. Davies, 1309; J. S. Sweasy, 1423; and others whose names we were unable to learn. The minutes of former lodge meeting were read and unanimously confirmed. The ballots, taken separately, were unanimous in favour of the admission of all the candidates for initiation. Bros. H. Blackwell, A. F. Diack, R. C. Harrison, and E. Hooper having given proof of their proficiency, were passed to the Second Degree, Bro. T. J. H. Wilkins doing the ceremony with his customary care and in an able manner, which must have produced a lasting impression on all of the candidates. Bro. T. J. Sabine, P.P.G.P. Middx., P.M., &c., W.M., having arrived from Brighton, where he resides, he took the chair. He initiated M. H. Levy in an admirable manner into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry. Bro. H. Faija (C.E.), I.G., made an appeal to the lodge to help with his list as their Steward for Girls' School. This was nobly responded to; for Bro. E. S. Stidolph, J.W., put his name down for ten guineas. The indefatigable Bro. T. J. H. Wilkins, P.M., whose exertions on behalf of the Masonic charities never flags, in a most telling speech urged the members to subscribe amongst themselves, and make the lodge a Life Governor of the Girls' School in the name of the W.M. for the time being. At the same time he put in practice his words by commencing with his guinea for so desirable an object. The W.M., Bro. T. J. Sabine, supplemented this good cause with his guinea, and in as many seconds the guineas required were subscribed for, and this young lodge possesses its first Life Governorship. Some good candidates were as usual proposed for initiation. The lodge was adjourned. This being Grand Festival night, the usual banquet was dispensed with.

NEW CROSS LODGE (No. 1559).—On Saturday last the first general business meeting since the consecration of the lodge in February last was held at the New Cross Public Hall, Lewisham Road, the brethren meeting at half-past two in the afternoon. The business, as set forth on the agenda, was very heavy, there being no fewer than five brethren for raising to the M.M.'s Degree, the same number for passing, and three candidates for initiation. These were, however, reduced by the non-attendance of Bros. Jewel and Moss to three for the Third Degree. Those present were Bro. W. B. Woodman, W.M.; Bros. E. Thielley, S.W.; H. Simmonds, J.W.; H. Keeble, P.M., Sec.; F. Walters, P.P.G.P. Middx., P.M., Treas.; L. Beck, S.D.; H. Green, J.D.; W. Hardman, I.G.; A. B. Church, Tyler; H. Henton, W. Smurthwaite, S. H. Beckles, E. E. Smith, D. Malpas, R. L. Steeres, R. Buck, and H. Metham. The following were visitors: Bros. T. Waite, P.M. 144; J. Lightfoot, P.M. 147; C. J. Hogg, P.M. 58; Govan Macdonald, S.W. and W.M. elect 1158, and Preceptor Star Lodge of Instruction; G. Allen, S.W. 144; and G. H. Kitson, 548. In the temporary absence (as explained above) of the W.M., Bro. F. Walters, P.P.G.P. Middx., P.M., Treas., assumed the vacant chair, and having opened lodge in the First Degree, asked the visitors to kindly retire while some private business was transacted. After their withdrawal the acting W.M. proposed, and Bro. H. Keeble, P.M., Sec., seconded, the election as honorary members of Bros. John Hervey, Grand Sec.; J. Terry, P.G.D.C.; E. M. Hubbock, P.M. 58, 132, and 140; and C. J. Hogg, P.M. 58, which was carried unanimously. Bro. P.M. Hogg, who was present, replied. The minutes of the consecration meeting in February, and three subsequent meetings of emergency, having been read by the Secretary and adopted, the ballot was then taken, and declared to be unanimous in favour of the initiation of Messrs. T. Grumman, proposed by Bro. H. Keeble, P.M. Treas., seconded by Bro. E. E. Smith, and W. Cowley, proposed by Bro. W. Simmonds, J.W., seconded by Bro. H. Keeble, P.M. Sec. Lodge was now opened in the Third Degree, and of the five brethren for raising, Bro. Hiram Henton, Samuel Husbands Beckles, and William Smithwaite answered to their names, and were duly and solemnly raised to the degree of Master Mason, Bro. Walters working the ceremony in a highly impressive and admirable manner.

Lodge having been closed in the Third, was now opened in the Second Degree by Bro. Keeble, P.M. Sec.; and firstly Bros. E. E. Smith, David Malpas, Robert John Steeres, and subsequently Donald Buck and Henry Metham, were ably instructed by our worthy Bro. Secretary in the duties of Fellow Craft Freemason. Upon the conclusion of the twice performed ceremony, lodge was resumed in the Entered Apprentice's Degree, and at this moment the W.M., Bro. W. B. Woodman, arriving, he took the chair, and Messrs. Thomas Grumman and William Cowley were introduced and initiated. The W.M. having risen for the first time, Bro. F. Walters, P.P.G.P. Middx., Treas., proposed, and Bro. W. Simmonds, J.W., seconded, that Bro. E. H. Thielley, S.W., represent the New Cross Lodge as Steward at the forthcoming Festival of the Girls' School. This, upon being put to the brethren, was unanimously carried. There being no further business to transact, lodge was closed, and declared adjourned until the second Saturday in August, emergency meetings excepted. The brethren and visitors then adjourned to light refreshment, whereof an abundance was provided, and in reply to the toast of W.M., Bro. Woodman, who was cordially received, expressed his regret that business had precluded the possibility of his attending lodge until late in the afternoon, but stated that he should always do his utmost and strain every possible point in order to attend at future meetings, and if, as on the present occasion, he failed to appear at the opening of lodge it would be on the sole account of pressing and urgent business. "The Initiates," given by Bro. Walters, P.P.G.P. Middx., P.M. Treas., was responded to by Bro. W. Cowley on behalf of himself and brother initiate; and shortly afterwards the brethren separated.

SIR HUGH MYDDELTON LODGE (No. 1602).—The following is a list of the brethren who were present at the consecration of this lodge on Saturday week, which we were unable to give in our last impression. The names of those brethren who acted as officers of the lodge during the consecration having been before given, are omitted from this list:—Bros. E. P. Albert, G.P.; J. Boyd, P.G.P.; T. Cubitt, P.G.P.; J. Emmens, P.G.P.; J. Wright, P.G.P.; H. G. Buss, Prov. G.T. Middlesex; W. T. Howe, P.G.P. Middlesex; C. B. Payne, Grand Tyler; J. M. Bedwell, 861; C. F. Benham, 1330; J. Blyth, 813; J. Bond, 813; E. W. Braine, J.W. 1471; Buchan, 1259; T. J. Cusworth, S.W. 813; C. Daniel, J.W. 65; R. V. Davies, W.M. 1288; T. Davy, P.M. 65; W. Dawson, 822; H. Durham, 177; A. Fauquez, 813; H. J. Gabb, P.M. 813; J. R. Gallant, W.M. 813; J. Gibbs, 1036; J. Green, W.M. 27; W. F. Green 861; Hallett, 871; W. Hester, P.M. 749; J. Hobbs, S.W. 749; A. Johnson, P.M. 284; H. Johns, 749; J. Kew, P.M. 179; J. Klenck, P.M. 72 and 1339; W. Finch, 1365; R. Leach, P.M. 861; W. H. Lee, P.M. 1524; L. Arrens, P.M. 1364, and W.M. 1471; J. Linzell, P.M. 754, W.M. 1579; W. W. Lowles, 861; H. Massey ("Freemason"), P.M. 619; S. G. Moss, P.M. 185; J. Perry, 354; T. E. Purdy, P.M. 861; J. Roberts, 195 and 1228; J. H. Shead, 749; M. Ullmer, 49; T. Upward, 487; J. Webster (Pannurc, Arbroath), 299; W. Miles, W.M. 173; F. Williams, 167; J. F. Wilson, P.M. 1298; J. F. Wuest, P.M. 753.

MIDDLETON.—Imperial George Lodge (No. 78).—This thriving lodge assembled as a lodge of emergency at the Asheton Arms, on Wednesday, April 5th, and was opened at 6 p.m. by the W.M., Bro. David Reid. The business of the evening was to pass to the F.C. Degree Bros. David Tatton and Edwin Dodd; also to raise to the Sublime Degree as "polished ashlers" our Bros. Albert Swallow and Moses Mills. Labour in the F.C. Degree having been completed, the brethren adjourned to the ante-room to partake of slight refreshment, which occupied but little time, after which the brethren were called upon to fulfil their task. None but expert Craftsmen, resumed labour, who having adjusted all things necessary for the completion of the edifice, Bros. Swallow and Mills were each in turn admitted to take part. Work being ended the brethren separated in the usual Masonic manner, each to his home and own fireside and then to peaceful sleep.

The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was also held at the same place on Thursday, 27th ult. Bro. David Reid, W.M., having opened the lodge at 5 p.m., Bro. Forrester Fethergill, Secretary, read the minutes of the last regular and emergency meetings, which were duly confirmed. A ballot was taken for two candidates for initiation, Messrs. Robert Berresford and George Brunt. In each case favour was reported, and accordingly the applicants were prepared and in due course beheld Masonic light. Bro. David Reid, W.M., performed the ceremony of initiation for the first-named candidate, and Bro. W. H. Kershaw, I.P.M., for the second, after which Bro. George Bradbury, S.W., was summoned to the pedestal, and there delivered the charge to the two E.A.'s in a clear and impressive manner. In accordance with notice, Bro. Wood, P.M., D.C., brought forward an idea for enhancing the charity fund, which was unanimously accepted. The discussion, however, brought up another important matter, and notice of motion relative to it for the next meeting was given by Bro. Wood, P.M., D.C. This motion if carried will also deal indirectly with the Imperial George Charity Fund. We therefore reserve particulars of business relating to charity till in its entirety, feeling persuaded that in our next Imperial George report the "sidewind" will have sprung up into a full and steady breeze, which will keep unfurled the sail of charity, and we trust, together with the benefit to be derived from the increasing of the initiation fee, in accordance with the proposition brought forward by Bro. Harvey Heywood, P.M. and Treasurer, and willingly acceded to by the lodge, that our right hand of fellowship will give a firmer grasp, and enable many who require it to pass through troubled waters by its aid. In conclusion we must add, the lodge having been closed in due form, the brethren adjourned to the social meal, after which the usual attendant toasts were given, and at 10 p.m. the brethren separated.

OXFORD.—Churchill Lodge (No. 478).—The anniversary festival of this lodge was held on Monday last, at the Masonic Hall, Oxford, when there was a large attendance of brethren. Among those present were the Deputy Provincial Grand Master (Bro. R. Bird, M.A., Fellow and Vice-President of Magdalen College); the Hon. W. W. Vernon, Junior Grand Warden; F. P. Morrell, M.A., St. John's College, Past Grand Deacon; the Past Deputy Provincial (R. J. Spiers); Past Masters Sir John Hayes, Bart., Capt. A. Cook, Capt. Ferrier, H. Riach, T. S. Tuke, &c.; the Worshipful Master of the Alfred Lodge, Oxford, (Jules Buc, M.A.), Alfred Wigan, and others. After an initiation and passing the chief business was proceeded with, viz., the installation of Bro. H. Offley Wakeman, B.A., Fellow of All Souls' College, as Worshipful Master for the ensuing year. The installation ceremony was admirably performed by the retiring Master, (Bro. H. R. Cooper Smith, B.A., of Magdalen College), and at its conclusion the new W.M. appointed and invested his officers as follows:—S. F. Hood, B.A., Magdalen College, Senior Warden; W. Peppercorn, Junior Warden; Rev. L. K. Hilton, M.A., Christ Church, Chaplain; F. P. Morrell, M.A., St. John's; Treasurer, T. F. Plowman, Secretary; Captain Ferrier, Past Master, Senior Deacon; J. J. Harding, Magdalen College, Junior Deacon; J. E. C. Bodley, Balliol College, Director of Ceremonies; T. H. Janson, Christ Church, Inner Guard; E. Cholmeley Jones, Magdalen College, Organist. The anniversary banquet was served at half-past seven, when the new Worshipful Master presided, and introduced the usual loyal and Masonic toasts in graceful and felicitous language. Several excellent speeches were delivered in reference to the Craft in general, Bro. Alfred Wigan responding for "The Visitors" in happily chosen and amusing terms. The lodge's reputation for harmony was fully maintained, and a very festive and enjoyable evening was spent.

ROTHERHAM.—Phoenix Lodge (No. 904).—An exceedingly interesting incident took place at the last meeting of the above lodge held at their lodge room, Ship Hotel, Rotherham, on the evening of the 27th March. Bro. Clement Hamil Perrot having very ably filled the chair of this lodge six years since, was this year, by the unanimous vote of the brethren, again installed as W.M., and subsequently, at the last meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of West Yorkshire, held at Wakefield on the 8th April, under the presidency of the R.W. Provincial Grand Master, Sir Henry Edwards, Bart. D.L., he received the further distinction of the appointment of Provincial Grand Organist. The officers and brethren of 904, therefore, deemed this a fitting occasion for evincing in a practical form the high esteem in which they hold Bro. Perrot, as well as their appreciation of the various Masonic services rendered by him to their lodge, and it was, accordingly, decided by them to present him with a very handsome gold P.M.'s jewel, which presentation was made in a very feeling and able manner by Bro. J. Fawcett, P.M. and Treasurer, and supported by Bro. W. Sairth, P.M., and Bro. W. C. Smith, P.M. Bro. Perrot, though greatly affected by this quite unexpected mark of his brethren's esteem, thanked them very heartily in a brief but eloquent speech, assuring them that their handsome gift would always be exceedingly prized by him, not merely on account of its intrinsic worth, but as an evidence of the regard in which he was held by them, and he concluded by assuring his brethren that in the future as in the past, it would always be a pleasure to do anything in his power to promote the interests of the Phoenix Lodge. At the banquet which followed, presided over by the W.M., Bro. Perrot, the usual Masonic toasts, were given, and also several songs in a very pleasing manner by Bros. H. J. Bingham, J.W.; F. Mason; A. Badger, and others, the accompaniments being ably played by Bro. C. Harvey, J.D. and Org. Altogether a very pleasant and harmonious evening was spent.

LEICESTER.—Commercial Lodge (No. 1391).—The installation meeting of this flourishing lodge was held on Easter Monday, at the Masonic Hall, Halford-street, Leicester, and was attended by a numerous and distinguished company. The lodge was opened at four o'clock by the W.M., Bro. R. A. Barber, P.P.G.P., and his officers. Among the visitors we noticed Bros. Rev. J. Langley, P.M. 50 and 1130, P.P.S.G.W.; Rev. J. Henry Smith, Chaplain 279, P.G. Chaplain; J. McAllister, W.M. 279; J. T. Thorp, W.M. 523; J. J. Hooper Wilkins, P.M. 73; T. Wykes, J.W. 523, P.G.O.; J. F. Pearson, J.W. 925; S. E. Johnson, W.M. 779; Grant, W.M. 1330; C. Stretton, P.M. 279, P.P.G.W.; and there were also present the Past Masters of the lodge, Bros. Dr. Clifton, J. Halford, and J. R. Hall. The minutes of the previous lodge, and of a lodge of emergency held on the 20th March, were read and confirmed. It was then proposed in a very felicitous speech by the W.M., that Bro. S. S. Partridge, Prov. G. Sec., be elected an honorary member of the lodge. The proposition having been seconded by Bro. Edwin Mason, the S.W., and W.M. elect, was carried by acclamation. Bro. Partridge then entered the lodge, and, having been informed of what had just taken place, thanked the brethren in a very feeling manner for the honour they had conferred on him. He was at all times pleased to attend the meetings of the Commercial Lodge, and to render it any service in his power, but now that he was a member, though only an honorary one, he should feel it his duty to attend as regularly as possible. The installation of the W.M., Bro. Edwin Mason, then followed, the ceremony being ably performed by Bro. Partridge, to whom Bro. Barber resigned the chair for that purpose. Next came the appointment and investiture of officers, as follows:—Bros. C. Wilkinson, S.W.; B. Moore, J.W.; C. McBride, Sec.; G. Mott, S.D.; H. Meadows, J.D.; J. B. Hall, P.M., Treas.; J. Hunter, I.G.; Bass and Watson, Stewards; Knight and Browne, Assistant Steward; and Bembridge and Dunn, Tylers. A handsome Past Master's jewel was then presented by the W.M. on behalf of the lodge to the retiring P.M., Bro. Barber, who returned thanks in suitable terms. The lodge having been duly closed according to ancient form the brethren adjourned to banquet, which was served in excellent style. Ample justice having been done to the various courses and the cloth removed, the W.M. gave the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, all of which met with a most enthusiastic reception. Our space will not permit us to give the various speeches in detail, but we cannot refrain from giving a brief outline of that of Bro. Hall, P.M., who in responding to the toast of the Past Masters congratulated the W.M. on his advancement to the high position he then occupied, he having been the first brother initiated in the lodge. Bro. Hall proceeded to say that the history of the Commercial Lodge was a brief but an eventful one. Its foundation had swept away that lethargy which threatened to sap the foundations of Masonry in Leicester, and its success has proved what energy and determination could effect. Yet another lodge had since been consecrated, and the (Bro. Hall) apprehended that the time was not far distant when another petition would be forwarded to Grand Lodge. Bro. Hall continued: The experience we have is but the general experience in Freemasonry, for since the foundation of this lodge upwards of 220 lodges have been added to the muster roll, and if our experience is an index of Masonry in general it is evident that the brethren are beginning to take a broader and higher view of their duties, that they are more zealous in their work, and that they take a keener interest in every detail of the ceremonies, with the endeavour to attain the highest standard of efficiency. In conclusion allow me to express the great pleasure I have in witnessing year by year the continued success of the Commercial Lodge. As the first W.M. I had a share in founding it, and be its future course what it may I shall always watch its career with the utmost interest. Bro. Hall concluded by remarking that although the tongue of good report had been heard in their favour, yet the brethren should be jealous of their good name, and prove to the world that they were not undeserving of it. The evening was enlivened by songs and recitations, rendered with good effect by the musical portion of the brethren, the most conspicuous of whom were Bros. Ellis, Bass, Watson, Read, Brown, and Matt. The recitations by the last named brother were given in his usual effective manner, and they were deservedly applauded. The Tyler's toast brought a very pleasant evening to a close, and we hope soon to have another invitation from our Leicester brethren.

VALPARAISO.—Harmony Lodge (No. 1411).—A meeting of this lodge was held in the lodge-room, on March 3rd, for the purpose of conferring the degree of Master Mason on Bro. R. Vance, P.O.S. Nav. Co.'s service. The following is a list of members, &c., present:—Geo. Jenkins, W.M.; John Barnett, S.W.; G. H. Hodgkinson, J.W.; J. B. Pugh, I.P.M.; C. D. Rowe, S.D.; C. Lewis, J.D.; G. B. Barnett, Stwd.; F. M. Mole, I.G.; W. Darley, Tyler. Members: R. Vance, W. N. Harris, Henry Stevens, J. H. Thompson. Visitor: Lionel P. Cross, 626, E.C. After the ceremony the brethren adjourned for refreshment, and eventually the meeting broke up at 10.15.

HAMPTON.—Hemming Lodge (No. 1512).—An emergency meeting of this lodge was convened by the W.M. on Thursday, the 20th ultimo, at the Lion Hotel. There were present Bros. E. Hopwood, P.M. 141; W. M. Hill, P.M. Canonbury, &c., S. W.; Hurst, J.W., W.M. elect; W. Hammond, P.M. Jordan, Lebanon, P.J.G.D. of Middlesex, I.P.M. and acting Sec.; Walls, acting S.D.; Ockenden, acting J.D.; and Jessett, I.G. Bro. Martin, 201, was the only visitor. The W.M., with the assistance of his officers, initiated Messrs. W. Knowles, J. Read, and J. Smythe into Craft mysteries most ably, and passed Bros. W. J. Day, J. Donald, and P. S. Gavaron. The W.M. proposed, and the I.P.M. seconded, the following proposition, which was supported by several brethren and unanimously passed: "That the sum of two guineas be voted to the testimonial of Bro. F. Walters, P.P.G.S.B. Middlesex, Sec. of the Lebanon Lodge, 1326, &c., &c." Several other propositions having been made, the lodge was closed in ancient form, and the brethren adjourned to a substantial collation, well served by Bro. Hiscock. This being a meeting of emergency, the toasts were, in accordance with Masonic custom, but few, and but formally given. "The Queen and Craft" and "The M.W.G.M." were heartily received. "The Health of the W.M." was proposed by the I.P.M., and briefly acknowledged by Bro. Hopwood. During the evening the W.M. paid the initiates a compliment by proposing their health, to which 'honour Bros. Knowles, Read, and Smythe, made a suitable reply. The conviviality of the proceedings was enhanced by the singing of Bros. Hammond, Hurst, Read, Martin, Jessett, Walls, and others. Previously to the Tyler's toast being given, Bro. Hill, S.W., rose and said that, although the I.P.M.'s health had not been formally proposed that evening, he felt that the members of the Hemming should not separate without paying that compliment to one of its principal supporters, and to whose exertions much of its prosperity was due. This toast was most warmly received, and Bro. W. Hammond having made an excellent response, the proceedings terminated. The cause of charity is to be supported at the Festival of the R.M.I. for Boys by the W.M., Bro. Hopwood, as Steward of the Faith, No. 141, and the I.P.M., Bro. Hammond, representing No. 1326, is also Steward for the same excellent charity.

CARLISLE.—Bective Lodge (No. 1512).—The brethren of this lodge held their annual meeting, for the installation of Bro. George Potter as W.M., on Friday last, in their Masonic rooms English-street. The ceremony was performed by Bro. W. B. Gibson, P.M. 119, P.P., S.W.P., and Sec., assisted by Bro. Kenworthy, P.M. 119, P.P. and J.W., and was conducted throughout in an efficient manner. Bro. Potter invested his officers as follows:—Bros. J. C. Mason, S.W.; W. Carrick, J.W.; Rev. Joshua Tyson, Chaplain; Geo. Hetherington, Treas.; J. Cook, I.P.M., Secretary; George Noakes, S.D.; J. Glendinning, J.D.; John Thorpe, Organist; W. Gosden, I.G.; Rome and Haswell, Stewards; M. Higgings, Tyler. Afterwards the brethren adjourned to the County Hotel, where an excellent banquet was provided under the personal supervision of Bro. Gosden, the manager. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were then given, interspersed with harmony, thus terminating a successful year in a very pleasant and agreeable manner.

INSTRUCTION.

PERCY LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 198).—The Fifteen Sections were worked in this lodge, which is held at Bro. Fysh's, Jolly Farmers, Southgate-road, Islington, on Saturday, 29th ult., Bro. G. W. Verry, P.M. 554, in the chair; Bros. Tolmie, S.W.; Saul, J.W.; Percy, Preceptor; Halford, Treas.; Killick, Sec. The sections of the First Lecture were worked by Bros. Frith, Allcott, Webb, Næhmer, Barnes, Saul, and Tolmie; the Second by Bros. Cambridge, Webb, Percy, Cross, and Lowe; and the Third by Bros. Percy, Sadler, and Stock. The W.M. was unanimously elected an honorary member, and Bros. Barnes, P.M. 933; Næhmer, P.M. 186; Seax, P.M. 186; Ashburner, P.M. 1278; Brooks, W.M. 902; Berry, W.M. 554; Clark, 188; Woolf, 898; Weeden, 813; Cross, 1278; Lowe, 1360; Webb, 174; Richardson, 55; and Greene, 861, joining members. There was a very large attendance of members and visitors, and the whole of the working was excellently done, a fact notified by the W.M. in thanking the brethren for their assistance. A vote of thanks to the W.M. and duly acknowledged brought the evening to a close. The ceremony of installation was rehearsed in this lodge on Saturday, the 6th inst., by Bro. Terry.

STAR LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 1275).—This well-known Lodge of Instruction, which gained its renown under the Preceptorship of Bro. C. G. Dille, has lost none of its lustre under the guidance of his apt pupil, Bro. Govan Macdonald, its present Preceptor, who is ably assisted by Bros. H. Keeble and C. J. Hogg, P.M.'s of the parent lodge, as Hon. Sec. and Treas. On Saturday, the 22nd ult., the Fifteen Sections were worked, when Bro. David Rose, P.M. 73, &c., well-known in the Craft for his wealth of Masonic lore, occupied the position of questioning Master, the answers being divided between Bros. Cobley, Jenkins, Church, Macdonald, Speight, Alworth, and Hutchings, whose names alone are a sufficient guarantee for the correctness of the working. There was a large muster of the brethren, who listened with rapt attention, and manifested their approval of the working by frequent applause. At the close of the work a vote of thanks was passed to Bro. Rose for presiding, and in recognition of services rendered to the lodge he was unanimously elected an honorary member. We must not forget to mention that the beautiful charge to the brethren at the close of the lodge was most impressively given by Bro. Alworth.

METROPOLITAN LODGE OF INSTRUCTION (No. 1507) met at the Metropolitan Club, King's Cross, on Friday, 28th April, 1876, when there were present Bros. Willing, W.M.; Berrie, S.W.; Kingham, J.W.; Fowler, S.D.; Side, J.D.; H. Stiles, I.G.; Adams, P.G.P., Preceptor; W. Stiles, Sec.; and Bros. Scales, Child, Little, Cox, and others. The lodge was opened in due form, and minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. Lodge was then opened in the Second and Third Degrees, and Bro. Little was raised to the degree of Master Mason in a very impressive manner. The 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Sections of 3rd Lecture were worked by Bro. T. Adams, P.G.P., Preceptor, and Bro. James Willing, P.M., Treas. The lodge was then closed down, and Bro. Berry was elected W.M. for ensuing meeting. A vote of condolence was passed to Bro. Cheek on the loss of his dearly beloved wife. To show the esteem in which Bro. Adams, the renowned Preceptor, is held, one of the brethren expressed his pleasure in presenting each member with a photograph of Bro. Adams. This was hailed with great delight by the brethren, who are proud to possess a likeness of so great an ornament to the Craft. The lodge was then closed.

Royal Arch.

JERUSALEM CHAPTER (No. 185).—A meeting of this chapter was held at the Freemasons' Tavern, on Tuesday, the 11th ult., it being the last convocation of the season. There were present at the opening Comps. Smith, M.E.Z.; Hammond, H., M.E. elect; Elsam, J.; Davage, P.Z., S.E.; Wagner, N.; Robinson, P.S.; Mander, S.A.S.; Loewenstark, P.Z.; Watts, P.Z.; Holbrook, P.Z.; Whitley, and Walls. The visitors were Comps. H. Muggeridge, P.G.S., &c., &c.; E. Hopwood, Mount Sinai. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the M.E., ably assisted by his Principals, exalted Bro. Pratt, Mount Edgcombe, to the S.D. of the R.A. with that care and attention which has always characterised Comp. Francis Smith's rendering of the ritual during the two years that he has occupied the chair as First Principal of the Jerusalem. The ceremony of installing Comp. Hammond, and the inducting of the Second and Third Principals, Comps. Elsam and Wagner, was performed most ably by that R.A. veteran, Comp. Muggeridge. The officers for the ensuing year are Comps. Hammond, M.E.; Elsam, H.; Wagner, I.; Robinson, N.; Davage, P.Z., S.E.; Harfeld, P.Z., Treas.; Mander, P.S.; and, subject to their acceptance of the office, Comps. Watts and Bond, S. and J. A. S's. Previously to the convocation being closed the pleasing ceremony of presenting a Past Principal's jewel to Comp. Smith was performed by the M.E., graced by a few kind expressions and remarks upon the conduct of Comp. Smith during the two years that he had held the position of M.E. of No. 185. The jewel, which was an exceedingly handsome one, bore the following inscription:—"Jerusalem Chapter, 185. Presented to Companion Francis Smith, P.Z., in view of the high esteem entertained for him by the chapter and in appreciation of the valuable and laborious services rendered during the two years he has held the office of First Principal. April, 1876." Comp. Smith made a brief reply, in which he thanked the members of the chapter for their kindness and consideration towards him upon all occasions, and more especially for the gift of the P.Z.'s jewel. In conclusion, he told them that although he had had an opportunity of passing the A. chair in another chapter he had not availed himself of it because he had preferred to first achieve that position in this, his mother chapter. A vote of thanks to Comp. Muggeridge having been passed, the convocation was then closed in due form, and the companions adjourned to an elegant banquet. Upon the removal of the cloth, the M.E. stated that as the hour was late he should be compelled to give the toasts very briefly and quickly, which necessity he hoped the companions would excuse. The usual Royal Arch toasts were then given and heartily received. Comp. Smith, I.P.Z., in proposing "The Health of the M.E.," congratulated the chapter upon possessing so able and worthy a First Principal as Comp. Hammond, who was in every way qualified to discharge the onerous duties of the position satisfactorily. This toast having been duly honoured, the M.E. briefly responded, by stating that he was proud at having that day attained the honourable goal of ambition of every aspiring R.A. companion, and he hoped that at the expiration of his year of office the chapter would have no reason to regret having elected him to fulfil the duties and discharge the responsibilities of the First Principal's chair. "The Health of the Newly-exalted Companion" followed, and it was duly acknowledged by Comp. Pratt. In proposing "The Health of the Visitors," the M.E. took occasion to congratulate the chapter on being favoured by the presence of the very esteemed and talented P.Z., Comp. Muggeridge, whose abilities in working the ceremony of installation that day had been displayed with more than usual brilliancy, and he hoped that he would be many years spared to impart his great Craft and R.A. knowledge to aspirants for Masonic fame. With regard to Comp. Hopwood, their other visitor, he could say that he was a very zealous and worthy worker in the fields of Freemasonry and philanthropy. This toast having been duly drunk, was acknowledged by Comps. Muggeridge and Hopwood. The former, in the course of his reply, said that his connection with the "Jerusalem" went back to over a quarter of a century, and it was a matter of great pleasure to him to find that the chapter had greatly improved, and bids fair to become one of the most prosperous in the metropolis. He congratulated it upon possessing so many talented companions, and in conclusion he thanked the chapter for the handsome manner in which his poor services had been acknowledged that day in carrying out the installation ceremonial. Comp. Hopwood stated that after the excellent reply of his co-visitor it would be superfluous for him to say much, but he could not let the opportunity pass without briefly expressing to the companions of the Jerusalem Chapter that his maiden visit that evening had been in every way satisfactory to him, and in conclusion he took occasion to thank the M.E. for the very kind manner in which his name had been mentioned in connection with the toast. "The Health of the P.Z.'s of the Chapter" was then given by the M.E., prefaced by a few kind remarks upon their individual merits. The toast was acknowledged by Comp. Smith, I.P.Z., in a neat speech. The toast of "The Second and Third Principals" followed, and, having been duly honoured, elicited from those worthy and talented officers, Comps. Elsam and Wagner, a most able response. The toasts of "The Secretary, Treasurer, and Junior Officers" were immediately given, and acknowledged by Comps. Davage, P.Z., Sec.; Robinson, S.N.; and Mander, P.S. The Treasurer and other officers were unavoidably absent. Between the numerous toasts and replies, Comps. Smith, Walls, and others contributed several instrumental and vocal selections.

CLAPTON CHAPTER OF IMPROVEMENT.—The inaugural meeting of the above chapter of instruction was held at the White Hart Tavern, Clapton, on Wednesday evening, May 3rd, under the presidency of Comp. John Ramsey, P.Z., Preceptor, supported by Comps. C. R. Miles and J. Hobbs as H. and I. respectively, and was well attended by the Royal Arch Masons residing in the neighbourhood. The meetings will now continue to be regularly held every Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock, and no doubt will be numerous supported and prove a great success, there being no other chapter of improvement within some considerable distance. All Royal Arch Masons who can make it convenient to attend are cordially invited.

Knights Templar.

LIVERPOOL.—The Alpass Preceptory.—By direction of the E.P., a conclave of the Alpass Preceptory was held at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, Liverpool, on Thursday, the 4th inst., for the transaction of important business. The priory was opened shortly after four o'clock by Sir Knight W. Doyle, E. Preceptor, when the minute-roll was called, and the following were present:—Sir Knights T. Clark, P.E.C. Prelate; J. E. Jackson, 18

Captain; Moses Mawson, and Captain; W. Bulman, Almoner; W. Shakespeare, Expert; J. Gallagher, 2nd Standard Bearer; John Kenyon, Captain of Lines; T. Evans, J. Lloyd, J. Capell, S. Hickins, J. B. Widdows, W. Fletcher, H. Firth, and H. Burrows. The visitors included Sir Knights C. R. N. Beswicke-Royds, Dep. P.G. Prior, Lancashire; E. Pierpoint, P.E.C., 2nd Grand Capt. of Lines; Captain T. Berry, P.E.C., G. St. B.; H. Nelson, Marshal, Wm. de la More Preceptor; and Joseph Wood, Treasurer Wm. de la More Preceptor ("Freemason"). The records of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the ballot was taken for Comp. Douglas, and as he was duly elected and in attendance he was duly exalted by the E. Preceptor, assisted by the D.P.G. Prior, saluted, and proclaimed a Knight of the Order. The Deputy Grand Prior then ascended the throne, when Sir Knight John Edward Jackson, the P. elect, was presented to the D.G. Prior by Sir Knights Pierpoint, P.E.C., and W. Doyle, I.P.E. Preceptor, to receive the benefits of installation with the usual ceremony. At the proper stage, all the Sir Knights below the rank of E.P. retired, and on being re-admitted the newly-installed E. Preceptor (Sir Knight Jackson) was saluted according to ancient custom. He immediately proceeded to invest the following as his officers:—Sir Knights W. Doyle, Prelate; M. Mawson, Constable; R. Brown, Marshal; W. Shakespeare, Registrar; T. Clark, Treasurer; J. Capell, Almoner; J. Kenyon, Expert; T. Evans, 1st Standard Bearer; S. Hickins, 2nd Standard Bearer; J. B. Widdows, Herald; J. Gallagher, Captain of Lines; H. Burrows, Chamberlain; and Sir Knight P. Ball was elected Equerry. After the transaction of some formal business, the preceptory was closed in due form with solemn prayer. The assembled knights then adjourned to banquet, which was provided by Sir Knight Ball in a most satisfactory manner. The wine carle and the banquet were of the highest order. The newly-installed E. Preceptor presided, supported by the D.P.G. Prior, Sir Knights Pierpoint, Berry, Doyle, Clark, and about 20 other knights. The usual toasts were given and responded to with great cordiality, and the genial company broke up about 10 o'clock.

Scotland.

GRAND LODGE OF SCOTLAND.

The quarterly communication of the Grand Lodge of Scotland was held on Monday evening, the 8th inst., in the Freemasons' Hall, George-street, Edinburgh. There was a very large attendance of the brethren. In the unavoidable absence of the Most Worshipful Grand Master, Sir M. R. Shaw Stewart, the throne was occupied by Bro. Henry Inglis, of Torsonce, P.S.G.M., and P.G.M. of Peebles and Selkirk, supported by Major Hamilton Ramsay, of Garion, S.G.W.; William Hay, S.G.D., acting J.G.W.; Lauderdale Maitland, of Eccles, P.G.M. of Dumfriesshire; Dr. Loth, representative of the Grand Orient of France; John Laurie, G.S.; D. Kinneir, J.G.D.; William O'Neil, P.G.D.; Alexander Hay, G.J.; John Coghill, G. Dir. of Cer.; Daniel Robertson, G.B.B.; Captain G. F. R. Colt, of Gartsherrie, G.S.B.; W. M. Bryce, G.T.; and others. The Grand Lodge having been duly opened, the acting G.M. prefaced the proceedings with an intimation of the decease of Bro. David Bryce, R.S.A., Architect to the Grand Lodge, which took place on Sunday last, and after referring to the many estimable qualities of the deceased, moved that an expression of deep regret be engraved in the minutes of the Grand Lodge of the loss sustained. The G.S. read apologies for absence from the Earl of Roslyn, P.G.M., and others. Charters for new lodges were granted for The Northern Star, Karsong, India; The Lachlan, Forbes, New South Wales; Hamilton, Surat, India; Canterbury Kilwinning, Canterbury, New Zealand; Manukau, Auckland, New Zealand; Islam, Bombay; The Calendar, Falkirk; Gordon's, Buckie; and the St. James, Harthill, Whitburn. After the acting G.M. had reported the successful inauguration of the Lodge St. Leonard, Loanhead, Midlothian, a motion of which notice had been given at last communication was brought forward, and carried by a majority, that the election of R.W. Depute G.M. be vested in Grand Lodge as formerly, and not as at present in the M.W.G.M. Also that Grand Lodge accounts be audited monthly. The question was brought up relating to lodges in arrears, and agreed to that they be struck off the Grand Lodge roll, and should they wish afterwards to be resuscitated to come in rotation at the bottom of the roll; and after other business of minor importance, Grand Lodge was duly closed.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Glasgow Kilwinning (No. 4).—The monthly meeting of this old lodge was held in their hall, 170, Buchanan-street, on Wednesday evening, 3rd inst. Bro. R. Prout, W.M., occupied the chair; G. Holmes, S.W.; J. McInnes, S.M. 408, acting J.W.; J. D. Dixon, D.M.; J. McKeand, Treasurer; J. Currie, Secretary; A. Riddle, J.D.; W. D. Gourlay, Jeweller; J. Carmichael, S.S.; and a full attendance of members and visiting brethren, among whom were Bros. J. Morgan, W.M. 219; W. Bell, I.P.M. 34; R. Mitchell, P.M. 332; William Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); and others. On the lodge being opened Bro. J. McNair was passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by Bro. Wheeler, 73. The lodge was then resumed in the First Degree. It was then announced that the Provincial Grand Lodge were in waiting. The W.M. gave instructions to receive them, which was accordingly done with the usual honours. The deputation consisted of Bros. J. Baird, P.G.S.M.; G. Sinclair, Treas. of Benevolent Fund; A. McTaggart, M.A., P.G. Sec.; J. Gillies, P.G. Treas.; A. Bain, P.G.B.B.; Allison, P.G.J.; Ritchie, P.G. Architect; J. Miller, P.G.J.D.; J. Miller, P.G.D. of M.; and D. Reid, P.G.I.G. The deputation having taken their places on the dais, Bro. McTaggart, P.G. Sec., read the report, which was as follows. "We, the undersigned office-bearers of the P.G.L. of Glasgow, hereby certify that we visited the Lodge Glasgow Kilwinning, No. 4, examined the various books, and found them in a very satisfactory condition, and generally the lodge is working in strict harmony with the Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of Scotland." Bro. Baird briefly substantiated the statements made by the P.G. Sec., and was sorry they were leaving or had to leave this fine hall, but wished them every success in their new premises, and trusted they would be as prosperous in the future as they had been in the past, and even more so. Bro. Prout, W.M., thanked the deputation for their annual visit, and moved a vote of thanks to the P.G. Officers present, which was enthusiastically given. The P.G.L. deputation then withdrew. The lodge then went on to harmony, when the brethren spent a short time in a social capacity.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. Mungo (No. 27).—The regular meeting of this old lodge was held in St. Mark's Hall, 217, Buchanan-street, on Thursday evening, 4th inst. Bro. D. Butler, W.M., presiding; J. M. Oliver, S.W. 360, acting S.W.; G. McComb, J.W.; D. Dick, S.M.; A. R. Wilson, V. Chap.; S. Dory, S.S.; W. Albin, Dir. of M.; and James, Tyler. Visitors: Bros. A. Bain, P.M. 103; T. Graham, J.W. 360; C. McKenzie, J.W. 354; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); T. Wallace, 117; H. Hall, 117; S. Aitken, 128; A. Harper, 202; E. Master, 202; R. Rae, 49; W. McHardie, 360; J. McEwan, 362; J. Allan, 399; J. Brock, 399; W. B. Paterson, 360; J. Stewart, 360; and others. On the lodge being opened, Mr. Robert Hood was admitted and received the First Degree at the hands of Bro. Baird, P.M. 103, in his usual able manner. The lodge was then called to refreshment, when the chairman proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, which were heartily responded to, and after spending a short time in harmony the lodge was called to labour, and closed in due form.

DUNBAR.—Dunbar Castle Lodge (No. 75).—A Masonic ball was held in the assembly rooms here on Wednesday, 3rd inst., under the auspices of this lodge. The company numbered about one hundred and forty. Long before the hour for dancing immense crowds had thronged about the doors, gazing with admiration upon the rich and dazzling brightness of the ladies as they alighted from the carriages, with their magnificent and fragrant bouquets, a scene so pleasing and gratifying that amply rewarded the bystanders. Dancing commenced at ten p.m., and was kept up with good spirit till an early hour in the morning. Mrs. Vallance and Bro. C. Nelson, W.M., opened the ball; Bro. J. Blake, S.W., ably officiated as M.C. Bros. H. Payne, A. Robertson, and J. Tait were members of committee, and deserve great praise for the zealous manner they filled their office. The orchestra was under the able leadership of Bro. D. Vallance, P.M., and consisted of eight musicians, who played some beautiful airs with exceedingly good taste, and elicited frequent applause during the evening.

GALASHIELS.—St. John's Lodge (No. 263).—The brethren of this lodge held their monthly meeting on the 1st inst., when Bro. Robertson, of the Abbotsford Hotel, and Bro. Owens were raised by the W.M., Bro. Thomson, to the high and sublime degree of a Master Mason. In consequence of the death of Bro. William Kerr, who has long held the honourable office of Bible Bearer, Bro. Alexander Wood was elected to the office. The arrangements for laying the foundation-stone of the new Masonic Hall on May 12th are nearly complete. It is expected to be the largest Masonic meeting ever held in the south of Scotland. Deputations from English lodges are expected.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Caledonian Railway (No. 354).—The P.G.L.D. on leaving Kilwinning, No. 4, proceeded to visit this lodge on the evening of Wednesday, 3rd inst. Meantime the lodge had been opened by Bro. J. Fraser, P.M. 87, in the unavoidable absence of Bro. A. B. Ferguson, W.M.; J. Harley, S.W.; C. McKenzie, J.W.; D. Buchanan, D.M.; D. T. Colquhoun, Treas.; R. A. McLean, Sec.; and the other office-bearers in their respective places. The hall was completely filled with members and visitors, among whom were Bros. J. Booth, W.M. 87; J. Morgan, W.M. 219; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); and others. The deputation was received by the brethren upstanding, and with the customary formalities. Bro. McTaggart before reading the report said, he was proud to say it was a most favourable one; in fact, no better in the province, and most encouraging. It was simply this, "We, the undersigned office-bearers of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow, hereby certify that we visited Caledonian Railway, 354, on the evening of Wednesday, 3rd May, examined the various books of the lodge, and found them in a most satisfactory condition, and that generally the lodge is working in strict harmony with the laws of the Grand Lodge of Scotland." Bro. Baird, P.G.S.M., said: This report must be very satisfactory to every member of the lodge, and, indeed, it stands next highest to any lodge in the province, so far as we have visited this year, as regards charity. You have disbursed no less than close upon £20 towards the relief of the poor and distressed, and I will take the first opportunity of conveying to Bro. Neilson, the P.G.M., the flourishing condition of this his mother lodge. Bro. Fraser, the acting W.M., then thanked the P.G.L. deputation, and apologised for his presence in the chair. He was kindly waited upon, and requested, in the absence of the respected W.M., Bro. Ferguson, to preside [that evening, therefore his appearance here to night. He (the chairman) concluded by proposing a vote of thanks to the Provincial Grand Lodge officers, which was heartily responded to. On the motion of Bro. Harley, S.W., and seconded by Bro. McKenzie, J.W., Bros. J. Miller, P.M. 87, P.G.J.D., and Ritchie, P.G. Archt. were obligated honorary members of the lodge. The P.G.L. deputation then retired. The lodge was then called to refreshment, when a most enjoyable evening was spent in harmony. Bro. Hardie, of Lodge 87, presided at the harmonium, and gave some splendid selections of music. The chair was occupied in rotation by Bros. Fraser and D. Reid, I.P.M. 465.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Dramatic (No. 571).—The regular meeting of this prosperous lodge was held in St. Mark's Hall, 213, Buchanan-street, on Wednesday, 3rd inst., at three o'clock p.m. The W.M., Bro. W. J. E. Dobson, occupied the chair, supported by Bros. H. W. Jackman, S.W.; R. S. Smyth, S.D., acting J.W.; J. Houston, D.M.; W. Barbour, Treas.; Weir, acting Sec.; L. Mitchell, J.D.; J. Robertson, I.G.; and Hardie, Tyler. Visitors: Bros. D. Lamb, D.M. 360; J. M. Oliver, S.W. 360; W. Phillips, W.M. 556; P. Brownlie, J.W. 34; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); R. Allan, Sec. 581; Dr. Buchanan, 4; G. W. Wheeler, 73; W. Reynolds, 556; and others. On the minutes being read and confirmed, Mr. A. A. Gibb was initiated into Freemasonry by the W.M.; Bro. W. Buchanan passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by Bro. Oliver, S.W. 360; and Bros. G. Connell and F. Muir were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason by Bro. D. Lamb, D.M. 360. The working of the three degrees was rendered in a careful and impressive manner.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Plantation (No. 581).—A meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, Craigiehall-street, on Monday evening, 1st inst. Bro. T. Stobo, W.M. in the chair; Alex. Gow, S.M.; D. Peacock, S.W.; J. Henry, J.W.; W. Taylor, Treas.; R. Allan, Sec.; T. Paterson, I.G.; and Cumming, Tyler. Visitors, Bros. D. Smart, W.M. 347; J. McMillan, P.M. 34; W. Bell, I.P.M. 34; T. Fletcher, P.M. 34; J. Cunningham, I.P.M. 347; J. W. Burns, I.P.M. 87; J. M. Oliver, S.W. 360; R. Macpherson, 34; R. Russell, 437; and others. On the lodge being opened, and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed, the Secretary read code of by-laws for the second time, as drawn up by the committee appointed for that purpose. Mr. T. Walker was initiated into the E.A. Degree by Bro. J. W. Burns, I.P.M. 87. The lodge was then raised to the Third Degree, when Bros. J. Wilson, W. F. Mabon, and A. Gow were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason by Bro. McMillan, P.M. 34, in that brother's well-known, able, and most impressive manner. The lodge was then resumed in the First Degree, when the first four admitted and raised brethren of the lodge presented one of their instructors with the ancient fee (a Kilmarnock bonnet); he having agreed to walk to the nearest parish church the first Sunday convenient thereafter.

SIR HENRY EDWARDS' VISIT TO THE ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

On Monday afternoon the annual visit of the Chairman of the festival of this institution, accompanied by the Stewards of the day, was paid to the schoolhouse, at St. John's Hill, Battersea Rise, by Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., Deputy Lieutenant of the West Riding, and Provincial Grand Master of West Yorkshire, who presided at the 83th anniversary festival of the institution held on Wednesday evening. Sir Henry was accompanied by Lady Edwards and Mr. Priestly Churchill Edwards, who were met at the doors of the institution by Bro. Thomas White, Past Grand Steward, Chairman of the day of the House Committee, Colonel Creaton, Colonel Burdett, Colonel Peters, Bros. Joshua Nunn, P.G. Sword Bearer; J. A. Rucker, P.G. Deacon; Griffiths Smith, Past Grand Steward; H. A. Dubois, Rev. J. M. Vaughan, R. W. Little (Sec.), and Miss S. L. Davis (head governess). They were then conducted to the exercise-room, where 124 of the girls were put through their calisthenic exercises, while others played march tunes on the pianoforte. The party were afterwards conducted over the building, and the general arrangements of the establishment for the comfort and health of the little inmates were fully shewn and explained. After this private view had been completed the distinguished visitors partook of slight refectation, and at four o'clock, when the Stewards of the festival and their families arrived to partake in the day's proceedings, adjourned to the hall, where the pupils were ranged to give specimens of their proficiency in the various branches of education pursued at the school. The room was densely crowded, and afforded sufficient evidence of the necessity for the additions to the building which have lately been decided upon. Sir Henry, Lady, and Mr. P. C. Edwards, supported by the above-named brethren of the House Committee, Miss Davis, and the other governesses, sat in front, while the executants of the different selections performed on the platform erected at the south end of the hall.

A selection of music and recitations was then given by the following pupils:—Florence S. Groves, Agnes Barron, Dora C. Bowles, Fanny J. Lawrence, Eliza Beveridge, Sarah Young, Caroline E. Holland, Caroline Hart, Charlotte A. Jay, Edith Patten, Laura Stransom, Agnes A. Nash, Lucinda Broadbent, Ellen A. Cates, Helena Meacock, Louisa Hole, Leila Pulman, Jane R. Upon, Lillian M. Nelson, Jane P. Pattison, Mary Young, Alice M. Tayler, Frances C. Clark, Kathleen N. Crampton, Beatrice M. Wray, Mary C. A. Sargent, Ellen Lucy Morgan, Beatrice A. Bindon, Elizabeth Owens, Mary E. Sharp, Melora F. Goodridge, Mary E. Barnes, Kate Hulme, Lily O. Hiron, Lucy Kate Clemence, Ethel Hinson, Rosalie Bowditch, Matilda M. Sherry, Katherine Emery, Louisa Christine Oates, Florence R. Sargent, Rose A. Jennings, Alice M. Newbould, Fanny S. Craig, and Colina Sharp.

These performances were very loudly applauded, the whole assembly exhibiting much pleasure at the readiness and fluency with which they were given. At the conclusion of these proceedings,

Sir Henry Edwards, before presenting the prizes, said that the display had taken so long that the time for the remainder of the day's proceedings was very much narrowed. He should, therefore, excuse himself from making a long speech to the meeting, and would simply address himself to the pupils to whom the prizes had been awarded. He could not, however, resist the temptation of, in the first instance, congratulating, with his whole heart and soul, Miss Davis on the result of her labours, as evinced by what the children had just done. It must be to her one of the proudest days of her life. He had not enjoyed the pleasure of partaking of such a treat as he had had that day for a long, long time, and he hoped it might not be the last occasion, but that it might be followed by many others on which he might have an opportunity, year after year, of seeing the admirable progress made by the pupils of that institution. He had been perfectly astounded at what he had seen and heard; he had had no conception—he confessed it at once—that the education of children was conducted to such a pitch as in that school. He had just heard some of the finest playing he had ever listened to in his life; some of the best recitations from pupils who appeared 10, 11, or 12 years old, such as surprised him as much as they had his lady on his right. But one thing that astonished him perhaps as much as anything was the admirable time kept by the 20 and 30 hands on the pianos all at once. He had never heard anything like it. It must also be quite clear to all the ladies and gentlemen present that these young persons were taught foreign languages very well. They had given specimens of French and German; and the French was so good that he had enquired of Miss Davis whether they had visited on the Continent for some time, and he was more astonished when he was told they had not, but were entirely educated by herself. The fact was that Miss Davis superintended the education of every child belonging to the establishment, and whether it was English, French, or German, music, or general education, the credit was due to her. Nobody could deny, after what they had seen, that the girls understood English grammar perfectly. What he very much admired was that in their pronunciation there was nothing provincial; there was a pure, soft dialect about it which was found in the south of England, but not in the north—Yorkshire, for instance. (Laughter.) Also in general literature it appeared to him the pupils were very far advanced indeed. He likewise understood, though he had not had an opportunity of witnessing it, that great capability was shown by the girls in the dancing class. He could not help noticing how happy the children were; and when he came to look at Miss Davis's face he could not wonder at it, for he must confess she bore the appearance of a most kind and good-natured friend. As to the general arrangements of the establishment for the health, comfort, happiness, and education of the children, he never saw anything so perfect in his life. He and Lady Edwards had gone all through the place, and found there was not a single thing out of its place. There was every requisite for each girl; and the establishment was so well conducted that every Freemason in England ought to go there and see the whole thing, and satisfy himself how well the money he had subscribed was laid out.

Sir Henry Edwards then distributed the prizes in the following order to the recipients whose names appear in the list, Bro. Thomas W. White calling the little girls up seriatim:—

LIST OF PUPILS WHO RECEIVED PRIZES.

Lilian Mary Nelson, the gold medal for proficiency, given annually by Bro. William Paas, with £5 given annually by Bro. William Winn (Leila Lucy Caparn having gained them last year).

Lucy Kate Clemence, the silver medal for good conduct, given annually by the Institution, with £5 given annually by Bro. William Winn.

Jane P. Pattison, £5 for general proficiency, given annually by Bro. William Winn.

PRIZES GIVEN ANNUALLY BY THE INSTITUTION:—Leila Lucy Caparn (since left), for taking honours Cambridge Examination, with distinction in religious knowledge; Lilian Mary Nelson and Jane P. Pattison, for passing Cambridge Examination; Lily O. Hiron, for general improvement, 1st Class; Mary Emma Barnes, for French; Louisa Hole, Melora F. Goodridge, Dora C. Bowles, and Jane R. Upton, for music; Josephine B. Mackay and Fanny J. Lawrence, for vocal music; Eliza Beveridge, for music among the little girls; Kate Hulme, Henrietta J. Featherstone, and Blanche E. Morris, for drawing; Ada Gertrude Chapman and Amy Emma Mills, for general usefulness; Janet S. Davidson and Caroline E. Holland for needlework; Annie Gertrude Earle and Mary H. Davies for machine work; Henrietta J. Featherstone, for good conduct; Blanche E. Morris, for general proficiency, 2nd class; Edith A. Wilson, for general proficiency, 3rd class; Catherine J. Scurr, for general proficiency, 4th class; Frances E. Gardner, for perseverance, 2nd class; Grace A. Colvill, for perseverance 3rd class; Maud A. Jay, for perseverance, 4th class.

By Bro. Joshua Nunn, for fancy work:—Lucy Kate Clemence and Leila Pulman.

By Bro. Raynham Stewart, for dictation:—Frances Harman, 1st class; Ellen A. Cates, 2nd class; Fanny Ashby, 3rd class; Mary Emma Barsby, 4th class; Mary Louisa Bowler, 5th class.

By Bro. Rev. P. H. E. Brette, D.D., for French:—Louisa Hole.

By Mrs. Crick, for elocution:—Agnes Barron, Alice Maud Thornbury, and Colina Sharp.

By Bro. John M. Clabon, for good conduct:—Annie S. Dawson and Matilda M. Sherry.

By Bro. Joseph Starkey, for drawing:—Florence S. Groves and Leila Pulman.

By Bro. Collard Moutrie, for music:—Florence S. Groves.

By Bro. Louis Hirsch, for German:—Lilian Mary Nelson.

By Bro. H. W. Hemsworth, for amiability, as voted by their schoolfellows:—Caroline Hart and Matilda M. Sherry.

Sir Henry Edwards announced that for the first time another prize has been presented, which was as follows:—
ADDITIONAL PRIZE:—"The St. James' Yates Memorial Prize," given annually by the St. James' Lodge, No. 482, Handsworth, £2 10s., for proficiency in domestic duties:—Ada Gertrude Chapman.

He remarked that he was very much gratified that the brethren of Handsworth had selected such a subject for a prize; for no accomplishment was more valuable or more tended to the happiness and comfort of the family circle than proficiency in domestic duties. He then heartily congratulated Ada Gertrude Chapman on having won this prize.

Bro. Thomas W. White then rose and said, that there was one thing they could not separate without doing, and that was to give a cordial vote of thanks to Sir Henry and Lady Edwards for so kindly coming down to Battersea to inspect the institution and to give away the prizes. They must all be highly gratified by what Sir Henry Edwards had said of the institution, of the detail of the education, and the whole arrangements.

Bro. Griffiths Smith having seconded the motion, it was unanimously adopted.

Sir Henry Edwards, in reply, said he could not part with the meeting without saying a word or two. First, he would thank the meeting for the vote just passed on behalf of Lady Edwards and himself. He would repeat again what he had said before, because he thought it was of importance that the world should know it, that he never was in an establishment so complete in all its branches, and so satisfactory to all those interested in it, as this establishment of the Masonic Girls' School. Everything about it was so complete that he did not really see what more could be said about it. The occasion of giving these prizes was a very interesting one, and it was rendered more interesting when he saw nearly half of the entire number of the children in the establishment had won prizes. He hoped that next year very many more would do so. He was sure their conduct merited it; but all could not gain prizes; some only must win, and some must lose. There were different gradations of working talent. Some were far more talented than others, and it was frequently on account of no fault, but only from want of ability, that some did not win. Therefore, it was always a painful thing to find that those who had nearly caught the mark had failed.

Sir Henry Edwards and party then retired, and the company, which numbered between 400 and 500 ladies and gentlemen, partook of tea, and afterwards saw the children go through their exercises, and then joined them in dancing till eleven o'clock.

The brethren and ladies below were among those who took part in the proceedings:—Mr. and Mrs. Dubois, George Kenning, H. Massey ("Freemason"), H. C. Le-vander, J. N. Butcher, Thomas W. Festibree, Miss Russon, Miss McWilliam, E. H. Thielley, Miss Wheatley, Mrs. Bingham, J. Southwood, W. Hudson, Miss Cox, Mrs. Spoor, Miss Crich, A. C. Veley, Mrs. T. W. White, Mrs. and Miss Bowie, Mr. and Mrs. John Gould, Geo. Penn, Charles Jardine, Miss Allshorn, Miss Kipel, Miss Amy Kipel, George King, jun., Miss C. M. King, J. C. Adham, J. T. Berri, Charles Frederick Hogard, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Howe, Richard Boncey, Edward Cox, Mrs. Cox, and Miss Cox, J. L. Spoor, B. Hamilton, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Parker, Miss Milne, Josh. Seeley, Josh. Clever, Miss Coutts, Mrs. Ireton, Miss Maggie Coutts, Thomas Willes, R. H. Davis, Mrs. Davis, Louis Hirsch, A. G. Baines, Mrs. Baines, G. M. E. Snow, M. S. Larham, P. Larham, Mr. Newton, C. Burmeister, H. W. Hemsworth, J. A. Farnfield, H. W. Milson, W. G. and Mrs. Lockwood, Hormusjee Jamsetjee Rustomjee (from Kurrachee), C. H. Dye, J. H. Bennett, W. Mitchell, H. Pinn, E. C. Mather, Mrs. E. C. Mather, W. Langton, Mrs. Mutabini, Mrs. Withers, Mrs. Potter, Mrs. C. Potter, H. Potter, W. T. Willes, the Misses Massey (2), R. B. Webster, R. H. Williams, R. C. Mansfield (?), W. Bailey, W. Smith Miss Mugleton, W. G. Barnes, W. G. Lemon, W. Winn, J. K. Stead, D. Betts, W. W. Baxter, George Weeks, Chas. Horsley, Levy, F. Keily, T. H. Miller, Mrs. Miller, W. Ruddoch, Mrs. Ruddoch, R. V. Ruddoch, H. D. Wood, J. Webberley, Mrs. Puller, Mrs. E. Shaw, Miss E. Shaw, J. B. Sorrell, J. B. Sorrell, jun., R. W. Smith, J. D. Allcroft, H. H. Dobree, B. H. Mallam, T. Riley, A. S. Stewart, Miss F. Pratt, T. Bull and Mrs. Bull, Mrs. W. H. Moses, Mrs. F. Fenner, Miss and Master Fenner, R. S. Davies and Mrs. Davies, C. Atkins, Miss Atkins, Mrs. Hill, A. J. Thomson, L. Thomas, J. M. Cox, E. Sewell, M.A., Mrs. Sewell, J. Mason, W. T. Howe, Miss Howe, W. W. Morgan, jun., Mrs. Morgan, Miss Morgan, Wm. Klingenstein, Mrs. Schubach, John Symonds, Thos. Fairweather, E. Simpson Baitrie, G. P. Brockbank, G. A. Brockbank, John Constable, Mrs. Constable, Miss Constable, Miss Hurst, H. Moore, C. A. Leigh, Mrs. Mills, D. W. Pearce, L. Pearce, H. Browne, W. Hilton, Thos. Hamilton, Robert Griggs, Mrs. A. San-ley, C. F. Poupard, Emily Poupard, W. K. Drew, Mrs. Poupard, James Warner, W. Clouston, Mrs. Clouston, G. J. Grove, North Ritherdon, Dr. Henry J. Strong, Mrs. Strong, Thomas Massa, F. Binckes, Walter Char-teris, J. G. Marsh, Edw. Spooner, T. H. Tibbits, T. J. Berry, C. J. G. Rushworth, G. W. Verry, John Appleby, Thomas Cubitt, John Farnfield, Captain J. Wordsworth, E. B. Chalmer, M.A., W. F. C. Moutrie, W. Murlis, William Stephens, W. H. Hubbard, and W. H. Diamond.

DAYLIGHT reflected in dark rooms. Gas superseded in day time. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors.—Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street London.

ARRIVAL IN ENGLAND OF THE MOST WORSHIPFUL GRAND MASTER.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, Most Worshipful Grand Master of English Freemasons, after an absence of exactly seven months, during which he has visited the chief places of note in India, returned to his native land on Thursday afternoon. His vessel was sighted off Portland at seven o'clock in the morning and he arrived at Portsmouth at three.

Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales left London on Wednesday evening with the royal children to meet her husband, and reached Portsmouth about eight o'clock the same evening. Portsmouth from an early hour in the morning was gaily decorated with flags, and business was entirely suspended. The whole place put on an holiday garb; the ships were similarly adorned; and the dockyard and railway station were most profusely and tastefully enlivened with flowers and bunting. All the naval authorities turned out to welcome His Royal Highness, and to catch as early a glimpse as they could of the long absent Heir Apparent. The day was beautifully fine, the sun being unclouded the whole day. While every one was busy in seeing how he could best honour the arrival of His Royal Highness the Freemasons of Hampshire and the Isle of Wight were not behind them, and it was arranged, as noticed by us last week, that a Provincial Grand Lodge should be held for the purpose of voting and presenting him with a welcome address in the very province in which he first touched English soil. Accordingly a Provincial Grand Lodge of Emergency was called, and the brethren were directed to assemble at half-past eleven at the beautiful Masonic Hall in St. Mary-street, Portsmouth. Seldom, perhaps, has a Provincial Grand Lodge been so well attended. The day suited everybody, as it was a general holiday, and consequently about 200 of the brethren attended. A procession of Past and Present Grand Officers was formed in the clothing room, and from thence they conducted Bro. W. Beach, M.P., Prov. G.M., into the lodge. At this time many brethren were obliged to stand, all the available seats having been taken. Among the brethren present not belonging to the province we noticed Bros. F. Binckes and Captain J. Wordsworth. The formation of the lodge was as follows:—
Bro. W. B. Beach, Prov. G.M.; Bro. W. Hickman, D.P.G.M.; Bros. Revd. J. U. Palmer, 698, as P.S.G.W.; J. W. Fordell, 175, P.G.J.W.; Rev. E. B. C. Churchill, 257, P.G. Chaplain; M. E. Frost, Prov. G. Treas; F. F. Hare, Asst. G. Reg.; J. E. Le Feuvre, 130, P. G. Sec. J. S. G. Thomas, 130, P.S.G.D.; H. Strickland, 698, P.J.G.D.; T. Giles, P.G. Supt. Works; J. S. Fulcher, 1112, P.G.D.C.; R. Newland, 342, P.G.A.D.C.; J. Parker, 141, P.G.S.B.; T. White, 1331, P.G.P.; R. Osborne, 487, P.G.C.; N. E. Manby, 130, A. Hughes, 175, E. R. Lester, P.G. Stewards; G. Cross, 359; G. R. Johnson, 487; J. H. Biggs, 130, P.G. Tyler; F. J. Excell, 1069, T.
At high noon Grand Lodge was close tyled, and the Prov. Grand Master directed Grand Secretary (Bro. Le Feuvre) to call over the roll of lodges. This having been done, and the brethren having answered, the Prov. Grand Master opened the lodge in due form, and directed the Grand Secretary to read the summons calling the Grand Lodge. After this the Prov. Grand Secretary read the following telegram which he had received.

From Knollys, Madrid, to Provincial Grand Secretary, Southampton, England.

"The Prince of Wales will be happy to receive an address at the railway station at Portsmouth; but he regrets it cannot be read, but only handed in."

The Prov. G. Master then rose and said: Brethren, we have assembled together on a peculiar but gratifying occasion, viz., to present an address to our Royal Grand Master on his return from a foreign country, and certainly the Provincial Grand Lodge of Freemasons never assembled with such an interesting purpose in view. Brethren, in former ages Princes of Wales have gained honour and distinction on the field of battle; they have extorted the admiration of surrounding nations by the prowess they have displayed; and they have been cited as ornaments to their order. But, brethren, there are other distinctions to be won, and there are other honours to be achieved besides those of the battlefield; and probably he has not done the least in his generation who has contributed in some degree to cement the blessings of peace, amity, and good-will among the various nations of the earth. (Applause.) Brethren, the relations which England holds to India are very peculiar; there is no record in history presented which affords an equivalent to it. The throne over which the mighty Akbar and Aurang-zebe the magnificent once presided has been for many a long year vacant. But it has been the valour, the talent, the splendid qualities of Clive, of Hastings, and many other eminent men whose memory is recorded wherever history presents the page, that have contributed to turn the trading settlements of a company into a mighty empire united with this. Brethren, as our relations are peculiar, and as we have assumed the rule of that great country, the permanence of that rule must depend upon the conviction which must be instilled into its inhabitants that we hold this great position for their good and for their happiness. (Applause.) And I believe though occasionally difficulties have occurred, though many wars we have had to sustain, yet I believe on the whole we have established the principle that England has so wielded her single power as to tend to produce happiness and security among the people of India. (Renewed applause.) And in what better manner could the interest which is sustained by England in that great country be displayed than when the heir of our throne takes upon himself to visit that country, and personally to enquire into the various circumstances which there exist; into the welfare of the people, into their wants and their habits, and so make himself well acquainted with everything which can tend to enable him one day to rule over that great country. (Applause.) And brethren, during that visit which he has paid, every one must have been struck with the conciliatory demeanour, and with the manner in which he has on every occasion conducted himself. The acclamations with which the feudatory princes and the people of India have greeted him have shewn that they entertain feelings of loyalty to him, which feelings of loyalty will be cemented by the personalities which his presence among them cannot have failed to inspire. Long may the feelings which he has instilled be continued. May India long be united with this country by the most intimate ties, and may the visit of the Prince of Wales be the harbinger of peace and happiness to that country, and be the means of strengthening the ties between India and England. (Renewed applause.) Brethren, there is a united feeling in favour of congratulating the Prince of Wales on his return to this country which is felt throughout the whole of our land; but by no body of men can it be more sincerely and heartily felt than by those Freemasons, over whom, we are proud to think, he is our ruler. (Applause.) Brethren, we cannot but have been aware that during the time he has been away the Prince of Wales has not neglected the principles of our order; he has taken every opportunity of joining in Masonic ceremonies, and has shown his interest in Freemasonry in every part of the world that he has visited. Then I am sure it will be with one hearty acclaim, with a united feeling of congratulation, that we are ready to vote an address to him to express our pleasure at his return, our hearty congratulations on the success which has attended his expedition. (Applause.) I will read the address now, which is as follows:—

"To His Royal Highness Albert Edward Prince of Wales, the Most Worshipful Grand Master of the Ancient and Honourable Order of the Free and Accepted Masons of England and Wales.

May it please your Royal Highness, We, the Provincial Grand Master, the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, Wardens, Officers, and Brethren of the Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons of Hampshire and the Isle of Wight, desire to approach your Royal Highness and to offer you our sincere and hearty congratulations upon the successful termination of your important mission to India, and upon your safe return to your native land. We deem this a fitting opportunity to acknowledge with pride and pleasure the hearty reception accorded to your Royal Highness by the Princes and people of that country; such reception was indeed worthy of your exalted position, as the representative of Her Most Gracious Majesty, and a fitting tribute to the esteem and regard in which Her Majesty is held by her subjects in those distant lands. We have watched with much interest the many useful and benevolent undertakings which your Royal Highness, in your exalted position as Grand Master of our Ancient Order, as well as the Heir to the Throne of these Realms, has so auspiciously inaugurated. We pray that those works of charity and public usefulness may result in the realisation of your most cherished anticipations. Permit us to offer to your Royal Highness a fraternal greeting on your arrival in this province, and we pray the Great Architect of the Universe may long spare your valuable life to the service of the Ancient Order over which you so worthily preside, and enable you to realise to a still greater extent the noble objects you have always had in view—the promotion of the happiness and prosperity of the people of England, and of peace and amity among the different nations of the earth.

"By order of the Provincial Grand Lodge.

"W. W. B. BEACH, P.G. Master.

"W. HICKMAN, D.P.G. Master.

"Countersigned,

"J. E. LE FEUVRE, P. G. Secretary."

I beg to move that this address be signed on the part of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Hampshire and the Isle of Wight.

Bro. Hickman, D.P.G.M., in seconding the motion said: It affords me great pleasure to second the proposition of our Grand Master which he has enunciated in so eloquent a manner. I will merely add to the observations he has made, that we in this province feel peculiar interest in the arrival of the Grand Master, inasmuch as his first step on English ground is on the shore of our province after a splendid tour in India; and I am sure the gratification we ourselves feel in presenting the first address to him, will be felt generally throughout the country by the whole body of Freemasons. I beg leave most cordially to second the proposition of our Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master.

The motion having been unanimously adopted, the Prov. Grand Master said that the Grand Treasurer had a number of tickets for the brethren for the railway station. He was afraid, however, that the space was but circumscribed, but some brethren might perhaps prefer to take their chance of seeing His Royal Highness in the streets. Those brethren who chose to apply were at liberty to do so.

The tickets were then distributed, and the brethren closed the lodge, and in plain clothes proceeded to the railway station, where the address was handed in to His Royal Highness, who graciously received the same.

We may add that His Royal Highness's reception throughout his route was of the most enthusiastic and cordial description, and by the side of the railway along which the Royal special ran groups both of old and young gathered to cheer him and his amiable partner and their family with their utmost strength of lung. The Royal party seemed much pleased with their reception.

FUNERAL OF THE COUNTESS DOWAGER OF DERBY.

The funeral of the late Dowager Countess of Derby took place on Thursday morning, the 2nd inst., at Knowsley Church, in the presence of a large congregation, consisting mainly of the Knowsley tenants and the villagers of the neighbourhood. The remains of the deceased lady, who died in London on the 26th ult., were brought by train to Huyton the previous day, and taken thence to Knowsley. By the express wish of the family, the funeral obsequies were of the most private character possible, with the exception of the assembly of the congregation in the church. The body was conveyed from the hall to the church in a hearse drawn by four horses, and was followed by four mourning coaches and one of the family carriages. The chief mourners were the Earl and Countess of Derby, Bro. Colonel the Hon. F. A. Stanley, M.P., D.G.M., W.L.; Lady Constance Stanley, Colonel the Hon. Charles J. F. Stanley, Rev. Canon Hoopwood, Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M., Eng., P.G.M.; Mr. Arthur Wilbraham representing his father, Col. the Hon. E. B. Wilbraham, (at present in Rome), Admiral Hornby, Mr. G. C. Hale, Mr. T. H. Sanderson, private secretary to Lord Derby; and Mr. William Moulton. The body was met at the church gate by the Rev. W. L. Fielden, rector of the parish; the Rev. J. B. Boulton, curate; and the Rev. O. H. L. Penrhyn, rector of the adjoining parish of Huyton, and taken into the church, where the service of the Church of England was impressively read. The bearers of the coffin—which, upon being taken from the hearse, was covered with a black pall bordered with white—were old labourers upon the estate. The coffin was deposited in the family vault under the nave of the edifice, which previously was tenanted only by that of the late Earl of Derby. It is a fac-simile of that which contains the remains of the late earl, being covered with crimson velvet, and having brass mountings. Upon a massive brass plate in the lid was engraved the following inscription:—

EMMA CAROLINE,
COUNTESS DOWAGER OF DERBY;
Born, March 17th, 1805.

Married

Edward Geoffrey, 14th Earl of Derby.

Died April 26th, 1876.

The flag at Huyton Church was hoisted half-mast high, and the peal of bells (muffled) rang at intervals during the morning. At the close of the service, Lord and Lady Derby and the other chief mourners descended into the vault and took a last look at the coffin, and afterwards the congregation availed themselves of the privilege accorded to them to inspect the resting place of the deceased and her illustrious husband. Lord Derby left in the afternoon for London.

A movable Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons was held on Friday, the 28th ult., at the Masonic Hall, Bristol. A report of the proceeding will appear in our next.

A sermon will be preached by Bro. the Rev. A. F. A. Woodford, P.G.C., on Sunday the 21st inst., at St. Michael and All Angels, North Kensington, and a collection will be made in aid of the payment of a debt due to the estate of the late esteemed Bro. John Cowland.

The Marquis of Hartington, P. G.M. Derbyshire, the leader of the liberal party in the House Commons, had a parliamentary dinner on Wednesday evening at Devonshire House, Piccadilly.

WHEN the summer, with all its attendant pleasures, comes round, there is invariably an increased demand for sparkling wines. Under this head, however, a good many things are sold which do not resemble the juice of the grape except in name. It is a fact that since wines have been more generally consumed the consumption of spirits has decreased in proportion to the population, and so much having been gained it would be well to go a step further by drinking wines of pure quality only. This is especially essential in regard to sparkling wines, which are perhaps the more generally "doctored" of all. It is, therefore, with satisfaction that we have noticed the endeavours of such a firm as McCracken's, of Queen-street, who have earned a reputation in the City for more than forty years for supplying wines of the finest vintages at fair prices, to introduce a good sparkling wine under its own name, and thus let us know what we are drinking. The wines of Neuchatel were first brought before the readers of the Press by the "Times" some years ago, when reference was made to the Neuchatel Champagne, imported by the firm we have named, in the highest terms. Since then the demand in the upper circles for this genuine sparkling wine, instead of the inferior qualities from the districts round the Marne, has steadily increased, so much so that Bouvier Frères, whose vineyards are in proximity to the lake from whence the wine takes its name, have found it necessary to double the extent of their plant to keep pace with the demand. When it is remembered that so far back as 1862, and again in 1867, the wine received medals at both Exhibitions it is not surprising that it should have gained further in public opinion. And when we consider that the price of the wine is only 42s. per dozen, and that the quality is above reproach, we may fairly confirm the high medical opinion expressed by the "Times" to the effect that it is really invaluable in the hands of the physician.

Reviews.

THE ROSICRUCIAN, &C., A QUARTERLY MAGAZINE.

We have perused with gratification the new issue of the "Rosicrucian." It is edited by Bros. W. R. Woodman and R. W. Little, both well known in Masonry as well as in the High Grades, and is, we think, likely to find much favour as well among those for whom it is mainly intended as among the Masonic-reading public. Not being a member ourselves of these exalted grades, for which our two confreres so ably cater in the "Rosicrucian," we feel much difficulty and some diffidence in approaching the subject of Rosicrucian literature! The editors express their hope that they are to be assisted by "some of the best and brightest Masons in Great Britain" in the future numbers of the "Rosicrucian," and only humble Craft Masons, ourselves, as the Frenchman said, "Rien de moins et rien de plus," we still deem it to be right to call attention to this addition, or rather restoration, to our Masonic serial literature. We therefore are very glad to mention the subject of this fresh effort of our enterprising publisher, as many, no doubt, do not know of its existence. The articles are interesting and varied, and such as will sustain the editorial character of the magazine. We always feel how deferentially we poor Craftsmen should speak of those so-called Higher Grades, which have so much attraction for many. For us, rightly or wrongly, we will not pause to consider, Freemasonry ends with the Royal Arch, and beyond its broad basis and its wide limits we find no standing point for ourselves, we do not feel disposed to go. But others have done so, and do so daily, in their full liberty on the subject. For them a magazine is needful and rightful as is for us our "Masonic Magazine;" for them it may be, let us hope, also as helpful as for us, and sure we are that in no better hands could the editorial pens be placed of the "Rosicrucian." So we wish it all success, and we congratulate Bro. Kenning both on its neat appearance and its literary value, as a very fitting representative of the High Grades. W. F. A.

INDIAN NUMBER OF THE "GRAPHIC."

We commend this paper, full of most interesting engravings, to our numerous readers, as a pleasant souvenir of our Royal Master's visit to India. W. F. A.

TESTIMONIAL AND DINNER TO BRO. WM. HERBAGE.

On Wednesday week a number of gentlemen assembled at dinner at the City United Club, Ludgate Circus, to present a testimonial to Bro. Wm. Herbage, late the manager of the Ludgate Hill Branch of the City Bank. The testimonial consisted of an epergne and plateau, together with a silver tea and coffee service, manufactured by Messrs. Martin, Hall, & Co., (Limited), at a cost of about £140.

Bro. Herbage was for many years general manager at the City Bank, Ludgate Hill, and left there to become joint general manager of the London and South-Western Bank. The Chairman of the committee was Bro. Alderman S. C. Hadley; the Vice-Chairman, N. Salamon, Esq.; and the Hon. Secretary, Bro. F. Kent, C.C., P.M. 177.

The committee were Alderman Hadley (Hadley Brothers), Henry Jeffery, Esq. (Cassell, Petter, and Galpin), Messrs. Chant and Crawford (Messrs. Dollond's), Chas. Samuel, Esq. (Samuel Brothers), F. Kent, C.C. (Kent and Kent, parliamentary agents), Dr. Wilson, Henry Harben, Esq. (Prudential Assurance Office), N. Salamon, Esq., Alfred Pearce, Esq., Bro. Henry Mathew, J. J. Merriman, Esq., T. W. Braithwaite, Esq. (Record and Writ Clerks' Office, Chancery Lane).

The donors were over fifty in number, and their names were set out on the menu card, which was designed by the Hon. Secretary, Bro. F. Kent, C.C., and printed by Messrs. Jones and Cuthbertson, of Friday Street.

Bro. Herbage has greatly distinguished himself as a student of the "Theory and History of Banking," and some years ago, when public lectures were delivered in the City of London on the subject, and certificates of proficiency offered, Bro. Herbage was one of the competitors, and was one of the three who obtained the certificates.

The list of donors to the testimonial consisted of Bro. Alderman Hadley (Messrs. Hadley Bros.), the Municipal Permanent Building Society, Messrs. Cassell, Petter, and Galpin, Dr. Wilson, Messrs. Kent and Kent, T. W. Braithwaite, Esq., A. B. Pearce, Esq., Messrs. Dollond and Co., Messrs. Judd and Co., G. H. Judd, Esq., Charles Samuel, Esq., N. Salamon, Esq., British Mutual Investment Co., S. Whitaker, Esq., Bro. Henry Mathew, Messrs. Trice and Chapman, Thos. Ingram, Esq., J. R. Burchett, Esq., J. Jones, Esq., Prudential Assurance Co., W. J. Villars, Esq., W. J. Twigg, Esq., James Green, Esq., Rev. C. Rogers, L.L.D., W. J. Almond, Esq., John Galpin, Esq., R. Hall, Esq., A. Berkett, Esq., F. Martin, Esq., A. W. Martin, Esq., H. W. Minter, Esq., F. Hancock, Esq., Henry Watts, Esq., C. Binyon, Esq., Messrs. Keene and Rogers, G. W. Dray, Esq., John Hurren, Esq., the Royal Historical Society, W. Liebeskind, Esq., Amity Investment Co., Limited, S. E. Fox, Esq., W. Barwell, Esq., J. H. Grain, Esq., L. C. Alexander, Esq., L.L.D., John Marshall, Esq., A. Thierry, Esq., Miss Connop, F. Walton, Esq., S. B. Gwynn, Esq., and the General Mutual Investment Building Society.

Bro. Alderman Hadley took the chair, and, after a very choice banquet had been partaken of, proposed "The Queen, the Prince and Princess of Wales, and the other Members of the Royal Family." He then proposed the toast of the evening, "Mr. Herbage," and presented the testimonial, which was displayed at one end of the room. In presenting it, he said that the donee was a gentleman whom they all appreciated and admired. The City of London for many, many generations had been renowned for producing great men, whom it had brought to the front not only in its own internal management and direction, but also those who had stepped outside, after being nurtured and cultured in it, to rule and destine the world. The gentleman whom they were then assembled to honour had in his own sphere and in the particular locality to which all the gentlemen present belonged acquired to himself an amount of friendship and esteem which few had achieved in the short space of time during which he had been located in that neighbourhood. As men of business, they knew perfectly well what it was to contend with all the various vicissitudes and turmoil and changes of a mercantile life. They also knew how great a thing it was for them to meet with friends in such circumstances who could lend a helping hand. Such a friend and such a man was Mr. Herbage, and throughout his business career he had shown great ability, energy, and talent. It was for this that they as business men, understanding what business was, wished to show their appreciation of these qualities. Mr. Herbage had been associated with the City Bank for 20 years, and there was not a single customer of that bank but would bear testimony to his unswerving fidelity, his great ability, his kindness and courtesy at all times. While faithful to his duties to his employers he was ready with his assistance as bank manager to the customers; and while bidding him farewell, as he was going into another sphere of usefulness, they all wished him every success in it, assuring him all the while that they would never forget the friendship which had sprung up between them.

Bro. Herbage, who was received with loud applause, expressed his great gratification at such a recognition of his endeavours to win the confidence and esteem of those with whom he was brought into business relations. In the neighbourhood west of St. Paul's, where he had been engaged for seven years as bank manager, there was as large an amount of important business carried on as there was east of that centre, although people living eastwards were not disposed to recognise the fact; and in confirmation of his opinion he referred to the very large establishments which had risen of late years to colossal dimensions. With reference to the testimonial, he said it would leave an indelible impression on his mind, and it would be transmitted to his children, he hoped, as an incentive to them to follow in the path which he had tried to walk in. (Cheers.)

Mr. Judd proposed "The Chairman's Health," and Mr. Braithwaite that of "The Vice-Chairman," to which two toasts Bro. Alderman Hadley and Mr. N. Salamon responded.

Dr. Rogers responded for "The Royal Historical Society."

Mr. Dimsdale proposed "The Committee and Secretary," to which Bro. F. Kent replied, stating with how much pleasure he had performed his duties, which were certainly of a somewhat onerous character.

The meeting shortly afterwards broke up.

The inscription on the salver presented to Bro. Herbage was as follows:—"This salver, with an epergne and a tea and coffee service in silver, was presented to Mr. William Herbage by customers of the City Bank, Ludgate Hill, on his retiring from the management of that bank, as a mark of their friendship and appreciation of the ability and uniform courtesy shown by him at all times in his conduct of business during the seven years of his management. Committee: Alderman S. C. Hadley, Chairman; T. W. Braithwaite, Henry Mathew, J. R. Chant, Hon. Treasurer; N. Salamon, J. J. Merriman, Tyson Crawford, Henry Harben, Henry Jeffery, Fred. Kent, Alfred Pearce, Charles Samuel, F. W. Wilson, M.D."

ANCIENT AND PRIMITIVE MASONRY.

The following has been forwarded to us for publication:—

In consequence of enquiries and suggestions emanating from Canada and various parts of this kingdom, I am instructed by the G.M. to promulgate the following order and decree.

S. P. LEATHER, 33-95°, Sec.-Genl. pro tem., Burnley, Lancashire.

"In the name of the Sovereign Sanctuary of Ancient and Primitive Masonry in and for Great Britain and Ireland. Salutation on all points of the Triangle. Respect to the Order.

"Peace. Tolerance. Truth.

"Whereas the Ancient and Primitive Rite of Masonry, of 33°, represents the Ancient and Primitive Rite of Memphis, embracing 96 degrees; and whereas the Grand Master and officers of the Sovereign Sanctuary in and for Great Britain and Ireland, duly constituted, are also certified members of the Ancient and Primitive Rite of Mizraim, embracing 90 degrees, of which there is no governing body within the limits of the jurisdiction of the said Sovereign Sanctuary, and whereas a large number of holders of the degrees of the said Rite of Mizraim have elected to work under the said Sovereign Sanctuary: Be it known, therefore, that at the request of the said members the Grand Master has decreed: That it is lawful for the Sovereign Sanctuary in and for Great Britain and Ireland, and its dependencies, or any subordinate body thereof, to grant by communication any or all corresponding degrees of the Oriental Rites of Mizraim and Memphis of 90 and 95 degrees respectively, or by request to work any of the discarded degrees of the Ancient Rite of Memphis, and that upon payment of the fees the same may be endorsed upon the certificates of the Sovereign Sanctuary of the Ancient and Primitive Rite of Masonry in and for Great Britain and Ireland.

(Signed)

"JOHN YARKER, G.M.

"April 28th, 1876."

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

The General Committee of this institution met on Saturday, the 6th ult., at Freemasons' Hall, Bro. Raynham W. Stewart in the chair. There were also present Bros. Benj. Head, H. W. Hunt, Jesse Turner, J. G. Chancellor, S. Rosenthal, A. Durrant, Capt. J. Wordsworth, Hyde Pullen, Alex. Wallace, John Symonds, Alfred H. Diaper, Robt. B. Webster, S. S. Cooper, J. Terry, W. F. C. Moutrie, Frederick Adlard, Charles Horsley, H. Norman, J. W. Dosell, H. Massey ("Freemason"); F. Binckes, Secretary.

Seven cases for election were before the committee, of these, four were accepted, two deferred and one rejected. There were two cases of purchase, which were recommended to the House Committee for report. Four outfits were granted to boys who had left the institution and obtained situations.

The following brethren were nominated for the Audit Committee whose election will be held at next meeting of the General Committee, nine to be elected:—Bros. John Boyd, J. W. Dosell, Benj. Head, W. Mann, D. W. Pearce, Hyde Pullen, James Terry, Jesse Turner, Robt. B. Webster, A. Wallace, G. P. Row, and A. H. Tattershall. The following brethren were nominated for the House Committee, whose election will be held at the same time:—Bros. H. Browne, B. Head, J. G. Chancellor, W. F. C. Moutrie, Hyde Pullen, W. Roebuck, S. Rosenthal, R. W. Stewart, Captain J. Wordsworth, H. W. Hunt, W. Paas, Dr. Charles Sanders, J. Bagot Scriven, and Alfred H. Diaper.

Bros. Adlard, Durrant and Wilson were chosen scrutineers for the election.

Cheques were ordered to be signed for outstanding accounts, after the report of the Audit Committee had been adopted. The brethren then adjourned.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

The Committee of this Institution met on Wednesday at Freemasons' Hall. Colonel Creaton presided, and was supported by Bros. S. Rawson, Benj. Head, Griffiths Smith, Thomas W. White, Dr. Hogg, H. M. Levy, H. G. Warren, C. A. Cottebrune, Wm. Stephens, James Brett, J. Newton, John Bellerby, G. Bolton, Raynham W. Stewart, Hyde Pullen, John Constable, L. Stan, Captain J. Wordsworth, C. F. Hogard, W. Hale, Dr. Erasmus Wilson, Dr. Strong, H. Massey ("Freemason"), and James Terry (Secretary).

Bro. Terry announced the death of one annuitant, who had received altogether the sum of £160. He also announced that there were 23 men and 32 women on the list for the election, 17 men to be elected and 10 women. Bro. Terry also read the report of the committee, containing a narrative of the year's proceedings, which have been given from time to time in our columns.

Bro. Raynham W. Stewart then gave notice of motion for the employment of Miss Norris, the daughter of Bro. Norris, the Warden of the asylum, to attend upon the old ladies there. He said that Bro. Norris was a widower and his daughter had resided with him, leaving an excellent situation to do so. It was quite necessary that a female should be employed to look after the wants of the women, and she had been very valuable in that capacity for a long time. Miss Norris's services were voluntary; but he thought the Institution ought not any longer to accept them as such. He would give notice of motion for her to be employed as an officer of the Institution at a salary of £30 per annum.

Dr. Strong bore testimony to the great service Miss Norris had been in the asylum. She was exceedingly kind to the old people, and if anything ever went wrong she was always pouring oil on the troubled waters. She frequently got up in the middle of the night when any of the female annuitants were taken ill. The brethren would allow him to say that there was nobody in the employ of the institution to do these offices. He might also add that it required a person who was in a measure in authority, and Miss Norris's father being the Warden of the institution, that requisite was supplied. Bro. Norris was a good Warden, and he exercised his office without the least show of authority.

Bro. C. F. Hogard nominated Bros. Adlard, Bellerby, and W. Hale for re-election on the committee.

Bro. Terry read a letter from Bro. Cutbush, acknowledging receipt of the vote of thanks which was passed at last meeting for his gift of shrubs to the asylum, and stating that he should always be pleased to repeat the gift when informed that it would be acceptable. The letter was couched in most kind and graceful terms, and the writer concluded by desiring Bro. Terry to convey to the committee his thanks, and to say that he felt highly honoured by their kind resolution, and should prize it as a mark of their favour as long as he lived. Bro. Terry then said he was sorry to inform the committee that two days after the date of that letter Bro. Cutbush ceased to exist.

This announcement was received with great regret, and a vote of condolence with Mrs. Cutbush was then passed, on the motion of Bro. John Constable, seconded by Bro. Bellerby.

Bro. Terry asked for and obtained the sanction of the committee for the use of the hall of the asylum for a summer entertainment for the inmates.

The committee adjourned after passing a vote of thanks to the chairman.

HAVE THE REMEDY WITHIN YOUR REACH.—Nothing has yet equalled the efficacy of Holloway's Balsamic Pills in checking disease in and restoring vigour to the human body. They root out all impurities from the blood, and regulate and invigorate every organ. Immense care is taken to secure the genuine preparation to the public, that no disappointment may be caused to invalids seeking health by Holloway's medicines. Their composition, and careful packing, prevent the impairment of their virtues by time, sea voyage, or climate. They never gripe, or cause inconvenience. In disturbances of the system, disorders of the digestive apparatus, and derangements of the bowels, these Pills exercise an almost magical power, which conquers disease safely, quickly, conveniently and cheaply.—ADVT.

TO OUR READERS

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS

are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

NOTICE.—It is very necessary for our friends to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to
GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

J.V.—Your items will be very acceptable.

The following stand over:—Consecration of Richard Giddy Lodge, Nelson, New Zealand; Egyptian Lodge, 27; Priory Lodge, 1000, Southend; St. Barnabas Lodge, 948, Leighton-Buzzard; Pomfret Lodge, 360, Northampton; Henley Lodge, 1472, North Woolwich; Thames Valley Lodge, 1460, Halliford; St. Hilda's Lodge, 240, South Shields; Albert Edward Lodge, 1560, Leicester; Hartington Lodge, 1085, Derby; Royal Cumberland Lodge, 41, Bath; Lodge of Truth, 1458, Manchester; Royal Kent Lodge of Instruction; Faith Lodge of Instruction; St. David's Lodge of Instruction, Manchester; and the following Scotch lodges: Maryhill, 510; Commercial, 360; Union, 332; St. John's, 34; Clyde, 408; Shamrock and Thistle, 275; Mark Lodge Fortescue, 9, South Molton; Red Cross Conclave, Edinburgh; "The Mark Degree Assailed."

Bro. W. Tebb's remarks in our next.

"An Eye Witness" must send his name in confidence to the Editor.

NOTICE TO OUR MANY CORRESPONDENTS AND READERS.

A supplement to the "Freemason" will be published next week, containing an account of our Royal Grand Master's reception in London, on his happy return from India. Orders should be sent at once, to ensure certainty of delivery, to Bro. George Kenning, 198, Fleet-street, E.C.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d. for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

BROAD.—On the 9th inst., at Lewisham, the wife of Bro. Broad, 184, of a daughter.

CLARK.—On Feb. 26 last, at Hobart Town, Tasmania, the wife of J. K. Clark, of a son.

CRANE.—On the 6th inst., at Wood-lane, Shepherd's-bush, the wife of W. Crane, Esq., of a son.

CUTHBERT.—On the 5th inst., at Guernsey, the wife of Major R. T. P. Cuthbert, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

FLOWER—WHITE.—On the 4th inst., at St. Thomas's, Orchard-street, Portman-square, Henry Vincent Flower, Esq., of Scarrington, Notts, to Christine Sophia, daughter of G. F. White.

REED—ROPER.—On the 6th inst., at Avranches, Normandy, Charles Edward Baines, son of Sir C. Reed, of Earlsmead, Tottenham, to Ailie Elizabeth, daughter of W. H. Roper, Esq.

GREEN-BRERETON.—On April 27th, at the Church of St. Mary, Bedford, by the father of the bride, Edmund Green, Esq., J.P., Captain B.V.R., and W.M. of the Stuart Lodge, 540, to Mary, daughter of the Rev. Charles Brereton, B.C.L., Rector of St. Mary's, Rural Dean, and Chaplain of the lodge.

DEATHS.

JONES.—On the 6th inst., at Liverpool, aged 14, Constance Charlton, daughter of J. C. Jones.

HOOPER.—On the 19th March, at Yokohama, Henry John Hooper, aged 47.

GOBBMAN.—On the 7th inst., at Surbiton, Kingston-on-Thames, Matthew Trollope Coleman, in his 65th year.

MAUND.—On the 6th inst., at Boulogne, John Maund, Esq., late of Ty Maur, Breconshire.

The Freemason.

SATURDAY, MAY 13, 1876.

WELCOME HOME AGAIN.

"Home, Sweet Home" are the words of an old strain much cherished among us, and midst "pleasures and palaces," after all, we will add, "there is no place like home." And so to day, the entire Craft welcomes back its Grand Master to his "ain fireside," after many eventful scenes, many great dangers, and many long travels. His Royal progress has been a triumphant one. He has seen Athens and the Pyramids, he has visited the stout fortress of Aden, and the crumbling palaces of Goa. He has made a pilgrimage to all the most memorable of Indian localities, he has sojourned at Malta, greeted old Gib, been refreshed by Cadiz, wondered at Seville, loitered amid the silence of the Escorial, was pleased with Cordova, and fêted at Madrid, and having been welcomed at Lisbon and Cintra, and charmed with the Tagus (who is not?) he has safely traversed the Bay of Biscay, and has landed on the friendly beach of Portsmouth. His wife and children have met him off the Isle of Wight, and now he is well and happy, and genial and frank as ever, surrounded by the loving hearts of a loyal people, and cheered by the friendly sympathy of rejoicing millions. He has had an "outing" as they say, and no mistake. He is now one of the greatest of travellers, as he is one of the coolest of sportsmen, the kindest of companions, and the most pleasant of guests. A correspondent of the "Journal des Debats" says, he is a "man of iron," and tires every one else out, and is never tired himself, sees everything, notes everything. So much the better we say, and we rejoice to think that this voyage of the Prince of Wales has been one of great success, and of greater happiness to all concerned, from first to last. That some anxieties may have been felt for him amid the perils of the jungle and the climate of distant Hindostan is probably true, that those nearest and dearest to him may have grudged his long absence, and eagerly counted the hours of his return, is also undoubted, but still, through all and in all, a gracious Providence has protected his goodly progress, and we hail him once again with the proud loyalty of Englishmen. We trust that some arrangements may be made by which the Craft at large may be enabled to welcome home again its Royal Grand Master, as we feel sure that nothing would conduce more to call forth in most marked measure the deep attachment of our great and united Order to its royal head than some such advisable and seasonable festivity. For that admirable lady the august consort of the Prince of Wales, the feeling of the Craft has been, during the Prince of Wales's absence, as on his happy return, one of inexpressible sympathy. For her virtues, as well as for her graces, her kindness of disposition, and her admirable discharge of every duty connected with her exalted position, as Freemasons we share with a grateful and gratified community, the one prevailing feeling of loyal appreciation and devotion. To the Queen the safe return of our Royal Grand Master will be a subject of heartfelt and affectionate gratification, for her as well for all of the Royal family. The members of our Royal House have lately been much scattered, though soon now to be gathered together happily again, and for them, one and all, as patriotic Englishmen and true Freemasons, we all have and must have the thorough English sentiments of attachment and affection! It is most gratifying to every loyal Englishman to see and to know how in their several stations and high vocations our Royal Family are seeking so zealously to do their duty and be useful as members of the great body politic in their time and generation. Feeling that in venturing to say what we have said, however feebly, we are but expressing the uppermost opinion of every English Freemason; believing that we are, as it were, but re-echoing the hearty good wishes and devoted aspirations of our goodly and rejoicing Craft, we beg most respectfully and yet most fraternally to tender to our Royal Grand Master, in the humble pages of the "Freemason," a Masonic and heartfelt "Welcome Home" again.

We shall recur to our Royal Grand Master's reception at home in our next.

NO POLITICS.

We published in our last impression a letter which appeared in our contemporary, the "Daily News," with reference to a very foolish act, as regards our Masonic confraternity. Since then we have seen letters many and articles many on the same subject, and we feel bound not altogether to pass the matter over silently, for fear of any possible misconception. It seems that a Conservative association has had the extreme bad taste, to say the least of it, to send a form of petition to some lodges in reference to a purely political measure, which is called the Royal Titles Bill. We can only suppose that the secretaries, Messrs. Gorst and Neville, acted without consideration and somewhat hastily, and must we not say most indiscreetly? That they deliberately intended to insult the Masonic brotherhood we do not for a moment suppose, and we cannot believe; and we would fain hope that this was on their part a hasty step, unadvisedly taken, and without giving much thought to the evident solecism in propriety and good taste they were committing. We must all be struck with one fact which this regrettable incident evidences, viz., the great ignorance which prevails as to the true position and real principles of Freemasonry in this country. To suppose that because the Prince of Wales is at our head we should therefore depart one jot or tittle from our avowed neutrality on all political questions is practically to exhibit a very low opinion alike of the professions and practice of Freemasons. For if there is one thing which distinguishes us as a body it is our absolute abstention from anything that savours of political feelings or political opinions. We have in our Order members of various views on political questions, some perhaps as contrasted and as antagonistic as well may be outside of the lodge; but within the lodge, inside the pale of Masonry, we know nothing, absolutely nothing, of the divergent aspirations of statesmen or parties, we close our ears to the war cries of faction, we ignore the "Shibboleths" of partizan hosts. We are patriot citizens of our great country, but nothing more, and in respect of politics, our feelings and our flags are alike colourless, and altogether of a neutral tint. Indeed, it is one of the great boasts of Freemasonry, that in the lodge the cries of party are unheard, and the din of worldly politics never intrudes. It must, then, be a matter of mingled surprise and regret to us all, not only that such ignorance should prevail as to our real and distinct position in such a matter, but that any such ill-timed and ill-advised circular should have been forwarded to any of our lodges. We do not wish to make too much of the matter, we somehow believe that the proceeding, properly complained of, has arisen from haste, inadvertence, and a culpable carelessness, as no one can doubt, knowing Freemasonry at all, what must be the response from any lodge in England, and in Great Britain, to this untoward circular. One more remark we will make. It is curious enough that such a step should have been taken in the face of our Royal Grand Master's emphatic warning to the Craft not to meddle with politics, and, therefore, we feel sure that it is just one of those mistakes which will occur in the "best regulated families," and which we had better at once forget, and relegate to the "limbo" of all those little follies which men often commit, either through ignorance, through excitement, or through want of consideration, which in their calmer moments they regret, and which it is our duty, especially as Freemasons, kindly to condone and good humouredly to forget.

THE PROPOSED MASONIC LIBRARY AT SHEFFIELD.

We set before our readers in our last impression, by the kind communication of our energetic Bro. S. B. Ellis, Sheffield, the proposal—a very promising one, by the way—of a Joint Masonic Library for the three Craft lodges at Sheffield. For the announcement of such an effort we were glad to afford room in our overcrowded pages and we hail such a movement heartily and warmly. So far all seems to be most successful, and cheering alike for the present and with a happy augury for the future. "Sheffield blades" to use a Yorkshire term, generally succeed in what they heartily undertake, and we have no doubt, that our good brethren there, from what we remember of them, and many kind friends we had once among them—good Masons one and all—will demonstrate to others that the old Masonic fire still burns among them clear and strong. We commend, then most sincerely the scheme itself to the attention of our Order, and to the active support of those who will be so materially and Masonically benefitted by it. For of this one thing we may all be certain, Freemasonry has now assumed an intellectual position, which must be one of advance, and of active study. The days of apathy, indifference, levity, unconcern, all are gone, and in their stead we have to deal with the demands of a young, an ardent, an enquiring generation. It has been too long assumed that Freemasonry has no literature, whereas Freemasonry has a most extensive literature, and far too many of our older school, good Masons though they were, contented themselves, so to say, with the framework of Masonry, without seeking to master the spiritual teaching and the living soul within. Hence we always gladly welcome any effort which is made to emerge from the somewhat dull and monotonous level of mere lodge routine, and to incite to study, and to offer a premium to a Masonic and laudable desire for information and instruction on all that appertains to the archæology and literature of Freemasonry. It is a great reproach to us in England that we have so few lodge libraries. Let us trust that this will soon be among the shortcomings of the past, and will be atoned for by the efforts of the present generation of Freemasons. The Sheffield brethren have most wisely resolved to remedy this want, and to remove this blot in our Masonic system, by setting on foot a library open to all the lodges in that great and important town. We have looked over the provisional catalogue, and a very good one it is. Indeed to most of our brethren Masonic bibliography is an unknown country, and few are aware that Kloss's list of Masonic works, thirty years and more ago, wonderful as it is, is far from complete, and yet that it contains nearly 6000 works on Freemasonry and cognate subjects. Now, we must not expect too much at first from such a meritorious effort, nor shut our eyes to its attendant difficulties. Many prejudices have to be overcome, and many mistaken views changed, before we shall see anything like a general taste for Masonic literature amongst us. But for a first attempt, for a new scheme, the present proposal is a most successful one, and deserves the recognition and support of all who value Freemasonry for what it is, and who can find, whether in its history, or its symbolism, or its didactic expositions, much alike to improve the mind, to gratify the sympathies, to interest the intellect, and to warm the heart! We think, that Bro. S. B. Ellis and his associate Secretary and his co-workers in this judicious movement, deserve the commendation of all who wish well to the cultivation of intellectual studies and Masonic literature in our good and friendly Order.

THE TRIUMPH OF INTOLERANCE.

Just now intolerance is very vivacious, and is too often, alas! triumphant for the moment, so far, indeed, as this world deems it to be a triumph. We have read, not without emotion, in the to us ever sacred cause of true religion, an incident which has lately taken place at Halifax, in Yorkshire, and which appeared in the pages of our last impression. It seems that Permanent Sergeant Nagle, of the 2nd West Yorkshire Yeomanry Cavalry, a fine regiment, and commanded by our gallant and esteemed Bro. Sir H. Edwards, Bart., P.G.M. for West Yorkshire, has lately died at Halifax, being a Roman Catholic. He was buried, after military honours, in the cemetery by Father Geary, Roman Catholic priest, who announced in the chapel it is alleged that "deceased had been a Freemason, but in order to die in the faith of the Roman Catholic Church he had previous to his death renounced his connection with Freemasonry." We feel sure that all our brethren will read this announcement with equal surprise and pain, not to say indignation. But the first question that occurs to us all is, is the statement true? The recorded cases of death-bed renunciation are always doubtful, and, as we know, very frequently invented for the occasion! Remembering the Chatham case, we hesitate a good deal at receiving the exact accuracy of this somewhat startling announcement. But assuming it to be a fact, what a mournful commentary it is on the very religion we all of us in common profess. We say nothing here of the principle of insubordination here set up before the rest of the regiment of yeomanry, the "imperium in imperio," the oblique censure thus cast on the commanding officer and all others who are Freemasons. What has Freemasonry perpetrated, what have Freemasons done that it and they should be made the "fulcrum" of intolerance and the sport of bigotry? Have we not enough evidences in the world of the unchanged fanaticism of humanity without invoking the holy name of religion, and the solemn moments of the death-bed to sanction and consecrate as it were the dictates of a retrograde barbarism? When in 1738 Pope Clement first launched his fiery anathema against the Order, he laid the foundation for all that hopeless intolerance and inane violence in which the Church of Rome has thought proper ever since to indulge in respect of Freemasons and Freemasonry. Just now Roman Catholics, that is, the Ultramontane party, are in a state of "monomania" as regards Freemasonry. And though many Roman Catholics are in our ranks it has become for them a matter, no doubt, of much conscientious difficulty, in face of the Bulls of their Popes now reproduced and revived by their chief authorities, and the course taken by Roman Catholic priests nearly everywhere. But it appears to us that it is idle to protest against such proceedings, deeply as we sympathize with our Roman Catholic brother Freemasons, and we have, as it also appears to us, but one course to pursue—to express our honest indignation at such irregular proceedings, and at such unwarrantable bigotry. We have this one consolation, that in so acting Rome is so outraging the feelings of our common humanity that sooner or later there must be a reaction, even in the minds of her most devoted children. During the last few years, animated by the spirit of Dominic, and rivaling the "animus" of Torquemada, the Roman Catholic Church has insulted the living and outraged the dead, as our own columns have clearly shown on incontestable authority; and at this very moment the clergy of her Church spare no efforts to ridicule, to denounce, and to insult Freemasons and Freemasonry. Be it so. We are not afraid of the issue, and we do not shrink from the struggle. On one side are the great principles of toleration, charity, justice, and goodwill to our brethren, moral right, and liberty of conscience; on the other hand, that unbridled fanaticism and that unhesitating animosity which encouraged the massacre of St. Bartholomew, which lighted the fires of Smithfield, which has violated decency and disgraced humanity, and has made the name of religion a stumbling block and a scorn to the sceptic and unbeliever. It may perhaps be not generally known, but under the Bull of Clement, 1738, on which Rome is still professedly acting, Freemasons are to be treated as stubborn heretics, to be summoned before the Inquisition, and handed over to the secular arm to be burnt. Such being the actual and official position of the Roman Curia in this deliberate persecution of Freemasons, we will next week consider what is the moral right by which the Church of Rome professes to issue such edicts, to follow such a degrading course, both of teaching and action.

GIRLS' SCHOOL.

The anniversary festival of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls took place on Wednesday, the 10th inst., at Freemasons' Hall, under the presidency of Bro. Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., P.G.M. for West Yorkshire, when the goodly amount of £8214 11s. was announced, with twelve lists to come. We shall recur to the subject in our next.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

BRO. "LUX," AND OFFICERS' JEWELS OF THE "YORK SYSTEM."

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I have been much interested in reading the letter by "Lux" respecting officers' jewels belonging to a lodge "constituted 1765 under the old York regime."

Will he kindly inform me where the lodge was held A.D. 1765, its present number, and the title of the proper Grand Lodge which constituted the lodge in question?

I shall esteem it a favour by his so doing, especially if by "the old York system" he means the "Grand Lodge of all England," formerly held in the city of York, but long ago extinct.

Unless such is meant of course the title of "York system" is wrongly used, and so I await an explanation from our Bro. "Lux," at his convenience.

WILLIAM JAMES HUGHAN.

WHAT NEXT, INDEED?

To the Editor of the Freemason.

New York, April 10, 1876.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I wrote you a few days since respecting an article in your issue of the 11th March, entitled, "What Next, Indeed?" and having just received the enclosed verbatim copy of a letter which is so peculiarly applicable to the subject under discussion I venture again to trespass on your attention. Its history is as follows:—The R.W.M. of a lodge in your city lately sent me three comical photographs, representing the "Admission," "Initiation," and "Ordeal" of a candidate. These I sent to the fair daughter of one of the office-bearers of Montgomery Lodge, No. 69, New York, with a note expressive of my desire to enlighten her as to the mysteries of our Craft and of admiration of her earnest zeal in the acquirement of such knowledge.

What was my astonishment on reading her reply I must ask you to imagine. Suffice it to say that the worst fears of Past Master Dobbin are now fully realised, and Freemasonry may now be considered as a thing of the past. In the midst of such utter demoralization it will be gratifying to Bro. Simmonds to know that my fair correspondent declares his namesake here able to "work the Third" better than any man in the United States. This eminent brother is also an office bearer in Montgomery Lodge, now for ever famous or infamous as having been the means of destroying our ancient Craft. I am told that, having a peculiar knack of twisting his thumb in and out of joint, he has not only betrayed this well-known sign, but divulged our most secret words, "Tit," "Tat," "Toe."

The game is now up; let us invite our fair friends to reunions where such signs and such words may frankly be stated; their curiosity will thus be fully satisfied, and their aid in the support of Freemasonry be gratefully given.

I am, &c.,

ST. MARY'S CHAPEL, No. 1.

[COPY.]

New York.

My dear Mr.—

Allow me to thank you very sincerely for the pictures you sent me. But do you imagine that I did not know all about it before? When I visited Montgomery Lodge I looked in every corner for the gridiron and the red-hot poker with which the Masons are branded, although I suppose the poker is only heated when you work the First. (You seem highly interested in my "thirst for knowledge," and I can appreciate your feelings.)

You say one word begins with an "L" and ends with an "E." Is it Love? There is no secret in Masonry but the peculiar mode of saying "Tit-Tat-Toe." I shall put the pictures in my album, and would consider it a great favour if you would send me your photograph. I kept my eyes open at the installation, and saw the peculiar turn of the thumb, the nail pointing outwards and the fingers extended, and now I can do it as well as yourself. I know all about the "Inner Temple of Truth," the "attentive ear," "instructive tongue," and the three pillars "Beauty," "Wisdom," and "Strength," and the G.A.O.T.U., and the "Grand Honours." I hear that Mr. G. Simons can "work the Third" better than any other man in the United States.

With kind regards for all, believe me,

Yours very truly,

"LILLIE."

DISCONTINUANCE OF THE FREEMASON.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I have perused with interest a forcible leading article in your issue of 22nd April, headed, "Discontinuance of the 'Freemason.'" At the close mention is made of the "Anglo-Saxon brotherhood." I perceive, Sir, at the present day, a tendency in journalism to ignore plain Saxon English, and to introduce words of Greek and Latin origin. Indeed, we seem travelling out of English altogether. Moreover, actual Latin and Greek words are thrust in continually. No doubt the majority of readers of the "Freemason" are good classical scholars. But in some cases it may not be so. I notice in your leading article as above "tendencies of our excellent clientele." What, is this last word? Is it French? and what does it mean? Further on, I find "sub sigillo confessionis." Again "proh pudor," which is a Latin phrase denoting exclamation and astonishment with scorn; it is found in several Latin authors; for instance, Martial X. 68-6. The word "opine," too, is used in the article—o

Latin origin and scarcely suitable in popular journalism for ordinary people.

Your obedient servant fraternally,
A STICKLER FOR PLAIN ENGLISH.

4th May, 1876.

[We are sorry that our correspondent dislikes Latin? But it is not our fault. We will allude to the subject next week or week after.—Ed.]

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS. To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

So many exaggerated statements with reference to "extravagance" and "recklessness" in connection with the expenditure of this Institution have been circulated during the past year that I think it only due to the Committee and Executive to publish for the information of all who continue to take a kindly interest in our welfare, the details of cost for the year 1875:—

	TOTAL.	PER BOY.
Establishment Charges...	£5817 5 4	£34 8 5
Office Expenditure.....	1024 16 5	6 1 3½
	£6842 1 9	£40 9 8½

The average number of boys in the establishment in 1875 was 169, as compared with 156 in 1874, in which year—

	TOTAL.	PER BOY.
Establishment Charges...	£5880 18 10	£37 13 1½
Office Expenditure.....	959 10 10	6 3 0
	£6840 9 8	£43 16 1½

The result proves the maintenance, &c., of 13 additional boys, at an additional cost of £1 12s. 1d. only, and a reduction in the cost per boy per annum of £3 7s. 3d. The same basis of calculation has been adopted as in former years, it being open to any one to make such additions as in his opinion ought to be included.

Trusting that the Governors and subscribers may consider this statement as re-assuring and satisfactory,

I am, dear Sir and Brother, yours faithfully and fraternally,
FREDERICK BINCKES,
Secretary.

REGALIA.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

"R.W.O." asks, "How is it that (say) ninety-nine out of every hundred Past Masters wear a gold or gilt jewel, when the Constitutions distinctly say it shall be in silver, &c.?"

Allow me to say that he and "Ad Rem" are confounding presentation jewels with the regulation jewels. If he should become eligible to attend Grand Lodge, he will find that he will be required to wear his silver regulation jewel. With respect to the gold jewels (in most cases presented to the P.M. by the members of the lodge), he will find they are sanctioned by the Book of Constitutions, viz.:—"No jewel shall be worn in lodge other than those specified for the officers, except such honorary or other jewels as shall be consistent with those degrees recognised by the Grand Lodge as part of ancient Freemasonry."

Yours fraternally,

MAGNUS OHREN,
Past Grand Jun. Warden for Surrey.

Mulum in Parbo; or Masonic Notes and Queries.

Can any brother put me in the way of obtaining a copy of Bro. Hughan's "Memorials of the Masonic Union of 1813?" Also a copy of Bro. Hughan's "Constitutions of the Freemasons of 1869?"

If so, I shall feel very much obliged, as they are wanted for the Sheffield Masonic Library, and I am prepared to pay a fair price for them, or reciprocate in any way desired the favour of receiving copies to complete our set of that well-known brother's Masonic works.

S. B. ELLIS, Hon. Sec.

Brocco Bank, Sheffield.

CONSECRATION OF THE MERLIN LODGE (No. 1578) AT PONTYPRIDD.

On Thursday, 27th ult., there was a large gathering of Masonic brethren at the New Inn Hotel, Pontypridd, on the occasion of the consecration of the Merlin Lodge of the Ancient, Free, and Accepted Masons (No. 1578). Upwards of 100 of the brethren from all parts of the eastern district assembled and took part in the proceedings. Some disappointment was created by the fact that the Provincial Grand Master, Bro. Theodore Mansel Talbot, was unable to be present through a severe attack of illness with which he was seized on his last day in the hunting field. In his absence, the ceremony of consecration was performed by Bro. E. J. Morris, the Deputy Provincial Grand Master.

Among those present were:—Bros. E. J. Morris, D.P.G.M.; J. C. Parkinson, J.P., P.G.D. England, P.D.G.M. Middlesex; the Rev. A. H. Truman, P.M., P.P.G.C. Somerset, No. 671; W. Hall, P.P.S.G.W.; Evan Thomas, 679, P.G.D.C.; William Morris, 679, P.P.G.S.D.; William Hodges, 679, P.P.G.S.; E. J. Thomas, 36, P.P.G.D.C.; S. Weichert, 36, P.M., W.M.; W. G. Davies, 364, P.P.G.S.W.; and D. Hopkins, 960, W.M. 960; Past Masters:—Brothers W. Whittington, 364, S.G.W.; W. J. Morgan, 476, P.P.J.G.W.; E. Roberts, 192; Rowland Thomas, 364, P.M.; J. Robertson, 679; W. H. Davies, 960, P.P.J.G.D.; W. J. Thomas, 679; Henry Green, 364, P.G.D.; Charles Taylor, 110, P.G.J.D.; Evan Jones, 679; S. Cooper, 36, P.P.S.G.O.;

J. Hurman, 960, P.P.S.G.O.; W. Parton Garrett, W.M. 364; T. G. Glass, 36, P.P.G.P.; G. H. White, 679; Charles Wilkins, 110; Samuel Hem, 960; D. Rees Lewis, 110; Evan Jones, 679; Wm. Taylor, 36; W. Little, 679; H. Stair, 364; J. Williams, 36; T. Goodfellow, 110; and brethren representing nearly every lodge in the province.

The brethren assembled in the ante-room, and then walked in procession to the lodge-room. The lodge-room was opened in the usual Masonic form by Bro. S. Weichert, the W.M. of the Glamorgan Lodge, No. 36, assisted by the W.M. of the Bute Lodge, No. 960, and their officers. The Worshipful the Dep. Prov. G.M. and the officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge entered the lodge in procession, marshalled by the Prov. and P. Prov. Directors of Ceremonies.

The chair of the lodge having been taken by the W. the Dep. Prov. G.M., the ceremony of consecration proceeded. Bro. Morris, in a few preliminary remarks, spoke of the solemn nature of the ceremony they were met to celebrate, and expressed the great regret with which they would hear of the illness of the Provincial Grand Master, which had entirely incapacitated him from being present on that occasion.

The hymn was then sung.—

"Hail! Eternal, by whose aid."

The petition to the Grand Master for the formation of the Merlin Lodge was then read, together with the warrant authorising its creation. The officers appointed under the warrant were as follows:—Bros. John Edwards Price, W.M.; Matthew Wayne Morgan, S.W.; and George John Alexander, J.W.

The Deputy Provincial Grand Master then called upon the Provincial Grand Chaplain, Bro. the Rev. A. H. Truman, to deliver an address on the advantages of Freemasonry.

Bro. Truman spoke of the high and holy duties of Freemasonry, and said they were founded upon the three great principles which would be found in the Bible, namely, to fear God, to honour the Queen, and to love the brotherhood. The brotherhood included members of every religious denomination, and of every shade of political party, but these considerations were never allowed to weigh in the conduct of Masonic lodges. He said that Masonry must have something ennobling in it, or it would not increase as it had done and was doing concurrently with the growth of religious feeling in the country.

At the conclusion of the rev. brother's remarks, the brethren sang the hymn:—

"To heaven's high Architect all praise."

The ceremony of consecration was then proceeded with, the corn, wine, oil, and salt being carried round the lodge in the usual Masonic form. The Deputy Prov. Grand Master having declared the lodge duly consecrated, the brethren then sang

"Now the evening's shadows closing."

The Deputy Prov. Grand Master then called upon Bro. Parkinson to present the Worshipful Master designate for installation, which Bro. Parkinson then did in graceful and felicitous terms.

A Board of Installation was then formed, at which there were present thirty Worshipful and Past Masters, and Bro. Price was inducted in the Master's chair according to ancient custom, the ceremony being most ably conducted by the Worshipful the Deputy Provincial G.M.

On the re-assembling of the brethren Bro. Parkinson delivered the customary address in a most impressive manner, after which the lodge was reduced to the usual form, and the Worshipful Master proceeded to invest his officers, paying to each an appropriate and graceful compliment on accession to office. The following are the officers:—Bros. Matthew Wayne Morgan, S.W.; George John Alexander, J.W.; William Williams, Treasurer; Harry Cousins, Secretary; Robert William Tolfree, Senior Deacon; Israel Williams, Junior Deacon; A. A. McLucas, Director of Ceremonies; John Walter Morgan, Organist; John Jones, Inner Guard; George Frederick Down and James Jenson, Stewards.

On the motion of the W.M., seconded by the J.W., a hearty vote of thanks was awarded to the Dep. Prov. G.M., a vote of sympathy to the Prov. G.M. on his illness and votes of thanks to the distinguished brethren who had assisted in the ceremony. Motions were also made by the Master and S.W. for the election of the R.W. Prov. G.M., Bro. Talbot, and the W. Dep. Prov. G.M., Bro. Morris, as honorary members of the lodge. Eighteen of the leading gentlemen in the neighbourhood were then proposed for initiation at the first lodge meeting in May, and two brethren for joining. The lodge was afterwards closed in due form. The musical arrangements were ably conducted by Bro. Atkins, Mus. Doc. Oxon, P.G.O., and the lodge-room was elaborately decorated with flags and flowers, lent by Bro. Hurman, P.M. 960, and Bro. Meredith, 110.

THE BANQUET.

In the evening a grand banquet took place at the New Inn, Pontypridd, to which nearly 100 brethren sat down. The banquet was served in a manner to reflect the greatest credit upon Mrs. Cousins, especially as a much larger number of brethren attended than was originally expected.

After the cloth had been cleared, the W.M., who occupied the chair, gave the toasts of "The Queen," "The Craft," and "The Most Worshipful Grand Master the Prince of Wales," in eloquent terms.

In giving the toast of "The Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master," the W.M. dealt in feeling terms upon the illness which had prevented Bro. Talbot from being present that day. He hoped that he would soon be restored to health. The toast was drunk with the greatest enthusiasm.

The Worshipful Master then proposed "The Health of the Deputy Provincial Grand Master (Bro. E. J. Morris)," and in doing so spoke of his long connection with, and services to, the province. He dwelt upon the assistance which Bro. Morris had given towards the formation of a lodge in Pontypridd, which had resulted in the Merlin Lodge, which had been consecrated that day. (Hear, hear.) He also dwelt upon the encouragement which Bro. Morris had given towards the formation of the new lodge. (Hear, hear.)

Bro. Morris, in replying, said that nearly all the consecration ceremonies in the province had been hitherto performed by the P. Grand Master in a manner which led every one to admire his knowledge of Masonic ceremonies. He said that although the brethren might have sanctioned his working of the consecration ceremony, they would have had a greater treat had Bro. Talbot been present. He had striven joyfully to perform his duty, and when it came to his retirement he hoped that he would be followed by the good wishes of all the members of the several lodges. He had several times lately thought of giving way after a long period of service—(cries of "No, no")—and of retiring into private life. If he ultimately took this step he hoped they would think only of what he had done, and take little notice of his shortcomings. (Hear, hear.) He had been able to place upon undying record that South Wales had become a large charity-giving province. Twelve years ago they were giving some £40 or £50 a year, and during the last year their subscriptions had amounted to between £400 and £500. (Hear, hear.)

The W.M. then gave the toast of "The Visitors," coupling with it the name of Bro. J. C. Parkinson, of whose reputation as a gentleman and a distinguished Mason he spoke most eulogistically.

Bro. J. C. Parkinson, in replying, said the manner in which the D.P.G.M. had treated his Masonic career might well make him bashful in the task before him. He wished them to welcome him, not as a stranger, but as the P.M. of an adjoining lodge, and as a friend, and as a neighbour. (Hear, hear.) He had assisted at many consecrations, but he had seldom, if ever, been at any where greater promise was shown than in the beginning of the Merlin Lodge. (Hear, hear.) They were not only strong in themselves, but the proposed recruits were among the best class of intellectual bread-winners. In conclusion, he wished the members of the Merlin Lodge God speed upon their voyage, and hoped he would be present on many occasions to see their progress.

Bro. the Rev. Mr. Truman also returned thanks for the visitors in a humorous speech, which was greatly relished.

Bro. E. J. Morris then proposed the toast of "The W.M. of the Merlin Lodge," which was given with full Masonic honours.

The W.M. returned thanks in fitting and feeling terms. The other toasts were—"The Provincial Grand Officers," "The Lodges of the Province," and "The Masonic Charities and the Officers."

The speeches were interspersed with some excellent songs by Bros. Cousins, Soper, Jones, Hurman, Titus, Lewis, and Elliott; and the brethren separated soon after ten, after having spent a most pleasant day, and one worthy to be marked by the whitest of white stones in the annals of Freemasonry in South Wales.

Bro. E. J. Morris had been at great trouble to make up a very elaborate and unique Shakespearean programme or dinner carte, which was put before the brethren at the banquet.

MASONIC FEMALE ORPHAN SCHOOL, DUBLIN.

The Exhibition Palace has recently been the scene of many very brilliant reunions, but we doubt very much whether it has ever presented a more festive appearance than it did on the 28th ult., on the occasion of the presentation of the prizes to the pupils of the Masonic Female Orphan School. The brethren have from year to year shown their deep interest in the welfare of the institution by attending the ceremony in very large numbers; yet on no previous similar occasion has there been so vast an assemblage present, for not only was the great concert hall filled to overflowing, but even a larger number than were accommodated within it were unable to obtain seats. At the conclusion of the formal business in the concert room, the prizes were distributed to the successful pupils by Lady G. Hamilton. The arrangements in the grand concert hall were excellent, and reflected much credit on the following brethren who acted as Stewards:—George Bell, Dr. G. Beatty, Isaac Cc'e, John D. Elliott, Thomas Fitzgerald, Henry E. Flavell, Charles Foot, Robert Furlong, John F. Goodman, George Grice, Walter Gyles, George Harvey, George Henderson, John V. Legge, Isaac Molloy, Fletcher Moore, Wm. Peebles, John P. Ryan, J. H. Woodworth, J. J. L. Robinson, Wm. Roper, Robert W. Symmes, W. T. Welland, George Westby, James H. North, and Dr. Bennett.

Prior to the opening of the proceedings the occupants of the hall had the pleasure of listening to the performance of the following selections on the great organ by Bro. Charles O. Grandison, Grand Organist:—Introduction to sacred cantata "God is Love," Mrs. J. Robinson; andante in G, Batiste; prelude and fugue, C minor, Mendelssohn; "Beauty's praise," Weber; "Ave Maria," Schubert; Cornelius's March, Mendelssohn.

His Grace the Duke of Abercorn arrived at about half-past eight o'clock, and was received by Bro. Shekleton, Deputy Grand Master, and other office-bearers. His Grace was accompanied by Lady Georgiana Hamilton, Lord Ernest Hamilton, Lord Frederick Hamilton, Mr. Gustavus, Lady Fanny and the Misses Lambert, and Colonel and Mrs. Bernard. At nine o'clock the procession was formed, and the M.W. Grand Master, His Grace the Duke of Abercorn, was conducted from the Leinster Hall to the Grand Concert Hall.

The Grand Master having taken his seat on the throne, the pupils of the school, followed by the pupils of the boys' school, entered the room, and occupied the seats provided for them in front of the platform.

The M.W. Grand Master having been saluted according to ancient custom, two verses of the 100th psalm were sung.

Dr. Elrington, Q.C., hon. sec., having read the report, His Grace the Duke of Abercorn, Grand Master, who, on rising, was received with loud and prolonged applause, said:—Ladies and Brethren,—From the report which we have just heard we may congratulate ourselves upon the success which has attended the Female Masonic Orphan School. From the report we hear that at no time has the institution been in a more prosperous state than it is at the present moment, and that the number of pupils that it is enabled to support has of late years been increased by a very great amount. Among the cheering results which we may look to with satisfaction it is most gratifying to know that in no one case has any pupil brought disgrace upon the institution (cheers), also that the situations in which they are placed on leaving school are such as are suitable for persons in the better and more educated classes. Of all the enormous and important benefits which the brotherhood of Freemasonry has conferred upon mankind there is none more useful or more interesting than that by which it is enabled to support the orphans of its members, and to give them an education and a teaching which shall show them those high social and moral duties of which Freemasonry is the earnest and incessant exponent. Ladies and brethren, on behalf of those children who have already benefited by this institution, and on behalf of those who, we hope, in future will also have the advantage of benefiting by it, I thank you for your presence here to-night, and for the interest you have shown in the objects of the institution. (Applause.)

The Right Hon. the Lord Mayor then moved the following resolution:—"That the report now read be adopted, printed, and circulated, and that the thanks of this meeting are due to the members of the several committees of the institution, and also to the medical officers of the school, for the zealous and efficient manner in which they have discharged the duties devolving upon them, and for the lively interest they take in everything conducive to the prosperity and progress of the pupils of the Masonic Female Orphan School." He said—It affords me no ordinary pleasure to propose the resolution which has just been handed to me. The marked care bestowed on these little orphans is the strongest proof of the efficient manner the committee and medical officers have discharged their duties and looked after their welfare. What greater evidence could be produced of the reality of our motto, "Love and good will" to all men, than the brotherly succour to these little ones left alone in the world. The gratification I feel, is enhanced to a great extent by the opportunity afforded me of addressing your Grace as Grand Master of our Order in Ireland, who, from your elevated position, have ever laboured to promote peace, love, and harmony in this country. I firmly hope your Grace may be long spared to represent her Gracious Majesty, and to continue your unceasing efforts to further the prosperity of Ireland. (Applause.)

The Right Hon. the Vice-Chancellor seconded the resolution, which was adopted.

The female pupils performed the following pianoforte music:—Duet, A. M. Copeland, P. Shegog, "Grand Caprice Hongrois," Ketterer; solo, G. Harte, "Les Couriers," Ritter; solo, G. Gill, "Pasquinade," Gottschale; duet, K. Baker and M. Burdge, "Chanson Napolitane," Forbes; solo, Miss Williams (pupil teacher), "Fantasia, Irish Airs," Thalberg.

The National Anthem was then sung, the solo parts being rendered by the female pupils.

The procession having been reformed, the Grand Master was conducted to the dais in the Glass Building, where the distribution of prizes by Lady Georgiana Hamilton took place.

At the conclusion of the distribution of prizes, an address to Bro. Samuel B. Oldham from the Committee of the Boys' School, was read by Bro. George Hill Major, and a similar address to Bro. Oldham from the Committee of the Girls' School was read by Dr. J. F. Elrington. An address from the pupils of the Girls' School was also presented to Bro. Oldham.

Deputy Grand Master R. W. Shekleton, on behalf of the governors of the school, tendered their thanks to his Grace the Duke of Abercorn for attending on that occasion.

His Grace the Duke of Abercorn briefly acknowledged the compliment.

The greater number of the visitors remained for a considerable time to enjoy the promenade and the fine music of the band of the Lancers.

THE MASONIC BALL IN LIVERPOOL.—The success attending the recent Annual Masonic Ball in Liverpool, in aid of the funds of West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution, has only once been exceeded, and then under very exceptional circumstances, when the attractions of Royal decorations and increased dancing space were added to the claims of the charity. For the unprecedented success which has crowned the annual festive gathering of the fraternity in 1876 the "lion's share" of the credit is due to Bro. Henry Nelson, P.M. 673 and 1505, the Honorary Secretary for the ball, who spared neither pains nor expense in making the result so creditable to the Masons of Liverpool, and so helpful to the noble institution which is the boast and pride of the Province of West Lancashire. At the final meeting of the committee, Bro. Nelson handed over the handsome sum of £251 18s., as the contribution resulting for the ball in aid of the "West Lancashire," and he well-deserved the hearty recognition which his labours received at the hands of the committee, as it well merits the applause of the brethren outside the role of the committee.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

The 88th anniversary festival of this Institution was held on Wednesday evening at Freemasons' Tavern. The festival was a decided success, for the brethren mustered in large numbers, and the subscription list was enormous. About 300 brethren sat down to a banquet, headed by Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., Deputy Lieutenant, and provincial Grand Master of West Yorkshire. He was supported by the following brethren:—Rev. C. J. Martyn, S. Tomkins, J. A. Rucker, Percy Leith, Dr. Jabez Hogg, Robert Grey, Joshua Nunn, E. P. Albert, T. Cubitt, S. Foxall, Colonel Burdett, Colonel Adair, John Hervey, Colonel Creaton, Benjamin Head, W. E. Gumbleton, Hyde Pullen, A. J. Duff Filer, John Johnasson, W. Wain, J. G. Chancellor, T. W. Tew, Isaac Booth, W. Paas, W. Peters, A. H. Tattershall, R. J. Boyall, C. F. Hogard, H. C. Levander, Griffiths Smith, Priestley Churchill Edwards, Peter Matthews, Dr. Barringer, C. A. Cottebune, H. C. Tombs, A. Schmitt, George Kenning, Hormusjee Jamssetjee Rustomjee, T. W. White, James Terry, Herbert Dicketts, E. Haigh, John Boyd, W. Hilton, W. T. Howe, Charles Horsley, J. T. Moss, Joseph Smith, and Charles Atkins. About 200 ladies were also present.

After the banquet had been partaken of, grace was sung by the musical brethren and a choir of boys, and the toasts were then proposed.

In giving the toast of "The Queen," the Chairman said Her Majesty was the daughter of an illustrious Mason. Three of her Royal sons were members of the Craft, and had already distinguished themselves in the country to which they belonged. The Queen had an additional claim on the affections of her subjects, especially Freemasons, as she was the patroness of one of the most charitable institutions of the Order. Her bright example in her public life as well as in her social and domestic position had been the best examples to her subjects.

The Chairman next gave "The M.W.G.M. the Prince of Wales, the Princess of Wales, and the other members of the Royal Family." He said the Prince of Wales was patron and President of the Institution, the Princess of Wales was patroness, and the other members of the Royal Family supported it. It had been the good fortune of English Freemasonry for nearly a century to be in the closest alliance with the Royal House of Brunswick, and the fact that so illustrious and beloved a Prince as the Heir Apparent to these realms was their Head Master strengthened that alliance he hoped into a bond that would never be broken. They were then on the very eve of the Prince's return from the East to his native land. To-morrow he would be greeted by millions of his countrymen with enthusiasm. As Masons, let them hail his return with joy, with loyalty, and affection.

The Chairman then gave "The Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon," and spoke in high terms of his distinction as a University man, as a Freemason, and a statesman. He occupied a distinguished position now, and was ever to the front either in politics or Masonry.

The Chairman next gave "Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers." Lord Skelmersdale, he said, was well known, not only in his own province and in the north, but also in the south of England, with the Masons of which localities he had become acquainted by his working and readiness to preside on all occasions when his services were required. He coupled the name of Bro. Colonel Burdett with the toast.

Colonel Burdett, Prov. G.M. for Middlesex, responded. He said he had so often had to respond to this toast that he believed he had nothing more to say. But, although he had little to say, it gave him great pleasure again to stand up and respond for the Grand Officers. With respect to those brethren, he was sure every brother would appreciate the services of every officer that had been appointed. No one had ever been able to find fault with them. He did not wish to take up more time than was necessary, but he thought he should be very remiss indeed if he did not take this opportunity of expressing his high appreciation and approbation of the way in which the chair had been filled that evening. (Great cheering.) He was sure when he mentioned that subject it would be received in the most enthusiastic manner. There was no brother more ready to support the charities in every possible way than Sir Henry Edwards, their present chairman. (Hear, hear.) He (Bro. Col. Burdett) was fortunate in being able to be present at the Girls' School to support Sir Henry Edwards on the previous Monday when he distributed the prizes; and he hoped he should have many more opportunities of supporting him. He was very much pleased on that occasion with every thing he saw there; indeed, he might say he was as much pleased as ever he had been in his life. There had hardly been any institution which had gained so much appreciation, and he was very glad of it, for it was deserving of everything good that could be thought of or done for it. In now mentioning the subject of the Girls' School, he had the greatest pleasure in introducing to the notice of the brethren the "Chairman of the evening," Sir Henry Edwards, and he trusted the brethren would honour the toast most enthusiastically.

The toast having been duly honoured.

The Chairman said that until he rose to propose the last toast he had not had the least idea that his friend and Bro. Col. Burdett was about to follow him, and he could only tell him this—that what he had said of him had been very kind, and to him he felt greatly obliged. He then said—Brethren, it is now my pleasing duty to ask you to drink "Prosperity to the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls." Masonic education means the moral, social, and intellectual development of our orphan girls, and is well worthy of the Craft's deepest interest and most anxious consideration. For a considerable time the executive of this festival was in hopes to have been enabled to announce that H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught would kindly preside, but in consequence of a strong doubt being expressed that H.R.H. would not be in England on this day, other arrangements had to be made. We greatly regret his unavoidable absence, for we know with what tact and ability he would have fulfilled the duties of this chair. This is the first occasion upon which I have occupied the chair at Freemasons' Hall at a gathering of the Craft, and the province of West Yorkshire cannot but feel highly gratified by the circumstance that I should have been solicited to accept the presidency for this day. The history of this Institution has in past years been so often and forcibly placed before the Craft by my distinguished predecessors in this chair, that it is unnecessary for me to dilate at any great length, or to say much, on the wisdom of Freemasons in founding this school at St. John's Hill, Battersea Rise. The benevolence of the brethren on previous occasions has always met the requirements of their day. But the progress which the Craft has since made, and the condition of the brethren as regards numbers and wealth has so completely changed, even within the last fifty years, that the capabilities of the original school house have long ago been outstripped by the increasing demands of applicants for admission to the benefits of this charity. At the last quarterly general court, out of a list of forty three candidates, eleven girls were elected. I understand that it will now require at least £8,479 to provide for the yearly maintenance of the buildings and for the education of over 200 girls. I doubt not, whatever, this sum will be forthcoming, and that even in these difficult and expensive times you will feel that you have not done your duty as benevolent Craftsmen if your efforts fall below the requirements of the institution. The funded property is represented by £36,500 invested in consols, and, in my opinion, this is a most gratifying financial feature, and, in addition, between £29 and £30,000 has been expended upon the grounds and buildings at St. John's Hill. Brethren, you may well be proud of the results hitherto achieved by former liberality and pecuniary efforts, and may point to the fact that this is the 88th anniversary festival, that since the foundation of the charity 1,062 girls have been maintained, clothed, and educated within the school walls, and that at the present as the present alterations are completed this number will be increased to over 200. The liberal education provided in this school could not but brighten and increase the future prospects of the inmates. They thereby hold the key in their own hands which will open the door to any employment, and tend to produce in them habits of industry, and the practice of every social, moral, and religious duty conducive, not merely to their temporal welfare, but to their eternal happiness in the Grand Lodge above. To our hands then is entrusted the noble and sacred charge of the maintenance and future welfare of our Girls' School. The brethren will not, I feel sure, be slow in coming forward on this occasion with liberal hands in support of this charity. This institution is deservedly popular amongst you. I desire that it should prosper on the basis upon which it was originally established. I, for my part, knowing generally the thriving condition of the Craft, and its increasing numbers, as also their advance in social position, in industry, and in wealth—think that the annual lists should shew a greater number of contributors from the general ranks of the Craft instead of from a few of its prominent members. Though this school is 88 years old, yet I trust its usefulness is only in its infancy, and that it will be extended beyond its present capabilities and may eventually be able to receive every candidate that may be presented at the biennial elections. It depends upon your voluntary exertions whether all the applicants shall be successful candidates or not. It requires no unusual effort, no great pecuniary sacrifices. The numerous advantages which this charity confers upon our orphan girls should give it a strong claim upon your sympathies. Its future success depends upon your response to this appeal, and I confidently hope for the honour of the Craft, and for the sake of the orphan girls that the announcement you will enable the Secretary, Bro. Little, to make to-night will be more generous and complete than has been recorded at any other previous anniversary festival. He (the chairman) had been much pleased with a visit he paid to the Girls' School on Monday last. He had the honour on that occasion, in company with Lady Edwards, to present the prizes to those pupils who had gained them up to last Christmas. It was the first time he had ever visited the Institution, and he found there everything satisfactory and complete. As regarded all the arrangements for the comfort and welfare of the pupils there could be no doubt whatever that the advantages to be derived from such an institution were unparalleled. They were taught the construction of English grammar and English literature; and the last examination proved how many had attained to excellence in various languages, music, drawing and needlework. He was astonished at the pronounciation of these young girls in French and German; so much so that he enquired of the head governess, Miss Davis, on the spot whether they had dwelt for any time on the continent. When he found that they had not he was the more astonished. Their musical performances were marvellous. There were thirty hands on the pianofortes at one time; they had no leader; and he would defy the most accomplished musician to detect any fault. Lady Edwards concurred with him in saying that it was marvellous. The calisthenic exercises also surprised him; and their precision could not be objected to by the most accomplished military men. In support of this statement he would refer to Col. Burdett. Above all there was a gentleness of manner in the whole behaviour of the pupils that was the greatest treat of all. He would advise every brother to go to the school and spend a day there. There was no place in England he would sooner go to for a day's enjoyment. He most heartily commended the institution to the support of the brethren, and in proposing "Success to the Institution" he would call on Bro. S. L. Tomkins, to reply. (Cheers.)

When the toast had been received,

Bro. S. L. Tomkins said it was with mingled feelings of regret and pleasure that he responded; of regret because the Grand Treasurer, who was the Treasurer of the institution was unable to be present; and of pleasure that he should be called upon to answer for him. He was proud to be associated with this noble institution, which all Masons thought was the greatest honour to the Craft. It had been most successful, and most favoured. All Masons would allow that they had the greatest affection for this institution from the natural feeling that they had to help the helpless and assist the fatherless. There the Girls' School commended itself to the sympathy and affection of the brethren in a way that the other institutions did not. In his own person he had seen how successful this institution had been in its management, and also what great affection the inmates had for the matron and those who were set over them. He thought the school was a model for all similar institutions, and that many, many other institutions, where the money was wasted, and where the children were not properly looked after and brought up might, well take a lesson from the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls. He hoped that the efforts of the brethren would be even more successful and powerful than they had ever been before.

Bro. Thomas W. White, as Bro. Little, the Secretary, was suffering from ill health, then announced the following subscriptions:—

	£	s.	d.
Grand Stewards' Lodge, Bros. Edwin March	30	9	0
2 W. Hope, M.D. ...	45	13	6
4 A. C. Veley ...	16	16	0
5 John Hampton Hale ...	50	8	0
7 R. C. Mansfield ...	17	6	6
8 W. H. Price Cooke ...	13	13	0
10 D. H. Pearson ...	80	15	0
11 Henry Potter ...	50	0	0
12 Alfred H. Lilley ...	97	13	0
12 (Chapter) Joseph Clever ...	54	12	0
12 (Chapter) D. Nicols ...	27	6	0
18 Herbert J. Huggins ...	39	18	0
19 E. B. Grabham ...	70	7	0
21 Griffiths Smith ...	81	18	0
22 T. Fairweather ...	49	7	0
23 E. C. Mather ...	15	15	0
28 J. G. Shearman ...	42	0	0
29 J. E. Middleton ...	14	14	0
33 W. Clouston ...	43	1	0
34 John Butler ...	45	3	0
46 Alfred Richards ...	66	3	0
49 W. Bailey ...	36	15	0
49 John S. Mercer ...	86	2	0
55 G. M. E. Snow ...	175	0	0
58 Thos. Reynolds, jun. ...	64	1	0
60 Capt. J. Wordsworth ...	10	10	0
73 Wm. Klingenstein ...	38	17	0
79 Richard Bonney ...	21	0	0
91 Watson Surr ...	30	18	0
92 Josiah Houle ...	23	2	0
99 Wm. Leask ...	73	10	0
134 H. G. A. Milford ...	16	5	6
140 Chas. Jardine ...	70	7	0
143 J. H. Matthews ...	68	15	6
162 N. J. Fenner ...	30	9	0
165 W. G. Lemon (not closed) ...	56	12	0
172 S. Hockley ...	48	16	6
174 John Appleby ...	89	14	0
176 (Chapter) J. B. Sorrell and W. S. Wyman ...	54	19	0
179 Z. D. Berry ...	18	18	0
180 W. C. Parsons ...	10	10	0
181 Henry D. Wood ...	31	10	0
205 Charles F. Hogard ...	36	15	0
206 Samuel Gamman ...	57	15	0
227 A. J. Thomas ...	30	0	0
228 Robert Griggs ...	70	7	0
235 E. H. Hewett ...	50	0	0
238 Edwin Simpson Baikie ...	40	19	6
256 R. R. Davis ...	39	7	6
259 Herbert A. Rigg ...	39	7	0
435 Wm. C. Phillips ...	25	4	0
511 A. Barfield ...	42	0	0
534 Wm. G. Moore ...	24	3	0
538 James Kench ...	63	0	0
554 John J. Berry ...	100	16	0
657 John Johnsson ...	154	2	0
733 Robert Helsdon ...	126	0	0
742 Wm. W. Baxter ...	25	14	6
749 J. Painter ...	35	7	0
820 Wm. H. Myers ...	73	10	0
822 H. Northcott ...	32	0	0
862 Thomas Kingston ...	29	8	0
902 R. N. Field ...	47	5	0
905 Alexander Peebles ...	12	12	0
1056 (Chapter) Charles Atkins ...	63	15	6
1118 George B. Brodie ...	26	15	0
1150 T. G. Bullen ...	60	6	0
1155 Henry Moore ...	79	16	0
1178 George F. Grace ...	45	3	0
1216 George Waterall ...	51	9	0
1257 John C. Cox ...	31	10	0
1260 J. H. Southwood ...	87	3	0
1261 Walter Emden ...	21	10	6
1288 Robt. V. Davies ...	26	5	0
1305 H. G. Ashwell ...	26	5	0
1329 J. H. Vockins ...	10	10	0
1348 A. J. Iretton ...	100	0	0
1351 W. Hilton ...	61	19	0
1366 Charles G. Hill ...	26	5	0
1383 Col. Alex. W. Adair ...	100	0	0

	£	s.	d.
1420 Joseph W. Hiscox ...	74	11	0
1421 C. W. Ashdown ...	33	11	0
1446 Chas. F. Poupard ...	64	1	0
1489 T. Hastings Miller ...	31	10	0
1537 R. G. Clutton ...	102	7	6
1538 Alfred Tisley ...	18	18	0
1539 Mark S. Larham ...	115	10	0
1540 Henry Faija ...	33	12	0
1558 Walter Mitchell ...	14	1	6
1563 B. H. Swallow ...	65	0	0
BERKS AND BUCKS.
1501 John Palmer ...	141	15	0
CHESHIRE.
425 Horatio Lloyd ...	26	5	0
Capt. H. A. Bennett ...	10	10	0
287 John Hanson ...	10	10	0
537 Wm. S. Sutton ...	10	10	0
W. Marwood ...	15	15	0
DEVONSHIRE.
164 W. H. Haycock ...	5	15	6
HANTS AND ISLE OF WIGHT.
319 T. J. D. Rawlins ...	21	0	0
KENT.
829 W. Hamilton ...	29	8	0
1206 H. J. Emmerson ...	10	10	0
1208 H. M. Baker ...	26	5	0
1464 J. A. Farnfield ...	44	2	0
1531 Geo. J. Guest ...	24	17	6
EAST LANCASHIRE.
221 Egerton C. Gilbert ...	6	6	0
221 J. W. Greenhalgh ...	5	5	0
WEST LANCASHIRE.
1086 J. C. Sims ...	6	11	0
LINCOLNSHIRE.
1294 John Sutcliffe, Jack Sutcliffe ...
R. J. Boyall (Province) ...
1232 Rev. D. Ace, D.D. ...
792 Jas. Robinson, Wm. Marshall ...
838 Jas. Ferguson ...
1294 Joseph Chapman ...
F. Long ...
Total			£543 14 0
MIDDLESEX.
R. Wentworth Little ...	171	10	0
1460 Rev. P. H. E. Brette ...	97	13	0
1326 W. Prattent ...
1293 (Chapter) T. Massa ...	31	10	0
1194 (Chapter) C. Horsley ...	26	5	0
778 Major Harding ...	13	13	0
1194 Robert A. Steel ...	36	15	0
1237 Chas. S. Browne ...	70	7	0
1238 Alfred G. Weeks ...	36	3	0
1293 David W. Pearse ...	73	10	0
1309 C. G. Rushworth ...	11	11	0
1423 John Faulkner ...	21	10	6
1567 John Mason ...	43	0	0
1579 Edward Letchworth ...	16	4	6
1597 J. M. Levick ...	10	10	0
T. J. Sabine ...	52	10	0
NOTTINGHAMSHIRE.
1434 John Hack ...	42	0	0
N. WALES AND SHROPSHIRE.
1124 E. Wood ...	11	11	0
OXFORDSHIRE.
478 R. H. C. Smith ...
357 Rev. R. W. Pope and Fentham Hodges ...	50	0	0
SOMERSETSHIRE.
1199 C. L. F. Edwards ...	31	10	0
SOUTH WALES (East Division)
J. B. Phillips (Province) ...	115	10	0
STAFFORDSHIRE.
546 J. Webberley ...	115	10	0
SUFFOLK.
1124 Rev. C. J. Martyn, P.G.C., ...	26	5	0
SURREY.
1046 J. L. Lorimer ...	10	10	0
452 H. J. Strong ...	10	10	0
WARWICKSHIRE.
938 Thomas Howkins ...	262	10	0
WILTSHIRE.
Henry C. Tombs (Province) ...	115	12	0
WEST YORKSHIRE.
Sir Henry Edwards, Bart., Chairman ...	51	10	0
Prov. G. Lodge, Bro. H. Smith ...	105	0	0
Bentley Shaw, P.G.D. ...	10	10	0
T. W. Tew, J.P., D.P.G.M. ...
J. Batley ...
Henry Day, J.P. ...
Thomas Hill ...
Rev. E. B. Chalmer ...
W. H. B. Tomlinson ...
Henry Smith ...
T. Collinson ...
J. Wordsworth ...
Rev. E. Sewell ...
139 J. A. A. Andrews ...
139 Charles Dixon, jun. ...
139 Dr. F. Griffiths ...
139 Wm. Jervis ...
139 J. C. Shaw ...
154 J. C. Cadman ...
275 G. F. C. Hoerle ...
275 J. Lowerthal ...
275 Wright Mellor ...
275 Thos. Ruddock ...
290 Wm. Harrop ...
296 John Ridal ...
302 Hanson Farrar ...
304 Robert Craig ...
337 John Hirst, jun. ...
837 Charles Pegler ...

974 Wm. Firth
1102 John Barker
1221 Wm. Glover
1221 T. H. Good
1542 Thos. J. Kassell
1542 W. W. Macvay
1542 John Simpson
Total	707	16 0
CHANNEL ISLANDS.—JERSEY.
The Province, A. Schmitt	105	0 0
FOREIGN STATIONS.—PUNJAB.
The Province, G. Davies	10	10 0
RED CROSS ORDER.
Grand Council, H. C. Levander	119	13 0
128 A. J. Brogden	52	10 0
W. Williams	42	0 0
ROYAL ORDER OF SCOTLAND.
G. P. Brockbank	21	0 0
KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.
Holy Palestine Preceptory, Rev. P. M. Holden	10	10 0
Girls' School General Committee Club, H. W. Hemsworth	15	15 0
Total	£8214	11 0

With 12 lists to come in.

The announcement of this total was received with loud applause.

Col. Adair then proposed "The other Masonic Institutions." Having been 25 years a Mason, and more than half that time a Life Governor of all the charities, he had been able to watch the very great progress in their organisation and administration. Those who were old Masons would agree with him as to the excellent manner in which the work of those institutions had been done, and the organisation and administration had been carried out in the last quarter of a century. Those who were young Masons, if they chose to study the records of the Craft, would also agree with him in what he had stated. Not only was the state of those charities such as must conduce to the happiness of Masonic hearts, but when the outside world asked what Masonry meant, they might be directed to the Masonic Institutions for an answer. (Hear, hear.)

Bro. James Terry responded, and congratulated Bro. Little on the magnificent achievement of that evening. He apologised for the absence of Bro. Binckes, and reminded the brethren that the two festivals already held—that of the Benevolent Institution and that of the Girls' School—had resulted in a total list of subscriptions of nearly £15,000. He appealed strongly for support for his own institution, but said he would leave it entirely in the hands of the brethren. At the same time, the brethren should remember that the aged Masons who had in days gone by done service to the Craft were entitled to the brethren's sympathy as much as the rising and younger generation. (Cheers.)

The Rev. C. J. Martyn proposed "The Stewards of the Day," to which Bro. Joseph Smith, P.G.P., responded; and the brethren then adjourned to the Temple, where they joined the ladies in listening to a concert.

During the evening a selection of vocal music was performed, under the direction of Bro. Chaplin Henry, by Madame Thaddeus Wells, Miss Bessie Stroud, Miss Marion Severn, Master Pitt, Master Pounds, Bro. Lester, Bro. G. T. Carter, Bro. Phillips, Bro. Farmer, Bro. Chaplin Henry, Mr. Arthur Matthison, and the bijou choir of boys' voices. At the pianoforte Bros. F. H. Cozens and Fountain Meen presided. Mr. Arthur Matthison also told one of his celebrated sea stories.

Bro. James Hayho was toastmaster.

PRESENTATION TO BRO. ALDERMAN J. P. BULL, P.M. AND STEWARD, 540.

No brother who has been so fortunate as to be invited to an anniversary banquet of the Stuart Lodge, Bedford, No. 540, can have failed to be struck with the admirable manner in which every detail has been carried out and the hospitable gatherings have been made the very perfection of Masonic festivities. The agency by which this has been brought about may perhaps have remained unseen, but if so, it has not been unknown, nor has it been thought proper that it should longer remain unrecognized. Accordingly, on Wednesday, April 26, the last lodge before the summer recess, there was a large gathering of brethren and visitors assembled for the purpose of making some suitable recognition of the great zeal and assiduity displayed by Bro. Alderman J. P. Bull, P.M. and Steward 540, &c. The W.M. (Capt. Green) was unfortunately prevented from being in his accustomed place by that other "mystic tie," the claims of which are sometimes held to be superior to even the urgent call to the duties of the Craft; the W.M.'s absence being explained by the fact of his marriage on the succeeding day to the daughter of the worthy Chaplain of the lodge (the Rev. Chas. Brereton, B.C.L., Rector of St. Mary's, and Rural Dean). The chair was assumed by the I.P.M., Bro. Lester, when the votes for the Masonic Charities were relegated to the hands of Bro. Secretary, after which Bro. Kilpin was passed to the Second Degree. At the conclusion of the ceremony the lodge was resumed in the First Degree, when Bro. William Joseph Nash, J.P., the senior Past Master (by request of the W.M.), presented Bro. Bull with a Past Master's jewel, in recognition of his valuable and willing services as W.M., P.M., and Steward of the Stuart Lodge. In the course of a most excellent speech Bro. Nash spoke in the warmest terms of Bro. Bull's twenty-eight years' connection with the lodge; of the able manner in which he had filled every office to which he had been appointed in regular ascent, from Steward to W.M., (retaining the former office from sheer love of work for work's sake for very many years); of his willingness at all times to render aid, and impart instruction to all who were desirous of receiving it; of the excellent lectures he had given; of his hospitality to the lodge (referring doubtless to the fact of Bro. Bull, when mayor of the borough, having given a banquet to the brethren of the lodge, as he also did on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of his initiation); in conclusion, Bro. Nash referred to the self-denying manner in which, year by year, at their anniversary, Bro. Bull, still retaining his Stewardship, gave up in the most self-denying manner his own comfort to promote the enjoyment of his brethren and their visitors. Bro. Bull having returned thanks to Bro. Nash and the brethren in most feeling terms for this mark of their appreciation and esteem, and the lodge having been closed in due form and perfect harmony, the brethren partook of one of those excellent suppers for which Bro. Wicks is justly famed. The jewel, which is an excellent specimen of workmanship, is of 18 carat gold. On the ribbon from which it is suspended is a golden scroll with the name and number of the lodge, whilst the date of Mastership is on the bar at the top. On the back of the square is engraved the inscription:—"Presented by the Stuart Lodge, 540, to Bro. John Richard Bull, in fraternal acknowledgment of his services as W.M., P.M., and Steward. April 26th, 1876." May every lodge possess as deserving a brother, and may his deserts be as properly recognized.

Obituary.

BRO. T. COOMBS, PROV. G. SEC. DORSET.

With deep regret we announce the death of Bro. T. Coombs, one of the oldest solicitors of Dorset, which took place at his residence, South-street, on Sunday, 30th ult., after a protracted and somewhat painful illness, in his 58th year. Deceased had been in a failing state of health for more than a twelvemonth, and at times he was unable to leave his home for months together. He was well-known throughout the county, having held various public appointments. For many years in succession he held the post of Under-Sheriff, and was also Hon. Secretary of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Freemasons of Dorset, which he recently resigned. He was likewise clerk to the magistrates of the Dorsetshire division and also the highway clerk. Deceased always warmly identified himself with the Volunteer movement, having officiated for many years as hon. secretary of the Dorset Volunteer Association, in addition to which, up to a very recent date, he held the command of the Dorsetshire Rifle Corps, succeeding Captain Kindersley, on his resignation. He was likewise much interested in all local matters, and, in addition to having been twice chosen as mayor, was an alderman of the borough at the time of his death. He was steward for several large properties, and was always kind and courteous to the tenantry, by whom, in common with many others, his loss will be deeply felt. He has left a widow, two daughters, and a son (Mr. T. Coombs, jun.), by whom he will be succeeded in business, the latter having only recently concluded his studies in London, where he passed a most successful examination. The remains of the lamented gentleman were interred in the cemetery on Wednesday afternoon, in the presence of a large number of spectators. The funeral was of a private character, though several Freemasons, members of the Town Council, and professional friends attended at the cemetery to testify their respect for the deceased. The service was conducted by the Rev. E. W. Pears, rector of St. Peter's, and during the interment many of the principal places of business in the town were closed.

BRO. WILLIAM KERR.

Death for some time has been laying his hand heavily on the old men in Galashiels, and again another link is broken that bound together the past and the present in the death of William Kerr, Church-street, well known in the town and neighbourhood as "the doctor's man." His death was very sudden, he having taken ill on Saturday night and died on Sunday morning. He was 73 years of age. Long before the days of railways, or even many stage coaches, William Kerr rode the post between Jedburgh and St. Boswell's Green, while Alexander Cumming rode the post between St. Boswell's Green and Galashiels. In these days the mail bags were nearly all carried on horseback. After that he was an hostler at the present Commercial Hotel, which is known all over Scotland, and was there when the present proprietor, Mr. Maxwell, was born. After that he tried business upon his own account at Clovenfords, where he displayed on his sign board the fox and the hounds. He next opened a public house near by the Corn Mill, in the house occupied by Mr. Melrose. But he was too honest and too good-hearted; he possessed too much of the dove and too little of the serpent to be a successful man of business; and as a matter of course he did not succeed. After that he entered the service of the late lamented Dr. John Weir, who was then full of life and hope, and had attained to the very height of his profession and an extensive practice, when he was carried off in the prime of life. Bro. Kerr then went to Dr. G. Macdougall, Old Town, then a comparatively young man, but who afterwards, by his study and indomitable perseverance, rose to the highest pinnacle of his profession, and had a practice extending over both town and country. It was while in the service of Dr. Macdougall that Bro. Kerr was known in town and country as "the doctor's man," and it may truly be said that two more genial-hearted men never sat in the same vehicle. The doctor's face was always radiant with smiles, which were clearly reflected in the face of his man Willie. In all but professional matters Willie was the doctor's right hand man, and whatever orders were committed by the doctor to Willie were carried out to the letter. He was a man of truth, honesty, and integrity, and was in the service of the doctor and his family for over twenty years, and when no longer able to work they bestowed on him an annual income to help to lighten the burden of his declining years. Willie Kerr was made a Freemason on the 14th of April, 1829, so that he has been for nearly fifty years a member of the Craft, and during that time has taken a lively interest in all its concerns. He was made a brother of the Craft, we believe, in the house now occupied by Mr. Stalker, which was then a hotel, so that his death occurred only a few yards from the spot where he first saw Masonic light. He had taken a great interest in the work of excavation for the new Masonic Hall, and was looking forward with pleasure to the laying of the foundation stone with Masonic honours on the 12th of May; but death has closed his earthly pilgrimage, and he has now passed the river of death, and it is to be hoped that he has joined the Grand Lodge above, where he will reap the joys of a well-spent life. Since the death of Bro. William Wood, he has held the honourable office of Bible-bearer in the lodge, to which office he was annually elected. On all important occasions Bro. Kerr was never absent from a lodge meeting, and the excellent songs which he sung on convivial occasions always brought forth rounds of applause. He was the oldest member of the lodge. From his sudden and unexpected death, there was no time to make arrangements for a Masonic funeral, but a few of the brethren met in the house of the deceased, and from there accompanied his remains to the grave, in full Masonic costume, but without jewels. Peace to his ashes, is the sincere prayer of the large circle of friends who knew him.

Masonic and General Tidings.

WORKING MEN'S COLLEGE.—A series of readings were recently given by Bro. Emra Holmes, in the Lecture Hall, Tower-street, Ipswich, in connection with the Working Men's College. Dr. Christian, the Principal, presided. Bro. Holmes's popularity does not appear to wane, as evidenced by the crowded and appreciative audience who listened to his readings during the evening, but from the character of the programme we should imagine it has increased 50 per cent. Bro. Holmes commenced by reading Milton's "Satan's Address to his Peers." This imaginary address by Satan to his followers in heaven was well rendered. "The Private of the Buffs" came next, which enumerated some Chinese experiences. "Out of the hurly burly," by Max Adler, was the next on the programme. The perils of a satirical editor were humorously hit off. The rowdism of American journalism was in this reading very cleverly satirised, and in Bro. Holmes's hands found an able executant. "Hohenlinden" (Campbell) was given in graphic style. "The Marionette Man," by Tom Hood, was a piece in which Bro. Holmes's powers of mimicry were fully brought into play. This terminating the first part, Miss Butcher gave a selection on a pianoforte kindly lent by Messrs. Wright and Mann. Returning the programme, Bro. Holmes gave "Only a Christmas Rose," from the "Masonic Magazine." An extract from Pickwick next convulsed the audience with laughter, the part selected being "Bob Sawyer's evening party." "A Night in Parliament," a piece abounding in satire, humour, irony, which was well relished by the audience, brought the programme to an end. A unanimous vote of thanks was accorded to Bro. Holmes.

An engraving of the first church built in England will appear in the "Masonic Magazine" for June.

On Wednesday evening there was a demonstration in honour of Bro. H. E. Adair, who for twenty-seven years has represented Ipswich in Parliament. The hon. gentleman was presented with a magnificent candelabra. There was a large meeting, which was addressed by Lord Waverley, R.W.P.G.M. Suffolk, Mr. Colman, M.P., Mr. H. W. West, and other gentlemen. Mr. R. C. Ransome presided.

The plans of Sir Gilbert Scott for the restoration of the exterior of the octagon and lantern of Ely Cathedral have been provisionally approved. The work will involve an outlay of about £3000.

We believe that it has been arranged that the summer half-yearly communication of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Leicestershire and Rutland should be held at Melton Mowbray, under the banner of the Rutland Lodge, No. 1130, on Monday, 29th May.

A new establishment in connection with the People's Café Company has been opened in Ludgate-circus-buildings.

Bro. Alderman and Sheriff Knight will preside at the 12th annual meeting of the Alexandra Orphanage to be held at the London Tavern on the 18th inst.

Bro. the Rev. J. E. Cox, D.D., F.S.A., Past Grand Chaplain, has just published the annals of St. Helen's Church, Bishopsgate.

Bro. Sir John Bennett has become honorary member of the West Kent Bicycle Club.

Bro. J. C. Parkinson, J.P., will distribute the prizes to be given by the Needlemakers' Company at Redditch on the 4th August.

A meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Norths and Hunts will be held on the 1st of June, at St. Peter's College, Peterborough, his Grace the Duke of Manchester, R.W.P.G.M., presiding.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, May 19, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, MAY 13.

- Lodge 173, Phoenix, F.M.H.
 " 176, Caveac, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
 " 1328, Granite, F.M.H.
 " 1361, United Service, Greyhound Hot., Richmond.
 " 1423, Era, King's Arms Hot., Hampton-court.
 Chap. 1293, Burdett, Mitre Hot., Hampton-court.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
 Percy, 113, Southgate-rd., N.
 Manchester, 179, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
 Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross Road.

MONDAY, MAY 15.

- Lodge 1, Grand Master's, F.M. Tav.
 " 8, British, F.M.H.
 " 21, Emulation, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
 " 58, Felicity, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
 " 720, Panmure, Balham Hot., Balham.
 " 1159, Marquis of Dalhousie, F.M.H.
 " 1201, Eclectic, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
 Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
 Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
 Camden, Stanhope Arms, V. James-st., Camden To.
 Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
 St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
 Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
 Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
 Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, MAY 16.

- Board of Gen. Purposes, at 3.
 Lodge 165, Honour and Generosity, London Tav.
 " 104, St. Paul's, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.
 " 704, Camden, Bull and Gate, Kentish Town.
 " 857, St. Mark's, Surrey M.H.
 Chap. 19, Mount Sinai, Arderton's Hot., Fleet-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
 Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
 Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
 Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood
 Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
 Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
 St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
 Constitutional, Wheatheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
 Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
 Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
 Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone, at 8.
 Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
 Excelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17.

- Lodge 190, Oak, F.M.H.
 " 619, Beadon, Greyhound Tav., Dulwich.
 " 700, Nelson, M.H., William-st., Woolwich.
 " 1044, Wandsworth, Spread Eagle, Wandsworth.
 " 1382, Corinthian, George Inn, Cubitt Town.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
 Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
 New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
 Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
 Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
 Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
 Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
 Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
 Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
 Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
 United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
 Mount Edgumbe, 19, Jermyn-street, St. James's.
 Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
 Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.

THURSDAY, MAY 18.

- House Com. Girls' School, at 4.
 Lodge 55, Constitutional, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
 " 169, Temperance, White Swan, High-st., Deptford.
 " 813, New Concord, Rosemary Branch, Hoxton.
 " 1227, Upton, Spotted Dog Tav., Upton.
 " 1278, Burdett Coutts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
 " 1365, Clapton, White Hart Tav., Clapton.
 Chap. 733, Westbourne, Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
 " 742, Crystal Palace, Clarendon Hot., Anerley.
 " 834, Andrew, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
 Mark Lodge, 7, Carnarvon, Mitre Hot., Hampton-court.
 Preceptory E., Observance, 14, Bedford-row.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
 Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.

Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
 Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
 Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
 Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
 The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
 High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
 Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
 Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albion-rd., Dalston.
 Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.

FRIDAY, MAY 19.

- Annual Meeting and Election, R.M.B.I., at 12.
 House Com. Boys' School, at 4.
 Lodge 6, Friendship, Willis's Rooms, St. James's.
 " 143, Middlesex, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
 Preceptory, 48, Kemeys Tynte, 33, Golden-square.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
 St. George's, Globe Tav., Royal-hill, Greenwich.
 Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
 Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
 Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
 Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
 Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
 Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
 Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
 Metropolitan, Pentonville-road.
 United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
 St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
 Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
 Durie, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
 Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
 St. Luke's, Commercial Tav., King's-road, Chelsea.
 Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
 Burdett Coutts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
 Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
 Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
 Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday May 20, 1876.

MONDAY, MAY 15.

- Lodge 721, Independence, M.R., Eastgate Row, Chester.
 " 1502, Israel, M.H., Liverpool.
 Chap. 995, Furness, M.T., Ulverston.
 " 1051, Rowley, M.R., Lancaster.
 Everton L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, MAY 16.

- Lodge 677, Alliance, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1225, Hindpool, Hartington Hot., Brw.-in-Furness.
 " 1276, Warren, Seacombe Hot., Seacombe.
 " 1570, Prince Arthur, N. Hill-st., Liverpool.
 Chap. 605, De Tabley, Seacombe Hot.
 Merchants' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17.

- Lodge 823, Everton, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 1086, Walton, St. Lawrence's, Soho, Kirkdale.
 " 1345, Victoria, Cross Keys, Eccles.
 " 1353, Duke of Lancaster, Athenæum, Lancaster.
 Chap. 580, Unity, Wheatheaf, Ormskirk.
 De Grey and Ripon L. of I., 80, North Hill-st., Liverpool.
 Downshire L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, MAY 18.

- Lodge 203, Ancient Union, M.H., Liverpool.
 " 343, Concord, Militia Mess Rooms, Preston.
 " 425, Cestrian, M.R., Eastgate-row, Chester.
 " 605, Combermere, Seacombe Hot., Seacombe.
 " 1299, Pembroke, Rawlinson's Hot., West Derby.
 Chap. 249, Mariners, M.H., Liverpool.
 St. John's L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, MAY 19.

- Duke of Edinburgh L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, May 20, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, MAY 15.

- Lodge 332, Union, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 581, Plantation, Craigiehall-st., Glasgow.

TUESDAY, MAY 16.

- Lodge 73, Thistle and Rose, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 87, Thistle, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
 " 556, Clydesdale, Rose-st., Glasgow.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17.

- Lodge 117, St. Mary, M.H., Partick.
 " 571, Dramatic, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 Chap. 150, Shettleston, M.H., Shettleston.

THURSDAY, MAY 18.

- Lodge 22, St. John Kilwinning, George Hot., Kilmarnock.
 " 27, St. Mungo, 213, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
 " 465, St. Andrew, M.H., Garnagard-rd.

FRIDAY, MAY 19.

- Lodge 31, St. Mary's Coltness, Scott's Hall, Wishaw.
 " 306, St. Thomas, 90, Wellgate-st., Larkhall.
 " 321, St. Andrews, Public Hall, Alexandria.
 " 360, Commercial, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.
 " 471, St. John, Stane Inn, Shotts.
 " 551, Clydesdale, Royal Hot., Larkhall.

SATURDAY, MAY 20.

- Lodge 524, St. Andrew, M.H., Kilbride.
 " 544, St. Andrew, M.H., Coatbridge.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, May 20, 1876.

MONDAY, MAY 15.

- Lodge 44, St. Luke, F.M.H., George-st.

TUESDAY, MAY 16.

- Lodge 36, St. David, Ship Hot., East Register-st.
 " 405, Rifle, F.M.H., George-st.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 17.

- Lodge 160, Roman Eagle, Iona Hot., Nicholson-st.

THURSDAY, MAY 18.

- Lodge 48, St. Andrew, F.M.H., George-st.
 " 226, Portobello, Royal Hot., Bath-st.
 Chap. 152, Perseverance, 186, Constitution-st.

FRIDAY, MAY 19.

- Chap. 83, St. Andrew, F.M.H., George-st.

THE LONDON MASONIC CLUB.

THE CLUB PREMISES,
 SITUATE

101, Queen Victoria Street,

are now being fitted up, and will

SHORTLY BE OPENED TO THE MEMBERS

The Annual Subscription, now payable, is available to 1st May, 1877, and is fixed at—£3 3s. for Town Members, i.e., Members residing within twenty miles of the Club, and £1 11s. 6d. for Country Members, without entrance fee. Members incur no liability beyond their subscription. None but Freemasons are eligible for Membership.

The next election of members will be held on the 17th Upwards of 500 Brethren having already joined, an entrance fee will be imposed as soon as the Club is opened.

Forms of Application for Membership may be obtained from the Secretary, at the Offices of the London Masonic Club Company (Limited), 37, Queen Victoria-street, E.C.

JOHN A. LATHBURY,
 Secretary.

To the Nobility, County Families,
 and Gentry.

THE PRINCE'S GATE HOTEL.

19, CROMWELL PLACE, S.W.,

(Opposite South Kensington Station).

PRIVATE HOTEL,

Easy access to all parts of Town, ten minutes of Hyde Park and Albert Hall. Unsurpassed in London for elegance of appointments, replete with every convenience, rendering the House an

EXCEPTIONALLY ATTRACTIVE AND REFINED HOME.

TERMS PER WEEK:

Single Rooms from 34 to 5 Guineas.

Double Rooms from 6 to 9 Guineas.

Private Sitting Rooms from 3 Guineas. Per day from Half-guinea.

Charges for Visitors, Luncheon 2s. 6d. Dinner 5s. Supper à la Carte.

Gas in Bedrooms, Special Bath, and meals served in Bed-rooms at irregular hours extra as per tariff. There is an ascending room to the top of the house.

Complete tariff on application to the PROPRIETOR.

FOR FISH.

Try GOW

FOR POULTRY.

Try GOW.

FOR GAME.

Try GOW.

FOR BARRELLED OYSTERS.

Try GOW.

J. GOW.

1, HONEY-LANE MARKET, CHEAPSIDE.

Special quotations to large consumers, Hotels, Caterers, &c. Country Orders promptly executed.

ONE ORDER WILL SECURE FUTURE PATRONAGE

BRO. T. LAWLER, who was specially appointed to the Management of the Music at the LONDON HOSPITAL on the memorable occasion of the visit there of HER MOST GRACIOUS MAJESTY THE QUEEN, begs to notify his change of residence, and requests that all letters relative to CONCERTS, BANQUETS, PRIVATE LESSONS, &c., be addressed—62, Saltoun-road, Brixton-Rise, S.W.

WANTED, by an elderly Man, a situation as Timekeeper or Overseer. Satisfactory references.—Address A.B., Office of this paper, 198, Fleet-st.

RETURN of the PRINCE of WALES.—Commemorative BUST, Cabinet Size, of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, M.W. Grand Master, with insignia of office, by Bro. Hamilton Stewart, 780, will be ready in a few days.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry.....	223
Royal Arch.....	226
Mark Masonry.....	227
Red Cross of Constantine.....	227
Scotland.....	227
Address to the M.W.G. Master.....	228
Masonic and General Tidings.....	228
Freemasonry and Roman Catholicism.....	229
Edinburgh Blind Asylum and School.....	229
Investiture of the Order of the Bath.....	229
Our Grand Master at Home again.....	230
Are we going to have a Masonic Reception for the Prince of Wales.....	232
The Girls' School Festival.....	232
Has the Church of Rome a Moral Right to Excommunicate Freemasons?.....	232
Hypercriticism.....	232
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Surrey Masonic Hall.....	233
The Mark Degree in Scotland.....	233
Burns and Freemasonry.....	233
Regalia.....	233
Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution.....	233
Officers' Jewels.....	233
Masonic Reception of our Grand Master.....	233
Some Remarks on the Extracts from the Sheffield "Chapter of Paradise" Lodge Minutes.....	234
Laying the Foundation Stone of a new Church at Nuneaton.....	234
Presentation to Sir F. Williams.....	234
Conservation of a Lodge at Kimberley, South Africa.....	235
Provincial Grand Mark Lodge of Bristol.....	235
Masonic Meetings for the Week.....	236
Advertisements.....	i. ii. iii. iv. v. vi.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

EGYPTIAN LODGE (No. 27).—The last regular meeting of the season of this lodge took place at Anderson's Hotel, on Thursday, the 4th inst. Present: Bros. John Green, W.M.; Hales, S.W.; J. Walker, J.W.; Lambie, I.P.M.; H. G. Buss, P.M.; Treas.; J. P. Poole, P.M.; Sec.; P. M. Atkins, acting S.D.; Salmonese, acting J.D.; Grammer, acting I.G.; Jacobs, Payne, and Harrison, P.M.'s. Visitors: G. T. Townsend, J.W. 1086; J. B. Sorrell, W.M. 176; T. E. Purdy, P.M. 861; E. B. Grabham, W.M. 19; M. G. Ruddersforth, W.M. 12; G. E. Turner, 1266, 902. The lodge having been opened, the minutes of the former meeting were read and confirmed, Bros. G. L. B. Walker and F. Lake were passed, and Bro. Chick was raised. The lodge was then resumed to the First Degree, and the ballot proving unanimous in favour of Mr. Samuel Rogers he was duly initiated. The ballot was also unanimous in favour of Bro. Alfred Ellis, of Lodge No. 933, as a joining member. Bro. Buss then rose, and in an affecting speech informed the lodge of the sad calamity that had befallen the wife of Bro. Maidwell, I.G., she having met with a carriage accident, causing her death from concussion of the brain while staying for a few days in Wales. The whole of the brethren felt the greatest commiseration for Bro. Maidwell under his deep affliction, as his wife was well known to most of them, she being the daughter of the late Bro. Benjamin Payne Todd, P.M., and for many years Treasurer of the lodge. Bro. Buss concluded by moving that a vote of condolence be entered on the minutes, and a copy engraved on vellum and forwarded to Bro. Maidwell. Bro. P.M. David Jacobs with a few feeling remarks seconded the proposal, which was unanimously carried. No other business offering the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned for refreshment. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given: "The Visitors," responded to by each of them; "The Past Masters of the Lodge," responded to by Bro. I.P.M. Lambie; "The Initiate," who briefly responded; and "The Officers," responded to by Bros. Walker, Atkins, Salmonese and Grammer. It was announced that Bro. Atkins was going up as a Steward to the festival of the Girls' School to represent the Victoria Chapter, and would be pleased to add the names of any of the brethren to his list of subscriptions. Bro. Buss also announced that he would be glad to receive votes on behalf of widow Johnson for the Benevolent Institution. Bro. Johnson was formerly Treasurer and P.M. of this lodge. "The Tyler's" toast was then given, and the brethren adjourned till October.

ST. THOMAS'S LODGE (No. 142).—The last regular meeting of this lodge for the season was held at the City Terminus Hotel, on the 6th inst., when Bro. William Dyott Burnaby, W.M., presided, assisted by his officers, Bros. Lambert, S.W.; Beattie, J.W.; Batty, Treas.; Levander, Sec.; Macaulay, S.D.; Powell, J.D.; and Lee, I.G. There were also present Bros. Rooks, I.P.M.; James Lewis Thomas, P.M.; Thomas Dubois, P.M.; J. Scarth, P.M.; and E. Cockcraft, P.M., besides several lay members of the lodge, and the following visitors:—Bros. J. W. E. Macartney, M.P. for Tyrone county; John Boyd, Grand Steward; George Smallpiece, P.M.; and Edwards. Bro. F. S. Hobson, No. 60, was elected a joining member. Mr. David Calvert was initiated, and Bros. West and Moezley were raised by the I.P.M. The sum of ten guineas was voted to the Boys' School, to be placed on the S.W.'s list. The brethren afterwards adjourned to dinner, and after the usual loyal and Masonic toasts had been proposed and responded to, the W.M. proposed "The Initiate," who, in returning thanks, stated that he had only lately become a British subject. He was born in Fiji, but had now become a resident here. He said he was deeply impressed with the solemnity of the ceremony he had just gone through in lodge, and he hoped to become a worthy member of the fraternity. Bro. Cockcraft gave a comic version of the Entered Apprentice's song. Bro. Macartney, M.P., responded to the toast of "The Visitors," and in the course of a very able and eloquent speech stated that he was glad to inform his English brethren that since the promulgation of the Roman Catholic edict against Masonry the number of its members in Ireland had nearly doubled, and that at the festival in behalf of the Girls' School in Dublin last year there were present above ten thousand ladies and gentlemen. The toast of "The P.M.'s" was responded to by Bro. James Lewis Thomas, and that of "The Officers" by Bro. Lambert, S.W. A delightful evening was spent, and the brethren separated at a reasonable hour.

BATH.—Royal Cumberland Lodge (No. 41).—The last regular meeting of this session was held at the Masonic Hall on Thursday, May 4th. The lodge was opened at a quarter to eight by Bro. Brown, W.M., assisted by Bros. Clark, I.P.M.; F. Wilkinson, S.W.; Falkner, J.W.; Ashley, P.M.; Treas.; C. Wilkinson, Sec.; Wilton, P.M.; Dir of Cer.; Braham, S.D.; Bladwell, as J.D.; Gunner, I.G.; Radway, Steward; Bigwood, Tyler. Among those present were Bros. Cooper, P.M.; Moutrie, P.M.; Dr. Hopkins, P.M., and P.P.S.G.W. for Warwickshire; Captain Robinson, Cater, Davis, Mercer, and Wheeler; also as visitors, Bros. Hughes, 53; Evan Jones, 679; and though last, not least, Bro. Schmitt, P.M., and P.P.S.G.W. for Jersey. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The lodge was opened in the Second Degree, and Brother Wheeler was passed to the rank of F.C. by the W.M., the working tools being explained by the S.W., and the charge delivered by Dr. Hopkins. The lodge was then closed in the Second Degree, and on the re-admission of the candidate Dr. Hopkins gave the lecture on the first Tracing Board to him and Bro. Mercer in such a manner as to receive the acclamations of all the brethren. Bro. Falkner was called upon to report on what had been done with respect to the provision of a new organ, from which it appeared that, owing to an unwillingness on the part of other lodges to co-operate, the project must be abandoned. Some discussion ensued, from which it may be gathered that the general opinion was in favour of hiring a harmonium at each meeting, but that no decision should be made till after the recess. Bro. Radway brought up a report from a committee which had been appointed to examine into the condition of the property of the lodge, when much discussion took place as to the guardianship of valuable books of early date, and of the minutes and other records of proceedings, which are complete from 1733, and some of them in the possession of private members. After considerable discussion and some suggestions, in which Bros. Clarke, Rubie, Ashley, and Dr. Hopkins took part, the matter was referred back to the committee. Before the lodge was closed Bro. Dr. Hopkins mentioned the pleasure he felt in bringing to the meeting as his guest, the distinguished Bro. Schmitt, and expatiated on his claims to the honour and respect of all members of the Craft, on account of his unwearied efforts, extending over a long series of years, for the promotion of its highest interests, not only in Jersey, but in England and France. A suitable acknowledgment was made by this eminent brother. The proceedings of the evening were brought to a termination, and the lodge was closed at ten o'clock.

SOUTH SHIELDS.—St. Hilda's Lodge (No. 240).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held on Monday, the 8th ult., at the Freemasons' Hall, Fowler-street. After the minutes of the last meeting had been read and confirmed, a ballot was taken for a candidate, which proved favourable, and being in attendance, was initiated into the mysteries of the E.A. Degree by the W.M. (Bro. Henry Claughton) in his usual careful style. The lodge having been raised, four candidates presented themselves for the Third Degree, and having passed a satisfactory examination, were in due time raised to the degree of M.M. by Bro. Ditchburn, P.M., and Bro. Roddam, P.M., D. of C. The lodge having been closed in the usual manner to the First Degree, Bro. Ditchburn, P.M., pursuant to notice of motion, moved "That the lodge do subscribe the sum of 10 guineas each to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys and Girls; and five pounds each to the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and Widows of Freemasons." The motion was seconded by the W.M. Bro. R. Candlish, P.M., of Fawcett Lodge, No. 661, Seaham Harbour, Steward for the province of Durham, on behalf of the Royal Institution for Boys, was present, and enforced the claims of the institution to the favourable consideration of the brethren, and the motion was passed unanimously. A motion in favour of the usual annual pleasure excursion was agreed to. A number of visitors were present, and there was a large attendance of the brethren, who spent a most harmonious evening.

LIVERPOOL.—Merchants' Lodge (No. 241).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held on Tuesday evening, the 9th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Liverpool. Bro. R. Brown, W.M., Hon. Sec. to the West Lancashire Masonic Educational Institution, was in the place of honour. He was worthily supported by Bros. R. Wilson, P.M., P.P.J.G.D.; G. Broadbridge, P.M., P.P.G.D.C.; G. Hutchin, S.W.; Councillor G. Peet, J.W.; Dr. McGeorge, P.M., Treas.; J. Winsor, Sec.; Williams, J.D.; and Bro. T. Salter, I.G. After business, the brethren retired for refreshment, and a very pleasant evening was spent under the genial presidency of the W.M.

DONCASTER.—St. George's Lodge (No. 242).—The installation of the Worshipful Master elect of this ancient and prosperous lodge took place at the Guildhall, on Friday, the 12th inst. For the first time for many years the ceremony of installation was performed by a Doncaster brother, the whole ritual being very ably and impressively gone through by Bro. F. D. Walker, the retiring Master. His successor, whom he thus so creditably placed in the chair, was Bro. John Heaton, the Past S.W. of the lodge, and who had been unanimously elected by the lodge as Master for the ensuing year. The W.M. afterwards proceeded to invest his officers, namely, Bros. F. D. Walker, I.P.M.; Alfred Parkin, S.W.; John Shires, J.W.; C. Mandall Hartley, Sec. and Treas.; F. Rand S.D.; Henry Fox, J.D.; and W. Delaney, I.G. On the motion of Bro. Hartley, P.M., seconded by Bro. Shires, the sum of £10 10s. was voted from the funds of the lodge to the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys. The annual banquet was subsequently held at the Royal Hotel, when a very handsome and beautifully appointed dinner was placed on the tables. The W.M. occupied the chair, supported on his right by the Installing Master, Bro. Walker, and on the left by Bro. Bentley, P.M., Mayor of Doncaster; Bro. Parkin officiated as Vice-Chairman. The toasts were those usual upon such occasions, including "The Healths of the M.W. the Grand Master of England, H.R.H. the Prince of Wales," "The Pro G.M., the Earl of Carnarvon," "The Deputy G.M., Lord Skelmersdale," "The R.W. the Prov. G.M. of West Yorkshire, Lieut.-Col. Sir Henry Edwards, Bart.," and "The Deputy Prov. Master, Bro. T. W. Tew," and others. "The Health of the W.M. of St. George's Lodge, 242," was drunk with great cordiality, as also that of "The Immediate Past Master, Bro. Walker," who had held the Mastership of the lodge for two consecutive years, and during that time initiated an unusually large number of candidates into the mysteries of Freemasonry.

LANCASTER.—Lodge of Fortitude (No. 281).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Rooms, Lancaster, on the 10th inst. Bro. Thomas Atkinson, the W.M., presided, and there was a good attendance of the brethren of the Craft. The lodge was opened in the First Degree with solemn prayer, and the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. Bro. John Thistlethwaite, having given proficiency of his ability as an Entered Apprentice, retired, and on being re-admitted was subsequently passed to the degree of Fellow Craft. Bro. Dr. J. D. Moore, P.G. S.B., who ably filled the I.P.M.'s chair then gave a lecture on the second Tracing Board, and at its conclusion a hearty vote of thanks was passed him on the motion of Bro. John Hatch, seconded by Bro. Dr. Moore. The sum of £3 3s. was unanimously voted to the fund which is being raised for restoring the sidilla of Chester Cathedral, the cost of which has been undertaken by the Freemasons of West Lancashire. The lodge then closed with the peculiarities of the Craft.

NORTHAMPTON.—Pomfret Lodge (No. 360).—This lodge held its usual monthly meeting at the George Hotel, on Thursday, the 4th inst. Present: Bros. M. A. Boémé, P.M., W.M.; B. Wilkins, D.P.G.M., Norths and Hunts; R. Winter, S.W.; T. Whitehouse, J.W.; Geo. Robinson, P.M., Sec.; F. Gadsby, S.D.; H. W. Parker, J.D.; J. T. Green, P.M., D.C.; J. U. Stanton, P.M., Steward; J. S. Norman, I.G.; Dean and Kirby, Tylers; G. Cotton, J. Bingley, T. Green, A. Richardson, Brown, Barnes, Atkins, Ellard, Aldridge, Ashford, A. Dorell, Hill, S. L. Seckham, Gordon, Wykes and Ewins, 279; and others. Bro. W. Kirby, Tyler, was raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason, the D.P.G.M. performing the ceremony in his usual impressive manner. Bros. Rev. R. H. Cox, S. J. W. Sanders, R. Allen and J. J. Hart, were examined as to their proficiency, and duly passed to the Second Degree, the W.M. performing the ceremony. Mr. Henry Spoor (the son of an old member of the Pomfret Lodge, and whose brother was also initiated in this lodge) was then balloted for and duly initiated, the W.M. performing the ceremony. On the brethren adjourning from labour the W.M. took the opportunity of thanking those present, not only for their punctual attendance, which had enabled them to get through a long evening's work, but also for the "very commendable attention" given to the business of the evening, deservedly thanking the officers especially for the very efficient manner in which they had performed their duties throughout. This lodge is now in a very flourishing state, with the prospect of even still further improving.

CROYDON.—Frederick Lodge of Unity (No. 452).—On Tuesday afternoon the brethren of this lodge assembled at the Greyhound, Croydon, in regular meeting. Bro. W. S. Masterman, W.M., presided. There were also present the following brethren:—J. W. Sugg, S.W.; George Wright, J.W.; A. T. Jeffery, S.D.; Charles Edmands, J.D.; Charles Pawley, I.G.; A. J. Dickinson, P.M.; Magnus Ohren, P.M., Sec.; James Robins, P.M., Treasurer; John W. Gray; Henry Child, Fred. Cassell; G. Edward Ohren, and Charles M. Ohren. Visitors:—John Constable, P.M., 185; W. W. Morgan, 1385; Charles Horsley, W.M. Acacia; J. W. Wright, 33; J. H. Bolton, 890; and H. Massey ("Freemason"). The first business on the paper after the confirmation of minutes of former meetings was the raising of Bro. Frederick Cassell, and after the W.M. had duly entrusted him, he resigned his seat to Bro. Constable, who performed the ceremony of conferring the M.M. degree on Bro. Cassell. Mr. George Robins, the son and assistant of Bro. James Robins, 5, Chancery-lane, the secretary of the Drury Lane Theatre Renters, and the respected Treasurer of the lodge, having been balloted for as an initiated, and passed through that ordeal with the voice of the brethren unanimously in his favour, Bro. James Robins was offered the privilege by the W.M. of initiating Mr. Robins himself. He, however, would not take the office out of the W.M.'s hands, and the W.M. therefore disclosed to the candidate the earliest mysteries of the Order. After the ceremony had been completed, Bro. George Robins was congratulated on having been admitted a Mason, and Bro. James Robins was also congratulated on his son having begun to follow in his footsteps, and the best wishes were expressed for the initiate's advancement in the science. This being the night for the annual election of W.M. and Treasurer, the choice of the brethren for the former officer was first taken, and when declared was found to have fallen unanimously on Bro. J. W. Sugg, S.W. Bro. Sugg, S.W., in thanking the brethren for their conferring that honour on him, said he should endeavour to discharge all the duties of the chair with credit to himself and honour to the lodge, and he hoped that when his term of office expired it would be found that the performance of his duties had justified the brethren in the confidence they reposed in him. When the election of Treasurer was taken, Bro. James Robins, P.M., was unanimously re-elected to that distinguished position of trust; and when Bro. Robins thanked the brethren, he informed them that the lodge had no liabilities, but a respectable balance in hand. A proposition for a new candidate for initiation was given in, several letters of regret for absence were read, notices of motion were given, and the lodge was then closed. The excellent banquet provided by Bro. Budden was partaken of, and after the repast had been done ample justice to, grace was said, and the W.M. proposed the toasts. "The Queen and the Craft" having been proposed and drunk, the toast of "The Prince of Wales, the Grand Master," and "The Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon, the Deputy Grand Master, Lord Skelmersdale, and the rest of the Grand Officers" followed, and Bro. Charles Horsley, Past Prov. G. Registrar of Middlesex, having replied, the W.M. then gave "The Prov. G.M. of Surrey, General Brownrigg." Bro. Ohren, P.P.S.G.W., replied, and said that the W.M. had attended several of the meetings at which the Prov. G.M. had presided, and had witnessed the way in which he had conducted the business of the Prov. G. Lodge. He (Bro. Ohren) also in his position of Warden had done the same, and he could say that throughout every duty that had been cast upon the Prov. G.M. he had carried out in a most judicious and excellent manner. He did not think the brethren of Surrey could have a better Prov. G.M. (Hear.) The Prov. G.M. had always looked on this lodge with such an eye as the members would wish, and had selected several of his officers from it. Although the members were a small number a considerable proportion of them were Prov. G. Officers, and this proved that the lodge had arrived at a position which commanded the attention of the Prov. G.M. That was a very proud position for a lodge. For the last three or four years there had always been a member of this lodge selected for Prov. Grand rank. He regretted that there were not more P.M.'s of the lodge present, because as old representatives of such a lodge they could have said more on this subject than he could. Speaking for the Prov. G. Master he could confidently say that if all the provinces were ruled by such able men as the Province of Surrey was they were very well governed indeed. The Prov. G. Master would have attended that evening had it not been for an important engagement. (Cheers.) Bro. Dickinson, I.P.M., proposed "The W.M." Unfortunately the W.M. had just suffered a great domestic affliction, and he had not quite felt up to his work. Consequently he had called in the assistance of Bro. Constable to confer the Third Degree. In the First Degree, however, the W.M. had acted for himself. During his year of office he had conducted the affairs of the lodge to the satisfaction of the brethren, and the brethren would always look back with satisfaction to that happy period. (Hear.) The W.M. thanked the brethren for the compliment just passed. He was not insensible to a full compliment; empty ones he abominated. Bro. Dickinson's was paid in such a way and responded to so heartily that he saw in it the former. He had lived long enough to know the real from the spurious. As Bro. Dickinson had told the brethren what he had told Bro. Dickinson privately he might say that he had had a great deal lately to try him: he had lost his only surviving brother, which had unnerved him somewhat; but still he had thought it his duty to attend to his office of Master. He had filled that position on two previous occasions, and therefore when he accepted the election of the brethren it had not been from any feeling of vanity, but simply from his desire to do his duty. He had belonged to the lodge for some years. He once left it; but he rejoined it, and he was delighted when he came back to meet his old friend Bro. James Robins, an old and tried friend of a great many years. He was pleased to know that he had done what he could for the benefit of the lodge. (Cheers.) The W.M. then said that he would propose "The Health of the Initiate." It had been a great privilege for him to initiate a son of their esteemed and worthy brother, James Robins. He was now their brother, George Robins. He once knew their distinguished relative, George Robins, who was, without exception, one of the most distinguished auctioneers in the metropolis, which was saying a very great deal. He (the W.M.) was very much pleased that the name of "George" had been given in baptism to the initiate, and he hoped that he would perpetuate not only the name but the eminence of that distinguished auctioneer. He then reminded Bro. George Robins that he had at present seen very little of Masonry, that he had a great deal yet to learn; but he was a keen observer, and he must use that faculty to obtain a thorough insight into Masonry, and get step by step to a position of eminence. (Hear.) Bro. Geo. Robins said that the brethren must excuse him if he was somewhat taken aback by the mysteries which he had witnessed that evening. But he felt very much delighted and quite happy by the remarks that the W.M. had made concerning him. It had been his great desire at all times to become a Mason; and it would now be his aim to endeavour to please his brother Masons in every way whatever. He was very much gratified that he had become one of the Order, and he should now endeavour to go on and become eminent in the Craft. The W.M. then proposed "The Visitors," and thanked Bro. Constable for having assisted him in the ceremony of raising. Bro. Constable replied. Bro. Dickinson responded for "The P.M.'s," who, he said, were always glad to assist in every way they could in the working of the lodge. Bros. H. Massey and W. W. Morgan responded for "The Press," which was specially proposed by the W.M., who expressed his gratification at the caution with which all

Masonic proceedings were recorded by the representatives of the Masonic journals. Bro. J. Robins returned thanks for the Treasurer and Secretary, both of whom he was happy to say had performed their duty. "The Better Health of Bro. Little, Secretary to the Girls' School," was drunk, on the proposition of Bro. Charles Horsley. Bro. J. W. Sugg, S.W., made a clever speech in reply to the toast of "The Officers and W.M. elect," in which he contrasted his own position, now first elected, with that of the W.M., who had been a W.M. three times. The W.M. he compared to a widow who was being led to the altar by her third husband, assuming a maiden blush on her cheeks, which was manifestly under control, and putting on the appearance of not knowing what was coming next; whereas it was manifest she was not to be taken by surprise. With him (Bro. Sugg) however, it was different; he had the roseate hue of virgin modesty on his cheeks, and his breast was filled with the throbbings of anxiety. He concluded by saying, that whatever his future might be he should use his earnest endeavours not to impair the usefulness of the Masters whom it had been the good fortune of this lodge to possess. The brethren shortly afterwards separated, and returned to town.

PORT ELIZABETH (South Africa).—Lodge of Good Hope (No. 863).—At the regular monthly meeting of this lodge held on March 16th, 1876, W.M., E. R. Smythe, and a full attendance of the brethren. After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed and the ordinary business of the evening concluded, the W.M. informed the brethren present that the business of the evening was to elect a W.M., Treasurer, and Tyler for the ensuing Masonic year. The ballot was then taken, and the result was for W.M., Bro. Samuel Alabaster, formerly of the Lodge of Finsbury, 861, London; Treasurer, Bro. William Phillips; Tyler, Bro. William Morley.

LINSLADE, LEIGHTON-BUZZARD.—St. Barnabas Lodge (No. 948).—The annual meeting of this flourishing lodge was held at the Masonic Rooms, Elephant and Castle Hotel, Linslade, on Tuesday, the 2nd inst, at 3.30 in the afternoon. Owing to the well-deserved popularity of the W.M. elect, Bro. Henry Poynter, P.M., P.P.G.P. Berks and Bucks, there was an unusually large attendance, and neighbouring lodges for miles around manifested their respect and good wishes by sending some of their more distinguished members to represent them at the meeting. The chair was taken punctually by the W.M., Bro. William King, who was supported by Bros. Cook, S.W.; Mark Rest, J.W.; J. McCubbin, P.M.; E. Procter, Joseph Rafferty, Bernard J. Fountain, P.M., P.P.G. Treas.; H. Poynter, Hon. Sec.; Robt. S. Collet, C. W. Scriven, P.M., P.P.G.J.W.; Henry Green, M. T. Welam, J. Nelson, G. M. Maskell, Joseph Holland, Fred. D. Latham, E. Lawson, George Holdom, W. Randall, George Whitman, James Bishop, Charles J. Morgan, J. Sloane, Tyler. Among the visitors were Bros. J. Reere, W.M. 480; Rev. F. H. Crate, P.P.G. Chaplain Essex, W.M. 697; Thomas W. Hazelgrove, W.M. 475; Joseph Payne, W.M. 591; Fred. Gatto, P. Prov. G.S. of W. Berks and Bucks, W.M. 1287; Walter Fitch, W.M. 1410; John Borres, P.M., &c., 148; John Dennis, P.M. 907; H. Lewis, P.M. 907; H. W. Darvell, 697; Fred. Edgington, 1321; Manwaring W. Bolton, 127; Margate; and E. Bate, 95. The lodge was opened in due form, when the minutes were read and confirmed. The ballot was then taken for Mr. John Stewart, which proving unanimously in his favour, and he being present, was initiated by Bro. P.M. McCubbin. On the invitation of the W.M., P.M.'s, and the lodge generally, Bro. John Bowes, P.M., P.Z., P. Prov. G. Reg. Cumberland and Westmorland, assumed the chair of K.S., as Installing Master. The lodge was opened in the Second Degree, when Bro. Henry Poynter, P.M., P. Prov. G.P., Berks and Bucks, was duly presented for the benefit of installation. The presentation receiving attention, the ceremony proceeded. The lodge was opened in the Third Degree, when all brethren below the degree of Installed Master retired, and a Board of Installed Masters duly opened in ample form. Bro. McCubbin presiding in the South. The W.M. was then placed in the chair of K.S. with the usual ceremonies, and after the Board had been closed the M.M.'s, F.C.'s, and E.A.'s were severally admitted, and the W.M. greeted, saluted, and proclaimed in the several degrees according to ancient custom. The W.M. then nominated and invested the officers for the ensuing year, and the Installing Master completed his labours by delivering the charges to the W.M., Wardens, and brethren. After some routine business and a proposition the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned to a splendid banquet, provided by Bro. C. J. Morgan, of the Elephant and Castle Hotel, in his very best style, and which gave unqualified satisfaction to all present. The W.M. presided, and was supported on the right and left respectively by the Installing Master and the I.P.M.; the other brethren being placed according to rank. After the cloth was withdrawn the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were honoured in the well-known St. Barnabas style. "The W.M.'s Health" was received with the utmost enthusiasm, and his manifold services to the lodge for a long period of years gratefully referred to. In proposing "The Health of the Installing Master," the thanks of the lodge were conveyed to him for the complete and expressive manner in which he had worked the degree. The visitors, one and all referred in complimentary terms to the ceremony of the day. Bro. Bowes, the Installing Master, in reply, gave expression to the extreme pleasure it afforded him to instal his brother-in-law, and further said that if his rendering of their beautiful ritual met with the approbation of the brethren he was amply repaid for any trouble he had taken to be present on the occasion. An interesting feature of the postprandial proceedings was the presentation of a costly P.M.'s jewel to Bro. King, I.P.M. Several songs were excellently sung during the evening by Bros. Poynter, Bolton, McCubbin and E. Procter.

SOUTHEAD.—Priory Lodge (No. 1000).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held at the Middleton Hotel, Southend, on Thursday, the 4th inst. There were present Bros. Dr. E. E. Phillips, P.M. 379, W.M.; A. Lucking, P.M. 160 and Prov. A.G.D.C., I.P.M.; F. Wood, P.M., acting S.W.; W. Frost, J.W.; J. A. Wardell, P.M. 160 and 1000, P. Prov. G.D., Sec.; J. R. Hemmann, P.M., Prov. J.G.D., Org.; J. C. Johnstone, P.M. 20, I.C., D.C.; W. Chaplin, S.D.; W. P. Belliss, J.D.; A. F. Godward, acting I.G.; Rev. H. Hayes, Chaplain; S. Cox, P.M.; H. Rowley, P.M., P. Prov. G.D.; G. F. Jones, F. V. Jilings, S.W. 160; F. Canter, H. Hicks, W. H. Lockey, H. Luken, W. D. Merritt, H. Briggs, W. Allen, jun., S.D. 160. Visitors: Bros. F. D. Grayson, 276; Sir Thos. Kirkpatrick, Bart., 957. The lodge having been duly opened and the minutes of the last meeting read and confirmed, the business of the evening was proceeded with, which consisted of passing Bro. G. F. Wood and raising Bro. F. Benton, jun., which was ably done by the W.M. Bro. F. D. Grayson, 276, was balloted for and unanimously elected a joining member. Bro. F. Wood, P.M., P. Prov. S.G.W., the worthy Treas., and also the father of the lodge, having been asked a short time since by the brethren to sit for his portrait, with his usual kindness consented. He now presented it to the lodge, for which he received the hearty thanks of the brethren, it being a very faithful likeness and mounted in a handsome gilt frame. The lodge was then closed in due form.

LANCASTER.—Rowley Lodge (No. 1051).—The members of this lodge held their monthly meeting in the Masonic Rooms, Athenæum, on the 1st inst. There was an average attendance of members and visiting brethren, the chair of K.S. being occupied by the W.M., Bro. H. Longman. The lodge having been opened with solemn prayer, and the usual formalities peculiar to the Craft gone through, two candidates were proposed for initiation. The routine business having been transacted, the lodge subsequently closed in peace and harmony.

DERBY.—Hartington Lodge (No. 1085).—The monthly meeting of this lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Gower-street, on Wednesday evening, May 3rd. The brethren present were Bros. S. Pipes, W.M.; H. T. Bobart, I.P.M.; W. Heathcote, S.W.; T. Gadsby, J.W.; M. H. Bobart, Treas.; Geo. Pipes, Sec.; T. Hills, S.D.; J. O. Manton, as J.D.; J. H. Biggs, I.G.; T. Slinn, Tyler; J. Worsnop, P.M., as Org.; F. Iliffs, P.M.; F. Campion, P.M.; Bros. Josh. Heathcote, Hart, W. Butterfield, Steele, Hepworth, Hextall, Parkenson, Rich. Daniel, Geo. Hill, Visitors: Bros. H. Burns, 731; R. Bennett, W.M. 731; Burton, Wright, Warner, T. Warner, T. Merry, Whitaker (all of 731). The lodge was opened at 7.45 p.m. in the First Degree by the W.M. The ballot was taken for Mr. John Lane, who was duly elected. Mr. Geo. Johnson was initiated into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry by the W.M. Bro. John Parkenson was raised to the sublime Degree of a Master Mason in ancient and solemn form by the W.M. Bro. James Worsnop, P.M., was presented with a jewel in recognition of his services, as Secretary to this lodge for the past five years. After the lodge was closed the brethren adjourned to supper, which was of a very substantial character. After supper the usual toasts were given and heartily received. Several songs were sung by the brethren, which added much to evening's enjoyment. The Tyler's toast being given the proceedings were brought to a close.

BLENHHEIM.—Marlborough Lodge of Unanimity (No. 1236).—The annual installation meeting of this lodge was held in the lodge-room on Monday evening, December 27th, 1875, being the festival of St. John the Evangelist, the W.M. presiding. Bro. W. Douslin, W.M. elect, having been duly presented, the ceremony of installation was most ably performed by Bro. John T. Robinson, the retiring W.M., assisted by Bro. C. J. Griffiths, P.M. The musical portion of the ceremony was most admirably conducted by Bro. Carcy. The following officers for the ensuing year were appointed and invested:—Bros. John T. Robinson, I.P.M.; B. O. Waddy, S.W.; J. F. Hathaway, J.W.; F. T. Farmer, Treas.; W. Nosworthy, Sec.; F. J. Carcy, Org.; C. A. Deacon, S.D.; W. Falconer, J.D.; J. W. Campbell, I.G.; W. Compton, Tylr. During the course of the evening a very neat jewel was presented to Bro. W. Nosworthy, as a testimony of the efficient manner in which his duties as Secretary during the past two years have been performed; also a handsome and massive P.M.'s jewel to Bro. John T. Robinson, which had been subscribed for by the members of the lodge as a memento of their regard and esteem, and in acknowledgment of the able and zealous manner in which he had governed the lodge during the preceding two years. The brethren then adjourned to a capital repast at the Masonic Hotel, and after the removal of the cloth the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given, and the evening was spent in a very enjoyable manner, harmony being contributed by several brethren.

LIVERPOOL.—De Grey and Ripon Lodge (No. 1356).—Prosperity still waits upon this highly-popular lodge, which this year enjoys the Mastership of Bro. J. Bell, whose social tact and Masonic talent eminently fit him for a position already filled by worthy brethren. The usual monthly meeting was held on Wednesday, the 10th inst., and Bro. Bell, W.M., was well supported by his officers, amongst those present being Bros. B. B. Marson, P.M.; T. Evans, P.M.; T. Horne, S.W.; T. Nickson, J.W.; J. Ireland, Treas.; Jos. Jones, Sec.; C. Costigan, S.D.; J. Williams, J.D.; A. Woolrich, I.G.; C. Arden and J. Keet, Stewards; and P. Larsen, P.M., Tyler. There were 36 private members present, and the list of visitors included Bro. F. H. Rahn, P.M. 97 and 1230, P.P.G.J.D., Durham. The business of the evening was initiation and raising, there being three for the First and six for the Third Degree. At the close of the business, Bro. Bell made the gratifying announcement that £109 had been collected in aid of a widow, the particulars of which will be found under the heading "Masonic and General Tidings," in another column.

MANCHESTER.—Lodge of Truth (No. 1458).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held on Saturday, May 6th, at the Private Rooms, Newton Heath. The minutes of last regular meeting being read, they were confirmed unanimously. A letter was read from Bro. Branton, J.W., tendering his resignation. Resolution was then passed, formally excluding several brethren in arrears with their subscriptions. Bro. Cooper was passed to the Second Degree by Bro. Tyers, P.M., and after some other business of a routine character the lodge was closed in peace and harmony about 6.30 p.m.

HALLIFORD.—Thames Valley Lodge (No. 1460).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held on Saturday, the 6th inst., at the Ship Hotel, Halliford. Bro. J. Llewellyn Jones, W.M., presided, and was supported by the following brethren:—W. T. Howe, S.W.; George Townsend, as J.W.; J. G. Marsh, Sec.; W. Sweetland, S.D.; J. E. Kershaw, J.D.; J. H. R. Gowan, I.G.; H. Massey ("Freemason"); W. Clifton Crick, P. Dunn, and Adam Leigh, 657. After the reading and confirmation of the minutes, and before the ceremonies, of which all three were on the summons, were performed, the Secretary read letters from the Rev. Dr. Brette, P.M., acknowledging the vote of condolence which was passed at the former lodge meeting on the great domestic affliction which he had suffered; also from Mrs. Magee, widow of the late Bro. Magee, to the same effect, and another from Bro. Col. Burdett, Prov. G.M. of Middlesex, regretting his inability to be present at this meeting. The W.M. then proceeded with the lodge work, and raised Bro. Dunn to the Third Degree. Lodge met before two o'clock, and hence the small attendance at the opening of the lodge. No other candidates than the above had then arrived, and at the end of the ceremony of raising the W.M. called off his lodge for the arrival of the next train from London. In the course of about half an hour that train brought several brethren, and on the coming in of the brethren the following was the list:—Bros. Rev. Dr. Brette, I.P.M., J. L. Jones, W.M.; W. T. Howe, S.W.; T. B. Yeoman, J.W.; W. Paas, Treas.; J. G. Marsh, Sec.; W. Sweetland, S.D.; J. Evans Kershaw, J.D.; W. Alcock, Steward; J. H. R. Gowan, I.G.; Woodstock, Tyler; George Townsend, Penniston Dunn, Edmund G. Hislop, Mark N. Davis, J. S. Tyler, Robert Stone. Visitors:—H. Massey ("Freemason"); A. Leigh, 657; W. Clifton Crick, 657; D. S. Robertson, 7 (Scotland); William Dance, 754; J. J. Caney, P.M. 198; E. J. Burgess, Indefatigable. Work was immediately proceeded with, and Bro. Mark Davis was passed to the Second Degree. Lieut. Andrew George Wood, 1st Somerset Militia, and Mr. Edmund Frederick Thomas, surgeon, were afterwards initiated. Although the hour was now late, as Bro. J. S. Tyler, who had kindly consented at last meeting (the installation) to defer his raising to relieve the pressure of work, the W.M. again went through the ceremony of raising, and gave Bro. Tyler that degree. Lieut.-Col. Peters, P.M., gave notice of motion for next meeting that the lodge dues be payable once a year instead of half-yearly. An initiate was proposed by Bro. Alcock, and seconded by Col. Peters; after which the W.M. said he had great pleasure in presenting Bro. the Rev. Dr. Brette with a P.M.'s jewel, which had been deferred to this lodge on account of the melancholy domestic affliction which had fallen on the I.P.M. previous to last meeting. He had shewn such interest in the Craft in general and this lodge in particular that the brethren had unanimously accorded it to him, as they were all glad to have had an opportunity of shewing futurity that they were proud to have been connected with so worthy a Master. Dr. Brette said it was from the bottom of his heart he thanked the brethren, and as long as that heart should beat it would beat with gratitude to the brethren. Lodge was then closed, and a choice and delicate banquet was placed on the table by Bro. R. Stone, who personally superintended the serving of it. It was partaken of with great zest by the brethren, and when the cloth was removed the W.M. proposed the usual toasts with great facility and fluency. After that of "The Queen and the Craft" had been honoured, his Worship in giving that of "The M.W.G.M." said the Craft might congratulate themselves upon having such a head. The toast acquired a peculiar interest that night in the face of his approaching return, when they could but feel grateful to the Great Architect of the Universe for having preserved H.R.H. in all his journeyings by land and water. It was a journey, he believed, undertaken from the very purest English motives, for the sole object of doing good to England, by cementing, if possible, our Indian dependencies more to the British throne. We could only hope that the Power which had preserved him so far might still preserve him until he landed on English shores once more. When they had an opportunity the Masons of England would give him a very hearty reception, and tell him by their cheers far more than he (the W.M.) could say in volumes that they were very glad to see him back. (Cheers.) "The Pro Grand Master, D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers," was the next toast, and this was followed by "Col. Burdett, Prov. G.M., Sir George Elliot, D.P.G.M., and the rest of the Prov. Grand Officers." The W.M. said he regretted Col. Burdett's absence. He was generally among them, and on those occasions he expressed his approval of the manner in which the duties of the lodge were conducted, and his wishes for the future prosperity of the lodge. But there were two or three officers of the province present, and he should therefore couple with the toast the name of the Rev. Dr. Brette, P. Prov. G. Chaplain. Bro. Dr. Brette, in his reply, said that he regretted Colonel Burdett's absence as much as any one could. From what he had seen that evening the work of the lodge was never done so perfectly well as it had been that day. Col. Peters also responded. As the first W.M. of the lodge he had done everything he could for it, and he was delighted to see it so prosperous. The Prov. G.M. of Middlesex offered him the Mastership of the lodge, and he was very proud indeed of that compliment. He had himself as well as the other brethren greatly admired the working of the lodge that day; the efficiency was certainly wonderful; it certainly could not have been better; and the brethren were all proud of having such a W.M. as Bro. Jones. (Hear.) The Rev. Bro. Dr. Brette, in proposing "The Health of the W.M.," said that as a P.M. he (Bro. Brette) enjoyed the otium cum dignitate which P.M.'s looked forward to, but they always rose with pleasure to propose this toast. No words of his could enhance the value in the brethren's hearts of the W.M. or increase their appreciation of him. The lodge was founded in 1874, when Bro. Jones took office as S.D. Since then he had never missed a single meeting of the lodge, and he always worked most conscientiously and hard. He had proved to them that day what he knew, and that he was one of the most devoted sons of the Thames Valley Lodge. Certainly his work had been well supported by that of his officers; but irrespective of that there were plain evidences that he must have taken great pains out of lodge with his ceremonies. Bros. Sweetland, Kershaw, and Gowan had ably assisted, and great praise was due to them. (Cheers.) The W.M., replying, said it had just occurred to him that there was a line to the effect that "In their own praises modest men were dumb," and if he had not thought of that he might have been carried away by the flood of eulogy which poured from the I.P.M. He had said what he did, no doubt, in all good faith and sincerity; and through his coloured glasses he saw a little more rosily perhaps than the other lookers on. He (the W.M.) would simply say that he thanked the brethren very much indeed, not only for their kind reception of the toast, but for other marks of their kindness—and they had been many—on all occasions. He would promise them one thing; if they were satisfied with him now, and had been satisfied with him in the past, he would endeavour to make them satisfied with him in the future. If he had been of assistance to any of his officers that was simply an earnest of the assistance he should be pleased to afford any members of the lodge who required it to make themselves proficient in the offices to which they had been advanced; and he hoped they would believe him when he said that what had occurred in the past would be an earnest of what he hoped would occur in the future. (Cheers.) Bro. Wood and Thomas responded to the toast of "The Initiates," and all the visitors responded to the toast proposed in their honour; after which the W.M. gave "The P.M.'s," remarking that Dr. Brette had consented to stand as Steward for the Girls' School the following Wednesday, and that he had already £9; 11s. on his list. The lodge was greatly indebted to Colonel Peters, he might say "simply for the lodge." Had it not been for Col. Peters there would have been no Thames Valley Lodge, and no John Llewellyn Jones, Master. Therefore they were deeply indebted to Bro. P.M. Col. Peters for having given them an opportunity of meeting together and being so happy. But a foundation was nothing unless you built a pleasant building upon it. Their I.P.M. put on the next storey equally well and equally pleasant, and still further cemented and adorned the foundation laid by their brother, Col. Peters, and it was in a great measure owing to his urbanity and kindness that the Thames Valley Lodge mustered so strong as it did. (Hear.) The Rev. Dr. Brette, in reply, said: Brethren, I feel more than I can express for the kindness you have always shewn me, but especially during the last few months. You know, all of you, what a severe trial I have had to pass through the dispensation of our God; but I can assure you that after the consolation which religion can give and does give us, the hand of friendship and of sympathy which was offered to me by you has been most consolatory. Here I beg you to accept my most heartfelt thanks for the letter of condolence you were kind enough to vote in open lodge, and which I received in due time. Perhaps you will allow me, who was brought up among classics and have spent my life at school, to say that one of my old masters, Ovid, whom I was taught to love and revere, was at fault when he said,

"Donec eris felix, multos muneralis amicos;
Tempora si fuerint nubila, solus eris."

I am sure Ovid was not a Mason. Though this may be true for the cold world, it is not so in Masonry; for when one of us is struck down by adversity the hand of fellowship is offered to him and the grasp of a friendly hand raises him and gives him strength to bear his affliction. Brethren, from the bottom of my heart I thank you. When I heard of your vote of condolence, and especially when I received the letter conveying your sympathy, I confess tears came in my eyes, but these tears fell as a soothing balm on my burning heart. Brethren, accept my most sincere thanks, and be assured that as long as I live I shall make it a matter of duty, in order to prove to you my deep gratitude, to attend regularly to the duties of this lodge and to keep its name on the honourable roll of our Masonic Charities. The W.M. then gave "The Officers" of the lodge, and said he considered himself very fortunate in having such excellent brethren to assist him. He complimented all these brethren on the ability they had displayed that day, and added that he was very proud of his family. Bro. W. T. Howe, S.W., responded for all the officers, and said that when they accepted office they made up their minds to do their duty not only from love to the W.M. but from love to the Craft. They were delighted that their services won the good opinion of the W.M. The Tyler's toast was then given, and the brethren returned to town by the last train, after having spent a delightful day.

NORTH WOOLWICH.—Henley Lodge (No. 1472).—The above lodge held its usual monthly meeting on Tuesday, the 2nd inst., at Bro. West's, the Three Crowns, Bro. J. Ives, W.M., in the chair, supported by the following officers:—Bros. W. Steele, S.W.; B. B. Brayshaw, P.M., filling, in the absence of Bro. Silver, the office of J.W.; J. Henderson, P.M. and Sec.; T. Geller, Treas.; A. J. Manning, S.D.; N. Stanford, I.G.; J. A. Elder, W.S.; J. Plume, D.C.; and W. Steadman, P.M. 754, O.G. Among the visitors were Bros. T. G. Day, W.M. 1076; J. Austin, P.M. 933; H. Taylor, D.C. 1076; W. Wagner, 1076; G. Green, 1076; J. W. Job, 1076; J. Wood, 1421; J. Jennings, 534; and C. Jolly, 913. The lodge having been opened in due form and with solemn prayer, Dr. W. J. Vance and Mr. F. Day were ballotted for, and on approval initiated into the Craft. The W.M. then raised his own son, Bro. E. W. Ives, in a most solemn and impressive manner, this being the first time the worthy W.M. has had an opportunity of performing that magnificent ceremony, and we say with much pleasure that his working was well and worthily done. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren partook of Bro. West's excellent menu, served in an adjoining room. Upon reassembling the W.M. proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, to which the brethren did full honour. Bro. Brayshaw, in proposing "The Health of the W.M.," spoke eulogistically of his earnest endeavours to render himself worthy of the important position he now held, and augured under his rule a great success for the lodge. Bro. Ives briefly replied, and in response to "The Initiates" Bro. Vance replied, thanking the brethren for the honour conferred upon him. Bros. Day, Austin, and Jolly replied for "The Visitors," and Bro. Steele for "The Officers of the Lodge," in suitable terms.

BIRMINGHAM.—Lodge of Israel (No. 1474).—The brethren of this lodge held their usual monthly meeting on Monday evening, the 8th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Severn-street. Bro. S. Lyon, the W.M., ever punctual to his duties, was in the chair. Not so with the other officers, for unfortunately circumstances prevented six of them from being present; but it was noteworthy to observe the excellent feeling that exists towards the W.M., for no sooner had he made known that his officers were in different parts of Great Britain and not able to be present (for this lodge is composed of brethren of many nationalities—Englishmen, Frenchmen, Germans, Dutchmen, Russians, and Poles—many of whom are travellers) than many eminent members of other lodges in Birmingham came forward and volunteered their services. The W.M. of the Lodge of Emulation, and Treasurer of this lodge, occupied the S.W. chair; the S.W. of the Lodge of Emulation, the J.W.; Bro. Roberts, the J.D., doing the duties of S.D. as well as J.D.; Bro. Davis Lavenstein, Sec., was supported by Bro. J. Pursall, P.P.G.S.W., as I.P.M.; Bro. Fenn, P.M. 74, as Dir. of Cer.; and Bro. P. M. Muggleton and many other visitors, and it was a source of great delight to see the many visitors who came to render their services. The business comprised the raising of Bros. Deal and Cohen, which was performed by the W.M. in a very beautiful manner; passing of Bros. Saul Abrahams and Newman, and initiating Mr. Davis Abrahams, all the degrees being rendered in a very efficient manner. After six candidates had been proposed, the brethren adjourned to the banqueting room, the W.M. presiding giving the usual loyal and Masonic toasts. Bros. Glydon, Pursall, Silverstone, and other members and visitors gave some excellent songs, their services being very much appreciated in hearty good fellowship, and the brethren separated, much pleased with the evening's proceedings. It is believed that this will be one of the largest lodges in the country, as it has only been established two years and has over 66 members already, with six more to come up for initiation.

LEICESTER.—Albert Edward Lodge (No. 1560).—The regular monthly meeting took place at Freemasons' Hall, on Tuesday, 9th inst. Amongst those present were the R.W. Bro. W. Kelly, P. Prov. G.M.; Bros. G. Toller, jun., I.P.M., as W.M.; Rev. Canon Burfield, S.W.; Dr. Hunt, J.W.; F. C. Stretton, P.M., Treas.; Rev. J. Woodcock, Chaplain; Rev. W. Langley, Sec.; Rev. F. Richardson, S.D.; S. S. Partridge, P.M., D.C.; Dr. Buck, I.G.; Rev. Sculthorpe, P.M. and Captain Goodchild, Stewards; Rev. H. Wood, Gee, J. Deane, P.M.; R. S. Toller, Burgess, and others. Visitors: Bros. W. Millican, P.M.; W. T. Rowlett, S.W.; T. A. Wykes, J.W.; and G. L. Vaughan, all of 523; Dr. Grant, W.M.; and T. Macaulay, P.M. 1330; Rev. J. Baker, Vicar of St. John's. The principal business was the initiation of Mr. F. H. Hodges, late house surgeon to the infirmary, who having been unanimously elected was received into Masonry in due form by the acting W.M., assisted by Bro. W. Kelly. Three joining members having been proposed and other business transacted, the lodge was closed, and the members adjourned to dinner, this being a banquet night. The remainder of the evening was pleasantly enlivened by the singing of Bros. the Rev. F. Richardson, Hodges, and others; while the performances of Bros. Wykes, Vaughan, and Rowlett respectively on the piano, flute, and oboe elicited considerable applause. The only toasts given were: "The Queen," "The Grand Master," "The Visitors," and "The Initiates," which were severally proposed by the acting W.M., Bros. W. Kelly, Canon Burfield, and Rev. W. Langley, that of "The Visitors" being responded to by the Rev. J. Baker. This lodge bids fair to be useful, not only in receiving strangers into the ranks of Masonry, but by winning back again some of the older Masons who had retired from the active duties of the Craft. The meeting above recorded was one of the most successful yet held, and it may be mentioned as a singular fact that the professions of divinity, law, and medicine had each half a dozen representatives amongst those present.

MORECAMBE.—Morecambe Lodge (No. 1561).—The members of this lodge assembled in their lodge-room at the Local Board of Health office, on the 9th inst., for the purpose of holding their monthly meeting. In the unavoidable absence of the W.M., Bro. Dr. J. D. Moore, P.G.S.B., the lodge was opened with solemn prayer by Bro. Henry Longman, W.M. 1051. There was a good attendance. Bro. W. Stephenson, having given proficiency as a Fellow Craftsman, retired, when the lodge was raised to the Third Degree. Bro. Stephenson was then re-admitted and raised to the Sublime Degree of a Master Mason, the working being efficiently gone through by Bro. Longman. The lodge was then closed down to the Second Degree, when Bros. W. W. Wilde, John Hutton, and John Gott, having severally given proficiency as Entered Apprentices, were passed to the degree of Fellow Craftsmen the workings being gone through by Bros. John Hatch, P.M. 281; John L. Bradshaw, P.M. 1051; and Bro. Thos. Atkinson, W.M. 281, respectively. Bro. Capt. Garnett was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year, the installation ceremony being fixed for the 1st June. The usual proclamations were made, and elicited hearty good wishes from the visiting brethren, after which the lodge was closed in peace, love, and harmony.

INSTRUCTION.

FAITH LODGE (No. 141).—On Tuesday evening, the 9th inst., the ceremonies of consecration and installation were rehearsed at this lodge by Bro. James Terry, Prov. Grand Director of Ceremonies Herts, and Secretary of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution. The lodge met at its usual trysting place, the Restaurant, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-Street, and about eighty brethren were present. Bro. Terry opened the lodge at seven o'clock, having Bro. Reed as S.W., Bro. Cameron, as J.W., Bro. Charles Hill, as D.C.; Bro. Swallow, as S.D.; Bro. Smith, as J.D.; Bro. Cottebrune, as P.M.; Bro. Scott, as Treas.; and Bro. Bassington, as Hon. Secretary. The other brethren present were Bros. Richard Baker, James Stevens, J. W. Leggett, G. M., Cole, W. H. Power, D. M. Belfrage, S. Jones, J. E. Flatterby, G. Boer, John Wyllie, D. Haslett, John Rhodes, J. Dreyberg, E. H. Boddy, A. T. Rapkin, W. M. Stiles, H. L. Seager, Alex. South, J. J. Rennel, R. Bower, J. Barney, Thos. Lamb, W. Grellies, J. Gardner, A. Carlsbron, John Ryder, John Smith, Charles Hunt, John Harper, J. Austin, W. Mann, John T. Woodstock, C. A. Woods, L. T. Carter, Robt. Calfull, Henry Lewis, James Lewis, Thomas, C. J. C. Mountenoy, A. Desperes, W. L. Lister, Andrew Middlemass, Edward Jacobs, Thos. Petre, J. Hughes, Thos. Henden, L. Samuel, A. J. Hunt, J. L. Coulton, John Oliver, W. J. Collens, H. Brock, J. J. Canle, G. J. Henty, C. Hayward, Thos. Bull, J. E. Shand, J. Lindner, J. M. Young, H. Stiles, T. F. K. Smith, W. H. Kempster, C. G. Hill, Robt. Secker, W. Walker, C. J. Scales, S. J. Weston, Ernest H. Steinmetz, W. L. Gardner, G. F. Lewins, John Hurdell, John E. Hunt, Thos. B. Lancaster, John Jacobs, Edward Jacobs, B. Solomon, W. Side, H. M. Levy, W. Walker, James Curtis, Docker, Riley, Gardiner, Kempster, G. H. Webb, Fred. Brown, H. Massey ("Freemason"); W. Milroy, C. Keepe, Wm. Read, R. Allison, S. J. Locker, Saml. Webb, C. Fitzentre, John Verity, and Thomas F. Harman. Bro. Terry having opened the lodge in the different degrees proceeded to give the ceremony of consecration, assisted by the officers, and Bro. Rhodes at the harmonium, with Bro. Knight Smith leading the singing. The whole ceremony was given beautifully, including Bro. Terry's well known oration, describing what Freemasonry is, what lodges are, and the duties of all who join the Order. The ceremony of consecration being completed Bro. Terry proceeded with the installation, for which purpose Bro. C. A. Cottebrune was presented to him by Bro. C. G. Hill, D.C. for the occasion. On the completion of the formal installation, Bro. Cottebrune appointed the following brethren as his officers:—Bros. Boddy, S.W.; Seager, J.W.; Scott, Treas.; Bassington, Hon. Sec.; Hunt, S.D.; Haslett, J.D.; and Carter, I.G. Bro. Terry afterwards gave the charges, and the undermentioned joining members were proposed:—Bros. Walker, 145; James Curtis, 145; Gardiner, 1297; Kempster, 1420; Docker, 1563; Riley, 1563. It was then proposed by Bro. Cottebrune, and seconded by Bro. Scott and carried unanimously, that a vote of thanks be recorded on the minutes to Bro. Terry for his kindness in working the ceremonies of consecration and installation, also that he be elected an honorary member of the lodge. Votes of thanks were also recorded to Bros. Rhodes, Knight Smith, Cantle, Hill, H. Reed, Cameron, and Smith for assisting Bro. Terry in the ceremonies. A vote of thanks was passed to Bro. H. T. Lamb for lending the consecrating vessels, also to Bro. H. Reed for presenting the printed programmes, and to the members of the committee. Lodge was thereafter closed, and in a few minutes the brethren sat down to an excellent repast. The usual toasts were proposed. After those of "The Queen and the Craft," "The M.W.G.M.," "The Pro Grand Master," "The Dep. G.M., &c.," Bro. Cottebrune, who presided, proposed "The Health of Bro. J. Terry, the Consecrating Officer." He said he should come to the point at once, for he knew very well that if he were to speak for weeks, or months, or years, if nature had given him the power of eloquence, he could but say a few words, and they would be to the effect that all the brethren were grateful to Bro. Terry for coming to perform the ceremony of consecration that evening. When some few years ago,—18 or 20 (not that he and Bro. Terry were old; they were still young men), they used to meet in lodges of instruction like boys learning the A B C of Freemasonry—the one that could say A B before the other was the best man; and when they could go on to spell syllables the one that could do it was a very good fellow, and they thought to themselves that they were getting on; but they little dreamed that they would come to be as learned in Masonry as Bro. Terry was now, or as elevated in position. He was happy to say that Bro. Terry was now Secretary to one of the institutions, an institution which spoke to their hearts perhaps as much as the other two, for children very often, especially among Masons, had friends; but men or widows, when they came to old age, found that their friends were either dead or far away from them. The Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution for Aged Freemasons and the Widows of Freemasons was, he thought, and the Craft thought so, too, "the" institution; for at last festival they had the largest subscription to it ever known—nearly £9000. It proved that Freemasons thought that old age must be cared for, as well as youth. (Cheers.) Bro. Terry, in reply, said he appreciated the compliment just paid him, the more particularly so, that in proposing the toast Bro. Cottebrune had been good enough to allude to days gone by, when both of them had the honour of wearing only blue Craft aprons and aspired to no distinction beyond that of becoming P.M. Fortune, however, had favoured them, and the Grand Master had honoured Bro. Cottebrune by authorising him to take his seat on the dais. No doubt all the brethren would at some time or other have that honour, if they lived long enough. (Laughter.) But there were at the present day so much rivalry and so many endeavours made by members of the Craft to bring themselves under the notice of the G.M. prominently that His Royal Highness was now obliged to look for modest merit, and it was on that account Bro. Cottebrune obtained a distinction which others missed who sought it for themselves. With respect to his own (Bro. Terry's) distinctive rank, which Bro. Cottebrune had kindly alluded to, he remembered the evenings 17 years ago, when he and Bro. Cottebrune used to attend on Wednesday evenings the Lodge of United Strength. Ten or eleven of the brethren used to come together, and they spent their evenings very harmoniously and pleasantly indeed, with the laudable feeling that they were worthy to go on and do something for Freemasonry which would do honour to themselves and good to the Craft. Bro. Cottebrune had obtained a position which very few Masons could hope to attain, and the brethren could only hope and trust that years would be spared him to wear the colours and the distinction which had been conferred upon him. For himself (Bro. Terry), he could only say that it had afforded him infinite pleasure to be present that evening to give to the members of the Faith Lodge of Instruction the opportunity—it might be to some of them the first time—of hearing the ceremony of consecration rehearsed. If he had afforded them any gratification he was amply repaid, not alone by the large attendance of brethren he had the honour of addressing, or by their great attention to the ceremony, but from the fact stated in lodge, that he was doing it in the presence of the Preceptor who had taught him the first rudiments of Freemasonry. Therefore it was he found a double pleasure in being there to repay some of those debts of gratitude which he owed to their worthy brother and chairman. As far as regarded his (Bro. Terry's) connection with one of the institutions of the Craft, he could only say that since he had filled that high position (and he could appeal to those around the room who knew him to bear him out in what he was saying) he had endeavoured to do his duty. Let him recall a few facts. Four years ago the amount that used to be announced at the festivals never exceeded £3500, but in February of this year they announced £9174. That amount was subsequently increased by lists which had not come in at the festival to £9380. Four years ago he found the institution with something like 80 men upon its funds, and something like 65 widows; at the present time they had 130 men and 110 widows. Four years ago the men had annuities of £26 a year, and the widows, £15. After June next the men would have £40 a year, and the widows, £32. The income actually required to pay annuities alone, without anything for working expenses, instead of the sum of £5400 per annum, four years back amounted to within £75 of £9000 per annum. This showed that the Craft had been indulgent to them, and had extended to them, as their presiding officers had told them that evening, the right hand of charity to the aged. The Boys' and the Girls', in days gone by, had the advantage of being considered the pet institutions; the Girls were receiving £5000 or £6000 a year, and the Boys greatly exceeded that sum. At that time the Benevolent was scarcely reaching the sum of £2000. He was happy to say the aspect of affairs was now entirely changed, and the Benevolent Institution had £9380. The Girls' School Festival would be held to-morrow, and he trusted a still larger sum would come in. He did not like to be beaten himself, but still he liked to see his brother Secretaries, each in his own individual sphere, doing the best they could, as he knew they did, for their institutions, as he endeavoured to do for his. To-morrow he hoped and trusted that Bro. Little—whose health he was sorry to say was not such as they could wish it to be—would have a bumping list to cheer him in his illness. On the last Wednesday in June Bro. Binckes would have another great festival for the Boys' School. Last year he collected over £12,700, and he hoped that this year it would be still more, if it was only for the important fact that he might prove to the whole of the Craft that (he did not wish to use a harsh term, but nothing short of it would convey the true state of the case) the libellous charge made against him was not believed by the bulk of the Craft of English Freemasons, and that they felt that the honour, integrity, and reputation of the institution's committees were unimpeachable, and that they would not pass the least item of expenditure unless it was vouched for and unless it was necessary for the institution. He could not help thinking that it seemed a remarkable thing, indeed it assumed the appearance of cruel irony, that the President of the Stewards for the next Festival of the Boys' School was no other than the Provincial Grand Master of West Yorkshire, which province had been endeavouring to crush the Boys' School during the past twelve months. He only mentioned these facts to shew that though brethren might differ in their opinions at out the institutions, yet when their claims were brought before the Craft they obtained the support of the bulk of the Craft. (Hear hear.) Bro. Terry concluded by again thanking the brethren, and again assuring them of the pleasure it had afforded him to be present. Bros. C. G. Hill, Reid, Cameron, Cantle, Knight Smith, responded to the toast of "The Brethren who assisted at the Consecration." Bro. Terry proposed "Bro. Cottebrune's Health," and that brother in reply gave an account of the rise, vicissitudes, and progress of the Faith Lodge of Instruction. Established now on a firm basis, he had great pleasure in reflecting what good it did and must do; and he exhorted the brethren to support it as well as they had hitherto, and so make the work of the mother lodges perfect. After the other toasts the brethren separated. Some excellent singing was given by Bros. Cantle, Webb, and Knight Smith.

CHATHAM.—Royal Kent Lodge of Antiquity (No. 20).—A meeting of this lodge was held at the Mitre Hotel, on Wednesday, 3rd inst. The lodge was opened at 6.30 p.m. This being the night for the election of officers, Bro. Thos. Mason was duly elected W.M. for the present month, and afterwards appointed his officers. The lodge was then closed, when the brethren proceeded to partake of a banquet given in honour of Bro. William Gamon, S.W. of Lodge 20, which was most ably supplied by Bro. J. T. Lewis, of that hotel; Bro. R. C. Burfield, P.M. of Lodge 20, presiding in the East; the W.M. of Lodge of Instruction being in the West. The banquet being finished, the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were gone through. Bro. R. C. Burfield then proposed in flattering terms "The Health of Bro. Gamon," at the same time presenting him with a handsome gold jewel, given by the brethren of the Lodge of Instruction as a token of their esteem and regard, and as an acknowledgment for the long and valuable services rendered by him on all occasions as Instructor. Bro. Gamon, in feeling terms, thanked the brethren heartily for the very handsome present he had received from their hands, and Bro. Burfield for the very kind remarks he had been pleased to make of him, and hoped that he might be spared for many years to wear and appreciate it as a Mason ought, and when he should be called away from this sublunary abode one of his sons might be in a position to wear and prize it as much as he should do. There were many brethren from neighbouring lodges present, amongst them Bro. T. Watson, W.M.; Bro. G. Currell, I.P.M.; and Bros. Nicol and Newton, P.M.'s of 1050; Bro. Cottrell, J.W. 1424; and Bro. Benenue, P.M. 503, Maidstone. Bro. John Thornton, W.M. of Lodge 20, supported Bro. Burfield on his left. The evening was enlivened by some capital singing by the brethren. The Tyler's toast closed the evening at 11 o'clock.

MANCHESTER.—St. David's Lodge (No. 1147).—The regular meeting of this lodge of instruction was held on Tuesday evening, April 25th, at the Masonic Hall, Cooper-street. Bro. J. Holmes-Poulton, 44 and 1565, occupied the chair as W.M. There was a very fair attendance of brethren. The lodge was opened in the First Degree with solemn prayer, and the minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The lodge was raised to the Second Degree, and the ceremony of this degree was then worked in a very able and impressive manner. Afterwards the acting W.M. delivered the lecture on the Tracing Board, which he did for the first time, and acquitted himself admirably. The lodge was brought down to the First Degree, and a portion of the First Lecture was then rehearsed by the brethren present. Bro. T. R. Peel, W.M. 1447, proposed Bro. J. B. Seel as a joining member. Hearty good wishes were expressed by the brethren from various lodges.

Royal Arch.

SOUTHEND.—Priory Chapter (No. 1000).—The installation meeting of this flourishing chapter, and first anniversary of its consecration, was held at the Middleton Hotel, Southend, on Wednesday, the 10th inst. There were present Comps. Rev. S. R. Wigram, P.Z. 214, Grand 1st Asst. Soj., M.E.Z.; E. E. Phillips, H.; A. Lucking, J.; J. C. Johnstone, Scribe E.; S. P. Weston, Treas.; J. A. Wardell Prin. Soj.; Jas. Willing, jun., and S. W. Gower, Asst. Sojs.; J. R. Hemmann, F. V. Jillings, E. Judd, W. Pissey, F. Canton, T. Williams, H. H. Child, J. Wiseman. Visitors: Comp. Rev. Skilton, P.Z. 214. The chapter having been opened and the companions admitted, the minutes of the last convocation were read and confirmed. Four candidates for exaltation were balloted for and unanimously elected. Bros. F. Wood, P.M. 1000, and F. Calron, 197, being present were duly exalted to this supreme degree, the ceremony being impressively performed by the M.E.Z., the H. and J. giving the Symbolic and Historical Lectures. The Principals were then installed for the ensuing year, viz., Comps. E. E. Phillips, M.E.Z.; A. Lucking, H.; J. A. Wardell, J. The following officers were invested: Comps. J. C. Johnstone, Scribe E.; W. Pissey, Scribe N.; S. R. Weston, Treas.; Jas. Willing, jun., Prin. Soj.; T. W. Gower, 1st Asst. Soj.; Rev. H. J. Hatch, and Asst. Soj.; J. R. Hemmann, D.C.; E. Judd and F. V. Jillings, Stewards; Mountain, Janitor. The report of the Audit Committee, which was very favourable, was received and adopted. The M.E.Z. in the name of the chapter then presented the I.P.Z. Comp. Rev. S. R. Wigram, with a handsome P.Z. jewel, in recognition of his invaluable services as the first M.E.Z. of the Priory Chapter, and also congratulated him on the high office to which he had been appointed in the Supreme Grand Chapter. The chapter was duly closed and the companions adjourned to banquet. The usual loyal and R.A. toasts were given and duly honoured. Comp. Rev. S. R. Wigram returned thanks for the officers of Grand Chapter, and Comp. Rev. Skilton for the visitors. The Janitor's toast brought the proceedings to a close.

MELTON MOWBRAY.—De Mowbray Chapter (No. 1130).—A convocation of this chapter (postponed from March) was held on the 4th ult., at the George Hotel. Among the members were Comps. J. C. Duncombe, M.E.Z.; W. Adcock, H.; Rev. Wm. Langley, P.Z.; J. J. Fast, P.Z.; R. Boughton Smith, J.S.E.; J. M. Kew, Assist. S.; J. E. Bright, R. Dalglish, and others. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the following companions were unanimously elected to office for the ensuing year:—Comps. the Rev. Wm. Langland, M.E.Z.; W. Adcock, H.; R. Boughton Smith, J.; J. M. Kew, S.E.; Bugg, N.; Oxford, P.Z.; Treas.; Dalglish, P.S.; J. J. Fast, P.Z.; M.C.; Hill and Dale, Stewards; and Turville, Janitor. Comp. Dalglish appointed Comps. Leader and Norton, First and Second Assist. Sojs., respectively. A candidate having been proposed for exaltation at the next meeting, the chapter was closed, and the companions repaired to the banquet, which was well served.

Mark Masonry.

SOUTH MOLTON.—Fortescue Lodge (No. 9).—A meeting of this old lodge took place at the Masonic Hall on Monday, 8th inst. Present: Bro. J. T. Shapland, W.M.; Bro. W. Brewer, S.W.; Bro. John Brewer, J.W.; Bro. J. Galliford, M.O.; Bro. Wood, S.O.; Bro. J. T. Widgery, J.O.; Bro. J. E. Galliford, secretary; Bro. Cole, S.D.; Bro. Britton, J.D.; Bro. Oliver, I.G.; and several other brethren. Bro. J. List, P.M. of Lodge 251, was advanced, and other business transacted. The ceremony was very creditably performed by the W.M. and his officers, which gave great satisfaction to all present.

MELTON MOWBRAY.—Howe Lodge (No. 21).—The annual meeting of this lodge was held on Thursday, 4th inst., for the purpose of installing the W.M. for the ensuing year. There was a good attendance of members. The installing ceremony was performed in a most effective manner by V.W. Bro. Langley, D.P.G.M.M.M., after which the W.M., Bro. Robert Boughton-Smith, P.G.S.O., was saluted by the members. The appointment and investment of the officers next took place as follows:—Bros. J. C. Duncombe, I.P.M.; J. B. Leadbeater, S.W.; J. Selby, J.W.; W. Adcock, M.O.; A. Childs, S.O.; F. Amatt, J.O.; Rev. Wm. Langley, Chaplain; Wm. Vial, Sec.; J. J. Fast, P.M., Reg. Mks.; H. James, S.D.; C. L. Ferneley, J.D.; W. Vial, Org.; C. P. Newcome, I.G.; and Turville, Tyler. Votes of thanks were passed to the Installing Master, and to the I.P.M. for his very efficient and able services during the past year. These were duly acknowledged. On the W.M. rising several names were proposed as candidates for advancement at the next meeting. The lodge was then closed, and the brethren proceeded to an excellent banquet, provided by Bro. Childs, at which the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and heartily responded to by the brethren.

Red Cross of Constantine.

EDINBURGH.—The Edinburgh Conclave, No. 4, and St. Giles, No. 103, held their annual meetings for the installation of officers on Tuesday, the 25th ultimo, in the Conclave-rooms, St. James's Hall. There was a large attendance at both conclaves. The Conclave No. 4 was opened by the retiring M.P.S., Em. Sir Knt. W. Milne, who has presided for the last two years with great acceptance to the companions. The minutes of election having been read and approved, the M.P.S. elect, V. Em. Sir Knt. R. S. Brown, P.V., K.G.C., was enthroned amid general expression of approval, and he thereupon installed the following officers, viz.:—Arthur M. Bruce, E. V. Eusebius; Lieut. M. Tracy, P.S. No. 8, Senior General; Capt. W. H. Brown, Junior General; James Walker, High Prelate; Alex. Brown, Treasurer; Jas. B. Mercer, P.S., Recorder; Thos. Willmott, Prefect; E. G. M. Sellentin, Standard Bearer; Henry B. Ferrier, Orator; James W. MacGill, Organist; James Inglis, Herald; Claude Gaillard, Senior Steward; Albert Thiem, Junior Steward; and Alex. Robertson, Sentinel. The conclave was then closed, and the St. Giles, No. 103, was opened by the M.P.S., Em. Sir Knt. J. McPherson, who has been re-elected for the ensuing year. The following officers were then installed, viz.:—Andrew Dalglish, E. V. Eusebius; S. M'K. Munro, Senior General; James Forbes, Junior General; J. A. Brownlee, High Prelate; A. W. Rennie, Treasurer; John Jeffrey, Recorder; Dan. Shearer, Prefect; Matthew Hart, Standard Bearer; Wm. Howden, Herald; James Wilson, Senior Steward; Robt. Mackenzie, Junior Steward; James Bryce, Sentinel. The conclave was then closed, and the Sir Knights of both conclaves adjourned to the Prince of Wales Hotel, when they joined together in enjoying a sumptuous repast, provided by Sir Knight Gaillard. The chair was filled by the M.P.S. of No. 4, supported by the P.I.G. for Midlothian, Ill. Sir Knt. Christie; Em. Sir Knts. W. Milne, P.S. No. 4; G. W. Wheeler, M.P.S. No. 114, Glasgow; A. Dalglish, E.V.E. No. 103; J. Fleming, P.V. No. 4; Lieut. M. Tracy, R.A. (P.S. No. 8); Sen. Gen. Capt. Brown, A.H.C., Jun. Gen.; Col. J. T. Robeson, American Consul; J. Walker, H.P., &c.; while the Croupier's chair was filled by Em. Sir Knt. M.P.S. No. 103, supported by V. Em. Sir Knt. J. B. Mercer, P.S. No. 4, K.G.C.; A. M. Bruce, E.O.E. No. 4; D. Shearer, P.V. No. 103; S. Munro, Sen. Gen.; J. Forber, Jun. Gen.; A. W. Rennie, Treas.; J. Jeffrey, Rec., and others. After the cloth was removed, Gen. Sir Knt. Milne, P.S. No. 4, in the name of that conclave, presented to Ill. Sir Knt. Christie, P.S. No. 4, and Past. Int. Gen., the handsome insignia of a Prov. Grand Commander of St. John, as a token of their esteem, and appreciation of his services to the conclave. Sir Knt. Christie acknowledged the gift in very feeling terms; the more so as it was entirely unexpected on his part. The usual loyal toasts were then given and duly responded to. The toast of "The M. Ill. G. Sovereign" was proposed by the M.P.S. of No. 103, and was received with due honour. The Chairman then gave that of "The M. Em. Grand Viceroy, Col. Francis Burdett (Grand Sovereign elect for Scotland), which was received and responded to with great applause. The other toasts were given in due form, and cordially responded to, and after spending a very happy evening together the Sir Knights of both conclaves separated, all delighted with the success which had attended this their first conjoint assembly.

Scotland.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. John (No. 34).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, at 213, Buchanan-street, on Tuesday evening, 2nd inst., Bro. D. M. Nelson, W.M., presiding; T. Fletcher, P.M., acting S.W.; P. Brownlie, J.W.; W. Bell, I.P.M.; J. Dunn, Treas.; J. Dick, Sec.; and the other office-bearers in their proper places. The P.G. Lodge made their annual visitation to this lodge this evening. On its being announced they were in waiting, they were received by the brethren upstanding and in usual form. Bro. Nelson, W.M., then handed the mallet over to the acting P.G.M., Bro. J. Baird, P.G.S.M., who in courteous terms returned the same, and called upon the P.G. Sec. to read the report drawn up by the P.G. Lodge deputation. Bro. McTaggart, P.G. Sec., read the following report: "On the 2nd May, 1876, at 213, Buchanan-street, Glasgow, we, the undersigned office-bearers of the P.G. Lodge of Glasgow, hereby certify that we have examined the various books of the Lodge St. John, No. 34, and found them in a satisfactory condition and correctly kept, and that generally the lodge is working in strict harmony with the Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of Scotland." The P.G. Sec., in the course of a few remarks, pointed out that no books of any lodge could be kept in better order or in a more satisfactory condition, and the only fault the deputation could find was in giving two degrees in the same night to the same candidate without showing a satisfactory reason in the minutes for so doing, but trusted that such a practice would in the future be discontinued. Bro. Baird, P.G.S.M., briefly called attention to giving more than one degree to the same candidate in one night, and hoped there would be no need of calling attention to this matter again, but congratulated the office-bearers in every other respect. Bro. Nelson, W.M., replied at some length, and in the course of his remarks said he was indebted to the P.G. Sec. and the P.G.S.M. for what they had said. "We have holes in all our coats, and none of us are faultless." We must own we have been in error, and I have simply to say we will be better boys in the future. The W.M. also called attention to the fact that the P.G.M. was not doing justice to the province in not having the vacancies of P.G.D.M., P.G.S.W., and P.G.J.W. filled up before this time. After a few remarks from Bro. Baird, the deputation withdrew, receiving the accustomed honours. Mr. Alex. Malcolm was then initiated into the E.A. degree by Bro. Bell, I.P.M. The P.G. Lodge deputation consisted of Bros. Baird, P.G.S.M.; A. McTaggart, P.G. Sec.; J. Gillies, P.G. Treas.; G. Sinclair, Treas. of Benevolent Fund; J. Ritchie, P.G. Archt.; A. Bain, P.G.B.B.; G. Thallon, P.G.S.D.; J. Miller, P.G.J.D.; D. Reid, P.G.I.G.; and Hardie, P.G. Tyler.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Shamrock and Thistle (No. 275).—The deputation of the P.G. Lodge proceeded to visit this lodge immediately after their leaving Lodge Clyde, 401, on Friday evening, the 5th inst., in their hall, 22, Struthers-street. They were received very cordially by Bro. D. Ronald, the W.M., and all his office-bearers, and after the usual formalities of handing the mallet to the acting P.G.M., and returning the same, Bro. McTaggart, P.G. Sec., read the report as drawn up by the P.G.L. officers, to the effect that the books were all examined and kept in excellent order, and that the lodge generally was working in strict harmony with the laws and Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. The P.G. Sec. then addressed the brethren, and said the deputation had applied many tests to the different books, every one of which had been fully stood, and in fact it would be doing injustice to the office-bearers of the lodge to say that they, the deputation, had found a single flaw. Bro. Sinclair, acting P.G. Master, also addressed the brethren, and congratulated them on the satisfactory condition their lodge was in. Bro. Ronald, the W.M., moved a vote of thanks to the P.G. Lodge officers, which was responded to with a will. The deputation then withdrew, receiving the usual honours. The lodge was then called to refreshment, when a short time was spent in toast and sentiment, and on the lodge being called back to labour, was closed in due form.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Union (No. 332).—A meeting of this lodge was held on Monday evening, 1st inst., Bro. D. McKirdy, W.M., in the chair; J. McInnes, S.W.; H. Apperson, J.W.; J. Laird, Treas.; J. H. Gill, Sec.; J. B. Macnair, I.P.M.; and the other office-bearers present, with a large turn-out of members and visiting brethren. On the lodge being opened and minutes of last meeting read and confirmed, it was announced that the P.G. Lodge were in waiting. They were admitted and received the usual honours. The deputation consisted of Bros. J. Baird, P.G.S.M.; A. McTaggart, P.G. Sec.; J. Gillies, P.G.T.; G. Sinclair, Treasurer of Benevolent Fund; A. Baird, P.G.B.B.; J. Miller, P.G.J.D.; J. Balfour, P.G. Dir. of Cer.; and D. Reid, P.G.I.G. Bro. McTaggart, P.G. Sec., then read the report, which was very satisfactory in every respect, and that the lodge was working in strict harmony with the laws of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. Bro. Baird said it must be matter of great satisfaction to the members of the lodge to hear such a favourable report, and to know that the books are kept in splendid order, that great credit is due to the Secretary and Treasurer, and in fact no lodge in the province could receive a better certificate. Bro. McKirdy, W.M., briefly returned thanks to the deputation for their kindness, and said he would be happy at all times to see a deputation from the P.G. Lodge. The members of the P.G. Lodge then withdrew. The lodge was afterwards called from labour to refreshment, when a short time was spent in harmony by the brethren.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Commercial (No. 360).—The regular meeting of this flourishing lodge was held in their hall, 30, Hope-street, on Friday, the 5th inst., Bro. John Monro, W.M., in the chair, Bro. J. M. Olliver, S.W.; T. Graham, J.W.; and among the other office-bearers were Bro. J. Smith, Sec.; G. Scott, Treas.; W. Finlay, S.M.; W. Keiller, S.D.; and James Minnock, Tyler. On the lodge being opened, the minutes were read and approved of. Mr. Wm. Campbell, a candidate for admission into Freemasonry, was then balloted for, which proved favourable. He was then admitted and received the E.A. Degree, Bro. John Monro, R.W.M., performing the ceremony in his usual careful manner. Bro. Walter Buchanan, on the lodge being raised to the F.C. Degree, was admitted and passed to that degree by Bro. J. M. Olliver, S.W., in a very creditable manner. There being no further business before the meeting, the lodge was closed.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Clyde (No. 408).—This lodge was visited by the Provincial Grand Lodge on Friday evening, the 5th inst., in the Kilwinning Hall, 170, Buchanan-street, Bro. W. Harper, W.M., in the chair; W. Bilsland, S.W.; J. McKinnon, J.W.; and a full attendance of members and visiting brethren. The Provincial Grand Lodge deputation consisted of Bros. G. Sinclair, Treasurer of Benevolent Fund, acting P.G.M.; A. McTaggart, M.A., P.G. Sec.; J. Gillies, P.G. Treas.; A. Bain, P.G.B.B.; J. Miller, P.G. Dir. of Music; J. Ritchie, P.G. Archt.; D. Reid, P.G.I.G.; and Hardie, Tyler. The members of the P.G. Lodge being admitted in due form, Bro. McTaggart, P.G. Sec., said he had a pleasing duty to perform in submitting a very satisfactory report, to this effect—"That we, the undersigned office-bearers of the Provincial Grand Lodge, hereby certify that we visited the Lodge Clyde, No. 408, on Friday evening, 5th May, 1876, that we examined the various books and found them in a very satisfactory condition, and that the lodge is working generally in strict harmony with the Grand Lodge of Scotland." After a few complimentary remarks from the acting P.G.M., and a vote of thanks to the Provincial Grand Lodge officers by Bro. Harper, W.M., the deputation withdrew. The brethren thereafter enjoyed themselves for a short time in harmony.

MARYHILL.—Lodge Maryhill (No. 510).—The Provincial Grand Lodge paid their annual visitation to this lodge on Wednesday evening, 26th ult., Bro. J. McKay, W.M., in the chair; H. Niven, P.M.; A. Nevey, D.M.; M. Carey, S.M.; D. McLachlan, S.W.; J. Kay, J.W.; P. F. Craigie, Sec.; and the other officers in their places. The lodge having been opened and the minutes of last meeting read and approved of, the deputation of the P.G. Lodge were then admitted and received in usual form. The deputation consisted of Bros. J. Baird, P.G.S.M., acting P.G. Master; G. Sinclair, Treas., and Con. of P.G. Benevolent Fund; A. McTaggart, M.A., P.G. Sec.; J. Gillies, P.G.T.; A. Bain, P.G.B.B.; J. Balfour, P.G.D.C.; J. Ritchie, P.G. Archt.; J. Miller, P.G.J.D.; A. Allison, P.G.J.; and D. Reid, P.G.I.G. Bro. McTaggart read the report drawn up by the P.G.L. deputation to this effect:—"We, the undersigned office-bearers of the P.G.L. Lodge of Glasgow, hereby certify that we visited the Lodge Maryhill (510), examined the various books and found them in a very satisfactory condition, and generally the lodge is working in harmony with the laws and Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. Bro. Baird, acting P.G.M., complimented the Master and office-bearers on the prosperous condition of the lodge." Bro. McKay, W.M., briefly thanked the deputation, and then they withdrew, receiving the usual honours.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Star (No. 219).—At the regular meeting of this lodge, which was held in the Masonic Hall, on Monday evening, the 8th inst., the Provincial Grand Lodge deputation, immediately on leaving the Lodge St. Clair, proceeded and paid them their annual visitation. They were cordially received by Bro. J. Morgan, W.M., and his office-bearers, viz., J. Martin, D.M.; W. Anderson, S.M.; J. Horn, S.W.; D. Mearns, J.W.; B. Smart, Treas.; F. Dow, Sec.; J. Brown, S.D.; D. Taylor, J.D.; R. Watson, Chaplain; J. Park, S.S.; C. Stirling, J.S.; W. Jamieson, D. of M.; W. J. Elliot, I.G.; and J. Pearson, Tyler. Among the visitors were Bros. J. Booth, W.M. 87; J. Bain, D.M. 117; A. R. Wilson, V.C., 27; P. Brownlie, J.W. 34; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); and others. The lodge was opened and the minutes of last meeting read and adopted. Mr. J. Barclay was initiated by the W.M. On the P.G. Officers being admitted they took their places on the dais when Bro. Morgan handed the mallet to Bro. Sinclair, acting P.G. Master, who, in reply, said: W.M., I have much pleasure in coming to visit the Lodge Star, but knowing how well you fill that chair, I return you the emblem of power, while the P.G. Secretary will read the report. Bro. McTaggart before reading the report said: W.M., Wardens and Brethren, I am well pleased to see such a large and respectable meeting here to night. I find you have initiated forty-eight last year, which has only been exceeded by two lodges in the province, but I am safe in saying, that no lodge in the province during our visitation, have been able to notice abiding by the constitutions of the Grand Lodge more closely than the Lodge Star, in respect to giving more than one degree to the same candidate in one night. In am therefore glad to find that you have set an example to the other lodges in the province. We have thoroughly examined your books and find them in excellent condition, and the lodge generally working in strict harmony with the Constitution of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. Bro. Sinclair congratulated the Master and members of the lodge on the position they occupy in the province, and observe you have already made good signs for next year. I have to thank you, R.W.M., for the hearty reception you have given the deputation this evening. Bro. Morgan said it must be gratifying to you, acting P.G.M., as well as to us, to hear such a favourable report just read by the P.G. Secretary, and allow me to state, that I have made up my mind not to give more than one degree to the same candidate the same night. Bro. Morgan concluded by thanking the P.G. Lodge, and moved a vote of thanks to the deputation for the services they are rendering to the lodges in the province. Bro. Sinclair briefly replied. Bros. Thallon, Balfour and Ritchie were obligated honorary members of the lodge. The deputation then withdrew.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Scotia (No. 178).—This lodge held their monthly meeting on Wednesday evening, the 10th inst., in the Kilwinning Hall, 170, Buchanan Street, Bro. Singleton, R.W.M., in the chair. W. Higgins, D.M.; J. Logan, S.M.; P. Hepburn, S.W.; A. Mercer, J.W.; J. Matheson, P.M., Chap.; W. King, sen., Treas.; H. Killin, Sec.; W. McDonald, S.D.; W. Hart, J.D.; W. Dowds, S.B.; J. Hamilton, S.S.; W. King, jun., I.G.; and Irvine, Tyler. The meeting was exceedingly well attended by the members and visiting brethren; among the latter were Bros. W. J. E. Dobson, R.W.M. 571; J. Law, I.P.M., 570; R. Stewart, 257 (I.C.); J. H. Cumming, S.W., 534, Polish National (E.C.); J. Robertson, I.G., 571; J. Watt, jun., 219; W. Ferguson, P.M., 543 (Freemason), and others. On the lodge being opened and minutes of last meeting read and approved of, Messrs. R. Swan, C. E. Fillans, and J. D. Fillans were admitted and received the first degree at the hands of Bro. Matheson, P.M. The deputation of the P.G. Lodge having arrived at this time from St. George's, No. 333, they were received in the usual form, when Bro. Baird, acting P.G.M., occupied the chair and called upon Bro. McTaggart, P.G. Sec., to read the report, which showed the lodge to be in a very healthy and prosperous condition. The books are kept in excellent order, with the exception of the roll book; but, he trusted next year the difficulty attending the roll book would be overcome, and concluded by complimenting the lodge on having such an able Secretary in Bro. Killin. Bro. Baird, in following up the remarks of the P.G. Sec., was glad that so few faults had been found with the books, but seeing they had such an able Secretary he hoped they would be in proper working order next year. The deputation then withdrew. Bros. R. Chalmers and J. Kelly were then passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by the W.M. The lodge was then closed.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. George (No. 333).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held in St. Mark's Hall, on Wednesday evening, 10th inst., Bro. A. Thomson, W.M., in the chair. Present: J. Winton, I.P.M.; J. Forsyth, S.W.; R. Anderson, J.W.; A. Dunn, Treas.; A. McIntyre, Sec.; A. Boyd, S.D.; T. Hill, J.D.; A. Wright, I.G.; and W. G. Hickson, Tyler. Among the visitors we noticed Bros. J. Young, 32; J. S. Adams, 58, Doric, Canada; A. Shedd, 448, New York; J. Henderson Cumming, S.W. 534; Polish National, London (E.C.); A. Day, 205; Daly, 219; J. Duthie, 219; W. Currie, 458; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); and others. The business before the meeting was visitation from P.G. Lodge. The deputation were admitted shortly after eight o'clock p.m., and took their places on the dais. The following were present. Bros. J. Baird, P.G.S.M.; A. Mc. Taggart, P.G. Sec.; Gillies, P.G. Treas.; Bain, P.G.B.B.; Balfour, P.G.D. of C.; Reid, P.G.I.G.; Hardie, P.G. Tyler. The W.M. handed the mallet to the acting P.G.M. and requested him to occupy the chair, which he did, and then called upon the P.G. Sec. to read the report. Bro. Mc. Taggart said, the report I have to read is, as has been the case in Lodge No. 333, always a very favourable one, and equally pleasant to night as on previous occasions in every respect. You have the handsome sum of £87 in your funds, which speaks for itself. We examined the books and find them in a most satisfactory condition, and generally the lodge is working in strict harmony with the Laws of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. Bro. Baird then complimented the Master and members on the prosperous condition of the lodge, and after handing the mallet to the W.M. the deputation withdrew. The brethren afterwards enjoyed themselves in harmony.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. Clair (No. 362).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, Robertson-street, on Monday, the 8th inst., Bro. W. J. Hogg, W.M., presiding, C. Galletly, J.W., acting S.W.; M. Fox, J.D., acting J.W.; W. Pascoe, Treas.; G. Fraser, Sec.; R. McBrown, S.S.; E. S. May, I.G.; and T. Warnock, Tyler. Present: Bros. Capt. Gray, P. Brownlie, J.W. 34; G. Wheeler, 73; J. Stewart, 360; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); and a very good attendance of members and other visiting brethren. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The W.M. then informed the brethren that they were to be favoured this evening by the Provincial Grand Lodge paying them their annual visitation, and at 8.30 p.m. they were received by the brethren with the usual formalities. The deputation consisted of Bros. G. Sinclair, Treas. of Benevolent Fund, acting P.G.M.; A. McTaggart, P.G. Sec.; J. Gillies, P.G. Treas.; J. Balfour, P.G.M. of C.; G. Thallon, P.G.S.D.; J. Ritchie, P.G. Arch.; R. Robb, P.G. Marshall; A. Bain, P.G.B.B.; J. Mills, P.G.D. of Mus.; and Hardie, P.G. Tyler. The brethren being seated on the dais, the P.G. Secretary read the report, which was a most satisfactory one, and said, in conclusion, W.M., Wardens and Brethren—It affords me much pleasure to be with you another year, your lodge stands very high among the other lodges in the province. I see by your books you have £193 12s. to your credit, and I am safe in saying no other lodge in Glasgow can boast of the same balance, on the whole your books are kept in excellent order, and reflect credit on your Secretary and Treasurer. Bro. Sinclair, acting P.G.M., briefly complimented the W.M. and members on the prosperous condition of the lodge, and that they were working generally in accordance with the Constitution of the Grand Lodge of Scotland, and trusted they would be in as prosperous a condition next year. The W.M. then thanked the deputation for their kindness, and was glad they were able to give such a favourable report of Lodge St. Clair. The deputation then retired. Bro. A. Warsaw was afterwards passed by the W.M.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Neptune (No. 419).—On leaving the Lodge Glasgow, 441, the Provincial Grand Lodge deputation immediately proceeded and visited this lodge on Tuesday evening, the 9th inst., in their hall, 35, St. James-street, S.S., Bro. J. S. Scott, W.M., in the chair, T. Wightman, P.M.; J. Brooks, S.M.; J. Simpson, S.W.; A. McLean, J.W.; L. Brown, Treas.; W. McAllister, Sec.; A. Watson, S.D.; R. Dear, I.G.; and D. Gillies, Tyler. The attendance of members and visitors were very large, the hall being completely filled. The Provincial Grand Lodge deputation arrived about 9.30, and were engaged till ten examining the books, &c., in the adjacent room. On being admitted into the lodge, Bro. Scott, W.M., handed the mallet over to, and requested Bro. Baird to occupy the chair, which was complied with. Bro. McTaggart, P.G. Sec., said: I have now to submit a very short report, and on the whole a very satisfactory one. You have £147 to your credit, and you have given towards charity last year £17, and hand over to-night to the Benevolent Fund £9. You have raised your fees to £3 3s, which is a step in the right direction. During the last year you held 30 emergency meetings, which is accounted for, as the majority of your candidates are seafaring men. Our report is to this effect: "We, the undersigned office-bearers of the P.G. Lodge of Glasgow, hereby certify that we visited the Lodge Neptune, No. 419, on Tuesday evening, 9th Mny, examined the various books of the lodge, and find them very satisfactory, but otherwise suspend opinion in the meantime in consequence of a complaint being lodged with the P.G. Lodge." Bro. Baird addressed the members at some length, and said that the complaint lodged would be considered at next meeting by the committee, and trusted the result would be satisfactory to the lodge. After a vote of thanks to the P.G. Lodge Officers, Bro. Baird, at the request of Bro. Scott, W.M., closed the lodge in due form.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Glasgow (No. 441).—The regular monthly meeting of this lodge was held in the Masonic Hall, Struthers-street, on Tuesday, the 9th inst., Bro. J. Wood, W.M., in the chair; P. McInaney, S.W.; J. Neagle, J.W.; J. Martin, jun., Treas.; J. A. Goldie, Sec.; and others. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. The annual visitation by the Provincial Grand Lodge was the principal business inserted in the circular calling the meeting, and shortly after 8.30 p.m. the deputation arrived, consisting of Bros. J. Baird, P.G.S.M.; A. McTaggart, M.A., P.G. Sec.; J. Gillies, P.G. Treas.; J. Ritchie, P.G. Arch.; A. Bain, P.G.B.B.; D. Reid, P.G.I.G.; and J. B. Hardie, P.G. Tyler. On being admitted they were received very cordially and with the accustomed honours. Bro. McTaggart, P.G. Sec., by request of the acting P.G.M., then read the report drawn up by the P.G.L. deputation to the effect that the various books were closely examined and found to be in excellent condition and very satisfactory, and that the lodge generally is working in strict harmony with the laws of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. In the course of a very able address Bro. McTaggart complimented the office-bearers and members of the lodge on the favourable report they (the deputation) were able to give the Lodge Glasgow, and more particularly that a debt of considerable amount had been cleared off since the beginning of last year, and wished every success to the lodge in the future. Bro. Wood, W.M., moved a vote of thanks to the members of the P.G. Lodge, which was heartily responded to. Bro. Baird replied at some length, and then the deputation withdrew.

ADDRESS TO THE M.W. GRAND MASTER BY THE ST. JOHN'S LODGE, TORQUAY NO. 328.

The following address was unanimously passed in this lodge on Monday, 15th inst., and as soon as it is signed by the brethren of the lodge, will be forwarded to the proper quarter for presentation:—
To H.R.H. The Prince of Wales, Most Worshipful Grand Master.

May it please your Royal Highness, we the Worshipful Master, Officers, and brethren of St. John's Lodge 328. Torquay, gratefully embrace the present opportunity of offering to your Royal Highness our warmest and heartfelt congratulations on your safe and happy return to your native land. We have watched with interest and solicitude the accounts of your Royal Highness's progress through eastern lands, and we thank the Great Architect of the Universe that he has shielded you from sickness and danger, and blessed you with health and strength to perform the arduous and exalted duties that have devolved upon you. As citizens of a great nation, and members of an ancient and loyal craft of which you are the distinguished head, we are justly proud of you, but especially have you earned our gratitude in the manner in which whenever the occasion has been favourable, you have upheld our excellent tenets, and shed an additional lustre upon our order.

May the Great Architect have you in his keeping, and long preserve you to the country and the Craft.

JOSEPH PIOTT, W.M.
SAM. BURTON, S.W.
H. DAY, J.W.

Masonic and General Tidings.

Her Majesty the Queen, accompanied by her Royal Highness Princess Beatrice, and attended by the suite, left Windsor Castle shortly before eight o'clock on Friday evening for Scotland.

Her Majesty, acting on the advice of the Prime Minister, has been graciously pleased to grant a pension of £100 per annum from the Civil List to the widow of the late Shirley Brooks, the novelist, for some time editor of "Punch," in consideration of the literary services of her deceased husband.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales on Wednesday night attended a State concert, given at the Albert Hall in honour of his return from India. The vast auditorium was completely filled, and the utmost enthusiasm was manifested throughout the entertainment.

Bro. H.R.H. Prince Leopold arrived at Milan on May 15. His Royal Highness intends visiting Pavia and the Lake of Como.

King Alfonso has conferred the Grand Cross of the Order of Charles III. upon their Royal Highnesses the Prince of Wales and the Duke of Connaught.

According to present arrangements His Grace the Duke of Abercorn, M.W.G.M. for Ireland, the Lord Lieutenant, accompanied by Lady Georgiana Hamilton, will arrive in Belfast on the 22nd inst., and be the guest of Sir Charles Lanyon, High Sheriff of Antrim, on which day his Grace will receive an address from the Mayor and Corporation of Belfast. On the 23rd he will open the Industrial Exhibition, and receive an address from the Working Men's Institute, after which he will lunch with the Mayor, and subsequently on the same day will receive an address from the brethren in Belfast.

The Prince of Wales has presented to all the officers of H.M.S. Serapis, and to other officers, naval and military, attached to his suite for service, a special medal or locket commemorative of his Indian tour.

ANOTHER NOBLE DEED BY LIVERPOOL LODGES.—The brethren of West Lancashire, especially those in Liverpool, have again come to the front in their deeds of charity, and this latest evidence of liberality is not the least notable in the list of instances in which they so acted. Some time since the case of Widow J. (whose husband formerly belonged to a lodge holding under the Scottish Constitution, but who was never connected with any English lodge) came under the notice of several brethren in Liverpool, and they resolved to do what they could to raise sufficient money to enable the widow and her four children to go to Aden, where she has friends. The matter was warmly taken up by Bros. Alpass, P.G. Sec.; B. B. Marson, P.M. 1356; J. R. Goepel, P.P.G.D.C.; J. T. Callow, W.M. 1505; Andrews, 1356; A. Johnston, and a number of other brethren, and the result was the realisation of the handsome sum of £109 in aid of the widow and her four children. The sum of £80 was spent for her passage and that of her children to Bombay, and the balance was handed over to her for outfit, &c. With scarcely an exception every lodge in Liverpool subscribed in aid of the widow of our Scottish brother; but it is rather singular that though the pressing case was brought under the notice of one of the chief officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Scotland on more than one occasion, no notice whatever was taken of the appeal. Liverpool Masons deserve credit for thus providing for the widow and the fatherless, and saving them from becoming paupers, as they would doubtless have done if they had been left without this timely and brotherly help.

An influential public meeting was held at the Town Hall, under the presidency of the Mayor (Alderman Abbey) to consider the propriety of erecting a memorial as a tribute of affection for the late esteemed brother Sir Cordy Burrows, Kt., P.G.M.M.M., Sussex. An affirmatory resolution was unanimously passed, and a strong representative committee was appointed to carry out the object of the meeting. The form of the memorial is a matter for subsequent decision.

The Company of Fishmongers has voted a donation of 100 guineas in aid of the funds of the British and Foreign School Society.

The brickwork surrounding the memorial stone of the new parish church at Slough, recently laid by Princess Christian, was broken through on Sunday night and the bottle which had been placed within the stone taken away, doubtless with the expectation of finding in it the current coins of the realm; the bottle, however, contained only papers and documents.

It is understood that Commemoration will be held this year on June 21st, in the Sheldonian Theatre, Oxford, and that the honorary degree of D.C.L. will be conferred on Prince Leopold, who has recently finished his studies at Christ Church. It is hoped that the Prince and Princess of Wales and other members of the Royal family will be present on the occasion.

The result of the cricket match in Trinity College, Dublin, on Wednesday, was a draw. The English eleven made 238 when the stumps were drawn. To this score W. G. Grace contributed 88, and G. F. Grace 72. The Duke of Abercorn, M.W.G.M. Ireland, was present for a great part of the day.

Nineteen young sturgeons (Acipenser sturio) have just been added to the Brighton Aquarium.

The opening of the London and South Western Railway to Devonport was celebrated on Wednesday evening by a banquet to the directors, which was attended by upwards of 700 persons, including many naval and military officers and most of the mayors of Devon and Cornwall.

HEALTH, comfort, and economy promoted. Gas superseded in day time, and daylight reflected in dark rooms by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors. Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street, London.

FREEMASONRY AND ROMAN CATHOLICISM.

(By Bro. Wm. Bernard.)

One of the many strange inconsistencies of the Romish Church is its opposition to secret societies, while at the same time no institution, either of modern or ancient times, relies more upon them than the Church itself. In fact, the Church of Rome is principally composed of secret societies, and has its secret organizations attached to every order within its circle, and its secret commissaries connected with every person of eminence maintaining its dogmas. And to what end is this secret power employed. Alas that it should have to be said, to extend at any sacrifice the power of the Church, to annihilate mental freedom, and to strangle the consciousness of the dignity of human nature, and to eradicate family and national affections. It professes to be infallible in knowledge and to have truth as its foundation, yet does not disdain to make wilful ignorance one of its most potent auxiliaries. I say wilful ignorance because in its opposition to Freemasonry I cannot find a more suitable expression. The Roman Catholic priest, who is generally an intelligent and well educated man, knows very well that his denunciations of Freemasonry, supported at times by falsehoods of the most ridiculous character, are in accordance with the cherished maxim of the Church that "the end justifies the means." Supposing him to know some of the principles upon which Freemasonry is founded, and this knowledge is easily obtainable, he dare not truthfully and impartially expound them. On the other hand if, as his utterances lead some of us to believe, he knows nothing of us, how absurd his own reflection must tell him it is to denounce that of which he is entirely ignorant. In reality, I believe the Catholic priest knows more about us than we give him credit for. Has the confessional no power to extract at least some knowledge as to our mysteries, especially when an instrument in the hands of a cunning, unscrupulous, and highly educated man, and brought to bear upon a mind shattered by sickness and in doubt of receiving the sacred consolations of the church. Can we for a moment think that the confessional, which prys into the motives and actions of life and duty in its most important and delicate aspects, which deems no human ties, interests, or sympathies beyond the critical eye of its selfish inspection, and which succeeds in probing the heart's most guarded feelings. Can we think that this instrument will not be used to unlock what we call the safe and secret repositories of our treasures, and shall we think when we hear of a poor dying and priest ridden Roman Catholic brother renouncing the fraternity that it has not? Again, what respect does the confessional attach to a solemn oath when the revelation against which that oath was taken tends, even in the belief of the priest, to the good and prosperity of the Church. To refuse to unbosom that which is antagonistic to the Church is to be against her; to reveal it, even though pledged not to do so, is to serve her; and even to take an oath for the express purpose of breaking it in the service of the Church is a meritorious action, the guilt of which is entirely removed by "absolution," and the perjury afterwards rewarded by a benediction. The Romish Church farther draws these conclusions: That God does not, as Supreme Judge, estimate the outward act so much as the secret motive of the actor; and hence no action however immoral and criminal in human judgment is really so unless the secret intention be evil. If, therefore, an evil doer can only assign a good motive for his deed, or substitute an alleged for the real one, he is justified. Now, what follows from this? Not merely that every crime admits of an after justification, but that it may be committed without even a scruple of conscience! A man, too, may sin when he can cite any approving opinion of an author as his authority for the act; and why? Because in that case the evil intention does not rest with him, but with his authority; and this species of sin is termed probable, and the system by which it is defended they call probabilism. Again, a man may sin, they say, when he conceives a lawful object may be attained thereby, and this they denominate the "leadings of intention." Once more, a man may sin with "mental reservation" (reservatio mentalis), as when in uttering one assertion he thinks of another, and that because, say they, a man in that case thinks to himself a limitation of his intention, by which the expression becomes quite different to his consciousness to what it seems to others. A man may also sin by equivocation, by using, for example, a phrase which possesses various significations, and giving in his own mind a meaning to the words employed different from that which the hearer understands and believes. In this manner they justify fraud, perjury, murder, and unchastity, and in this manner possibly some of them may justify their false and absurd attacks upon Freemasonry. "What," asks the writer of an article in last week's "Freemason," "has Freemasonry perpetrated, what have Freemasons done, that it and they should be made the fulcrum of intolerance and the sport of bigotry?" It may be answered that in Freemasonry Roman Catholicism finds a powerful and daily increasing foe, a foe winning for its many beauties, its wise and liberal inculcations, its grand humanitarianism and its reverence towards the G.A.O.T.U. and his works, the sympathy and encouragement of all liberal, intelligent and Masonically enlightened men. Freemasonry lets the light shine upon the darkness. Catholicism excludes it. Freemasonry is the herald of man's progress to which catholicism presents a cruel and dogmatic obstruction. Catholicism however is not blind, it knows well enough that the more Freemasonry spreads the less men will look with veneration upon the arrogance and superstition of a domineering church. Freemasonry hinders or interferes with no man's creed, wounds no man's feelings, tramples upon no man's politics, but endeavours to connect all by the sweet ties of brotherly love, relief and truth. It inculcates the purest morality regardless of social distinctions, advocates loyalty and social Order, and uncompromisingly adheres to the glorious proclamation of "peace and goodwill towards men." It is possible for a Roman Catholic to be as good a Freemason as the most advanced Protestant as many of our Roman Catholic brethren indisputably prove. The Unitarian and Trinitarian may Masonically join hands as brothers and participate in the blessings of a system of morality acceptable, I believe, to God, and beneficial, I am sure, to man. The teachings of the Romish Church are continually affording proofs to what a depth of stupidity the human mind can sink under the degrading influence of spiritual bondage, and such degradation becomes in the end the heaviest curse of the worst form of tyranny. The Papacy knows that one of the greatest stumbling blocks to its ascendancy here is Freemasonry, that the loyalty of a true Mason to the Throne and Constitution is too deep to allow him to declare a temporal allegiance to a Pope, or to think that "Kings and Princes being in fact only their (the Popes) deputies, to whom consequently subjects owed obedience so long and no longer as they remained faithfully submissive to the directions of their spiritual superiors, in default of which they might lawfully be deprived both of crown and life." They were grand and memorable words of Peter the Great when, in speaking of the Jesuits, he said, "I know that a large proportion of them are highly educated, and in that respect capable of doing great service to the State, but I likewise know that they use their religion as the instrument of promoting their private ends, that their pious exterior hides an immeasurable ambition and a complicated web of intrigue, the sole object of which is the extension or the fortifying of Papal, or, rather, of Jesuit rule, in every state in Europe, that their seminaries are but the engines of their tyranny, that they are too restlessly unquiet to leave the smallest hope that they will refrain from intermeddling in the affairs of my empire, and, therefore, I decline receiving them into it, and cannot but wonder that any Court in Europe should be able to shut its eyes to their deceitful behaviour." Bravo, Peter, say I. It may be said that theological discussions are at all times objectionable when connected with our Order, but in this case it is unavoidable. We must defend ourselves, and fearlessly speak the truth, and we dare any Romish priest, be he the proudest bishop or the most insignificant pastor, to prove anything which can lower and degrade Freemasonry in the estimation of those who know anything about it. We regret having to take this position, but are we to be constantly silent when the ignorant and designing tongue of false report is spreading the most detestable stories abroad concerning us, and the society to which we belong, are we to let the vile calumnies go uncontradicted, and thus allow ourselves to be misunderstood, even by a few? To us our Order is dear, and it is our duty to maintain its character. We should never let even the suspicion of reproach rest upon it. We have not yet come to the necessity of attaching much importance to the fanatical denunciations of an uninformed priest, and as a rule we are not in the habit of looking upon molehills as mountains, but, when we do meet any gentleman of this stamp who honestly thinks he has a grievance against us, who shows by his opposition that he is not altogether unfamiliar with our duties and actions, and that he has a good case to bring before the Bar of Faith, Hope, and Charity, we shall look upon him as a greater genius than either Xavier or Loyola. In the meantime, let us calmly dismiss the impotent attacks of feeble and untruthful adversaries, for as the old woman says, "Bless 'em, it amuses them, and does us no harm." That Freemasonry is flourishing in England more than it ever has done, that in America it is all powerful, that throughout the Continent it is taking a strong hold upon the affections of all classes, and that in Rome itself there is actually a Masonic Lodge, is our concluding reply to a contemptible slander.

EDINBURGH ROYAL BLIND ASYLUM AND SCHOOL.

The arrangements for the laying of the memorial-stone by Bro. Sir Michael Robert Shaw Stewart, Bart., Grand Master Mason of Scotland, have now been completed, and from a programme which has been issued by Bro. John Laurie, Grand Secretary, it appears that the members of Grand Lodge will assemble in the Freemasons' Hall, George-street, at half-past one o'clock p.m. on Monday, the 22nd inst., when the lodge will be opened by the M.W. the Grand Master. The other brethren will assemble in Charlotte-square at one o'clock. The Grand Lodge being adjourned, a procession will be formed, and will, upon a given signal, move off in the following order:—Detachment of cavalry, band of music, guard of honour, the members of the subordinate lodges, three abreast, junior lodge in front, band of music, members of the Grand Lodge in like order, the office-bearers of the Grand Lodge, accompanied by their proper officers, the carriage of the M.W. the Grand Master, rear guard of cavalry. The route of the procession will be as follows:—From Charlotte-square, along George-street, Frederick-street, Prince's-street, Mound, Bank-street, Parliament-square, where it will join the civil procession and proceed thence to the site of the stone at West Craigmillar. The ceremony being over, Grand Lodge will be closed in the hall of the Blind Asylum, and the brethren will then disperse. It is expected that there will be a large turn out of brethren from all parts of the country, and extensive railway arrangements have been made for the conveyance to and from Edinburgh.

A full report of the proceedings will be given in our next.

INVESTITURE OF THE ORDER OF THE BATH.

Her Majesty the Queen held a private investiture of the Order of the Bath on Wednesday.

The Right Hon. Sir Bartle Frere, preceded by Bro. Sir Albert Woods, Secretary of the Order, bearing the insignia of a Knight Grand Cross of the Order (Civil Division), was introduced to her Majesty's presence by the Lord Chamberlain, and was invested with the badge of the Order, and received the honour of Knighthood.

Bro. Lord Suffield was in like manner introduced, and was invested with the insignia of a Knight Commander of the Bath (Civil Division), and received the honour of Knighthood.

Bro. Francis Knollys was then introduced, and received from the Queen the insignia of a Companion of the Order (Civil Division).

DEATHS OF TWO LEADERS IN LIVERPOOL.—Within little more than a week the residents of Liverpool have been called to mourn the death of two of the principal citizens. Mr. William Langton, chairman of the Mersey Docks and Harbour Board (probably the most important estate in the world), succumbed to a severe bronchial attack about a fortnight ago; and on Saturday last his Worship the Mayor, Lieut.-Col. Thomson, after a very short illness, died from the same cause. No Mayor of Liverpool has died during his year of office since 1785.

TO OUR READERS

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

NOTICE.—It is very necessary for our friends to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to

GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

BRO. AUTOLYCHUS, New Zealand.—Copy unfortunately illegible.

In answer to 442, we do not remember to have received the letter. We are obliged to be careful in publishing names.

"An Eye Witness" forgets that we simply require his name for the purpose of verification. It seems a pity that the account, which is well written, should not appear.

The following communications stand over:—Address to the Prince of Wales, Torquay; New Masonic Hall at Galashells; Reports of Panmure Lodge, 70; Beadon, 619; Arboretum, 731; Sir Hugh Myddelton, 1602; Mount Gambier, 1207; William Preston, 766; Wellington Lodge of Instruction; Royal Cumberland Chapter, 41.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

A full report of the proceedings at the Annual Meeting of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution will appear in the Second Edition of the "Freemason," which will be published early Saturday morning. A list of the successful and unsuccessful candidates will be given.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d. for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

BOWRING.—May 12, at Torquay, the wife of L. B. Bowring, Esq., C.S.I., of a daughter.

BUYERS.—On the 13th ult., at Orchid Lea, Darjiling, India, the wife of W. L. Buyers, of a son.

DUFF.—May 12, at Knebworth-park, Stevenage, Hertfordshire, the wife of Mr. E. Grant Duff, M.P., of a daughter.

PAGET.—On the 13th inst., at Queen Anne-street, W., the wife of R. H. Paget, Esq., M.P., of a daughter.

MARRIAGES.

BURGESS—LYNCH.—On the 16th inst., at St. John's, The Triangle, Hackney, Dr. Burgess, of Bethnal-green-road, to Kate, daughter of the late C. Lynch, Esq. of Dover.

CHICHESTER—HOLLOWAY.—On the 13th inst., at Melcombe Regis, Weymouth, Henry, son of Sir Arthur Chichester, Bart., of Youlston Park, Barnstable, to Adah Georgiana, daughter of the late H. F. K. Holloway, Esq.

DAVIS—BAUGH.—On April 20, at St. Anne's, Indore, Central India, the Rev. Edward Gabriel Davis, chaplain of Mhow, to Lillias May, daughter of Major-General C. R. Baugh.

PHILPOT—TAYLOR.—On April 17, by the Rev. John Monahan, Bro. Michael P. Philpot, of Philadelphia, to Miss Phoebe W. Taylor, of Penn-square, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania.

DEATHS.

DICK.—On the 16th ult., at his residence, Edith Lodge, St. Lawrence, Ramsgate, Isle of Thanet, George Stuart Dick, Esq., late of Mizapore, eldest and only surviving son of the late General George Dick, of the Bengal Army, in his 83rd year.

ELGIE.—On the 14th ult., at 36, Larkhall-lane, Clapham, Ellen Elgie, widow of the late George Thomas Elgie, solicitor, aged 76, deeply regretted. Friends please accept this intimation. Argentine papers please copy.

LEIPER.—On April 28, Bro. Armstrong Leiper, M.D., of Industry Lodge, No. 131, Columbia, aged 52 years.

MAY.—On April 28, Bro. Lewis May, of Columbia Lodge, No. 91, aged 26 years.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, MAY 20, 1876.

OUR GRAND MASTER AT HOME AGAIN.

The accounts of last Thursday's reception of the Prince of Wales, alike at Portsmouth and in London, are very pleasant to read. It does us a deal of good to realize the depth and the sincerity of the unbought loyalty of the English people. All honour to them. There are few of us who have not read with some little emotion the meeting of the Prince and Princess and the children off Yarmouth, of the enthusiasm of Portsmouth, of the cheers of school girls and school boys, of the patient crowds of enduring Englishwomen and Englishmen of all ranks and conditions alike, of the enthusiastic greeting in the thronged streets of London, of the joyous and hearty reception at the opera. We have thought it well to preserve in our columns a memento of a very proud and happy day for us English folk and Freemasons, based mainly on the animated account of our contemporary, the "Times," which we admire greatly, alike for its lucidity and perspicacity, and thoroughly good English. A hundred years hence some worthy brother of our Order poring over these then old pages of the "Freemason," will read with pleasure and astonishment this goodly history of our Grand Master's happy return home, and of the glad loyalty and unfeigned rejoicing, alike of our kindly brotherhood and of a great people.

The Serapis left the Tagus on Sunday evening about 5.30, and at about 6.30 the bar was left behind, and the Serapis was ploughing its way in a heavy sea. The Tagus looked as the Tagus always looked, charming, and Lisbon had a most bright appearance. Few people ever enter or leave the Tagus unmoved, and our Royal Grand Master would carry away with him, amid the loyal cheers of our blue jackets, a pleasant memory of agreeable hospitality and a friendly people! When the Serapis got out of the river she met with an ugly swell, and the ports were battened down. The wind was strong E.N.E., and the speed of the squadron was reduced to under nine knots an hour. But, notwithstanding, the Serapis made good way, and at 1.15 p.m., on Tuesday, being abreast of Ushant, the Raleigh was sent on to signal the news, and then the course was shaped across the Channel direct for England.

On Monday evening the Prince dined with Captain Glyn and the officers, and accepted an album with his photograph, a pleasant souvenir of a very prosperous voyage. A little after midnight on the Monday the welcome light of the Start was seen, and at 2.15 it was on the beam. Shanklin Light was seen at 7.35 a.m. on Thursday morning, and at 10 the Enchantress was seen.

The account of the meeting of the Prince of Wales and the Princess is very touching:—

The Enchantress, in obedience to signal, now stood on ahead towards Yarmouth in quest of smoother water. Crowds of people could be seen on shore at Hurst Castle and Yarmouth. At 10.45 a.m. Fort Victoria saluted, but somehow the other saluting was rather late in the day. The Prince was on the bridge, glass in hand, with his eyes fixed on the Enchantress, which had the Princess's standard flying. By degrees the Princess of Wales and her children were distinguished amid the crowd on her deck. Close to Yarmouth the Serapis slowed, and the Enchantress, altering her course, came down towards her, passing close on her port side. Then the crew from the rigging, the officers on the decks, and all the gentlemen and others on board the Serapis, led by Captain Glyn, gave three cheers and a few cheers more, which proved that their constitutions were not affected by the climate of India. The band played "Home, Sweet Home," the marines presented arms, and as the Royal yacht rounded the stern of the Serapis, and came up on her starboard quarter, and every one could see the Princess and her children, men confessed that they felt a little inclination to gulp down something in their throats. The Serapis anchored at 11 a.m., the barge was lowered, and immediately the Prince, attended by a few of his suite, embarked, and was rowed off to the Enchantress. It may be imagined with what joy he was welcomed there by those he loved. In a quarter of an hour or so the Princess of Wales and the Royal children left the yacht, and came on board the Serapis. The band was drawn up on the maindeck, the officers in full uniform, the marines under Major Snow, as well as the gentlemen of the Prince's suite, in a line extending along the deck up to the entrance to the saloon. The Princess had a gracious smile or a pleasant word for those who were presented to her by the Prince and to the Royal children. The great ship seemed a treasure-house of wonder and delight, for there were tigers and tailless dogs, elephants, deer, horses, ostriches, leopards, birds, diminutive ponies and cattle, monkeys, to be visited and admired. The Duke of Sutherland, Lord Colville, Colonel Kingscote, the Marquis of Hamilton, Lady Suffolk, and her daughters, Lady Carington, Lord Aylesford, Mr. Sumner, Sir Bartle Frere, Mr. Grey, and several other gentlemen came on board, some from the Fire Queen, others from the Enchantress. General Ponsonby also came on behalf of her Majesty to welcome the Prince. At twelve the Serapis weighed and steamed towards Portsmouth, followed by many steamers, and wakening up the forts and shipping as she passed. At 1.30 p.m. she was off Cowes; the battery at the Club House fired a salute, and many people could be seen on shore. In half-an-hour afterwards, or less, the Royal party went down to luncheon in the saloon, in the midst of which his Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh came on board to welcome his brother.

As the "Times" truly remarks, it has been the good fortune of but few men in any age of the world's history to receive such a "Welcome home" as that with which the Prince of Wales was greeted that day, after his six months' absence from among us. The desire to give the Prince a hearty reception, in the highest sense of the term, was something more than any of us could have anticipated. It developed itself day by day as the time of his landing became nearer, and at last so outran official intention and preparation that naval, military, municipal, and railway authorities felt themselves swept onwards by a tide of popular feeling, the like of which for spontaneity and intensity has rarely been experienced in England. It is no disrespect to any of these authorities to say so much. They themselves have been the first to confess it; and they may be congratulated on their success in giving such complete effect to the national will that no English Prince has ever had such a landing on his native shores as that which the Heir to the Crown experienced to-day.

Portsmouth has been the scene of many grand sights, and of not a few rejoicings. Most of them, and certainly the grandest of them, have occurred within our own time; but it was loudly declared down there on Thursday that anything approaching to this reception of the Prince of Wales was not on the records of that town. "Portsmouth has never seen anything like this" was the remark which one heard there from a thousand lips. The truth is that Portsmouth had the honour of being the representative of all England for this most auspicious occasion. The early demands for excursion trains to the scene of the landing were so unprecedentedly numerous that day after day, for the last week, railway managers were driven to invoke the aid of the news columns of the public press to enable them to reply to those requisitions, and before evening on Wednesday the streets of Portsmouth swarmed with visitors from distant parts. The inhabitants of the town itself had requisitioned the Mayor to proclaim a holiday, and the whole of the previous night and throughout the morning the fitting up of stands, the bedecking of windows, and the hoisting of flags were still going on. Civilians, soldiers, marines, and seamen of the Royal Navy were all united in this work. It is gratifying to be able to add that their efforts were crowned with signal success. From Southsea all the way round to Portsmouth, and thence up through Portsmouth town and on to the railway station at Landport was one vast triumphal arena.

Most stately is the appearance of the Serapis as she slowly comes up towards the jetty, and cheers, such as only British seamen can raise, are given successively by the crews of the ships of war as she passes them. The spectacle is magnificent. The sun shines brilliantly on the harbour and the Serapis; the enthusiasm of the spectators is boundless; the cheering of the blue-jackets is re-echoed by the cheers of the spectators on shore and on the numerous and dangerously laden pleasure steamers which have come up the Solent in advance of the great ship bearing the Prince and Princess of Wales. It is amid all this and the music of many bands that the Serapis is brought to at just 3 o'clock. The Prince and Princess of Wales and their children, with the Duke of Edinburgh, who wears his uniform of captain in the Royal Navy, stand on the quarter-deck. His Royal Highness uncovers, and bows graciously over and over again to the spectators on shore, while there are such cries of "Welcome Home," and such waving of hats and handkerchiefs, and such bursts of cheering as have scarcely ever been witnessed and heard.

A gangway was soon adjusted to connect the Serapis with the jetty, and as soon as it was placed the Duke of Connaught, the Duke of Cambridge, Sir Hastings Doyle, Admiral Elliot, the Lords of the Admiralty, Lord Alfred Paget, and several other distinguished personages went on board. There was a long delay before the Prince landed, owing to a quantity of his lighter baggage having to be got out and sent to the railway station. At a quarter to 4 o'clock he came down the gangway, leading the Princess of Wales. His two sons followed; then came the Duke of Cambridge, leading the eldest of the young Princesses; the Duke of Connaught, with the next, followed, and Princess Maude came on shore with her governess. The Prince of Wales was received by the Board of Admiralty, the Lieutenant-General Commanding the District, and the Admiral Superintendent of the Dockyard, with their personal Staffs, and proceeded direct to the pavilion, the bands playing "God save the Queen," and the Marine Artillery firing a Royal salute. In the pavilion the Mayor was introduced, and the Town Clerk read an address.

The Prince of Wales delivered the following reply:—

"Gentlemen,—I thank you for your cordial welcome on my return to England. I am much gratified at this expression of your belief that my long journey has not been without its effect in knitting still closer the bonds of peace and unity with our great Indian Empire, and should it prove that my visit has helped to bring about so desirable and important a result I may indeed feel that my labour has not been in vain. Since I was last at Portsmouth I have travelled to some of those more distant possessions of the British Crown with which our fleets and soldiers have been in such constant communication, and it was a great satisfaction to me to find that the same order and security which exist in the mother country are maintained wherever the power of Great Britain is established. I will not fail to communicate to the Queen your expressions of loyalty, and let me thank you, gentlemen, in the name of the Princess of Wales and of my children, as well as in my own, for your kind congratulations on my safe return, assuring you that, however interesting my travels have been, it affords me a very sincere pleasure to find myself once more at home with the Princess and my family."

The address was beautifully engrossed and illuminated by Messrs. Howell and James, of London.

Immediately His Royal Highness had concluded Sir Jules Benedict raised his bâton, and a welcome, the words of which are by Mr. Frederic Enoch and the music by Sir Jules Benedict himself, was sung; the solos being taken by Mr. C. E. McCheane and the chorus by 200 voices. The solo singer has an excellent voice, and the performance was singularly effective. At its conclusion the ladies of the choir showered their bouquets over the Prince and Princess. Their Royal Highnesses seemed much touched at this spontaneous and graceful compliment. Before the Prince and Princess entered their carriage a grand march, "Hail to our Prince," written for the occasion by Mr. J.

Winterbottom, the conductor of the Royal Marine Artillery Band, was performed, under the direction of the composer, by a full orchestra. The procession from the jetty was headed by Sir Hastings Doyle and his Staff, a very large escort being subsequently furnished by the Scots Greys when the Dockyard gates were reached.

The Prince of Wales and his wife and family and attendants drove from the jetty to the railway station, amid an enthusiasm, and decorated streets, which we should like more fully to describe in detail in our columns. Sufficient to say, that the reception was the most enthusiastic, and that Portsmouth had indeed done honour to herself by her most artistic and admirable dressing up. We must allude to one scene in the triumphant progress. On the Commercial Road were stands, accommodating many thousands of spectators, and a triumphal arch of considerable pretensions—one of several erected in the borough. No fewer than 7000 school children were stationed on this road, and sang anthems in honour of the Prince. At the end of this road is the railway station. It was magnificent both inside and out. Amid a parterre of flowers the Royal party entered the station. The ringing and continuous cheers and the waving of hats and handkerchiefs, which commenced before the Prince put his foot on shore, and which were suspended only during the presentation of the address on the jetty, were kept up by the immense lines of men, women, and children outside, even after he had reached the railway platform. The platform for the entire length of the Royal train was carpeted with scarlet cloth, and the metal pillars supporting the roof were richly draped.

At the station the Masonic address of the Province of Hampshire was presented by the Prov. G M., Bro. Beach, P.M.

The special train left the station in charge of Mr. J. P. Knight at twenty minutes before 5 o'clock, Mr. J. Lang, M.P., chairman, and several of the directors of the London, Brighton, and South Coast Railway occupying a compartment in front of the splendid saloon in which the Prince and Princess of Wales and their children were seated. The Duke of Edinburgh, the Duke of Connaught, and the Duke of Cambridge were also in the Royal saloon, and the suite of the Prince and Princess of Wales occupied other carriages in the special train. Rapidly as the train travelled, the journey of the Prince was one triumphal progress from Portsmouth to the metropolis. There was scarcely a field, not to say a village, by which the Royal party passed, without men, women, and children being in readiness to greet the Prince. The only stopping place was Horsham. At this station several thousand people were assembled; and a guard of honour composed of a local corps of Volunteers was drawn up to present arms, their band playing the National Anthem and "God bless the Prince of Wales" while the locomotive was taking in a fresh supply of water and the wheels of the carriages were being greased. Every station along the line was decorated, but Horsham elaborately so. At Dorking, Leatherhead, and Clapham Junction, every inch of vantage ground had its occupant. Hundreds of boarding schools along the line turned out to cheer the Prince, and from every window overlooking the line, scarves, handkerchiefs, and hats were raised.

The train drew up in the Victoria Station at 44 minutes past 6 o'clock. This station affords facilities for ornamentation such as few stations present. Last evening it was radiant in brilliant colouring. The iron girders were completely concealed by scarlet and white draperies, on which were innumerable tasteful rosettes. Flags depended from a hundred different points of the roof, and banners floated from all the pillars, which were covered with twisted ribands and artificial flowers. The platform at which the Royal train arrived was carpeted in crimson, and green shrubs and hothouse exotics lined it on the outer side. Along the carriage-way were beds of azaleas, ferns, lilies, and the walls were covered with white and green cloth, the arches being edged with evergreens and flowers. The monograms "A." and "E." were displayed at various points, as were also the Prince of Wales's feathers. Stands covered with crimson cloth were occupied by nearly a thousand ladies and gentlemen. The guard of honour drawn up within the station was composed of a hundred rank and file of the Grenadier Guards, with the band and colours of the regiment. On the platform, awaiting the arrival of the Prince of Wales, were very many illustrious and distinguished personages, including the Princess Louise and the Marquis of Lorne, the Duke and Duchess of Teck, the Hereditary Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Strelitz, the Duchess of Manchester, the Duchess of Sutherland, Lady Ailesbury, the Hon. Captain Carington, M.P., Mr. C. Sykes, M.P.

Tremendous were the cheers raised both within and outside the Victoria Station as the Prince and Princess set out for Buckingham Palace. Accompanied by the Princes Albert Victor and George of Wales, they were seated in an open carriage and four, preceded by outriders. The young Princesses and the Royal Dukes followed in other Court equipages, and after them came the suite who had returned with the Prince. The escort was furnished by a detachment of the 1st Life Guards, under the command of Colonel Bateson. The band of this regiment was drawn up outside the station. The entire route from the station to Buckingham Palace and thence to Marlborough House was lined with troops, composed of the 2nd Battalion Grenadier Guards, Colonel W. A. Higginson, C.B.; 3rd Battalion Grenadier Guards, Colonel Burnaby; the 2nd Battalion Coldstream Guards, Colonel L. Fremantle; and the 1st Battalion Scots Fusilier Guards, Colonel Gipps. The Royal Horse Guards, under the command of Colonel Owen Williams, were stationed, in the first instance, at Hyde Park Corner; there they fell in behind the Royal cortège, and subsequently formed a guard of honour when the Prince was entering Marlborough House. The route taken from Victoria Station was by Grosvenor-place, Grosvenor-gardens, Piccadilly, St. James's-street, Cleveland-gate, and the Mall to Buckingham Palace. In Grosvenor-gardens the decorations were of a uniform but novel character. Shield-shaped draperies in red, white, and amber depended from windows and balconies. The other streets along the line had also been decorated, but in a less effective style. The crowds were enormous. When the Prince and Princess were leaving Buckingham Palace the Queen and the German Empress appeared on the balcony above the grand entrance. Having proceeded by the Mall from Buckingham Palace, their Royal Highnesses reached Marlborough House about eight o'clock.

The Prince and Princess, after dining at Marlborough House, went to the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, where they arrived at the end of the second act of the "Ballo in Maschera."

The house, which was very full, had waited for some time with mingled excitement, and perhaps a little impatience, "more Geant Angli-cane," but when they did make their appearance—the Prince of Wales, with the Princess to his left, the Dukes of Edinburgh and Connaught to his right, and the young Princess in front—the shouts, the cheers, the "bravos!" were as vociferous and long-continued as they were hearty and spontaneous. The whole assembly rose; and it seemed as if the demonstrations of welcome would never cease. The Prince bowed and bowed repeatedly, till he must have been fatigued with bowing; but the cheering went on. At last the curtain was lifted, the chorus filling the stage, with Madlle. Albani, as solo singer, in their midst; and Signor Vianesi raising his bâton, "God bless the Prince of Wales," to the stirring tune of Brinley Richards, was sung and played with a vigour and unanimity that led to a renewal of the manifestations in the form of reiterated cheering. The National Anthem followed, as a matter of course, Madlle. Albani giving the first solo with admirably marked emphasis. While all this went on the coup d'œil was really magnificent, such, perhaps, as could not be surpassed in any European theatre.

The third act of the "Ballo in Maschera," the finest, dramatically considered, in the work, yet still the most gloomy, then proceeded, and the performance was listened to with evident satisfaction. The last act, the scene of the masked ball, so lively until the unhappy climax, also passed off quietly and uninterrupted, excitement having fairly worn itself out. The Prince and Princess remained until the end of the performance, and on leaving the theatre were loudly cheered by the crowd outside as the carriage drove away.

Thus ended a day to be long remembered as an "Alba Dies" in the warm hearts of the English people, and we earnestly wish for our Royal Grand Master, after his long and eventful travels, all that happiness and comfort, which his return to his own country, and to his happy and rejoicing family, is calculated to have for him.

ARE WE GOING TO HAVE A MASONIC RECEPTION FOR THE PRINCE OF WALES?

They say sometimes that we Freemasons in England are a little behind the times, but we repel the insinuation with indignation! We are nothing of the kind. We are certainly very sedate and very cautious in our proceedings; that is all. Perish the thought! that either we are in any way retrogressive, or "slow coaches," or not wide awake! We deny the soft impeachment on each count of the indictment. The reception the Prince of Wales has received from the country seems to call upon our Order for an equally warm manifestation of loyal devotion towards its Grand Master. We do not know what the Executive intend doing, but we cannot help thinking that some notice ought to be taken in the way of a special gala or festival of our Royal Grand Master's happy return home to his family and to his country, to his high duties, to his active rule of our Craft. We again venture to suggest that there should be a grand gathering at the Alexandra Palace, or some similar "locale," to welcome the Prince and Princess of Wales. Three members of the Royal Family now belong to our Order, and we cannot conceive a scene more striking, or a gathering more delightful than that which would be presented by an overwhelming number of our ever loyal and intelligent Order, with wives and daughters and sisters, to greet the august ruler of English Freemasonry! We shall never have such another opportunity, and it will be a lasting reproach on us not to "profit by the occasion." What the response of the Craft would be there can be no possible doubt, and we feel sure that we are expressing the sentiments of our entire Fraternity when we urge upon those in authority, or those out of authority, the propriety of considering at once the feasibility of such a proceeding and taking measures to carry it out, and make it worthy of the cause, the Prince, and the Craft. We would call the attention of our readers to the suggestion of our esteemed Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G.C., in another column.

THE GIRLS' SCHOOL FESTIVAL.

The second of our great annual charitable gatherings is over, and with remarkable results, compared with that of a few years back, were the annual amount of these recurring festivals. £8214 11s. with twelve lists to come in, is a very goodly return to announce, and we congratulate the committee, and Bro. R. W. Little, the zealous Secretary, whose absence through illness all would equally and sincerely deplore. The returns of the donations are somewhat interesting. Of the provinces, Middlesex heads the lists with £711 13s., West Yorkshire follows suite with £707 16s., Lincolnshire comes up with £543 14s., Warwickshire with £262 10s., Berks and Bucks with £141 15s., Kent with £135 2s. 6d., Wiltshire with £115 12s., Staffordshire £115 10s., South Wales £115 10s., the Channel Islands with £100, Chester with £73, and Oxfordshire with £50., the Red Cross Order through Bro. Levander and others, £214 3s., and several other special returns. The London lodges return £4532 6s. 6d., making the whole amount, as we said before, £8214 11s., and which may be yet slightly increased. Our two great anniversaries have realized close on to £21,000, and what the Boys' School gathering will produce who can tell? we understand that there are already 240

Stewards on the lists, and we have no doubt but that Bro. Binckes will give a good account of everything when the festival comes round. In the meantime we congratulate the Girls' School on its high efficiency and its goodly return.

HAS THE CHURCH OF ROME A MORAL RIGHT TO EXCOMMUNICATE FREEMASONS?

Though this question no doubt may be answered by us all on purely sentimental grounds, so to say, and according to our individual prepossessions, yet there is, as it appears to us, also an answer to be given to it on the principles of right reason and common sense, not to say matter of fact and justice. About a hundred years ago, in 1782, an anonymous German brother published at Kosmopolis "die Beruhigung einer Katholiken über die Papstlichen Bullen wider die Freimaurerey," the tranquilization of a Roman Catholic in respect of the Papal Bulls against Freemasonry. And a very interesting little work it is. He points out then that Clement XII. condemned the Freemasons on six main grounds—which for the purposes of our argument it may be well to lay before our readers. 1st. The union with other religionists. 2nd. The secrecy, which implied something bad. 3rd. The secret binding of the conscience by a secret oath or obligation. 4th. The defiance of ecclesiastical and civil laws against secret societies. 5th. The expulsion of Freemasons by the State in different countries in consequence. 6th. And lastly the evil opinion entertained of Freemasons by the faithful of the Roman Catholic Communion. On these six grounds, which as the writer of the little book above mentioned points out, are put forward in entire ignorance of the real position of affairs, and historical accuracy, and exact fact, Clement the XII., on the 4th May, 1738, condemned the Freemasons, took from them all religious rights and privileges, forbade all Christian ministrations to them, and desired the ecclesiastical authorities and Inquisitors, "hereticæ pravitatis," everywhere to punish and restrain all such "de heresi vehementer Suspectos," and to coerce and punish them, the aid of the secular arm being invoked. This is simply a direct exhortation to inquisitorial persecution, imprisonment, torture, and the Auto da fé. Benedict the XIV., on the 15th April, 1751, issued a confirmatory bull of all that Clement XII. had previously uttered, and especially desired those to whom the execution was confided of his Bull not to omit the invocation of the aid of the secular arm! Hence we have this wonderful fact before us, in all its "naked simplicity," that without enquiry, without knowledge, without trial, without any hesitation, the supreme pontiff proclaims all Freemasons, however good or virtuous, useful citizens, true patriots, loyal subjects, faithful Roman Catholics, to be heretics, ipso facto, and desires the Inquisitors at once to punish and coerce them as such, calling in the aid of the secular arm! There never was in the history of the Church or the world, such an illegal, such an immoral, such an unjust, and, we will add, such a ridiculous Encyclical! By the provisions of the Roman Catholic Canon Law itself, all complaints are to be heard before a competent judge, and sentence duly pronounced on evidence, and on the answers of the accused. Even the Inquisition professed to hear evidence before pronouncing sentence, and the tortures of recalcitrant prisoners were enforced, in order, in the name of religion and of Christianity, to compel them to speak the truth! But here two Popes, having no evidence, without any special knowledge of the facts, pronounce sentence ex cathedra against all Freemasons, quâ Freemasons, simply assume blasphemously the prerogative of Divinity in Judicial Infallibility, and "mero motu and proprio jure" brand all Freemasons as heretics, condemn them to punishment, torture, death, and invoke the supplementary assistance of the civil power. Surely, then, we have a warrant for saying that on every ground of right, reason, equity, fairness, morality, of justice, as expressed in every code of known legal sanction and solemn enactment in the world, that such an excommunication is alike immoral and unchristian. And probably we should be ourselves willing to treat such Bulls as many Romanist canonists have treated similar excommunicatory ebullitions, as obsolete and without any binding power, did not we note that the Roman Catholic prelates and clergy constantly appeal to these very Bulls as the justification for their absurd proceedings. We should ourselves gladly consider them as fossil curiosities did we not remember that even the present benevolent old Pontiff has formally repeated and commended them! We should be quite willing to allow such evidences of an unreasoning bigotry, of an ignorant intolerance, to be forgotten in the dust and dirt of the centuries as they pass by us, with that charitable spirit in which the present often regards the past, did we not alas know too well that the animus of Bigotry survives the fleeting ages of time, and that the love of persecution is still a active and as dominant as ever. We conclude our article to-day on this unsavoury subject in the full calm strength as we deem it of logical consistency by asserting that all such excommunications of the Church of Rome are immoral and iniquitous, contrary to every known principle of ecclesiastical or secular jurisprudence, and in themselves utterly childish and powerless. In our humble opinion the Church of Rome has shown itself little wise in its generation, in the renewal of such barbarous edicts, and in the retention of such ignorant bigotry. That the reproduction of the Bulls of Clement and Benedict can either intimidate Freemasons or aid the cause of the Roman Catholic Church itself is indeed a chimera of chimeras. And though with the sad spectacle before our eyes daily of the lengths to which this inculcation of an utterly unsanctified despotism, of unjustifiable authority, can lead even the benevolent and the humane, we rejoice to think that despite censure and anathema, our good old Craft is "marching on," and that under the leadership of our own Royal Grand Master calumniated and excommunicated Freemasons are advocating earnestly and religiously the blessed and peaceful principles of toleration, brotherly love, goodwill to man. We will make one more remark. Even supposing we allow that every religious body has ex necessitate rei a right to make terms of communion, wider or stricter as the case may be, we cannot concede to any denominational organization through its spiritual head, the authority before men, to set at defiance every principle of divine teaching and human law, and to brand with the iniquity and menace with the punishment of heresy by an autocratic exercise of illegal power, all those everywhere who do not accept implicitly its dogmata or obey its decrees. The Church of Rome may say "the days of temporal punishment are over, I am only invoking spiritual censures which I have a right to inflict." Granted! But then as Roman teachers assert that the Pope is infallible and supreme and God's Viceroy on earth, they still practically condemn all who differ from the Roman Church, inasmuch as he has never abjured his claim of universal sovereignty. If it was only a matter for the Roman Catholics themselves, much as we should deplore the narrowness of spirit and the prevalence of bigotry displayed in such allocutions, it would yet perhaps be a matter for them to settle for themselves. But the issues are greater and the contest wider than lie often on the surface of things, and we therefore think it well to point out to-day, for fear of any mistake or misconstruction as far as we are ourselves concerned, the utterly immoral and unjustifiable position as between man and man, and even on its own alleged principles of ecclesiastical law which the Church of Rome has assumed, and still assumes, in thus excommunicating ipso facto all Freemasons because they are Freemasons, branding them as heretics, and invoking for them persecution, punishment, torture, death.

HYPERCRITICISM.

Criticism we hold to be a very good thing in mundane matters, when conducted and animated with the true spirit of criticism, and the same rule applies, in our opinion, also to matters Masonic. We do not, and never shall object, to all fair and proper criticism. On the contrary, we think that it is a very wholesome exercise of a restraining power alike as regards men and things. A little criticism, sound sensible criticism, often does a deal of good, and without the due exercise of an intellectual criticism we should be at the mercy—humanly speaking, of every charlatan, of every empiric. In the great world of art, of politics, of literature, nay, of religion itself, we are always in need of a wholesome criticism, and we who have to deal with the hebdomadal press, should, remembering the outspoken freedom of our own remarks often, never complain of the fair and candid criticism of others. Of course a great question comes in here—What is fair and what is candid criticism? All criticism, of course, is not either fair or candid, and much that passes for criticism is no criticism at all, but simply the assertion of the personal Ego, or the morbidity of injured vanity, or subjective sensibility! Still, we repeat, we do not object to, as we do not fear, all proper criticism, and, indeed, we think that the liberty of speech enjoyed in the tolerant columns of the "Freemason," is alike creditable to the publisher, and one of the causes of the success of the "Freemason" itself. We have been led into these remarks by a letter which appeared in our pages last week, complaining of Latin words, and French words, and hard words in our leading articles. But the letter of "A Stickler for plain English" we venture, in all deference to our brother, to think a little hypercritical. The illustrations of his complaint which he suggests are peculiar. "Sub sigillo confessionis" is an expression not unknown to modern writers, "proh pudor" is no unlawful use of a classical exclamation, "Clientèle" is a French word of very common use just now, and "opine" is no doubt a word of Latin derivation, but still not uncommon or, in any way a hard word to understand. But the writer seems to be indulging in a little of that unreal sentimentality about "Anglo-Saxon" to which we always greatly object. Does he forget that the English speech, so to say, is a compound of more than one language? We have the brilliancy of the Norman French superadded to the solidity of the Anglo-Saxon, we have in it words of clear Roman use, and lingering relics of the Danes. Is our correspondent prepared to banish all words of Latin derivation? If not, what then? Let him take any page he likes of Johnson's dictionary, and endeavour to ascertain the derivation of all the words in it, and he will find the large proportion of Latin originals. We say all this in good part, and with no wish or intention of finding fault, but the fallacy of the often repeated modern adage, "write Anglo Saxon" is really too much for us. Why such a rule would rob our great and noble English tongue of half its richness, and almost all of its significant force. We are quite sensible of the value of simple writing, of plain words, and of forcible expression. But all who write much know that the insertion here and there, though not too often, of an appropriate equivalent or illustrative sentence in another tongue often gives point to the verbosity of a leader, and attracts attention and enforces an argument. If we thought that our good correspondent had any real cause for complaint we would gladly cry "peccavi" (in saying this we are sinning against his sterner canon), but we confess, as the saying is, we "do not see it," and not seeing it, we can neither promise to "amend our vocabulary" nor to alter our style, which, bad as it may be, is our own, for good or evil.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

MASONIC RECEPTION OF OUR GRAND MASTER.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—
In your pleasant "Welcome Home Again" of last week you say "Still through all, and in all, a gracious Providence has protected his (the Prince's) goodly progress."

It has occurred to me that there would be a very profitable, appropriate, and significant manner of giving practical effect to this most faithful and forcible expression of feeling. I mean by the Masons of England holding a grand service or thanksgiving in St. Paul's, the National Temple built by a Freemason, at which our Bro. the Bishop of Peterborough might be induced to preach, and to which I am in good hope the Dean and Canons with their usual courtesy would not object.

Such a service could not fail to do us all good. It would moreover throw our sympathies, our wishes, and our thankfulness into the brightest and most beautiful form which human action can take, and it would be an eloquent protest against the ignorant suspicions as well as the fierce denunciations that have assailed our Order, especially during the last few years.

I have reason to know that many of our Jewish brethren would attend, as they did a few weeks ago in the cathedral of Manchester. Such an act of united worship and on such an occasion would tend to remove many foolish but firmly-rooted prejudices to Freemasonry and would go far to elevate it into that position which it ought to hold as one of the great moral and religious agencies of the age we live in.

The details of such a plan as I have ventured to suggest I will not touch upon, but leave them to other and wiser heads than mine; but it is obvious that every lodge in England should be represented, together with the Grand Lodges of Scotland and Ireland.

Commending this subject to the consideration of our brethren, I am, dear Sir, fraternally yours,

R. J. SIMPSON.

14A, Clement's-inn, 15th May, 1876.

SURREY MASONIC HALL.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In your issue of May 6th I notice a letter respecting the Surrey Masonic Hall. I fully expected to have seen a reply to the queries in your next number. I quite agree with the remarks, that something should be done to carry out the promise of the prospectus issued some time ago. There seems to be a want of something to push the undertaking forward. I am informed a number of the lodges are now meeting in the building, that they are experiencing considerable benefit by being separate from the tavern interest. I would suggest that these lodges should take up all the unallotted shares, also that the directors should adopt the usual means of making the hall known, so that the shareholders may not have occasion to complain of the want of energy and ability on the part of those who have assumed the management of the company. I notice in the same paper an account of the formation of a Masonic Library at the Freemasons' Hall, Sheffield, would it not be an additional attraction to carry out the same idea at the Surrey Masonic Hall?

I am, dear Sir and Brother, yours frat. rally,

ANOTHER WAITING SHAREHOLDER.

THE MARK DEGREE IN SCOTLAND.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In your paper of 29th April, page 194 a Royal Arch Mason seems to be in great perplexity about our Scotch brethren in St. John's Lodge giving the degrees of Mark Master for 1s. 2d., and it having been now raised to 2s. 6d. each, which cannot be thought of otherwise, but being nominal value. He likewise asks to be informed whether such work be in accordance with the Scotch Constitutions, or Grand Lodge Laws, but no one has as yet made any effort to answer the questions, and I, as another Royal Arch Mason, am desirously looking forward to see some one boldly come to the front to enlighten both him and myself. The Grand Lodge and the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter bye-laws are to my mind only a hotchpotch, as the Grand Lodge laws at the outset for subordinate lodges prohibit them from holding any other meeting than those of the three Orders, viz., E.A., F.C., and M.M., denominated St. John's Masonry (the Mark forming part of the Second Degree), though only to be conferred on Master Masons. The bye-laws of the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter says, By an arrangement with the Grand Lodge of Scotland its subordinate lodges in Scotland may now legally confer the Mark Master Degree. But the Charter given by the Grand Lodge of Scotland, embodying the three first legrees, has no such thing as any mention being made in it of working the Mark Degree. But the laws of the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Scotland, with the charter given out to subordinate chapters, are, as I would say, in harmony together, the working of the Mark Degrees being embodied in the charter, as well as the Excellent and R.A. Degrees. In my opinion the Grand Lodge and the Supreme Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Scotland would give a much better and higher standing to Scotch Masonry, if the Mark Degree, were by the powers that be, set aside from either the lodges or chapters, and hold it fast to one constitution, rather than have such an honourable degree made only fourteen pence worth of. I should even be glad to see from any one outside of Scotland, the real value thought worthy for the Mark Master Degree, which appears to me to be falling, when Masonry just now is said to be rising in fame, amongst outsiders that are at this time coming to rally round our banners.

THE MARK DEGREE ASSAILED.

OFFICERS' JEWELS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Feeling interested in the question raised by your correspondent "Lux" in your impression of the 6th of May on officers' jewels, I beg to give you a description of the jewels possessed by the lodge to which I have the honour of being a member. The Past Master's, Treasurer's, and Deacons' jewels are very different from those worn now. The Past Master's jewel is an oval of 4 inches by 3½ inches; the centre is a gilt blazing sun irradiated into sixteen points; on the centre of the sun is a level; on the upright limbs of the level are the square and compasses in the F.C. Degree; below the level is the plumb; on one side of the plumb is the volume of the sacred law, closed; on the other is a square block with the triangle and circle engraved upon it; these are surrounded by a frame formed by a branch of bay and palm, bound at the bottom by a serpent and united at the top by a pelican feeding her young from her breast; the neck of the pelican forming the eye for the ring to support the jewel; the branches of bay and palm are also bound throughout their length by a ribbon. The Treasurer's jewel is the same, only the cross-keys is on the face of the sun instead of the level, &c. The Senior Deacon's jewel is a Mercury 4½ inches high poised on the right foot, the left knee resting on the wing of the right heel; in his left hand is the caduceus with the serpents, and in his right hand a roll, as in the attitude of speaking. The Junior Deacon's jewel is a Mercury flying on a cloud with the caduceus in his left hand entwined with two serpents and winged, his right hand extended as if beckoning to some one; this figure is 3½ inches high and represents a youth (these jewels are all silver and weigh 9 ozs.). This lodge was constituted in 1778, and our warrant is what the old Masons here called a York or Athol warrant, the Duke of Athol having granted it. For the information of Bro. W. J. Hughan or any brother that can enlighten us on the subject, I add the name and number of my lodge.

I am, dear Sir and brother, yours faithfully and fraternally,
ALEX. SPEARS, P.M. and Treas. of Adams Lodge, No. 158.

Sheerness-on-Sea.

THE FREEMASONS AND BURNS.

To the Editor of The Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

I have in my possession a Masonic relic, in which is published the "Farewell to Tarbolton Lodge" by Burns, and at the time he (Burns) was leaving, and no such verse as the one mentioned by Bro. John Hogg in the "Freemason" of April 29th is given, only the usual four verses, and I have every reason to think that that was the first copy of Burns's farewell ever published. I am of the same opinion as Bro. Hogg that the verse referred to is none of Burns.

Yours fraternally,

M.M. 1089.

THE INSTALLATION OF M.W.G.M.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Will you kindly give me a reply through the "Freemason" to the following question?

Were Past Wardens of private lodges entitled to be present at the installation of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales as Grand Master of England at the Royal Albert Hall April 28th, 1875?

Yours fraternally,

JIM SHEARD,
W.M. Trafalgar, 971, Batley.

May 10th, 1876.

[Not as such, but as M.M.'s.—Ed.]

MASONIC REPRINTS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Cincinnati, April 29th, 1876.

Sir,—

In reply to your query in the "Freemason" of March 18, I would say I have sent a copy of the entire reprint to which you refer, "The Beginning and First Foundation of the Most Worthy Craft of Masonry," to the library of the Supreme Council of Sov. Grand Ins. Gen. for England and Wales, 33, Golden-square, London, and you can see it there. As it originally appeared in the "Masonic Review" it had but little value, owing to the great number of typographical errors with which it was filled. I had it carefully revised and corrected, and the reprint is almost free from such errors. I believe there are only three errors of punctuation in it.

I am glad to see that so much interest is being awakened among literary gentlemen in regard to the early history and antiquities of Masonry, thanks to such zealous labourers as Hughan and Lyon.

Fraternally yours,

E. T. CARSON.

"A Masonic Student," London.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Since the actual state of the poll cannot be known in time for your next issue, I should scarcely like another week to pass without offering my very sincere thanks to you—first, for your fraternal and generous appeal to the brethren on behalf of our poor distressed brother, Dr. Stewart; and secondly, to those brethren who have kindly favoured me with their votes.

From the number of votes received I fully believe I am right in saying that the election of our brother is secure. I may, therefore, by anticipation, return his heartfelt thanks, and to which I beg to add my own, for the timely and prompt aid we have received. I have no doubt whatever that in the course of a few days Bro. Dr. Stewart will find a "haven of rest" in our noble Institution for Aged Freemasons, at Croydon.

Believe me, I remain, dear Sir and Brother, yours fraternally,
JAMES HOGG,
1, Bedford-square.

REGALIA.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

Bro. Magnus Ohren's letter in the last "Freemason" on the above.

"R.W.O." asks, "How is it, &c." This was a quotation by "R.W.O." from "Ad Rem."

Bro. M.O. says, "Allow me to say that he and 'Ad Rem' are confounding presentation jewels with the regulation jewels." Will Bro. M.O. allow me to say that I am not

My query was, Are those (which M. O. now calls presentation jewels) according to the Book of Constitutions any more jewels than those which you find attached to many a brother's watch chain?

"If he should become eligible to attend Grand Lodge, &c." If Bro. M. O. refers to R.W.O. he can put the "if he should become" in the waste basket as things of the past.

Will Bro. M. O. be good enough to explain the latter part of the Art. 22, p. 69, Edition 1871, of the Book of Constitutions from "Except such honorary or other jewels as shall be consistent with those degrees recognised by the Grand Lodge as part of ancient Freemasonry?"

There has been a great deal written of late about Grand Lodges—Grand Lodge of York, Grand Lodge of All England, &c.; but I have not had the pleasure of seeing anything about the Grand Lodge for Surrey. Unless the printer's d—l had a finger in the pie an explanation of the last line of M. O. will clear up the matter. "Past Grand Jun. Warden for Surrey."

Yours fraternally,

R.W.O.

Mulum in Parbo; or Masonic Notes and Queries.

SOME REMARKS ON THE EXTRACTS FROM THE SHEFFIELD CHAPTER OF PARADISE MINUTE BOOKS.
BY BRO., REV. WILLIAM TEBBS.

At our first introduction to it this chapter seems to have been in much the same position as that of Royal Arch chapters in America prior to the year 1797 (when, as Mackey tells us, they were by a convention of delegates from the several chapters in Pennsylvania, placed under the control of a Grand Chapter, then first organized and severed from that of the symbolic degrees), for we find a "Companion Wilcockson, who had not served the office of King, on July, 16th, 1788, gave his authority to assemble when and where they pleased," and it is not until 1800, 1801, that we find the general business of the chapter conducted according to the present received models. We also find the American precedence of officers in vogue, for in the first mention of their election in 1784 we find the first "Kingly" chair occupied by the "High Priest," there being also but one Scribe.

This title "King," of the occupants of the Principals' chairs seems to point either to the recognition of the American degrees of Select and Super-excellent Masters; or else would favour the idea that those three chairs were filled by representatives of the Magi; upon their probable connexion with Masonry some remarks, may, at some future time, be submitted to the attention of the Craft.

In the year 1788 the entire working seems to have been altered and remoulded upon the Irish system by two visiting companions, Boyle and Macelroy (Bro. Ellis suggests Mac Elroy, perhaps a better suggestion, by a modern analogy of pronunciation, would be McLeroy) for we find that the titles of "Kings" were immediately dropped and the substitution made of "High Priest,"—afterwards "Rev'd. High Priest," 2, [J.], Royal Arch Captain; 3, M.E. Grand Masters [of Val's]; J.A. and E.B. [? Captain of Host and Principal Sojourner]; and E. and N; also "Ninetor" [? Janitor.] "Super-excellent" is also used openly for the first time—one companion being said to have been "further initiated in this Sublime Degree."

After the year 1800 (as before remarked) the procedure of the chapter was gradually changed into that now received, until in 1807 the minutes of the S.G. and R.C. of R.A.C. of England were read, and the new constitution seems to have been fully adopted, the names of those companions under the old constitution being given on page 76; this and the preceding pages being copies of lists forwarded to Grand Chapter, London, whilst succeeding ones contain copies of the certificate forwarded to the Clerk of the Peace. After this date too the proper titles of officers seem to have been adopted.

One fact worthy of remark seems that even after this date Mark Degrees were conferred by the chapter, but that the Select and Super-excellent features seem to have entirely disappeared.

Did space permit there are one or two other features well worthy of remark, such as Sunday being the day of meeting; the jumble of terms, "raised," "passed," "exalted," the use of the term "encampment" (sometimes lodge, although never council); "Sublime" Degree, the giving a First Degree Craft Lecture on certain Master Masons joining the companions.

The monogram can hardly be entered into here further than to suggest that the "T" on the "H" might either refer to H.A.B. of Tyre or to the badge of the R.A. Degree.

One point more is worthy of notice. Bro. Boyle is called "a Mason of the world, he having certificates from the Four Grand Lodges of the world." What were these Four Grand Lodges; as at this date there were some four-and-twenty in existence?

Respecting the omitted meeting in April, 1784, by the room being otherwise occupied, "Boaz" could not surely be the correct reading of the name of the interloper. In the paragraph referred to the legible portion is given in a different manner at each repetition—once "Boa"—once "Bro. and A." Now what so feasible as that the so-called "Freemasons' Hall" formed part of some house of entertainment, bearing its name simply from its being rented by the brethren and companions; (such is the case with a chapter-room in the West of England now), and that at certain times the room was used for ordinary purposes. The contraction might then stand for either "Boarders" or "Brokers," as dealers, in household stuffs, &c. (probably travellers), were then called.

LAYING THE FOUNDATION STONE OF A NEW CHURCH AT NUNEATON.

On Wednesday, 26th ult., the old town of Nuneaton, which generally lies so still and quiet on the banks of the little river Anker, a river which has been the theme of poets, who have sung its praises in epic and in sonnet, threw off its apparent lethargy, and spread its beams of varied hue and somewhat fanciful designs to the gentle breeze and genial sun of a fine April day. The occasion was a memorable one, for after the lapse of some six or seven centuries the inhabitants were about to commence the re-erection of the ancient nunnery which gave the town its distinctive name.

The old Abbey Church of Nuneaton owed its foundation to the piety and generosity of Robert Bossu, one of the Norman Earls of Leicester, in the 12th century. He gave the plot of land on which the few crumbling ruins, which mark the site of this old religious foundation, now stands, in gaunt array, on the north-western side of Nuneaton, to the Benedictine nuns, of the order of Fontefrault, an order that was remarkable for associating monks and nuns under the same foundation. The Abbey thus begun received, like many other similar communities, considerable possessions in benefactions and gifts. Whether the piers of the central tower of the cruciform church, which yet remain, were part of the original church, cannot be positively stated; but if it were so, it is obvious that the conventual buildings were not completed for many years after the original foundation in 1150. Now, however, it is proposed to rebuild the nave of the church in the transitional style which prevailed in the early part of the 13th century. This work has been entrusted to Mr. Clapton Rolfe, of Reading, who has combined some of the marked features of the late Norman period of architecture with the first and simple forms of the first pointed period of Gothic architecture, and the plans are so arranged that they can be carried out in detail until the entire plan of the original church is reproduced. He has been assisted in some of the details by the excellent view of the ruins published by Buck in 1729. The occasion of this restoration we gather from an appeal issued by the Building Committee.

It appears that in the month of June, 1869, Mr. Thomas Bottrell died, having made a large fortune in the trade of Nuneaton, and, desiring to benefit his native town, bequeathed by his will the sum of £400 towards the building, and the sum of £2500 for the endowment of a new district church in Nuneaton, provided such church should be built and consecrated within the period of ten years after his decease. Mr. Bottrell also bequeathed the sum of £25 per annum for ten years after his death to be paid to the minister officiating at the Abbey-street School room. The town of Nuneaton contains 4547 inhabitants, and the parish church affords accommodation for 1,500 only. A considerable portion of the inhabitants reside at a distance from the parish church, and since the bequest of Mr. Bottrell services have been held every Sunday in the National Schools, in Abbey Street, licensed by the bishop for public worship. These services have been largely attended, and the accommodation is quite insufficient for the numbers attending. In order to carry out the intentions of Mr. Bottrell, and to secure to the inhabitants of Nuneaton his munificent bequests, the committee (formed of subscribers to the intended church) put themselves in communication with Mr. James Tomkinson, the principal owner of land at the Abbey Street end of the town, and he has with great generosity presented an acre and a half of land, upon which formerly stood the church belonging to Nuneaton Abbey, the foundations and some of the pillars of which are still in existence. He has also given sufficient land to allow of the construction of a carriage road from Abbey Street and a footpath from the Meadow to the church.

Of the sum (£2500 required) £1,800 and upwards has been promised, and this received substantial additions yesterday by the gifts of the Freemasons and assembled visitors. This sum does not, however, include the value of the land and roadway, estimated at £600. Only three years of the time stipulated by Mr. Bottrell remains unexpired, and a number of ladies are busily engaged aiding the building committee in raising the remainder of the sum required. It is proposed to assign a district to the church when finished, and thus supply a want which George Eliot pointed out in those powerful "Scenes of Clerical Life," which embody some of the annals of Nuneaton and its neighbourhood.

The brethren from the province assembled at the Town Hall at one o'clock, when the Abbey Lodge, and afterwards the Provincial Grand Lodge, were opened. The business of the Grand Lodge having been concluded, a procession was formed in the usual Masonic order, and the brethren proceeded to the site of the new church. The Provincial Grand Officers present included Lord Leigh, P.G.M.; Lieutenant-Colonel Machen, D.P.G.M.; Bros. J. Bragg, P.G.S.W.; Captain Salt, P.G.J.W.; Revs. W. Randall and F.M. Beaumont, P.G. Chaplains; G. Beech, P.G.S.; R.C. Sinclair, P.G.S.D.; J. R. Chirm, P. G. Supt. W.; H. Sanderson, P.G.A.D.C.; W. H. Webb, P.G.S.B.; C. F. Rowe, P.G.O.; G. Baker, P.G.P.; J. Coates, P.G.T. There was also a large attendance of Worshipful Masters Past Masters, Wardens, and Brethren of the various lodges in the province.

Arriving at the site of the new church, the Provincial Grand Master, Lord Leigh, took his seat near the stone, with the Deputy Provincial Grand Master, and other Provincial Grand Officers near.

The Rev. W. Randall, P.G.C., having offered prayer, The Rev. H. W. Bellairs, vicar, and chairman of the Church Building Committee, presented to the Grand Master the inscription on the stone and copies of the proceedings, and, in the name of the town, gratefully thanked Lord Leigh for the honour done them in laying the foundation-stone.

Bro. G. Beech, P.G.S., then read the inscription, which was as follows:—"Provincial Grand Lodge of Ancient Free, and Accepted Masons of Warwickshire.—At a special meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge, held at the Abbey Lodge, Nuneaton, on Wednesday, the 26th April, 1876, in the 40th year of the reign of her gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, this, the foundation-stone of St. Mary's Abbey Church, Nuneaton, was laid, in solemn form and according to ancient usage, by the Right Honourable William Henry Lord Leigh, Lord-Lieutenant, and Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master of Warwickshire, assisted by the Worshipful Brother Colonel Machen, Deputy Provincial Grand Master of Warwickshire, the Worshipful Brother John Bragg, Prov. Senior Grand Warden; the Worshipful Brother Captain Salt, Prov. Junior Grand Warden; Brother the Rev. W. Randall, Brother the Rev. F. M. Beaumont, P. Grand Chaplains; George Beech, Provincial Grand Secretary; and in the presence of a numerous body of P. Grand Officers, Past P. Grand Officers, and Brethren of the Province of Warwickshire."

Copies of several newspapers, the inscription, a prayer book, and various coins of the realm, enclosed in a tin box, having been placed in a cavity in the stone, the mortar was spread and the stone lowered. The trowel and the usual working tools of a mason were then handed to the Provincial Grand Master by the architect, the Deputy-Provincial Grand Master and Wardens, and Lord Leigh strewed corn and poured wine and oil on the stone, emblematic of plenty, joy, and peace. Upon the mallet being handed to him,

Lord Leigh said that before using it, it might be interesting to those present to know that the mallet which he had the honour of holding in his hand, was the identical mallet with which King Charles laid the first stone of St. Paul's Cathedral, in 1675. (Hear, hear.) His Majesty then presented it to their illustrious and eminent brother, the great architect, Sir Christopher Wren. At his death Sir Christopher Wren left it to Lodge Antiquity, No. 2, in London, and that Lodge was presided over at this moment by their illustrious brother, Prince Leopold (Applause.) Owing to the kindness of Brother Dr. Erasmus Wilson, and the brethren of the Lodge Antiquity, an officer from the lodge had been sent down with the mallet for him (Lord Leigh) to have the honour of using on that occasion. His lordship then declared the stone well and truly fixed.

Brother Beech, P.G.S., according to custom, deposited a sum of money on the stone for the workmen, and "God save the Queen" having been sung by the choir,

Lord Leigh, addressed the assembly, having further announced that the Freemasons present that day had contributed £50, which would be paid over by the Provincial Grand Secretary in aid of the work.

The Rev. M. Beaumont, P.G.C., delivered an address, after which a collection was made in aid of the building fund. The procession re-formed, and the brethren returned to the Town Hall, where the Provincial Grand Lodge was resumed and closed.

A banquet, which was well attended, afterwards took place.

During the excavations between the piers of the central tower and the eastern part of the nave, many remains of the original structure have been found. These consist of a small cross, within a circle, inscribed on soft red sandstone, similar to the consecration crosses of the late Norman period. The carved heads from cave mouldings, the fragments of carved stone of no special distinguishing character appears to be the cap of a pillar, and a number of tiles; one of the tiles bears the arms of the Beauchamps Earls of Warwick, another a lion passant gardant, and the others bear some geometric patterns, but they do not equal in number, variety, and beauty, those found on the same spot many years ago, drawings of which are in the possession of Mr. J. T. Burgess, of Leamington.

PRESENTATION TO SIR FREDERICK M. WILLIAMS, BART., M.P.

On the 4th inst. the members of the Cornwall Rose Croix Chapter, Truro, through their M.W.S., Colonel John Whitehead Peard, 30° (in open chapter), presented to the Ill. Bro. Sir F. M. Williams, Bart., M.P., 32°, a handsome P.M.S. jewel, in appreciation of his valuable services as the first M.W.S. of the Chapter. Notwithstanding his many duties Sir F. M. Williams had never been absent from any assembly of the Chapter since its constitution, and not only had he presented the furniture of the chapter, but in every way possible, as M.W.S., he had endeavoured to promote the true interests of the Ancient and Accepted Rite, now firmly planted in Cornwall.

On the 9th inst. the members of the Centenary Lodge of Fortitude assembled in large numbers to witness the presentation to the R.W. Bro. Sir F. M. Williams, Bart., P.G.W., and Representative of the Grand Orient of Portugal, of a Deputy Prov. Grand Master's jewel of Cornwall, by the Senior Past Master, on behalf of the members of the lodge, who thus desire to exhibit their appreciation of Sir F. M. Williams' devotion to Freemasonry in general, and his important and substantial aid to the Great Masonic Charities, the Local Masonic Annuity Fund, and indeed, for any good Masonic work.

The worthy Baronet in reply said, that what little he had done had been not only gladly rendered on behalf of the beloved Craft, but the duty had proved a great pleasure. The gift would be highly valued by him, and that evening was to him the most memorable in his Masonic career.

W. Bro. William James Hughan was called upon by the brethren to speak, and in response to the demand presented brief sketches of what Sir Frederick M. Williams had achieved for Freemasonry, and his short, telling speeches were enthusiastically received.

The jewels gave great satisfaction.

CONSECRATION OF THE " RICHARD GIDDY " LODGE, AT KIMBERLEY, SOUTH AFRICA.

Thursday, the 23rd March, will long be remembered by the brethren of the " Richard Giddy " Lodge, 1574, and, indeed, by most Masons whose privilege it was to be present at the combined ceremonies of the consecration of the above named Lodge and the dedication of the new Freemasons' Hall, Kimberley, to the purposes of Freemasonry. As we give below the programme of the day's proceedings, as published, together with the able and eloquent address of the consecrating Officer, Bro. the Hon. R. W. H. Giddy, P. M., P. Z., etc., etc., it will be unnecessary to say more than that the proceedings were characterized throughout by that unanimity which always animates the brethren of the Craft on similar occasions, and that the arrangements were excellently made to prevent confusion, the procession, the largest yet seen in Kimberley, being moved off without trouble or delay, a duty in which the D. C. for the day was most ably assisted by Bro. Susman, of the Peace and Harmony Lodge.

An interesting feature in the proceedings was the admission of a limited number of ladies to the Hall, to witness the ceremony of consecration and dedication, though we fear the presence of such rare visitors to any lodge must have sadly distracted the attention of the brethren from their labour.

The D.G. Chaplain read the first clause of the prayer of benediction:—

" May the Almighty Architect of the Universe, who has disposed all things in order according to the Excellency of His will, who made the heavens for His Majesty, the sun and the stars for His glory and our comfort, and the earth as a place for our obedience to His laws, look down upon us Masons, now endeavouring to build a house according to the rules of charity by the bond of love. May this house, when duly consecrated and dedicated, be a habitation for worthy men meeting together for good; may their secret assemblies be convened legally, proceed honourably, and end in charity. May all Masons that enter under the shadow of its roof remember that the secret of the Lord is with them that fear Him. May the work done here prosper; may the heart of all the workmen be comforted; may no strife, brawling, or unseemly words be heard within its walls; may the Master love the brethren, and the brethren honour and obey the Master; may our going out and our coming in be blessed for evermore; may our baskets be filled with plenteousness, and the voice of joy and thanksgiving abound; may there be no mourning nor sorrow of heart; and may the wayfaring Mason find a comfort in his journey to his home, when passeth by the gates of this house."

The Consecrating Officer then sprinkled perfume, saying, " May our deeds be sweet and savoury; may we be a refreshing odour to all our poor brethren, for charity is as sweet as roses."

The prayer of Benediction concluded thus:—

" Grant, O Thou Most High! that the chief corner-stone of this, our building may be, Holiness to the Lord, and whenever we assemble here for the purposes of Freemasonry, may we be guided by the rules and precepts contained in Thy Holy Tracing Board, and may they lead us through all the devious scenes of this chequered state of existence, to a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. ' Thus will Freemasonry be made subservient to the practice of our religious duties, and help us forward towards that Grand Lodge above, where we hope to meet our Christian and Masonic brethren in perfect happiness, when the scenes of this world shall be closed, and the Pass Word of Fidelity, Fidelity! shall for the last time be pronounced over our graves."

The W. M. of the lodge addressed the Consecrating Officer as follows:—

" W. Sir, the brethren of this Lodge, in order to promote the interest and prosperity of the Craft, have at great expense assisted in erecting a Masonic Hall for their convenience and accommodation. They are now desirous that the same should meet the approval of the district authorities, and be solemnly consecrated according to ancient form."

DEDICATION ANTHEM.

The Consecrating Officer.—" The Hall in which we are now assembled having been approved, I will now proceed to dedicate and consecrate it according to ancient rites."

" In the elevated character of Consecrating Officer, I invoke the name of the Most High, to whom be glory and honour. May He be with you at your beginning, strengthen you in the principles of our Royal Art, prosper you with success in all your undertakings, and direct your zealous efforts for the good of Masonry in general, and of this lodge in particular. By the Divine aid I implore the G. A. O. T. U. to pour down His blessings on this building, and to dedicate it to the sacred interests of morality and religion; trusting that its members will always act in conformity with the rites of our venerable Order and the charges of our ancient Fraternity. And may God be with you all."

W. Bro. Giddy's introductory address was as follows:—

W. Brethren,—It is with no slight feeling of gratification and pride that I to-day find myself chosen to perform the ceremony of consecrating this lodge and dedicating this Hall. Ever since my initiation I have always taken the greatest interest in the promotion and welfare of our Ancient Craft. It has been with no thirst for self-aggrandizement that I have seized on every opportunity to obtain all the Masonic degrees within my reach, but with a desire to advance the interests, and obtain the means of increasing the influence of an Order whose utility and whose grandeur of design has been year after year more and more impressed upon my mind, as I became better acquainted with its history, its construction, and its aims. That I should have attained some distinction is merely an accident consequent upon my convictions having led me to devote some time and trouble to the promotion of our Order, but the high honour which has been done me by the founders of this lodge in naming it after me is something more than the distinction inseparable from Masonic rank or Masonic office, as it conveys to me a proof that my brethren in Griqualand who know me personally have approved of my poor endeavours. And my gratification is enhanced by the conviction that the brethren who have been chosen as office-bearers are especially qualified for the duties they have undertaken, and that they and their successors will take pains to render the Richard Giddy Lodge no ephemeral institution, but a lodge which years hence will be held in honour for its creditable working and its Masonic zeal. You may well be proud, my brethren, of the noble hall you have assisted in erecting in this place, where but four years since no Masonic lodge existed, and which but six years ago was a howling wilderness. Masonry has within the last four years progressed throughout the world with almost giant strides, as the number of your lodge alone will testify, being 165 beyond that of the first Griqualand lodge, the Cosmopolitan, No. 1409. Yet amid all this rapid progress I feel convinced that for the spread of Masonry no place can compare with Griqualand. May your zeal for the Craft long continue with undiminished fervour, and may you receive the full reward of that zeal. We have met to-day to consecrate this lodge and dedicate this hall to God, to Masonry, and to universal benevolence and charity. To the cowans of the profane world it may seem strange that we who have been stigmatized as irreligious unbelievers and atheists should consecrate ourselves or our buildings to the G. A. O. T. U., but to you, my brethren, it will seem but natural that our first thoughts should be given to Him, the knowledge of whose name our Order helped to preserve during the long ages when the whole world of the uninitiated was wrapped in heathen or polytheistic darkness, and to whose honour and glory all our ceremonies are intended to redound. To a nobler use than Masonry no building can be dedicated, always reverently accepting the purposes of exclusive worship of the Most High, and this fact will not be gainsaid by any save those who know not what Masonry is, or the civilizing part it has played, and it is yet destined to play, in the world. No well-informed brother can share in the common belief that Masonry is a merely unmeaning association for the purposes of good-fellowship, amid childish or unmeaning ceremonies. We know that our ancient and noble institution is at least coeval with the birth of the human intellect, although, of course, our records reach not to such archaic times. We have proof, however, that amongst the most ancient nations whose records or traditions have descended to us, our brethren were those who in Egypt and in India were the conservators of true religion and of heavenly science. The secrets taught by the hierophants of the ancient mysteries were identical with those so jealously guarded by us at the present day. Long before Moses became skilled " in all the learning of the Egyptians " our ancient brethren repudiated all polytheistic creeds, and set their faces against immorality and idolatry, while their zealous cultivation of the arts and sciences is proved by the everlasting testimony of the pyramids; those stupendous works which have never yet been equalled or surpassed, and which even now afford reason for wonder and admiration to the princes of modern science. And we claim through our unbroken chain of great and good men, Moses, Zoroaster, Solomon, Hiram, Pythagoras, and the Grand Master of the Jewish Essenes, followed by the Templars and the other chivalric orders, who carried their teachings westward, to be the legitimate descendants of the most noble, and best of those, who even in the days of the patriarchs were looked up to as the leaders of the human race. In fact, in the words of our erudite brother How, Masonry has witnessed the rise of revolutions, and wane of empires, withstood the inroads of war, and the still more desolating ravages of barbarous ignorance and the gloomy superstition of ancient and modern times. Through the dark ages, from the sixth to the sixteenth century, Masonry was the chief lamp of knowledge that illumined the gloom of the then degraded human mind; it was the nurse that fostered, the guardian that watched over, and the ark that preserved, amidst the deluge of Gothic gloom that overspread the earth, all the science that had survived the wrecks of the Grecian and Roman empires.

" Hence, ' midst the ruin of three thousand years,
Unhurt, unchanged, Freemasonry appears;
Her towers and monuments may fade away;
Her truth and social love shall ne'er decay."

And to universal benevolence and charity we have long been taught to dedicate ourselves and all our actions, and to seek the solace of our own distress by relieving the wants, and ministering to the necessities of our fellow creatures. The Masonic elements of consecration are corn, wine, and oil, which are called the corn of nourishment, the wine of refreshment, and the oil of joy. They are emblematic of health, plenty, and peace. " Wherefore, my brethren," says the venerable Harris, " wherefore do you carry corn, wine, and oil, in your processions, but to remind you, that in the pilgrimage of human life you are to impart a portion of your bread to feed the hungry, to send a cup of your wine to cheer the sorrowful, and to pour the healing oil of your consolation into the wounds which sickness hath made in the bodies, or affliction rent in the hearts of your fellow travellers." Thus, the elements I have mentioned as well as the salt and perfume which we use on this solemn occasion have each and all their symbolic reference to the principles of our Order, and their moral lesson for our instruction. Let it never be said that we, who in many respects have for ages been the salt of the earth, have so acted as not to fulfil our high calling, and let our good deeds ever ascend as a sweet savour to the throne of the Most High, who we trust looks down with approbation upon our undertaking. In congratulating you, my brethren, upon this auspicious occasion allow me to express my heartfelt satisfaction in seeing that in Griqualand the jealousies which have at times existed between various Orders of Masonry have found no place, and that all, whether belonging to the Craft Masonry, or to what are called the " higher degrees," have together with one heart and one aim united in erecting the commodious building in which I have now the pleasure to address you. It is also most gratifying to me to find you all returning, in true brotherly kindness and grateful remembrance, to that recognition of the ancient Orders of chivalry enunciated in the beginning of this century by the then newly united Grand Lodges (in the last paragraph of their articles of union), who, like ourselves, could not be brought to forget that we owe our very existence and the preservation of our ancient Order to those whose zeal for all that they considered right and good had led them to leave all and follow the banner of the Cross to those lands where they became initiated in those mysteries which we now so scrupulously guard. However much these undaunted men may have been mistaken or misled, let us remember that their one endeavour was to obey the dictates of their conscience in questions of religion, and to relieve, succour, and protect the unfortunate and oppressed, and let our object be to emulate their fidelity, and like them to leave a name behind us " sans peur et sans reproche."

The following address was then given by the Consecrating Officer: Before closing, brethren, I must now congratulate you on the consecration of the Richard Giddy Lodge and the dedication of your hall. " May your lodge long flourish and be an ornament to the Craft, and may your hall long remain the house of brotherly love, relief, and truth, and extend the benefits of benevolence and charity far and wide, so as to remain a structure perfect in all its parts, and honourable to its builders. May the G. A. O. T. U. continue to bless you with the bread of life and the oil of gladness."

The lodge was then formally closed.

In the evening a number of brethren sat down to a banquet at Mrs. Jardine's Hotel. The chair was taken by the W. M. of Lodge No. 1574, supported by the Consecrating Officer and several visiting P. M.'s; we also noticed W. Bro. Stuttaford, an officer of the District Grand Lodge of South Africa, on the left of the chairman. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and responded to. The banquet formed a fitting close to the harmony of the day's proceedings, and we must congratulate all the brethren concerned in the arrangements on the success which has attended their efforts.

CONSECRATION OF THE " BAYARD " LODGE, NO. 1615.

The latest addition to London lodges is that of the " Bayard," which was consecrated on Wednesday last, by Bro. the Right Hon. the Earl of Limerick, Prov. Grand Master Bristol. Among those present were the Earl of Donoughmore, G. S. W.; the Hon. W. Warren-Vernon, J. G. W.; the Rev. C. W. Arnold, G. Chaplain; Sir E. Borough, P. G. M. of Ireland; Lieut. Gen. J. Studholme Brownrigg, C. B., Prov. G. Master Surrey; Col. Francis Burdett, P. G. M. Middlesex; Rev. R. J. Simpson, P. G. C.; John Hervey, G. Sec. Lieut. Col. H. S. Burney was installed W. M. A full report of the proceedings will appear in our next.

BRO. SIR WATKIN W. WYNN, BART., M. P., AND THE FREEMASONS OF SHROPSHIRE.—A few days ago lodge meetings were held at Shrewsbury for the purpose of welcoming the Right Worshipful Provincial Grand Master of North Wales and Shropshire, Sir Watkin W. Wynn, M. P., after his recent tour for the benefit of his health. The ceremony took the form of a presentation, followed by a banquet. Addresses were presented by the Worshipful Masters of the lodges.

REUNION OF KNIGHTS TEMPLAR CRUSADERS.—A meeting of a portion of the returned " Pilgrims " of Allegheny Commandery, No. 35, Knights Templar, who made the memorable tour of Great Britain and the Continent, during the summer of 1871, was recently held in Philadelphia, for the purpose of permanent organization. Wm. Hamilton was called to the chair, and the following officers were unanimously elected:—William Hamilton, President; John C. Hutchins, Vice-President; Michael Riley, Treas.; Andrew M. Rambo, Secretary. It was resolved to hold a reunion of the party, to take place in Philadelphia, on the evening of the 31st day of May, 1876, to commemorate the occasion of the Pilgrimage, and to keep alive the interests of the trip, and to promote a kinder feeling amongst all the surviving members.

BRIGHTON AQUARIUM.—While cleaning out the large porpoise tank the other day, the tank superintendent came upon several specimens of oyster spat of last season. The spat were of the usual size, and about the size of a sixpence. This is the first time that oysters have been known to breed in an aquarium, and the spat to affix and mature.

Bro. Sir Michael Costa has been presented with a magnificent ivory and gold Conductor's baton by the Glasgow Choral Union.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Colds, Coughs, Shortness of Breath.—These corrective remedies are infallible for these pectoral complaints, which neglected often end in Asthma, Bronchitis or Consumption. The Ointment, well rubbed upon the back and chest, penetrating the skin, is carried direct to the lungs, whence it expels all impurities. All the blood in the body constantly passes through the lungs and there all noxious particles tending to produce disease can be quickly, thoroughly and permanently neutralized, rendered harmless, or ejected from the system. In influenza and all chest complaints, early curative measures are imperiously demanded; one day's delay may cause a protracted illness one week's neglect may consign the disease to destruction.—ADV

PROVINCIAL GRAND MARK LODGE OF BRISTOL.

A movable Grand Lodge was held at the Masonic Hall, Park-street, Bristol, on Friday, 28th April, 1876, for the purpose of constituting the Province of Bristol, and installing Bro. William Augustus Frederick Powell as the first Provincial Grand Master.

Grand Lodge was opened at half-past three o'clock, and was presided over by M.W. Bro. the Rev. G. R. Portal, M.A., P.G.M., assisted by V.W. Bros. Dr. Henry Hopkins, P.G.W., as G.S.W.; Frederick Davison, G. Treas., as G.J.W.; Rev. C. R. Davy, P.G. Chaplain, as G. Chaplain; J. W. Woodall, P.G.W., as G.M.O.; John Chadwick, G.S.O.; R. de M. Lawson, P.G.S.O., as G.J.O.; Frederick Binckes, P.G.J.W., G. Sec.; W. Bros. S. Jones, G.S.D.; E. T. Payne, as G.J.D.; Thomas Trollope, M.D., G.D.C.; and Bro. W. A. Scott, as G.I.G.; and a large number of Past Grand Officers, Provincial Grand Officers, and W. Masters, Wardens and Overseers, and brethren of many private lodges.

Past Grand rank was conferred upon W. Bros. William Harris, Gilbert Cobb Harris, and William Hagley Bowden. On propositions duly made and seconded it was resolved that letters of condolence be addressed to the families of the late Bros. William Romaine Callender, M.P., and Sir John Cordy Burrows, Knight, expressing deep regret at the untimely decease of these brethren, who held such high positions in the Order.

Letters of apology were read by the Grand Secretary from several brethren, expressing regret at their inability to attend.

Grand Lodge was then closed.

The meeting was then declared an assembly of Mark Master Masons of Bristol.

It having been announced to the presiding Grand Master that the Provincial Grand Master designate, Bro. W. A. F. Powell, awaited admittance, he duly entered the lodge, attended by several Grand Officers, and was conducted to the throne, where he was duly installed in ancient form as the Provincial Grand Master for Bristol. He subsequently invested his officers for the ensuing year. Motions relating to the business of the day, or of importance to the province, were then proposed and considered.

The Provincial Grand Lodge was then closed in due and ancient form.

The brethren afterwards adjourned to the Montagu Tavern, where they partook of a most recherche banquet, admirably served, under the presidency of the new Provincial Grand Master, who was ably supported by a large number of Present and Past Grand Officers.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.
For the Week ending Friday, May 26, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, MAY 20.

- Lodge 1185, Lewis, King's Arms, Wood Green.
" 1326, Lebanon, Lion Hot., Hampton.
" 1329, Sphinx, Bridge House Hot., London-Bridge.
" 1364, Earl of Zetland, Old Town Hall, Hackney.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross Road.

MONDAY, MAY 22.

- Lodge 4, Royal Somerset House and Inverness.
" 26, Castle of Harmony, Willis's Rooms, W.
" 183, Unity, London Tav., Bishopsgate-st.
" 902, Burgoyne, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, MAY 23.

- Lodge 14, Turcan, F.M.H.
" 259, Prince of Wales's, Willis's R., St. James's.
" 1158, Southern Star, Montpellier Tav., Walworth.
Chap. 21, Cyrus, Ship and Turtle, Leadenhall-st.
" 180, St. James's Union, F.M.H.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatshaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone, at 8.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Eccelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 24.

- Lodge 2, Antiquity, F.M.H.
" 507, United Pilgrims, Horns Tav., Kennington.
" 753, Prince Fredk. Wm., St. John's Wood.
" 754, High Cross, Seven Sisters, Tottenham.

Chap. 13, Union of Waterloo, F.M.H., Woolwich.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Mount Edgcombe, 19, Jermyn-street, St. James's.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.

THURSDAY, MAY 25.

- Gen. Com. Girls' School, at 4.
Lodge 34, Mount Moriah, F.M.H.
" 1524, Duke of Connaught, Pownall-rd., Haggerston.
Chap. 5, St. George's, F.M.H.
" 538, Vane, F.M.H.
" 657, Canonbury, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.
" 766, Wm. Preston, Terminus Hot., Cannon-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebury, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albion-rd., Dalston.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.

FRIDAY, MAY 26.

- Lodge 197, Jerusalem, F.M.H.
" 569, Fitzroy, Hd.-qtrs. Hon. Artillery, City-rd.
" 780, Royal Alfred, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge.
" 861, Finsbury, Rosemary Branch, Hoxton.
Chap. 862, Whittington, Anderton's Hot., Fleet-st.
Preceptory 74, Harcourt, Greyhound Hot., Richmond.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

- Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
St. George's, Globe Tav., Royal-hill, Greenwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Metropolitan, Pentonville-road.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, Commercial Tav., King's-road, Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday May 27, 1876.

MONDAY, MAY 22.

- Chap. 241, Friendship, M.H., Liverpool.

TUESDAY, MAY 23.

- Lodge 1393, Hamer, 22, Everton-rd., Liverpool.
Chap. 1094, Temple, M.H., Liverpool.
Merchant's L. of I., Liverpool.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 24.

- Lodge 220, Harmony, Garston Hot., Garston.
" 724, Derby, M.H., Liverpool.
Chap. 1052, Callender, P.H., Rusholme.
Neptune L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, MAY 25.

- Lodge 594, Downshire, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1313, Fermor, M.H., Southport.
Chap. 292, Liverpool, M.H., Liverpool.
" 1086, Walton, St. Lawrence's School.

SATURDAY, MAY 27.

- Chap. 178, Harmony, Royal Hot., Wigan.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, May 27, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, MAY 22.

- Lodge 219, Star, 12, Tron-gate, Glasgow.
" 362, St. Clair, 25, Robertson-st., Glasgow.
" 541, Marie Stuart, M.H., Crosshill.
Chap. 122, Thetis, 35, St. James's-st., Glasgow.

TUESDAY, MAY 23.

- Lodge 67, Cathedral, 22, Struthers-st., Glasgow.
" 73, Caledonian of Unity, 170, Buchanan-st.
" 579, St. Bryde, M.H., Uddingston.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 24.

- Lodge 187, St. John, Black Bull Inn, Carlisle.
" 505, Burns St. Mary, Commercial Inn, Hurlford.
" 510, Maryhill, M.H., Maryhill.

THURSDAY, MAY 25.

- Lodge 334, St. John's, Castle Inn, New Cumnock.
" 570, Kenmuir, Balgray Hall, Springburn.
Chap. 117, Govan, Portland Buildings, Govan.

FRIDAY, MAY 26.

- Lodge 125, St. James, Masons' Arms, Newton Ayr.
" 153, Royal Arch, M.H., Pollokshields.
" 347, St. John, M.H., Rutherglen.
Chap. 79, Commercial, 30, Hope-st., Glasgow.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, May 27, 1876.

MONDAY, MAY 22.

- Lodge 349, St. Clair, F.M.H., George-st.

TUESDAY, MAY 23.

- Lodge 151, Defensive Band, Alexandra H., Cockburn-st.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 24.

- Lodge 112, St. John, Royal Hot., Musselburgh.

THURSDAY, MAY 25.

- Lodge 392, Caledonian, F.M.H., George-st.

FRIDAY, MAY 26.

- Lodge 223, Trafalgar, 54, Bernard-st., Leith.

THE LONDON
MASONIC CLUB.

THE CLUB PREMISES,
SITUATE

101, Queen Victoria Street,
are now being fitted up, and will

SHORTLY BE OPENED TO THE MEMBERS

The Annual Subscription, now payable, will date from the day on which the club opens, and is fixed at—£3 3s. for Town Members, i.e., Members residing within twenty miles of the Club, and £1 11s. 6d. for Country Members, Members incur no liability beyond their subscription. None but Freemasons are eligible for Membership.

The next election of members will be held on the 1st June. An entrance fee will be imposed as soon as the Club is opened.

Forms of Application for Membership may be obtained from the Secretary, at the Offices of the London Masonic Club Company (Limited), 37, Queen Victoria-street, E.C.

JOHN A. LATHBURY,
Secretary.

To the Nobility, County Families,
and Gentry.

THE PRINCE'S GATE HOTEL,
19, CROMWELL PLACE, S.W.,

(Opposite South Kensington Station).

PRIVATE HOTEL,

Easy access to all parts of Town, ten minutes of Hyde Park and Albert Hall. Unsurpassed in London for elegance of appointments, replete with every convenience, rendering the House an

EXCEPTIONALLY ATTRACTIVE AND REFINED HOME.

TERMS PER WEEK?

Single Rooms from 3½ to 5 Guineas.

Double Rooms from 6 to 9 Guineas.

Private Sitting Rooms from 3 Guineas. Per day from Half-guinea.

Charges for Visitors, Luncheon 2s. 6d. Dinner 5s. Supper à la Carte.

Gas in Bedrooms, Special Bath, and meals served in Bed-rooms at irregular hours extra as per tariff. There is an ascending room to the top of the house.

Complete tariff on application to the PROPRIETOR.

FOR FISH.

Try GOW

FOR POULTRY.

Try GOW.

FOR GAME.

Try GOW.

FOR BARRELLED OYSTERS.

Try GOW.

J. GOW.

1, HONEY-LANE MARKET, CHEAPSIDE.

Special quotations to large consumers, Hotels, Caterers, &c. Country Orders promptly executed.

ONE ORDER WILL SECURE FUTURE PATRONAGE

BRO. T. LAWLER, who was specially appointed to the Management of the Music at the LONDON HOSPITAL on the memorable occasion of the visit there of HER MOST GRACIOUS MAJESTY THE QUEEN, begs to notify his change of residence, and requests that all letters relative to CONCERTS, BANQUETS, PRIVATE LESSONS, &c., be addressed—62, Saltoun-road, Brixton-Rise, S.W.

WANTED, by an elderly Man, a situation as Timekeeper or Overseer. Satisfactory references. —Address A.B., Office of this paper, 198, Fleet-st.

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry	237
Instruction	239
Scotland	240
Royal Blind School and Asylum	241
Masonic and General Tidings	241
Conservation of the Payard Lodge	241
Royal Masonic Institution for Boys	241
Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution	241
The City's Welcome to the Prince of Wales	242
The Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution	242
Thorough	242
CORRESPONDENCE:—
Officers' Jewels	243
Royal Masonic Institution for Girls	243
Masonic Jurisprudence	243
Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution	243
Royal Arch	244
Provincial Grand Lodge of Berks and Bucks	244
New Masonic Hall at Galashiels	244
Lodge of Benevolence	245
Thanksgiving for the Prince of Wales's Safe Return	245
Masonic Meetings for the Week	246
Advertisements	i. ii. iii. iv. v. vi.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

PHENIX LODGE (No. 173).—A great gathering of the members of this old-established and deservedly popular lodge took place at the Freemasons' Hall on Saturday, the 13th inst. There were present the following officers:—Bros. Wilks, W.M.; Carter, S.W.; Massey ("Freemason"), J.W., W.M. elect; Burford, Treas.; Matthews, Sec.; Phillips, S.D.; Finch, J.D.; Allen, I.G.; Andrews, D.C.; Jekyll, acting Org.; Speight, P.M.; Tyler. The P.M.'s present were Bros. Vine, Wilson, Green, W. Watson, Sharman, Salmon, Witt. Amongst the numerous visitors we noticed Bros. Ough, P.M., P.G.P. of Eng.; Terry, P.M. 228, &c.; Mather, P.M., &c., 65; Levy, P.M., &c., 188; Bracebridge, P.M. 781; Morton, P.M. 1056; Bowyer, P.M. 1471; Jekyll, W.M. 1319; Perkins, J.W. 34; Goucher, J.W. 1017; R. J. Smith, S.D. 34; Goucher, J.W. 1017; R. J. Smith, S.D. 34; T. C. Walls, S.D. 1381, &c.; Percy, J.D. 228. The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, and Bros. Güterbock and Davis raised to the Third Degree, a board of Installed Masters was formed, Bro. Vine being in the chair of K.S., with Bros. Green and W. Watson as S. and J. Wardens. Bro. J. D. Massey, W.M. elect, was then formally inducted as W.M., the entire and beautiful ceremony being most ably and impressively worked by Bro. Vine, P.M., who received, at its conclusion, the hearty congratulations of the assembled brethren for the manner in which he had conducted the arduous ceremonial. The officers appointed for the ensuing year are: Bros. Phillips, S.W.; Finch, J.W.; Burford, Treasurer; Matthews, Secretary; Allen, S.D.; Blyth, J.D. and W.S.; Andrews, I.G.; Davidson, D.C.; Vine, jun., A.W.S.; Speight, P.M.; Tyler. Bro. Jekyll, 1319, was then unanimously elected an honorary member, and appointed Organist. The lodge having been closed, the brethren, to the number of 58, sat down to an excellent banquet, which was served in the "Tavern's" best style. Bro. the Rev. J. W. Goucher, 1017, said grace. Upon the removal of the cloth, the W.M. gave "The Queen and Craft," which toast having been duly honoured, Bros. Jekyll, Pritchard, Henson, Witt, and Sharman contributed the "National Anthem." In proposing "The Health of the M.W.G.M.," the W.M. said it was most gratifying to think that at the moment H.R.H. landed at Portsmouth, until his arrival home in London, he had been received with the greatest enthusiasm, which reception must not only have been a source of pleasure to the Prince, but of genuine gratification to all parties. (Loud Cheers.) In conclusion, he hoped that H.R.H. would be soon seen at his place in G.L., discharging those Masonic duties which he was so well qualified to do. The toast having been loyally received, the W.M. immediately gave "The Earl of Carnarvon, P.G.M., Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M., and the rest of the G.O.'s, Past and Present," coupled with the name of Bro. Ough, P.G.P., who made a brief but excellent reply. Bro. Wiles, I.P.M., then rose and said that it was exceedingly gratifying to him to have the privilege of proposing "The Health of the W.M.," who was in every respect qualified for the position to which the lodge had elected him, whose members were thus fortunate in possessing so good a Master, whilst he (Bro. Massey) was also to be congratulated upon having so warm-hearted a lodge to support him successfully throughout his year of office. The W.M., in reply, stated that as long as he was in the chair, it was his intention to give the duties of the position every attention, and to discharge them as well as it was possible to do, notwithstanding that he had been somewhat unexpectedly called upon to take the chair under certain circumstances which he personally much deplored. In proposing "The Health of the Visitors," the W.M. remarked that he was exceedingly pleased at the number of visiting brethren present, and then proceeded to read their names and rank, &c., from the signature book. In concluding his remarks he said that, as it would be invidious to mention any brother's name in particular, he should leave the response to the toast entirely in their (the visitors) own hands. Bros. Mather, Bracebridge, Goucher, and Levy fully replied, the latter in particular making a very humorous speech, which "set the table in a roar." In giving "The Masonic Charities," the W.M. took occasion to allude to the great benefits conferred by those excellent institutions, and in concluding his speech he begged the brethren to remember that whilst they were enjoying festivities month after month, they should not forget the necessities of the numerous brethren in reduced circumstances, and the calls of the widow and the orphan of many a good Freemason which the three Craft charities were established to relieve, but which institutions, as they knew, were dependent upon the charity of Masons only. The toast was coupled with the name of Bro. Terry, Sec. to the R.M.B.I. Bro. Terry, in reply, said that, as Secretary of one of those noble institutions, he was exceedingly pleased at having to reply on behalf of the Masonic Charities. He then, in the course of an interesting speech, stated, amongst other statistics, that at the election for the benefits of the R.M.B.I. on the 19th inst. there would be 57 candidates all over 60 years of age. The male recipients, of which there were then 130, receiving £40 annually, and the 110 widows £32, in addition to coals given by G.L., and that next year the sum of £8695 would be required to support the charity which he had the honour of representing. The speaker also gave the amounts of the working expenses of the Girls' and Boys' Schools, and stated that Bro. Binckes, the worthy Secretary of the latter institution, had for the forthcoming festival the largest body of Stewards ever known in connection with any Masonic charity. In conclusion, Bro. Terry mentioned that, in round figures, the sum of £30,000 annually would be required to support the three charities, and he therefore conjured the brethren to remember that, notwithstanding the great financial success of the present year, the necessities of the charities were increasing, and that Freemasonry had nothing beyond its own narrow sphere to look to, to maintain those excellent institutions. The W.M. then proposed "The Health of Bro. Wiles, I.P.M.," in a good speech, and at its conclusion he presented him with a valuable P.M.'s jewel. This toast having been musically received, Bro. Wiles made an able response. As the hour was advanced, the W.M. then gave in quick succession the remaining toasts—viz., "The P.M.'s," "The Treasurer and Secretary," and "The Officers," which were briefly but suitably acknowledged. Bro. Wilson, P.M., replied for the first-named. During the evening vocal, instrumental, and dramatic selections were given by Bros. Henson, Wilson, Levy, Cusworth, Jekyll, Pritchard, and others. The Tyler's toast brought the proceedings to a conclusion, and the brethren of the "Phoenix" adjourned for the summer recess.

BEADON LODGE (No. 619).—On Wednesday, 17th inst., this famous lodge held its opening meeting of the season 1876 at its old quarters the Greyhound, Dulwich, when there was a full attendance of the brethren, and a good display of visitors. Bro. W. Kindon, W.M., presided, and all his officers were in their places:—Bros. Hume, S.W.; W. Angus, J.W.; Capt. G. A. Smith, P.M., Treas.; A. P. Leonard, P.M., Sec.; Wrangham, S.D.; Sharratt, J.D.; James Gordon, I.G.; and James W. Avery, W.S. Five candidates were on the paper for initiation, and they all presented themselves. They were Messrs. Sidney Roberts Smith, Charles Norrington, John William Owen, J. F. R. Morris, W. H. Allen. All these gentlemen were initiated by the W.M. Bro. Coulfield, the new proprietor of the Greyhound, was elected a joining member, who, when the work of the lodge was over, supplied the dinner, to which fifty brethren sat down. The P.M.'s of the lodge who were present throughout the meeting were Bros. Jas. W. Avery, E. S. Parker, A. P. Leonard, H. Massey ("Freemason"), W. H. Green, Leuw, G. A. Smith, and W. Seaman. After the brethren had partaken of the banquet, grace was said and the toasts were proposed. The W.M. in proposing "The Queen and the Craft," rejoiced with her Majesty on the return of the Prince of Wales. In giving the toast of "The M.W.G.M." the W.M. said Masons were all pleased that H.R.H. had returned safe to England after seven months' travel in lands which were always hitherto looked upon as dangerous. His Royal Highness had no doubt enjoyed himself very much, but he had nevertheless run great risks in his journey. He was now safe in England, and he would no doubt receive a hearty welcome wherever he went. "The Pro Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and the rest of the Grand Officers" was the next toast, and the W.M. said that while the Grand Master was away they had admirably discharged the duties of the M.W.G.M., so that the office had not been vacant during his absence. The W.M. then proposed "The Initiates." All of them, he believed, would rise in the Craft. They seemed to be deeply impressed with the ceremony, although he had not been very fluent in it. He hoped also to have the pleasure of performing the other two ceremonies for all these brethren before he retired from the chair, and he also trusted that these brethren would rise in the Craft after they had received those degrees. Bro. Sidney R. Smith was the first to respond. He said he wished to thank the brethren most heartily for the honour they had conferred upon him by electing him to be a member of this honourable Craft. It was an honour he had long coveted, and it had been a matter of deep regret to him that he had caused the brethren so many disappointments by not coming for his initiation before when his name had been on the paper. He could assure them that it was nothing but business over which he had no control that prevented him attending before. He was deeply sensible of the honour conferred upon him, and it would be his study at all times to prove himself a worthy member of this ancient and honourable Craft. He was sorry now to have to leave the brethren, but he could not help himself. (Hear.) Bros. Norrington, Allen, Morris, and Owen, also responded. Bro. Leuw, I.P.M., proposed "The W.M." and in doing so said that the W.M. had that day performed the ceremony of initiation five times over, which was a very arduous duty and occupied a considerable time. It was an excellent opening meeting, but it entailed some heavy work; the W.M. had, however, got through it, although as the lodge had not met since January he had been a little rusty. The W.M. in reply said: it was a great pleasure to him to see such a large assemblage of the brethren at the opening meeting, and also to see five initiates brought into the lodge. He had had the pleasure of initiating them all. He would say nothing about his own performance, but he hoped the next time he would be much better prepared to perform the ceremony; he wished to do the best he could, but as Bro. Leuw had said the lodge had been five months without meeting, and he consequently had got rusty. He was sorry he had required so much prompting; but next time he would use every effort to be perfect. (Hear.) He next gave "The Health of the I.P.M." and Bro. Leuw replied, and said he was very glad they had had so much to do. He hoped there would be five initiates next time, and next another five. All the Past Masters (who were always ready to assist) would then be required, and he for one would be happy to give assistance, which was always a pleasure to him. (Hear.) Several brethren, among whom were Bros. Harris and Johns (No. 1489), replied for "The Visitors," and Bros. G. A. Smith and E. S. Parker replied for "The P.M.'s." The latter brother in doing so said he could not allow the opportunity to pass without making one remark. They had sitting down at the table with them that evening a brother whom they were all very glad to see. Bro. W. Middlecott, who formerly was proprietor of the hotel in which they met, had, notwithstanding his having left the house, still continued a member of the lodge. While he was at the Greyhound his business prevented his sitting down with the brethren, as he was looking after their comforts. He begged to express to Bro. Middlecott now the unqualified approbation of the brethren of the admirable way in which he always catered for their enjoyment. All the years the lodge had been under his roof they had received the greatest kindness and attention from him, and the best of everything that could be supplied. (Hear, hear.) With the permission of the W.M. he would propose a toast in honour of Bro. Middlecott. (Cheers.) The toast was most cordially drunk, and Bro. Middlecott, replying to it, said he had not anticipated such a compliment, but it was very gratifying to him. Hitherto he had been generally engaged about the brethren's wants instead of sitting down with the lodge; but now that the cares of the house were off his hands he was pleased to come among the brethren, and he hoped he should do so in the future. (Hear, hear.) Bros. Hume, S.W.; Angus, J.W.; and the rest of the officers replied to the toast of "The Officers," and the evening, which had been enlivened by some capital singing by various brethren, was brought to a termination with the Tyler's toast.

PANMURE LODGE (No. 720).—The installation meeting of this lodge was held on Monday evening, 15th inst., at the Balham Hotel, Balham. Bro. C. Pulman, W.M., presided, supported by the following officers:—Bros. D. Trusler, S.W.; C. Burgess, J.W.; T. Poore, P.M. and Treas.; B. Richardson, S.D. and Sec.; C. P. McKay, J.D.; B. J. Woolfe, I.G.; W. Steedman, P.M., Tyler. Also Bros. H. Payne, I.P.M.; G. Lilley, W. Smith, M. Spigal, W. McMurray, W. Sanders, A. W. Clarke, Max Brenner, F. J. Burton, and the following visitors:—Bros. H. Thompson ("Freemason"), 1426, and P.M. 177 and 1158; J. Wright, W.M. 1585, and P.M. 1158; F. Wisdom, 463; W. Gardner, 463; J. Coe, 1339; T. Baker, 429; J. Best, 723; T. Lane, 720; E. Bye, 141; S. Harcastle, 374. The lodge was opened soon after three o'clock, and the minutes of the last lodge were read and confirmed. The report of the Audit Committee was read, received, and ordered to be entered on the minutes. A ballot was taken for the admission of Bro. W. Kerr, of the Scotch Lodge No. 156, which was unanimous in his favour. Bro. Poore, P.M., took the chair, and Bro. Pulman presented Bro. D. Trusler, the W.M. elect, to receive at his hands the benefit of installation. This part of the business was gone through by Bro. Poore in a most careful and correct manner, after which all the brethren below the degree of an Installed Master were required to withdraw. A Board of Installed Masters was then formed, and Bro. Trusler was duly installed into the chair of K.S. as W.M. of the Panmure Lodge for the ensuing year. The brethren below the chair were then admitted, and the new W.M. was saluted and proclaimed in the usual manner. The W.M. then appointed his officers as follows:—Bros. C. Pulman, I.P.M.; C. Burgess, S.W.; H. Payne, P.M., J.W.; C. P. McKay, S.D.; B. J. Woolfe, J.D.; W. Smith, I.G.; W. McMurray, D.C.; M. Spigal, W.S.; T. Poore, P.M., Sec.; W. Steedman, Tyler. Bro. Poore then gave the addresses to the W.M., Wardens, and brethren with a strict adherence to the ritual, but with an impressiveness that elicited the highest encomiums from all present, for it is but seldom that correctness and elocutionary rendering are conjointly displayed on such occasions. At the conclusion Bro. Poore was rewarded with loud and hearty applause. The new W.M. then immediately commenced upon his duties, and with all the ease, confidence, and ability of a veteran Mason proceeded to initiate Mr. Walter Thomas Mills and Mr. Henry Courtney Wiltshire into the mysteries and privileges of ancient Freemasonry, and for which he received the hearty congratulations of the brethren. After some other business had been disposed of the lodge was closed in due form and the brethren adjourned for refreshment. The repast was a bountiful one and was excellently served by mine host, Bro. Lilley. On the withdrawal of the cloth the usual formal toasts were given, and that of "The Health of the Prince of Wales, M.W. Grand Master" was enthusiastically responded to. Bro. Charles Pulman, I.P.M., in proposing "The Health of their W. Master" said he had known him ever since he had been a Mason, and he would safely say that no better man ever sat in the Master's chair. He hoped and trusted that the officers would all pull with him, so that his year of office might be a prosperous one. The toast was cordially responded to. The W.M. said he returned his heartfelt thanks for that kind expression of their feelings, and for placing him in the honourable position of Master. He was so overpowered by their kindness that he knew not what to say to them, but heartily thanked them all for it. The W. Master said the next toast he had to propose was one that always gave great pleasure to the Master of a lodge, as it was "The Health of their Newly-Initiated Brethren." They were always glad to receive an infusion of new blood, not only in Freemasonry but in every other society, and he was sure their newly-initiated brethren would never regret the steps they had taken in becoming Freemasons. Bro. Mills and Bro. Wiltshire severally returned thanks. The W. Master gave "The Past Masters of the Lodge," and remarked that although some of them were abroad he hoped that they would all be present at the next anniversary. He coupled with the toast "The Health of Bro. Poore, their Installing Master." Bro. Poore, P.M., said he begged to thank the W. Master most sincerely for the kind manner in which his name had been put in connection with the Past Masters of the Panmure Lodge. He believed all the Past Masters were indebted very much for their knowledge to one person who was not present, but one who was respected by all—he alluded to their dear departed Bro. Thomas. He should never be tired of speaking of him, for it was by him that all was instilled into his mind that was for the benefit of Freemasonry. For the information of their younger brethren he might say that he had walked with Bro. Thomas from that house to the Clapham Station to gain that information that he was always so willing to impart, and, feeling sure that all had been indebted to him for their instruction, he believed that his name would live in their hearts, and would be handed down by them to their children. Bro. Payne, P.M., also returned thanks. The W. Master then said that he had a most agreeable duty to perform, which was to invest their Immediate Past Master, Bro. Pulman, with a jewel which had been voted to him by the brethren of the lodge as a small recognition of his services during the time he occupied the position of W. Master, and in placing it on his breast he hoped he might be blessed with long life to wear it. Bro. Pulman, I.P.M., said he sincerely thanked the brethren for the very handsome jewel they had presented to him, which he should cherish all the days of his life, and then it would be handed down to his children as an incentive to them to do their duty. The W. Master next proposed "The Visitors," for which Bro. H. Thompson ("Freemason"), P.M. 177 and 1158; J. Wright, P.M. 1158, and other brethren returned thanks. "The Officers" was the next toast, for which they severally responded. The Tyler's toast brought a very happy and harmonious meeting to a close, and the brethren adjourned soon after ten o'clock.

WILLIAM PRESTON LODGE. (No. 766).—An emergency meeting of this lodge was held at the City Terminus Hotel, Cannon Street, on Tuesday, the 16th May, when the following brethren were present: Bros. John Pringle, W.M.; W. Mansfield Newton, S.W.; W. E. Newton, J.W.; S. D. Ewins, S.D.; E. Kidman, I.G.; W. Drake, D.C.; William Worrell, P.M., Secretary; Captain G. I. Kain, P.M., Treasurer; George Newman, P.M. and W.S.; Aug. Braun, I.P.M.; Dr. R. Harland Whiteman, P.M.; B. Abbott, P.M., also Bros. Dr. Atwood, J. R. Williams, B. G. Austin, H. Smithers, E. Archer, W. Johnston, R. Leaman, A. Le Grand, A. Reissmann, R. Gunner, W. S. Collins, H. F. Partridge, P. Steinmann, W. J. Roberts, Robert Lyon, A. Ransby, G. Smithers, jun., L. G. Reinhardt, and two visitors. viz., Bros. Marcellus Higgs, W.M. of St. Mary's Lodge, No. 63 and Bro. Lindsay B. Harvey, late of the Albion Lodge. The business of the evening consisted of the passing of Bro. Dr. Atwood, the raising of Bros. R. J. Leaman, H. Smithies, and B. G. Austin, and the initiation of Mr. George Castle. It was decided to hold a summer festival in connection with this lodge, and a committee of seven brethren was appointed to carry out the necessary arrangements. All Masonic business having concluded, the brethren adjourned to an excellent dinner presided over by the W.M., when the usual Masonic toasts were given and responded to, and the brethren parted with fraternal greetings until the summer festival in July.

SIR HUGH MYDDELTON LODGE (No. 1602).—An emergency meeting of this new lodge was held at the Agricultural Hall, Islington, on Friday, 12th inst., when the whole of the officers were present, the W.M., Bro. E. Somers, initiating Messrs. J. H. Oppenheim, W. Payne, R. G. Thomas, H. Bevis, and S. Rowley into the mysteries of the Craft. Bros. J. Crocker, 1489; H. Field, 1489; T. Upward, 427; and W. A. Dawson, 820, were elected joining members. A cold collation was afterwards provided, and the musical abilities of the Organist, Bro. H. De Solla, assisted by Bros. Upward and Sim, contributed to render that portion of the evening's enjoyment a pleasurable one to the brethren as well as the visitors:—Bros. Dyer, P.M. 45; W. H. Lee, P.M. 1524; Gardiner and Middleton. The customary toasts were proposed and responded to, terminating with that of the Tyler. The first regular lodge meeting will be held on the 26th inst., when five other gentlemen are expected to present themselves for initiation.

DARTFORD.—Emulation Lodge (No. 299).—The installation meeting of this old Kentish lodge was held at the Bull Hotel, Dartford, on the 16th inst. The lodge was opened at 2.30 p.m. by the W.M. (Bro. H. G. Thompson) and his officers. Among the numerous visitors were Bros. King, W.M. 77; Knight, P.G.D.C.; Busbridge, P.P.G.A.S.; Abbott, P.M. 192; Giles, W.M. 829; Jardine, P.M. 140; Tattershall, 140; Reuter, W.M. 1107; Relph, P.P.S.G.D.; Wells, W.M. 503; Warner, P.P.G.A.S.; Spink, 177; Brown, 140; Dennant. After the W.M. elect (Bro. Davidson) had been presented and duly installed in the chair by the retiring Master, Bro. Thompson, the W.M., appointed and invested his officers for the ensuing year as follows:—Bros. T. Wills, S.W.; C. Wingrave, J.W.; Martin, Treas.; P. Harvey, Sec.; Churchley, S.D.; Sears, J.D.; Heeley, I.G.; Pike,

D.C.; Egerton, Steward. At 5.30 the banquet was served in the Assembly Rooms, about fifty brethren sitting down to discuss the delicacies prepared by Bro. Bray. The W.M. proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, in a brief although, none the less effective manner; all of which were received and responded to most enthusiastically. Bro. Busbridge, in replying to the toast of the P.G.M. and other P.G. Officers, spoke in such warm terms of the interest taken in the Craft by the P.G.M. (Lord Holmesdale) and the Deputy P.G.M. (Bro. Eastes), and gave such a resumé of the work done and to be done in the interest of the institution, as to be heartily cheered upon resuming his seat. The I.P.M., Bro. Thompson, then proposed in felicitous terms "The Health of the W.M.," and referred to the zeal and assiduity with which Bro. Davidson had always attended to his duties in the lodge, and he (Bro. Thompson) was sure every member would only be too happy and proud in supporting the W.M. during the Masonic year then commencing. The toast was received most heartily. Bro. Davidson desired to thank the brethren for the cordial manner in which they had received the toast, and promised that nothing should be wanting on his part to fulfil in the most efficient manner the trust reposed in him by placing him in the proud position of W.M. of the Lodge of Emulation. The W.M. then proposed "The Health of the I.P.M. and Installing Master, Bro. Thompson," and presented him with a very handsome P.M.'s jewel on behalf of the lodge, as a slight token of the regard and esteem in which Bro. Thompson was held by all the brethren. Bro. Thompson accepted the gift with feelings of great pleasure, and hoped the kind feelings which had been manifested towards him ever since he had been a member of the lodge would long continue. "The Visitors;" "The Treasurer, Bro. Martin," who was then presented with a silver tea service as a mark of the esteem in which he was held by the brethren, and in appreciation of his valuable services as Treasurer during a period of twenty years; "The Masonic Charities." "The Officers" were then honoured in true Kentish form. During the evening some very excellent music, recitations, songs, &c., were contributed by Bros. Cotterill, Wright, Dennant, Brown, Pike, Wells, Andrews, and Churchley, and the Tyler's toast brought to a close one of the most successful meetings of the Lodge of Emulation.

DERBY.—Arboretum Lodge (No. 731).—This lodge held its monthly meeting at the Masonic Hall, Gower-street, on Wednesday evening, 10th inst., Bro. R. Bennett, W.M.; Bros. Burton, as S.W.; T. Merry, J.W.; Cooper, Sec.; G. H. Sheffield, S.D.; Whittaker, J.D.; Holbrook, Org.; and Frazer, I.G.; P.M.'s J. Smith, H. Burn, G. T. Wright, and a good number of brethren. The lodge was opened at seven p.m., and Bro. King, after answering the questions most satisfactorily, was passed to the F.C. Degree in a most impressive manner by the W.M. Bro. P.M. Wright gave the Second Tracing Board. Five pounds was voted to Bro. Baldock's testimonial. The W.M. read a telegram from Bro. Cave, sent from St. Petersburg, regretting his absence and wishing the W.M. and brethren a happy meeting. The lodge was closed in peace and harmony at nine p.m. The brethren adjourned for supper, and a pleasant evening was brought to a close by the time-honoured Tyler's toast.

WALMER.—Lord Warden Lodge (No. 1096).—This lodge held its usual fortnightly meeting on Friday, 10th inst., at eight p.m., business commencing most punctually. It was proposed by the W.M., Bro. T. Ayling, and seconded by the S.W., Bro. A. H. Des Barres, that an address of congratulation be prepared and forwarded to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, which proposition was carried unanimously. The address was as follows:—"To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, K.G., &c., &c., Most Worshipful Grand Master of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons of England and Wales. May it please your Royal Highness: We, the Worshipful Master, officers, and brethren of the Lord Warden Lodge, No. 1096, Walmer, beg to offer our sincere and hearty congratulation on your safe return to England. In no part of this realm have the tidings of the splendid magnificence and heartiness of your reception in India been received with deeper interest and greater gratification than by the members of this lodge. And we trust the Great Architect of the Universe, who has safely brought you through the difficulties and dangers of your voyage, will continue the blessing of health to her Royal Highness the Princess, and to your illustrious family, and to your Royal Highness, and long spare you to preside over our most ancient and honourable fraternity.—Thomas Ayling, W.M.; Alexander H. Des Barres, S.W.; Edward Kirby, J.W.; Thos. J. Usher, P.M., P.G.S., Sec."

GAMBIERTON (South Australia).—Mount Gambier Lodge (No. 1207).—The usual monthly meeting of this lodge was held on Tuesday, the 14th December, 1875, and was well attended. The lodge was opened by Bro. A. F. Barrett, W.M., and the minutes of last lodge were read and confirmed. A lodge of Past Masters was then opened by the W.M. Present, P.M.'s Bros. Charles Clark and William Evans. Bro. the Rev. J. F. Hoctor was duly installed into the chair of K.S. according to ancient usage, who then invested the following brethren as his officers for the ensuing year:—S.W., W. T. C. Marrie; J.W., J. C. Shepherdson; S.D., G. B. Moules; J.D., C. Boyd; I.G., G. A. Pritchard; Tyler, J. Conigrave; Treasurer, A. Lieman; Secretary, P.M. A. F. Barrett. P.M. Bro. Wm. Evans informed the brethren that he was about to proceed to England, and it was then proposed by Bro. G. D. Wyatt and carried unanimously that the thanks of the lodge be given to P.M. Bro. Wm. Evans for his good services to Masonry in general and to this lodge in particular for the past seven years. Several brethren spoke to the esteem in which P.M. Bro. Evans was held, and regret was expressed at his departure. After sundry business of a routine character had been disposed of the lodge was closed in harmony, after which the brethren adjourned to the banquet, which was well served by host Bro. Wm. McKay. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts having been duly honoured, "The Health of Bro. W. Evans" was proposed by the retiring W.M. in eulogistic terms, and was heartily drunk. Bro. Evans returned thanks in a very feeling speech, and expressed a hope that he should be spared to return to Mount Gambier, and concluded by proposing "Prosperity to the Lodge 1207." The Tyler's toast brought the proceedings to a close.

TEDDINGTON.—The Felix Lodge (No. 1494).—A meeting of this lodge was held at the Clarence Hotel, Teddington, on Saturday, the 20th inst. Present: Bro. F. Sumner Knyvett, Grand Steward, W.M.; F. B. Archer, S.W.; Robert Berridge, Grand Steward, J.W.; Edward B. Grabham, I.P.M., Prov. Grand Steward Middlesex, Secretary; W. G. Moore, S.D.; E. A. Woolley, I.G. Visitors: Bro. Lieut.-Col. Fras. Burdett, Prov. Grand Master, Middlesex; Bro. S. E. Turner, Lodge of Antiquity, No. 2; Bro. T. E. Woollard, Burdett Lodge, 1293. The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. John Weston was then initiated into the Order by the W.M., after which Bros. Getty, Hunter, Twinberrow, and Youngusband were passed to the Second Degree, and Bros. Belward and Sadler raised to the Third Degree, the whole of the ceremonies being performed by the W.M. in a manner which reflected the highest credit on the lodge. The election of W.M. for the ensuing year was then proceeded with, the unanimous choice of the brethren falling upon Bro. F. B. Archer, S.W., a brother who is exceedingly popular in the lodge for his amiable qualities and high Masonic attainments, and whose year of office will be looked forward to with the most pleasurable anticipations. Bro. Archer having acknowledged the honour conferred upon him, Bro. D. Nicholson, P.M. No. 19, was unanimously re-elected Treasurer, and Bro. W. Y. Laing, P.M. 45, Tyler for the ensuing year. Bro. Grabham, I.P.M., then rose, and proposed that the best thanks of the lodge be accorded to Bro. Knyvett, W.M., for the able, courteous, and efficient manner in which he had presided over the lodge during his year of office, and as a slight mark of respect the brethren present him, at the next meeting, with a P.M. jewel of the usual value. This proposition was seconded by Bro. Archer, S.W., and carried unanimously. Bro. Col. F. Burdett expressed his satisfaction with the manner in which the work of the lodge was carried out, and congratulated the W.M. upon the success which had attended the lodge since its formation. Having given the members a few valuable suggestions with regard to the admission of initiates and joining members (the Colonel's remarks being received with great acclamation by the brethren), he took his leave of the lodge, expressing regret that other more pressing engagements prevented his remaining to the banquet, which was presided over by the W.M. After the removal of the cloth, the usual loyal toasts were given and responded to. "The Health of the Deputy Grand Master, Grand Officers, Past and Present," was proposed by Bro. Grabham, I.P.M., and acknowledged by the W.M., Bro. Knyvett, and Bro. Berridge, J.W. (Grand Stewards for the year). "The Health of the W.M." was proposed, and received in the most cordial manner, who briefly acknowledged the compliment. Bro. Weston and Bro. Sealy responded for "The Initiates," and Bro. Woollard for "The Visitors." The W.M. next proposed "The I.P.M., Bro. Grabham," who cordially thanked the brethren for all the kindness received at their hands, and congratulated the lodge upon having elected their much esteemed brother, the S.W., as their W.M. for the ensuing year, and predicted a year of great prosperity for the lodge. "Bro. F. B. Archer, W.M. elect," was the next toast proposed, and it is needless to say how very heartily this was received by the brethren. Bro. Archer assured the lodge that he would do all in his power to maintain the high position to which it had attained in the two years of its existence by endeavouring to emulate the example of the two Past Masters who had preceded him. Bro. Berridge, J.W., having acknowledged the toast of "The Officers," the Tyler's toast was then proposed and duly responded to, the brethren separating after the enjoyment of a most successful evening.

HIGH WYCOMBE.—Wycombe Lodge (No. 1501).—The regular monthly meeting of this young but highly flourishing lodge was held at the Town Hall, at three o'clock, on Wednesday, May 17th. The W.M., Bro. John Palmer, was supported by his Wardens, officers, and a goodly number of members. Among the visitors we noticed Bros. John Bowes, P.M., P.Z., P. Prov. G. Reg. Cumberland and Westmorland, and Wm. Sim, of Aberdeen. The lodge was opened in due form according to ancient custom. When the minutes of the last meeting were read and declared to be correctly recorded, two gentlemen were initiated, and one brother passed. The lodge was closed in the Second Degree. Bro. William S. Cantrell, S.W., was unanimously elected W.M. for the ensuing year. A Past Master's jewel was voted to the outgoing Master for the highly efficient manner in which he had discharged the duties of his office. The lodge having been closed the brethren adjourned to the banquet at the Red Lion Hotel. After the usual toasts the W.M. proposed "The Health of the Visitors." Bro. Bowes, in reply, complimented the lodge on their excellent working, with which he said he was greatly impressed. Some excellent songs were well rendered, and a solo on the violin by Bro. Sim much and deservedly applauded.

LIVERPOOL.—Lodge of Israel (No. 1502).—The success which has attended this lodge since the period of its consecration continues without abatement, and much of the prosperity is due to the hearty, energetic, and efficient manner in which the business is invariably conducted. The lodge is particularly fortunate in having a W.M. like Bro. A. J. Henochsberg, and he is also favoured in having a most efficient and zealous staff of officers. The usual monthly meeting of the lodge was held on Monday, the 15th inst., at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, and amongst those present were Bros. A. J. Henochsberg, W.M.; Ralph Robinson, I.P.M.; the Rev. Professor Prag, Chaplain; M. Hart, S.W.; A. Jones, J.W.; I. De Frece, Treas.; B. Levy, Sec.; S. Schonstadt, S.D.; B. Woolf, J.D.; I. Woolf, S.; W. G. Veale, Org.; W. H. Ball, Tyler; M. T. Tieski, H. D. Marks, D. L. Marcus, J. E. Davidson, the Rev. Dr. Stern, H. Ridehalgh, J. J. Jordain, A. Rabow, S. J. Henochsberg, J. Caher, I. Levy, J. Goldberg, J. R. Grant, G. Somers, A. Liebschutz, A. Cohen, J. Cohen, W. Silver, A. Isaacs, M. Preslan, P. Barnet, J. Frank, and J. Ray. The list of visitors included the names of Bros. W. Longbottom, 667; A. Stephens, P.M. 32, P.J.G.D. Cheshire; J. Prescott, P.P.J.G.W.; E. A. Lees, 537; Dr. S. Kisch, 216; J. Jacobs, 724; J. Hocken, P.M. 673; H. Trevitt, J.D. 724; T. H. Rahn, P.P.G.D.; Dr. F. G. Bailey, 786; M. Emmanuel, P.M. 205; M. Cohen, 673; W. Wurrell, P.M. 795; and R. G. Elstone, 86. After the transaction of some routine business Mr. Marks Feldman, of Hull, was initiated with much impressiveness by Bro. A. J. Henochsberg, the working tools being admirably given by the J.W., and the ancient charge by the S.W., who deserves great praise for the style in which this was delivered. The lodge was shortly afterwards closed, and the brethren adjourned to the dining-hall, where a splendid banquet was served by Bro. Fairhurst (Fisk and Fairhurst), under the presidency of the W.M., who gave the usual loyal and Masonic toasts during the evening with great point and vigour. With song, sentiment, and speech a very pleasant evening was spent by the members and the visitors.

TWICKENHAM.—Francis Burdett Lodge (No. 1503).—A meeting of this lodge was held at the Albany Hotel, on Wednesday, the 12th ult. The officers present were Bros. Colonel Wigginton, P.M., P.P.G.D.C. of Worestershire, P.G.S. of Middlesex, W.M.; Captain Birchill, P.M., &c., acting S.W.; Tomlinson, P.M., P.P.G.S.D. of Norfolk, J.W.; Horsley, P.M., P.P.G.R. of Middlesex, acting I.P.M.; Court, sen., Sec.; S. H. Knaggs, S.D.; Taylor, J.D.; Court, jun., acting I.G.; Rogers, S.; Palmer, W.S.; Sugg, A.O. The minutes of the previous meeting in March having been read and confirmed, the W.M. passed one candidate as a F.C., and gave with his usual ability the interesting lecture on the Tracing Board belonging to that degree. Several matters of minor detail having been discussed and disposed of, the lodge was closed, and the brethren adjourned for refreshment, which was presided over in the W.M.'s unavoidable absence by Bro. Horsley, P.M., who circulated the customary loyal and Craft toasts briefly but pertinently. The visitors were Bros. Turner, 33; Hutchings, 162; Clark, 225; Seaton and Edwards 857.

On Wednesday, the 10th inst., the lodge was convened for the dispatch of business at 6 p.m., when the above-mentioned officers were present, supplemented by Bro. Saunders, S.W. (Bro. Vaughan was the acting I.G.) The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the W.M., assisted by his officers, raised a brother to the Sublime Degree in a manner that left nothing to be desired. After some financial questions had been fully discussed, and other lodge business transacted, the W.M. stated that as the lodge had met on the eve of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales's happy return to his native shores he had thought that an address of congratulation to their M.W.G.M. from the Francis Burdett Lodge would be most favourably received by its members, and he had, therefore, as the exigencies of the case demanded, drawn and had had engrossed the proposed address, which he suggested should be signed on behalf of the lodge by the Wardens, Secretary, and himself. The address, which was excellently worded, was then read and unanimously adopted. The lodge was shortly afterwards closed in ancient form, and the members partook of a collation. Upon the removal of the cloth the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were proposed and heartily drunk. In giving the former the W.M. alluded to the Prince's happy preservation from the dangers of the climate, the jungle, and the sea during his long but brilliant Indian progress. "The W.M.'s Health" was proposed by Bro. Captain Birchill, P.M., duly honoured, and responded to. This meeting closes the season.

PLUMSTEAD.—United Military Lodge (No. 1536).—The regular monthly meeting of the above young and vigorous lodge took place on Friday, the 12th inst., at Bro. Plaisted's fine Masonic Hall, Angelsea Hill, and as this was the last time the esteemed W.M., Bro. Powcell, would have the opportunity of presiding, a large and influential assemblage of the brethren, both of the province and neighbouring lodges, attended to do him honour; Bro. Humphrey Wood, G.S.W. for Kent, and P.M. 20, taking the place of honour at the right of the chair. Among the other visitors were Bros. C. Coupland, P.G.S. Kent, and P.M. 913; T. Smith, P.P.G.P. Kent, and P.M. 913 and 829; E. Denton, P.P.G.P. Kent, and P.M. 913 and 766; J. Henderson, P.M. 760, 829, 913, 1076, and 1007; T. Ward, W.M. 760; A. Penfold, W.M. 913; W. Carnelly, W.M. 13; C. Hobson, P.M. 700; F. J. Dawson, P.M. 700; G. Davies, P.M. 13; W. T. Vincent, S.W. 913; T. W. Butt, S.W. 700; T. Hastings, S.W. 829 and 913; A. Woodley, S.D. 700; Waters, J.W. 700; T. D. Hayes, S.D. 913; T. Hutton, J.D. 13; A. Jessup, Treas. 913; J. Chapman, I.G. 913; C. Cooke, Org. 700, 913, and 13; D. C. Capon, 913; J. T. Ritchie, 757, Bombay; W. A. Tucker, 913; A. Heron, 1331; N. Beaver, 700; W. Bidgood, 700; H. B. Bryson, 700; C. Morton, 700; J. Reilly, 13; E. Scully, 1076; E. W. Fisher, 700; E. Hewett, 13; G. H. Masters, 13; G. Elliott, 1076; W. Cobb, 700; T. Huntingford, 13; W. Watts, 913; F. Lyons, 913, 700; W. Mc-

Coy, 700; B. Norman, 13, 700, and 1076; Pryce, 913; and C. Jolly, 913. The officers besides the W.M. were Bros. W. Weston, S.W.; G. Spincks, J.W.; W. Murphy, Treas.; T. Cooper, Sec.; H. G. Picken, S.D.; G. H. Shaw, J.D.; G. S. Walsh, M.A. Chap.; J. McCaffery, Stwd.; R. G. Lapham, I.G.; and J. Lackland, Tyler. The work before the lodge was the balloting for as joining member of Bro. J. Neil, 1331, Batt. Qr. Master Sergt. R.A., who, upon approval, was duly enrolled among the brethren; the balloting for and initiating of Sergt. Walkden, Royal Engineers, Battery Quartermaster Sergt. J. Brown, R.H.A., and Sergt. James Hughes, R.A., which was happily effected. Bro. W. A. Watkins was then passed to the Second Degree, and Bros. W. Taylor and G. Harris raised to the Sublime Degree. Upon resuming the lodge the W.M. read letters of apology from Bros. Major General Brownrigg, P.G.M. for Surrey, who is an honorary member of the lodge; Eastes, D.P.G.M. for Kent, and others. He then personally thanked Bros. Humphrey Wood and Coupland for their attendance as Provincial Officers, both of whom bore testimony to the pleasure the visit had afforded and to the excellent working of the W.M. in the several degrees. The W.M. then placed £5 5s., the proceeds of the charity box in hand, to Bro. Coupland's list in aid of the Boys' School charity, he being Steward for this year's festival of that institution, regretting at the same time that on account of the youth of the lodge they were unable to contribute at present from its funds. He thanked the brethren for their assistance in obtaining as they had done the very handsome and valuable harmonium, that under the skillful hands of Bro. Cooke had added so much to the impressiveness of the rituals, and finally closed the lodge for the last time during his term of office in due form. Upon reassembling for refreshment the lodge presented a most animated appearance, and the reception of the usual toasts was most enthusiastic, that of "His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, Grand Master of England," being especially hearty, the whole of the brethren, led by the stentorian voice of Bro. Brooks, chorusing Brinley Richards' hymn till the hall rang again. Bro. Lord Holmesdale, Prov. G.M. for Kent, received due honour as did Bro. Eastes, D.G.M., and the rest of the Provincial Grand Officers, the latter toast being coupled with the name of Bro. Coupland, P.G.S. for the present year, who in reply regretted the unavoidable absence of the S.G.W., who had been compelled to leave them early, and who, had he remained, would have told them of Lord Holmesdale and the interest he took in Masonry generally, but of course more particularly in the province; they were fortunate in having the presence of the G.S.W. that night in lodge, and fortunate in having so worthy a Master to preside over them. Bro. Wood had told him that he did not regret coming so far, he had been repaid by seeing the excellent working and sound condition of the lodge (cheers) and should convey to Lord Holmesdale his great pleasure at the addition of the Military Lodge to the roll of the province of Kent. (Applause.) Brother Walsh, P.P.G. Chaplain, and Chaplain to the Garrison, then rose to propose "The Health of the W.M." He said he had been called upon to propose a toast that he felt sure the whole of the brethren would feel a pleasure in responding to, he only felt how inadequate he was to do it justice, and that was the health of their W.M. He expressed how sorry he was that he had not been a very faithful servant to the W.M. in his position as Chaplain to the lodge, but would ask them to excuse him by the fact that the great and onerous duties appertaining to the office he held in the garrison precluded him from a constant attendance at the lodge. After the handsome compliments paid by Bro. Coupland to the W.M. it was unnecessary for him to add to them, but he must say that he never felt greater pleasure in his life than in seeing the magnificent and beautiful ceremonies of the three degrees worked by the W.M. that night. He wished him long life, strength, and prosperity, for many years to come. Bro. Pownall in rising to respond was greeted with a round of cheers. He said: I thank you deeply, P.P.G.C., Rev. Walsh, for the kind and feeling manner in which you have been pleased to propose my health, and you, officers and brethren, for the hearty and flattering reception that toast has received at your hands. It is, as many of you may be aware, nearly twelve months since I had the honour of being installed your W.M., and the first W.M. of this, the United Military Lodge, by my old and esteemed friend and Bro. Past Master Bates, of Chatham, and I feel that the magnificent and impressive manner in which he performed that ceremony will not lightly or soon be effaced from your memories. That day I look upon, brethren, as the red letter day of my life, and now that I am about to retire from the position of your W.M. I feel it from the bottom of my heart, and shall always remember with pleasure the unvaried kindness and brotherly love I have received at your hands. I feel that there have been more honours showered upon me than I have deserved, but believe, etc., if I have not deserved them I have ever endeavoured to carry out the duties imposed upon me in such a manner as would, at least, entitle me to your kind consideration and indulgence. I believe, brethren, I have conscientiously and earnestly endeavoured during that time to look to the welfare and comfort of every member of the lodge. When we started nearly twelve months ago we had but twenty-six members, and now we return eighty-eight on the books of the Grand Lodge of Kent. The principal number as you are aware have been joining members, the fee for joining being especially settled at a low figure, so as to admit our military brethren who have been made in other parts of the world, when they come to this garrison, into a home for Masonry, so that they may be enabled to still keep up their connection with the Craft, even though far away from their mother lodges. Many of our military brethren have been initiated into Masonry in India, Canada, New Zealand, Gibraltar, and other places, and in most of the "civil" lodges the joining fee is too high for them to affiliate themselves to those lodges; but now in this and the other military lodges at Aldershot and elsewhere there is a home for them where they can be made welcome among old friends and brethren in the Craft. When I took the position of W.M. of this lodge I had great hopes, before my year of office was expired, to be able to say that the whole of the necessary expenditure incurred in the formation of it had been cleared off, but those wishes have not been realised. We have paid off nearly all, and only owe some £50 or so, and I am proud to tell you that a good brother of the lodge bears the burden of that debt by way of loan. The good feeling and hospitality shown by the lodge to all visiting brethren has not been without result. It was said, and objected to by some of the original members, that the expenses incurred at the festive board were unnecessary, but I trust now that they see, and I am sure appreciate, the good feeling and brotherly love that has arisen from the short time devoted to hospitality, they will agree with me that what we have done has been done wisely and well for the benefit of the lodge. And now, brethren, as this is the last time that I shall have the honour and privilege of addressing you from this chair as W.M., let me thank all my kind friends and brethren for many a deed and many a word that has cheered and helped me on my path. I see around me those who have obtained high honours in the Craft, Past and Present P.G. Officers, W.M.'s and P.M.'s, and a large circle of old friends, and I feel that no words of mine can ever thank them sufficiently for the many and valuable services rendered to me by them. Bro. Penfold, the W.M. of the senior provincial lodge in this locality, has taken me by the hand and initiated me into the privileges and mysteries of Provincial Grand Lodge. I thank him for it, and shall ever remember it with gratitude and affection. (Loud applause.) My Bro. Ward, W.M. of the Nelson, has frequently honoured me with his presence and assistance; him too I thank sincerely. P.M. Coupland has been, and I trust will long be, a constant friend of both yours and mine, and often comes among us; and to one and all of the W.M.'s and P.M.'s and brethren present I tender my heartfelt thanks for their good wishes and hearty support. I beg most sincerely to thank my officers, Bros. Weston, Spincks, and Cooper more particularly, for the great and valuable assistance they have rendered me during my term of office, and last, though not least, to you all, brethren, for your genial support and unvaried courtesy to me as your W.M. It is a proud position to be placed in as the first W.M. of such a lodge, and I feel, and have ever felt, it a great honour. I trust many of you may some day follow me to this chair, and I feel that you will, as I have endeavoured to do, should you attain it, leave this lodge more prosperous, happy, and contented, if possible, than when you took it from myself. I feel that my efforts have not been altogether futile, and I trust that for many years to come I may as one of the P.M.'s still merit your approbation and ever be worthy of your regard and esteem. "The Initiates," "The Visitors," "The Officers of the Lodge," and other toasts followed, and after the Tyler's toast "God Save the Queen" concluded a most impressive and enjoyable gathering.

INSTRUCTION.

WELLINGTON LODGE (No. 548).—The annual banquet of this Lodge of Instruction was held at the White Swan Hotel, Deptford, on Monday evening, the 24th ult., when a large number of the brethren met to do honour to Bro. C. G. Dilley, P.M. 147, &c., their late Preceptor, who had been invited to preside, the vice-chairs being filled by Bro. Griffin, P.M. 933, the present Preceptor and Treas. of the lodge, and J. Baxter Langley, W.M. 1423. Ample justice having been done to the good cheer, provided with the elegance and profusion for which the hostess, Mrs. Porter, is so justly celebrated, and the cloth cleared, Bro. Dilley, in his usual felicitous manner, proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts, which, it is needless to say, were received with the utmost enthusiasm. "The Health of the Preceptor of the Lodge" was proposed by Bro. Langley, who dwelt at some length on the services Bro. Griffin had rendered to the Craft, and he felt sure that while the lodge was under his direction it could but prosper. The toast was drunk with applause, and Bro. Griffin, in thanking the brethren for the manner in which they had received the toast, assured them that he only followed in the footsteps of his predecessor, as he was sure that doing so and a punctual and diligent attendance was the only way to preserve the lodge in its present prosperous condition. If proof were needed of his attachment to the lodge, he could say with pride that he had only been absent once from their meetings since he had been elected Preceptor. Bro. Dilley then rose, and said it afforded him great pleasure to propose the toast of the evening, "Prosperity to the Lodge of Instruction," as from his long and intimate connection with the lodge he always felt a lively interest in its welfare. From the prosperity that had existed for the last few years he was induced to think that the strenuous exertions they had made in the cause of Freemasonry would without doubt soon place them in the front rank of metropolitan Lodges of Instruction. He then proceeded to refer to the past history of the lodge, and called to mind the time when the lodge was in danger of extinction, owing to the paucity of attendance, but thanks to the indefatigable exertions of one present, who he was certain they all held in the highest esteem—he alluded to their Hon. Sec., Bro. Macdonald—he was pleased to find that the lodge was—and he trusted that it would, under its present able management long continue—one of the most prosperous Lodges of Instruction in London. Their Hon. Sec. had not favoured him with a sight of the report he was about to present to the brethren, but he thought he could anticipate a very good one. He would couple with the toast the name of Bro. Macdonald. He had already hinted that mainly to his exertions the lodge owed its present prosperity. Doubtless punctuality was the essence of his existence, and his general urbanity rendered him one of the most popular favourites in every circle in which he moved. Bro. Macdonald, on rising to reply, was received with applause. He said that he had no idea that he would be called upon to respond to the toast of the evening; he thought that he would only be called on to speak in his capacity of Hon. Secretary as to the present position of the lodge, and its work during the past year, but as Bro. Dilley had coupled his name with the toast he would thank them for the very hearty manner in which they had received it. He was pleased to be able to say that the anticipations of Bro. Dilley were fulfilled, inasmuch as he had a most satisfactory account to give them of the year's work. They had met 52 times during the year, and the total attendance was 799, or an average attendance of 151, while, after paying £7 3s. 6d. in charity and the trifling working expenses of the lodge, they had a balance in hand of over £2. He considered the brethren ought to congratulate themselves on the prosperous state of the lodge, and, in well-chosen words, urged them to continue their attendance. He did not consider that he was worthy of all the encomiums passed upon him by Bro. Dilley. They had appointed him to the office of Secretary of the lodge, and he had—and always would, so long as he held the office—endeavoured to discharge his duties faithfully and conscientiously. That he had done so in the past was shown by the testimonial they had, in conjunction with the Star Lodge of Instruction, presented him with in October last, and he could assure them that the many kindnesses he had received at their hands would stimulate him to fresh exertions for the welfare of the lodge. Bro. Griffin, in a highly complimentary speech, proposed "The Health of Bro. Dilley," who had done such good suit and service to the lodge. Bro. Dilley, whose rising was greeted with prolonged applause, thanked the brethren for the reception they had given him, and Bro. Griffin for the kind manner in which he had spoken of his past services. He did not expect to make his fortune in his present profession so rapidly as Bro. Griffin had predicted, but when he was able to retire from the turmoil of business he was sure they would be able to find him a place in the lodge, not to dispossess their present Excellent Preceptor, but in a quiet corner, where he could watch with delight the progress the brethren had made under him. He would now propose a toast that he knew they would drink with enthusiasm, "The Health of the Vice-Presidents that evening, Bros. Griffin and Baxter Langley." Of Bro. Griffin he did not think it necessary for him to speak; they all knew his worth, and his untiring devotion to the lodge. Bro. Baxter Langley, although not a constant attendant at the lodge, never failed to give them his assistance at their annual festival, or whenever he was called upon, and he was sure the worthy Doctor would, as of old, give them one of those eloquent addresses that had so often delighted the ears of his auditors. Bro. Baxter Langley, in rising to respond, thanked the chairman for the kind and complimentary terms in which he had spoken of him, and then proceeded to refer to the great use of lodges of instruction, in teaching a practical knowledge of Masonic work. He thought, however, that occasionally a fresh interest might be thrown into those meetings by turning aside from the accustomed marvelous feats of memory displayed in the Fifteen Sections to a consideration of the circumstances surrounding what might be termed Pre-historic Masonry. Arising as it did as an eclecticism from a degraded state of society and debasing idolatry, it asserted the supremacy of a system of morality veiled in allegory and illustrated by symbols, and associated with the highest intellectual efforts of the age for the advancement and culture of the tribe or nation. The influence was double in its character, making use on the one hand of rites and ceremonies, more or less dramatic and public, and appealing to the uneducated sense of the masses; whilst on the other the secret influence was felt in the selection and withdrawal from the outer world, within the limits of the so-called priesthood, the best men of the tribe or nation, to join in the work which these ancient workers in the cause of progress had undertaken. The trials to which these selected men were exposed were faintly represented in the three degrees of modern Masonry. The speaker expressed his conviction that this careful selection of candidates for initiation formerly practised was worthy of modern imitation, and that valuable lessons might be learned from the pre-historic Masons who worked for the elevation and culture of their nations in the distant past, before the foundations of the Pyramids were laid, and when civilization had its only hope in the lamp of the eclectic philosopher shrouded behind the veil of superstition. Bro. Langley again thanked the brethren for the kindness with which they had received him, and resumed his seat amid loud applause. The Tyler's toast brought a very pleasant evening to an agreeable close.

Royal Arch.

BATH.—Royal Cumberland Chapter (No 41)
A regular meeting, the last of the season, was held at the Masonic Hall, on Tuesday, May 16th. The first chair was taken by Comp. Jas. Parfitt, M.E.Z.; Comp. Geo. Parfitt, P.Z., acted as H.; and Comp. Dr. Hopkins, P.Z., as J.; Comps. Hill, E.; Hearne, N.; Brown, Pr. Soj.; Gummer, as Sen. Soj.; Howes, as Jun. Soj.; Bigwood, Janitor. There were also present Ex. Comps. Moutrie, Treas., and Rubie, P.Z., and other members. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Letters of apology were read for the absence of Comps. Thompson, H. Carey, J. Falkner, Jun., Soj., and Williamson. Bro. W. Hunt was admitted properly prepared as a candidate for exaltation. The first part of the ceremony as far as the O.B. was conducted by the M.E.Z., and the remainder by Ex. Comp. Dr. Hopkins, who also gave the Historical, Symbolical, and Mystical Lectures. A vote of thanks to him for his efficient services, proposed by H. and seconded by Z., was passed unanimously. Ex. Comp. Moutrie took the chair of J., and after discussion of several matters of interest only to the members, the chapter was closed at a quarter to ten.

Scotland.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. Mungo (No. 27).—The regular meeting of this old and flourishing lodge was held in St. Mark's Hall, 213, Buchanan-street, on Thursday evening, 18th inst., Bro. D. Butler, W.M., in the chair, supported by Bros. G. Sinclair, I.P.M.; D. Dick, S.M.; Dr. J. McInnes, S.W.; G. W. Comb, J.W.; J. McEwan, J.D.; S. Dory, S.S.; G. James, Tyler, and a good attendance of members and visitors. Among the latter we noticed Bros. Alex. Bain, P.M. 103; J. Bain, D.M. 117; A. Lawrence, Sec. 117; J. McInnes, S.M. 408; J. Neagle, J.W. 441; W. Ferguson, I.P.M. 543; ("Freemason") and others. The lodge having been opened, Bro. Robt. Hood was passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by Bro. Ferguson, P.M. 543. The lodge was then opened on the Third Degree, when Bro. Wm. McIntyre, was raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason. Bro. Ferguson again performed the ceremony. The lodge was afterwards resumed on the First Degree and closed in proper form.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Thistle (No. 87).—The Provincial Grand Lodge paid this lodge their annual visit on Tuesday evening, the 16th inst., in the Commercial Hall, 30, Hope-street, Bro. J. Booth, W.M., presiding, supported by the following office-bearers:—J. W. Burns, I.P.M.; J. Fraser, P.M.; Jeffrey, D.M.; Ritchie, S.M.; W. Stewart, S.W.; R. Barr, J.W.; T. Paton, Treas.; W. Wilson, Sec.; J. McLachlan, S.D.; S. Gunning, I.G.; and Sinclair, Tyler. The meeting was very well attended by the members and also a good number of visiting brethren. The lodge was opened and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. The Prov. G.L. deputation, consisting of Bros. J. Gillis, P.G. Treas.; G. Sinclair, Treas. and Con. of Benevolent Fund; A. McTaggart, P.G. Sec.; A. Allison, P.G.T.; A. Bain, P.G.B.B.; J. Balfour, P.G.D.C.; J. Miller, P.G.J.D.; D. Reid, P.G.I.G.; and Hardie, Tyler, were admitted with the usual honours, and at the request of the W.M. Bro. Gillies occupied the chair, and requested Bro. McTaggart, P.G. Sec., to read the report of P.G.L. Bro. McTaggart apologised for the absence of Bro. Baird, P.G.S.M., and said Bro. Neilson, P.G.M., was yet unable to leave his room in consequence of his continued illness, and regretted he was not in possession of a letter Bro. Baird was in the habit of reading to each lodge during their visitation, written by the P.G.M. In reference to your books, they are very well kept, and you have the handsome sum of £101 18s. to your credit. You have initiated 19 during the last year, and disbursed in charity in all £15; and on the whole we are able to give you a good report. Bro. D. Reid, P.G.I.G., on the motion of Bro. Fraser, P.M., was affiliated an hon. member of the lodge. The deputation then withdrew, and the lodge was called to refreshment.

Reports of the following Scotch lodges stand over:—117, 360, 512, 556, 570, 571, 581.

LAYING MEMORIAL STONE OF THE ROYAL BLIND ASYLUM AND SCHOOL AT WEST CRAIGMILLAR, EDINBURGH.

Bro. Sir Michael Shaw Stewart, Bart., Grand Master Mason of Scotland, laid the memorial stone of the new Blind Asylum and School at West Craigmillar on Monday, 22nd inst., and on the completion of the Masonic ceremony His Grace the Lord High Commissioner formally opened the institution. The occasion presented the first opportunity that has been afforded to the Freemasons of Scotland of publicly doing honour to the present Grand Master since he was chosen to fill the Throne of Grand Lodge, and the large turn out of brethren from all parts of the country bore ample testimony, if such were needed, to the high estimation in which Sir Michael Shaw Stewart is held by the Craft.

The morning dawned inauspiciously, and during the forenoon rain fell in torrents. About noon, however, the sun looked out, and the weather cleared, the after part of the day being bright and genial. At one o'clock the members of local and provincial Masonic lodge assembled in Charlotte-square, where, under Bro. Apthorpe, Grand Marshal, a procession was formed. The office-bearers of Grand Lodge meanwhile met at Freemasons' Hall, George-street, where Bro. Sir Michael Shaw Stewart, Grand Master, opened the lodge, there being also present Bros. Lord Balfour, of Burleigh, S.G.M.; Major Hamilton Ramsay, of Garion, S.G.W.; John Laurie, G.S.; Rev. A. T. Grant and Rev. Dr. Gray, G.C.; P. S. Keir, of Kindrogan, P.G.W.; Wm. Officer, P.G.D.; D. Kinneir, J.G.D.; Daniel Robertson, B.B.; W. Mann, representative of the Grand Lodge of Sweden; Dr. Loth, representative of the Grand Orient of France; Dr. Cowan, Provincial Grand Secretary, Perthshire; J. Wolfe Murray, of Cringletie, P.G.M. Lodge Peebles and Selkirk; J. H. Neilson, Dublin, representing Grand Lodge of Ireland, &c.; W. Hay, S.G.D.; John Coghill, G.D.C.; James Ballantine, G.B.; G. F. R. Colt, of Gartsherrie, S.B.; Robert Davidson, G.O.; Wm. F. Bryce, G.T.; and James Baikie, Tyler. Fully an hour was spent in getting the brethren into marching order, but at due time the signal was given by the Grand Marshal, and the brethren moved off, the junior lodges being in front. Deputations were present from Lodges 581, 580, 571, 556, 553, 549, 548, 540, 520, 505, 482, 468, 465, 448, 429, 405, 400, 393, 385, 374, 362, 355, 349, 327, 318, 317, 309, 305, 291, 276, 272, 261, 254, 250, 248, 244, 233, 225, 223, 203, 185, 177, 166, 160, 156, 153, 151, 145, 132, 122, 117, 166, 114, 112, 111, 100, 97, 88, 72, 70, 60, 57, 49, 47, 35, 30, 28, 26, 21, 16, 13, 10, 8, 5, 34, 3, 2, and 1.

Headed by the Grand Marshal and the brass band of Lodge No. 88, Airdrie, the procession proceeded along George Street (the office-bearers of Grand Lodge falling into the rear opposite the Masonic Hall), Frederick-street, Mound, and Bank-street, to Parliament Square, where it was joined by the municipal authorities, various public bodies, and the inmates of the Royal Blind Asylum and School. The procession was then re-arranged and moved off in the following order:—Six members of the city police, three abreast; pipers and band of the 79th Highlanders; official and white rod; boys of the institution (two deep), in dark blue uniform, guided by a cord in the way the Rev. Dr. Johnston, the founder of the parent institution, used to lead the men to church; overseer and white rod; men of the institution (three abreast), carrying emblems of the various trades carried on in the asylum; messengers—small van with old men, large van with old men and piper; directors of the institution (in carriages); master, treasurer, assistant and clerk of Merchant Company (in carriages); Moderator and office-bearers of High Constables; Lord Provost in his private carriage, and wearing official robes; Magistrates of the city, Dean of Guild, and Convenor of the Trades (attended by the city officers), all in carriages and wearing official robes; band of music; guard of honour; members of subordinate lodges of Freemasons, three abreast, Junior Lodge in front; band of music; members and office-bearers of Grand Lodge; carriage of the Lord High Commissioner, containing His Grace, the Countess of Galloway, Sir Michael Shaw Stewart, Dr. Hamilton Ramsay, Purse-bearer, and Rev. Mr. Russell, Chaplain; carriage in which were Lady Jane Stewart, Lady Henrietta Stewart, Hon. Walter Stewart, and Lord Lionel Cecil; carriage containing General and Mrs. Ramsay Stewart, and Lieut. Spencer; and six members of the city police force, three abreast. The procession extended nearly two miles, and along the whole route from Parliament-square to West Craigmillar the streets and windows of the houses were crowded with spectators. When the junior lodge arrived at the entrance to the Asylum, the Freemasons halted and formed into line on either side of the thoroughfare in order to allow the Grand Lodge to pass through the ranks to the platform, the band in front meanwhile playing the "Merry Masons." The office-bearers and members of the Grand Lodge were followed into the Asylum grounds by the rest of the Freemasons, and the other processionists arrived in due course, the appearance of the carriage of His Grace the Lord High Commissioner being greeted with enthusiastic cheering, the assemblage also uncovering, and the band of the 79th Highlanders playing the Queen's Anthem. The Freemasons congregated in proximity to the north-east corner of the building, where the memorial-stone was to be laid, while the Earl of Galloway and a large company of gentlemen assembled in an adjoining marquee. The Countess of Galloway, Lady Jane Stewart, and Lady Henrietta Stewart witnessed the Masonic ceremony in a temporary balcony which had been erected over one of the entrances to the Asylum, which was profusely decorated with flags and banners. The Rev. Dr. Gray having offered prayer, Bro. Laurie placed a glass jar, containing a variety of documents, &c., relating to the institution, in a cavity prepared for their reception, after which the stone was lowered and laid with full Masonic honours, the regimental band furnishing appropriate music. At the conclusion of the proceedings,

Bro. Sir Michael Shaw Stewart said: Our Masonic ceremony is now over. It only remains for me to wish the promoters of this noble institution every prosperity. Gentlemen, directors of the Royal Blind Asylum and School, you are making a fair and a prosperous start. You already have the patronage of our Most Gracious Sovereign. Her Majesty's representative, the Lord High Commissioner, is here in person; so are the Lord Provost and magistrates. You have in addition the substantial and somewhat unusual satisfaction of commencing the occupation of a very handsome new building, as I am informed, entirely free of debt. (Cheers.) Before we part, I may be allowed to thank the brethren for their attendance here to-day. They have turned out in some strength, and I am not surprised, because it is a good and a charitable work which has brought so many of them from a great distance to take part in the proceedings of to-day. (Cheers.) Many of those who do not belong to our brotherhood are, I believe, aware that one of the most distinctive features of Freemasonry is benevolence, in the shape of good will towards men—(cheers)—and we have, as Masons, a strong sympathy with your work to-day. (Renewed cheers.) The Blind Asylum and School fill a most important place amongst benevolent institutions. They offer comfort, and modify the privations of those who, if left to themselves, would pass but a dreary life, and in many cases a hopeless existence. (Hear, hear.) You give them occupation, interest, society, and take them away from themselves, so to speak. (Cheers.) You lift them up from their hopeless position, in which by God's providence, and for some good reason, they appear to be placed, and you teach them that they can be of use—that they can help themselves—(hear, hear)—help each other, and even by honest labour almost earn a livelihood for themselves. (Cheers.) Gentlemen, I have had an opportunity of going over your institution, and I must say that the directors are to be congratulated upon its successful results, but still more, I say, are to be congratulated the inmates of the institution. (Hear, hear.) All the appliances for their comfort seem to be most perfect. You have a handsome building—ornamental even to Edinburgh, which can boast of its architecture. (Cheers.) True it is our poor friends cannot enjoy the beautiful view which expands itself in front of the windows, but they can inhale the pure air of this locality, and can enjoy and profit by all the appliances for their comfort, for their health, and for their cleanliness, which have been so well considered and efficiently carried out. (Cheers.) May this institution long prosper, and may it be the model upon which, in different parts of the country, other institutions of a similar nature may be built. (Cheers.) I wish you, gentlemen, all prosperity in your new institution. May the future history of this building always tell of the happiness of its inmates, and reflect credit upon the memory of its founders. (Loud cheers.)

Baillie Muirhead, chairman of the Institution Opening Committee (addressing the Grand Master Mason)—It is now my pleasing duty to thank you, in name of the directors of the Royal Blind Asylum and School, for your presence here to-day, and to offer for your acceptance, as a mark of their high appreciation of the graceful manner in which you have discharged your duties, this towel, which you have already used in connection with the proceedings of to-day, and also as a memento of your having laid the foundation-stone of an institution which has for its object the amelioration of the condition of the poor blind, and opening up to them means of employment and sources of recreation which lighten the burden of their heavy misfortune and lessen the poignancy of their great calamity. (Hear, Hear.) It affords me the highest personal gratification to make this presentation. (Cheers.)

Sir Michael Shaw Stewart, in acknowledging the gift, assured Baillie Muirhead that he would value the towel, not only for its own intrinsic merits, but as a memento of his having had the honour of taking part in the opening of an institution of which he was satisfied they could not speak too highly. (Cheers.)

The Lord High Commissioner, who was cordially cheered, then said—It is my pleasing duty now to declare this institution open. I shall only ask to be allowed to congratulate the directors of this charitable institution upon their having happily been able to get the aid of the Freemasons upon this occasion. (Cheers.)

The Lord High Commissioner and party, Sir Michael Shaw Stewart, Lord Balfour of Burleigh, the Lord Provost and magistrates of Edinburgh, and a number of other gentlemen afterwards proceeded to the chapel of the institution, where cake and wine were served—the inmates of the institution, under the leadership of Mr. Grant, discoursing excellent music during the luncheon. The Lord High Commissioner having proposed the toast of "The Queen," the Lord Provost gave "The Lord High Commissioner and the Church of Scotland," remarking that during the short time the Earl and Countess of Galloway had been in Edinburgh they had won golden opinions from the inhabitants of the city. His Grace, after thanking the company on behalf of himself and the Countess, gave "Prosperity to the Royal Blind Asylum and School," speaking of the good which had been accomplished separately by the institutions in the past, and of the beneficial results that were likely to result from the amalgamation which had recently taken place. His Grace coupled with the toast the names of Mr. John Boyd and Mr. Charles Cowan, who severally replied. A number of other toasts were afterwards proposed, including that of "The Grand Master Mason of Scotland," who, in responding, took occasion to explain that he had been misinformed in stating that the institution had been opened free of debt. The company adjourned about six o'clock.

CONSECRATION OF THE BAYARD LODGE.

The latest addition to the metropolitan lodges is the Bayard, No. 1615, which was consecrated on Wednesday, 17th inst., the Earl of Limerick, the Prov. Grand Master for Bristol (who Lord Carnarvon appointed Deputy Grand Master for the day, as Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M., was also prevented from attending by official duty), presiding in the absence of the Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon, who had intended to consecrate the lodge personally, but at the last moment was summoned to a Cabinet Council. The Earl of Donoughmore, the Senior Grand Warden, and the Hon. W. Warren Vernon, the Junior Grand Warden, were both present in their places, as well as the Rev. C.W. Arnold, the Grand Chaplain. Amongst other brethren of notability that we saw were Sir Edward Borough, Past D.G.M. of Ireland; Lieut. General Brownrigg, C.B., P.G.M. for Surrey; Colonel Burdett, P.G.M. for Middlesex; Major-General Clerk, F.R.S.; Capt. N. G. Phillips; J. M. P. Montagu, D.P.G.M. Dorset; Hynd Pullen, J.G.S.B.; the Hon. R. Giddy, Major Shadwell Clerk, the Rev. R. J. Simpson, P.G. Chaplain; John Hervey, Grand Sec.; James L. Thomas, P.M., Prov. G. Supt. of W. Middx.

After the consecration ceremony had been most satisfactorily performed by the Earl of Limerick, Col. Somerville Burney was then installed as the first Master of the Lodge by the Grand Secretary in his usual impressive style, and the Worshipful Master then invested the officers for the year as follows: Bros. Frank Richardson, for Capt. Hunter (who was prevented attending by duty with his Militia Regiment), as P.M.; Capt. Leeson, S.W.; A. E. T. Watson, J.W.; the Reverend R. J. Simpson, M.A., Chap.; Capt. Compton, S.D.; the Rev. Dr. Robbins, J.D.; Capt. Portlock Dodson, Sec.; Robert Fyers, I.G.; James Keene, M.D., D.C.; Col. Attye, and E. H. Bedford, Stwds. Arnold Baruchson was unanimously elected Treasurer. The founders of the lodge include the names of Sir Thomas Dyer, Col. Adair, P. Prov. G.M. Somersetshire; Col. Sargent, C.B.; Col. Attye, Captain Hunter, P.G.M. for Aberdeenshire East; the Chevalier Habicht; Count de la Chapelle; Frank Richardson, P.M. No. 14; James Johnstone, and other notable members of the Craft. The usual meetings of the lodge are to be held at No. 33, Golden-sq. The banquet was held afterwards at the Café Royal in Air-street, and the following toasts were proposed:—"The Queen and the Craft," "H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, the Grand Master," "The Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon, the Dep. G.M., Lord Skelmersdale, and the rest of the Grand Officers." In proposing this toast the W.M. regretted that official duties of great importance prevented Lords Carnarvon and Skelmersdale from being present as they had intended, but the Bayard Lodge was highly favoured with the presence of so many Grand Officers, and he coupled with the toast Col. Burdett, Prov. G.M. of Middlesex, who briefly returned thanks. The next toast was "The Grand Lodges of Ireland and Scotland." The lodge was honoured that evening with the presence of a most esteemed brother, an unusual occurrence in London, but who was well-known and revered, Sir Edward Borough, Past Dep. G.M. of Ireland. Scotland was represented by Bro. Capt. Lumsden, Substitute G.M. of Aberdeenshire East, who had been proposed as a joining member of the lodge.

Sir Edward Borough returned thanks, expressing how greatly he was gratified by the kindness with which he had been received, and stated that although he held rank and resided in Ireland he first saw the light in the Apollo Lodge, Oxford, of which he was still a member, he was much interested in seeing the formation of the Bayard Lodge, which from the military element in it, it must be "sans peur," and he felt quite sure from the foundation laid that day it would continue ever "sans reproche."

Capt. Lumsden returned thanks for the Grand Lodge of Scotland.

The W.M. then proposed "The Health of the Consecrating Officer, the Earl of Limerick, P.G.M. for Bristol," who at the last moment had been deputed by the Pro Grand Master to act for him, and had so ably gone through the impressive ceremony. The Bayard Lodge felt under great obligation to him for his kindness.

Lord Limerick returned thanks, and stated that as three other lodges that he had consecrated were flourishing he was sure the Bayard Lodge would also flourish, and it had been a great pleasure to him to consecrate a lodge of so much promise, and he would venture to predict that it would succeed and prove "second to none." In conclusion he begged to propose "The Health of the W.M., Lieut.-Col. Somerville Burney," who had exerted himself in forming the Bayard Lodge, and from what he knew of him in other degrees of Masonry he was sure he was a most zealous Mason, and felt certain that under his rule the Bayard Lodge would have, what he now wished it, every success.

The W.M. returned thanks, saying how proud and gratified he was at the success of his efforts, as proved by the meeting of that day, but it was all owing, not to his own exertions, but to the kindness he had received on all sides, especially from the officers of the Friends in Council Lodge, who had taken so much interest in this lodge that he hoped he might consider it a "Junior Friends in Council," in fact the name of the Bayard was suggested by his seeing at the time he was choosing a name a Masonic portrait, which he thought was so truly limned that he at once seized on it as most appropriate. The lodge was therefore named not only after the Knight "sans peur et sans reproche" of four centuries back, but also after a well-known brother of the present time, Captain Phillips, P.M. of the Friends in Council, who was beloved and esteemed by all who knew him, and who was ever ready to assist by every means in his power any good work.

Major General Clerk, as W.M., returned thanks for the Friends in Council, and at a general call for him, Capt. Phillips responded for the Bayard.

"The Visitors" was responded to by the Hon. R. Giddy, District G.M. designate of the Cape of Good Hope. The W.M. then gave "The Officers of the Bayard Lodge," saying he was already under great obligations to them for the assistance they had given him in forming the lodge, and that he looked to them to assist and enable him to work the lodge, and they must remember that the great and unusual honour shown to the Bayard Lodge on its start, gratifying as it was to all concerned, was still a very great anxiety, as it threw on the W.M. and officers of the lodge the great responsibility of proving themselves worthy of the favour shown to them.

Capt. Leeson, S.W., responded on behalf of the officers in a very neat and appropriate speech.

The Tyler's toast brought to a conclusion a most happy and successful meeting, and the W.M. received congratulations from all his friends.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

The summer entertainment to the aged inmates of the Asylum at Croydon will take place at that establishment on the 15th of June. The arrangements are now in active progress, and are calculated to prove very successful. Bro. Terry, the Secretary, has secured the services of Madame Thaddeus Wells, Bro. Lawler, Bro. Seymour Smith, and other eminent musical artists. There will be a plentiful round of amusements, as on last occasion, which our aged friends so highly appreciated. These periodical entertainments which, were inaugurated by Bro. Terry to enliven the declining days of the annuitants at the Asylum, have met with the general approval of the Craft, who assemble on these occasions, and add many choice pieces in the shape of singing, recitations, and imitations to the programme. The company will assemble at four o'clock.

The Royal Dramatic College has received £50 from the Goldsmiths' Company, £50 from the Grocers' Company, and 10 guineas from the Saddlers' Company.

DAYLIGHT reflected in dark rooms. Gas superseded in day time. Health, comfort, and economy promoted by adopting Chappuis' Patent Daylight Reflectors.—Manufactory, 69, Fleet-street London.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR BOYS.

Election of House and Audit Committees, Saturday, 3rd June, 1876. We understand that the two brethren nominated as candidates for the House Committee, Bros. Diaper and Sanders, have withdrawn their candidature, consequently there will be no contested election. In the Audit Committee there being nominated one in excess of the number required, there will be an election.

Masonic and General Tidings.

On dit that immediately upon the conclusion of the festivities in honour of the return of Bro. H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, M.W.G.M., Bro. H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught will go to Manchester to join his regiment there. In connection with this event it is rumoured in Masonic circles that His Royal Highness will initiate the Earl of Ellesmere into the mysteries of the Craft, and that on the occasion a large number of lodges in the north of England will unite in a great Masonic demonstration. The late Earl of Ellesmere was Provincial Grand Master for East Lancashire. There is also a rumour to the effect that the present Provincial Grand Master (Bro. Le Gendre Starkie) will resign in favour of the Duke of Connaught.

The Fifteen Sections will be worked at the Constitutional Lodge of Instruction, No. 55, Wheatsheaf Hotel, Hand-court, Holborn, W.C., by the brethren of the Salisbury Lodge of Instruction, No. 435, on Tuesday next, the 30th of May. Bro. J. Mander, P.M. 1201, will preside. The lodge will be opened at 6.30 p.m. precisely.

On the nomination of the Master and Fellows of St. Peter's College, Professor Kalley Miller, W.M. of the Royal Naval College Lodge, Greenwich, No. 1593, has been appointed Senior Moderator of the University of Cambridge for the ensuing year. Also, on the nomination of the Master and Fellows of Emanuel College, Professor Greenhill, Woolwich, of the Isaac Newton University Lodge, No. 859, has been appointed Junior Moderator. The Moderators are the principal examiners for the mathematical tripos at which the Senior Wranglership is decided. The only previous occasion on which both Moderators have been Masons was in 1871, when Bro. H. H. Taylor, Tutor of Trinity, was Senior Moderator, and Bro. Kalley Miller Junior Moderator.

The annual meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Lincolnshire takes place on Tuesday, June 6th.

The summer half-yearly communication of the Grand Lodge of Mark Master Masons of England will be held on the 6th prox., at the Masonic Hall, 33, Golden-square. Grand Lodge will be opened at five o'clock, when the installation of Grand Master for the ensuing year will take place.

Bro. the Right Honourable Lord Suffield, who accompanied the Prince of Wales to India, returned to North Walsham, Norfolk, on Monday night, and was heartily welcomed and entertained. His lordship, in speaking of India, said the native army was in fine condition. In his opinion, the natives were attached to England.

The foundation-stone of a new Masonic Hall was laid in Sheffield, on Tuesday, by Bro. Dr. Bartolome, in the presence of a large gathering of the fraternity. An account of the proceedings will be given in our next.

His Grace the Duke of Abercorn, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, M.W.G.M., on Tuesday last formally opened the Belfast Industrial Exhibition in presence of a large and distinguished assemblage. His Grace was presented with an address from the Committee of Exhibition and another from the members of the Working Men's Institute in connection with which the Exhibition is being held. The Duke and suite then inspected the various sections of the Exhibition, after which he proceeded to Queen's College, where he was presented with an address by the president and professors. His Grace also received an address from the Freemasons. At half past two o'clock the Lord-Lieutenant was entertained at luncheon in the Town-hall, by the Mayor.

We are authorised to state that her Majesty's State Ball, which was announced for May 23, will take place on Thursday, June 1.

Bro. Alderman Hadley presided at an entertainment given on Thursday by the Church of England Young Men's Society (Southwark branch) in aid of St. Mary's Church, Clarence-street. The entertainment was under the patronage of the Lord Mayor and the Sheriffs of London and Middlesex.

Bro. the Right Hon. Lord Carnarvon, Pro Grand Master, returned from Pixton on Sunday night. The Dowager Lady Carnarvon is not so seriously ill as was supposed.

Dr. Robert Stewart, of Streatham, desires to express his gratitude and thanks to the numerous kind friends and brothers who sent their votes in his favour for the election of annuitants of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Asylum.

Mrs. Blackburn, Widow of the late William Blackburn, P.M., P.Z., desires to express her deep gratitude and warmest thanks to those members of the Royal Masonic Annuity Fund who, by their contribution of votes or valuable assistance in procuring them, enabled her at the recent election to secure the benefits of the above fund, and to assure them that their kindly aid will ever be held by her in the most grateful remembrance.

Mrs. Jane Burton begs to express her heartfelt gratitude for their kindness in electing her on her first appeal.

NOTICE.

A SECOND EDITION of the "Freemason" will be issued early on Saturday morning, which will contain a full report of the General Committee meeting of the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.

NOW READY.

VOLUME 8 OF THE "FREEMASON" from January to December, 1875, bound in cloth, with richly embossed device on cover. Price 15 shillings. This volume forms a first class reference and chronology of the leading events in Masonry during the past year. It may be had through any bookseller, or at the office, 198, Fleet-st., London.

TO OUR READERS

The Freemason is a sixteen-page weekly newspaper, price 2d. It is published every Friday morning, and contains the most important, interesting, and useful information relating to Freemasonry in every degree. Annual subscription in the United Kingdom, Post free, 10/- P.O.O.'s to be made payable at the chief office, London.

NEW POSTAL RATES.

Owing to a reduction in the Postal Rates, the publisher is now enabled to send the "Freemason" to the following parts abroad for One Year for Twelve Shillings (payable in advance):—Africa, Australia, Bombay, Canada, Cape of Good Hope, Ceylon, China, Constantinople, Demerara, France, Germany, Gibraltar, Jamaica, Malta, Newfoundland, New South Wales, New Zealand, Suez, Trinidad, United States of America, &c.

COLONIAL AND FOREIGN SUBSCRIBERS

are informed that acknowledgments of remittances received are published in the first number of every month.

NOTICE.—It is very necessary for our friends to advise us of all money orders they remit, more especially those from the United States of America and India; otherwise we cannot tell where to credit them.

TO ADVERTISERS.

The Freemason has a large circulation in all parts of the Globe, its advantages as an advertising medium can therefore scarcely be overrated.

For terms, position, &c., apply to
GEORGE KENNING, 198, Fleet-st.

Answers to Correspondents.

All Communications, Advertisements, &c., intended for insertion in the Number of the following Saturday, must reach the Office not later than 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

"EYE WITNESS" is thanked, but his reply is not satisfactory. Editors have no protection against "hoaxes," except the rule be carried out.

R. Barrat, Britannia Lodge, Sheffield, and J.M.L. received.

NEWSPAPERS RECEIVED.—"Weekly Courant," Columbia, Pennsylvania, U.S.; "Masonic Journal," Greensborough, N.C.

The following stand over:—"Plain English;" Reports of St. John's Chapter, 328; Torquay; St. Andrew's Lodge, 958; Granite Lodge, 1328; Hemming Lodge, 1512.

Births, Marriages, and Deaths.

[The charge is 2s. 6d. for announcements, not exceeding four lines, under this heading.]

BIRTHS.

BERRIDGE.—On the 6th inst., at Drayton Lodge, Banbury, the wife of S. Berridge, of a son.

JACKSON.—On the 19th inst., at Isleworth, the wife of H. Jackson, of a daughter.

MARSHALL.—On the 20th inst., at Buckland-villas, Belize Park, the wife of H. Marshall, of a son.

MORTIMORE.—On the 15th inst., at Eccleston-square, the wife of F. Mortimore, Esq., of a daughter.

THOMPSON.—On the 19th inst., at Nottingham Cottage, Upper Tulse-hill, the wife of R. H. Thompson, of a son.

MARRIAGES.

BAILLON.—WILLIAMS.—On the 28th March, at Stanley, Falkland Islands, Louis A. Baillon, son of L. Baillon, Esq., of Woodthorpe, near Nottingham, to Mary Julia, daughter of C. H. Williams, Esq.

HALL.—SEWELL.—On the 18th inst., at Christ Church, Lancaster-gate, Charles, son of A. Hall, Esq., of Craven-hill-gardens, W., to Edith Adelina Rebecca, daughter of the late J. Sewell, Esq., of Valparaiso.

DEATHS.

BULLOCK.—On the 19th inst., John Bullock, Esq., late of Milner-square, Islington, and Sevenoaks, Kent, the friend and helper of literary men, aged 74. Indian papers please copy.

KING.—On the 16th inst., at Leckford, Hants, Ann, daughter of the late T. King, Esq., of Eling, Hants.

LONG.—On the 19th inst., at St. Mary's-road, Peckham, William T. Long, in his 35th year.

MARTIN.—On the 19th inst., at Gibson-square, Islington, Alexander Martin, aged 77.

YOUNG.—On the 18th inst., at Reigate, Mary, widow of G. F. Young, Esq., M.P., in her 86th year.

JONES.—On the 22nd inst., at Holland-road, Kensington, the wife of W. J. Jones, Esq., of a son.

The Freemason,

SATURDAY, MAY 27, 1876.

THE CITY'S WELCOME TO THE PRINCE OF WALES.

We shall all have read with pleasure and approval the agreeable account of our Royal Grand Master's visit to Guildhall last Friday, of the loyal reception of the Princess of Wales and the Royal Family, of the hearty enthusiasm which greeted the Prince of Wales, and of the great success which attended all the efforts of the Corporation to do honour to their Royal and illustrious guest! Everything seems to have been most admirably conceived and carried out, and amid the many memorable entertainments which have been given by the Corporation of the City of London, none have been more brilliant, and none more complete. The speeches were all hearty and to the point, not too long to be non-effective, and not too prosy to be wearisome; but all happy in tone, and genial in temper, and wisely limited in duration, so as not to interfere with the more graceful claims and pressing fascinations of Terpsichore! We especially commend the Lord Mayor's address, and the happy reply of our Royal Grand Master, as thoroughly true and manly, thoroughly English in sentiment, and entirely in harmony with the feelings and opinions of all present. Like in all that he does, he has clearly pointed out that he thoroughly understands what are the duties and responsibilities of his exalted rank, and we can quite realize how that geniality of temperament, and kindness of manner, and cordiality of utterance, have left the most favourable impressions in far lands, and among other people, just as they have moved the dusky races of Hindostan, and have aroused and animated the enduring and heartfelt loyalty of Englishmen. To the Princess of Wales the festivity must have been one of great pleasure, inasmuch as after a long separation her husband was once more safe and sound at home again, among his own people, in the midst of his loyal fellow citizens, returned to his happy home, and surrounded by many of the greatest and noblest in the land. The Duke of Edinburgh spoke as a gallant sailor, modestly and manfully, and the Duke of Cambridge was, as he ever is, clear and soldier-like in his recognition of the services and duty of the army, and his honest and becoming pride in that great profession over which he so fidely presides. Indeed, all the proceedings of this great gala were marked from first to last by the English word "thorough," reflecting the highest credit, as we said before, on the Executive Committee and on all interested in the carrying out of the needful arrangements. We miss, indeed, the eloquent words of the "Premier," who, "more suo," would have lent the grace of his eloquence to commend and to intensify that loyal gathering and that goodly scene. But still we may well be content with the display, and proud of the City's welcome to the Prince of Wales. The memories of such happy high days survive the passage of time and the fleeting avocations of social life. They record the sayings and doings of the noblest in rank and the most exalted in the world's roll of honour and merit. They remind the statesman and the student, the thoughtful and the serious of the sympathies of a great people and the aspirations of the loyal and the patriotic, and they serve to point out to us clearly how close after all, is the tie which, happily for us all in this favoured land, still binds together the throne of our fathers, the prestige of the House of Brunswick with Englishmen of all ranks and conditions, high and humble, rich and poor. Esto perpetua, we shall say to this loving union, and may after generations still peruse the record in the truthful pages of the "Freemason" of a similar gathering in the great Guildhall, and of that unchanged attachment which should ever exist between the Sovereign of the realm and the City of London, between those who are called to bear rule over us according to our ancient laws and our wise constitution, and all classes of this loyal and mighty Empire.

THE ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

All will have perused in our Second Edition last week the result of the election on Friday. Twenty-three male candidates were elected without a poll, among whom we rejoice to see poor Bro. Dr. Stewart's name, and 21 widows out of 32. So successful is the Institution that we almost regret that the other 10 candidates were not also elected by resolution of committee, as we are quite sure that such a proposition would have received the enthusiastic support of the Craft. Indeed, we are almost inclined to think that the present position of the charity would warrant the committee electing them by a special meeting and supplementary resolution. The happy return of our Royal Grand Master would be a sufficient justification as a commemorative act. At any rate they might have the annuity allowed them until the next election. The Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution has now a permanent income of £2211 13s. 2d.; the yearly claims on the two funds amount to £8972, which is an increase, as Bro. Terry properly reminds us, of £3565 during the last four years. But we are quite sure of this, that this most valuable Institution will never want the loyal and unswerving support of our great and benevolent Order, and we note with much satisfaction that £5500 in round numbers have been invested during the last 12 months, and that the joint balance still amounts to £5174 3s. 8d. We therefore beg to call attention once more to the most happy and creditable position of this very valuable charity of our Craft, and we beg to tender to Bro. Terry not only our hearty felicitations on this most prosperous state of affairs, but our sincere good wishes that his zealous and praiseworthy exertions will be rewarded by a still enlarged measure of liberal support in the future by our charitable and increasing Order.

THOROUGH.

Some Freemasons, alike in speech and essay, often take a desponding view both of the prospects and "outcome" of Masonic literature. We do not. True, indeed, it is, to the most superficial student of English Masonic history, that Masonic literature has always waged more or less a desperate warfare for existence, for success! But we think that this can be accounted for in the nature of things, and the peculiarity of the position of Freemasonry itself. As a rule, Freemasons, who are men of the world, men of business, as well as Freemasons, enjoy with all others the expanded and even overpowering literature of the day. The interest attached to Masonic "belles lettres," to its past history and passing topics, to its archæological essays, and its didactic expositions, have only, so to say, a claim on the few among the many, commend themselves ever alone to a limited and, we may add, a select circle. The great mass of our Order come to Freemasonry for recreation and refreshment, for the privacy and inner life of the fraternal social circle, and unless they have some deep personal interest in the columns of the "Freemason," for instance, they can afford but a few passing moments to its consideration or perusal! A similar state of things exists as to Masonic archæology, exposition, moral axioms, and the lucubrations and theories of conflicting schools. This is all reading over and above the common and almost needful literature of the day, and demands time and requires leisure. Whatever the future may have in store for us, we cannot, it appears to us, ever expect, under any circumstance, a very general taste for Masonic literature, whether of the graver or the lighter kind, though we could fairly wish that more support were accorded by Freemasons, on Masonic principles, too, to Masonic literature. The "Freemason," for instance, has always been a thorough Masonic paper, conducted on simple, straightforward, business, Masonic principles, from its first hour of existence to the present time. It has never appealed to the Order for support, either in accents of adulation, or in whining tones, in lugubrious lamentations, or in recklessness of assertion; but it has gone forth to the entire fraternity as a literary organ, standing on its own merits alone, without seeking favour or partiality, or support of any kind. Let any one peruse the old volumes of the "Freemason," they will see how very independent has been its tone, how Masonic its teaching, from its first hour of experimental effort to the later moments of assured success. "Thorough" is the word which seems to mark alike its utterances and its avowals, its treatment of all subjects that come within its ken. It seeks to give to the reading and discerning Masonic public, at fair market price, a valuable, and useful, and first-class article, warranted to wear well, and certain to find favour. It wishes no one to support it who cannot conscientiously do so; it asks no one's patronage who does not feel disposed to accord it cheerfully and fraternally. It lies before the brethren on every Bookstall in the kingdom, and if brethren like its tone and temper, approve of its sentiments, agree with its general exposition of Masonic principles, and value its faithful record of Masonic proceedings, they can buy it and read it, but if they are unwilling, if they do not care for its hebdomadal intelligence, they are not expected to do so, they are not compelled to do so, and as we ask for no one's support, just so we do not complain when none is accorded. We live in a free country, we belong to the Order of Freemasons; liberty of reading as well as of thought and conscience are the birthright of us all, and we wish very distinctly to say to-day, that we ask of none the sympathy or support which they cannot themselves readily offer and fraternally accord. We value more than we can well express the thorough independence of the "Freemason." Open to all, friendly to all, hostile to none, it admits into its columns gladly, under certain wise rules of needful reserve, the free expression of Masonic opinion. It has from the first encouraged those archaeological enquiries of the modern school, which, when Masonic research was at a discount, and long before those who glibly talk about it now, knew anything at all about the matter, was carried on by a small band of intelligent brethren. To our Masonic charities the "Freemason" has already offered a generous and genial support, and we are glad to think, that in foreign countries, especially in the United States, it has earned for itself the support and sympathy of a large number of intellectual and devoted brethren. Now we say all this to-day in no spirit of vulgar boasting, or egotistical self laudation. We are content, as we said before, to do our best, and in one sense we do not seek either the approval or disapproval of our indulgent readers. By this we mean that we endeavour to speak the truth, to do the right, and having achieved this manfully, consistently, in a thorough Masonic spirit, we neither court praise nor deprecate censure; we are content to leave our honest outspoken words to the great court of public Masonic opinion, alike to justify our position and to uphold our view of men and things. There will, of course be always allowable differences of opinion in matters Masonic as in all sublunary affairs, and we cannot, of course, expect that our dicta will always be unchallenged, inasmuch as we claim no infallibility, and profess no official authority for anything we propound. But giving the best attention to all that we place before our readers, we feel that, as we never write rashly or unadvisedly, or without much reflection, we have little to alter and nothing to withdraw. Indeed, we are inclined to hope and to believe that it is this very careful and conscientious freespokenness which commends the "Freemason" to a constantly increasing circle of readers. And now having said all this, we stop here to-day. From time to time we think it well to remind our readers what the "Freemason" has been, what it is, what it does, how it seeks to represent English Freemasonry, to advocate Masonic principles, and to advance Masonic literature, on thorough true Masonic grounds, merely asking what all have a right to ask, in our favoured land, for a fair hearing and impartial treatment. If it commends itself to the feelings and views of our excellent brethren we rejoice greatly, and no effort will be spared on our part to make it acceptable to all; but we do not and cannot profess, as we said before, ever to appeal for support or patronage, as we neither require the one nor do we ask for the other. The brethren can see the "Freemason," and read it, and judge for themselves, as they are alone the best judges, whether it is a thorough Masonic paper, calling for their fraternal good wishes, deserving their attentive perusal, and demanding their cheerful and zealous support.

Original Correspondence.

[We do not hold ourselves responsible for, or even as approving of the opinions expressed by our correspondents, but we wish, in a spirit of fair play to all, to permit—within certain necessary limits—free discussion.—Ed.]

OFFICERS' JEWELS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

From a private correspondence I have had with our esteemed Bro. Hughan, I find that in speaking of the Grand Lodge from which our lodge warrant emanated in 1765 my description is liable to be misunderstood.

The Grand Lodge in question would appear to be the same as that which granted the warrant of the Adams Lodge, mentioned by Bro. Spears in this day's "Freemason" (Lord Kelly was then Grand Master), and, as Bro. Spears remarks, our old members always designated the lodge as an "old York lodge," and rather prided themselves on being able to do so.

Our lodge warrant commences thus: "We, the Grand Lodge of the most ancient and honourable fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons (according to the old Constitutions granted by His Royal Highness Prince Edwin at York, Anno Domini nine hundred twenty and six, and in the year of Masonry Four thousand nine hundred twenty and six)," &c.

Bro. Hughan says the correct title should have been "Grand Lodge according to the old Constitutions," or "seceders of London."

Hoping we shall hear something further on the subject of the jewels from brethren belonging to the old lodges, I remain,

Yours fraternally,

May 20, 1876.

Lux.

ROYAL MASONIC INSTITUTION FOR GIRLS.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

In giving the list of Stewards for the Royal Masonic Institution for Girls you have made a mistake in my name (West Lancashire Province, No. 1086, J. C. Sims). It should be J. C. Lunt. Kindly correct the same, and oblige

Yours faithfully and fraternally,

JOSIE. C. LUNT.

MASONIC JURISPRUDENCE.

To the Editor of the Freemason.

Dear Sir and Brother,—

"He that is first in his own cause seemeth just, but his neighbour cometh and seeketh him."

So wrote our first Royal Grand Master, and the words may be applied appropriately even to-day to the W.M. of the Trafalgar Lodge, No. 971, who, I see from your issue of the 20th inst., is asking a question respecting Past Wardens of private lodges being entitled to be present at the installation of our present Royal Grand Master.

Knowing the object for which the information is sought to be obtained, I object to the way in which the query is put, and request permission to state the case more clearly, premising, at the onset, that each lodge under the Constitution of the Grand Lodge of England, was entitled to be represented at the above-named installation by two Wardens, the W.M., one M.M., and as many Past Masters of the lodge as applied for tickets.

The actual Wardens of Lodge —, No. —, were both unable to attend the installation of His Royal Highness, and Bro. A. B., Past S.W., and Bro. C. D., Past J.W. of the said lodge, offered their services to officiate in their stead, and requested that application should be made for tickets to enable them to do so.

Tickets were applied for and obtained without any demur whatsoever, in the names of those brethren, as Past Wardens, acting on behalf of the actual Wardens, and they attended the installation.

Is Bro. Jim Sheard justified in stating that those brethren attended that ceremony under false colours?

Your opinion on the above will be esteemed by yours fraternally,

HENRY INGHAM,

Batley, 22 May, 1876.

P.M., P.Z. 258; Z. 1214.

[Certainly not. We answered the question bona fide.—Ed.]

It will interest our readers to learn that the casket containing the address presented to H.R.H. the Most Worshipful Grand Master at his reception in the city on the 19th inst. is a most recherche piece of workmanship, Oriental in design, and composed of the purest gold and enamel. The form is oblong, supported by eight pillars of Indian character, surmounted with a figure of Britannia, and at each corner elephants' heads are introduced with great effect. The arms of the Most Worshipful Grand Master are enamelled in the front, the Corporation arms on the two side panels, and the inscription on the reverse side of the casket. The inscription runs as follows:—"To His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, K.G., from the Corporation of the City of London, with an address of congratulation on the return of His Royal Highness from India, May, 1876." Mr. Benson, the eminent jeweller of Ludgate Hill and Old Bond-street, is the manufacturer of this superb work of art, who also in 1863 had the honour of making the first casket presented to the Most Worshipful Grand Master by the Corporation.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION.

[The following appeared in our Second Edition last week.]

The annual meeting of the subscribers to this Institution was held yesterday at the Board Room, Freemasons' Hall. Lieut.-Col. Creaton presided. There were also present among others Bros. H. Browne, John Symonds, Samuel Gale, C. J. Bennett, Thos. J. Sabine, William Stephens, A.H. Tattershall, Griffiths Smith, S. Rawson, Joseph Smith, J. Constable, A. Lucking, J. A. Wardell, Wm. Hale, C. A. Cotterburne, H. Browne, Richard Spencer, G. Ward Very, James Dunsford, W. Mann, Capt. J. Wordsworth, W. H. B. Tomlinson, Henry Smith (West Yorkshire); H. W. Hemsworth, H. J. Friend, Charles Godtschalk, Charles Lacey, Edward Cox, Raynham W. Stewart, Rev. C. J. Martyn, Samuel R. Everitt, A. D. Loewenstark, George Lambert, Hyde Pullen, W. C. Parsons, L. Stean, Rev. Dr. Brette, Fred. G. Pownall, W. Paas, Samuel May, Peter De L. Long, H. Bartlett, James Stevens, Thos. W. White, H. Muggeridge, Geo. Bolton, J. F. Tibbals, H. Garrod, H. Massey ("Freemason"), E. Harris, F. Binckes, H. G. Buss, N. B. Headon, F. B. Davage, H. Potter, Benj. Head, C. J. Cooke, and James Terry (Secretary).

At the opening of the proceedings Bro. James Terry read the following letter which he had received:—

"Marlborough House, May 18, 1876.

"Dear Sir,—His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales approves of the annual festival of the Royal Masonic Benevolent Institution being held on the 14th February, 1877.

"Yours faithfully,

(Signed)

FRANCIS KNOLLYS."

Bro. Terry afterwards read the balance-sheet, which showed as follows:—

MALE FUND.
Balance 31st March, 1875	£2229	14	5
Subsequent Receipts	7075	4	8
Cash Withdrawn from Deposit	2800	0	0
	£13104	19	1
Disbursements	£5371	9	5
Invested at Interest	1500	0	0
Purchase of £1500 3 per cent. Red. Annuities... ..	1408	2	6
	8279	11	11
Balance on this account ...	£3825	7	2

WIDOWS' FUND.
Balance 31st March, 1875	£1557	14	3
Subsequent Receipts	4802	2	1
Cash Withdrawn from Deposit	1200	0	0
	£7559	16	4
Disbursements	£3809	15	11
Invested at Interest	1000	0	0
Purchase of £1500 3 per cent. Red. Annuities... ..	1408	2	6
	6217	18	5
Balance on this account ...	£1341	17	11

SUSTENTATION FUND.
Balance 31st March, 1875	£4	9	1
Subsequent Receipts	30	0	0
	£34	9	1
Disbursements	27	10	6
Balance on this account.....	£6	18	7
Total Balance.....	£5174	3	8

Bro. Terry said the permanent income of the Institution was £2211 13s. 2d.

Bro. Terry then read the following report of the Committee of Management:—

The Committee of Management in presenting the report of their proceedings to the Governors and Subscribers, congratulate them most heartily upon the continued success which has attended the Institution during the past year.

The festival held at Freemasons' Hall on the 9th Feb. last, under the distinguished presidency of the R.W. Dep. G.M., Lord Skelmersdale, Prov. G.M. for the Western Division of Lancashire, and supported by a Board of 215 Stewards, proved the most successful the Institution has yet experienced—£9174 10s. 6d. being the sum announced—and this has since been increased to over £9380, an addition of £2330 upon any previous occasion. To his lordship the committee tender their grateful thanks for his kindness in presiding, and also for the deep personal interest evinced by him in advocating its claims and bringing the benefits conferred by it prominently before the Craft. To the Stewards from the Province of West Lancashire they also tender their thanks in nobly supporting the Chairman, as well as to the rest of the Board of Stewards for the great exertions made by them to render the festival a success.

During the past year two Special General Meetings have been held,—one in November last having for its object an alteration in the rules to confer additional votes upon Stewards according to the amounts brought in by them; and the committee are assured that this had a very beneficial effect at the last festival, evidenced by the increased subscriptions brought in; the other held in April last was also to alter the laws enabling the committee to give an additional £4 per annum to every annuitant. This can only take effect after it has received the sanction of Grand Lodge in June next. The committee feel convinced that the increase thus proposed to be made will meet with the approval of the Governors and Subscribers and be gratifying to the Chairman and Board of Stewards of the late festival, by whose exertions this has been enabled to be done.

On the list for election were 23 male and 32 female candidates; the vacancies were 17 men and 10 widows; and these have been filled up; and the committee have also determined in view of the increasing support accorded by the Craft to place ten additional widows upon the Fund, so that after the election there will be 130 men each receiving £40 and 110 widows each receiving £32 per annum. There are also 15 widows receiving half the pension previously enjoyed by their late husbands, and which is paid them for a period of three years, unless they are elected to the full pension before the expiration of that time. These various payments will absorb a sum of £8972 per annum, being an increase of the amount paid the annuitants during the past four years of £3565. The committee trust that the Craft will gladly support them in their endeavours to confer the greatest amount of good consistently with the permanent stability of the institution.

To the Grand Lodge of England the committee tender their renewed thanks for again granting £70 to enable the committee to provide coals during the winter months for the residents of the institution at Croydon, a gift which is very keenly appreciated by them.

A vacancy in the trusteeship has been created by the death of the W. Bro. John Savage, P.G.D., and one of the Vice-Presidents. Bro. Savage's connection with the institution extended over many years, and the committee deeply deplore the loss they have sustained by his removal from them. This vacancy will have to be filled up to-day.

We have also to record the death of Bro. W. Farnfield, who held the position of Secretary for thirty years. In him the institution ever had an excellent officer, and his death is sincerely regretted by the committee.

The institution at Croydon is in a thorough state of repair, and the residents, under the watchful care of the Honorary Surgeon, Henry John Strong, Esq., M.D., (to whom the committee are under many obligations), enjoy good health considering their advanced years.

The large number of candidates continually coming before the committee shews the necessity of renewed efforts being made to increase the funds to enable them to cope more effectually with the claims upon their sympathy; and they doubt not but that the Craft will in the future, as it has nobly done in the past, uphold them in their endeavours to relieve every deserving case which may be brought before them. They feel assured that the brethren will co-operate with them, inasmuch as the cause is one worthy of their sympathy and support; and the committee in asking the Craft to give support feel they cannot do better than quote the words of the M.W. Pro G.M., the Earl of Carnarvon, when presiding at the anniversary festival in 1869:—"I believe that there is no charity greater or more beneficent, or practically more useful than that which in the decline of life, with the growth of infirmities, in the period of sickness, above all, in the period of helplessness, extends a relief from all these tribulations, and yet does not separate the aged man from the partner of his life, from his children, from his friends with whom he may have been associated in the past, which does not compel him violently and compulsorily to snap all those cords, all those ties and connections of sympathy which have been the work of a lifetime, and which he will carry down, at least in his affections, to the grave to which he is hastening."

To this report was subjoined a statement of the receipts and disbursements during the past year, ending the 31st March, 1876, together with the particulars of the permanent income of the institution.

(Signed) JOHN CREATON,
Chairman.

This report having been received and adopted, Bro. Joseph Smith moved, and Bro. Capt. Wordsworth seconded the re-election of Bros. Adlard, Bellerby, and W. Hale on the committee of management. This was carried unanimously; and Bro. John Symonds, H. G. Warren, and A. H. Tattershall were chosen auditors.

On the motion of Bro. Joseph Smith, seconded by Bro. S. Rawson, the Rev. C. J. Martyn, Past G. Chaplain, was elected Trustee in place of the late Bro. John Savage.

The Scrutineers of votes were afterwards appointed, and the election of 21 out of 32 widows was proceeded with. There being sufficient vacancies for all the male candidates no election on the male fund was held; consequently these brethren were placed on the list:—

1 Hagan, Charles.	13 York, Robert.
2 Rogers, John.	14 Mann, Charles.
3 Roads, Charles.	15 Cartuthers, James.
4 Greathead, William.	16 Schofield, Robert.
5 Noel, John.	17 Green, William.
6 Wood, John.	18 Miller, Thomas.
7 Nash, William Henry.	19 Cogan, Robert.
8 Irving, John.	20 Rose, John.
9 Waterson, John.	21 Johnson, John.
10 Dashwood, Henry T.	22 Stewart, Robert.
11 Rowen, Thomas.	23 Thackthwaite, Robert.
12 Brown, William.

The following was declared to be the result of the election:—

No on Voting Paper.	Names.	Votes.
16	Hoare, Henrietta	1069
17	Blackburn, Eliza W.	1044
26	Burton, Jane	903
4	Gidney, Lydia	763
25	Johnson, Harriet	703
12	Cowen, Harriet	676
13	Keen, Mary	684

20	Harvey, Honor	654
32	Keddell, Martha F.	634
8	Redick, Maria	620
30	Brown, Sarah	619
11	Charlton, Sarah	616
24	Govier, Elizabeth	615
21	Froud, Mary	594
31	Wingfield, Frances	590
22	Rogers, Frances	552
1	Tidswell, Susannan	541
9	Edwards, Eleanor	539
29	Lundy, Charlotte	538
6	Wilkes, Elizabeth	513
14	Russell, Sarah	446

UNSUCCESSFUL.

7	Dark, Ann	443
28	Trotter, Ann	351
27	Packwood, Emily	273
3	Churchill, Elizabeth	203
2	Wreyford, Elizabeth	195
23	Thompson, Julia	177
15	Shearer, Ann	86
10	Chipchase, Emily	44
5	Elliott, Isabella	24
19	Stansfield, Alice
18	Dowse, Sarah. (Withdrawn by Order of Committee)

Bro. W. Hale proposed and Bro. H. Garrod seconded a vote of thanks to the scrutineers, which being carried Bro. S. Rawson responded.

The result of the election was then ordered to be advertised, with the names of the successful candidates, and it was also ordered that the proceedings of the day be printed and circulated among the lodges and Chapters.

Bro. Garrod moved, and Bro. Adamson seconded a vote of thanks to Col. Creaton for presiding.

This motion was carried unanimously, and Colonel Creaton having acknowledged the compliment, the brethren separated.

PROVINCIAL GRAND LODGE OF BERKS AND BUCKS.

One of the largest Masonic gatherings that has ever taken place in this province was held at Reading, on Tuesday, the 16th inst., the Berks and Bucks Provincial Grand Lodge being convened at the Albert Hall, Friar-street, which had been suitably prepared for the purpose. Members of the two lodges in that town, augmented by numerous arrivals from the lodges at Abingdon, Maidenhead, Newbury, Windsor, Aylesbury, High Wycombe, Buckingham, Newport Pagnell, and visitors from other provinces, assembled at the hall at one o'clock, and the officers of the Provincial Grand Lodge entering the hall in procession were received by the general body of Masons with the accustomed honours. The Right Worshipful the Provincial Grand Master, Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P., presided, supported by his deputy, the Rev. J. S. Brownrigg, and the Prov. Grand Officers, among whom were Bros. Moxhav, Biggs, Weightman, Hodges, R. Bradley, Williams, Woodhouse, Bulley, Brown, Winkfield, Powell, Ivey, Burns, Carter, Hurley, Botley; Revs. Fraser Campbell and A. Robins, and others well known in the province as "expert" Craftsmen. The visitors included Bros. Mercer, Past Grand Master of China; Goldney, M.P., Deputy Grand Master for Wilts; Toomer, Wilts; Dewe, Hants; Birch, Middlesex; &c. We also noticed present Bros. Baker, Ballard, Powell, Clarke, Morland, Shepherd, Tomkins, Barrett, D'Almaine, Gooch, Palmer, Reeve, Tolley, Glover, King, Nowell, Westfield, Fraser, Huckoale, Dent, Danks, Mount, A. Welch, Parry, Baker, Albury, Blackwell, Stransome, S. Bradley, Geo. Cosburn, Cave, Flanagan, Major Stephens, Ferguson, Ravenor, Knight, Wheeler, Jarman, Christian, Beal, Margrett, Oades, Cotterell, Newman, Pollard, Balding, &c., in all rather more than 100.

The roll having been called, and the minutes of the P.G. Lodge held at Aylesbury last year read and confirmed, the Prov. G. Sec. read the finance report, Bro. Chancellor, the Treas., being absent in consequence of indisposition. The Prov. G. Sec. also read the reports of the Charity Committee, and the lodges in the province. The members now numbered 630. There had been 89 initiations during the year, and the joining members numbered 39. The balances in the lodges amounted to upwards of £800.

The P.G.M. said it was highly gratifying to know that there had been a steady increase during the past 12 months. He hoped that those lodges which had not yet given their support to the Provincial Charity Fund would see the propriety of doing so. Hitherto the amount voted from the Grand Lodge funds to the charity fund had been 20 guineas, but as the number of lodges had been latterly increased the demand upon the charity fund was likely to become greater, and he therefore thought they might safely increase the grant to 25 guineas. He accordingly proposed a motion to that effect.

The D.G.M. said that as the primary object of their institution was charity there was no reason why they should hoard up their funds; and he felt they would be perfectly justified in augmenting the grant to the charity fund year by year as necessity may arise. He therefore seconded the motion, which was put by the P.G.M. and adopted.

The D.G.M. then moved that £73 10s. be transferred from the charity fund in grants of five and seven guineas each to those lodges which had made substantial contributions to the fund.

This proposal was seconded by Bro. Williams and carried.

Bro. Chancellor was unanimously re-elected Treasurer, being proposed by the P.G.M. and seconded by the D.G.M.

The D.G.M. then proposed, and the P.G.M. seconded, a resolution having for its object the more effectual disposal of the votes for the Masonic institutions held by the various lodges, and also by individual members, and this was carried "nem. con."

Bros. Winkfield, P.M. 591; Hodges, P.M. 795; and Powell, P.M. 945, were then respectively invested with the Provincial Charity Jewel.

The Provincial Grand Master then appointed and invested the Provincial Grand Officers for the ensuing year as follows:—

Bros. H. H. Hodges, P.M. 795, Prov. S.G.W.; R. C. Hurley, P.M. 1101, Prov. J.G.W.; Rev. F. Campbell, 574, Prov. G. Chaplain; Rev. A. Robins, P.M. 771, Prov. G. Chaplain; George Chancellor, P.M. 1101, Prov. G. Treasurer; H. Poynter, P.M. 948, Prov. G. Registrar; W. Biggs, P.M. 574, Prov. G. Secretary; Josh. Blowers, P.M. 414, Prov. G.S. Deacon; W. J. Powell, P.M. 945, Prov. G. J. Deacon; H. D. Gooch, P.M. 631, Prov. G. Sup. of Wks.; J. O. Carter, P.M. 209, Prov. G. Dir. of Cer.; John Palmer, P.M. 1501, Prov. G. Asst. Dir. of Cer.; John Reeve, W.M. 840, Prov. G. Sword Bearer; P. Glover, 574, Prov. G. Organist; W. King, P.M. 948, Prov. G. Pursuivant; C. Nowell, 771, Prov. G. Asst. Pursuivant; F. Westfield, Sec. 1501; D. W. Frazer, S.W. 1410; W. Huckoale, S.D. 1501; M. W. Dent, J.D. 1501; J. E. Danks, 1101; R. C. Mount, 414, Prov. G. Stewards; and W. Hemmings, Prov. G. Tyler.

The P.G.M. having expressed his thanks to Bros. Mercer and Goldney for having honoured the gathering with their presence, those gentlemen briefly addressed the brethren.

The P.G.M. then announced that the next Provincial Grand Lodge will be held at High Wycombe; and the business of the lodge was soon afterwards brought to a close.

At three o'clock the officers and brethren sat down to a sumptuous banquet at the Queen's Hotel, the chair being occupied by the Provincial Grand Master, who, on the introduction of dessert, proposed the toast of "The Queen and the Craft," followed by that of "His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, Most Worshipful Grand Master of England, and the rest of the Royal Family," the P.G.M. expressing the joy that all must feel through the safe and happy return of His Royal Highness from his Indian tour.

The next toast was that of "The Most Worshipful the Pro Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master, and the Grand Officers of the Grand Lodge of England, Past and Present."

The D.G.M. proposed "The Health of the Right Worshipful the Provincial Grand Master, Sir Daniel Gooch, Bart., M.P.," which was received with the greatest possible enthusiasm. The D.G.M. believed he was correct in saying that it was an established rule that the busiest men were always most attentive to business, and this was certainly true in the case of Sir Daniel Gooch, who was always engaged with business of importance, and there were few men who transacted business matters more efficiently than Sir Daniel, and yet he found time to attend to his duties as Grand Master of this Province, besides which he attended the meetings of the Grand Lodge of England with great regularity. (Cheers.) As a province they might certainly congratulate themselves on having at their head one who had distinguished himself, whether in the undertakings of every day business or in his duties as a Mason. (Cheers.)

The P.G.M., in returning thanks, observed that it had given him great pleasure to see the Provincial Grand Lodge so largely attended. It was true he had a great many engagements to occupy his time and attention, but supported and encouraged as he was by the brethren of this province he could not but discharge his Masonic duties to the best of his power and ability. (Cheers.) They had heard from their able Secretary, Bro. Biggs, how the lodges were progressing, and also of the support given to the charities, and he could only ask them to continue in the same course, and he hoped that when they assembled at Wycombe next year they would have as much reason to be pleased with the results as on this occasion. (Cheers.) The P.G.M. then proposed "The Health of his Deputy, Bro. the Rev. J. S. Brownrigg," speaking of him as a zealous, active, and good Mason, who had rendered him great assistance in fulfilling his duties as P.G.M., (Cheers.) The P.G.M. also spoke in warm terms of the valuable services of the Rev. Sir John Warren Hayes, who for many years efficiently performed the duties of D.G.M. and whose name he associated with the toast.

The D.G.M. assured the brethren it gave him sincere pleasure to be of service to them, and said he had the fullest authority for stating that every lodge in the province was in a satisfactory state. (Cheers.)

The Rev. Sir J. W. Hayes, Bart., thanked the brethren for this renewed expression of their kind and fraternal feeling and attributed to the great and beneficial change that had occurred with regard to Freemasonry in this province during the past 10 years to the energy of Sir Daniel Gooch, and also to the circumstance that the Deputy Grand Master resided in the Bucks Division of the province. He hoped the prosperity which now characterised Masonry would not only continue, but increase year after year. (Cheers.)

The P.G.M. proposed "The Health of the Visitors," remarking that it gave him particular pleasure to couple with this toast "The Health of Bro. Goldney," who ably filled the position of Deputy Grand Master for the Province of Wiltshire—an office which he himself held for many years, during which he formed associations and friendship upon which he looked back with a great amount of pleasure. (Cheers.)

Bro. Goldney, in thanking the brethren, said it not only delighted him to have been the guest of their esteemed Grand Master, but he was charmed with all he had seen and heard that day, and he hoped Freemasonry would long continue to flourish in this province. He was striving in his own province to follow in the footsteps of his predecessor, now their worthy Provincial Grand Master, whose excellent example was still producing good fruit in the Wiltshire province. From time to time philosophers had attempted to establish a system of universal fraternity and love, and there had been religious movements for the purpose of attaining that end, but he knew of no institution so well calculated to accomplish the purpose as Freemasonry. (Cheers.) If they would but endeavour to maintain the cardinal principles of their Order, and illustrate them in their actions, they would all become better men, and they would thus do much towards civilising and humanising the whole of mankind. Speaking of the Masonic symbols, Bro. Goldney reminded the brethren that not many centuries ago men who advanced scientific truths became the objects of attack and persecution, as in the case of the great Bacon, and it was only by signs and symbols that men could in those days safely communicate great scientific principles to those who would appreciate and foster and encourage them, and therefore in Masonry they had as it were the foundation of those great pursuits to which in these days the world owes so much. (Cheers.)

"The Health of the Provincial Grand Wardens, and other Grand Officers, Past and Present" having been proposed, was responded to by Bro. Hodges, S.G.W. and Bro. Hurley, J.G.W.

The P.G.M. gave "The Health of the Worshipful Masters, Officers, and Brethren of the Reading Lodges, and other Lodges in the Province," for whom Bro. Yeates, W.M. Union Lodge, and Bro. Brown, P.M. Greyfriars Lodge, responded. The P.G.M. thanked the Reading Lodges for the arrangements they had made for the P.G. Lodge. Bro. Brown explained that the W.M. of the Greyfriars Lodge (Bro. Freeman) had unexpectedly been called away on important business, which accounted for his absence.

The P.G.M. proposed "The Health of the Provincial Grand Secretary, Bro. Biggs," of whose indefatigable exertions in the cause of Masonry Sir Daniel spoke in the most eulogistic terms. (Cheers.)

Bro. Biggs, P.G.S., suitably responded, observing that for nearly 25 years past it had been his good fortune to be associated in Masonry with Sir Daniel. In Wiltshire he attained to the high position of Senior Grand Warden, Sir Daniel being Deputy Grand Master. They left Wiltshire about the same period, and on coming into Berkshire he found himself again in office under Sir Daniel. He accounted it an honour of which any Mason might well feel proud to have served under Sir Daniel as he had done, and to have enjoyed for so long a period the confidence of such a good-hearted, honest, and straightforward Masonic character as Sir Daniel was known to be. (Hear, and cheers.)

Then followed the toasts of "The Masonic Charities," "The Musical Brethren," "The Stewards," "The Master Masons" (for whom Major Stevens responded), "The Press," &c.

The speeches were interspersed by vocal music, and the proceedings were prolonged until past eight o'clock.

NEW MASONIC HALL AT GALASHIELS.

LAYING OF FOUNDATION-STONE.

A Masonic ceremony of some interest to the brethren of the province was performed at Galashiels on Friday, 12th inst., the occasion being the laying of the foundation-stone of a new hall by the local lodge, with the countenance and support of the Grand Lodge and their more immediately associated brethren of the district. Since its institution in 1816 the Lodge No. 262, St. John's, Galashiels, has never, it should be explained, had rooms of its own, and for the past year or two a favourite project with its officials and other active members has been the erection of a hall that would adequately provide for the requirements of the increasingly popular society. This scheme having been in its more recent progress taken up by the W.M., Bro. A. Thomson, reached a few months ago a stage which warranted the procuring of building plans from Messrs. Hall and Murray, Galashiels. These plans, which are now being put into execution on a site at the corner of Templar Terrace and the new street which it is intended shall run through part of Gala Park, are of a character that will, besides admitting of the erection of a thoroughly suitable hall, enable the Masonic brethren to provide themselves with this luxury at very little real expense. With an object of this kind in view, the architects have designed a commodious block of buildings, containing, in addition to the requisite lodge accommodation, so placed as not materially to add to the expense of the whole, workmen's dwelling-houses sufficient for ten families, with shop premises on the ground floor. Externally the elevation, showing in style an adaptation of the Scottish baronial, is two storeys in height, with a large attic flat, and in its east and north fronts (which measure in length respectively 65 and 72 feet) has somewhat of a pronounced character. On the East side, that fronting the Free Church recently erected, there is placed at the part most removed from Templar Terrace the entrance to the hall, and in order to characterise the building there has been here introduced the principal feature of the design. The door is arched, and finished with handsome moulding, while from a corbel, run in about six feet from the ground, the wall is projected fully six inches, and carried upwards in the form of a broad gable, broken with a circular window and three panels—the first bearing the date "1876," the second with "Masonic Hall," in raised letters, and the third showing the Masonic emblems. Originally it was proposed to finish this part of the design by the addition of a Scotch baronial tower of considerable height, but, in the meantime, the plans do not provide for this, but merely for the completion of the gable by moulded and lapped "skews," with a thistle in the centre. Intervening between this and the gable which, at the other end of the building, forms its counterpart (with, however, none of its more distinctive characteristics), the elevation is a plain one, pierced on the first and second floors by the doors and windows of the dwelling-houses, and on the attic floor by large circular dormer windows, and broken immediately above the ground floor by a "string course," which is carried round to the north front. With the projection of a second gable above some shop premises the design for the east side is completed, and the block then runs to the north for the distance already specified with an outline very much the same as already described, though altogether more of a secondary character. The hall itself is situated on the second floor, but being thrown back and lighted entirely from the roof, no trace of it except the entrance is visible from the exterior. Although thus occupying no very pretentious place, it is, however, a thoroughly suitable one, being 41 feet by 24 feet 6 inches, and 19 feet in height, and having attached to it a series of commodious ante-rooms. The total cost of the work without the tower is estimated at £3,000, of which a considerable sum has already been expended in excavating the site, this having run into the side of a hillock, and being a costly one to make use of.

The ceremony of Friday was favoured by everything that could contribute to its success—the weather being fine, the assemblage of Freemasons large, and the interest taken in the proceedings by the public very marked. After assembling at the Public Hall, the brethren of St. John's and those forming deputations from the sister lodges in the province were marshalled in processional order by Bro. Bryce, of the Grand Lodge, at one o'clock, and thereafter marched, with music supplied by two bands, through the principal streets of the town, on their way towards what was to be the scene of the ceremony. In all, this procession comprised upwards of 200 Masons, the lodges being disposed of in the following order:—No. 482, Kirkcaldy (number of deputation, 10); No. 405, Rifle, Edinburgh (12); No. 360, Munro (3); No. 291, Celtic, Edinburgh (8); No. 262, St. John's, Galashiels (60); No. 261, Tweed, Kelso (7); No. 223, Trafalgar, Edinburgh and Leith (4); No. 216, Stow, (9); No. 178, Scotia, Glasgow (1); No. 132, St. Luke's, Lauder (15); No. 111, St. John's, Hawick (22); No. 70, St. Abb, Eyemouth (10); No. 32, St. John's, Selkirk (16); No. 24, Kilwinning, Peebles (6, carrying the working tools); No. 10, Dalkeith (6); No. 8, Journeymen, Edinburgh (32); the Provincial Grand Lodge, headed by Bros. Inglis, of Torsonce, Provincial Grand Master of Peebleshire and Selkirkshire (who had been requested to lay the foundation-stone); A. Thomson, S.P.G.M.; Scott, P.G.S.W.; Donaldson, P.G.J.W.; Rev. A. J. Murray, Eddlestone, P.G. Chaplain; R. Sanderson, P.G. Sec.; Kyle, P.G. Deacon; Nisbet, P.G. Steward; Scott, P.G. Steward; Waddie, P.G. Bible-Bearer; Thomson, P.G. Bard; R. Brown, P.G. Master of Ceremonies; and the Grand Lodge, represented by Bro. A. Hay, Grand Jeweller; Bro. W. Officer (P.M. of No. 1); and Bro. W. Hay, Grand Deacon.

On the site of the new building a large piece of ground had been railed off, within which a platform was erected for the accommodation of ladies who wished to see the ceremonial, and the space necessary for marshalling the Masons taking part in the proceedings was furnished. Outside the barriers a large crowd of the townspeople gathered, all anxious to be spectators of what was taking place. At two o'clock, by which time all outsiders had got into position, the procession arrived at the enclosure, and immediately after the Provincial Grand Master had been conducted to a small platform erected for his use, the ceremony was then commenced. Prayer was first offered by the Rev. Bro. Murray, after which

Bro. Thomson, S.P.G.M., said that previous to the foundation-stone of the new hall being laid he wished, in name of the Lodge St. John, to present Bro. Inglis with a silver trowel. (Cheers.) This presentation was, he said, made to their brother as an acknowledgment of the valuable services he had rendered as Provincial Grand Master—(Cheers)—was made, too, because Bro. Inglis was a Border man, and highly appreciated everything connected with the Borders—(Cheers.) and as an acknowledgment of his high literary attainments, gentlemanly bearing, and above all, of those high Masonic principles the possession of which endeared him to every brother in Scotland. (Cheers.)

Bro. Inglis, in acknowledging the presentation, said he accepted with gratitude and pleasure the handsome trowel that had been put into his hands. The Substitute-Grand Master had spoken of him (Bro. Inglis) as a Border man, and there was no mistake that he was right, and in his family they held a charter from Robert Bruce of certain lands near Hawick—the lands of Branzholm, which now belonged to the noble family of Buccleuch, but in regard to which the noble Duke was always ready to admit that this (Bro. Inglis's) family preceded his house in the Borders (Cheers). The Duke's sept was a strong one, quite able to take the cattle of the English, and to keep them—(laughter and cheers)—while his clan was a smaller one, though very obstinate—(laughter)—and when they found themselves opposed to the whole force of the English Borders were obliged to change their possession of Branzholm for certain other lands. (Cheers.)

With full Masonic rites the foundation-stone was then laid, the officials more prominently taking part in the proceedings being the Provincial Grand Master, the Substitute Grand Master, Bro. Sanderson, P.G. Secretary, Bro. Scott, P.G.S.W., and Bro. Donaldson, P.G.J.W. The ceremony having been completed,

Bro. Inglis addressed the brethren. At the outset he alluded at considerable length to the last occasion when he appeared in public in Galashiels in connection with the celebration of the Scott Centenary, and spoke of that demonstration as the result of unbiassed, generous, and enlightened enthusiasm on the part of the townspeople. Referring to the occasion that had brought them together, he congratulated the Lodge St. John on the work that had just been begun, stating that they were the first lodge who, during his period of office at least, had thought fit to erect a temple of their own. (Cheers.) Churches they had of all denominations, devoted exclusively to Christian worship; was it too much, then, he asked, that they who professed the great Christian principles of love of virtue, and of charity, should have a place of assemblage for themselves? (Cheers.) He said "No"—(cheers)—and how entirely the brethren of St. John's agreed with him had already been shown. (Renewed cheers.) He trusted, he said in conclusion, that the brethren of the town would meet together in the new hall on the level and square for many a year to come. (Cheers.)

Bro. Thomson, in conveying the thanks of St. John's Lodge to Bro. Inglis for his services, remarked that, if he did not mistake the temper of the Freemasons of the South of Scotland, their Provincial Grand Master would soon be put in a position in the Grand Lodge itself in which he might enjoy the throne for a season. (Cheers.)

The speech-making being concluded, the procession was re-formed, and marched back, in inverted order, to the Public Hall, where the day's festivities were wound up with a Masonic banquet, over which Bro. Inglis presided.

THANKSGIVING FOR THE PRINCE OF WALES'S SAFE RETURN.

Bro. the Rev. R. J. Simpson, Past Grand Chaplain, will move the following resolutions at Grand Lodge on the 7th June:—

Resolved,

1. That this Grand Lodge desires to record its humble and hearty thanks to Almighty God for the preservation and safe return of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, Most Worshipful Grand Master of English Freemasons, and that, with a view to testifying to this loyal and devout feeling in a more united, public, and solemn manner, this Grand Lodge resolves (with the approval of the Most Worshipful the Grand Master and the kind permission of the proper authorities) to hold, on some convenient day, a service of praise and thanksgiving in St. Paul's Cathedral.

2. That as a thank offering on this occasion this Grand Lodge votes from its Fund the sum of £1,000, which, together with the offerings made at the service in St. Paul's, shall be devoted to the benefit of such charitable object in India as may be recommended by the Most Worshipful Grand Master.

In the event of the above resolutions being passed,

Resolved,

3. That the following brethren constitute a special committee to carry out this resolution, viz.:—

R.W. Bro. Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M.
R.W. Bro. Earl of Donoughmore, G.S.W.
R.W. Bro. Hon. W. W. Vernon, G.J.W.
V.W. Bro. Aeneas J. McIntyre (Q.C.), G.R.
R.W. Bro. J. Havers, P.G.J.W.
V.W. Bro. J. B. Monckton, P.G.D.
R.W. Bro. J. Clabon, Pres. B.G.P.
R.W. Bro. Sir A. Woods, G.D.C.
V.W. Bro. J. Hervey, G. Sec.
V.W. Bro. S. J. Wigram, G. Chap.
Bro. Dr. Erasmus Wilson, W.M. No. 2.
Bro. Standish Grady.
Bro. Major General Clerk.
V.W. Bro. R. J. Simpson, P.G. Chap.

LODGE OF BENEVOLENCE.

The monthly meeting of the Lodge of Benevolence was held on Wednesday evening, at Freemasons' Hall. The quarterly meeting of the Board of Masters was previously held, at which the paper of business for Grand Lodge Quarterly Communication was settled. Even for the meeting of the Board of Masters, which is always numerously attended, the number of brethren who were present was very large—100 brethren attended. Bro. John M. Clabon, P.G.D. President, presided; Bro. James Brett, P.G.P., Junior Vice President, was in the Senior Vice President's chair; and Bro. S. Rawson, Past District G.M. of China, was in the chair of the Junior Vice President. The Grand Senior Warden of the year, the Earl of Donoughmore, was among the numerous brethren who took part in the proceedings. There were also present Bros. S. Foxall, W. F. Nettleship, Percy Leigh, J. M. Case, Benj. Head, H. Marsh, E. Watts, John Bingemann, W. Fourdrinier, H. Bartlett, Samuel May, W. H. Hemsworth, John Green, W. Clifton Crick, C. J. Morgan, James Pinder, John Constable, William Dodd, W. H. Lee, John Wright, P.G.P.; Jos. Smith, P.G.P.; Cotterburne, P.G.P.; Dr. Hogg, W. Stephens, W. J. Murlis, Hogard, Griffiths Smith, W. H. Myers, B. H. Swallow, Rev. J. M. Vaughan, S. Poynter, J. Hervey, H. G. Buss, A. A. Pendlebury, W. T. Howe, and F. Binckes.

The Lodge of Benevolence sat for four hours, and in the course of the evening voted a total of £653, which was made up of three sums of £50 each, one of £40, four of £30, nine of £20, five of £15, eight of £10, one of £5, and one of £3.

Lodge was then closed and adjourned.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT AND PILLS.—Safely and Securely.—When the severities of winter have yielded to the genial spring, invalids should make a determined effort to regain their lost health, when, through confinement indoors, want of appetite, and disturbed sleep, the entire system has been weakened and the spirits have been broken down. Holloway's remedies are equal to the occasion. The ointment rubbed over the regions of the stomach and liver, aided by the internal administration of his pills, will rectify the digestion, regulate the bile, and purify the blood—three sanitary actions which will speedily confer renewed vigour, brace up the failing nerves, confirm the flaccid muscles, and restore to the ailing, cheerfulness, that great charm of existence.—ADVT.

METROPOLITAN MASONIC MEETINGS.

For the Week ending Friday, June 2, 1876.

The Editor will be glad to receive notice from Secretaries of Craft Lodges, Royal Arch Chapters, Mark Lodges, Preceptories, Conclaves, &c., of any change in place or time of meeting.

SATURDAY, MAY 27.

Lodge 1541, Alexandra Palace, Muswell Hill.
Chap. 176, Caveac, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Lily, Greyhound, Richmond.
Manchester, 77, London-st., Fitzroy-square.
Star, Marquis of Granby, New Cross-rd.

MONDAY, MAY 29.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Prince Leopold, Lord Stanley Tav., Kingsland.
Strong Man, Jerusalem Tav., St. John's Gate.
Sincerity, Railway Tav., Fenchurch-st. Station.
Camden, Stanhope Arms, Up. James-st., Camden To.
Eastern, Royal Hot., Mile-end-road.
St. James's Union, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Wellington, White Swan, Deptford.
Perfect Ashlar, Victoria Tav., Lower-rd., Rotherhithe.
Sydney, White Hart Ho., Church-rd., Upper Norwood.

TUESDAY, MAY 30.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Yarborough, Green Dragon, Stepney.
Domestic, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
Faith, 2, Westminster Chambers, Victoria-st.
Prince Fredk. Wm., Lord's Hot., St. John's Wood.
Dalhousie, King Edward, Triangle, Hackney.
Prosperity, 1, Camomile-st., Bishopsgate.
St. Marylebone, British Stores Tav., St. John's Wood.
Constitutional, Wheatsheaf Hot., Hand-court, Holborn.
Israel, Rising Sun Tav., Globe Road.
Royal Arthur, Prince's Head, York-road, Battersea.
Beacontree, Red Lion, Leytonstone, at 8.
Metropolitan Chapter, Jamaica Coffee Ho., Cornhill.
Eccelsior, Commercial Dock Tav., Rotherhithe.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 31.

Lodge 898, Temperance-in-the-East, Newby-pl., Poplar.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Mt. Lebanon, Windsor Castle Tav., Southwark-bdg.-rd.
Pythagorean, Prince of Orange, Greenwich.
New Concord, Rosemary Branch Tav., Hoxton.
Royal Union, Horse and Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Confidence, M.H., Basinghall-st.
Peckham, Maismore Arms, Park-road, Peckham.
Stanhope, Thicket Hot., Anerley.
Finsbury Park, Finsbury Park Tav., Seven Sisters'-rd.
Southwark, Southwark Park Tav., Southwark Park.
Duke of Connaught, Havelock Tav., Dalston, E.
United Strength, Grafton Arms, Kentish-town.
Mount Edgumbe, 19, Jermyn-street, St. James's.
Islington, Crown and Cushion, London Wall.
Whittington, Black Bull Tav., Holborn.

THURSDAY, JUNE 1.

Lodge 742, Crystal Palace, Star and Garter, Kew Bridge.
" 1155, Eccelsior, Sydney Arms, Lewisham-rd.
" 1178, Perfect Ashlar, Bridge House Hot.

Chap. 9, Moriah, Albion Tav., Aldersgate-st.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Egyptian, Hercules Tav., Leadenhall-st.
Fidelity, Yorkshire Grey, London-st., W.
Finsbury, Jolly Anglers' Tav., Bath-st., City-road.
Temperance in the East, Catherine-st., Poplar.
Ebony, 12, Ponsonby-st., Millbank.
Highgate, Bull and Gate, Kentish-town.
The Great City, 111, Cheapside.
High Cross, Coach & Horses, High-road, Tottenham.
Salisbury, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Marquis of Ripon, Albion Tav., Albion-rd., Dalston.
Prince Frederick William Chapter, St. John's Wood.

FRIDAY, JUNE 2.

Lodge 1275, Star, Ship Hot., Greenwich.
" 1489, Marquis of Ripon, Ball's-Pond-rd., N.
Chap. 259, Prince of Wales, Willis's Rooms, W.

LODGES OF INSTRUCTION.

Union Waterloo, Thomas-st., Woolwich.
St. George's, Globe Tav., Royal-hill, Greenwich.
Robert Burns, Union Tav., Air-st., Regent-st.
Belgrave, Lyceum Tav., 354, Strand.
Unions Emulation (for M.M.'s), F.M.H.
Temperance, Victoria Tav., Victoria-road, Deptford.
Clapton, White Hart, Clapton.
Metropolitan, Portugal Hot., Fleet-st.
Westbourne, Horse & Groom, Winsley-st., Oxford-st.
Metropolitan, Pentonville-road.
United Pilgrims, Surrey M.H., Camberwell New-road.
St. James's, New Tanners' Arms, Grange-rd., Bermondsey.
Duke of Edinburgh, Silver Lion, Penny-fields, Poplar.
Doric, Earl Grey Tav., Mile-end-road.
Burgoyne, Grafton Arms, Prince of Wales's-road, N.W.
St. Luke's, Commercial Tav., King's-road, Chelsea.
Chigwell, Bald-faced Stag Hot., Buckhurst-hill.
Burdett Courts, Approach Tav., Victoria Park.
Royal Standard, Finsbury Park Tav., Holloway.
Ranelagh, Clarendon Hot., Hammersmith.
Pythagorean Chapter, Prince of Orange, Greenwich-rd.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN WEST LANCASHIRE AND CHESHIRE.

For the Week ending Saturday June 3, 1876.

MONDAY, MAY 29.

Lodge 148, Lights, M. Rooms, Warrington.

TUESDAY, MAY 30.

Chap. 721, Grosvenor, M.H., Chester.
Merchants' L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

THURSDAY, JUNE 1.

Lodge 249, Mariners, M.H., Liverpool.
" 950, Hesket, Royal Hot., Fleetwood.
" 1032, Townley Parker, Howard's A., Whitle-le-Wds.
" 1070, Starkie, Black Horse Hot., Kirkham.
" 1473, Bootle, Molyneux R., Bootle.
Chap. 758, Bridgewater, M.H., Runcorn.
St. John's L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

FRIDAY, JUNE 2.

Lodge 1375, Architect, Didsbury Hot., Didsbury.
" 1387, Chorlton, M.R., Chorlton-cum-Hardy.
" 1505, Emulation, M.H., Liverpool.
Duke of Edinburgh L. of I., M.H., Liverpool.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN GLASGOW AND WEST OF SCOTLAND.

For the Week ending Saturday, June 3, 1876.

All the Meetings take place at Eight o'clock.

MONDAY, MAY 29.

Lodge 103, Union & Crown, 170, Buchanan-st., Glasgow.
Chap. 122, Thetis, 35, St. James-st., S.S., Glasgow.

THURSDAY, JUNE 1.

Lodge 11, St. John's, King's Arms, Maybole.
" 22, St. John Kilwinning, George Hot., Kilmarnock.
" 149, St. Andrew, Masons' Arms, Irvine.
" 157, St. John, Main-st., Beith.
" 165, Royal Arch, King's Arms, Ayr.
" 320, St. John, Royal Arch, M.H., Ardrossan.
" 370, Renfrew, M.H., High-st., Paisley.
" 465, St. Andrew, M.H., Garngad-rd.

FRIDAY, JUNE 2.

Lodge 116, Royal Arch, Council Hall, Rutherglen.
" 135, St. James, Crown Inn, Tarbolton.
" 175, St. John, M.H., Greenock.
" 215, St. Andrew, Avondale Inn, Strathavon.
" 217, Cumberland Kilwinning, T.H., Port Glasgow.
" 242, Houston, Cross Keys Hot., Johnstone.
" 275, Shamrock & Thistle, 22, Struthers-st., Glsgw.
" 360, Commercial, 30, Hope-street, Glasgow.
" 408, Clyde, St. Mark's Hall, Glasgow.
" 459, Kelburne, Cumbræ Hot., Millport.
" 512, Thorntree, M.H., Thornliebank.
" 551, Clydesdale, Royal Hot., Larkhall.

SATURDAY, JUNE 3.

Lodge 458, St. John, Wilson's Hall, Busby.
" 544, St. Andrew, M.H., Coatbridge.

MASONIC MEETINGS IN EDINBURGH AND VICINITY.

For the Week ending Saturday, June 3, 1876.

THURSDAY, JUNE 1.

Lodge 97, St. James's, St. James's Hall, Writers' Court.

FRIDAY, JUNE 2.

Lodge 291, Celtic, of E. and L., Ship Hot., E. Register-st.

ESTABLISHED 1871.

COCKBURN'S UNITED SERVICE AGENCY SOCIETY.

The attention of the United Grand Lodge of England, Grand Lodges, Colonial Board, Committee of Management, Provincial Grand Masters, District Grand Masters, Grand Stewards, W.M.'s, and brethren are specially directed to the facilities and advantages afforded by

COCKBURN'S UNITED SERVICE AGENCY SOCIETY.

for the safe remittance of money to the principal cities and towns of the United Kingdom, the Continent, India, Colonies, and all parts of the world.

GUARANTEED COCKBURN'S CHEQUES can be cashed by Lodges, Brethren, Residents, and Travellers, at Continental, Foreign, and Colonial Banks, at the current rate of exchange.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

The Originators and first starters, in 1871, of the CHEQUE BANK system, of small cheques in lieu of POST-OFFICE ORDERS, are PREPARED to TAKE UP the work of the CHEQUE BANK on its now winding-up, and not only to grant GUARANTEED cheques, which may be cashed without difficulty all over the world, but also to ALLOW 2½ PER CENT. INTEREST annually, at Christmas, on the minimum monthly balances in even £10 of all accounts then open with them.

Absolute Security Ensured, and an immense saving of time and money.

For all information, circulars, and catalogues, apply to the Head Office, 41, Haymarket, London, S.W.

By appointment to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales.

THE EMPEROR OF RUSSIA and the CITY of LONDON.—His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Russia has conferred on Mr. J. W. BENSON the Appointment of Goldsmith to the Imperial Court, in appreciation of Mr. Benson's artistic production of the Gold Casket presented to the Emperor by the Corporation of the City of London.

BENSON, Watch and Clock Maker to the Queen and Royal Family, and to H.R.H. the Prince of Wales.

NOVELTY. — ENGLISH DINING and DRAWING-ROOM ORMOULU CLOCKS, far superior to foreign, designed by English Artists in the Doric, Ionic, Corinthian, Gothic, Medieval, Renaissance, and Italian styles; decorated with Wedgwood and other wares, and made to harmonise with the architecture and furniture of mansions. Solely at BENSON'S establishments.
Clocks, £1 to £1000.
Watches, £2 to £200.
Jewellery, New Designs, £2 to £500.
Plate (Presentation, Prize, Regimental), £5 to £500.
Bronzes, Artistic, Special Designs, £2 to £300.

25, OLD BOND-STREET, W.

ROYAL MASONIC BENEVOLENT INSTITUTION

for Aged Freemasons
and Widows of Freemasons,
CROYDON.

PATRON AND PRESIDENT:

H.R.H. THE PRINCE OF WALES, K.G., &c., M.W.G.M.

At the Annual General Meeting of this Institution, held at Freemasons' Hall, London, on Friday, the 19th May, 1876, W. Bro. Colonel J. Creaton, Vice-Patron, P.G.D., in the chair. After the general business was disposed of, the Governors and Subscribers proceeded to the election of Twenty-one Female Annuitants, from an approved list of thirty-two candidates (the whole of the Male candidates being placed on the list without election), when the following were declared duly elected:—

	Votes.
Mrs. Hoare, Henrietta	1069
" Blackburn, Eliza W.	1044
" Burton, Jane	993
" Gidney, Lydia	763
" Johnson, Harriet	793
" Keen, Mary	684
" Cowen, Harriet	676
" Harvey, Honor	654
" Keddel, Martha F.	634
" Redick, Maria	620
" Brown, Sarah	619
" Charlton, Sarah	616
" Govier, Elizabeth	615
" Froud, Mary	592
" Wingfield, Frances	590
" Rogers, Frances	557
" Tidswell, Susannah	541
" Edwards, Eleanor	539
" Lundy, Charlotte	538
" Wilkes, Elizabeth	513
" *Russell, Sarah	446

Marked thus * elected to fill a vacancy occasioned by death since the voting papers were issued.

The votes of the unsuccessful candidates will be carried forward to the next election.
Copies of the result sheet, with number of votes polled for all candidates, may be had on application to the Secretary.

By Order,

JAMES TERRY,
Secretary.

4, Freemasons' Hall, London, W.C.
19th May, 1876.

Every Freemason should Read LINKS IN THE CHAIN OF EVIDENCE

CONNECTING

ISRAEL AND ENGLAND.

By J. LEYLAND FEILDEN.

Price 2/6. Cloth Gilt. Postage, 2d. extra.

LONDON: W. H. GUEST, 29, PATERNOSTER-ROW.

To the Nobility, County Families, and Gentry.

THE PRINCE'S GATE HOTEL,

19, CROMWELL PLACE, S.W.,
(Opposite South Kensington Station).

PRIVATE HOTEL,

Easy access to all parts of Town, ten minutes of Hyde Park and Albert Hall. Unsurpassed in London for elegance of appointments, replete with every convenience, rendering the House an

EXCEPTIONALLY ATTRACTIVE AND REFINED HOME.

TERMS PER WEEK:

Single Rooms from 3½ to 5 Guineas.
Double Rooms from 6 to 9 Guineas.
Private Sitting Rooms from 3 Guineas. Per day from Half-guinea.

Charges for Visitors, Luncheon 2s. 6d. Dinner 5s. Supper à la Carte.

Gas in Bedrooms, Special Bath and meals served in Bed-rooms at irregular hours extra as per tariff. There is an ascending room to the top of the house.

Complete tariff on application to the PROPRIETOR.

FOR FISH.

Try GOW.

FOR POULTRY.

Try GOW.

FOR GAME.

Try GOW.

FOR BARRELLED OYSTERS.

Try GOW.

J. GOW.

1, HONEY-LANE MARKET, CHEAPSIDE.

Special quotations to large consumers, Hotels, Caterers, &c.
Country Orders promptly executed.

ONE ORDER WILL SECURE FUTURE PATRONAGE

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS:—
Craft Masonry.....	247
Royal Arch.....	248
Mark Masonry.....	249
Scotland.....	249
Royal Masonic Institution for Girls.....	250
OBITUARY:—
Sir Thomas Fermor-Hesketh, Bart.....	250
The Lord Lieutenant at Belfast.....	251
Masonic and General Tidings.....	251
How shall we best celebrate our Grand Master's Return.....	252
Our Royal Bro. King George of Hanover.....	252
The Mysteries of Freemasonry.....	252
Hypercriticism.....	253
The Centennial of Philadelphia.....	253
CORRESPONDENCE:—
A Correction.....	254
Thanksgiving for the Prince of Wales's Safe Return.....	254
Hypercriticism.....	254
The Freemasons' Tavern.....	254
A Suggestion.....	254
Last Meeting of the Great Priory.....	254
Welcome our Grand Master.....	254
United Grand Lodge.....	254
Masonic Meetings for the Week.....	255
Advertisements.....	i. li. iii. iv. v. vi.

REPORTS OF MASONIC MEETINGS.

Craft Masonry.

SOUTHERN STAR LODGE (No. 1158).—On Tuesday, the 23rd ult., a very strong gathering of members and visitors took place at the "Montpelier" Tavern, Walworth, it being the night of nights, namely the installation meeting of this transpontine lodge. The proceedings commenced at an early hour in the afternoon. The officers present were Bros. Wise, W.M.; Macdonald, S.W., W.M. elect; Walters, J.W.; Allen, S.D.; Harris, J.D.; Smith, I.G.; J. Wright, I.P.M. (W.M. Royal Commemoration); A. Wright, P.M., Treas.; Pulsford, P.M., Sec.; Newsham, Asst. Sec.; Hobbell, Asst. Org.; Towers, P.M.; Clark, P.M.; H. Potter, P.M., and Dr. Goldsboro, P.P.G.S.W. of North Wales and Shropshire, &c. (hon. member); Steed, Tyler. Among the numerous visitors we noticed Bros. Ough, P.G.P., and Hogg, P.G.S. of England; Platt, P.M. 23; Dann, P.M. 72; Dilley, P.M. 147; King, P.M. 172; Keeble, P.M. 275; Neville, P.M. 765; Collander, P.M. 908, W.M. designate 1582; Mander, P.M. 1201; Burrell, P.M. 1446; Seard, W.M. 140; Woodman, W.M. 1559; Walls, S.D. 1381; Morphew, S.D. 1585; Elliott (Mount Lebanon). The minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed, the W.M. passed Bro. Deffrus to the F.C. Degree with that care and ease which has characterised his working throughout his arduous year of office. The ceremony of inducting Bro. G. Macdonald to the chair of K.S. was then commenced, Bro. Wise being Installing Officer; and Bros. Clark, P.M.; Dann, P.M.; and Pulsford, P.M., respectively officiated as S.W., J.W., and D.C. It is always gratifying to be in a position to chronicle the maiden effort of any I.P.M., why may endeavour to carry out successfully the difficult task of installing his successor, but when it is performed well—as was the case on this occasion—it becomes a positive pleasure. Bro. Wise's working was simply perfect, and the best proof that can be afforded that his exertions were approved by his crowded auditory was the ovation he received at the conclusion of the ceremonial. The officers were then inducted as follows:—Bros. Walters, S.W.; Allen, J.W.; Smith, S.D.; Harris, J.D.; A. Stewart, I.G.; A. Wright, P.M., Treas.; Pulsford, P.M., Sec.; Newsham, Asst. Sec.; Fortune, D.C.; Holland, W.S.; Burr, Org.; Hobbell, A.O.; Steed, Tyler. The pleasing duty of presenting Bro. Wise with a very handsome P.M.'s jewel was then performed by the W.M., who complimented the I.P.M. for the very admirable manner in which he had presided during his year of office, and that he personally considered him a pattern Master, both in lodge and at the banquet table. In conclusion the speaker said that by Bro. Wise's careful attention to the lodge funds he had relinquished office with the largest sum ever left in the Treasurer's hands by any former I.P.M. of the Southern Star (loud applause), and he hoped that the G.A.O.T.U. would enable him to live many years to wear the jewel which he had so worthily won. Bro. Wise in reply thanked the lodge for the jewel and the W.M. for the kind manner in which he had graced its presentation. He went on to tell them that he had served all the offices of the Lodge from I.G., and that by constant application and attention at lodges of instruction he had endeavoured to master the Masonic ritual, although he confessed he had to contend with a constitutional dulness. In concluding his remarks he exhorted those brethren who had a desire to reach the chair of K.S. to frequently attend lodges where good instruction could be obtained, and stated "en passant" that under the auspices and title of the Southern Star a lodge would be opened at the Crown Hotel, Blackfriars, on the 15th instant, when the ceremonies of consecration and installation would be rehearsed by Bro. Terry, P.D.G.C. of Herts, &c., their W.M. being Hon. Secretary, Bro. Pulsford Preceptor, and himself Treasurer to the said intended lodge. A committee consisting of the officers and seven lay members, viz., Bros. Dowsett, Heffer, Hobbell, Birham, Beavis, Fane, and Wilkie having been appointed to carry out the arrangements of the summer festival, the lodge was closed and the brethren adjourned to the banquet. Upon the removal of the cloth the W.M. gave "The Queen and Craft" (National Anthem—Bro. Walls). In proposing "The Health of H.R.H., the M.W.G.M.," the W.M. briefly touched upon the incident of the Prince's Indian tour and his happy welcome home, and in conclusion he spoke of the great attention and interest H.R.H. had displayed both in this country and abroad in everything relating to Freemasonry, and he, the W.M., considered that the Prince was undoubtedly one of the best Grand Masters that the ancient Craft had ever had. "God Bless the Prince of Wales" having been sung by Bro. Farrell, the W.M. proposed "The Earl of Carnarvon, Pro G.M., Lord Skelmersdale, D.G.M., and the rest of the Grand Officers Past and Present," coupled with the names of Bros. Ough, P.G.P., and Hogg, P.G.S., who responded. In consequence of four gentlemen, viz., Messrs. Block, Pontin, Simms and Scar, having been initiated at a recent L. of E., the W.M. brought their names forward, and they were toasted as "The Initiates," and subsequently they each returned thanks. In giving "The Visitors" the W.M. remarked upon the number of distinguished brethren that had that day honoured the installation meeting of the lodge by their attendance. He was personally exceedingly pleased with the presence among others of Bros. Dilley, King, and Mander, whose abilities as Masonic Preceptors were well and deservedly known. In conclusion he hoped that their visit had been in every way satisfactory to them. This toast having been duly honoured, Bros. Dilley, King, Goldsboro' and Mander made very able replies, the latter brother's speech in particular being full of point and humour. Bro. Wise, I.P.M., then rose and gave "The W.M." In the course of his remarks he said that after the many kind expressions that had fallen from the lips of the various visitors in praise of the genial qualities and abilities of Bro. Macdonald, and which encomiums could be fully endorsed by every member present, it was quite unnecessary for him to dilate upon the subject, but in concluding, he felt sure that the W.M. would give every satisfaction during his year of office in the discharge of the great duties of the position he had undertaken. In reply, Bro. Macdonald said that he was quite overpowered by the many words of praise that had that evening been passed upon him by the visitors, and taken up by the I.P.M., who had so ably proposed his health. He then touched upon his connection with the lodge, which had been established some nine or ten years, and stated that he had received his first lessons in Masonic working from Bro. Dilley, and since then by Bro. Pulsford, their worthy Secretary, and hoped that the instruction thus kindly given had not fallen on barren soil, but of that the members of the lodge could be the only judges. He concluded by telling them that he would do his best to enhance the prosperity of the Southern Star, which lodge had in so short a time made such gigantic strides in the world Masonic, and begged them to believe that that was the happiest moment he had ever experienced. Between the toasts, Bros. Hogg, Ross, Walls, Walters, and others poetically and vocally amused the brethren. The remaining toasts were "The Masonic Charities," "The Past Masters," "The Officers of the Lodge," and the Tyler's. The proceedings, which were throughout eminently successful, terminated at an advanced hour, and the brethren separated until the fourth Tuesday in September.

GRANITE LODGE (No. 1328).—In the accession of members to this lodge there seems to be an especial fatality. The followers who flocked to the standard of King John were never more enthusiastic or more loyal to his cause than were those to the Craft who on Saturday, the 13th ult., were added to the grand category of innocent martyrs to the fascinations of the Masonic art. When the ancient Druids of Stonehenge were in the pride and glory of their fame never could the devotees of their peculiar "ism" have sought the shrine of their sacred lapidarian pile imbued with nobler sentiments or endowed with feelings of deeper appreciation of their primitive pastimes than were those who on that particular day enshrined their names in the blessed cause of Freemasonry. History has certainly been repeating itself in the Granite Lodge with something approaching to amazement. At almost every lodge the brief chronicle the times has to record the addition of a whole batch of strangers ready and desirous to embrace the mysteries of the Craft. The ranks are being constantly filled, and volunteers are repeatedly enlisting. But who can wonder at these events under the able generalship of the P.W.M. (Bro. Oliver), and his subalterns, the celebrated "Juniors," the performance of whose offices forms no indifferent part of the whole of the strategical movements of the mighty army of Freemasons. With sincere regret he said the announcement was made that the W.M. (Bro. Muggeridge) was unable to assume his post on this occasion from continued indisposition, and it therefore fell to the lot of Bro. Oliver to raise to the Sublime Degree of M.M. Bros. J. H. Outhwaite, C. J. Jones, J. B. Lee, G. H. Chapman, Egerton J. Pain; to pass Bro. A. J. Hewitt, and initiate Bro. Edward Francis Clarke. Bro. David Duke was also initiated, and Bro. R. B. Austin likewise. A donation to the Royal Masonic Girls' School was voted, to be placed on the list of Bro. W. H. Muggeridge, W.M., who will represent the lodge as Steward at the next festival. The lodge then formed itself into a forum for the discussion of general matters. Bro. Lewis Thomas rose to speak of the prosperous condition of the lodge, while Bro. Hackett's moulted told of the unmistakably abundance of his Chancellorship of the Exchequer and the redundancy of the precious metal. As a consequence of this pleasing intelligence nothing less than a summer banquet could be thought of—especially when it was considered that all the Masonic charities had been freely patronised, and considering also the long interval between that and next meeting. Many innocent remarks followed the suggested event, in order to make the occasion in all respects worthy of the Granite Lodge. Strange to relate—for we do not mind for once divulging a cabinet secret—the ladies were positively brought into question—a subject every one will allow admitting of a wide field of pretty discourse and luscious "sweet nothings," as the fair sex call compliments, on the charms and the beauty of "the pinks of fashion and the darlings of the day," as the song would remark. And some brother, more remarkable for the softness of his heart than the hardness of his head (as Bro. Middlemass would say), positively had the cool effrontery to propose that the rank and file of the Granite's army of pleasure seekers should be swollen on the great occasion by the presence of the ladies. Need we say, as the song says, "that a storm arose," the bosom of the deep was never more agitated; and after the surging waves of opposition had done their destructive work the proposition was fated, like the baseless fabric of a vision, to leave not a wreck behind, for in the full tide of masculine prejudice the feminine boat was completely tossed to the winds and the resolution negatived. While this discussion was going on Bro. Cole, at No. 2, Westminster Chambers, had prepared a very pleasant supper for their delectation; after partaking of which Bro. Oliver, in the chair, proposed "The Health of Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen," "The Most Worshipful Grand Master, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales," and coupled with it that of all the Royal Family, which were heartily responded to. Following these toasts, "The Health of the Pro Grand Master, the Earl of Carnarvon, and Lord Skelmersdale," were given next, and responded to with true Masonic enthusiasm. "The Health of Bro. Cottebrune" was given next, and the W.M. remarked that he was so valuable to the lodge that they should regret very sincerely to lose his services. Bro. Batson proposed "The Health of the Master," who, he said, had always fulfilled the office of the chair with kindness, and the addition of cordiality. Bro. Oliver, W.M., in thanking them, remarked that it always gave him pleasure to be amongst the members of the Granite Lodge. He then proposed "The Health of the Initiates," and coupled with it the names of Bros. Middlemass, Browning, and Turner, each of whom responded, Bro. Middlemass enlivening the proceedings by a very able and humorous speech. The W.M. then gave "The Health of the P.M.'s, Bros. Batson, Lenly, D. Maid, and J. Lewis Thomas," each of whom acknowledged the toast, and expressed the great pleasure they felt at the magnificent growth of the Granite Lodge. The W.M. next selected the worthy Treasurer, Bro. Hackett, and Bro. Thomas, the Secretary, as the objects of his favour. Bro. Hackett, in returning thanks, observed that it was not a thankful office to keep the cash; but he nevertheless hoped he should long continue to do so if it were only for the pleasure of being called "the Man of Brass." It was his peculiar function to advocate expenditure, and whenever it was a question of charities he was proud to say he always did so with joy. They must be careful, however, not to let charity degenerate into pauperism; and therefore it was with feelings of gratification that he heard there was to be an expenditure on a summer banquet. The funds were ample and could well afford the proposed event. Bro. Thomas remarked that the duties of his office were performed with much pleasure, for it added greatly to the willingness with which he fulfilled his obligations when he knew he was Secretary to a lodge second to none in the metropolis. He assured them that there was no man so well able to take care of the cash as Bro. Hackett. The W.M. then proposed "The speedy restoration to health of the W.W., Bro. Muggeridge," which was cordially responded to. "The Health of the Minor Officers" brought to their feet Bros. Bosworth, Gardner, and Kirk, who each referred to their respective functions as the units which go to making the condition of the Granite Lodge one of unmixed pleasure and satisfaction, and the brethren separated shortly after midnight.

ST. DUNSTON'S LODGE (No. 1589).—This lodge held a meeting at Anderson's Hotel, Fleet-street, on Thursday evening, the 25th ult. Bros. Dwarber, P.M. 55, W.M.; Wellsman, P.M. 858, S.W.; L. Alexander, P.M. 188, J.W. (in the absence of Bro. Dalwood through illness); A. Tisley, Sec.; Turner, J.D.; Woodbridge, I.G.; and the following visitors:—Bros. H. J. Green, W.M. 1538; C. H. Stephenson, W.S.; E. Swanborough, J.D. H. F. Cox, D.C. 1319; J. W. M. Doselle, P.M. and Sec., 55; A. R. Haley, P.M. 862; C. Centun, of Le Travail Lodge, at Verviers, in Belgium; O. Low, 258; W. R. Buckmann, 1287; J. Shuter, P.M. and Sec., 858. Bros. Manners, Low, Clemow, Bull, and Thurgood were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason.

KENDAL.—Union Lodge (No. 129).—The regular meeting of this old and flourishing lodge was held at the Masonic Rooms, Stramontage, on Thursday, the 23rd ult., when Bro. Fred. Chas. Grayson, W.M., presided, assisted by his officers, Bros. Rich. J. Nelson, S.W.; W. Crauston, J.W.; Geo. B. Greenall, Treas.; George J. McKay, Sec.; W. H. Akerigg, S.D.; Thos. Baron, J.D.; Robt. B. Hunter, I.G. There were also present the following members:—Bros. Harry Rauthmell, P.M. and M.E.Z. 129, P.P.G.D. of C. Cumberland and Westmorland, Steward for the Royal Masonic Institution for Boys; H. F. Scales, Thos. C. Fearenside, O. G. Grayson, W. F. Robson, W. Middleton, Jas. Gooding, J. Hunter, F. W. Watson, W. Harrison, R. Godfrey, Jas. Winder, Edward O. Dwyer, J. Banks. Visitors:—G. Taylor, 1051; J. Wilkinson, 940; A. Balmforth, 779. The lodge was opened in the first Degree with solemn prayer, and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed. Bros. Edward O'Dwyer and James Winder, were passed to the degree of F.C. by the W.M. in a very able and impressive manner. This being the last meeting for the season, the W.M. (in deference to the wish of several of the younger brethren) decided to meet on the last Thursday of next month, for the purpose of raising the two candidates, to enable them to attend Provincial Grand Lodge in autumn, which is expected to be held at Kirkby Lonsdale, the seat of the Right Hon. the Earl of Bective, P.G.M. of Cumberland and Westmorland, when a very large gathering of the brethren from the province and elsewhere is anticipated. Bro. P.M. Rauthmell informed the brethren that any member desirous of attending the Festival of the R.M.I. for Boys could obtain a ticket for dinner (price one guinea) from himself, being Steward for the province, or Bro. Binckes, Secretary of the Institution. Heartly good wishes having been expressed by the visiting brethren, the lodge was solemnly closed in peace and harmony at 8 p.m.

JERSEY.—Lodge La Cesaree (No. 590).—The 25th anniversary meeting of this lodge was held on Thursday, May 25th, at the Masonic Temple, for the sole purpose of installing the W.M. elect and investing his officers. Soon after 4.30 the lodge was opened by Bro. A. Grant, W.M., supported by Bros. Geo. J. Renouf, P.M., P.S.G.W., as S.W.; Capt. P. Messervy, J.W.; A. Schmitt, P.M., P.P.S.G.W., Sec.; J. T. du Jardin, P.M., P.P.S.G.W.; J. Oatley, P.M., P.S.G.W.; John Durell, P.M., P.P.S.G.W., Treas.; A. Gallichan, I.G., and others. Amongst the visitors were Bros. Gen. T. C. Kelly, C.B., W.M. 877, P.S.G.D.; E. Martel, W.M. 958, P.P.G.D.C.; C. Kingsnorth, W.M. 245, P.P.J.G.W.; R. Barrow, P.M. 491, P.G. Reg.; P. W. Benham, W.M. 244, P.G. Treas.; J. O. Le Sœur, P.M. 491, P.G. Sec.; W. Metherell, W.M. 1003; P. Blampied, S.W. 245, P.G.D.C.; F. Le Feuvre, J.W. 877, P.G.S.B.; and others. After the confirmation of minutes the lodge was opened in the Second Degree. Bro. A. Schmitt took the chair as Installing Master, when Bro. J. T. du Jardin presented Bro. A. Grant as W.M. elect., the customary enumeration of duties was made and acknowledged, the ancient charges were read and assented to, and the obligation of W.M. elect administered. The lodge was opened in the Third Degree, and all brethren who had not passed the chair withdrew. A board of Installed Masters was then formed, and Bro. A. Grant duly placed in the chair of K.S. according to ancient custom. The usual processions, salutations, and proclamations were gone through, and after the address, delivered by the I.M., Bro. A. Grant, W.M., briefly remarked that, fully acknowledging the difficulty of the task he had undertaken, he was sensible of the honour conferred upon him for the second time. He accepted the responsibility, and trusted with God's support he should not be wanting in the worthy discharge of it, especially as he had been promised and could confidently rely upon efficient help from the P.M.'s. The following appointments were made, the I.M. in each case officiating and offering appropriate remarks: Bros. J. Pallot, I.P.M.; Capt. P. Messervy, S.W.; E. Carre, J.W.; J. Durell, P.M., Treas.; A. Gallichan, S.D.; J. Le Goupillot, J.D.; J. P. De St. Croix, I.G.; H. du Jardin, Tyler; and A. Schmitt was invested by the W.M. as Sec. The proceedings connected with the installation having been brought to a close, the Secretary presented the annual report of the Audit Committee, containing the actual financial condition of the lodge and a number of recommendations, which, on a proposition duly made and seconded, were received, approved, and ordered to be entered on the minutes. No other business offering, the lodge was closed; the brethren adjourned and sat down to an excellent dinner, the chair being occupied by the W.M., supported on his right by Bros. A. Schmitt, Gen. T. C. Kelly, J. Pallot, P. W. Bonham, and J. Durell, and on his left by Bros. J. T. du Jardin, A. Viel, P. W. Binch, J. O. Le Sœur, E. Martel, R. Barrow, G. J. Renouf, G. F. Baker, W.M. 491, and other members. The usual local and Masonic toasts having been duly honoured, including those of W.M., P.M.'s, W.M.'s of sister lodges, Bro. J. Durell proposed "Prosperity to our Royal Masonic Benevolent Institutions," expressing in warm and sympathetic terms his views on the powerful importance of those noble institutions, benefitting so many decayed brethren and sisters, and hundreds of our orphans boarded, clothed, and educated. He energetically urged upon the brethren the duty of liberally supporting both the old and the young, alluding particularly to the efforts made and crowned with success in this province by delegating one of its members to represent it as Steward at the festival of the School for Girls in the person of Bro. A. Schmitt, and coupling his name with the toast, which elicited the warmest applause. Bro. A. Schmitt gracefully acknowledged the kind and warm sentiments manifested by the brethren towards our Royal Masonic Institutions, and briefly narrated his own impressions engrained in his mind on the practical utility and benefits of these benevolent institutions by his visiting and inspecting as Steward the School for Girls. He depicted rapidly and vividly not only the charming structure of the building, but expatiated particularly on the judicious arrangements for the health, comfort, and happiness of the children, and could not but express his heartfelt joy and gratification with regard to the adopted system of education: French, German, English, needlework, music, domestic duties, &c. He advocated the noble cause of our Benevolent Institutions, the chief object of our charitable duties towards our neighbour, and worthy of every Mason's support, and in concluding he conveyed in the name and on behalf of the girls his most grateful thanks to the lodges, chapters, and brethren who came forward so liberally, enabling him thereby to creditably accomplish his mission. Bro. A. Schmitt then proposed a special toast, "The Absent Honorary Members of the Lodge, our eminent Bros. Dr. H. Hopkins and Wm. James Hughtan (Truro)." He sketched in terse terms the Masonic work and merit of these indefatigable pioneers in the research of historical knowledge and truth, the accomplished Craftsmen of learning and erudition, who, by the fruits of their hard labour, diffuse cheerfully Masonic light amongst the brotherhood in general by making the real object of Freemasonry known, understood, and appreciated. This sentiment was enthusiastically applauded. The speeches were interspersed with excellent vocal music, and the proceedings terminated at half-past nine o'clock.

JERSEY.—St. Aubin's Lodge (No. 958).—The anniversary meeting of this very much respected and flourishing lodge took place at the Masonic Temple, Jersey, on Tuesday, the 16th ult., under very favourable auspices. Of course the point culminant was the installation of W.M. for the ensuing year, although the ceremony of raising was previously performed in a very impressive manner. It is, however, important to state that the lodge was opened at four o'clock p.m. under the able Master-ship of Wor. Bro. E. Martel, P.P.G.D. of C., assisted by Wor. Bro. J. Oatley, as S.W.; Bro. W. H. Chapman, J.W.; Wor. Bro. R. Barrow, P.M. 491, as Deacon; with several other members. Amongst the visitors were Very Wor. Bro. Wm. J. Le Cronier, D.P.G.M.; W. Bros. A. Schmitt, P.P.G.S.W. (who acted as Steward for the Province at the Festival of the Girls' School this month); J. O. Le Sœur, P.G. Sec.; P. W. Benham, P.G. Treas.; W. Buzzard, P.M. 168, P.G.D. for Warwickshire; with a great number of other visitors. At 5.30, the W.M., being W.M. elect (he having been elected for the second year), vacated the chair for Very Wor. Bro. Wm. J. Le Cronier, D.P.G.M., who gracefully acted as Installing Master. The W.M. was presented to him to receive at his hands the benefit of installation, and never was that duty performed in a more efficient manner. After the W.M. was installed, he proceeded to appoint his officers, and such as were present were duly invested. Previous to the lodge being closed Wor. Bro. A. Schmitt rose and gratified the brethren with an energetic and interesting account of his duties and experience as Steward of the Province at the festival of the Girls' School, which, by the way, caused a great deal of pleasure to all present. In the name of the orphan girls he thanked the brethren for their zeal and energy in supporting so noble and useful an institution, at the same time encouraging the Craft in persevering in that same path which is conducive of so much good, placing our Order at the head of all other philanthropic societies. At 6.30 the lodge was finally closed, and the brethren adjourned to the banquetting hall of the Temple, where the anniversary banquet was prepared by Bro. W. H. Long, P.M. of the lodge. After the cloth was removed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given and received with that warmth and zeal which should at all times characterize Masons—"The Queen and the Craft," "The M.W.G.M. His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales," &c., &c., the Wor. Master eulogizing each toast in turn with tact and ability. The next toast was "The P.G.M. for Jersey, his Deputy, and the Officers of Provincial Grand Lodge of Jersey," and the manner in which it was accepted was a sufficient proof of the allegiance of the province to its head. The toast was responded to by the Very Wor. Bro. Wm. J. Le Cronier, D.P.G.M. With that spirit of love and courtesy which has endeared him to the Craft, he assured the brethren that the task he had done on that occasion was one that will remain uppermost in his Masonic career, for in installing Wor. Bro. E. Martel he knew well that he was giving additional foundation to the Craft in the province, and it was with the greatest pleasure that he wished him good health and prosperity, and without further comment proposed "The W. Master's Health," which was accepted with great enthusiasm. The W.M. in acknowledging the fraternal good wishes of the brethren, promised his earnest endeavours in promoting the welfare of St. Aubin's Lodge in particular, and the Order in general. The next toast by the W.M. was "The Visitors," responded to by Wor. Bro. W. Buzzard, P.M. 68, and P.P.G.S.D. for Warwickshire, thanking the Jersey brethren for the cordial welcome he had received at their hands, at the same time expressing his pleasure and satisfaction in seeing the rapid strides Masonry was making in the Province of Jersey, remarking it was quite extraordinary to see a small community like this province possess seven lodges, whilst the Province of Bristol had a population of more than double the number, and could only boast of eight lodges. He should go back home with recollections that would always give him great pleasure when he thought of Jersey. The next toast was "The Past Master of St. Aubin's Lodge," by the Worshipful Master, in which were coupled the names of the R.W. the Provincial Grand Master, Wor. Bro. Wm. Hopkins, P.P. G.S.W. for Warwickshire, and Wor. Bro. A. Schmitt, his sincere friend, which was accepted in a truly Masonic and fraternal manner, and responded to by Wor. Bro. J. O'Flaherty, I.P.M., [and in thanking the brethren for their mark of respect towards the Past Masters, said he would only have been too happy to have had the pleasure of Bro. Past Master Dr. Hopkins's company at the festival, although many miles from Jersey, he had always shown the greatest interest for the welfare and prosperity of the lodge, inasmuch as he was the founder, and the St. Aubin's Lodge could not give a better testimony of filial affection than by accepting the toast in the manner they had. In the course of the evening good pieces of vocal and instrumental music were given by several of the brethren, and at 10.30, when the Tyler gave the final duties required at all Masonic gatherings, the brethren separated, delighted with the anniversary festival of St. Aubin's Lodge.

HAMPTON.—Hemming Lodge (No. 1512).—An emergency meeting of this rapidly-increasing lodge was held at the Lion Hotel on Thursday, the 18th ult. There were present a goodly number of brethren. The officers present were Bros. Hopwood, P.M. 141, W.M.; W. Hammond, P.M. Jordan and Lebanon, P.J.G.D. of Middlesex, I.P.M. and acting Sec.; Hill, P.M. Canonbury, &c., S.W.; Hurst, J.W., W.M. elect; Ockenden, D.C., acting S.D.; Walls, acting J.D.; Jessett, I.G.; and Gilbert, Tyler. There was a very full agenda of business. Messrs. C. V. J. De Fernex and E. Andrews were initiated; Bros. W. Knowles, J. Read, and J. Smythe passed; and Bros. W. J. Day, J. Donald, and P. S. Gavann raised. The three arduous ceremonies were all well carried out by the W.M. It was proposed by the W.M. elect, seconded by the I.P.M., and unanimously carried, "That the sum of five guineas be voted for the purchase of a copy of the Installation Picture of His Royal Highness the Most Worshipful Grand Master, to be the property of the lodge, and placed in the keeping of the W.M. for the time being." Previously to the closing of the lodge, Bro. W. Hammond, I.P.M., took occasion to remind the brethren that he had accepted the post of Steward at the forthcoming festival of the Boys' School, as representing the Lebanon Lodge, of which lodge the Hemming was an offshoot, and hoped that those brethren who had not promised their subscriptions to other Stewards would kindly assist him. The members shortly afterwards partook of a well-served collation. Upon the removal of the cloth the W.M. gave "The Queen and Craft," which was duly honoured. Bro. Walls having sung the "National Anthem," the W.M. proposed "The Health of the M.W.G.M.," in which he stated the gratification he felt—which he was sure was also shared not only by every member of the Hemming Lodge but by the Craft universally—at the safe arrival of H.R.H. after one of the most brilliant and arduous Royal progresses on record. They had doubtless all read of the many splendid receptions and entertainments the Prince had received during his tour, but they would all fall short of the grand fête and "Welcome Home" that the citizens of London had organised in honour "The W.M.'s Health" was proposed by the I.P.M., and duly honoured. The W.M., having briefly replied, gave "The Initiates," to which toast Bro. De Fernex made a humorous reply. The W.M. also proposed "The Officers." In his speech he particularly mentioned the great services he had received during his year of office from the I.P.M., the Sec., the Wardens, and the majority of the junior officers. Previously to concluding his remarks the W.M. said that that evening being in all probability the last time he should have an opportunity of presiding at the convivial board, he wished to acknowledge the faithful manner in which the reports of the lodge proceedings by Bro. Walls had been published in the columns of the "Freemason," and he should, therefore, in addition to the officers of the lodge then present, annex that brother's name to the toast. Bros. W. Hammond, I.P.M.; Jephson, (late Treas.); Hill, S.W.; Hurst, J.W., and W.M. elect; Jessett, I.G.; Ockenden, D.C.; and Walls having suitably acknowledged the compliment, the Tyler's toast was called, and the brethren separated. During the proceedings Bros. Hurst, Hill, Read, Walls, and De Fernex vocally amused the brethren. The installation of Bro. J. Hurst, W.M. elect, will take place on the third Thursday in October next.

Royal Arch.

THE WILLIAM PRESTON CHAPTER (No. 766).—The installation meeting of this thriving chapter was held on Thursday, the 25th of May, this night being the commencement of the third year since the foundation of the companionship, under the noted banner lodge. Comp. Captain James Kain, the M.E.Z., was unfortunately absent through illness, and Comp. George Newman, one of the most active Masons of the day, occupied his place, with Comp. Dr. R. Harland Whitman as H., and Comp. P.Z. Worrall, as J. Comps. H. Garrod, P.Z.; Augustus Braun, Dr. Kempster, W. E. Newton, and Gibson were working officers. The first business after the reading of the minutes was the exaltation of four brothers, namely, Bros. While, P.M. of United Strength, No. 228 ("Freemason"); W. T. Rickwood, of the Lion and Lamb, No. 192; J. R. Williams, and F. G. Barns. Comp. Dr. Kempster, acting as P.S., with Comp. W. E. Newton as assistant, led the brethren most efficiently through the initiatory steps of the beautiful degree, and Comps. Newman and Garrod delivered the charges in a manner which made the deepest impression upon the exaltees. The companions under the Chair Degree were then excluded, and on their return they found Comp. Dr. H. H. Whitman installed as M.E.Z., Comp. Newman, as H., and Comp. A. Braun, as J. Comp. W. Worrall was invested as Scribe E., Comp. Garrod as Treas., Comp. Dr. Kempster as Scribe N., and Comp. W. E. Newton as P.S. There were also present Comps. Gibson, Gunner, W. E. Newton, Slienmans, Reissmann, Partridge, Klenck, Davison; and the visiting companions were J. Taylor, of the Doric, and G. Abbott, of the Lion and Lamb. After Comp. Dr. Kempster had given a notice of motion to raise the exaltation fees, and the annual subscription, as well as several names for exaltation—the names in fact of all the officers, with one exception, of the Earl Spencer Lodge, the exception being the name of one who was ill—the chapter was closed, and the brethren adjourned to the banquetting-room, where an excellent banquet was spread, the indefatigable Comp. Newman acting as Steward. The usual loyal toasts were given by the M.E.Z. with remarkable point, and then Comp. Worrall proposed the loyal toast of "The Chapter," speaking in warm terms of the M.E.Z. This was warmly drunk, and Comp. Whitman responded. He then proposed the toast of "The Exaltees," each of whom responded, and spoke of their warm appreciation of the ceremony through which they had passed. In the course of the evening the principal officers responded to the toasts of their healths, and Comp. Dr. Kempster gave his reasons for desiring to raise the fees and subscriptions, saying that he desired to see the chapter in a position to give aid to the Masonic charities. These sentiments were warmly applauded. The companions were greatly delighted with harmony by Comps. Garrod and Gunner.

WHITTINGTON CHAPTER (No. 862).—The last convocation of the session was held on Friday, 26th ult. In the absence of the M.E.Z. (Comp. Jones), the chapter was opened by W. Stephens, H., acting as Z.; Comp. Coote, P.Z., H.; and Comp. Weaver, P.Z., J. The minutes of the last convocation were confirmed, when two candidates, Bro. Penn, 511, and Bro. Parker, of 1489, were both exalted to this Supreme Degree, and the addresses of the Principals were rendered in a conspicuously correct anner. This being the annual election, Comp. W. Stephens was unanimously elected Z.; Kingston, H.; Tinsy, J.; R. W. Little, Treas.; J. Weaver, Scribe E.; Moore, N.; and W. J. Murliss, P. Soj. A P.Z. jewel was voted to the retiring M.E.Z., and the chapter closed. A splendid banquet was served by Bro. Clemow, and the usual toasts given, that of "H.R.H. the Grand Z." being most heartily received, and grateful thanks given for his return.

LIVERPOOL.—Mariners' Chapter (No. 9).—The annual meeting of this chapter was held at the Masonic Hall, Hope-street, on the 18th ult., there being then a large and influential gathering of companions. The chapter was opened at six o'clock by Bro. H. Pearson, Z., assisted by Comps. W. Doyle, Z., P.P.G.J., as H.; P. B. Gee, J.; Arthur Davies, E.; Rev. Phillip Haines, S.N.; Joseph Wood, Treas.; J. E. Jackson, P.S.; and the members present were Comps. W. Jones, P.Z.; J. Croxton, W. P. Jennings, J. H. Gregory, W. Fish, J. Normanton, W. Roberts, J. Ellis, J. Parkes, W. Nelson, P. Robbie, W. Pittain, G. W. Webster, W. C. Webb, A. Cotter, W. Peak, R. Carter, W. Curtis, C. Warriner, H. Firth, Archdeacon, D. Lloyd, and J. Griffiths. The visitors included Comps. T. Clark, P.Z., and Z. 673; R. R. Martin, Z. 1094; T. Shaw, J. 823; H. Burrows, S. 673; H. Jackson, 291; J. Skelby, 673; and others. The minutes of the previous chapter were read and confirmed. Bro. Robert G. New, who had previously been balloted for, being in attendance, was duly elected by the M.E.Z., assisted by his Principals. The work was done in a most creditable manner, Comp. J. E. Jackson especially deserving honourable recognition. Comp. Henry Pearson was afterwards installed M.E.Z. for the second year, and Comp. P. B. Gee was inducted Z., and Comp. J. E. Jackson as J., the work being done in a masterly manner by Comp. T. Clark. The following were appointed and invested as officers:—Comps. Joseph Wood, Treas. (for the seventh time); A. Davies, S.E.; W. Jones, P.Z., as S.N. (on behalf of Comp. T. Ocklelaw, who was unable to be present on account of having met with a very severe accident); Rev. P. Haines was re-elected Chaplain, and Comp. W. H. Ball, Janitor. After some formal business had been transacted the chapter was closed, and the companions adjourned to a substantial banquet served by Comp. Ball. The usual loyal and Masonic toasts were given during the evening.

TORQUAY.—St. John's Chapter (No. 328).—The annual chapter meeting for the installation of Principals and officers took place at the Masonic Hall, Torquay, on Tuesday, May 23rd. Five joining companions were first balloted for and elected, and the exaltation of Bro. W. G. King also was effected, after which the principals elect, Ex. Comps. Thomas Perry, 2; James Murray, H.; and Wm. Ellis Warren, J., were installed by Ex. P. Z., Rev. Robt. Bowden, P.P.G.C., assisted by Ex. Comps. P.Z. D. Watson, and I.P.Z. C.J. Harland. Comps. Bradull and J. Hurrell were respectively inducted to the offices of S.E. and S.N., the Prin. Soj., Comp. Piggott, being unavoidably absent. After the close of the chapter the Comps. repaired to the Royal Hotel, where a recherche banquet served by Comp. King awaited them, over which an enjoyable evening was spent. Amongst others present were Comps. G. G. Johnstone, Treas.; Benjamin Fullwood, Evers, Dodge, Morgan, Hussey, King, Chennour, &c. A P.Z.'s jewel was presented to the retiring Ex. Z. C. J. Harland, on behalf of the chapter by Ex. Comp. Rev. R. Bowden in feeling and appropriate language, and acknowledged by the recipient.

Mark Masonry.

LEICESTER.—Fowke Lodge (No. 19).—The regular meeting took place at Freemasons' Hall, Leicester, on Thursday, 25th May, 1876. Present: R. W. Bro. W. Kelly, P.G.M.M.M.; Bros. Rev. W. Langley, D.P.G.M.M.M.; Clement Stretton, W.M.; G. Toller, jun., I.P.M.; W. Weare, S. S. Partridge, and J. M. McAllister, P.M.'s; W. Sculthorpe, S.W.; G. Odell, Treas.; W. T. Rowlett, M.O.; G. Stacham, J.O.; T. A. Wykes, Sec.; F. Young, S.D.; and several others. Visitors: Bros. W. Griffiths, M.O.; J. Barber, I.G.; and W. Smith, all of No. 30. Several candidates whose names were on the summons having been approved on the ballot, the following, who were in attendance, were advanced to the degrees of Mark Man and Mark Master, the ceremony being performed, at the request of the W.M., by the I.P.M.: Bros. R. Pickering, 423; J. Hitchman, 455; Matts and Watson, 1391; and Rev. C. H. Wood, 1560. After discussion, it was unanimously resolved that the fees for advancement should be slightly raised, and also that the July meeting should not be held. Some other unimportant matters having been disposed of, the lodge was closed in harmony.

WHITEFIELD.—Wike Lodge (No. 142).—The annual meeting was held at the Church Inn on Wednesday, 17th inst. Business: to advance a brother and to instal the W.M. elect. Bro. William Barlow, P.M., Sec. and Reg. Mks., advanced Bro. John Robertson to the honourable Degree of M.M.M. The chair was then assumed by Bro. W. O. Walker, P.M., P.G.S.W., as Installing Master, and the W.M. Elect (Bro. Jas. Barlow) was presented by Bro. Nathaniel Horrocks, P.M., and afterwards duly installed. The appointment and investment of the officers next took place, as follows:—Bros. J. Heap, S.W.; J. Davidson, J.W.; Orlando Startup, M.O.; Jos. Bentley, S.O.; William H. Kirkman, J.O.; Richard Chambers, Treas.; William Barlow, Sec. and Reg. of Marks; Thomas Laycock, S.D.; Ralph Brickles, J.D.; and Whitworth, Tyler. There was a good attendance of members. The Grand Lodge of Mark Masters was represented by Bro. W. O. Walker, and the Provincial Grand Lodge by the following brethren—viz., Henry Maden, Nath. Horrocks, J. B. Champion, Wm. Barlow, and Richard Chambers. Heartly good wishes were expressed by the brethren from various lodges. After the lodge was closed the brethren adjourned to supper, which was of a very substantial character.

WHITWELL LODGE (No. 151).—The regular meeting of this lodge took place on Thursday evening, 18th inst. At the time appointed the lodge was opened by Bro. Joseph Nicholson, P.M.M. and Treas., the W.M.M., Bro. P. de E. Collins, being unavoidably absent. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and unanimously confirmed. The brethren then proceeded to the election of a W.M.M., Treasurer, and Tyler for the ensuing year. The ballot was taken in the usual form. Bro. James Gardiner, P.M., Junior Warden, was unanimously elected W.M.M. The Treasurer, Bro. Jos. Nicholson, P.M.M., was re-elected.

Scotland.

PARTICK.—Lodge St. Mary (No. 117).—The monthly meeting of this highly prosperous lodge was held in their magnificent hall, Douglas-street, Partick, on Wednesday evening, the 17th ult. Bro. W. Wylie, W.M., presiding; Bros. A. Brunton, I.P.M.; J. Bain, D.M.; J. S. Donaldson, S.M.; D. Peacock, S.W.; A. Agnew, J.W.; J. M. Wylie, Treas.; A. Lawrence, Sec.; T. Wallace, J.D.; J. Calderwood, S.S.; and others. Visitors: J. Morgan, W.M. 219; R. Jack, W.M. 128; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); C. McKenzie, J.W. 354; J. Martin, D.M. 219; F. Dow, Sec. 219; J. Duthie, 219; M. Stark, 553; and others. On the lodge being opened, and the minutes of last meeting read and approved of, the deputation of the Provincial Grand Lodge was announced, and received with the usual honours. There were present Bros. J. Baird, P.G.S.M.; G. Sinclair, J. Gillies, A. McTaggart, Miller, Ritchie, Bain, Balfour, and D. Reid. Bro. Baird, at the request of the W.M., occupied the chair. Bro. McTaggart read the report, which was a most satisfactory one, and complimented the Master and members on the handsome hall they had recently erected, and were now assembled in. You added 58 to your roll last year, which stands very high in the province, you have given to-night the handsome sum of £12 15s. to the Benevolent Fund, and you disbursed during the last year £16 towards charity. I have only to say in conclusion that your books are very well kept, and the lodge generally is working in strict harmony with the Constitutions of the Grand Lodge of Scotland. The W.M. on resuming the chair proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Provincial Grand Lodge deputation, which was given with a will. Bro. Baird replied, and they then withdrew. The lodge was then called to refreshment, when the usual loyal toasts were given and drank with enthusiasm. "The Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow" was replied to by Bro. McKenzie, J.W. 354. "The Visitors," proposed by Bro. Brunton, and replied to by Bro. Morgan, W.M. 219. "The W.M.," proposed in an eloquent speech by Bro. Morgan, W.M. 219. Bro. Wylie replied. Other toasts followed, and after the last toast, "Happy to Meet, Sorry to Part, and Happy to Meet Again," had been drunk, the lodge was re-transferred and closed in due form.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Commercial (No. 360).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, 30, Hope-street, on Friday evening, 19th ult. Bro. J. Monro, W.M., presiding; J. M. Oliver, S.W.; T. Graham, J.W.; D. Lamb, D.M.; W. Findlay, S.M.; J. Brude, P.M.; J. Smith, Sec.; R. Reid, S.D.; W. Keiller, J.D.; R. Brodie, D. of M.; and Minnoch, Tyler. The lodge being opened, and minutes of last meeting approved of, the new code of bye-laws was read and passed for the last time and remitted to the P.G. Lodge for approval. Bro. W. Campbell was passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by Bro. J. M. Oliver, S.W., and Bros. Schroeder and Walter Buchanan were raised to the Sublime Degree of Master Mason by Bro. D. Lamb.

GLASGOW.—Lodge Star (No. 219).—The regular meeting of this lodge was held in their Hall, 12, Trongate, on Monday evening, 22nd ult. Bro. J. Morgan, W.M., in the chair; J. Martin, D.M.; W. Anderson, S.M.; Jas. Horn, S.W.; D. Mearns, J.W.; Ben. Smart, Treas.; F. Dow, Sec.; John Brown, S.D.; Taylor, J.D., Park, S.S.; Elliott, I.G.; and Pearson, Tyler. The meeting was particularly well attended by the members. Visitors present, Bros. J. M. Oliver, S.W. 360; J. Booth, W.M. 87; W. J. E. Dobson, W.M. 571; J. Law, I.P.M. 570; J. Houston, D.M. 571; M. Stark, L.D.M. 553; R. Prout, W.M. 45; W. Campbell, Sec. 465; J. Duthie, P.Z. 67; J. M. Innes, S.M. 408; J. Foulds, 30, P.M. St. Mungo, 179; J. Annand, P.Z. 144; W. Ferguson, P.M. 543 ("Freemason"); R. Campbell, St. John, N.B., Canada, 22; J. Wilson, 34; W. Reynolds, 556, and others. On the lodge being opened and the minutes of last meeting read and confirmed, Bros. D. Campbell and James Barclay were passed to the Fellow Craft Degree by Bro. Oliver, S.W. 360. The lodge being summed on the E.A. Degree, some business of minor importance was satisfactorily disposed of, when it was unanimously agreed to have the annual excursion on Thursday, 22nd June, by steamer Gunnivere to Corrie, in Buteshire, and a committee appointed to carry out the necessary arrangements. The lodge was then called to refreshment, when the Chairman proposed the usual loyal and Masonic toasts. "The Provincial Grand Lodge of Glasgow" was replied to in a very able speech by Bro. Dobson, W.M. 571. "Visitors" replied to by Bros. Foulds, P.M. 179, and Booth, W.M. 87. Bro. Oliver, S.W. 360, in suitable terms, proposed "The W.M.," Bro. Morgan replied. After spending a short time in harmony, the lodge was recalled to labour and closed.

GLASGOW.—Lodge St. Clair (No. 362).—A meeting of this lodge was held in their hall, 25, Robertson-street, on Monday evening, the 22nd ultimo. Bro. W. J. Hogg, W.M., presiding. R. Glass, D.M., A.

Rutherford, S.W.; C. Galletly, J.W.; W. Pascoe, Treas.; G. Fraser, Sec.; W. Galbraith, S.D.; the other office-bearers, and a full attendance of brethren. The lodge was opened and the minutes of the last meeting read and approved of. Bro. Alex. Warsaw was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason by Bro. Hogg, W.M., in his usual able and impressive manner.

